

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2011 with funding from LYRASIS members and Sloan Foundation

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 1

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, September 5, 1986

Day One

shman Susan Taylor of PennYann, N.Y. was one of over 200 new students to arrive on campus yesterday in overstuffed cars, vans, pickups, and motor

New Faculty Arrives At WC With Class of '90

by Audra M. Philippor In addition to welcoming Sciences, VP, and Hollins Colback its students, the College lege. opens its arms to eight new faculty members and a registrar this fall. Joining the sciences are Glenn Cooper, Rosemary Ford, and Kenneth assistant processor or physics, washington ounerasty in the list a magna cum laude past, Wantling has worked as a graduate of Rice University, reviewer for mathematical and has nearly completed his textbooks and for proposals Ph.D. at University of Chicago submitted to the National in a str on om y a nd Science Foundation. Dr. Ford, appointed as an assistant professor of biology, specializes in plant pathology, cell biology, and molecular genetics. She completed her doctoral studies at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, and has taught at the University of Delaware School of Life and Health

Wantling received his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Wantling
Wantling
Wantling
Wantling
Cooper, coming from ColTennessee, and he has studied
Cooper, coming from ColTennessee, and he has studied Cologe where he taught ministration at the University for three years, is now an of Maryland and George assistant processor of physics. Washington University. In the

> Joining the liberal arts are Kevin M. Brien, Ralph Erber, Brenda Keiser, Rachel Mc-Cleary, and Jeanette Sher-bondy. Dr. Brien, an assistant philosophy professor, comes to WC from the University of Main at Orono. Educated at

> > continued on page 3

Rose's Portfolio Wins The Kerr Committee's Favor

by Tom Schuster

Two days before he was anded a check for $29,899.78 by President Cater at Washington College's 204th Commencement, Doug Rose had already confronted and almost overcome an anxiety he had been feeling — convincing himself that the 18th Sophie Kerr prize was not his. He was so certian of this personal prediction that he neglected to attend an interview session with the dozen or so other can-didates that Friday afternoon where each was questioned by reporters on how he or she would react if, come Sunday morning, they were publicly acknowledged as this year's recipient of the most lucrative undergraduate literary prize in the nation

It was Rose, however, who encountering Creative Writing Professor Bob Day on the quad in front of Miller Library later that afternoon, had to give that question the most thoughful consideration.
After asking Rose where he had been earlier while the other candidates had been with the press pondering ypothetical victory, Day ask ed simply "So what are you gong to do with this money now hat you've won it?" Rose remembers his reaction vividly. "I said, 'You're lying to me Bob Day.' And he said, 'No, you really won' And then I orgot where I was and what I was doing.

ed because he had been convinced that poet Suzanne Niemeyer, his friend and literary colleague, would be the recipient. Rose and literary colleague, would be the recipient. Rose and Niemeyer had always worked together, proofreading and editing each other's writing. Their portfolios for the Sophie Kerr Committee were no ex-ception. Each was familiar with the other's submission so much so that Rose mentally ruled himself out as the win-"I was certain from day one that the award was hers," he admitted. "The first thought was 'Oh no, Suzanne didn't get it.' The second thought was thought was 'But I won it!'

It was a turn of events that. five years ago, Rose could not even have dreamed. After only a few weeks as a freshman at WC he wanted to transfer. His first college experiences were less than ideal: "I went to a frat party and somebody poured a beer down my back," he remembered. He gradually emerged from that low point after expressing his distaste for the College to a faculty member. "It all started with Bennett Lamond," said Rose. "He was my advisor. He said, 'Doug, you're hanging-out with the wrong crowd. Come to the next Sophie Kerr lecture and let me introduce you to some Today, as a result of this experience and many more like it, Rose has no shortage of praise for the close student-faculty relationship at WC.

When handed the check by when handed the check by Cater at the ceremony, Rose recalled, "I pointed to the faculty and said, 'I couldn't have done it without these guys.'" The Sophie Kerr Com-

"I pointed to the faculty and said. 'I couldn't it without these guys'."

have done

mittee, on which sit the members of the English Department and the President and Dean of the College, reciprocated with praise of its After reviewing Rose's work and progress over the last five years at an institution he agent abandoned, the Com-

was highly impressive. "We thought that Doug's overall academic commitment great enough to suggest that he 1986 Sophie Kerr Prize winner Doug Rose accepted his check from Presi-dent Cater at Commencement in May, Also a Fulbright scholar, Rose is now studying drama in Belgium.

English Department Chairman

Nancy Tatum. One thing that set Rose's portfolio apart from the other candidates, according to Tatum, was that "he chose something interesting to do." Combining the influence of his French and Drama studies, Rose's 160 page entry included a translation of a classic mittee agreed that Rose's work French play, two prose pieces, two poems, critical essays on the theatre, and an essay done in French. Said Rose, "I've been concentrating more on translation and criticism. That's the direction I'm heading."

Rose is traveling to Belgium this month on a Fulbright Scholarship to study the work of a Belgian playwright and plans a career in the theatre. "I see myself becoming a dramaturg one day, That's my goal. He's a very in-tegral part of the theatre. You get to learn about everything." As a dramaturg, Rose would combine both theatrical writing and production to ac-complish the transformation of a play from written actions and dialogue to an actual stage per-formance. "I will continue to work in the theatre at some capacity," said Rose. "I will continue to write.

Writing, for a Sophie Kerr prize winner like Rose, may seem to a bystander to be a talent taken for granted. Rose assures one that it is not "I hate to write - usually, no -most of the time," he said. "It makes me angry because it's such a difficult thing to do." For all his struggling with his literary pursuits, however, Rose admits to something on which the Kerr Committee has already expressed its agree-ment. "But I get done with it," he said, "and I say, 'Damn, that was pretty good after all.'"

PINION

EDITORIAL

The "Whole" Story About The Sophie Kerr Prize

Flipping through the Saturday, May 11th edition of The Sur last Spring I came across a commentary by Professor Bob Day Jamenting the fact that only half of Sophie Kerr Underwood's gift to the College-the half involving handing a gifted graduate with literary ability and promise a five-figure check-gets all the sit-literary ability and promise a five-figure check-gets all the sit-winner that appears on page 1 of this issue, I spoke with Mr. Day on the phone and he repeated his concerns to me personally. If it were in his power, I sated thus, to change anything about the Prize, what, if anything, would be change? His answer publicity."

This, of course, did not surprise me after having read his commentary in The Sun. What he said next, however, did. "We can't even get our own paper—we can't even get the Elm to pay attention to the other half, which is something we think is extraordinarily important." The Prize, he went on to say, was treated as an "aberration." I got the feeling that Bob Day wouldn't be surprised if he picked-up a 60 cent tabloid at the Acme and saw the Prize mentioned on the cover along with visiting aliens and dead mother's giving birth to God knows what

Newspaper reporters around the region, and some around the country and the world, trip over each other for a potential the country and the world, trip over each other for a potential headline like "WC Literary Student Wins Thirty Thousand Dollars—NO STRINGS ATTACHED," but when it comes to the other half of the Kerr money, the half that goes for scholarships, lectures, and literary functions that involve the entire campus everyday, these damn newspapermen and women don't even look up from their magnum-dose coffee. This is Professor Day's beef. It is definitely a legitimate beef-with those reporters a those editors who work for those papers. It is not a legitimate

Loose coutors won work for Loose papers. It is not a legitimate beet when it comes to The End! blame any reporter or editor for the zeal they exhibit with such a story. The Sophie Kerr Prize the zeal they exhibit with such a story. The Sophie Kerr Prize is an aberration. Maybe not of the same caliber as UFO aliens reincarnated mutts, but an aberration nontheless. It will continue to be a headline-grabbing aberration as long as the reporters and editors of the big dailies need to sell papers in order to eat and until handing a massive check to a talented graduate becomes a norm for private colleges across America. Needless to say, the Prize is going to be attracting attention for a long time to

And, as long as I am editor, it is a story that will continue to be on page 1 of The Elm each year. But unlike the big boys who, each May, send their reporters to beat down the doors of faculty members and competitors for the Prize, The Elm will be discovering the other half of the annual Sophie Kerr interest income-just as we have been doing

Out of twenty-six Elm issues published during the academic year, I counted numerous mentions of Sophie Kerr Committee-sponsored readings and lectures in our Campus Calendar, and at least a half-dozen articles pertaining to these events, including the visits, talks, and readings given by Nancy Willard, Matthew Graham, Susan Minot, and Lawrence Ferlinghetti.

continued on page 3

Washington College Elm

Editor-in-chief
News Editor
Features Editor
Arts/Entertainment Editor
Arts/Entertainment Editor
Photography Editor Editors Thomas M. Schuster
....Audra Philippon
...Andres Kehoe
....David Hesley
...Stephanie Milton
...J.M. Fragomeni Alison Shorter Michelle Royal Allyson Tunner Stam Faus Managing Editor
National Advertising Manager
Local Advertising Manager
Classified Advertising and Circulation Manager

The Em is the official student newspaper of Washington College. The Em is published every Friday during the exademic year with the socception of the published every Friday during the exademic year with the socception of the experiment of the expe and must be received no later than Tuesday to be considered for publica-tion in that week's issue.

The Em's business and editorial office is located in the Queen Anne loungs, found on the first floor of the Queen Anne's House dormitory. Business hours are 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Tuesdays and 7:00 p.m. to 11:00 Business hours are 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Tuesdays and 7:00 p.m. to 11:00 Business hours are 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Tuesdays and 7:00 p.m. to 11:00 Business hours are 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Tuesdays and 7:00 p.m. to 11:00 Business hours are 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Tuesdays and 7:00 p.m. to 11:00 Business hours are 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Tuesdays and 7:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m.

College Benefactor Passes Away

With heart-felt grief, Presient Douglass Cater delivered the following eulogy in honor of benefactor Eugene Bernard Casey on Friday, August 1st. Casey, 82, died July 29th in his Potomac home after a long il-lness. He is survived by his wife, Betty B. Casey, and their six children

'Today we gather to mourn a loss, but more importantly to celebrate a life. This life span-ned one of the most innovative periods of our nation's history and contributed no small part to its creativity. Eugene Bernard Casey was an American original. His was a genius born of determination combined with those other essential ingredients for suc cess: willingness to work, to learn, to take risks, to meet challenges, and always to stretch.

His mind was open and the ideas flowed. Never satisfied with the status quo, he sought to go one step further

Those who knew him best marveled at the sheer power of his mind - an extraordinary power to retain all that he saw and heard, read and experienc-

As one friend put it: "He had the vision and genius to invest in this small farming com-munity and the good fortune to see this investment materialize into a metropolis

And the Mayor of Gaithersburg declared: "He has the greatest range of interests and knowledge of any person I've ever known. A totally honest man. If he told me the sun would come up in the west tomorrow, that's the way I would be facing to watch the sun rise.

An earlier Mayor went to the heart of the matter: "Mr. Casey is a very private person and one who enjoys his friends and, the opportunity to help his fellow man. He is a person whose word is a total commit-

Acquiring and building has Acquiring and building has been the major part of the Casey genius. Yet he also established a private reputa-tion for cultivating the hard habit of generosity. Here, too, he had the sharp eye and the shrewd intuition in deciding when and where to give. He donated barns and land to the National Institutes of Health at National institutes of Heatin at a critical stage of research and testing on the Salk Polio Vaccine. Dr. James A. Shannon, then Director of NIH, has stated, "Through (Eugene lege to think anew about its mission and its needs. This led us to a master plan and a revitalized campus. The swim Center and the Academic Resources Center will keep Eugene Casey's name and memory alive for future Casey's) generosity, NIH was able to participate in one of the greatest public health generations of our students. achievements of all times

Eugene Casey had many careers. He was engineer, lawyer, master plumber, financier, developer, philan thropist. He was a dedicated son who worked hard to help son who worked hard to help his father save his business. He adored his mother, the beautiful Rose O'Neill. He was a loving husband to his dear Betty, and a devoted father to his six children. Eleven grandchildren brough joy to his later years. To meet Gene Casey could be an exhilarating and riveting experience. His crystal blue seemed to recognize the iron and the humor of the human condition and to appreciate it to the fullest. When he loved he loved totally, whether it was his family and trusted friends or the land that he felt a part or the chocolate that he slipped to those like my wife Libby with whom he felt a kinship. Gene could quickly size up a person or an idea, but he usually preferred to sleep on it before expressing his opinion. Eugene Casey cared about And so, our friend, adviser and good citizen, Gene Casey is sleeping on it and we will forever feel the conclusions he reached during a rich and rewarding life. We will greatly miss you. Gene. You will be

He cared about his country and its great patriots, especially George Washington and Patrick Henry. Like them, he his case in the Navy – and in peace, in the White House. He cared about education.

His generosity and his leader ship inspired Washington Col-served his country in war remembered.

Eugene B. Casey (1904-1986

people. He cherished his family and his friends. His interests generosities widespread. He cared about community and quietly worked to build parks and a home for homeless boys, community centers and low income hous-

New Members Join Faculty

continued from page 1

Boston University, he has taught at Denison University in Ohio, SUNY Geneseo and at BU. Brien also served as a research fellow at BU's Center or the Philosophy and History of Science.

Dr. Erber, assistant professor of psychology, earned his bacehlor's degree at the University of Mannheim in West Germany and his Ph.D. rom Carnegie-Mellon Univerworked there as sity. sity. He worked there as teaching fellow and a post-doctoral fellow in political psychology. Erber's research interests include the issues of categorization and stereotyping, the relationship between moods and physiological arousal, and the role of political schemes in political cynicism and persuasion

Holding her bachelor's Holding her bachelor's degree from Kutztown State College and a master's from Middleburg College, Keiser is about to receive her Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania. She has taught at all ree institutions and at Bryn Mawr College.

Arriving in the spring, Dr. McCleary joins the faculty as a visiting professor of philosophy. She lived in Bolivia for 10 years, and has taught at Loyola University of Chicago, the University of Chicago, and Triton College.

Specializing in moral base philosophy and philosophical psychology, McCleary holds a bachelor's from Indiana University, a M.T.S. from the Chandler School of Theology at Emory University, and a Ph.D. from the University of Chicago.

Dr. Sherbondy, an assistant professor of sociology, earned her bachelor's degree in Latin American Studies from Indiana University and her doc-toral degree from the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana. The recipient of two Fulbright research grants, Sherbondy has done extensive field work in South America, and has studied in Chile and Inheriting Ermon Foster's duties, David F. Butters joins the ranks as registrar. Butters enlisted in the U.S. Army out of high school and retired from duty twenty years later as a Sergeant-Major. He enterd college at age forty, graduating from the University of Delaware in 1979 with a B.S. in Physical Science and then earned a Master of Education in Student Personnel Ad-ministration. Butters is presently developing an automated student records system for WC, transferring previously hand-filed informa-tion to student records data Attention Freshmen!

Come to the

All-Campus

Elm Meeting

Sunday at 8:p.m. in the Queen Anne

Lounge.

Be there or be uninformed!

Kerr Coverage Is Complete

continued from page 2

The Ferlinghetti visit received front-page coverage as well as an interview with the beat poet an interview with the peat poet that appeared a week after he left. The Elm also published articles on the Sophie Kerr-funded magazines published funded magazines published by students and on the outstanartistic accomplishments ding artistic accomplishments of thirteen seniors—several of whom were undoubtedly aided in paying for their education at WC with Sophie Kerr scholar-By my calculations, "the

NEWS BRIEF

Washington College welcomes 223 freshmen and 45 transfer students to campus. According to Kevin Coveney, Director of Admissions, the new students are a "class of high-achievers," and he thinks they will "contribute significantly to the academic. significantly to the academic, creative, social, and athletic life of the college." With the expected 560 returning up-perclassmen, WC's fall enroll-ment will total 828 full-time other half" of the annual Sophie Kerr income, that ignored, maligned, and publicity-starved other half, received at least ten more coverage in The Elm last year than the Prize did. This year will be no different. But for now, for this issue, news is news. And right now, to the students of WC, Doug Rose and his new-found wealth is most definitely news. As an editor and a newspaperman, I would be interested to the contract of the contract be ignoring my responsibility if I said that it wasn't.

WANTED

Delivery Personnel Flexible night hours apply at Newtowne Foods/ Newtowne Pub across from college

778-1984

Chestertown Movie Theater

"Legal Eagles"

Hours: Fri-Sun. 7 & 9 p.m. Man.-Thurs. 7:45 p.m.

September 5-12

778-1575

Welcome

Open Daily till 6:00 p.m.

OPEN SATURDAYS 8:30 a.m. - 12 p.m.

SECOND NATIONAL Building & Loan

5.5% Passbook Savings 64 % Personal Checking

Next to campus across from Cullen Dorm

(301) 778-1013

Washing

RES

ASSIS

Rita Brigman, the off-campus Resides Assistant for women, is from We Chester, Pennsylvania. She is a membed of the women's lacrosse team, employee of the College Bookstore, ar Treasurer of the Junior Class.

Jack Gilden is a senior humanities ma-jor from Owings Mills, Maryland. Jack is a member of the lacrosse club, a writer for the Elm, and the off-campus Resident Assistant for men.

Chris Kane is the Resident Assistant for the Alpha Omicron Pi sorority. Chris is a senior majoring in Sociology, from Swar-thmore, Pennsylvania.

John Kelly is a senior Business majo from Timonium, Maryland. He is th Resident Assistant in Talbot, is a membe of the Lambda Chi fraternity, and play on varsity lacrosse.

nd Irene Nicolaidis, President of the mior class is the Resident Assistant ene is a senior majoring in Business om Owings Mills, Maryland.

Margaret Virkus is the Resider tant on the second floor of Quee She is a senior English major w volved with the Elm and crew. M is from Silver Spring, Maryland.

Callie Joe Sessions is from Plainville, Connecticut. She is a senior Philosophy major and the Resident Assistant on the second floor of Reid. Callie is a member of the Alpha Chi sorrity and President of the Pan Hellenic Council.

198

College ENT ANTS

Sue DePasquale is a senior from Towson, Maryland. She is an English/Political Science major, and the Resident Assistant for Queen Anne, first Resident Assistant for the Washington College Band and the new Washington College Band and the new Hodant Consort, as well as being a tour guide for the Admissions Office.

Christopher DiPietro is Vice-President of the senior class and the Resident Assistant on the first floor of Worcester, the men's quiet floor. Chris is a Business major from Baltimore, Maryland.

Chris Engle is the Resident Assistant on the 1st floor of Caroline, a co-ed floor. Chris is from Gaithersburg, Maryland, and is a senior majoring in Business. He has been an orientation leader and a Debbie Kirkpatrick is the Resident Assistant in Cecil. She is a member of the Alpha Chi sorority and is a Political Science major. Debbie lives in Jupiter, Florida.

Susan Kolls is the Resident Assistant in Dorchester: Susan is a senior Drama major and President of the Writers' Union. She is from Suffield, Connecticut.

Tony Lazzaro, Vice-President of the Theta Chi fraternity, is the Resident Assistant on the South end of the first floor of Kent House. Tony is a senior Business major from Audubon, New Jersey, as well as a tutor in computers and accounting.

Kim Madigan, a senior English major from Glen Burnie, Maryland, is the Resident Assistant on the third floor of Reid. Kim is a member of the varsity volleyball team and is involved in crew.

Cindy Ray is a senior and Resident Assistant for Wicomico. Cindy is from Baltimore, Maryland, and is a member of the tennis team. She is an Economics ma-

'87

The second and third floors of Caroline House are combination Language and Creative Writing floors. Steve Schmidt is the Resident Assistant on the accord floor, the men's floor. Steve is a senior from Turnerville, Maryland, majoring in Business. He has been a member of the Elm staff, as the Graphice Schior.

Janet Szabo is a junior Biology major from Avon, Ohio. She is the Resident Assistant on the second floor of Worcester, the women's quiet floor. She is a member of several Washington College instrumental ensembles, including the Jazz Band, the Concert Band, and the Brass ensemble. Janet also tutors students in Biology.

Tracy Smith, from St. Michaels, Maryland, is the Resident Assistant for the third and fourth floors of Somerset. Tracy is a junior Business major and economic tutor.

The Resident Assistant for the first an second floors of Somerset is Demetr Zerefos, a senior Biology major from New Castle, Delaware. Demetri is a member of the Spanish Club, and he is on the year book staff.

Sue Odenath is the Resident Assistan for first floor Reid Hall She is a senio Psychology major from Pine Hill, Nev Jersey who is a member of varsity volleyball. Sue also works for the Psychology Department

quat que Case

Washing 204th Co

May 18th

Keynote Speak

Sen. Charles

photos by

J.M. Fragomeni

FEATURES

Roommate Survival

by Andrea E. Kehoe Alfred Hitchcock never created a more frightening scenario. We were standing in the registration line when my dad said, "Look at that girl. What if you get stuck with her for a ro mate? Then I looked at the paper her mother was holding, giving her roomname. I just mate's started to cry. Most incoming students meet the person they'll be living with under more pleasant circumstances than this sophomore, who has since changed room-

Certainly, living with a complete stranger is not easy, but it can be viewed an adventure rather than as a horror story in the making. Following a common sense guidelines can help prevent you from runnii the Student Affairs Office "divorce" your roommate

HYGIENÉ When college students complain that their roommate stinks, most don't expect to be taken literal-But if your roommate does emit a rather pungent odor, you've got a problem that's hard to ignore when living in close quarters. If you're too embarassed to tact-fully suggest that the other inhabitant of your room might benefit from regular bathing, try leaving soap or deodorant among his belongings. The message will get deodorant will get across in a subtle way and it's better than telling and it's better than telling people, as did one Washington College freshman. "She's a great roommate, if you don't mind her smell."

PROPERTY

Dorm rooms many purposes, with the storage of one's personal possessions among them. A sure way to offend someone you're living with is to damage his belong-ings or to follow the abhorrent practice of some American Universistudents in allowing the enemies, or in some cases friends, of one's roommate to trash his stuff. If you are scummy enough to do this, he will surely plot revenge. Eventually you'll leave your own things unguarded, while your roommate seizes the opportunity to break your Leif Garrett albums. As far as borrowing goes, you don't necessari-ly have to heed Polonius' count every Kleenex your roommate uses, though you can draw the line at exchanging fruit of the

DATING

Unless your roomm mate is a voyeur, he probably won't want to witness passionate ex-pressions of your affection for your boyfriend or girlfriend. If he wanted to see a porn flick, he'd rent one; so if it's mating season for you, compromise about the use of the room or limit your romantic encounters to people who have a single.

DORMKEEPING

The deans in the Stu-dent Affairs Office go to some trouble to have parents fill out question-naires about the idiosynrasies of their offspring This helps them avoid pairing some one who uses a lint brush on his socks with someone who thinks cleaning is only for the anal retentive and that bulldozing and furnigating every spring is sufficient. However, if you and your roommate are the classic Odd Couple, remember that his obsessiveness (or slopobsessiveness (or slop-piness) are not a reflection on you, so don't nag. Divide the room with folding screens, or even with masking tape. Kent County Health Department will in-tervene if the filth attracts tropical insects

STUDYING Conflicts often arise over the fact that different people need vary and may require ferent learning

ing amounts of study time vironments (complete silence versus background music). Should this create a dispute with your roommate, trade-off seeking other places to work (the library, lounges, Bill Smith) or establish "quiet hours" for the room. A walkman could be a great investment.

DRUGS Don't use your dorm room to indulge in any chemical the other occuwith. There are plenty of other rooms on campus where such experimenta-tion is welcome. If your roommate is the one who insists on playing phar-macist, don't let fear of ridicule prevent you from making a justified com-College is about new experiences, so keep an open mind when your roommate plays his Philip Glass records. Remember, he "owns" half of the room for the academic year, just as you do. The art of compromise will smooth over most disputes and the

PRIVACY

Your urge to read through other people's personal paper should have been satisfied when you read your sister's diary and found a venomous 30-page essay about yourself entitled "The Bad Seed." If the invasion of other's privacy still gives you a thrill, buy a gossipy celebrity biography and leave your roommate's desk alone. After all, you wouldn't want him nosing through those Polaroids in your

Another aspect of ly have to heed Polonius' Another aspect of advice. Declaring certain respecting your roomitems community proper mate's privacy is not ty is convenient and divulging his personal economical, if there is a secrets to others. Annutual give and take, nouncing at brunch that Sharing means you don't be did not spend the he did not spend the previous night in your room will win you an au-dience but not a friend.

underwear drawer.

dent Affairs Office will resolve others

Sometimes behavior that is unacceptable in a prospective friend is tolerable in an acquain-tance. While it's preferable to be friends with the person you live with, it isn't always possile. It might be more important for you and your roommates to agree on radio station listen to than who the next governor Maryland should be.

Above all, be more considerate of your roommate than you are of your siblings. Overlook the minor annoyances and negotiate the major dif-ferences of opinion. With luck and a little effort, the two of you will be able to say "til graduation us

The Hill Dorms, home to the KA's and the Sigs, represent the center of Greek activity on a

Greek Guide '86-'87

by Andrea E. Kehoe

Freshmen who associate fraternity life with the crude antics of John Belushi in National Lampoon's Animal House will wish that the twenty percent of Washington College students who call themselves Greeks were ex-change students. While the reality of this stereotype is debatable, there is no disputing that the frats, a minority of the student body, dominate the college social scene "If you're a group person definitely the way to go," says says Alpha Chi president Wendy Clarke, while others list the advantages of intersorority tutoring, guaranteed housing and emotional support from brothers and sisters.

On the other hand, some meml complain that they are not identified as individuals and are considered snob-bish or cliquish by independents and one of chapter of the control of the fraternity.'

For those who plan to go Greek, "rush" is held in the fall for freshman males and in the spring for the females. The process generally consists of in-formal parties open to all prospective members, followed by formal parties, which are by invitation only. Interested freshmen and transfers then turn in a preference list, naming the group they wish to join, to the Student Affairs Office, who match this to each fraternity or sorority's list of desired members. When an individual receives a bid - or offer of membership - from a Greek organization he's interested in, he or she becomes a pledge.

The fledgling Greeks attend a bid night party, endure the pledge process and pay approximately $200 a year in parties - 1st band of the year; post New Year's otential members - "A good communicator who's fun-loving and honest. A good sense of humor and a will-ingness to accept others are musts."

SORORITIES ZETA TAU ALPHA (Zeta's) president — senior Mary Brown housing — 1st and 2nd Wicomico members - 21

ALPHA OMICRON PI (AOPI's) resident - senior Dina Beck ousing - Talbot, off-campus urties - Birthday Ball connection with netas; bands in Coffeehouse stential members - "We're not looking ational colony; status as permanent apter pending. LAMBDA PI DELTA (Lambdas) potential members - "A lot of different people - people who are involved and funloving."

meone who is outgoing and who likes to have a good time. They must be willing to share things with everyone. national ALPHA CHI OMEGA (Alpha Chi) president - senior Wendy Clarke housing - Cecil for a specific type of person - just so members - 40 parties - Casino Night; Boxer party potential members - "We don't have any set criteria other than academic excellence." Other characteristic excellence." Other characteristic should include campus involvement leadership, outgoing personality national FRATERNITIES KAPPA ALPHA (KA's) president - senior Ted Ewing housing - Middle Hall nousing - Middle Hall members - 34 parties - Beach Bash; St. Patty's potential members - 'We're looking for your all-around, regular type guy who likes to have a good time."

THETA CHI (Theta's) resident - senior Pat Gordinier housing - nonresidential members - approximately 30

potential members - "Someone who just gets along with everyone in the fraternity."

PHI SIGMA (Sigs) president - senior Sheaffer Reese housing - East Hall

members - approximately 28 parties - Toga; Bahamas; Apres Luau potnetial members - "Usually someone who gets along with everyone - not so meone who's an enemy of anyone else. When people come to East Hall, we want them to feel comfortable. national status pending PHI KAPPA SIGMA president - N/A housing - 3rd and 4th floor Somerset members - 19

parties - plans include an outdoor party at boating pavilion with a band potential members - "Basically we're just average college students with no special intersts. We want members who want to be involved.

resident - senior Ric Hall using - nonresidential member - appoximately 35 parties - Key West

photo by J. M. Fra enque "Henry" Leal smashes a return volley with the same con-nised power that earned himself and doubles partner Alejandro frmandez a number-three seed in the national tournament and I-American distinction. The Shore netters captured the MAC swaw last season and finally, after two years of goal-setting and evaly toil, established themselves as high as sixth in the nation Distinct MILT to tax and MILT. easy rou, established themselves as high as sixth in the nation Division III. The team will approach this year's season with con-dence and a lofty pre-season ranking. Coach Wyman com-leted the season ranking coach with the coach and the season ranking coach are the coach servone played good tough matches. These teams are the top ghid in the nation, nobody comes in last."

WC Athletic Facilities

A Chance To Build Body With Mind

by Stephanie Milton Attention freshmen! The facilities to develop healthy brawn while you're fine-tuning your brain are ready and waiting at Washington College The recreation activities and exercise programs available can be relaxing as well as promote the physical health needed to carry a busy freshman through a bustling day. So dig out those mildewed sweats and hit the pavement!

In the basement of the Cain Athletic Center a full-line of Hydra Fitness equipment was installed last year. Hydra Fitness combines isotonic and isokinetic exercises during the full range of motion, flexion and extension to increase an athlete's strength, power, en-durance, explosiveness and aerobic capacity.

The machines are quiet and do not require a spotter. Perhaps the most valuable aspect of the Hydra Fitness line is its safety feature. The machines do not operate on ex-ternal forces. The athlete exerts the power and the machine accommodates the overall generation of force from the weakest to the strongest point in the range of motion through hydraulic pressure.

If the user at any point withdraws his or her limb from the machine, the lever arm slowly returns to its resting position as the hydraulic cylinder moves through the chamber. This feature is excellent for rehabilitation and beginning weight lifters as well as the trained athlete

In addition, the Universal

In addition, the Universal Gym and free weights are available to accommodate lifters who would prefer them. Two bicycle ergometers have been added to the facility. These machines have computerized work-load monitors that exhibit distance, time, speed, and RPM's. These monitors have also been placed on the rowing ergometers.

The Athletic Department is currently investigating the addition of two new abdominal machines from the Nautilus line. One is the Rotary Torso machine which concentrates on the internal and external obliques and the erector spinae obliques and the erector spinae muscle group which supports the spine. The second machine is the Abdominal Flexor machine which works all upper and lower abdominal muscles if executed properly.

The fitness center is available for usage now. Anyone interested should stop by the Casey Swim Center to pick up a key from the data Aquatic Coordinator, Bryan Bishop. This method is in effect until the semester begins. At that time tentative hours will be in effect from 11:00 a.m. to be in effect from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. and 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. If anyone is interested in having a lifting program designed for them, they should consult with a trainer or facul-ty member. Trained super-visors will be monitoring the facility and may recommend exercises or techniques.

For those of you that prefer to jump in with both feet, the Casey Swim Center will open to campus community Monday, September 8. Hours are 7:00 to 9:00 a.m., noon to 3:00 p.m., and 5:00 to 9:00 p.m. Weekend hours include 3:00 to 5:00 p.m. on Saturdays and

The Swim Center is offering its first scuba diving course beginning on September 11. It is a non-credit course and students will be certified through the Calypso Dive Shop is interested must attend an information meeting September 9 at 7:00 p.m. in the Casey Swim Center

Also being offered is Advanc-Also being offered is Advanced Life Saving and Life Guarding. It is a full semester undergraduate course for ½ credit and will be held Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 2:00 to 3:00 p.m. Starting date is Monday the

The Truslow Boat House on Quaker Neck Road has recreational equipment for general use and will be establishing regular hours in the near future. Canoes may be used by anyone at any time. Sailing equipment is being administered by the Sailing Club.

Sport Shorts

Intercollegiate field hockey practices began on Thursday, September 4. Those interested, see Coach Diane Guinan.

Mens and womens tennis meeting 4:00 p.m. Monday, the 8th. There will be a fall tennis program so meet on the tennis courts with equipment to play. See men's coach, Fred Wyman and women's coaches Tor Finnegan and Holly Bramble.

Mens and womens crew meeting 4:00 p.m. Monday, the 8th. Johnny Wagner is the women's coach and Coach Don Chatellier is in charge of the men. Meet in the lobby of the

The volleyball coach, Penny Fall and the soccer coaches, Mr. Bowman and Pete Allen can be reached through the Cain Athletic Center.

Hobart Slips Past Shoremen n Season Final

by Stephanie Milton The day was white hot, the fans spill-forth and the Washington College en's lacrosse team rallied to a tough 10 tally in favor of the defending mpions, the Hobart Statesmen. The Shoremen came to Geneva with amber-two seed in Division III, a 12-ecord, and what they thought to be ugh gumption to shake the er the championship for seven contive years Before 6,000-plus fans at Hobart's swell Field, the Shore laxters racked an explosive 5-1 lead in the first arter beginning with an extraman by Rick Cote on a pass fed by ice Yancey. This early domination, ugh, pushed the Statesmen to drop ee in the net. That, however, was lere the buck stopped. The lessmen were slapped with a three non-releasable penalty for uring the second period at 5-3, WC fielder Matt Wilson fired-off a cless, one-bounce shot from just nd midfield to score at 4:03. This gned to exploit Statesman goalie Warren's tendency to wander the crease. Hobart quickly vered with goals from James Sym-on and Mark Moore.

the half, the Shoremen had kept slight lead at 6-5. Their statistics sizzling. Despite being out-shot Washington goalie Larry Boehm snared 16 saves next to Warren's 11.

WC's faceoff man, Chris Dollar played brilliantly as well, tying Geneva's finest three faceoff men, 6-6. Enspite the Shoremen's tencious play, the Geneva laxters emerged fresh from the bench and dominated the next reside with several solution.

the next period with enough goals to surpass Washington, 8-6. The Shoremen gained their final lead early the fourth period after midfielder Mike McGuane's flurry of three quick goals secured a temporary 9-8 lead.

Hobart, however, refused to be left behind, midfielder Michael Guy set the pace with two tallies – an extraman score from Torn Rosa at 9:31 and a behind-the-back feed from Mark Moore at 9:54

The Statesmen maintained their explosive streak with single goals from midfielder Mike Bonaventura and defenseman Devin Arkinson. After Mike Papa added a tally to boost Washington to 12-10, Statesman Ray Gilliam answered with a goal that sealed the game with 13 seconds remain-

Despite the loss, several Shoremen Despite the loss, several Shoremen were recognized for their outstanding performance after the game Appointed to the first team of the All-American squad were goalie Larry Boehm, defenseman David Hilliard and attackman Bruce Yancey. Second team selections were midfielders Mike Papa and John Nostrant and atackman Pon Giblin. tackman Don Giblin.

The Washington College men's lacrosse team battled valiantly against the Hobert Statesmen, who have secured the Division III national championship for seven consecutive years.

A Freshman's Guide To Leisure Time In Chestertow

by Andrea E. Kehoe When life with the same 828 people becomes so routine that you feel like you know the name of each student's dog, you need to get off campus. If ac-dog, you need to get off eampus. If ac-cess to a car prevents your escape, don't just hang around the dorm memorizing the grafifit on your door. Explore the "recreational op-portunities" of Kent County. The following businesses will sell you new tapes or reading material, or rent you a VCR and a movie a little more simple-minded than the artsy alter-natives of the film series. More active individuals can try sailing on the Chester or touring with the local biking

MOVIES Chester Theatre, 778-1575, located on High St. Hours: Friday-Saturday-Sunday, 7:00 p.m. and 9:00 p.m. shows. Monday-Thursday, one show, 7:45 p.m Adult admission: $3.50 VIDEO

Movieland, 778-6200, located in Kent Hours: Monday-Thursday, 10:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m., Friday and Saturday, 10:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. Call for Sunday

yearly membership

Member's prices: $2.00 tape rental, $9.52 VCP (Video Cassette Player) rental per night

Friendly Video, 778-0255, located on Rte. 213, north of town. Hours: Monday-Thursday, 11:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m, Friday-Saturday 11:00 a.m. to 9:00,p.m., Sunday, 11:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. $9.95 ve yearly membership rate

Member's prices: $2.00 tape rental, $6.95 VCP rental per night. Smiley's Video, 778-5560, Rte. 213 South, 1 Mile over Bridge.

Students seeking entertainment off campus can catch a movie at the Chester Theatre for an admission price of $3.50

Hours: Monday-Thursday 10:00 a.m. to 9:00, Friday and Saturday. 10:00 a.m.-11:00 p.m. Sunday 12:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. Special College Membership: 9 Months, $7.95 with I.D. Monday and Tuesday, 99 cent tape rental. Wednesday 3 for 5. Thursday-Sunday $2.00, $6.00 VCP rental for members BOOKS AND MAGAZINES

Chestertown Newsstand, 778-5865, 307 1/2 High Street. Hours: Monday-Saturday 7:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Sunday 6:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. 970 magazine titles, other magazines available on request. Wall Street Jour-nal Daily. Limited Quantities of the Washington Post, The Philadelphia Inquirer, The New York Times, and The New York Daily News available on Sundays. Copies reserved at no charge.

Corsica Bookshop 778-1480, 301 High Street Hours: 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday-Saturday

Takes special orders. Good selection of general topics and extensive collection of Eastern Shore-related titles. Meeting House Books, 778-0069, Sp.

Hours: Erratic. Call first One room shop of used volumes co-ing a wide range of subjects, inclu-college course texts.

MUSIC Price's Music Center, 778-4282, loca Hours: Monday-Thursday, and Sa day 9:30 a.m.-6:00 p.m. Weekly Specials. Wide selection of

types of music BOWLING

Queen Anne's Bowling Center, 778, Rte. 213, south of Chestertown. Hours: Monday-Thursday, 10:00 a. 10:00 p.m., Friday, 10:00 a.m.-1; p.m., Saturday, 10:00 a.m.-12:00; a. Miniature Golf Course. 18 hd Group Discounts available BICYCLING

Bikeworks, 778-6940 or 778-3687, 3

High St.

Hours: Monday-Friday, 9:00 a.m., 1:00 p.m., Saturday, 9:00 a.m. 1:00 p. Complete service, rentals, accessor and parts: Ross, Peugeot, and parts Ross, Peugeot, Bridgestone. Sponsor of touring racing with the Eastern Shore to Club.

DAY TRIPS
Remington Farms, 778-1565, 10 m south of Chestertown Rte. 20.3,000 a wildlife research and demonstrater, nature trails. No Cost.
Eastern Neck Wildlife Refuge, 87056, Rte. 445 south of Rock Hall. 2 acres with marshes and ponds. Go wintering archives the state of the st wintering area

Rock Hall Museum, 778-1399, S. N Street, Rock Hall. Hours: Friday-Sunday 2-4 p.m. Indian Artifacts, Nautical Relics, an replica of a vanished 18th cent

Suds 'n Soda

Discount Beverages Rt. 213 & Rt. 297 Chestertown, Md. 1 mile north of campus

778-5077

Open 6:00 - 12:00 midnight 7 days a week

> Large Selection of Imports

Mug and Diet Mug Rootbeer $4.29 a case

$8.99 a case

Rolling Rock

12 02. can

I.D. required on all alcohol purchases

it House Press Room

Gears Up For Student Use

while the grass may already be owing high around it, the Literary ouse press room is spanking new and by David Healey se press room is spanking new and ost ready to roll its two presses. attached to the rear of the house, the em's wide steps lead down into a ne warp to the nineteenth century. A rage loft, vaulted windows, and exevious century. Soon the bright room hulking type cases are moved to the sement of the house.

ooking like crosses between a cider ess and a steam engine are the prin-g presses. When switched on, their ing ink rollers and clanking press tes make them sound like trains

He has an interesting philosophy towards the equipment he donated. While Robert Day was in the midst of solving the quirks still in the press' operation, Ackerman commented, "Everything that old has a personality and a trick to living with it."

While outdated now, the press was state-of-the-art in its day. "The Macin-tosh of the nineteenth century," said Professor Day

Ackerman reminisced, "When we started it was all letterpress, then we switched to offset printing. I got this press for the price of moving it."

Before coming to Washington College, the press was in Ackerman's basement. "I taught my kids to use it. They began to earn spending money

"Everything that's old has a personality and a trick to living with it."

e sound of the nineteenth century. Professor Robert Day, director Literary House.

arlier this week, the presses were ned and oiled. Mr. Day and Kathy ner, assistant director, received ting lessons from a professional ter on Tuesday. For others in-sted in learning how to use the sted in learning now to use the s, said Day, "the Literary House rpress printers workshop will be th by Mike Kaylor. It will begin in to late September." Kaylor is the er of Inklings Press rshall Ackerman is the gentleman onsible for the type cases and the s equipment. "He donated virtualverything for the press room," ex-ned Day.

terman, who works for Rodeo s, comes from a family of printers.

that way. The motto of Ackerman Boys that way. The motto of ACKETMAN DOYS. & Dad, the name of our company, was 'Many jobs too big, no jobs too small.' Hopefully, the press will continue to earn money with printing jobs, such as event posters for campus organizations, chapbooks, and Broadsides.

The official opening of the press room will be held on October seven-teenth, in conjunction with an art show beginning the sixteenth. Events will in-clude a lecture by Professor Bailey, an alumni reunion of the Writers' Union, alumn reunion of the Writers' Union, the press room dedication, and a picnic. Music will be provided by a jazz band led by Professor Parcell. Friday evening at eight o'clock in the press room there will be a lecture by David Godine entitled, "The Art of Fine Printing in America."

to A Time Warp. To walk down the stairs into the O'Neill Literary House's new om is to step back one hundred years into the world of the nineteenth century printer. here are the mammoth cases which hold the pieces of type that must be hand-set plant.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Friday, Sept. 5

Mayor's Reception for new students.

Court House Lawn, 4-6 p.m. Student Government Association Reception, Student Center in Hodson Hall,

8:00 p.m.

photo by J.M. France

nineteenth century printing press will be in motion producing magazines, posters, and Broadsides for student writers and editors.

Saturday, Sept. 6

Alumani Soccer Game Kibler Field, 1:30 p.m. Computer Center Open House, Computer Center, 1:30-4:30 p.m. Picnic for new students, faculty, and staff.

Truslow Boat House, 5:30 p.m.-7:30 p.m. Film Series: Out of Africa

Norman James Theatre, William Smith Hall, 9:00 p.m.

Sunday, Sept. 7

Outdoor Luncheon Casey Swim Center, 12:30-1:30 p.m. Activities Fair

Coffee House, 1:30-3:30 p.m. All-campus Elm staff meeting. Freshmen encouraged to attend. Queen Anne Lounge, 8:00 p.m.

Monday, Sept. 8

Film Series: Out of Africa Norman James Theatre, William Smith Hall, 7:30 p.m.

While you were . . .

(relaxing),

This summer (Don't feel bad!), we were working hard to extend your vacation...

Coming soon, very soon

ROOM SERVICE

By Newtowne Foods

A College tradition Since January 1986

Glad You're Back We Missed You

Welcome Freshmen

Brambles

Traditional clothing for men and women Come check out our new expanded store and ladies line of clothes

Downtown Chestertown

778-6090

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 2

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, September 12, 1986

C-town Gains Fast Food Option

"Well, competition is good for everybody; it strengthens the quality of the product," says the manager and part-owner of Chestertown's Roy Rogers, Behrooz Ravanbakhsh. If so, students will soon be enjoying the duct." benefits of some stiff competition in a The Construction started on the tast-tood dard Burger branch in mid August and according to bar, self-ser its hopeful owner, Al Suber, the doors will open the week of September 22nd. But why Chestertown? "We've actually "Good he been trying to come here for nearly here—it really is," said the Roy Rogers four years now... It's a nice town ... manager, thus both restaurants wish to There's a lot of traffic during the sum-mer and holidays ... and it's on a crossroad for Kent and Queen Anne explains Suber, owner of four other francises. After the Burger King Corporation conducted an extensive financial corner of Routes 213 and 290 was ideal, especially when the BP gas station went up for sale. Ravanbakhsh doesn't agree that Burger King's site is ideal, employees will be as r but he is optimistic. "He (Suber) will scramble for customers.

hurt us no doubt for the first couple weeks or months, but he is new and that will always happen. I am not worried,

As for the competition, Suber merely 'I think we have a better pro-

benefits of some stift competition in a few weeks – Burger King is coming to thru service, a greenhouse for town. Construction started on the fast-food dard Euger King is causers: a full saids branch in mid August and according to bar, self-serve beverage bar, counter its hopeful owner, 41 Sther, the does the hopeful owner, 42 Sther, the does and table eating areas, and a large The new facility will include drive-

"Good help is hard to find around employ WC students. Roy's is offering a starting pay of $3.75 to $4.00 per hour, according to Ravanbakhsh, who currently does not employ any college students. The home of the flame-broiled burger, on the other hand, despera del production de la company de la c for this position? Thirty out of the thirty-seven applicants

From these interviews, the advising program developed.

The program expected to strengthen the academic component of orientation; provide freshmen with role models for academic success; provide peer advisors with an op-portunity for leadership;

bridge the gap between faculty were selected.

New Peer Advising Program Going Well

The first day on any campus or a freshman or transfer stu-rather than its director dent is scary and confusing. This year, Washington College the fright for its new students with Peer Advisors. Peer Adsors are designed to be other resource person for idents, in addition to RA's nd Faculty Advisors, and con centrate on academic orienta

It was a student-generated ect, conceived by students the College. Berry thinks of herself as the coordinator of the Peer Advising program

"It was a studentgenerated project..."

Last spring, Berry solicited and directed by students," said nominations for potential PA's Alice Berry, Associate Dean of from the faculty and then invited all juniors and seniors and 3) What quality do you with GPA's of 3.0 or higher to possess that you think suits you apply for the program. Later, ophomores with GPA's above

3.5 were also invited. plicants each wrote a letter to the Dean explaining why they were interested in the pro-gram, and then each was interviewed personally by Dean Berry and a member of the

Each applicant was asked three questions: 1) What is one most difficult to understand?

piece of advice you would give a new student? 2) What academic aspect of WC is the advisor's and freshmen; en-courage use of the academic support services and provide freshmen with support and follow-up after orientation.

half of training in preparation for the new students. Freshmen and transfers were paired with faculty advisors primarily through their prospective majors and extracurspective majors and extracur-ricular interests. Later, PA's were assigned to faculty groups according to their academic interests and temperment.

New students spent the weekend learning about the honor code, distribution, graduation requirements, career counseling, the writing lab, the study skills center, and extracurricular activites. Peer Advisors also helped the new students build their schedules. Unlike the orientation leaders used in previous years, Peer Advisors are expected to keep in touch with their advisees

throughout the remainder of How well did the orientation go? "The program is growing and changing and we need to talk about it," said Berry. Evaluating the good with the bad, Berry thinks "Wednesday (during the training session) was a killer — we shouldn't have scheduled it all on one day. It is a y ar of experimen-

Peer Advisors, students, and faculty will be asked to evaluate the program, and a meeting is planned for PA's next Tuesday night to further discuss the success of the pro-gram. "Of course we can't do everything right the first time...but, I think it went just great. The feedback I've gotten has been good," said Berry.

Students Bumped Off-campus

by Audra M. Philippon

Every semester more than ne hundred students opt to ve off-campus and, with a bit perseverence, most find adeate housing. This year, re not housed on campus.
An exceptionally large erceptionary targe-percentage of returning up-erclassmen and a large umber of freshmen and fansfers are two factors forcng some students off-campus. e renovation of Minta Marn dislocated over a hundred

This summer when the deans of students realized the townhouses would not be in-habitable by September, they reached out into the community for help through general advertisements. Local realtors and individual home-owners were approached. "We let out were approached. "We let out the word that we needed help, and before long, people began to call us," explained Dean McIntire, Dean of Students.

There are no freshmen living off-campus, but there are three transfer students who sought budents for the year, and their own housing. "No one is selected a glut of students ment is four...and the most is much without housing."

thirteen at the Hills Inn on Washington Ave. Housing is always inequitable, and those students living off-campus are experiencing the same pro-blems others do—some rooms are bigger than others, some have more windows, etc.

Overall, students are pleased with their housing arrangements if a lack of vocalized complaints is any indication of their satisfaction. A meeting on Wednesday was called to discuss any difficulties off-campus students are facing.

A shuttle service utilizing the College's new vans has been devised to alleviate some major transportation problems. The schedule of the shuttles is

continued on page 4

Inside:

SGA Clipboard WC Clubs

Movie Review

Entertainment.

Fitness Class

OPINION

Where's The Tree?

Yes, the tree is no more. Last week, when the first 1986-'87 issue of The Elm arrived on campus, complete with brand-new style changes, I was told, to my horror, that many of the upperclassmen on campus were mistaking it for another publication and passing it by. Why? Because there was NO TREE. Please, fellow students, don't look for a tree on the banner of The Elm this year. There are, however, several other things - old as well as new - that you should look for when you pick-up your copy on Friday

News: Look for thorough and in-depth coverage of student and campus affairs. If an event involves you and your fellow students, the College, and, in many cases, the sur-rounding community, watch for the story on The Elm's News Page. If it affects you, it will be there.

Opinion: Look for the voices of your fellow students, members of the faculty, and concerned community residents expressing themselves on issues both at the campus and national levels. Constructive argumentation and debate is healthy and The Elm's Op/Ed page is designed to encourage it. Your contributions are welcome. We want to hear YOUR side of the story

Features: Look for quality human (real student) in-terest stories. We know that you don't want to read about the mating habits of the pigeons living in Bill Smith. Our fare will include stories about the people and activities that surround you everyday as a WC student. This means interesting people and interesting activities presented in interesting ways. You won't be disappointed.

Arts/Entertainment: The key word here is "Entertainment." In addition to continuing our extensive coverage of the fine arts at WC, this year we will be bringing you all the concert and club date info we can get from Baltimore, D.C., Philly, and Delaware. Supplementing this will be weekly album reviews and a listing of campus events and entertainment options on the Campus Calendar. This weekend, whether you're planning a road trip or a night in the C-House, look to us for the low-down on student entertainment.

Sports: Look for the same coverage of Shoreman athletics, both official and intramural, that you have seen in the past. Look for improved coverage of the smaller teams and individual athletes. Sports features dealing with athletic facilities and other special topics are also on our roster.

Like I said, don't look for the tree. Look for all of the above. The tree is gone, but underneath The Elm's new look is the same newspaper that's been informing you, perhaps angering you, but always making you think. We plan to keep it up

Washington College Elm

omas M. Schuster
... Audra Philippon
.... Andrea Kehoe
.... David Healey
... Stephanie Milton
... J.M. Fragomeni News Edito Features Editor Arts/Entertainment Editor Sports Editor Photography Editor Managers

Managing Editor
National Advertising Manager
Local Advertising Manager
Local Advertising Manager
Classified Advertising and Circulation Manager Alison Shorter Michelle Royal Allyson Tunney

The Elm is deficial studen inexpepped of Washington Caligar. The Elm is not official studen inexpepped of Washington Caligar. The Elm is published every Friday during the academic year with the acception of vacations and exam weak.

In the element of the elemen

Mon's Cookie Jar

ther! "MOM'S COOKIE JAR, we hope, will become a source of topical and nutritional information you will look for

I would like to take this opportunity, on behalf of the Washingotn College Dining Service Staff, to welcome all incoming freshmen, transfers and returning students. We are looking forward to serving you. If you have a problem or sug-gestions, please feel free to contact the supervisor on duty or drop a note in the suggestion box. As in the past, our slogan remains: "Award Winning and Getting Better." And as every the WCDS encourag student's interaction with the Most of you are aware the new computerized access system is being used at each meal. This system will provide speedier access, better accountability and computerized charging for meals. Just remember, to gain access to the Dining Hall, you must br-ing your ID card to each meal.

> Write for The Elm Call 778-2800 Ext. 321

recipient of two national food ervice awards, presented this past July. These honors were given by the National Associa-tion of Colleges and Universities Food Services (NACUFS). This year we were mistakenly judged in the Medium School category, competing with such schools as MIT, Vanderbilt, Johns Hopkins University and Vassar College for the menu contest. College for the menu contest. In spite of the competition, we were awarded second place for "Residence Hall Dining" and third place for "Catering."

In need of a job? There are sill positions available in the dishroom and on the serving line. If you are interested, contact Sharon Crew for more information or to sign up. Sign up sheets for various catering events are posted on the Job Opportunity Board in the Main Dining Room throughout the semester. Anyone interested in working for the Catering Department, feel free to sign

The WCDS has planned a full alendar of events for the 1986-87 academic year and hope you will look forward to them. Next Wednesday is "Meet the WCDS" Crab Feast. This event will give you an opportunity to meet with the management staff of the Dining Service (except Sharon Crew, who will be

HORSES BOARDED

New Stalls Good Pasture Close to Town Excellent Trail Riding Rural Setting

Terry Anthony Rt. 3 Chestertown, MD 778-3672 after 8 p.m. In conclusion, I would like thank Sharon Himmanen helping out with freshmen erclass registration.

SKI TRIP

Ski the Austrian Alps January 3-10, 1987

Cost - under $1,000

See Dean Maxcy for more information.

Starting this semester, the Washington College Dining services will operate all snack and soda vending throughou the campus. In the up coming weeks, new machines that will offer machines that was more selection and variety along with dollar variety along with dollar placed throughout cam-pus. If you have a pro-blem with a machine of need a refund from a machine please come to the Dining Hall office between the hours of 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

CARRELS

Registration for Carrels the Library will begin on f day, Sept. 12, 1986, A students, including the who have registered pri to this date, should regis according to the follow schedule:

Seniors - Sept. 12, 13, 14 Juniors - Sept. 15, 16 Sophomores - Sept. 17. Freshman - Sept. 19

Peer Advisor Program Is Clearly A Success

mitstel by the Student Academic Board and implemented by Associate Board Bo

students, these individuals may more closely identify with the Washington College experience than may faculty members. They are in a unique position to facilitate the adjustment of newer campus members to academic life within the context of a communal social setting.

social setting.

During our recent Orientation Weekend, many of the initial goals of the Peer Advising Program were realized. Clearly, the academic component of Washington College was stressed as emphatically as the more traditionally expounded social component.

Individual peer advisors assumed influential leadership roles, while new students discovered accessible role models for academic success. As liaisons, these student leaders provided a valuable communication link between the freshmen and the faculty advisors, the Writing Workshop, the Study Skills Program, the career counselors, and the psychological counselors.

The future of the Peer Advising Program rests heavily upon this year's advisors. They are committed to serving as a continuous support system.

throughout the year. But the extent to which their series will be utilized depends to group the responsiveness they receive the residence of the responsiveness they receive the resident assistants, and Washington College at large. The mechanisms are in place for an effective addition to our candemic institution—all that is needed is the power of community support.

community support.

Mona Brinkley is a sophomore from Middleton, Maryland, Vice-President of the Student Government Association, and a Peer Advisor.

ISSUE: So Far, How Effective Is The New Peer Advisor Program At Orienting New Students to Washington College?

Rachel Smith Sophomore Peer Adviser Geneva, New York

"Orientation this year was ar more effective than past orientations. The peer advising system balanced out orientation making it more cademically inclined. Like with any new system. I see toom for improvement!

Erika Del Priore Sophomore Gaithersburg, Maryland

"I would say it was very effective only because the advisers went through so much training. By having so many upperclassmen here I thought I saw a lot of freshmen adapt a lot faster."

Callie Sessions Senior Plainville, Connecticut

"The new peer advising system distributes the responsibility of advising new students into better defined groups and makes less demands on both the faculty adviser's and RA's time."

David Johnson Freshman Snow Hill, Maryland

"It gives me someone to know and lets me know the ropes outside a faculty member's point of view. It's sort of an underground view of the campus and settles some first day fears."

Wynnette Handy Freshman Ocean City, Maryland

"I think it's very effective. My peer adviser offered to help me in any way possible. It's like having someone who'll keep a watcl.ful eye over you."

Campus Voices

by Michele Balze

Program Gives Freshmen Needed Support

For the new student, college orientaon, not to mention the college extrence as a whole, can be filled with poldation and apprehensiveness. He asy wish that he could talk to someone ho will understand him. The Peer d

The Peer Advertising Program gives we students a chance to meet one nother in a small group environment, hich takes away some of the nerousness. The Peer Advisor for each froup acquaints new students with the ampus, answers questions about warses, tells such at the expectation of the peer advisor height and t new students meet other people and is there just to talk and listen if someone is feeling homesick or needs a friend.

The Peer Advising Program is a suction Peer Advising Program is a suction Peer Advising Program is a suction Peer Advising Program is a sub-distribution of the Peer Advisor Interval to the State of the Peer Advisors have shared to the State of the Peer Advisors have shared to the same experiences within the past four years and can easily relate to the easily relate to the peer Advisors who hely to lessen these feelings. Through the troop meetings, new students are helf to lessen these teenings. Inrough the troup meetings, new students are able to vent their uneasiness together they see that they are not alone. This in itself made me feel more comfortable about starting classes and meeting new people. But of course there is always room for improvement in any program. Although the Peer Advising Program is effective, I think that the training session should be extended for one more day. The Peer Advisors seemed as if they were put to work right after training: I got the impression that they were unsure of themselves. If the training unsure of themselves. If the training session was spread-out for three days, stee Peer Advis.rs would have a chance to calm down and prepare themselves for meeting with their groups.

Another change that would be an advantage to new students would be to hold-off on the first Peer Advising meeting until the day after Registration. After talking to Peer Advisors and other students, it seems the meetings weren't as beneficial as they could have been because the students weren't receptive. They were tired from registration and moving-in and unpacking. By postponing the first meeting until the second day of Orientation, I think more questions would be asked and more would be accomplish-a have benefitted from the Peer Advising Program. It has helped m≥ to understand what to expect from college and also, through the Peer Advisors, if has enabled me to meet more people than I would have if there were no such program. This program is successful and I can see it growing stronger in coming years.

Jenny Eisberg is a freshman from Westminster, Maryland

WCDS Hires Local Handicapped Citizens

A construction worker from Harry Arena and Sons wields his hammer in what was once the Alpha Chi's

Next Year's Housing Looks Brighter

continued from page 1

temporary and will change ac-cording to student needs throughout the year, according to McIntire.

Housing arrangements for next year promise to be much simpler. Minta Martin is tentatively expected to be com-pletely renovated some time during the spring semester. According to Jim Quinn, Assisdon't see finishing" the renovations by next spring.

Reid Hall is next in line for a facelift, but the College is not available in the future.

tant to the Vice President for Finance, "They (Harry Arena & Sons) started work on to reconstruct it piecemea battrooms and floors proper ly...and at this point in time, I delayed by the Chestertown don't see any delays in delayed by the Chestertown mitory for the 1987-88 year, or mitory for the 1867-88 year, or to reconstruct it piecemeal over the next two summers. Construction of the "Hollows Project" downtown was delayed by the Chestertown Town Council early in the spring, but the plans are still in the works, so townhouses may be

Washington College is of course an equal opportunity employer, and the WC Dining Service is no exception, but the WCDS has recently begun to seek out those for employment who are truly in need — those in need of the respect, self-confidence, and sense of pride that employment can provide

Sharon Crew, supervisor for the WCDS, attended a con-ference last spring of the Na-tional Agency of Colleges and Universities, where one of the other school's represented employed several mentally handicapped people on their staff "The comraderie betstaff. "The comraderie bet-ween the staff was overwhelming. I was so moved that I came home, wrote a proposal, and Dave (Knowles) loved it," explained Crew. "I said, hey, why can't we do that?"

Haven, an organization that trew, tries to mainstream mentally term in the future so the accession of the control of the contr tries to mainstream mentally whole program has been we received," said Crew. Unit Angel's Haven, Crew refers the new workers only Angel's Haven, Crew reters the new workers only the "employees," rather the "clients." "They're treat just like anybody else," a said. Other than a few att dance problems in the beging, the program has be

"We're a family here. We care about each other..." Crew contacted Angel's quite successful, according Haven, an organization that Crew.

Crew hopes to expand

New Travel Club Looks Promising

by Jennifer Smith

In addition to the many ac-tivities already available at WC, a new organization called wc, a new organization called the Three Hundred Mile Club, will be added this year. This organization is designed to give students who live three hundred or more miles away from the College the opportuni-ty to take off-campus excur-sions. It will hold special activities on campus as well. Both local and distant trips will be planned by the club members and may vary in purpose from s ly shopping. ose from sightseeing to simp-

No specific events have been planned yet since the Deans are waiting for ideas from students. Student interests will play a vital role in the activities of the club and any suggestions are welcome

The idea for this club arose when a freshman attending WC felt lonely when his friends went home on weekends. From the midwest and without a car, he had no transportation home. He told his father this, who in turn, called the College and suggested such a club. The faculty agreed that this was a good idea since approximately forty percent of WC's students are from out-of-state.

One out-of-state student, Freshman Cheryl Schlein, of Liverpool, New York said, "I plan to join the club just to get away-to break the routine." Callie Sessions, a senior RA, was equally enthusiastic. "It's a great idea." she said. "Especially if they could get students to bus stations or train stations to get them home. It would be fantastic!"

In addition to getting students away from campus, Dean Maxey, Associate Dean of Students, believes the club will also bring students together and possibly help to form a carpooling system. He also thinks it will introduce outof-state students to the op-portunities available to them in this region.

Dean Berry, Associate Dean of the College, stated that possible trips to nearby cities and Philadelphia, and nearby beaches are ideas to consider. Some suggestions from in-terested students included ski-

The club is being initiated by Student Affairs and will be open to both upper and lowerclassmen who live three undred or more miles away from the campus. The Deahope the SGA will support the organization so that clamembers will not be responsible for all funds involved. Inding is attained, member need only be concerned about ing, shopping malls, and need only be concerned alon spending money for the trip Anyone interested in obtaining more information about the club should contact the Stude Affairs Office.

SGA Clipboard

by Christopher Foley

museums as well.

The Washington College SGA is pleased to welcome the stu-dent body to the 1986-87 school year. SGA has been gearing-up all summer to ensure that the transition back to the academic life is a smooth one. By paying the activities fee, all students are automatically members of SGA and are urged to take the initiative and become involved in the wide-spots and vote in the election. SGA has worked up a fi social calendar for the yelicking off with The Feds September 12th and, back popular demand, Bobby at the Believers on September 12th and Sept 19th. As in past years, SGA also underwriting the cost the Film Series, white presents movies to suit a wid range of tastes

ed to take the initiative and become involved in the wide range of activities sponsored by SGA.

Of major importance to the Student Judicial Board (SJAB), headed by Mby SGA. Campus is the upcoming electangus is the upcoming electangus is the best way for students to have an active voice in the decision-making processes Assuring student representations will be available in the Student Affairs Office next following the cample of positions and modifying the cample of the student bodge of th

Suds 'n Soda

Discount Beverages Rt. 213 & Rt. 297 Chestertown, Md. 1 mile north of campus

good For Thought:

Dining Service Upgrades Student Facilities, Options

By Tom Schuster

question most frequently The question most requestly whed this past week by up-erclassmen entering the Dining all undoubtedly is "Where is ora?" This inquiry inevitably rises after being faced with the DS' new "access system," an centially homemade apparatus rd disk, that reads student I.D. ds and electronically records time you step into the Dining all to eat. The system does more an just process students coming Designed by Sebastion von Graf, ark Jenkins, and Computer nter Director Paul Bishop using nle Hardware and co-authored ess program, the new WCDS puter system also tracks the rying meal plans purchased by dents, calculates the financial tus of the WCDS based on the eal plans actually purchased. d accomplishes several other ores. res, including inventory and lucing labor costs. "Everything n the new system) is very heavily filized." said WCDS Director ave Knowles

Commercial access systems arketed for institutional use, ch as WCDS' new Apple-based ystem, cost approximately $25,000 purchase and install. The other ice tag, stated Knowles, is that h systems do not have any other ses except for processing tudents entering the Dining Hall. he WCDS system's biggest adantage is its flexibility — it allows nanagement to put it to use for logistical operations. Said nowles: "We saved considerable noney through self-development." Perceptions of student accepnce of the new system vary, nience "I'm extremely ecstatic bout the way the students have eccived this system," said mowles. Student reaction, in light of the "bugs" that arose in the first suntarose in the first students at W.C.R. St. finangyr of operation, were more if students lat W.C. Knowles said that it students lat W.C. Knowles said that it students laving on campus were supported by the students laving on campus were supported by the students laving on campus were supported by the students with the support of reduced meal problems. The support of the supp raised another point. "I think its ridiculous. I don't think it's better or worse than what it was. Couldn't you use anybody's card?" If a stuthrough the door as fast as possi-ble, then "it's about the same," ac-cording to Junior R.A. Chris ly one of several changes the dining Service is implementing this year. The large number of boarding students living off-campus this year has forced Knowles to come-up with two additional meal plans for students that differ from the standard 19, or full, meal plan.

The 19 meal plan called "the foundation of the house" by Knowles because the WCDS needs and requires the majority of WC students to purchase it at $875 per semester, was nevertheless con-sidered too much for many students whose residences are not within a short walking distance of Hodson Hall. Hence a choice: the 10 meal plan and the five meal ticket are available this year to resident students housed off-

The ten meal plan, at a cost $660 for the semester, enables the purchaser to attend any 10 meals during a seven day week. After the 10 meals have been used, the student meals have been used, the student is given the option to charge a meal. The five meal plan, however, is without time con-straint. The purchaser buys a $24 five meal ticket and may take those meals whenever he wishes. It may be over a week, a month, or even the entire semester. After the five meals have been used, the student simply purchases another ticket and eats at his or her conve-

The fewer meals purchased, however, the higher the cost per meal. Because the WCDS is finan-

HAIR PORT KENT PLAZA

Family Haircutters and Styling

No Appointment Necessary

OPEN 6 DAYS A WEEK MON., THURS. AND FRI. OPEN TIL 7:00 P.M.

Foreign Car Specialists

778-1096

Thus the higher costs of the reduced meal plans reflect not only the tendency of students on reduced plans to eat the more expensive meals, but the costs also discourage students from selecting them in the first place. With a costper meal of $3.07 on the 19 meal plan, $4.40 on the 10 meal plan, and $4.80 on the five meal ticket, the better deal is unquestionably had by those opting for full-board.

No matter what meal plan students are under, they still may the National Association of College and University Food Services (NACUFS) annual competition even after an administrative error placed them unintentionally in competition with "medium" size schools, such as Towson State University, Vanderbilt, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

be grateful eaters knowing that the categories of Menu Idea Exchange WCDS brought home one second (2nd place), and catering (3rd and one third-place award from place). The WCDS lost out to the (2nd place), and catering (3rd place). The WCDS lost out to the University of the Pacific in both inbut Knowles is still tremendously happy with the outcome. "We can say we weren't just good here," he said, "we were good nationally." The WCDS has taken seven awards at the NACUFS competition over the last five years.

If you're a guy about to turn 18, you need to know the answers to this puzzle. Don't worry, it's easy. Within a month of your 18th birthday, you must register with Selective Service. Just go to the post office and fill out a card. That's all there is to it

Register with Selective Service. It's Quick. It's Easy. And it's the Law.

Imbrosia Gourmet-To-Go

> Sandwiches - Imported Cheeses Fresh Baked Cookies and French Bread

25% off any sandwich 20% off any cheese platter over $10.00

> Offers good upon presentation of this ad Offers expire 9/22/86

107 Cross Street Chestertown

778-0055

FEATURES

WC Student Life

Nontraditional Students Run College Gamut

by Andrea E. Kehoe
Peg Foley is not unlike many Washington College Students: She hates to get up for 8:30 classes and worries about writing papers

But at 65 years of age, the Cecil county resident is not typical of students in higher education. Foley, who is taking two courses for credit this semester even though she is not pursuing a degree, began her studies through the continuing education program last

"I felt as though I needed something to keep my mind from decaying," she said, recalling her retirement in 1981 after 40 years of service for an oil company. "I was afraid I'd just become an old lady with nothing to talk about but what I used to do and how things used to be. I didn't want to live in the past

Foley said professors have supported and encouraged her, and that she enjoys interacting with younger people.
"I don't feel like a sore thumb; I'm not treated as an oddity," she said. Fear of reentering a classroom after is sometimes an absence decades plagues many adult students, said Ann Wilmer Hoon, Director of Continuing Education. Despite this, WC's enrollment of 56 nontraditional students parallels the growth of these programs for people over age 25 nation-

"Professors without exception want the older students in class because all without exception do well," she said, pointing out that nine of the 10 nontradi-tional graduates last year received

Hoon plans to obtain scholarship money for the program to enhance the tuition discount ($250 per course) given to part-time students for their first

It is the financial break that has enabled David Quinn, a 36 year old enabled David Quinn, a 36 year old Sociology major completing his last two courses at WC, to further his education. An instructor at Angel's Haven, a sheltered workshop for retarded adults in Bethelton, he hopes degree will help him advance in his field

Quinn must juggle a 40 hour work week with a class at lunchtime and one each Wednesday evening. His wife, Sara, a social worker for the Queen Anne County Health Department, also

'It's just a continual hassle, but it's better to be busy," he said. "Going to school is a nice diversion from work

Quinn says he "goofed off" when he entered Moravian College in Bethlehem, PA after high school, though he's found his academic work here invigorating.

It's hard to come home after a day of work and go to class when you want to relax and sleep, but it's energizing to be in new situations. It makes me feel better about myself."

Personal Growth

Another nontraditional student at the College is Frank Sutton, a 44 year old ogy major and a full-time worker in the maintenance department. A 1960 high school graduate who dropped out of Wesley College in Dover, DE during his first semester, he eased back into academia by taking one course at a time at Chesapeake College and then transferring here.

"This has given me a new sense of patience," he said. Sutton sold the hardware business he had owned for 13 years to return to school. He will spend another five years finishing his undergraduate degree before reaching his goal to enter the Christian ministry

"Selling your business and turning your whole lifestyle around is a big step. You need a lot of support from those around you. Sutton's wife Suzanne, who works in a day care center, and their two grown ren have encouraged him in his schoolwork. He notes that professors and other students are also helpful particularly one who offered to lend him a required textbook.

'It makes you feel good to see there are no stumbling blocks between young and old," Sutton said.

Starting college at age 40 was WC registrar David Buttlers, who entered the University of Delaware as he was nearing retirement in the army

"Picture this old, crusty sergeant in a music appreciation course listening to Bach and Beethoven and thinking 'Gee, that's neat,' "he said, adding that his experience transformed him from a rigid, rule-oriented person to one tolerant of differences of opinion.

While studying to become a science teacher, he taught for the Reserve Officer's Training Corps program. When a conflict with work prevented him from attending his meteorology class, the professor allowed Buttler's wife to sit-in with a tape recorder and copy the notes on the board. Despite the lack of a peer group, Buttlers found learning exciting: "I thought it was the neatest thing in the world the first time I looked through a telescope and saw the rings their Chesapeake Beach home. She also takes courses at the University Maryland, College Park

"I wouldn't change anything; thing are working for me," she said. "I ha up full social life freshman as sophomore year, and being marries as the said as sophomore year, and being marries. Another student ready to well whi, in school is junior Janet Szabo, who, in school is junior Janet Szabo, who is plained to marry lorge years of the said of the said

Szabo sees her fiancee, an elementary music teacher, once or twice semester. The two also exchange week ly phone calls and frequent letters

Though she asserts that "everybody has a different sense of what's right for them," Szabo cautions freshmet

After five years of juggling his schedule, he graduated in May 1979, and applied for a graduate program in College Administration. The evenings of saying "Hi to the wife and kids and running paid off. up the stairs to study" had

Married Students

Older students are not the only ones older students are not the only ones who try to balance both school and marriage. Kristin Ritchie, a senior English major taking the Education block got married in July 1985. She and her husband Mark are expecting a baby in five months.

"You have to be convinced you can make it work," she said. "If you really intend on finishing school, you're going to do it and being married won't change

Until mid-October, when she begins student teaching, Ritchie will live in Chestertown during the week and spend weekends with her husband at WANTED

> Delivery Personnel Flexible night hours

apply at Newtowne Foods/

Newtowne Pub

across from college 778-1984

ting locked into a relationship. Right out of high school is just too young ( marry).

The Working World Most students at WC do not have the against making hasty commitments. "You need to date around before ge commitments of those over 25 or wh are married or engaged, but many ho a job in addition to their schoolwork

"I like to keep busy," said Chris D Pietro, a senior business major wh works five-six hours a week in the

Di Pietro says he works not for the money but for the chance to meet per ple on campus and gain hands-of management experience.

Sophomore Rachel Smith, a political science major, said the ten hours show works in the Dean's office each week help her budget her time. Flexible scheduling also prevents conflicts w academics

"I enjoy seeing another side of the College," said Smith. "You meet the people who run things behind the scenes."

Senior Janet Simms, on the other hand, welcomes the opportunity her job at the Sly Horse, a local clothing store gives her to get off campus. "It helps me get to know people from the town," she said.

Perhaps the best reason for job seeking comes from another pragmat student, "I really wouldn't be studying much anyway.

Junior Joe Maggio, one of many students employed by the college, sorts letters in the in evitable morning deluge of mail

WC Clubs: Looking For Members

by Andrea E. Kehoe

Extracurricular activities omprise what the folks in funting Hall refer to as the fifth dimension" at Washington College. The following SGA-sponsored clubs offer students a chance to get out of the library and spend ome time with others who hare their interests. If conventional activities such as publications and language clubs don't meet your astes, start your own group.

Tou can begin a local chapter

Accuracy in Academia or and up a bunch of Dungeons

ound up a sunch or Dungeons and Dragons players. Applications for SGA funding will be available later in the semester from treasurer Pam ughman in the Goldstein eadership Center.

Campus Christian Fellowship tact - Jim Sieman, Foxwell

eneral purpose - to create a piritual and social at-cosphere for people to get gether.

vents - picnics, concerts, peakers, softball team, help-ig the elderly in Chestertown. - come to meetings ednesdays at 9:30 p.m. in 1st oor Caroline Lounge. otential members - "Anybody who has an open mind and likes to share with others." Dance Club ontact - advisor Karen Smith, in Gym; President Maggie Brickley, West Hall. eneral purpose - to explore and understand various forms dance and movement. ghts, Elizabethan Christmas

mer, festivals. ning - Contact a member or ttend Wed. at 4:30 in Dance tential members - "Anyone terested in any form of dance d who enjoys movement. ere is no previous dance exrience necessary to join."

Detta Pl Omega (D.P.O.)

President Janet mms, 114 Queen Anne. eneral purpose - a service rganization that provides for the campus and Chestertown mmunity. rents - ents - art shows, blood ves, services for the hanapped and mentally retardof Chestertown, parties. Ining - express an interest to by D.P.O. member. Meetings held weekly.

ential members - diverse ooking for as many people to want to come, who are en-usiastic and interested in aving fun and helping

Amity Bakery and Coffee Shop

Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies, ial Occasion Cakes On Order Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M.

Lunch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

Mon.-Sat. 5 A.M.-5 P.M. Sunday 5 A.M.-2 P.M.

contact - editor-in-chief, Tom Schuster, Queen Anne apt., 778-2800, ext. 321

general purpose - Official colweekly on campus and in community. potential members - reporters, photographers, artists, business and advertising representatives. "Anyone with brains who is reliable and can

French Club contact - advisor Colin Dickson, Ferguson Hall. general purpose - to practice and improve use of the French events - parties, field trips, tea German Club language.

contact - advisor Joachim Scholz, Ferguson Hall general purpose - to practice and improve use of the German language. events - parties, field trips, tea our, Oktoberfest. Aids student in visiting Germany International Relations Club contact - advisor - Professor Daniel Premo, Ferguson Hall, or Judy Beckmann, 217 Queen

general purpose - to increase awareness of current events. events - lectures, discussions at general meetings. "Anybody, but especially those interested in international studies and governments. Investment Club contact - advisor Lauren Bedell, Spanish House. general purpose - Individuals or groups trade NYSE and American exchange stocks us-ing $100,000 in computor money. Cash prizes go to winners.

potential members - anyone in-terested in business manage-ment or the Stockmarket.

Pegasus contact - editor, Arian Ravan-bakhsh, 223 Talbot general purpose - annual year-book of Washington College. potential members - reporters, photographers, lay out artists, "Any student willing to work. No experience needed." Sailing Plub contact - Joe Du Bose, 2nd floor Dorchester.

general purpose - instruction and opportunities in sailing events; weekend sailing; spring break trip to Bahamas.

Spanish Club

contact - advisor Thomas Pabon, William Smith; George Shivers, Ferguson Hall. general purpose - to produce and improve use of the Spanish language events - lecturers, parties, field trips, tea hour, sponsored visiting singing group. Students for a Better World contact - Chris Doherty, 101

Worchester.
general purpose - to educate the student body about the problems in South Africa. To challenge apartheid through peaceful means.

events - occasional forums events - occasional forums.
plans - to create a scholarship for a black South African to attend Washington College. potential members - "From potential members - "From Lacrosse to Drama. Anyone who cares about the future of contact - Joe Maggio, Central general Purpose - to organize trips at a group discount.

Travel Club

events - excursions in and around Chestertown, trips during vacation periods.

300 Mile Club

contact - Associate Dean Alice Berry, Bunting Hall. general purpose - to provide a situation in which students who live more than 300 miles away can get together.
events - parties, field trips in and around Chestertown. joining - attend meetings, look for announced dates. potential members - 'Should live about 300 or more miles away from the college. Provides an outlet for the extra-homesickness.

contact - president Jeremiah Foster, at the off-campus Writer's House.

OLDE TOWNE BARBER

A&P Parking Lot

Cuts & Styles Perms

WELCOME BACK

778-4771

MON.-SAT. 8 til 5:30

general purpose - artist's union enhance the appreciation of using Writer's union as a creative writing. events - will sponsor art shows, field trips, performing art.

potential members - "Anyone who wants to create more interest in the arts on this cam-

Writter's Union contact - President Sue Kolls,

125 Dorchester.

events - poetry, readings, volleyball, Christmas party, lectures, Sponsor Broadsides, Washington College Review, independent literary joining - Attend picnic 12 noon Sat. at Literary House.

potential members - diverse. "people interested in being a general purpose - bring writer or meeting with others together writers of all forms to who write."

SMILEY'S SUBS AND VIDEO

COLLEGE STUDENT MEMBERSHIP

Show College I.D. and Receive 9 Month Membership For

$7 95

Monday & Tuesday All Tapes .99° Wednesday 3 Tapes For $5.00 All Other Days $2.00

ALSO: VCR available for rent and X-RATED VHS, BETA

Mon.-Thurs. 10 a.m.-9 p.m.; Fri. & Sat. 10 a.m.-11 p.m. Sunday 12-5

778-5560

robert pennington

CHESTERTOWN 778-6211

ROCKVILLE 881-0992

WANTED

The Admissions Office is looking for fifteen-twenty men women to work Fall as Semester Tour Guides. Experience not required; freshmen welcome. Tour Guides must be enthusiastic, reliable, and in good social and academic standing (gpa - 2.50).

Interested students are encouraged to apply with Mrs. Jean Krauser in the Admissions Office no later than Thursday, September 18.

SPORTS

New Fitness

Course Will Help

WC Students

Work It All Out by Stephanie Milton

In a recent survey of those 18 years old and younger, researchers found that 40% of their subjects exhibited signs of cardiovascular disease: hardening of the arteries, narrowing of the vessels and the formation of blood Now you may think this can't be Isn't there a popular and widespread fitness boom going on? Yes, there is excitement in the world of health and fitness today, however, it is primarily with those people who can afford to join extravagent health spas, sign legally binding contracts or purchase expensive exercise equipment. You guessed it — the trend of interest is stemming from the adults.

What to do about the kids today who What to do about the kids today who have a tendency to roll instead of walk?
Well, the Atlantic Department was a considered with an idea when the considered with an idea millated over the summer the new Lifetime Fitness Course. Orrectstrated by Karen Smith, Washington College's Director of Dance, the aim of the course is to instill in students the concepts of a fitness lifestyle and its immediate in the course of the course of the course is to instill in students the concepts of a fitness lifestyle and its immediate of the course of the cours pact on one's well-being as well as to actually promote and fine-tune the physical fitness of the individual.

"We want to give them the idea that fitness is ongoing and you can fit it into your life. You will feel better and you will have more energy. You must make time for it because it is important. commented Smith

The course is offered for freshmen, transfers, and upperclassmen on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 11:30 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. The course meets for the full semester and is for two academic

Students will participate in a lecture on Tuesdays for the first 45 minutes. Topics will include principles of exercise and training, fitness components and exercise fallacies, physiology, nutrition and safety, injury prevention and weight control. Immediately following is the exercise session. is the exercise session. Thursdays will not include a lecture. The time is specifically appropriated for the selected fitness activity.

These programs include Aerobic Dance, AquaFitness, CardioFitness, Cycling and Weight Training and Con-Cycling and weight rraming and Con-ditioning. Goals are set within each ac-tivity and progress will be rated by comparing the student's level of fitness at the beginning and at the end of the semester. This includes heart rate, strength and endurance, flexibility, and the fat to lear muscle. and the fat to lean muscle mass ratio

By the end of the fall course, the stu-dent should have gained a thorough understanding of the skills and fun-

WC Soccer Is Looking Ahead to Victory

Age prevails over beauty in this play of the Alumni soccer game last Saturday, September 6th on Kibler Field. Here Sophomore Jon Larsson (left) attempts to head the ball, but is foiled by his Alumni opponent in the first half,

the

As the sun beats down upon Washington College's soccer field today, players anticipate a come-back season after last year's weak finish of 3-12-1. The Sho'men lost leader Pete Murray to graduation, yet within the freshmen class are new faces and feet. many of whom hope to boost the team to .500 status.

Tom Bowman stated. Coach form Bowman stated, "We have no lofty objectives but to get this team above the .500 mark." The team will strive for this goal under the guidance of two solid seniors, Pat McMenamin and Mark Nasteff, Juniors Todd Emmons and Frank Davis will also pitch in to help with leadership duties

Nosteff commented on the talent of Nosteri commented on the talent of the team: "We have a lot of young players with good skills. The past three years we've won only ten games. I think ten wins this season is a reasonable goal that we'll reach."

Coach Bowman is looking for Tommy Bowman and John Larsson to key the offense and produce game-winning

At the other end of the field the competition for the cage is fierce. Four of the five freshmen contenders received post-season honors in their respective high schools. Pete Corbin, John Thomas, Mike Harrington and John Billingsley achieved All-Star or All-Conference honors as goalkeepers. Coach Bowman asserted that the Coach Bowman asserted that the returning soccer players have physically and mentally matured in their play and this growth may carry them to victory against tough opponents such as Swarthmore College and Haverford College. In lieu of this, a .500 season is not only within reach, but definitely surpassable.

damentals that he or she has been taught. For instance, the cycling course will contain information on such topics as repairing a flat tire to com-posing a challenging road workout to safety aspects of cycling. Thus, each program will provide a well-versed format and experience; the individual must respond actively in order to

"Fitness has to be this semester and as less than the children of credits. If you are still unsure of whether or not to give up on your seden- ongoing. The children of the nation

have never been less fit than they are now!"

So if darting to class tuckers you out So it darting to class tuckers you out or standing in those long lines that are so popular these days leaves your lower back or knees sore and in need of replacements, consider this: According to recent estimates, more than 42 million Americans — 18% of the total population — have some form of car-diovascular disease. Approximately 56% of the cardiovascular deaths in the United States are caused by heart at-tacks. One fifth of all deaths in the United States are caused by ischemic heart disease.

"Fitness has to be ongoing. The children of the nation have never been less fit than they are now," said Chair-woman of the Lifetime Fitness Program, Karen Smith.

If you still aren't ready to dash to the Registrar's office to invest in a healthy and happily prolonged life, dash around the track of Kibler Field a few times instead and feel your legs turn to rubber and your lungs strain for the ox ygen that your inefficient car ygen that your inefficient car diovascular system can't supply. O skim over the water of the Casey Swin Center for a couple laps and experience shallow breaths and the ache in you arms because they aren't stron enough to carry you. Why don't you tr the ergometers or just pump some iron in the basement of Cain Athletic Cente and let it burn

Remember, you need to be able to ounce back from life's hard knocks. healthy body contributes to a health outlook. Are you physically fit for life Go ahead. Prove me wrong.

NEW & USED FURNITURE

Desks - Chairs - End Tables -Lamps-Beds - Pictures, Etc.

CROWDING'S STORE

4 mi. N. Chestertown Worton, MD 778-0389

Visa & Mastercard

Field Hockey Team Is "The Best WC Has Ever Had"

by Chris Wiant

This fall marks the second ntercollegiate league season or Washington College women's field hockey team. The transition from a club to a ecognized team was a difficult ne and although there were no reat victories last year, the am has made a definite move the right direction.

As the season opens the ho'women appear stronger han ever with thirteen returnng players, ten of which were tarters last year. Jenny Wadowvsky, the Most Impro-d Player of the 1985 season and Liz Whelan and Kathy and Liz whelan and kathy killroy, the Co-Most Valuable Players of last year are all returning. Among other players are three freshmen and a sophomore transfer, Rath Methymen wheal had been eth Matthews, who had been selected to play in the United States Field Hockey South East District Tour in 1985. Matthews was selected from the Washington-Area District Tournament held at Georgetown University that Washington College also parwashington conege also par-ticipated in.

The attitudes among the players this year is the best ever according to Coach Diane Guinan. Since hard work and confidence makes everyone a winner, the field hockey team winner, the field hockey team practices Monday through Fri-day, 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. and keeps an optimistic outlook. Freshman Marnie Sheenan expressed her feelings for this season: "I am enthusiastically looking forward to a winning season. With the team working together, I'm sure we'll do

The team's strong points are ng as a team.

Alison Shorter, the only senior player, stated, "I'm expecting a lot from the team.

The players aren't young; the team is. So as time goes on I think we'll see a lot of vic-

The season runs from September 11th to October 28th. Said coach Guinan, "I am very impressed with this year's team. They have been working very hard. I am both excited and optimistic about our capabilities. It's the best field hockey team Washington College has ever had."

Men's Tennis Captures Doubles Tourney For Third Straight Year

by Fred Wyman Alejandro Hernandez and With classes and studies Shore basketball coach, Tom looming on the horizon, the Finnegan 6-4, 6-3 in the Washington College mens ten-semifinals. Finnegan was washington conege mens ten-semitinals. Finnegan was mis team started their fall cam-substituting for the injured paign by capturing the Milford Ross Coleman. Men's Open Doubles Tourna- While Gray and Phoebus ment for the 3rd consecutive were making their way to the consecutive finals in the conserved of the

The unseeded team of senior draw, Gorazlez and Marshall 54.

The unseeded team of senior draw, Gorazlez and Marshall 54.

Tim Grey and sophomore were scoring two triumphs in transfer Rich PI proposed team of senior draw, Gorazlez and Marshall 54.

Tim Grey and sophomore were scoring two triumphs in transfer Rich PI proposed team of senior draw, Gorazlez and Marshall 54.

The unseeded team of senior draw, Gorazlez and Marshall 54.

Tim Grey and sophomore were scoring two triumphs in transfer Rich PI proposed to grey the control of the transfer Rich PI proposed to grey from the first Lord State of the Control of the

Shoreman's Pit Beef

513 Washington Avenue Chestertown, Maryland Phone 778-2333 (Located behind Mobil Station on Rte. 213)

OPEN PIT BEEF SANDWICHES BBQ SPARE RIBS

Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Fri.-Sat. 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Closed Sundays

WE CASH CHECKS!

WANTED:

Elm Sports Editor Make $$$$$$$$$$$$$

Writing About The

Shoremen and Shorewomen

Call 778-2800, Ext. 321

KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA SUN SYSTEM

at

EMILY HAIRDRESSER

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

The Future Is Bleak In Brazil

by David Healey

by David Healey
People have always been fascinated with a glimpse of the future. Recently this obsession has been the subject of many popular films such as Dive, Bladerunner, the Mad Max films, and 1984. While they all years widely in right they all vary widely in plot, they do seem to have a common message: The future, folks, is not pretty. Instead of an age of enlightenment, it is an age of oppression where harsh lives are led amongst the wreckage of the twentieth century. Now we can add another title to this list of films, Brazil, a film which almost became wreckage itself.

George Orwell would have liked this movie. Terry Gilliam and Tom Stoppard created a screenplay mimicking Orwell's 1984 in many ways. There is the inefficient totalitarian beauracracy, the political slogans, and the sheer drabness of Orwell's creation However, the black humor and colorful fantasy of this film set it apart. Contrary to what the title suggests, the film is set in a country resembling a politically changed England. "Brazil" refers to the theme music, the 1930's song by Ary Pryce). He is the guy whose life is witnessed by the au-dience. Perhaps it isn't an interesting life, Sam is an efficient government worker, if not an important one. He shares half-a-desk and half-aposter with a co-worker and his half frequently gets pulled away through the thin partition separating their tiny offices.

Sam is having a romance, or at least half a romance, with Jill Layton (Kim Griest). She is a truck driver with a plentitude of long, blond hair. Jill may also be an antigovernment terrorist.

"George Orwell would government have liked

Escaping from reality, Sam has spectacular, vivid dreams which are revealed to the au-. Armored and winged, Sam becomes the hero battling huge samrai and wicked thugs to rescue his heroine, who in

The other woman in Sam's life is his mother, Ida Lowry (Katherine Helmond). A colorful socialite, Ida goes to parties and has an in-house plastic surgeon. Always in fashion, she wears suave hats resembling upside-down shoes. And,

Suffocating life in this socie ty is, of course, the govern-ment. Freedom of speech and thought is not allowed. Slogans stressing the point, such as "Loose Talk is Noose Talk" and "Don't Suspect a Friend and "Don't Suspect a Friend-Report Him" are scattered throughout the background shots. The most vulgar of words, scrawled in spraypoint graffiti, is "reality."
Threading through the scenery are the omnipresent plastic heating pipes, touted in government commercials as available in designer colors to suit your demanding taste. Sinister though the govern ment may be, it is unfailingly polite and businesslike. When Sam is knocked unconscious by a riot squad member, the burly man says, "Sorry, sire, regula-tions." However, there are mistakes, such as when a large this movie." tions." mistal

> ing the operator to type the into the machine. Mr. Buttle is at home watching television. . Tuttle is a terrorist played by Robert DeNiro. The police arrest the unfortunate Buttle in his living room and stuff him bug falls into a computer, causinto a large bag, never to be seen again. Of course, the police do not neglect to give his wife a receipt for him.

While the movie may be about the controversial future it has, in its own past, been an object of controversy. Director Terry Gilliam created his $15 million film on schedule and on budget, but he made too much of a good thing, producing a movie two hours and wenty three minutes long, instead of the contracted two hours and five minutes. Sid nours and tive minutes. Sid Sheinberg, president of MCA Inc. wanted a shorter movie and a more "satisfying en-ding." Gilliam refused to ac-commodate, so Sheinberg refused to release the film. This conflict sparked articles in many major publications in-cluding The New York Times, Newsweek, Time Magazine, and television's 20/20. To free his hostaged film, Gilliam resorted to terrorist tactics resorted to terrors, and took out a full page ad in Variety which read, "Dear Sid Sheinberg, When are you going to release my film, 'Brazil'?" He also gave clandestine showings of the film in Los Angeles. After nine months, and a struggle that was beginning to resemble the world Gilliam had created on film, Sheinberg relented

Gilliam, a former member of Monty Python and director of the unexpected 1981 hit, Time Bandits, has created a successful film. It has been shown around the world, received good reviews, and been fairly lucrative at the box office. In 1985 it was chosen by the Los Angeles Film Critics Association as best movie, beating out the $28 million Out of Africa which played at Washington College last week.

Part of the Washington College film series, Brazil will be shown Friday, Sunday, and Monday evneings at 7:30 p.m. in Norman James Theatre. The student, faculty, and staff ssion price is one dollar. All others are two dollars

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Friday 12

"The Feds" Coffeehouse 9 p.m.-1 a.m. Film Series: Brazil Norman James Theatre, 7:30 p.m.

Saturday 13

Catholic University ZTA party

Coffeehouse 9 p.m.-1 a.m. Coalition for Musical Diversity party Music from A to Z and beyond. Phoebe's (basement, Fine Arts Center) 9 p.m.

Sunday 14

Film Series: Brazil Norman James Theatre, 7:30 p.m.

Monday 15

Washington College Club Lunch served 11:15 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Monday through Thu day Film Series: Brazil Norman James Theab

7:30 p.m. Tuesday 16

Soccer

Lebanon Valley Field Hockey vs. Wesley Kibler field, 4 p.m.
Campus Christia Fellowship Meeting
DPO Chapter Rom

Caroline, 9:30 p.m.

Thursday 17

The Constance Stuart L rabee Exhibit: Pho

graphs on Loan.
Opening reception
p.m., Tawes Gallery. Display opens Tuesday Thursdays and Saturdays 5 p.m. until October 12. Volleyball vs. Swart more/Widener

Cain Athletic Center,

Writer's Union Picnic

After a crushing defeat at the The Department of Dram hands of the prose writers last has announced auditions for spring, the Washington College Fall production. The joint at spring, the Washington College Fall production. The joint as poles will alterimpt to recoop ions will be held on Saturd their loss at the Writers' Union September 13, from 2 to 4 pincin on Saturday Beginning in Tawes Theatre, Gilson Fi at noon in the O'Neill Literary Arts Center. The producits thouse there will be a business are Wendy Kesselman meeting, followed by the thoughtful and haunting a collected of the control of the control of the collected propose writers up Sater II. But Berlin Literature 14, 1987 and 1988 a volleyball players are invited. report to the Green room in ARNON MICHANIA. — TERRY CILLAM — TRAZY : ... ON/EINAM PROCE POBERTI DE MIRO HAZIMERNE HELLAÑ NA HOLH HOB HOSONS HOWARE PAUL AND REST : ... TERRY CILLAM I TUR STOPRAD CHARLES MARÓ! R ... "ALL VIRTUM NICHA HALL" - TERRY CILLAM I LUMESKAL REGISE! """ MONERA HALL MAR L'ALL MARCHE L'ALL MARCHE CANTON NICHAM "" ETERY CILLAM I LUMESKAL REGISE!

Meet Sam Lowry (Jonathan his mind becomes Jill like any mother, she occa-sionally worries about her son's flagging career. There was this film. crew from the NEWS, and they came to my school to try and find someone who didn't was Totally real and true st of things that actually happened to me [or to dose personal friends simplesces ground his need

Edna Tuppervare, of Bile Neck, Idaho

sends us this photo of a POTATO chaped

KE TOM CRUISE.

OR DON'S BELIEVEOT

BELIEVE OF

MANAMA O

TO BE

Rappers Record Rock Classic

by Paul Henderson

A year ago, when Lionel Richie and Quincy Jones gathered together a cast of pop-music geriatrics and has-beens for a charity album, the results were hardly surprising. Big Sales. When you run the musical gamut of Julio Ig-lesias to Cyndi Lauper, appealing to everyone in equally sac-charine proportions, it would have been a surprise if it did not sell millions of copies. We are the world indeed.

The ensuing months saw other "charity conlaborations, similarly lame products. The new-found consciousness was steve Van Zant's Sun City album. A few people seemed interested in this project:
Reubin Blades, Gil ScottHeron, Kurtis Blow, and RUN
DMC – a bunch of young ethnics playing that annoying proban music harping on that outh Africa thing again. The esult of this collaboration was n album whose musical vitaliy and tough stance was left We Are The World

Perhaps the most enduring and important results of the Sun City album will be the col aborations: Bone with Keith Richards and Ron Wood, Peter Wolf, and Gil Scott-Heron, and RUN DMC with Steve Van ant and Rock & Roll

It came as only a small : prise then when the new RUN DMCalburn, Raising Hell, was ball allbun, reasing Hen, was eleased containing a hit single eaturing a collaboration of ap and heavy metal. The ingle "Walk This Way," a hit or Aerosmith some ten years 150, has now become one of the meet included in the containing of the meet included in the containing of the meet included in the containing of the ost inspired singles to ap-

And why have we, the students of a predominantly white upper-to-middle-class college suddenly been seeing RUN DMC on MTV and hearing them on radio stations across the country? Because they have a hit cover-version of a rock and roll chestnut that manages to appeal to diametrically opposed camps Perry.

pear during the long dry summer.

And why have we, the students of a predominantly beat elements of the song. The beat elements of the song. The monotonous drum beat that is thinly disguised with gim-micky production effects. Bas-ed on a style of music which production of Russell Simmons and Rick Rubin manages to successfully blend the big-beat relies on a steady beat over which the words are almost chanted, RUN DMC places drumming and staccato singing style of RUN DMC with the affected screaming of Steven Tyler and the wailing, perhaps too much emphasis on what they are saying rather than on the accompanying music. What they are saying its often full of typical black machismo that can be traced back to the early blues musicians. RUN DMC mention themselves in most of their songs, usually to the effect that they are the back to the perhaps too much emphasis on rumbly guitar playing of Joe Perry. The constant tension

1986 BB

Rappers RUN DMC have created a new sound for Aerosmith's classic, "Walk this Way" on their new album, Raising Hell.

box-carrying inner-city yo-boys who listen to RUN DMC.

The most impressive aspect of the song is that it is not your standard cover. With the help of Steven Tyler and Joe Perry, of teenage listeners - the created by the fusing of these suburban metal heads who two seemingly disparate listen to Aerosmith, and the styles make a song that is not created by the fusing of these only exciting to listen to, but one that seems to invite you to turn it up louder than your speakers may allow

Few of the other songs on the album are as exciting as "Walk This Way." Much of the Arts Update album lapses into a

Lit. Magazine Opportunities

By Mary Riner
If you have ever glanced through any of Washington College's students literary magazines and wanted to create your own, but feared a lack of support, then get your typewriter ready. The Writer's Union will sponsor any group that wishes to organize their thoughts into an original By Mary Riner that wishes to organize their thoughts into an original literary magazine. Of course, high-quality content is a pre-requisite for funding. There is no set limit on the funds available to a magazine, since each is allocated money on the basis of need. If you are interested in beginning your own magazine, submit your content, editor, and staff choices to Sue Kolls, president of the Writer's

Larrabee Exhibit To Open

by Juliet Gilden

Constance Stuart Larrabee, well known for her striking World War II shots from Africa, will open an exhibit of her work at Washington College this month

Larrabee will host the opening reception from 5 p.m .to 7 p.m. in the Gibson Fine Arts Center on Thursday, September 13th. Public viewings will be held during Special College events and on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays from 3:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m. through October 12th. Dr. Robert Janson-La Palme is available at 778-2800 to make special group arrangements.

According to Art lecturer ex Andrews, "Larrabee's African pieces possess a quiet type of beauty. She masters the technical side of her photographs and leaves quite an emotional impact on her viewers as well '

ENTERTAINMENT CALENDAR

Friday 12

Merriweather Post Pavilion Columbia, Maryland John Fogerty and Bonnie Raitt

730-2424

Saturday 13 Bowie's Theatre in the Woods Bewie, Maryland Window Pains. A play by Michael A. Pace. Newtowne Square Pub

Chestertown "Great Train Robbery" 778-1984

Sunday 14

Maryland Science Center Inner Harbor, Baltimore I mages of the Prints, drawings, photographs of the bay. "Toward the 21st Cen-

The future of controversial areas such as genetic engineering.
Maryland Renaissance Festival

Annapolis, Maryland Relive Elizabethan days. 10:30 a.m.-6 p.m.

Tuesday 16

National Symphony Orchestra Washington D.C.

Soprano Arleen Auger, singer from the Royal wedwill solo in Mahler's fourth Symphony. Kennedy Center Concert

Hall, 7 p.m.

Wednesday 17

Warner Theatre Washington D.C. Smithereens

Thursday 18

Baltimore Symphony Or-Baltimore

David Zimmerman, Con-

Mahler-Symphony No. 6 Joseph Meyerhoff Sym-phony Hall, 8:15 p.m. 783-8000 Newtowne Square Pub

Chestertown "Surrender" 778-1984

Lou Reed and the

"About Last Night" Hours: Fri.-Sun. 763 p.m. September 12-19 Mon. Thurs. 745 p.m. 778-1575

they are the best rappers and are the sole holders of some mythic rapping crown. Their songs are studded with lines like "I'm the wizard of words/the ruler of rap." On the song 'perfection' in particular, they leave little doubt as to who they are: "My name is di RUN/and he's Darryl MAC/RUN DMC right and exact/Perfection." Similarly, exact/Perfection." Similarly, there are songs that are typically urban in content. Dealing with the late-night, Kentucky Fried Chicken inner-city culture featuring pimp limousines with tinted windows and prostitution in the high schools, these ideas are all treated in the lyrics with a detached indifference as in the song "Is It Live." "In the city

it's a pity/We just can't hide/Tinted windows don't mean nothing/They know

It would be a mistake to say that Raising Hell is a rap album moving into the mainstream. It is rather a musical experiment that has produced both good and bad results. It does, however, show what Rap could sound like. "Raising Hell," the title track.

barbs, underpinned by a terrific rhythm and an exciting

also serves to open the door to a whole new style of music that will accomplish what the late Punk music accomplished -thrilling the young and p-g the h-l out of the old.

and rumbling punk guitar.

Chestertown Movie Theater

AR RIM ORE'S Quick Stop For

- Breakfast

- Sandwiches

Subs

- Dinner Platters

*Shrimp

*Crab Cake

*Chicken Nuggets *Fish

- Fresh Fried Chicken

Mon.-Sat. 6:30-9 p.m. Sun. 8-7 p.m. 778-1096 Location

ST FOR ST

INTRODUCING COLLEGIATE FLIGHTBANK, FROM CONTINENTAL AND NEW YORK AIR

If you're a full-time student at an accredited college or university you can join our Collegiate FlightBank.<sup>54</sup> You'll receive a membership card and number that will allow you to get 10% off Continental and New York Air's already low fares. In addition, you'll get a one-time certificate good for $25 off any domestic roundtrip flight. Plus, you'll be able to earn trips to places like Florida, Denver, Los Angeles, even London and the South Pacific. Because every time you fly you'll earn mileage towards a free trip. And if you sign up now you'll also receive 3 free issues of Business Week Careers magazine.

SIGN UP YOUR FRIENDS AND EARN A PORSCHE.

But what's more, for the 10 students on every campus who enroll the most active student flyers from their college there are some great rewards: 1 free trip wherever Continental or New York Air flies in the mainland U.S., Mexico or Canada.

Or the grand prize, for the number one student referral champion in the nation: a Porsche and one year of unlimited coach air travel.

And how do you get to be the referral champion? Just sign up as many friends as possible, and make sure your membership number is on their application. In order to be eligible for any prize you and your referrals must sign up before 12/31/86 and each referral must fly 3 segments on Continental or New York Air before 6/15/87. And you'll not only get credit for the enrollment, you'll also get 500 bonus miles

So cut the coupon, and send it in now. Be sure to include your current full time student ID number. That way it'll only cost you $10 for one year ($15 after 12/31/86) and $40 for four years ($60 after 12/31/86). Your membership kit, including referral forms, will arrive in 3 to 4 weeks. If you have a credit card, you can call us at 1-800-255-4321 and enroll even faster.

Now more than ever it pays to stay in school.

| Nank                   | Dote of Birth.  |  |
|------------------------|---|--|
| C. llege               |   |  |
|                        | Zip   |  |
| Permanent Aildress     | Zip   |  |
| Full time student ID # | Year of Graduation  |  |
| $ Check/Mon           | ec Order Enclosed PLEASE DON'T SEND CASHappess     Visa     Master Card       Diner's Club  |  |
| Account Number         | Expiration Date   |  |
| FOR MEMBERSHIP APPLIC  | CANTS UNDER THE AGE OF 18: The undersamed is the porentpoliciant named hereon, and I consent to his/her participation in then |  |
|                        |   |  |

CONTINENTAL ONEW YORK

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 3

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, September 19, 1986

ny Wadkovsky and Liz Whelan share a high five after WC's first goal Yednesday's game. The Sho'women beat Wesley 3-1. (See Field Wednesday's game. The Sho' ockey story on Page 8 for details.

Fall Convocation Breaks Tradition Music Instead of Speaker

by Jennifer Smith

Once again it is time for Fall Convocation at According to Sherry Magill, Executive Assistant to the President, this "formal ceremony celebrates the beginning of the Fall Semester" is scheduled for September 24 at 2:00 p.m.

in Tawes Theater and is open to all students and faculty. Magill, along with the rest the administration, "hopes the students will come and be excited about it.

In addition to President
Douglass Cater's traditional State of The College Address, four other speakers will also be attending the ceremony.

Two of the speakers,
Woodrow Wilson Scholars Robert and Rosalind Koff, will give a presentation entitled The Language of Music." The performance will take the place of the usual keynote ad-dress. Mr. Koff is a violinist while Mrs. Koff is a pianist and harpsichordist. The Koffs will narpsicnordist. The Korts will be on campus for the week of September 21 to September 26 and will be participating in classes in addition to a second performance to be held at 8:00 p.m. in Tawes Theater Tues- Child," the Smithsonian's first p.m. in lawes ineater lues-daynight.

The other two guest speakers, Constance Stuart Larabee and William Ross Hubbard, will be receiving awards as well as talking with students

Constance Stuart Larabee an internationally acclaimed photographer, will be receiv-ing the Honorary Doctorate of Art. Born in England and raised in South Africa, Ms. Larabee studied art professionally in Europe and held her first exhibition at the age of

Larabee was South Africa's first woman war correspon-dent in W.W. II where she serv-ed in Egypt, Italy, France, and England. On returning to South Africa, Ms. Larabee published "Jeep Trek." a collection of wartime photographs and letwardine photographs and let-ters. Three of these photos were included in a major ex-hibition at the Corcoran Gallery of Art. Ms. Larabee has held other major exhibitions in South Africa, Canada, and the U.S. Last year, The Smithsonian In-stitution's National Museum of Art opened "Go Well, My important exhibition of photography by a living artist.

Ms. Larabee now resides in Chestertown where she divides her time between photography and breeding of champion Norwick and Norfolk terriers. In 1953, she was sworn in as an American Citizen at the Chestertown Court House and adopted the Eastern Shore as subject matter for her

To commemorate bicentennial anniversary, Ms. Larabee held an exhibit entitl-Larabee held an exhibit entitled "Celebration of the Chesapeake." She also chaired the Washington College Friends of the Arts Committee in 1983 and 1984 Receiving the Honorary Doctorate of Public Service, Wilbur Ross Hubbard is an attorney, businessman, former state-legislator, and Washington College Trustee Emeritus. Best known pacesetter in the field of historic preservation, Mr. Hubbard is a native of the Eastern Shore and responsible for the restoration of the Customs House, one of Chestertown's

New Library Security System Installed for $20,000

by Tony Caligivri With the installation of an ectronic security system in ller Library, some students e fearing that Washington lege is moving from the age the Honor Code to an age of curity and surveillance. For e students, the initial reac upon seeing the bars, elecequipment, odeled entrance is one of yance or irritation, vet come to realize at the solution chosen by the

William Tubbs, the system has been a serious consideration

According to head librarian volumes in 1985, Tubbs still have been working there for followed through with his pro-posal for a security system, brfor some time. Since the begin-ning of 1984, the library has Government Association,

"It's like having to stop at an airport security system."

reportedly lost nearly 2,900 volumes totaling a sixty thou-sand dollars in losses. Although the yearly loss of books dropped by almost 1,000 members of the faculty, and eventually to the Board of Visitors and Governors. The proposal was finally approved in 1986 in order to be operational by August.

According to Tubbs, the system cost approximately $20,000. It will take half of the library's budget for the next two years in order to cover the large expense. Although the cost of the system may seem expensive, Tubbs pointed out that it was the least costly of the library's limited options. To either attempt to watch materials more closely and cover the losses or to hire two full-time security guards seemed less appealing since cost would be indefinite and, several years, admit that the system takes some time getting used to.

"I've seen it go off a lot, sometimes they forget to check out or return their books, while other students will set it off deliberately out of fun or curiosity. There have even been some faculty members stopped by the alarm," said desk assistant Judy Beckmann.

"After a while it will become second nature to clear the books, but once in a while I still forget and the alarm will go off," said Melissa Harter. "I can see how people find it an-noying. It's like having to stop at an airport security system. The system itself coding each book with a small magnetic strip which is planted in the binding or cover The strip can be "sensitized" or "de-sensitized" upon checking out or returning books at the front desk. In a few instances, coded books from other libraries or electronic equipment will set off the system. In the event that someone does set off the alarm with a coded book, that person is asked to return to the front desk and check to make sure that all materials have been checked out. No punish-ment is involved - it would be impossible to determine ac-cidental and intentional occurances. The library staff does not intend to prosecute students, instead the staff hopes the system will serve as a reminder for students and faculty to check out materials. The company that produced the system, 3M, guarantees eighty percent effectiveness in continued on page 4

Inside:

SJB Revision Biology Grant

Photo Exhibit Album Review

Drug Crusade

Soccer Win

by Audra M. Philippon

Grace Period Over

inistration was the best nly fourteen days into the ester, campus Security has ady issued over 120 park-violations. For those of you enough to escape tickets far, note that the "grace od" is about to end.

usually allow one to two tled in and be aware of the rking regulations...but starnext week (September 21) parking regulations will be fully enforced," warned Gerry Roderick, Director of Security. According to Roderick, security officers have only been citing the most blatant violations so far, such as park-ing in no-parking zones, parking on the grass, and having an unregistered vehicle. One hundred and twenty tickets during the first two weeks is actually a low total compared to years especially in the case of the latpast, but Security intends to start fining all violations.

Students working in the continued on page 5 library, especially those who

OPINION

Drug Hysteria Ignores Reality

This week, from the living room of the White House, the Reagans announced a "Crusade Against Drugs" for the Eighties. After a summer of genuine concern about "the drug problem, perhaps the expression of national unity seemed appropriate to many students. Presidential recognition of such an obvious social many students. Presidential recognition of such an obvious social socurge may seen enlightening. Or does it?

Most people would find headlines such as "New Cocaine Bill adds To Penatike," "Narcotice Bill Calls For Death Penatty" and "President Asks National Drive To Curb the Use of Narcotics" typical of any recent edition of the local paper. The fact that these headlines are from 1913, 1954, and 1969, however, suggests that the "War On Drugs" is, and has been, nobling one gest that the "War On Drugs" is, and has been, nobling one than an ongoing police action. Many older the mun the control of the property of the pr

Crusade" show before.

The drug issue is one of the classic paradoxes of American society. As a nation we seem to have a need to periodically mobilize ourselves to conduct a modern-day witch hunt for moniture ourselves to conduct a modern-day witch hunt for 'illicit' drug users, ignoring their real problem, we happily so of emphoric slumber under the influence of our permissible vices. When a new menace arrives, we slap ourselves awake, hung-over and sans memory of the last time, and proceed to repeat the folly.

Many of us, as college students with a taste and fondness for Many of us, as college students with a laste and fondness for bonce, play a central role in this rather hypocritical drams when bonce, play a central role is this rather hypocritical drams when drugs. In doing so, we blind ourselves to a sad reality. The drug that kills the most Americans each year isn't beroin, or PCP, or cocaine and its now infamous derivitive, crack. America's most murderous drug is alcohol. Like it or not, to lift a drink or cigarette to your lips is to use drugs that are among the most addititive and the most deadly.

dicitive and the most deadly.

Ours is a druy-oriented society. Usage is encouraged everyday through the media. If we have a problem, we are told to pop a pill. The encouragement to seek a pharmaceutical answer to our various problems is rivaled in absurdity only by our arbitrary division of equally harmful drays into 'acceptable' and 'unacceptable' categories. Are a dead junkle and a dead aicoholic really that different? What quirk of our society dictates that the sudden demise of Len Bias will offend us more than the slow des-cent of the alcoholic who kills himself a little each day? The main fallacy of a "Drug Crusade" is that it assumes that, by acting collectively, the American people can solve problems that exist in the minds of individuals. Drug abuse is a malady of the personal will. It cannot be corrected by a committee. To con use personas will. It cannot be corrected by a committee. To correct drug abuse, the addict must will it. Education, therapy, and the concern of family and friends go only so far. For the addict or alcoholic, what counts the most is the personal crusade. Our obligation is to allow the addicts and alcoholics of our society to have the chance to realize this.

See related story on Page 6

Washington College Elm

| Editor-in-chief                |                  | Thomas M. Schuster |
|--------------------------------|------------------|--------------------|
| News Editor                    |                  | Audra Philippon    |
| Features Editor                |                  | Andrea Kahoe       |
| Arts/Entertainment Editor      |                  | David Healey       |
| Sports Editor                  |                  | Stenhanie Milton   |
| Photography Editor             |                  | J.M. Fragomeni     |
|                                |                  |                    |
|                                |                  |                    |
|                                | Managers         |                    |
| Managing Editor                |                  | Alison Shorter     |
| National Advertising Manage    |                  | Michelle Roya      |
| Local Advertising Manager      |                  | Allyson Tunney     |
| Classified Advertising and Cir | culation Manager | William Faust      |

The Em is the official student newspape of Weshington College. The Em is published every friday during the accessing year with the except Editorials are the separability of the Editorial careful and t

tion in that week's issue.

The Eim's business and editorial office is located in the Queen Anne lounge, found on the first floor of the Queen Anne's House dormitory. Business hours are 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 p.m. to 1

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Cater Warns Against Drugs

To The Editor:

Congratulations on your splendid opening issues. This bodes well for the year ahead. One glaring exception: Your lively article "Roommate Sur-vival" provides advice to student newcomers that is both cynical and sinister. ("There are plenty of other rooms on campus where such (drug) ex-perimentation is welcome.") ope readers will pay heed to my opening remarks to the freshmen and parents. The tragic fact is that during the past year two of our students served miserable terms in prison because they chose to forget that drugs are illegal and that officers of the State have every intention of enforcing the law

Best Regards, Douglass Cater

Book-buving Procedure

Inefficient

To the Editor:

I am composing this letter while waiting in line at the bookstore. On the bulletin board across from me, a petition is posted. ALL: Against Long Lines. Already over 70 students have signed this peti-tion. Without hesitation, I add my name to the list, for I simply do not have the time to stand in line for almost two hours to purchase the books I need for this semester's courses. Now that the chaos has diminished. hopefully, we can all entertain a few suggestions for improve-ment on the present system.

To begin, I would like to com-mend the bookstore staff on their courtesy and patience with well over 800 angry and often inconsiderate students. I realize they are all working hard to meet the demands of students, and this job takes much tolerance and understan-

In an effort to alleviate this onslaught of students over the course of two or three days, perhaps a number system could be employed. Each student would receive a number at the door along with an estimate of the time it would take until that number is called. This way students would only have to wait five or ten minutes, and the time that would have been spent waiting in line could be used for more productive purposes, allowing the students to return with a much more cheerful disposi-Additionally, longer hours might be instituted for the first few days of school, and perhaps a few extra people could be temorarily employed to take the strain off the pre-sent staff. The abbreviated hours which are now available during these few days are simply not enough to service the number of people who need to purchase books. Also, these traditional business hours are traditional class times as well

I would like to stress the importance of buying books during the first few days of classes. Professors assign readings on the first day and expect them to be completed at the next class meeting. Many simply cannot be done without texts. Why doesn't the bookstore sell books prior to the first day of classes? Many students arrive several days early and would be more than willing to buy books at that One final note (this one to the professors): Please try to keep the cost of books down! It is hard enough to have to come up with over $10,000 per year without having to worry about a book bill that is almost $400 per year. The volume of books required for each course often borders on outrageous, sometimes upwards of 10-12. One student I know dropped a course when she learned it re-quired 15 books. Almost all of the books are new editions well. If professors allow earlier editions of books to used, some money could saved through used books

In closing, I would like again complement the w again complement the we that is done under the presystem. At the same is however, I hope these sugations will be seriously sidered. Perhaps they generate better, even mor ficient ideas, and the long will cease to be a bother is all.

Margaret Virkus Class of '87 English major

Watch You

Glass Whe Parking At

New Dorm

by Thomas Schuster

I'll admit straight-out my motive in writing this line editorial is a selfish But, like any other studes Washington College, I have obligation to publicize blems existing on this can that detrimentally affect quality of student life. fact that I am the editor of paper, I feel, obligates mee more to air such issues if they involve me directly.

As any other stud motorist would have been was more than outraged to the windshield of my hideously cracked one this week after a base fouled-out of the diamond to the new dorm's lot where to the new dorm's lot when car was parked, had co-niently descended upon never found the baseball what I did discover, as doubtedly the other studi

continued on pa

Vandals Should Receive Disciplinary Probation

Remember how upset you were when The Elm reported the tuition hike Have you ever moved into your room and had the only basis for decorating your walls be "put the biggest pictures over the biggest holes"? How many times have you had to carefully guide your mother around campus, avoiding the scene of last night's party because of her delicate heart condition? Did you know that the College spent thousa of dollars making repairs that would be totally unnecessary if not for a small population of students who confuse fun with crime' Who are the real criminals? Are they the people with eggs, hurling them at Middle Hall, or the people "egging them on"? Are they the ones who walk by pretending to see nothing? On the other hand, who are the victims? Is it the wall that needs repainting or the maintenance employee that has to repaint it? Where is the money coming from to make these repairs? Is anyone going to contribute funds for campus reconstruction when the student body can't seem to avoid breaking windows?

Sara Welch

Will the College pay for it? Of course will the College pay for it? Of course they do, but who provides most of the working capital for the College? Somewhere along the line you have to trace it to yourself. You are the victims

How then should we deal with van-dals? Suppose a student witnessing an act of vandalism files charges with Stu-dent Affairs, it gets through the Judicial Screening Board and the individual is found guilty by the Student Judicial Board. Then what? The Stu-dent Judicial Board has an unlimited number of sanctions to impose against vandals. The theory of last year's Judiciary was that community service was the most effective punishment. It was the consensus of the SJB that if a person had to repair the damage done, plus a few extra hours of gardening there for good measure, he or she would think about the action that brought them there. What about fines? It was our belief that writing a check was too easy for some students and too far detached from the crime. Probably the most effective deterent, however, is disciplinary probation. If a student on disciplinary probation. If a student on DP is convicted again it means automatic explusion. Wouldn't that Let's face the truth II you do something stupid at a party, the organization can be put on probation, which means no parties. That way no one has fin. If however, we can't keep each other under control then my vote goes to "hangin em high!"

Sara Welch is a senior majoring in Political Science from Ocean City, Maryland and is the Chairman of the

What Is A Proper Punishment ISSIJE: For Students Who Are Convicted Of Destroying College Property?

Jeb Stewart Sophomore Lexington, Virginia

"I think that if someone damages school property, first offenders should have to pay what it costs to repair the damages and second time ofshould have their cases left up to the discretion of Student Affairs or the SJB.

Dan Forzano Island Park, New Jersey

"I think that they should pay for the damages or do the actual work to repair the damages that they caused."

Janet Simms Senior Salisbury, Maryland

They should have to pay the full cost of the damage as well as perform community service."

Charlie Wilcox Junior New York, New York

They should be hung by their toes from George Washington's statue and flaged with a wet poodle."

Chris Erhart Baltimore, Maryland

"If it's graffitti they should repaint it and if they break it they should fix it. They should be made to publically apologize for it."

Campus Voices

by Michele Balze

Punishment Needs To Be More Drastic

I don't understand. If anyone does, I'd love an explanation. I'd like someone to tell me exactly what pleasure one receives from deliberately break-ing and destroying College property. I just assumed it's an act people enjoy since it happens so much.
When The Elm asked me to express my opinion about vandalism. I tried to figure out the reasoning that motivates vandals to destroy College property. The best answers that I came up with

They were probably drunk, They were probably mad, or they are just down right stupid and immature.

Gee - they all sound like great reasons to rip something out of a wall or break a window, don't they?

Somehow, I wasn't quite satisfied with those reasons. After all, there are a lot of drunk, depressed and immature people who don't vandalize school property. So, I thought about it a little more. I realized that I would never really know why an individual would decide to commit such a pointless act.

I also realized something else. These actions were having a direct effect on each and every student here. Because of vandalism, we risk losing several privileges like having beer available in the Coffee House and having free washers and dryers.

Even more importantly, why should all of us suffer? So, what do we do about it? I think if we all put forth an effort to stop this kind of behavior, we would see results. If you see vandalism happen-ing, report it. If you see it about to hap-pen, discourage it. If you're thinking about doing it, restrain yourself.

Irene Nicolaidis

Washington College needs to take a

The issue here is why should I be firm stand that will stop this nonsense, penalized for the ignorance of others? Rules need to be more defined, and consequences need to be more drastic. Not sequences need to be more drastic. Not only should the vandal mend their damage but they should also receive strict disciplinary probation. Perhaps cleaning the toilets of one's residence hall for a week would discourage some of this behavior. I'm sure maintenance would appreciate the help. Think about it, this college was established to provide us with an education. We should respect that and do as much as we can to preserve it.

Irene Nicolaidis is a senior Business major from Owings Mills, Maryland, and is the RA of West Hall.

A new $20,000 security system has been installed in Miller library to reduce the growing number of missing books. Neither librarians or students find the detection service hypocritical in light of the recent

Security Designed For Everyone

cutting losses. Tubbs hopes for an easier time finding much higher results, however, reference materials, and the because he believes that most faculty will have an easier missing materials are not the time finding the teaching result of intentional theft. "This system is to benefit cess of the system will not be

"This system is to benefit cess of the system will not be everyone at Washington Coi-reflected in the number of peolege. It will allow the library ple caught, but by the staff to do its job without have diminishing complaints over ing to waste time searching for missing "materials," said books. The students will have Tubbs.

materials they need. The suc-

Biology Dept. Honored

Biolgoy Department, headed by Dr. Donald A. Mun son, will acquire an important new piece of scientific equipment this year, thanks to a $7,123 grant from the National $7,123 grant.
Science Foundation. The funds, which will be matched by the College, will be used to nurchase a fluorescence by impermicroscope for use by upperlevel biolgy classes, students, and faculty in the Department

mitted last year under the Col-lege Science Instrumentaion Program, through which the seeks to provide qualified applicants with funds to pur chase equipment not normally allowed for in departmental budgets. Dr. Munson says that he is "most happy to have been honored by the National Science Foundation by being awarded a grant. The award continued on page 5

EMPLOYMENT

Applications are now being accepted by the Student Union for employment, Applicants must be 21 yrs. of age. Both wages and hours are great!

Apply Now!!

Student Awards To Be Given At Convocation: Classes Adjust

continued from page 1 most important buildings dating from the colonial

Mr. Hubbard earned a Juris Doctorate degree with honors in 1927 from the George Washington University School of Law. He then worked as president of the Potomac Poultry Food Co., Inc. and the Chesapeake Shell Co., Inc. and represented Kent County as a in the Maryland House of Delegates from 1935

In 1953, Mr. Hubbard returned to the Eastern Shore and served as a member of the Washington College Board of Visitors and Governors from 1944 to 1951. He was appointed Trustee Emeritus in 1984 by unanimous decision. Mr. Hubbard now maintains Whitehall, a significant Georgian colonial residence on Water Street which his mother restored in 1920. Mr. Hubbard also restored the Hynson-Ringgold House, now the official residence of the president of W.C. As a member of the Board of Visitors and Governors, Mr. Hubbard an-nounced he had done so specifically to create a future home for presidents of the college. The restoration was complete by 1946 and Dr. and Mrs.

Mead took up residency at that time. Every president since Mead has occupied the house. In addition to these restora-tions, Mr. Hubbard also donated land for the Truslow

The President and Visitors and Govern Washington College cordially invite you to Wednesday, September 24, 1986

at 2:00 p.m. Honored guests will be Wilbur Ross Hubbard Constance Stuart Larrabee Boathouse.

Aside from these awards, outstanding students will also be recognized at the Convocation. The awards to be given include the Fox Freshman

Scholarship Award, the Alumni Medal, the Visitors and Governors Medal, the Visitors and Governors Scholarship Award, and the Interfraternity

A reception will be held at A reception will be held at President Carter's home im-mediately following the con-vocation for the faculty, students, and guests. Sherry Magill feels that this will be "a great opportunity to introduce new professors and board members to the townspeople. There will also be an exhibit of Ms. Larabee's artwork in Tawes gallery. Some of the photos to be included in this are currently on loan from the Smithsonian Institution. To enable students to attend these events, the schedule for September 24 will be changed to coincide with planned ac-tivities. All classes from 8:30 to 1:30 on Wednesday will begin one half-hour early and last fifty minutes. Since the Convoca-tion begins at 2:00 p.m., the faculty has also been given the option to either cancel 2:30 classes or to hold these classes classes of to hold these classes at 3:30. Hopefully, this will en-courage students to take ad-vantage of the affair since as Magill stated, "convocation is not only educational, but also

Student Judicial System Revised

by Christopher M. Fascetta Chairman of Student Judicial Board

In keeping with the atseems to surround Washington College this year, the Student Judiciary is not far behind. Numerous obstacles developed after adopting the new judicial system last year. Over the summer, with the help of Rachel Smith (last year's SJB Rachel Smith (last year's SJB Clerk) and Brenda Conner (85-86 juror), I revised the previous system to eliminate the vast majority of the problems we faced last year, and to make the judiciary run more smoothly. The revised judiciary is now being submit-ted to the Student Affairs Committee for approval.

The changes made were basically cosmetic in nature, changes as well. Briefly stated, the cosmetic changes involved name changing and word replacement. For example, the board name will change from the "Student Judicial Board"

cil." Jurors will be referred to as council members, and words like "trial" and "defendant" would be changed to "hearing" and "responsible party," respectively. The physical changes involve in-creasing the number of council members to eight with two alternatives, five of which, instead of four, will serve at each hearing. With the revised system, a new division of the student judiciary, an investigation division, is created. The EDITOR'S NOTE: The current division would be headed by a new officer — the Chief Investigator - and will have an

but there were some physical investigative staff of two to work with him or her.

This year promises to be a very important year for the student judiciary. My goals for the year include having the revised system adopted to the "Student Conduct Counimproved as well as establishing a judiciary made up of Washington College's finest students. This is the year that the judiciary is going to finally stand-up and be recognized as an established student leadership organiza-tion. The era of the Kangaroo Court has come and gone with the start of the 1986-87 school vear > judicial system is printed in the student handbook on pages 26-33 for student reference

Investment Club Begins Game many of the companies on the As a player in the game, one

by Arian Rayanbakhsh

Have you ever wondered what it would be like to have $100,000 to invest? This year the Washington College Center for Economic Education, along with the Investment Club and the Business Management Department, is sponsoring a ck market simulation game This program allows 35 students, who have formed 25 teams, to invest $100,000 in any way that they see fit. Even if the money is only imaginary, the team with the highest-valued portfolio at the end of the game will receive a cash prize. These awards, which are also given to the second and third place teams, will total will receive valuable tion and experience in stock market investment and portfolio management. At the of each week each team will be provided with a computer prin tout comparing them with the other Washington College teams, as well as with teams from the entire state of Maryland.

Players will be given an in-troduction to the game by George McLaughlin, who is an associate with Legg-Mason and the broker for the Invest-ment Club. McLaughlin will discuss the market strategies for investing over the ten-week span

The players will be forced to consider the questions that Exchange they wish to invest in do. Players will also be sub ject to the actual fees charged by the brokerage house. If a team finds itself running out of money, it may elect to borrow another $100,000 at current in-

The game, unfortunately, is no longer open to students wishing to participate, but it will be repeated in the spring semester for students who would like to participate for the first time or to try and improve their fall performance. The game manages to combine elements of a competitive situation while teaching the actual knowledge required for successful investment in the

Damage To Autos By Baseballs Is Unacceptable car didn't get up and walk College's policy regarding pro-away. Somebody was aware perty damage is as screwed-up dorm's lot because there were

imilar fate this month have, is he pathetic justification for his ongoing destruction of stu-

ent property. Coach Athey, after telling ne that, yes, there were layers sending balls into orbit ternoon my windshield was racked, remembered that "a lew" foul balls had dea ongst the cars in the lot hen I asked why he didn't try determine if the balls had e any damage, Athey simptold me that he had not ard any noises indicating at any cars had been struck. suppose I'm naive. olishly spectable organization, like e College baseball team, hap ned to come along one day nd accidently ruin the windield of my car, they might at east leave a note saying omething like "We're the new dorm's lot aren't Col-lege cars, they're student cars. How about telling us next time? That same morning, a member of the administration told me in so many words that college students should have the intelligence to realize that, while parking in the new dorm's lot, there is the possibility that a baseball may strike their car. I agree completely. But in September? Where I come September? Where I come from we don't play baseball until at least April. By all rights my car should have been hit by a football. At least if that was the case I wouldn't be paying $290.00 for a new windshield to-

"The ball that hit my It seems that Washington Microscope To Aid Classes

continued from page 4 was one of only 211 awards made in response to 924 apmade in response to 924 ap-plications, placing us in a select 23% nationwide." Asked what the new microscope will be used for, Dr. Munson stated, "It will or. Munson stated, it will rovide a much-needed apability to the Department. It will be used in specific courses to illustrate certain ellular phenomena (location receptor sites on cell memfluorescent antibody chniques, "capping and patetc.) and will guificantly strengthen our research capabilities." For ex-imple, Dr. John Heinbokel, the listing Distinguished Prowill be using it in his unded investigations of phavioral aspects of marine lankton, and Munson will be sing it to study the presence heterotrophic and autotrophic microprotozoa in the Chesapeake Bay. "The exposure of students to these techniques will stimulate them to utilize the instrument in honors and senior research projects," Munson added.

Munson stresses, however. that the most significant aspect of this award is that "it marks the beginning of the Biology Department's much stronger orientation toward. and inclusion of, a research component in its duties. Neither the College nor the staff, in this scientifically highly competitive day and age, can ignore the importance of a research component to the sound education of the undergraduate student. Hopefully," he concluded, Hopefully," he concluded, "this will be the first of many more grants to be awarded the Biology Department."

SGA Clipboard =

by Christopher Foley SGA Secretary

nd abundance of

he SGA wishes to thank ne who came out to see Feds last Friday. It was a siderable success, thanks inly to the Coffeehouse staff the large student turnout. ins for future SGA events in Coffeehouse are already in works and are expected to erate the same support

g out those Ray-Bans this k because Bobby and the lievers are back at shington College. They've red to capacity crowds all mer long, and this pro-les to be one of the best ws of the year for WC...SGA the Theta Chi fraternity co-sponsor this unusual Friday. on loor event on Friday, tember 19th. Weather per-ting, the band will set-up on loading dock behind the e Arts Center. If the ther turns sour, the show move to the Coffeehouse. staging has neyer been staging has never been titles of magazines eting cards & wrapping paper rspaper reservation accepted.

tried before, so it will be well worth seeing.

Campaigning is almost over for the SGA Senate elections, to be held during lunch and din-ner in the cafeteria on Friday, the 19th. Everyone is en-couraged to vote - the im-portance of the Senate cannot be overemphasized. In addition to providing committee members for everything from the food service to building maintenance, the Senate funds nearly all campus clubs. The senators are responsible for those aspects of the campus which most directly affect students, so voters weigh the qualifications of the weigh the quantitative candidates carefully before choosing their representatives. Election winners will be announced during the Bobby and programme performance. Believers performance that evening.

Remember, now is the time to begin making your homecoming plans. The weekend of October 17-19 will be highlighted by the SGA Homecoming Bash.

CHESTERTOWN NEWSSTAND 313 High Street Chestertown, Md. 21620

Open Mon.-Sat. 7:00-5:30 Sun. 6:30-1:30

car didn't get up and walk conege a power of any symptomic any symptomic and that a car was bit. At a great was the standard and the standard to say to a representative of the Business Office who wanted compensation, "Tough

Business Office who wanted compensation, "Tough bananas, bud. Call your insurance agent. It's not my problem." This is essentially what Washington College has told me. When did the double standard enter? Why, if I break a College window, do I have to pay when the College can pay when the College can break my windshield and give me the administrative runme the administrative runme the administrative runme the administrative runme. administrative run-

The irony of this whole story

orm's lot because there were dorm's lot because there were no legal spots around my dorm. I'm tired of paying for tickets. In exchange for obeytickets. In exchange for obeying campus parking regulations, however, I now have inherited an expense equal to about a decade's worth of parking violations. It's hard not to be cynical about this development. I think you would be too Nevertheless, in an effort to be constructive, I do have a suggestion that would put an end to this nonsense. Why not take a portion of the $5 each student motorist pays in parking fees and construct a wire mesh backstop behind the mesh backstop behind the plate of the baseball diamond? With sufficient overhang, such a backstop would stop every foul ball that, in the past, has come down on student cars.

It comes down to this: How many windshields have to be many windsmelds nave to be broken before such a simple, yet obviously needed, struc-ture is installed? Does Presi-dent Cater's windshield have to be broken? The Governor's? Or are we going to wait until a ball comes down on someone's ball comes down on someone's head? Sure, the College may not be liable for what their baseballs smash, crack, or dent. But for an institution which exists for students, and which takes special pride in the individual attention given to those students, to continue to such a ignore such a problem nothing less than hypocrisy.

Security Clamps Down On Violators

continued from page 1

All students received a pam-hlet in Thursday's mai outlining the College's parking regulations in order to reduce confusion and ignorance. The fines can pile up quickly, and can get quite expensive. a. unregistered vehicle $25.00 b. reckless driving $25.00 c. driving or parking on lawn

d. parked in firelane $7.50 e. parked in loading zone $7.50 f. handicapped parking only

g. parked on sidewalk $5.00 h. no parking zone $5.00 i. reserved parking $5.00 j. impeding traffic flow $5.00

If fines are not paid within 30 days of citation, all fines increase by $5.00. For those students living off-campus and commuting every-ther disciplinary action to be taken. Indebtedness, as a result of the failure to pay fines, shall be the basis for the College to withhold grades, and/or transcripts."

Roderick's words of advice were this: "We strongly en-Parking citations are already piling courage everybody to have up on students' cars, despite their vehicles registered and to heavy fines. Security promises a read the parking regulations serious crackdown on offenders.

PLEASE STOP DOWN

See our new store renovations in downtown Chestertown. Now featuring traditional ladies clothes.

Brambles

"traditional clothes for men & women"

778-6090

FEATURES

Drug Crusade Sparks Debate

by Tom Schuster

The subject of drugs is one which most of us, having had an eartful in recent months, might rather avoid. Yet each day the subject is renewed somehow—either through a steady barreness called the crack epidemic or, as was the case this week, by the insistence of the President and First Lady that the seriounness of the problem now justifies a national "Crusade Against Drugs."

The source of the current furor can be easily traced back to the death of University of Maryland baskethall superstar Len Bias. The shock waves that have increased in force and seems, their epicenter in the UM dorm room where Bias fell to the floor, never to arise, after a cocaine overdose. With the recent discovery that Bias died after ingesting a mammoth dose acveral grams of cocaine—not the "literative to have been his demise—more than a tew people may be wondering if the resulting furor was completely justified.

"Crack Is In Kent County"

The wave of increased concern over drugs has nevertheless long since swept over us. The now-concerned residents of Kent County are no different. Despite their seemingly remote Eastern Shore now have within their borders the same drugs that are found in the metropolitan areas of the state. "Crack is in Kent County," said Angie "And there is more of it on the Eastern Shore than most people would like to admit."

Bramble, who works at the Whitstitt Center, a clinic that offers a 24-day recovery program for alcoholics and drug abusers who are often referred there by the courts, is herself concerned about the current drug crisis. 'I feel like there should be a crusade. It seems like every ten years there is a new drug. In the Sixties it was pot. Then now, cocaine.'

Crack usage, she noted, has caused behaviors in users that are not normally associated with conventional cocaine. "There was a lot of violent behavior on the Eastern Shore," said Bramble, "and they checked into it and a lot of that came from crack usage."

Crack, it turns out, is more readily available to kids because of its seductively low price. Two or three craw, crystals, each capable of a short, five minute high, can be had for around $5, canie it is derived from, crack soon has the user hitting multiple times each day. What originally seemed to be a cheap alternative, crack crystals quickly become as financially experienced to the control of the control

Cross-Addiction

The majority of Bramble's clients at the Whitstill Center arrive at the center use one office exclusively are the exception rather than the rule. "When people are addicted like this, anything that is a readicted like this, anything that is plained. The average age of the clients at Whitstill, which admits anyone over 18 years of age, is about thirty. In recent years, Bramble noted, the staff favor cocaine. "It's surprising," also add, "the number of people we do have

"These people have a problem. They're not bad people, and they're not immoral people."

that really can't afford cocaine, but they get it anyway." Professionals who are coke users, Bramble noted, have been turning-up

Bramble noted, have been turning-up in increasing numbers. Although probably a majority of such users seek-out treatment in private clinics, the ones that do arrive at Whistit are often in habil. This phenomenon often completely amazes addicts employed in non-professional fields. "They can't believe that doctors and lawyers, with all their money, could be wiped out."

said Bramble.

As one might expect, societal stigmas regarding the use of certain drugs, are recognized by many addicts and alcoholics. "Users are more tolerant of the alcoholics," said bearened to the said bearened to pecung it."

Indict oros addicted, an escape from reality is simply an escape regardles of the chemical route hey because of the chemical route they take. These addicts leave social stigmas behind along with the rest of the world. Alcohol, however, is still the supressively of the chemical society. "People one drug," stated Bramble, "and the most deadly."

"These People Are Really Hurting...."

As someone who deals with the end results — the human results — of the drug problem everyday as a part of her job, Bramble has seen the specific damage individuals have inflicted upon themselves by using drugs. While most of us may recognize the general consequences of abuse, she has seen the bottom line. Witnessing the loss of relationships, jobs, family, self-sufficiency, and, perhaps worst of all, the loss of of drug abuse has not left the unfounded of the description of drug abuse has not left the unfounded of the description of drug abuse has not left the unfounded that the description of drug abuse has not left the unfounded that the description of drug abuse has not left the sundout of help she can offer is severyly limited.

"These people have a problem. They're not had people, and they're not immoral people. They're not lazy people. They don't want to be alcholic or a might look that way on the outside, but might look that way on the outside, but hope that the hours she spends hope that the hours he spends hope that the hours he spends hope that the hours he spends them reestablish their identities will have first them. We can be the best fix up to them. We can be the best it's their desire to stop drinking or drugging."

Bramble is all too familiar with defeat. "I've had a lot of them go out and drink the same day they leave. But I can't take that personally. That's one thing, as a counselor, I have to realize — that we have little effect on these people. We can just give the best that we can."

A Drug-Free Philosophy?

The staff at Whitsitt stresses that "abstinence is the answer" as far as any kind of drug is concerned. "The best thing to do, 'said Bramble, is not wise when the staff of th

Abstinence," he said, "is an unrealistic policy." MILL which actively lobbies if a NORM in marijuana laws that is, members see as arbitrary and based we false information, is fighting what is sees as a societal double standar regarding drug see: "Sure alcohol king stated Zeess," but most of the time is tremendously safer than alcohol "There's never been a marijuan death," he said, yet fifty people pe hour are arrested for marijuana is who use it," stated Zeese, "don't abug the year of the said of the said is the year of the said of the said who use it," stated Zeese, "don't abug it. You can use marijuana and not hay a problem with it."

a promen with these statistics: Mar. Zeese citied thip ded since 1970, with, total nor of approximately 30 million users in the United States. Last year was the first year since the mid-7% what pre-adolescent pot-use actually rose. In Alaska, where it is legal for adults to cultivate their own marijuans for personal use, the percentage of pre-adolescents who smoke pot is only 2.8% compared to 5% for the rest of the union

The goal of his organization, state Zeese, is to simply have realistic marjuana legislation. Since 1985, drg usage has increased in all categorie except one — tobacco. According it excess, this is because the government does have a realistic policy regarding tobacco, which has been proved to broome addictive than heroin. Despit should be a supported to the counter and in vending machines, we have declared 25% since 1985 for on reason. The public has been educated about the dangears of smoking.

Drug Crusades: Effective Policy Or Political Rhetoric?

Ignoring their obvious difference spinion about drug use in the lift place, both Bramble and Zesea agree deducated about drugs. Despite he agreement with the idea of a nation drug crussed, Bramble noted said rug crussed, Bramble noted said recently slashed by the spinion of t dangerous drugs are."

Zeese's feelings about the latest drucrusade are more critical. "I think if a lot of hysteria based on lies... The work of the lies... The

For further information about drug and alcohol treatment, call Publik House at 778-2616

Students, Faculty Go Natural At The Market

by Michelle Balze
What do Deans Maxcy and tentire, Dr. Rosette Roat and unior Jeremiah Foster have in ommon? All shop at The farket in Kent Plaza.

Market in Kent Plaza.
Pat Vervier, an employee at he natural foods store and a College, said health conscious tudents from the College as ell as professors and administrators go to The Market and snacks for paties. Pro-lessors such as John Taylor, Donald Munson, Robert Anders and snacks for paties. Pro-lessor such as John Taylor, Donald Munson, Robert and eller and snacks for paties. Pro-lessor such as John Taylor, Donald Munson, Robert Anders, and the College Food Service special-orders rice and cheese from The Market. Versuch as her sister Jennifer, a freehman, and seniors Peter Gode and Linda Ferguson Son Donathous Sandwich.

he Powerhouse Sandwich.
The Powerhouse is comprisThe Powerhouse is comprisThe Powerhouse is comprismons, sprouts, and grated garots on a whole wheat pita sith honey, mustard, and costs
1,85. In addition to the highly Market sandwich bar sells an Avocado Jack on a whole sheat pita for $2.50, and a Sarden Chapath, which is an Sarden Chapath, which is an Sarden Chapath, which is an
some stuffed with chickpea pate, and crumbed feta cheese.
An assortment of pasta salads and broiled sandwiches are This winter, Sima Racousin, the owner, plans to add a vegetarian chili soup to the sunch selection.

taste good unless it's good for you.''

'Food doesn't

In addition to the lunch counter, which has been open for only six months, the forcery section of the store offers everything from bulk trail and and tax and natural desserts to all the section of the store of the section of the se

Soud in red meats Stressing the fact that aural food can be gourned fer and not necessarily borear account explains that she stressing the stressing that she stressing that stressing
that stressing that stressing
that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that stressing that
stressing

"I'd like people to eat our food just because it tastes good," Racousin said.

good, 'Racousin said.

The Market does have a variety of interesting and goodused to be a seen of the seen of th

Jennifer Vervier said she is surprised that more students don't know about The Market students regularly hecause shop at the Acme and other stores in the Plaza and often show interest in healthy eating Not only does Vervier think that the sandwich bar is a convenient substitute for cafeteria but she also enjoys The Market's variety of cold summer soups including carrot. cucumber, and gazpacho. V vier believes that The Market is the only place in town where students can get a wide variety of healthy and natural foods.

"Food doesn't taste good unless it's good for you," Vervier said. "I think everyone should go there."

Although Racousin said that people are much more aware of their diets than when she became a vegeterian at the age of twelve, she urges students to educate themselves about dietary matters.

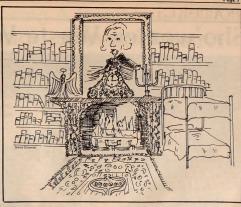

"I think if most people were aware of what was in their food, they would switch to natural food," she said.

Not only does Racousin feel that students should read labels on supermarket foods, she also feels they should ask what preservatives and additives are included in foods at the restaurants they frequent. Often restaurants that prepare small quantities of food will be glad to omit substances such as monosodium glutamate from your order. The foods at The Market contain no such additives.

In spite of a growing health awareness among younger people, Racousin finds that many people consume too much protein and overlook the additives, preservatives, and sugars in many apparently healthy foods. Instead of consuming the sugars in canned or suming the sugars in canned or believes students should enjoy their sugar in natural desserts such as Ms. Desserts' apple cake and pecan pie, or Rachel's Brownies.

"I'd rather know when I'm eating sugar," Racousin said.

The Market is located in Kent Plaza and is open Monday through Saturday, 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., and until 8:00 p.m. on Fridays.

Dorm Living:

Rate Your Room

by Andrea E. Kehoe
What many freshmen find most depressing about their first day of college is not saying goodbye to their parents or feeling lonely and unimportant among some two hundred or more newcomers. Rather, the first glimpse of an empty dorm room, its colorless walls uncovered and its furniture looking like it came from the Bates Motel, proves to be the most Motel, proves to be the most but rist view.

big day.
Once each student settles in, har room begins to suit his indistriction begins to suit his indistinct personality. While indistinct personality while to escape the strains of which to escape the strains of which to escape the strains of "angular and a rarely leave it, except to attend a few classes now and then. These insome and then. These inwhen strangers enter the room, which is likely to be referred to by a name rather than a number and dorm. In than a number and dorm, thus a way to strain a subject to the strain of the s

Though each room, as with its occupants, is unique, most tend to fall into one of the following four stereotypes, based on actual dorms at Washington College.

All-American

This type of room most frequently belongs to females, particularly those whose appreciation of aesthetics leads them to color-coordinate the turnishings and devotedly settles on the floor. Absolute settles on the floor. Absolute the cessities include book shelves to hold their Wham! tapes and Harlequin romances (behind which the racier "Silhouette Desire" editions.

are kept), and a desk from which they write to their twenty or more really close friends. Of course there never seems to be enough space for their wardrobe, which includes the whole Benetton line.

Walls are covered with cute posters of puppies and kittens and such high school mementos as prom pictures and pompoms from cheerleading days. Also found are enlarged photos of the hometown boyfriend, of the hometown boyfriend, and collages including words cut out from perfume ads in magazines: "alluring," "seductive," "obsession."

off the cuff

Sometimes these dorm inhabitants have a Macintosh, but all, without exception, own an iron.

Athletic

WC locks tend to allow old pizza boxes and a month's worth of dirty laundry (awaiting mailing to Mon) to accumulate in their living why their room, no matter where it is located, invariably smells like Kent House. The first piece of furniture discarded is the desk, it is quickly and cable box. Shelves store athletic equipment (to be used anywhere near windows), but not to textbooks (they wouldn't be not textbooks (hey wouldn't be not textbooks (hey wouldn't be not textbooks (nose convolves).

Posters favored by these students include pictures of cars, sports greats, and fitness-conscious females in various stages of undress. Artsy

Residences of artistic students convey a sense of intentional disorder, with Halloween masks, toys from cereal boxes and play machine guns strewn throughout. Often, a mannequin missing arms and legs is given a woman's name and seated in the center of the room.

A television that shows only static, an etch-a-sketch, and anything plastic also contribute to the bizarre atmosphere. Poetry by Allen Ginsberg and Lawrence Feringhetti copied in calligraphy decorate the walls, as well as aposters reminiscent of the work of Jackson Pollock and Andy Warhol.

Mach

Rugged manhood is evident in these rooms, which if personified, would undoubtedly growl, "Go chead, make my day." Animals here are not stuffed but skinned, and they are hung over a lamp, where tight shines eerily through sockets that once contained eyes. Also present are stark pictures of the desert at sunset nature at its most masculine.

Indian print sheets hang from the ceiling to separate the bedroom area, making it more appropriately dark. Followers of Freud notice numerous phallic symbols, while lit students see that The Sun Also Rises is notably absent from a collection of Hemingway moves, its subject matter deemed too depressing.

As orderly as the bunkhouse in any Western, and perpetually well-stocked with beverages, these rooms are the favorite social spot of those who know its inhabitants.

SPORTS

Sho'women Waste Wesley, 3-1

The field hockey team is living up to s image as "the best WC has ever its image as had" with its first two back-to-back victories. The season started Thursday, September 11th, with a scrimmage veris Galludet College. The final score turned-up Washington ahead, 2-0.

A match against Wesley College on Wednesday, September 17th, proved triumphant again for the hockey team. Wesley scored early in the first half, but the Sho'women came back with a score toward the end of the first half by Wadhovsky on an assist from Beth Matthews.

They continued to exhibit strength with two goals in the second half, one with only fourteen minutes left of play in the game. The first goal was knocked Sandie Coulter on assist by Liz Whelan The final tally was scored by freshman Marnie Shehan on a play initiated by Stephanie Milton. Goaltender Kate Falconer picked-up five saves during the game. Coach Guinan feels the team is taking more shots, dominating the playing time in their offensive end and, most importantly, working together on the field. A lack of precise passing and fast reaction time, however, are the downfalls of the Sho'women. Yet, as these victories show, hard work has

Coach Guinan commented, "Win or lose, we made a lot of ac-complishments. We've got a long way to go, but we've got the talent."

Don't Take A Fall Without Safe Equipment

by Stephanie Milton

The bicycle boom of the 20th century is occurring around us. With the sport's newfound popularity, however, has come increase in bicycle accidents. Basic knowledge can prevent an increase in these statistics. For instance:

95% of biking accidents occur in areas devoid of traffic; likely places for you and your two-wheeled friend to part company In Maryland, the number of biking accidents have more than doubled since 1970. Three out of four cyclingrelated deaths - approximately 750 annually - are caused by a head injury Becoming well-versed on the following safety tips and biking information may prevent you from becoming a cycling

Sporting a bike helmet may make you feel like a two-wheeled nerd, yet it may keep you from getting your brains scrambled. Stylish bicycle helmets are now available from $30 to $80, so you need not look like a conehead, only a owledgeable cyclist.

The four parts of a well-assembled helmet are the outer shell, the energy absorbassembled ing liner, the comfort liner and the chin strap. The shell's function is to pre distributing the impact. ABS (a type of plastic), polycar-bonate resin, (available only under the brand name Lexan), and fiberglass are all excellent shell materials. A good liner must be at least one half-inch thick to pass marketing tests and are often made of a crushable, elastic foam. Because of their semi-rigid quality they should be replaced after an accident or every five years due to the right turn atural compression of

The comfort liner is composed of varying layers of sponge and is adjustable to properly fit and ventilate Ventilation occurs from beneath the helmet or from topside vent openings. Look for a combination of vent holes and a suspension system for optimal circulation. Finally, the strap that kept the helmet on is the final item to shop for. Chin strap buckles should be adjustable from both sides and also have a mechanism for quick release. Secure buckles forward of, and just below the ear, yet not sit-ting on the jaw.

> Maryland Laws -Headsets and ear plugs are prohibited while cycling except for those who use hearing devices -Cycling is not allowed on sidewalks unless authorized by local ordinances. -Cycling is not permitted in tunnels or on bridges, or on controlled access highways, interstate highways, or highways where the posted speed exceeds 50 mph.

Arm Signals Signal at least 100 feet before

Thrust the left arm straight out to the side to signal a left

The left arm bent at a right Brian Bishop during hours of angle upwards indicates a operation at the swim center.

On Maryland roadways, holding your right arm out straight signals a right turn as Safety Tips Night bike-riding requires retro-reflective clothing; or by day, orange or yellow Always ride on the right. with the flow of traffic.

Obey all traffic control signals Yield to pedestrians Be aware of air turbulance caused by motor vehicles.

Brake cautiously riding on wet or icy roads. Lock your bike in a well-lit area; front and rear wheels to the frame, then to the bike Retain sales receipt and record your bicycle's serial number.

racl

For repairs, a local bike shop in town is available. This shop also wishes to initiate a biking club in the near future. For more information, stop in at Bike Works on High Street.

ATTENTION This Fall there will be a men's swimming and diving program started at Washington College. For anyone interested regardless of previous ex-perience, there will be ar organizational meeting held in the Casey Swim Center next Thursday, September 25 at 3:30 p.m. If you are unable to attend the Thursday meeting. ontact either Dennis Berry or

Complete Hair Care

10 Visits for $40.00 or $75.00 unlimited until March 15

Our SunTana SunSystem guarantees you a glorious, radiant tan that you can keep all year long. A tan you achieve with soft, comfortable and SAFE U.V.A. light and without all the burning, peeling and flaking you get in natural sunlight. Our SunSystem is GUARANTEED to tan anyone who tans in the sun...while you relax in cool

We'd like to tell you more about this exciting new way to tan. A single visit will convince you.

The Beauty Lounge Phone: 778-2635

Midtown Mall Chestertown, MD 21620 Callus come

Complete Hair Care + Manicures + Sculptured Nails

Still Wanted: Elm Sports

Editor

Call 778-2800 Ext. 321

Volleyball Experiencing A Renaissance

by Kevin Crowell er of years ago a man Terry Corcoran step-Washington Colnto the Washington ampus with the intention king the Shoremen a na-

"We're young

that his team takes the

and we're learning a new offense."

w another team on the hington College campus is coached by Penny Fall.

schedule. Also with the help or senior co-captain Kim Madigan, Coach Fall has brought in some outstanding recruits. Three of the new recuits were heavily recruited and the discrease. He by Division in power in learness the death with a normal learness and the learness which was a compared with a ception at learness to the compared with the shorewomen had a winning men into a formidable season. This year, although the compared for the Division III schedule is tougher, the team of the division III schedule is tougher, the team of the division III schedule is tougher, the team of the division III schedule is tougher, the team of the division III schedule is tougher, the team of the division III schedule is tougher, the team of the division III schedule is tougher, the team of the division III schedule is tougher, the team of the division III schedule is tougher, the team of the division III schedule is tougher, the division II schedule is tougher, the division III schedule is tougher, the division II schedule season. Senior co-captain Beth Wolf said, "We're going to win a lot of games. We're young and we're learning a new of-fense but our talent is much improved over the last year and we have some really good freshmen.'

The other captain, Kim Madigan, stated that "This year we're able to keep three hitters in the game at all times which is something we've never been able to do here at Washington College." Madigan is one of those hitters and probably the best hitter on the team. Joining her will be two of the prized freshmen, Debby Cohn and Val Williams. At 5'10" and 5'8" respectively they will add height and talent to the starting six. Joining co-captain Beth Wolfe in the stardag toward being a power vision III athletics. That is the women's volleyball coached by Penny Fall

sed Penny Fall has done a Beth Wolf said, "This year we work in the past year to work the program by gan supporting cast will consist of supporting cast

into the lineup.

The girls are enthusiastic and optimistic about this year. The team is having fun and entry for the team is having fun and entry loss that the team is having fun and entry year, but it is building toward. The first home match against with each other. The freshmen recruits chose the property of the p

PACE Offers Sporting Chance

by Stephanie Milton

Program Adult Continuing Education, or PACE, is an old program of Washington Col-lege and is now gaining new recognition. Originated in 1979 nationwide, WC has adopted the program for a number of

First, many colleges were eager to add to their revenues because the number of collegebecause the number of college-aged students had decreased. Private colleges were especial-ly worried and strongly en-couraged those wise in the ways of the world to return to

The second stipulation is a simple and honest one: the col-lege simply wanted to reach out to the community and to encourage non-traditional students to marticulate at the undergraduate level.

These goals have been attained. The PACE outblicking that a trained the PACE outblicking that the topic training curculated with sixteen. It contained and the topics transfer of the topic training curculated with sixteen. It contained and the topics transfer of the topic training curculated with the topic training curculation of the topic train Talbot, as well as, of course, in Kent County.

The enrichment courses are offered for credit or non-credit and have attracted approx-imately nine percent of the student body

Director Ann Hoon has pro- library

moted the dispersal throughout Easton and Denton. "These towns had said 'Why don't you bring the professors to us? and I thought, 'Why don't I?' This expansion further promoted Hoon's idea of "WC wants to share with you."

For the sports buffs on cam-pus, paddle tennis, yoga, aerobic dance and swimnastics are available. Student fees are $10.00 and class times and frequency can be found in the "Fall Ball"! WC stickers began training for the Spring season this week. Here, two aspiring Sho'men practice

occer Inconsistent

by John Rodnar

Shoremen soccer team accomplish everything would have liked to in nesday's game against non Valley College. They however, acheive the most rtant goal - victory.

tant goal—victory.

E Washington College socteam has dominated nar non Valley in the past but Leba sistency plagued the tyboremen as they sputtered to goals in an eight minute span late in the first

oss country

s cross country season off with the Washington

ge Invitational, this ay at 11 a.m. The com-teams are: Washington Salisbury State Col-Dickinson College, In Maryland, Ursinus e, Collier University, ssibly Galludet College will be the first meet season for many of the

by Chris Wiant

Peter van Buren scored two goals, and freshman Steve Attias added another to secure WC's winning margin.

Lebanon Valley scored their only goal half way through the Freshmen forward

second period on a penalty shot that resulted when John Bod-nar "violently shoved" a Lebanon forward in the penalty box.

Shoremen scored all 1-1 record to Muhlenburg College on Saturday, September 20th.

"SEPTEMBER" In The Coffeehouse

New Soda Machines: Coke

Slice Pepsi

New Frito Lay Machine: carrying everything from chips to candy

Sodas sold by: case $8.00 plus tax 6 pack $2.39 plus tax

"Attractions"

September 19: "Bobby & the Believers" presented by SGA, 9-1 September 21: Kirk Ross & The Ignorant Hands Band September 26: DJ Stephen A. Cochran WQSR

Ironstone Cafe

236 Cannon Street Chestertown, Maryland 21620 301-778-0188

Tuesday-Saturda Lunch: 11:30-2:00 Dinner: 5:30-9:00 Sunday Brunch: 11:00-3:00 Closed Mondays

h Don Chatellier a fair showing from the men that will be running rse for Washington. The last year have returned, ean Ireton, the number unner, is overseas this

Why Mets Will Lose The Series

by Bill Beekman

It was a Monday afternoon, this past Monday to be exact. A normal day, one could say, or at least normal compared to the day before. Bears pushed to overthird straight to Phillies, victory for the New Orleans Saints. Those events just don't fit into the same man's idea of normal. They are what make sport's so exciting and obsessives they are under the control of the country of t thought. I was wrong. The man who proved me wrong was one Tom Schuster. You might know him; big guy, long blond hair. He's also The Elm editor. He's a good guy to avoid if you're having enough trouble analyzing the political aspects of The Lord of the Files for that upcoming Poly-Sci paper. I was not formulate through to ease that man wheely and to amming at the mouth, on the hunt for a sportswriter of a sportswriter of a sportswriter of a port writer of the provided in the second provided and toaming at the mouth, on the hunt for a sportswriter of the provided in the second provided in the

He called me over. I could sense the desperation in his voice. Our conversation went something like this:

tion went something like this:
"I don't know if you remember me.
I'm Tom Schuster."

How could I forget.
"I heard that you were interested in writing a sports column. We could really use you. We're desperate."

ly use you. We're desperate."

He heard that from Jack Gilden.
Jack's my R.A., though, so I can't say anything bad about him. Damn.

anything bad about him. Damn.
"Well...uh...yeah," I replied meekly.
He added a few details and asked some questions. Then he dropped the bombshell. "You can drop it off at The Elm office on Wednesday afternoon. It's in the Queen Anne lounge."

"On the twenty-fourth, right?." I asked, shaken a little. "No. I was thinking more on the lines of this Wednesday. That will be O.K.,

"Uh, yeah, sure. I...I'll do my best,"
I added, even meeker than before.
What else could I say. He is a head taller than I am.

But more important than what I could say now was what I could write. How about an introductory column to set my goals? Too boring. How about something recent and controversial, like an article on drugs and athletics or hitting, quality managing, solid defense, and a decent bench. Their key, though, is great pitching. Gooden, Fernandez, Ojeda, Darling, McDowell, Sisk, Orosco, a combined 81-34, 2:97 ERA. Not since the '71 Orioles starting four of McNally, Dodson, Palmer, and Cuellar went a combined 81-31 has a major league rotation approached the level of this year's Mets starters.

But the Mets don't live and die on their pitching staff. They also lead the National League in batting average,

"For years the Mets were masters of the art of losing. They were the Charlie Brown's of Major League Baseball."

athletics vs. academics? Too much research, I want to do them eventually, but I also want to do them well. Two days just isn't enough time. Tom mentioned something about the Bears. They are a popular topic and there is a constant of the state of the st

So I turned from the best in football to the best in baseball, the Mets. They seemed perfect. Actually, they are about as perfect as you can get. Good hits, runs, and RBI's. They consist of a diverse group of quality players: perennial all-stars (Gary Carter Keith Hernandez), proven veterans (Ray Knight, Mookie Wilson, Wally Backman), and future superstars (Darryl Strawberry, Kevin Mitchell, Lenny Kykstra). They seem to live in the best of all possible worlds. So where can they go wrong?

Here is where several other leagueleading statistics come into play. The Mets top the baseball world not only in hitting and pitching, but also in extended curtain calls, bench-clearing brawls, and arrests by off-duty Houston police officers. You can almost read the headlines, and Ojeda Lost For the Series a cond Scuffle With Houston Poly ("Gooden and Hernandez in brawl, lost for season." These bit exaggerated, but I think aget the picture.

The 1986 Mets are the baseballers to hit america for baseballers to hit america for the control of the control

For years the Mets were mather art of losing. They were the Brown's of Major League is greated to the state of the state o

Writers' Union Do's, Dues, and Deadlines

- -- you are writing the Great American Novel
- -- you are a photographer or anybody who works for The Elm
- -- you can play volleyball
- -- you want to learn how to run a printing press
- -- you have a crush on a writer
- -- you write and REFUSE to show it to ANYBODY
- -- you like to read ghost stories, romances, mysteries, histories, tragedies, com-
- edies, disputes, discussions, digressions
- -- you belong to a foreign language club
- -- you are an aspiring performer with a taste for new material
- -- you are a writer

Join the Writers' Union
Dues are $5 for freshmen, $10 for upperclassmen.

Pay your dues by Monday 9/22, have a mailbox in the Lit. House by Wednesday

Other Important Stuff

Broadsides -- applications for editors thereof due to Mr. Day by Monday 9/22. Writers' Union Players -- contact Diane D'Aquino in the Bookstore to arrange a meeting time.

Literary House Study rooms -- applications due to Mr. Day by Monday, 9/22. Press Room Workshops -- sign up with Kathy Wagner by Monday, 9/22.

plus trips, readings, excursions both physical and spiritual, meetings and sporting events that are too much fun to be real. Generally a good time to be had by all.

Images Impress in Larrabee Exhibit

by David Healey
Already a day late, there's no time to lose in seeing the Larrabee exhibit which opened yesterday in Tawes Gallery. More than a collection of photographs, the exhibit is an impreson of a lost country, of Africa in the

On loan from the National Museum of African Art, Smithsonian Institution, the exhibit combines the powerful words of Alan Paton's novel, Cry, The Beloved Country, and the thoughtful photographs of Constance Stuart Larrabee. Together they present the story

Said Larrabee, "His words are so werful that they found the whole thing very moving at Smithsonian's in Washington. And I think, really, it's a entle message, it's not shaking your ist at it. But it's still a very strong

It is no accident that the novel and otographs have been combined, Larrabee visited Paton in 1949. Valley, she clicking her shutter, he telling of his African world. Paton wrote in 1985: "Cry The Beloved Country was ablished in New York in January 1948. t was in February 1949 that Constance tuart came to visit me in the Natal village of Anerley. She wanted to proovel and its author. We made a special rip to Ixopo, the countryside in which the first and last thirds of the novel are placed. It was a pleasure for me to be

The journey begins on the far right wall of the gallery, where sits a large photograph of the Umzimkulu Valley. Beside it are the lines from Paton's novel, "These hills are grass-covered and rolling, and they are lovely beyond any singing of it ... if there is no mist, you look down on one of the fairest valleys of Africa." Larrabee added, This is the country in which the whole hing begins." To move from photograph to photograph is to travel through this valley, meeting its in-habitants, and experiencing it through the excerpts of Paton's prose. Lar rabee pointed out the photographs and commented, "So those are the actual hills he was writing about. His words nilis he was writing about. His words are true, the photographs are true." She continued, "It tells the story of how the people change as they get detribalized and go into the cities. This is in their homeland."

The exhibit meanders along the first floor, then upstairs to the second floor gallery. Larrabee's photographs cap-ture the changes, showing city life, Johannesburg, the rough township life, and the might of an industrial complex to its roots, the exhibit closes with photographs of traditional tribal life and of innocent youth. There are pictures of haughty tribesmen, Stuart Larrabee's photographs and Alan Paton's words to produce a passionate im pression of Africa.

shanties, and a boy in a tattered wool

cap dancing for the camera Tawes Gallery was in an uproar this week as people worked to prepare for Thursday's opening. Floors were polished, photo frames cleaned, the boards with Paton's excerpts hung. Larrabee is particularly proud of these silkscreened boards, which, like Keeping an eye on the activity was Larrabee, who even conscripted this reporter to carry things up the stairs as they spoke. Amid all the activity, she explained the complexities of putting explained the complexities or putting such an exhibit together. "It takes the people who take the photographs, the people who design the exhibition, the people who edited the words, and the people who ended the words, and the people who produced the panels. Each one is a true provisional artist, so its very interesting to work these different mediums into one whole piece.

This is not Larrabee's first exhibit, This is not Larrappe's hirst exhibit, her work has appeared at the Corcoran Gallery of Art, The American Museum of Natural History, the Smithsonian, and the Museum of Modern Art. She has also published collections, cluding, Jeep Trek and Celebration on Larrabee was the guest of honor at show's opening reception yesterday, but Alan Paton was not present. She explained, "He's eighty three but that's not why he won't be here. He's in Africa. It's a long way away." Return-ing to campus for the Fall Convocation Wednesday, Larrabee will receive an honorary Doctorate of the Arts from

The exhibit will be open for public viewing on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays from three to five p.m. through October 12. Group viewings can be made by special arrangement with Dr. Robert Janson-La Palme at

Chestertown Movie Theater

"HEARTBURN"

Hours: Fri.-Sun. 7 & 9 p.m. Mon.-Thurs. 7:45 p.m. September 19-25 778-1575

Scholz To Lecture On Austrian Satirist

by Ken Haltom

by Ken Haltom
On Monday, September 22
Joachim Scholz, Assistant Professor of German, will lecture on the life and work of Austrian writer Karl Kraus. Titled
"Karl Kraus and His Vienna," the lecture will be an introduction to Kraus' life and will letail early twentieth century Vienna. A recording of Kraus will be played at the lecture; it was found by Professor Scholz while working in Kraus' archives in Vienna.

The lecture will also be an introduction to Tuesday's open-ing of an exhibit of 140 otographs of Kraus, his col leagues, adversaries, and their world. Both the lecture and the exhibit will be held in the

O'Neill Literary House.

Karl Kraus is considered to be the greatest Germanspeaking satirist of the 20th century. He was also a jour-nalist, dramatist and philosopher. An adamant pacifist, Kraus showed how wasteful and meaningless war was through a series of newspaper accounts on the First World War. Turning their own words against them, Kraus criticized the empty rhetoric of pro-war speeches and propaganda.

Among his many ac-complishments, Kraus had the ability to know what kind of person someone was simply by analyzing their manner of speech. Kraus also published a journal for forty years, for which he did all the writing. But perhaps his greatest work was a docu-drama of the First World War.

Professor Scholz's lecture ill also discuss early twentieth-century Vienna. The city was a political and in-tellectual seedbed of which Karl Kraus was the center. Around him were men like Sigmund Freud, who was nearing the height of his influence because of his developments in psychoanalysis.

Advances in music and philosophy were being made in Vienna, while politically, the city was the birthplace of both anti-semitism and Zionism.

Unfortunately, much of Kraus' work was destroyed by the Nazis. Hitler bitterly hated him. However, the many lessons of Kraus' work will not forgotten, and the lecture and exhibit will help to polish the tarnish from the golden age of Vienna, of which Kraus is an

Arts Update

Poetry Reading

by Mary Riner The O'Neill Literary House will sponsor its first poetry reading of the fall semester this week. Accredited Scottish poet Alistair Reid will recite from his most recent works on Wednesday, September 25. The reading will begin at 4 p.m. in the O'Neill Literary House.

Reid's writings range from Children's literature A Balloon for Blunderbuss, To Be Alive!, verse (Oddments, Inklings Omens Moments), and translations of Latin American writers, including Pablo Neruda and Jose Emilio Weathering is his latest ac complishment. This book verse draws heavily from his previous works Alistair Reid has taught at several universities, including Oxford, Yale and Dartmouth. Since 1959 he has been a staff Since 1959 he has been a staff writer and correspondent with The New Yorker. He was also the recipient of the Guggenheim fellowship in 1957 and the Scottish Arts Council Award in 1979.

Candlelight Tour

by Mary Riner The Historical Society of Kent County is sponsoring the sixteenth annual "Candlelight

Walking Tour of Historic It is scheduled for this Saturday, September 20, 1986 from 6 to 10 p.m. Tickets for the '86 tour are $15 for the general public, $12 for Society members, and $10 for students. Tickets will be on sale at two central ticket booths in downtown Chester-town all day Saturday.

The tour includes fourteen houses and buildings, identified by some historically significant feature. The house and buildings include the Baroll House, Buck-Bacchus and buildings include the Baroll House, Buck-Bacchus Store, Customs House, Geddes-Piper House, Emmanuel Church, Frisby House, and Washington Colleges' own Hynson-Ringgold House.

ENTERTAINMENT

Entertainment

Calendar Friday 19

17th Annual Baltimore City Fair. Sept. 19-21. Three days of fun and celebra

Newtowne Square Pub Surrender Chestertown, 778-1984

The Big Apple Circus Sept. 16-21, Glen Echo Park Ticket Info 626-1050 Emerson, Lake, and Powell Capitol Center

Largo, Maryland Saturday 20

A Heritage Sampler Antiques, flea market, demonstration of old household gadgets Dorchester Heritage Museum 10 a m -4:30 p.m.

Candlelight tour of Chester Chestertown, 6 p.m.-10 p.m.

Newtowne Square Pub Surrender Chestertown, 778-1984

Maryland Rennaissance Festival Performers, feasting, and Annapolis, Saturdays and Sundays through Sept. 28

Sunday 21

Exhibits of Fossils: trilobites. Rock Hall Museum, 2-4:30 p.m. Seredipity Comic Book Mart Towson Quality Inn. 11 a.m.-5 398-6685

Wednesday 24

The Empire Rock Club Grateful Dead Ivricist Robert Hunter (215) 338-6100

Things to do. Places to go

Philadelphia Sounds of the City: African-Philadelphia African- Am (213) 574-0380 American Museum

Perelman Antique Toy Animated and mechanical toys. (213) 922-1070

Philadelphia Museum of Art American Naive Painting Black Sun: The Eyes of (213) 763-8100

Philadelphia Theatre Nonsense. Longest running show in theatre's 27 years.

Eastern Shore

The Baltimore Symphony Orchestra will perform September 25 at the Queen Anne County High School in Centreville. The performance begans at 3 p.m. Student admis-

Dylan Bound for Bargain Bin

While listening to Bob Dylan's new album, Knocked Out Loaded, one must keep asking oneself: "Why? Why would Dylon do such a thing Does he need the money that badly?" Knocked Out Loaded at best, a slight album that will only appeal to Dylan affi-cionados, and will ultimately end up as filler in the budget record bins at used record

This is surprising, since by all reports Dylan was recorall reports Dylan was recording some extraordinary tracks with Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers. This album contains only one Petty-Dylan track, "Got My Mind Made the album with any power or feeling. From the basis of this song it is not hard to see that Petty and the Heartbreakers may well be Dylan's most sympathetic backing band since his years with The Band. This is why their absence from most of the album is so frustrating. They did an excellent job back-ing him on his concert tour, and from the example of this song, performed admirably in the studio. So where are they?

The Petty-Dylon collaboration is one of three on this album. Not since the very ear ly Sixties or at least his celebrated writer's block of the Self Portrait period has he relied so heavily on others for relied so heavily on others for his songs. Of the three col-laborations, all on side two, there is one with Petty, one with Carol Bayer Sager, and one with American playwright Sam Shepard. The last song is the most interesting, although not the best. It is a return of sorts for Dylan, who worked briefly with the playwright Jaques Levy on several songs that appeared on the Desire album. "Brownsville Girl," the one line from this song, though, that seems to set the tone for the rest of the album: 'If there's an original thought out there I could use it right now The first two songs, "You Wanna Ramble," and "They Killed Him," both fail for dif-

song co-written by Sam Shepard, is a long, detail-rich narrative about both life in the ferent reasons. "You Wanna on's latest album may only show that he has been knocked out into the bargain bin and loaded with mediocrity southwest and in the old straightforward cover of the southwest and in the old straightforward cover of the movies. As a story it is not ter- Herman Parker, Jr. song. It ribly compelling, and as a song just never gets going. Powered it lacks the strong rhymes and by the oddly average guitar memorable refrain that make playing of T-Bone Burnett, the other Dylan narratives like song makes a lot of noise but "Tangled Up in Blue," never gets out of neutral. And "Shelter From the Storm," then there is the Kris Kristofand even the much older ferson song, "They Killed "Lonesome Death of Hattie Him." It's awful. Dylan has written better songs than this in his sleep, and has certain treated the subject of the desor of peaceful men much meloquently. But it's not just words that make this apsong. Perhaps Dylan is man fun of it. His whine is certa more pronounced, and that horrible chirpy childre chorus starts... AAAAAA AAHHHH S—. It's all just a tle too overdone. By the en the song you almost wan and rip large mouthfuls of fl from the base of the thumb

On many of the songs Dy also uses a strange cast back-up musicians. He recently used the excellent gae rhythm section of Rob Shakespeare and Sly Dunb so why, when he arran gae beat, doesn't he use the He also badly miscasts ! Wood in "Driftin' Too From Shore." Wood's usu raucous guitar is lost in song and he seems most a ious to get back to playing w Keith and the boys — mu with a bit of a thump to it

The only reason for the album's existence, as far a can tell, is that Dylan m (rather cynically) assur that, with his new fou celebrity and a successful su mer tour, anything he puduces will sell. By all account the songs recorded with the Heartbreakers are much be ter, but seem to be destined be held in reserve until Dy runs into leaner times. By a sound of Knocked Out Load these are lean times and Dyl is holding the goods just ou

Bountiful's a Trip

by David Healey Picture America in the late 940's, a cramped Houston

apartment, and an old woman with memories. These are the tickets for The Trip to Bountiful's sentimental ride.

Carrie Watts (Geraldine Page) is the aged widow who wants to return to her girlhood town, Bountiful, before she dies. Living with her son (John Heard) in a city apartment, she plots her journey, even hides away a pension check in the folds of her baggy print dress for the trip. Meanwhile, daughter-in-law Jesse Mae (Carlin Glynn) does her best to put Page on the back-burner For instance, in one heartfelt scene there is an abusive argument over a recipe between the two women, but husband Heard is afraid to interfere as his mother is verbally clob-bered about the small kitchen Defeated by Glynn's attack and Heard's indifference, Page has won the audience's good-

Page leaves, making pilgrammage to Bountiful, making a trip filled with 1940's Americana - Coca Cola, buses, and beauty shops. Her trip provides some good scenes, with

Page evading pursuers and having heart to heart conversations on the bus. There is suspense, too, for the film prods, 'Has she lost her pen-sion check?' and 'Will that heart condition hold out?'

Perhaps the most moving scene is not the actual return to Bountiful but a pleading request to a county sheriff (Richard Bradford) to let her complete the journey while they sit in a decrepit and emp ty bus station. Page is still short of her destination, for no more buses go to Bountiful.

Permission granted, she covers the last few miles and returns to Bountiful. She finds a ghost town, a result of the soil depletion around the once prosperous farm town. The Trip to Bountiful is directed by Peter Masterson, but it is Geraldine Page's role that brings Horton Foote's screenplay to life. In fact, Page received her 8th Oscar nomination for her per-

Part of the WC film series, The Trip to Bountiful will be shown Friday, Sunday, and Monday evenings at 7:30 p.m. in Norman James Theatre, Adand staff is $1, all others are $2.

GERALDINE PAGE

Founded 1930

Jume 58, Number 4

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, September 26, 1986

Yearbook Supplement Altered

by Tom Schuster

he spring supplement to the Pegasus is scheduled to be ributed to upperclassmen y after the settlement this of a dispute between ook editor Arian Ravan hsh and a senior who obograph of her that ap red on the cover

e decision was made to ase the supplements after vanbakhsh agreed to cut a vandarish agreed to cut a -and-one-half inch strip m the cover of each of the proximately 510 sup-ments awaiting distribution those students who were olled at WC last year.

nior Jackie Lou dent who objected to the use the Pegasus of a photograph ch pictured her and another den actively participating
May Day streaking
May Day streaking
ittites, agreed not to furorcontest the release of supments if the alteration, ich deletes her photo from cover, was made to the reing supplements. Approx-ely 240 unaltered sup-ents were mailed to the bers of last year's senior over the summer and avanbakhsh, who, as or, made the final decision ahead with the alteration, he did it "for her sake. Not journalist, but as a per-.. Since she did bring a plaint, I felt I had to do ething," he stated.

Woodrow Wilson Fellow, Robert Koff, emphasized the communicative qualities of music in "The Language of Music," the entertaining and enlightening performance he and his wife, Rosalind, gave at Convocation on Wednesday.

Although he acknowledged that he approved the use of the photograph and was one of the principle Pegasus staff members involved in the layout of the supplement, Ravanbakhsh stressed that removing a portion of the cover did not constitute censorship, but was simply an editorial ad-justment. "As editor, I have the right to do that," he said. Meredith Davies, the technical advisor to the Pegasus, concur-"It was an editorial decision to run the photo, and it was an editorial decision to cut it out," she said.

Ravanbakhsh received a phone call the first week in September from Board of Publications Chairman Colin Dickson, who informed him that a complaint had been made. Until the agreement made this week was reached, possible solutions ranging from outright distribution of the supplements intact to alter-nations involving silkscreening procedures and the use of indelible markers to con-ceal sensitive portions of the cover photo were considered. The decision was finally made to cut the cover, according to Ravanbakhsh, because no cost was involved and the ability of the other methods to effectively remove the image were in "The third option I had," Ravanbakhsh stated, "was to not even release it, mothball it, and more or less keep it in storage for 100 years. But that

Gift From Seniors Divides Class

by Audra M. Philippon

It is traditional for the senior class to offer a gift to the College when it graduates, as a token of appreciation and token or appreciation and the aparticular for a much thankfulness for all that the town – here we can do so much College has given its members more." Caty Coundjeris added, a cocktail party last week to feel like that violated seniors' disc u.s. S fund r a is in g trust."

possibilities and to choose a Other students objected to class gift. Nicolaidis and fellow the idea of a scholarship all contents of the content of the class catalities to gether. One such student, gested that the class catalities oughter. One such student as scholarship for a black South sounds like a nice idea, but it African student to study at was my understanding that a Washington College as their class gift is something all gift. Opposition to the South students can enjoy I am sure runs high.

African scholarship ran and there are tons of things the minds.

The minds of the scholarship control of the scholarship going to a tions included maps for the scholarship going to a tions included maps for the south African. Susan Kolls History Department, furclaimed, "I think it's financial-nishings for Tawes Theater, student from South Africa instruments for the Music here." In agreement, Senior Department.

Class Vice-President Chris Suzie Vrba was more harsh Class Vice-President Chris Suzie Vrba was more harsh DiPietro pointed out the costs in her criticism. "The scholarof tuition, room and board, transportation, books, living expenses, housing arrangements during vacations, and even visas. Kolls had an alternative. "We can clear up the apartheid here in Chester College has given its members more." Caty Coundjers added, in the previous four years. The "The people on Queen Street Class of 1987, this year's senior need our help just as much. I class, is in the process of choose than it is hypocritical." to send class members, however, are class leadership in time, the fact that plans for the antiquite disappointed with the apartheid scholarship were class leadership in time, the fact that seniors first heard and control as has less than $200 impression that this (the President Irene Nicolaidis scholarship) was already settleasures that there are ed. Their minds were made "already several tentative fun-up," Kolls continued. Coundmembers of "87 were invited to had already happened. and I a cocktail party last week to feel like that violated seniors' discuss frund raising frust."

continued on page 4

Constitution Ignored For Appointments

y Audra M. Philippon

e spring of 1985, the SGA letely overhauled its conn because previous studministrations had it. Only one year later, w constitution is already eglected ent appointments to the lty/Student committees distributed last week by President Chris Doherty. dinformally compiled the appointments and d them on campus.

page 35 of the student book, the proper pro-book, the proper pro-be for making student ments to Faculty Com-bes is outlined: "It shall be Academic Board ... to determine fully the structure of student representation on all faculty committees, so that each representative must serve on at least one College committee and report back to the SAB. The remaining posi-tions will be filled by the executive committee nomination with the approval of the SAB and the senate" (Article 2, Sec-

However, at the time that Doherty distributed the list of Donerty distributed the list of appointments, the SAB had not been formed. The senate had not been elected. Obviously the SAB could not assign faculty committee appointments, and the senate could not approve the SAB's assignments.

Nevertheless, Doherty said, anything wrong. I was just following the tradition of past presidents."

Jean Steigleman, a member of the SAB, said, "It's distressing to know that he (compiled the list) that way. It's a breach of trust and procedure." Chris DiPietro, another SAB member, said, "Not only was the list not made according to the rules, but the choices

Wednesday, the SAB held an organizational meeting, and it devised a list of appointments in accordance with the constitution, so that each member of the SAB would serve on a committee as prescribed.

created a year ago to protect students' rights, and the SAB has an obligation to uphold those rights," explained Mona Brinkley, SGA Vice-President and SAB Chairperson.

Pam Loughman, SGA Treasurer and SAB member, simply stated, "We have to do what's written in the constitution It's not our choire - we're tion. It's not our choice - we're just elected to do what's already written out."

The Executive Board of the SGA met Thursday night, at which time the SAB's list of apwhich time the SAB's list of ap-pointments was presented. As procedure demands, the list will be officially submitted for approval at the first senate meeting Monday night, at 7 p.m. in the Library. Senate meetings are open to all students to voice their con-cerns. Inside:

Justice Delays

Task Force

off the cuff Seniors Abroad

Album Reviews

Sho'men

Soccer

May Day Haunts Pegasus

To say that problems have plagued the Pegasus in recent years is an understatement. Yet despite the dismal record of some past editors, the yearbook editors and staff members of the last two editors, the yearbook editors and staff members of the last two years have achieved success in a way that is strangely unique—books have actually been produced and distributed to the students who paid for them. In spite of these triumphs by new editors who paid for them. In spite of these triumphs by new clittors whereast, the Pegassis has once again run into trouble. This time the issue is editorial policy and judgement. The arrival of the spring supplement to the 1986 Pegassis on campus this month was accompanied by a complaint about the the 1986 book. The editor, having obviously searched for a photo appropriate to a spring-oriented supplement, chose a photo of an event that epitomizes spring at WC — May Day. The problem with this, however, from the point of view of one senior who was with this, however, from the point of view of one senior who was cuertified as the senior who was coverage?

coverage?
The decision of the Pegasus editor to feature photographic coverage of students streaking during May Day is nothing new. If anything, the coverage in the 1988 supplement is more conservative than in years past simply because the editors chose to strategically place stickers over the more obvious portions of exposed student anatomy. The use of May Day pictures in the Pegasus supplement was based on the correct editorial judgment. that a student who disrobes in public and then repeatedly calls at-tention to that fact by dashing back and forth through a large crowd is fair game for any photojournalist present. Any student who naively doesn't take cameras for granted at May Day ought to take heed to take heed.

From a strictly journalist point of view, the Pegasus editor didn't have to budge during the recent controversy. The fact that he did, however, illustrates an important point results and the results of the property of the p before you stap a nut. eline in your layout more a prountent pos-tion in your layout people won't mid. Many times they will even take offense that the editor has the gall to place stickers over areas of their anatomy that they seem especially proud of. But when they do mind, as the Pegasus editor has discovered, they really mind. This controversy has demonstrated that, when mak-ing editorial decisions on a small campus, there are select lanstances when a personal approach is wiser than a journalistic one. In this case the editor of the Pegasus discovered, about four months too late, that this was one such instance.

It is highly unfortunate that, after the editorial decisions had been made, after the printing had been completed, after upwards of 240 uncut copies had been mailed to last year's senior class, and after the $1400 in student money had been spent, that a basic editorial decision had to be reconsidered. The editor of the Pegasus will undoubtedly be considering the developments of the past weeks when next May rolls around.

Washington College Elm

Editor-in-chief
News Editor
Features Editor
Arts/Entertainment Editor
Sports Editor
Photography Editor Managers

Managing Editor National Advertising Manager Local Advertising Manager Circulation Manager

The Elm is the official student newspaper of Washington College. The Elm is the official student newspaper of Washington College. The Elm Elm is the Strick of the Editoria-chief. Signed column, college and the state of weeks and the state of the Editoria-chief. Signed column, column is the state of the editorial seat.

Editorials are the responsibility of the Editoria-chief. Signed column, column is the state of the editorial seat? The state of the editorial seat? The state of the editorial seat? The state of the editorial seat of the editorial

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Language Lab Needs Overhaul

To The Editor:

nap," "Crackle," "Pop." What you are hearing is not the famous breakfast cereal, instead it is just an average sam-ple of what listening to tapes in the Language Laboratory is like. All too frequently these sounds are even a pleasant change from most of the tape players that eat tapes and others that do not work at all Oh, the situation really isn't so on, the situation really isn't so bad, unless of course you mind having your Thursday lab pushed forward to Monday night because of the broken tape machines, or having countless other accidents occur during your lesson cur during your lesson.

Now in my second year of French here at Washington College, I feel as that I am an old hand at the purgatory that one goes through in the Language Lab. This is a purgatory that I do not feel is entirely necessary Washington College ha recently put a great deal of money into many departments, so I feel I can only ask the question, "Hey, Administration, do you know the language department needs some help?!"

I believe the College could probably afford to refurbish probably arrord to returbing the laboratory, so why is nothing being done about this nagging problem? The lab is supposed to provide the op-portunity for students to hear a foreign language being spoken, not crucified. The lab is also supposed to provide a learning experience, not an adventure in frustration.

There are various solutions to this problem, although I am unable to determine why none of these solutions has ever been implemented.

Close down the lab and allow students to take the tapes to play in their rooms.

2. Close down the lab and have an extra day of class.

3. Get the administration to reach deep into the school purse to reconstruct the lab.

Something must be done soon. Under the current system, the language laboratory qualifies as little more than a joke. Jeb Stewart

Doherty Quibbles

As you know, the Student Government Association is directly responsible for funding clubs and organizations on the Washington College on the Washington College campus. that is why, when the SGA hosts a social func-tion, there is a dual purpose. First, we are trying to pro-vide an event which will ap-peal to a broad range of students, but more im-portantly, we are trying to "break even" or even make a profit so that we may make profit so that we may make more funds available to other groups on campus such as the French club, the Spanish club, the Young Republicans, the Hunting club, the Outdoor club, the Campus Christian Fellowship, Delta Pi Omega, and countless other groups.

That is why I was shocked that in the campus calendar that in the campus calendar section of your publication there was no mention of SGA's "Bobby and the Believers" concert, but you gave free advertising to the Newtowne Pub and the band they were sponsoring the same evening. Does this mean that the SGA should refer all clubs seeking money to go to the Pub with their re

Christopher Doherty SGA President

Kappa Alpha Praised

Although this is our be time of year, I feel time st be taken to commend students that help maintal College. As a member of maintenance dept. I would maintenance dept. I would to thank the members of K.A.'s who participated in painting of Middle Hall enabled us to finish won as important. Too many all we see and hear be destruction. I feel it is ver portant to recognize a job close.

Letters To

The Editor May Be Sen Through

Campus Ma c/o

Tom Schust

ATTENTION SENIO

Applications for Gration have been sent of all Seniors. Anyone feels he or she will meeting requirements graduation by May who did not receive a plication, please cont the Registrar's Office ne exemple. There ever many mores. Bepublicated, and inhands to decide the forthest exemple most directly motions. For in Mistary and Political Selectors.

able mentions has absert so the how mobelp that they coul quests?

Policy Would Invade Privacy

Mandatory drug testing for govern-ent employees and other public serice personnel is an invasion of one's ivacy. It is unjust to make some one ake a test that he may be unwilling to ake, a test that may very well inriminate him. Such a test can be very amaging to a person's career. It could the case that an employer may not ire someone who has possibly used rugs at some point or someone may ot be able to get a promotion for the ame reason. Even worse, an employer nay fire someone on the grounds that he showed a positive result on a drug est that is not 100% accurate. It is not r to jeopardize a person's career with

As long as an employee's actions in is personal life do not affect his per formance in the workplace, those ac-tions should not be the concern of his employer. Is it fair for an employer to monitor and judge the actions of his employee outside the office? Most definately not. A positive drug test does not mean that the employee is under the influence of drugs while he is work

Laura Kerbin

Another problem with government employees being tested for drug use is the fact that this action would set a precedent for employers outside of the government to do the same thing. In private industry, there may be regulations over what must be done to so-meone with positive test results. Instead of sending him to a rehabilitation program (if necessary), which the government may have in mind, the person employed in the private sector may be fired on the spot without the chance to give an explanation or contest the

With the controversy now going on in the government, the question has arisen in other places about whether or not to have mandatory drug tests for other purposes. It has been suggested that students at some colleges be re-quired to take a drug test before entering school and even after entering. If tested positive, they may be suspended or even expelled. Another question that has arisen in several states is whether or not people should be tested for drug use at least one year before getting their driver's license. These are rather drastic measures for results that may not be accurate.

It is obvious that mandatory drug It is obvious that mandatory drug testing for government employees and other public service personnel will lead to the testing of many individuals out-side this group. Who knows, maybe other kinds of mandatory testing — other kinds of mandatory testing — other kinds of mandatory testing — will be the service of the ser government employees now.

Laura Kerbin is a junior majoring in

ISSUE:

Do You Think That Mandatory Drug Testing For Government Employees And Other Public Service Personnel Would Be A Justifiable Policy?

Junior Beachwood, New Jersey

I feel that it is obvious that cople in positions affecting ther peoples safety should ave drug tests. But also peoof high enough position to elected have a responlity to serve as an examfor the community. ssible loss of rights are far weighed by the good that it ould cause to engender faith public officials."

Dave Sammataro Junior Chicopee, Massachusetts

"Yeah, I think so because drugs are so widespread it is the only way of combating it even though it infringes on peoples rights."

Denise O'Connell Freshman Hagerstown, Maryland

"I feel that mandatory drug testing is infringing upon the employee's personal lives. As long as it doesn't affect their

Todd Karr Sophomore West Chester, Pennsylvania

'I don't think so because it has implications reminiscent of big brother. Not only is it an infraction of basic rights, but it opens the door for other government control over their employee's lives."

Freshman Baltimore,

"If a person is responsible if a person is responsible in any way for other peoples lives, like an air traffic con-troller, then they should be tested for drugs."

Campus Voices

by Michele Balze

Testing Ensures Public Protection

Who better to start the campaign sainst drug abuse than the Governnt officials themselves. If we want children and young adults of nerica to stop using these drugs then example must be set. It has to be set people who children can see and adre; the people who run our country. seasy to tell these young people that is harmful to their health and that by should not use them, however a definition must be set. If adults were to p abusing these drugs, then the ldren, who naturally mimic their lers, would also cease. Drug abuse ould no longer seem to be the adult, ature, customary behavior that some rceive it to be, but rather it would be posed as the danger it is.

The furor over President Reagan's mandatory drug testing program for Government employees in sensitive positions is unwarranted. The presi-dent is not asking anyone to submit to anything that he is not prepared to sub-mit to. We must realize that the very fabric of America, its people, are at stake. Drug abuse is the threat and President Reagan and our duly elected representatives are securing legisla-tion to protect us from this threat.

This protection comes in the form drug testing. The objective of this testing is to find those workers who could pose a threat not only to our na tional security but to themselves. Only after identifying the abusers can we give them the help that they need.

when not used for medicinal purposes, they can only prove to be detrimental to you, your co-workers and those that might be affected by your decisions. An

Monte Bourjaily, IV

How can they accomplish their job ef-fectively if they are high? The answer is that they can't, and hundreds of lives depend on their being alert and in con-trol. The air-traffic controllers are just one example. There are many more, but their example most directly makes

Finally, the Government is following up words with action, Certainly, one cannot just throw money at the problem and hope that it goes away, but funding is a start. The backbone of the drive, though, is the testing. Direct action has been taken by the White House to have the Government lead the way towards a drug free society. Let us hope that intelligence prevails over selfish desire. This policy must be allowed to stand for the good of every man, woman, and child in the United

Monte F. Bourjaily, IV is a sophomore, president of the Young Republicans, and intends to double-ma-jor in History and Political Science.

Seniors Alienated by Class Gift Discussion; Students to Vote Choice

continued from page 1

ship is a humanitarian idea, but the cultural exchange among students would be minimal. I think Chris and Irene just want their name written down. It's a political didn't want to give a material gift. The debate was really over whether the scholarship should be for a black South person." The President con-tinued, "We're going to send out a questionnaire to inform them (seniors) of what happened at the meeting, what was discuss ed, and basically to vote their feelings about what they want for a gift.'

Nicolaidis, on the other The disagreement inten-hand, claimed that, "We did sified after Fall Convocation agree (at the meeting) that we Wednesday, where Doherty announced in his official greeting from the Student body, that the senior class, in conjunction with the SAG would be funding African or a poor Chestertown a scholarship for a black South

The President con- African student. He did not mention the "senior class gift." but the ambiguity angered several seniors > already happened, and as a senior at last week's meeting, I know it did not. I'm really disappointed in Chris and Irene that they have gone and done this without our support without even a vote," said Coundjeris. Vrba added, "What he did today (Wednesday) was quite presumptuous.

vocation. Larrabee's photographic insight into diminishing c Africa, World War II, and the Eastern Shore earned her the honora

Committee Procedures Delay Student Justice

"The accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy...trial' states the Constitution of the United States, yet Washington College might add in their interpreta-tion, "Only if the Student Affairs Committee, the Judiciary Screening Board and the Student Judiciary Board have yet been formed.

Because of the time involved in interviewing and appointing students to the judiciary committees, some students are complaining that it takes too long to get through the judiciary process at the beginning of the school year. One case in particular has demonstrated that the present policy of appointing judicial committees in September results in a period of inactivity on the part of Washington College's judicial process.

Thursday, September 12, near midnight, college security responded to a call from the Coffee House. Upon arrival, security discovered a group of males gathered around the bar. Ac-cording to Jerry Roderick, director of campus security, several individuals were throwing beer and peanuts, creating a disturbance, and disregarding the requests of the Coffee House employee on duty at the time. Security escorted several of the individuals out of the Coffee House. Later it was discovered that several ceiling tiles destroyed and dispenser had been knocked off the wall in a nearby men's room. According to Sara Welch, Chairperson of the Judicial Screening Board, four of the students escorted out of the Coffee House are now under investigation for vandalism. The four have also been asked not to return to the Coffee House or participate in any SGA activities until the matter has come before the JSB. Judicial procedure calls for security to turn over its report of the event to the Student Affairs Committee, which in ficially notified of the incident until the following week. The JSB hearing was scheduled for Thursday, September 25th — eight schooldays after notifica-tion. Tentative dates were set for the meeting of the Student Judiciary Board in the event that the case did come to trial, yet meetings were postponed. A third tentative date has been set for "The accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy... trial, only if the SAO Committee, the JSB, and the SJB have vet been formed."

turn brings the report to the attention of the JSB Chairperson. According to the Judicial statute of limitations in the student handbook, "The Judicial Screening Board must act on all cases within ten (school/work) days after the chairman receives notice of a pending case." The JSB decides the validity of the case and may or may not refer it to a judicial board for trial. In a case of vandalism, the Judiciary Board would take over the case; it handles cases involving social conduct and behavior Because the Student Affairs Commit tee did not exist at the time of the Coffee House incident, Welch was not of-

Wednesday, October 1st, almost three weeks after the incident.

"The worst part of this is that while everyone is trying to form committees, appointing members, and postponing dates, no one involved is allowed to go to the Coffee House or attend any SGA activities," said one of the four who are under investigation. According to Dean Maxcy, the officers of the SGA and or the managers of the Coffee House have the right to restrict the participation of students believed to be involved in questionable conduct According to Welch, the delay in justice arose because S.G.A. President have taken so long to hand down judiciary board appointments. The appointments involve written applica-tions, personal interviews, and deliberations among interviewers. Finally, the Senate must approve the appointees. According to Chris Fascetta, Chairman of the Student Judiciary Board, appointments can take up to three weeks in the beginning of each year. Although Fascetta said that no major changes have been made yet to streamline the process, Welch did indicate that many procedures are being considered for amendments this year.

One possible consideration would be to appoint members in the spring, but this would not allow participation on the part of the freshman class.
"I share these concerns," said Max-cy in response to complaints. "Recently I requested of Chris Fascetta that the student court attempt to set up a schedule in order to meet regularly -possibly weekly so there can be a possibly weekly so there can be a reasonable adherence in order to ex-pedite each case quickly," he said. Fascetta has scheduled a meeting for Tuesday, September 30th, to design a schedule for weekly hearings. There are also plans to hold bi-weekly, open-campus meetings of the judicial board.

"Anyone who has any opinions or views which they would like to submit concerning the upper movements of the student Judiciary is welcome to bring them to an open meeting to be schedul-ed for next week," said Fascetta.

Mom's Cookie Jar

I'm sure most of you are finding college life an exciting ex-perience. You are being called upon to make all sorts of choices. Choices concerning courses, future plans, and lifestyles. Among these decisions I hope you include how you are going to eat. Hopefully you will choose meals with sound nutrition in mind

The key to good nutrition is choosing wisely from the four basic food groups. We in the Dining Service are proud of the variety that we offer at each meal and hope you take ad-vantage of the nutritional choices offered. Remember, "you are what you eat" and "what you don't eat does hurt VOIL.

Who ever said, "writing a newspaper article is easy," must not have ever written Whipping-up a batch of oatmeal raisin cookies would be a lot simpler. If anyone has any article suggestions, helpful or comments hesitate to send them to MOM

c/of The Dining Service. Any ideas would be greatly appreciated. Next Wednesday evening, the Dining Service is planning a Middle East Buffet. Mary a Middle East Butter.

Lorraine Sexton, Food Produc tion Manager, assures me the menu is delicious

Tuesday night is "Birthday Night." At this time may I ex-tend best wishes to all of you celebrating your birthday this

There are still some posi-tions available in the serving line and in the dishroom. If anyone is interested, please contact Sharon Crew, Dining Service Supervisor, for more information

Until next time... MOM

CHESTERTOWN NEWSSTAND 313 High Street Chestertown, Md. 21620

960 titles of magazines Greeting cards & wrapping paper Newspaper reservation accepted.

Open Mon.-Sat. 7:00-5:30 Sun. 6:30-1:30

AR RIM ORE'S Quick Stop For

- Breakfast

- Sandwiches

Subs - Dinner Platters

*Crab Cake *Chicken Nuggets

*Fish - Fresh Fried Chicken

Mon.-Sat. 6:30-9 p.m. Sun. 8-7 p.m 778-1096

Location 213 South of Chestertown

Status of WC Women to be Investigated

A new investigatory commit-ee at Washington College, unnow known as the orce on Women was stablished last spring by the ors. The organization is aired by Dr. Linda Cades, group came from Betty Casey, a member of the Board of a member of the Board of Visitors and Governors who urged President Cater, who in

The organization, which is now called the Committee on the Status of Women at Washington College, was formed to investigate the role and

ent. The idea for the study Pegasus Pruned

esn't work. The students ave paid for it and they eserve it." The press-run of 50 Pegasus supplements inolved a total expenditure of 1402.00 in student fees.

Loughman's chief objection the coverage given May Day y the Pegasus was that it in-olved publishing photos, in-luding the one of her on the ver, in which students were identified. "By printing dentifiable photographs," she aid in a written statement, you are inhibiting the students of W.C. in future May ys." Expressing a more tous concern, she went on to ay that "pictures of May Day ed to be handled with more re and discretion than other inds of pictures since the articipation in the event is not afficient reason to print idenifable photographs

Mary Helen Holzgang ('86), he 1985-'86 editor of the egasus, and the person who ctually took the photograph in uestion, stated that, due to the ublic nature of the event, her esence with a camera was stified. "I thought it was a orthwhile event to cover," he said in a telephone interiew. "These were people who illingly participated," she ad-ed. "If you can't stand the exsure, don't expose yourself Ravanbakhsh admitted to ng caught off-guard when learned that a complaint id been made. "I was totally prised." he said. "I thought urprised," he said. "I thought up the obvious parts," he con-tinued, referring to the gaudy stickers that, prior to printing, were placed over the genital areas of those students photographed in the nude.

Although he admits to objecting to the alteration of the supplement on journalistic grounds, Ravanbakhsh said that he "had to do what was best for the school as a whole. While working to find a solution this week, he sought an opinion from the administration. No opinion was given. President Cater stated that the existing editorial and advisory systems should preclude his insystems should preclude his involvement. "I don't see the reason for that," said Cater. "The last role I want to play...is chief censor."

Colin Dickson explained his responsibility this way: are there to help, to advise, but not their censor..." He said that although "this is an unfortunate story from beginning to end," those "values that it's important to uphold in a civilized community have been upheld." Dickson went on to say that he regreted the delay in distribution as well as the that money was available for a more attractive alteration to the supplement. Ravanbakhsh stated that the longer the dispute dragged on, the more anxious he was to see it expedited quickly. "I just wanted to get it out of the way," he said. I've got another book to put out... Altered or not, (the students are) going to get their supplements. It's already three weeks late."

community. Cades explained that, "we are looking at a lot of different phases of campus life." Some of the issues that the committee plans to investigate include questions such as: Are there equal opportunities for women on cam-pus in athletics and in classes? Are there sufficient honorary programs for women? Are encouraged academically as much as men? Does the College have, or need, paternity-leave arneed, paternity-leave ar-rangements for faculty members? And, finally, is there any sexual harrassment of female students?

The ultimate goal of the committee," Cades feels, "is to produce an environment which encourages the full intellec-tual, emotional, and socia tual, emotional, and social development of all students." Not only will the organization try to improve the negative aspects of college life for women, but it will also support the positive areas, women's financial aid, which is doing well. First lady Libby Cater, when asked about the when asked about the committee, replied, "I'm very enthusiastic about the commit-tee. I think the attitude on campus is positive toward women. It's a big plus."

The members of the committee, including faculty, staff, ad-ministrators, and students both women and men — represent all members of the WC community. These members have been divided into the both women and men following four subcommittees for investigation: 1) Student where we're doing well, and life, 2) Women's athletics, where there's room for improvement."

ministration, and 4) Cur- Dr. Spilich, Associate Proriculum Instruction and Intellectual Life. The Student Life subcom-mittee will deal with issues such as campus activities, such as campus activities, social life, relationships among students, and housing. The sub-committee for women's committee athletics will look into pro-blems concerning budgets for women's teams, facilities, equipment, as well as other problems the women's sports program is experiencing. The work for the Faculty, Staff and Administration subcommittee will include investigating the number of women currently on the staff and administration, their salaries and working conditions, and how they compare to those of their male col-leagues. Finally, the Cur-riculum Instruction and In-tellectual Life subcommittee will be interested in the learning environment for women, guest speakers, and other issues and events designed to interest and educate the women here on campus.

women the subcommittees will help the the subcommittees will help the gather facts, assess the cur- aware of current concerns and gather facts, assess the cur- aware of current concerns and then according to beyond traditional women's constant with the subcommittees which would be subcommitteed to the subcommittees the subcommittees with the hand, and then, according to Cades, "will discuss whether the situation needs changes, and if so, what changes." changes are needed, recommendations will then be made. By doing this, Cades feels the and advisors."

Dr. Spilich, Associate Pro-fessor of Psychology and Chairman of the Department Psychology, will be acting as the Chairman of the athletic subcommittee. He said that one goal of this committee will "look into making sure that men and women have equal access to facilities." Said Spilich, "It is important to say that if women want a sport, they should have it," as a matter

The first meeting this year for the committee was held on Thursday, Sept. 25. Plans for semester involve essentially the gathering of information. Since much in-formation is needed, the members of the committee welcome any input from students, female. Spilich stated that one major downfall is that students are afraid to speak up." He suggests, therefore, that students write letters to committee members, either faculty or students, and ex-press their concerns. This will help the members become were once closed to women said Cades, who feels this is the duty of the committee members, "as both teachers

SGA Clipboard

by Christopher Foley SGA Secretary

ingratulations are in order all of the new SGA senators day's election yielded thirty ators, including an un-ecedented eight senators m off-Campus nbers of the 1986-87 SGA liddle Hall- Ray Linton est Hall-Kevin Lauricella albot-David Marshall ast Hall-Perry Finney ecil-Erika Swartzkopf Vorcester-Chris Fischer merset- Luke Short, Steve

kburn, Kathi Winter leid- Jennifer Smith, nette Handy, Erika

rchester-Rob Alexander comico-Holly Walbert nt House- Geoffrey Har-Patrick Murphy, Tom

Off Campus- Erika Munske, Tom Steele, Wayne Farmer, Susan Stern, Thomas Jackson, Carl Pohlhaus, Lisa Buckey, Paige Yates.
SGA encourages all students to seek-out their senators to bring items of concern to the at-tention of the Executive Committee. Help your senators to help you. The SGA Leadership Council held its first meeting on Thursday. The organization, a diverse collection of student leaders, is intended to foster better communication between fraternities, sororities, and special interest groups on cam-Topics discussed included conflicts in scheduling of events (and how to avoid them), the alcohol policy, and the rise in campus violence and vandalism. Together, the leadership of the campus intends to solve these problems. The key point is that students ing to solve the crisis that affect students.

Two ways to leave the pack behind.

Apple has two ways to put you ahead of the competition. And keep you there. Just take part in a five minute demonstration of the Macintosh™personal computer.

You'll see how Macintosh can help you work better, faster and smarter.

You'll also qualify to win a Trek* 12-speed touring bike. And you'll walk away with a free bicycle cap.

Macintosh and a Trek bike. Both will do more than help you get ahead. Both will take you anywhere you want to go.

FEATURES

Seniors Reminisce About Year Abroad

by Andrea E. Kehoe

"It's not the Washington College you remember it being. You go to the Coffeehouse and it's just full of strange

The comment is not from a WC alum nus but from senior Suzie Vrba, who studied at Manchester College in Oxstudied at Manchester College in Ox-ford, England last year. Despite the difficulties of finding herself behind on her thesis, looking for graduate schools, and readjusting to a school where she knows no freshmen or sophomores, Vrha, like other seniors who spent their junior year abroad said her experience was worth it.
"I've always been an Anglophile

"I've always wanted to go to England-this was a way to do it," she explained. An English major, she studied Shakespeare, Medieval History and Twentieth Century Authors under Man-chester's tutorial system, in which the school's 75 students meet individually each week with their professor — or "tutor" — to read and discuss an essay they have prepared. Since attendance at lectures in optional, Manchester students can budget their time to allow for sightseeing. Also, the six week vocations that divide the three terms enable them to travel throughout

'Suddenly America isn't the center of the world; it doesn't overshadow Europe as it seems to here," said Vrba, who wore skirts while in Spain to fit ir with women's dress there and learned to speak quietly to avoid being labeled as the stereotypical ugly American:
"loud, rude and insensitive."

Vrba found adjusting to a new culture to be a pleasure rather than a friends she made

"There doesn't seem to be as much time here for little things — having tea in the afternoon or taking a walk in the garden. There isn't the place to do it or the people to do it with. It's just a dif-ferent culture," she explained.

Forming friendships

Another senior who went to Man chester last year, English major Cathy Beck, agreed that she too is now "homesick" for England.

"It was the friends we made at Ox ford that helped us get through," said " said Beck, who found that the group from which included Caty Coundjeris and Eric Lorberer, grew closer while ze you're just a spot on the earth and you're not important in the long run, said senior Linda Ferguson of her semester in Costa Rica.

rs Harris Whitbeck and Jennifer Leach recalled sunning in the Mediterranean and hitchhiking to Edinburgh while studying in Europ year

"The experience taught me that I can walk into a room of unfamiliar people and deal with it," she said, adding that she also realized "booklearning is only one way to learn."

Beck said she missed little about the United States or WC except American

"I started remembering WC meals as being good. Anyone who complains about being on board here should go to England and eat on board there

Kerwan, who had felt the need to get away from WC for a year, said her ex-periences outside the classroom, such as traveling to the Soviet Union, outweighed the academic benefits of study abroad

Difficulty adjusting

Study abroad was not an entirely positive experience for Michelle Royal, who also spent some time at Trinity College.

"I started remembering WC meals Already accustomed to accepting as being good."

Beck's two roommates, erguson and Meg Kerwan, studied abroad last year. "It gives you a perspective on being an American and on being a person," said Ferguson. "You realize you're just a spot on this earth and you're not important in the long run.

Ferguson, a Latin American studies major who cannot fulfill all of her degree requirements at WC, went to the Friends World College in San Jose, Costa Rica last semester. language barrier and the uniqueness of her program - which consisted of independent study rather than classes made the transition to Central America hard, but she came to know the region by traveling through Nicaragua and Guatemala alone.

"I'm still learning from it every-day," she said. "I hope I never stop learning from it."

Adjustment was no problem for Meg Kerwan, who said she was homesick "for about the first hour." During her year at Trinity College in Carmarthen, Wales, she took courses in areas such as drama and Russian studies anything outside of her psychology ma-ior.

"I didn't adjust at all. I left after three days, after giving it a real chance," she joked. Discovering that a 20 minute bus ride was necessary to get to the nearest laundromat, Royal packed her bags and went to Madrid, where she studied Spanish and taught English, but was not enrolled in a formal program. "I had the best time of my life," she said, though claiming to have missed 'Shaeffer Reese and the Sigs' frat par-

Returning for the spring semester last year, Royal had to get used to studying for classes again and become acquainted with new policies, new pro-fessors and new students.

"People don't realize how hard it is and how much time it takes to readjust," she said. an

Jennifer Leach, Jenniter Leach, an international studies major who attended the Univer-sity of St. Andrews in St. Andrews, Scotland last year, agreed: "At first it felt like the first week of freshman

Although she is enjoying getting to know her friends again, Leach said she misses Scotland and cried when she recently heard the theme to "Chariots of Fire," part of which was filmed the beach there.

"I've always wanted to sta abroad," she said, explaining that was looking for a program that we allow her to be a regular student a not just an American exchange

Leach spent two months traveling herself, including two weeks in Pol 'You begin to assimilate yourself stantly; you learn to adapt quid You never say, 'That's wrong, 'That's different,' "she recalled

'It would be a sin not to..."

ferences, Harris Whitbeck, an inter tional studies major who came her the College from Guatemala, studie France last year. He spent the in Cannes, then went to the Sorbon

"I had the opportunity to do thin could never do in Chestertown, said, explaining that he traveled Russia for ten days while working an American television network an

an American television network artanslated an interview with Primstephanie of Monaco.
Cautioning younger students no listen to horror stories about transfer to the control of the control many realize. "It would be a sin n many realize. "It would be a sin indo it if you have the opportunity."

He said his experiences opened up to new ideas. "I've learned to acpeople for what they are and not to pect them to fit a mold."
While he expected he had a learned to ac-while he enjoys being back at and is adjusting to the Machi revolution on campus, Whith remembered Europe, particula afternoons on the beach in the Medical atternoons on the beach in the Mes-ranean, with pleasure.

"That's when I'd think back Washington College and say, "R Those poor guys don't know f they're missing.'"

Freshman Blend In with Student Body

by Andrea E. Kehoe

high school, freshmen an endangered species, eyed on by upperclassmen to delighted in directing m to the fourth floor of ashington College, as soon as pocketbooks of freshmen disappear, new students nogeneous crowd, and it is their lack of knowledge of lege lore that makes them course, some freshmen ke their presence on cam-s glaring. They can be seen priously rushing to isses, clutching a minute-by-nute schedule for the week, calculator for monitoring ir study hours per class, and merous is guides to college They carefully take rbatim notes of their pro sor's lectures and highlight portions of rucial llabus, a document many up classmen neglect to read well after the drop/add

"Who's she?" Likewise, they realize that the Procolino pizza dynasty is, ironically, owned by the Scotto brothers, and that Theater contains a sinister occupant - the ghost of Noel Coward. Those students really in the know do not make the mistake, as did one unfortunate exchange student ast year, of passing out in Reid Hall, where one runs the risk of being given a lovely makeover

off the cuff

lore of the college and begin to two to one blend in, seniors, infected with sider Jeff Chaffin a God. Such academic stress becomes the chief worry in every senior's life, emboldening even the frail

Even as freshmen learn the Revolutionizing the music industry with superior sound quality, compact disc players are out selling turntables

the time of the second Laser Disc Player

by Kathy Carlson

The ultimate in sound systems for the Eighties is the Compact Disk (CD). A CD looks like a small silver record, but it is lighter than a record and is played by a laser beam instead of a needle. Virtually indestructible, CD's represent a technological leap above records and tapes, and have become the fastest selling machine in the field of home electronics.

CD players can cost anywhere from $200-$500, depending on the model and extra features. On the average, a CD itself costs about $16, but the price is expected to drop to a level equivalent to the cost of records and tapes today. Three years ago, a player would have cost $1,000 and a disk $20, but for both have plum-

Dave Sammataro, a junior, said his CD player cost $250 on sale. His player operates from remote control and contains extras such as introscan, where fifteen seconds of each song will be played, and reprogram, which allows him to play fifteen songs on the disk

CD players already outsell turntables two to one. Leonardi, an employee of Prince's Music Center in Kent Plaza, said, "At first we sold very few, but now we sell about seven to ten a week." One of the biggest reasons that CD sales have skyrocketed is due to the superior sound quality of the CD. The sound is static-free and there is no flutter or trembly sound when the pitches change, as on records and tapes. Said Sammataro, "It's the best sound money can buy." Another advantage the

is that the single side of the CD can hold up to 50% more music than both sides of an LP

"It's the best sound money can buy."

Despite these improvements, the selection is still small. In 1985, approx-imately 4,500 CD's were on the market, a small fraction of the albums currently released. However, there is a wide variety of music styles available ranging from country to classical and from rhythm blues to rock and roll - and the selection is getting larger each

Many versions of CD players are available, including boom-box with a CD, systems for cars, and also a walkman-style model which measures five inches across and one inch thick. These new devices can cost anywhere from $250-$550. Jukebox models are also available. models are also available. They hold up to 120 disks (or 1,800 tunes), but cost $3,560.

A CD recorder, however, has yet to be manufactured. Sammataro doesn't think a recorder will ever be made, and if one is, a blank disk will probably cost as much as one which is already made.

Owning a CD brings social as ell as musical benefits, said Sammataro. "Everyone comes in to my room and asks me to play disks."

EMPLOYMENT

Applications are now being accepted by the Student Union for employment, Applicants must be 21 yrs. of age. Both wages and hours are great!

Apply Now!!

As the semester progresses, wever, many fledgling colgiates become consciously if-destructive in an effort to cool. They stay up all night, aid they'll miss something if y sleep, and intentionally unhealthy sugared cereals. coming cynical about their idies, they enter the library ly to watch, "Cosby" in the room. Some even go as far to read in bad light

After midterm grades come it, and parental threats are de, most of these daredevil shmen, change their ways their behavior soon at of any upperclassmen. Yet de from the history of the osse team, are known only th time but are essential to lyone claiming to be fully ac-limated to the College.

Knowledgable individuals, example, when told that a ecial event will be held in oebe's, do not respond, to suicidally ignore the informal seating arrangements which reserve certain areas

Weary of the warmth of WC and the charm of Chestertown, eniors long to graduate, if only to enter a world where every sign and announcement does not appear in MacPrint. In-deed, the mental pressures of senior year induce some to frighten freshmen by telling them that streaking on May Day is a graduation require-

While students at times worry (or take pride, as the case may be) that their class, and thus their status, is as obyous as if they were wearing a scarlet letter, they should remember that in college age is often difficult to guess. Cer-tainly, most students don't receive age-related insults like that given one senior by a highranking administrator in Bun-ting Hall: "You look too old to be in college."

WC Blessed With 8-0 Win Over Wash. Bible

thusiastic. He knows we're not going to win any meets but he's just trying to get us in the best shape possible." Chaffin has the team on a total fitness pro-gram which includes not only

The team is also looking for new members. Kevin

Lauricella encourages

"anyone who just wants to get in shape" to contact Chaffin or Chatellier and start working out with the team.

Cross Country

Uncompetitive Yet Ambitious

by Kevin Crowell

won a meet in recent memory

the team, Kevin Lauricella, stated that Chaffin "is really enthusiastic about the pro-gram and he's gotten us ennot a depressed team. Rather they are an enthused The great sportswriter team which has captured the The great sportswriter team which has captured the Grantian Rice once said that true spirit of competition. The it's not the winning or losing members of this team are not that's important, but how one looking to win any meets, but played the game. All the are caught-up in the joy of members of this year's cross practicing with one another country team seem to share and pushing themselves to be soon a unset in precent memory. The stimulus for this end. The stimulus for this en-running, but also swimming and probably won't win one thusiasm is coming from this year either. But this team, coaches Don Chatellier and which only has seven runners, Jeff Chaffin. One member of and work-outs on the Hydrafitness equipment in the weight room.

KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA SUN SYSTEM

at

EMILY HAIRDRESSER

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

The Sho'men soccer team can finally breath a sight of relief after having steamrolleld over Washington Bible College in an 8-0 victory during their home opener on Wednesday, September 24. The win knotted their season record at 2-2.

The team proved not only to themselves, but also to their coaches and fans that they do have an explosive offense.

The Shoremen's so-called 'hidden offense,'' which scored only three goals in their previous three starts, was determined to "drop the bomb" on Washington Bible College. Freshman forward, Peter

Van Buren, who scored two goals in the game, said, "We had tough practices this week and everyone worked hard. We were more aggressive against Washington Bible than we have been in the other games and we were motivated and hungry to score some goals." The leaders of the offense, Tom Bowman, credited with three goals and Jon Larsen, with two, worked vigorously to keep the pressure on the oppontent's goalie. When asked what was the key to the victory, freshman fullback Matt Wickwire said, For the first time we put the ball down the sidelines and switched fields effectively with long crosses. it enabled us to Experience is something Shoremen lack. The team primarily made up freshmen and sophomon Wickwire added, "7 freshmen were a little m relaxed now that they ha played a few games. Our ha control was better."

Defensively for W.C., it quiet game

a quiet game as the authoritatively shut down a threat their opponent possible. Junior Todd Emmons player solid game in his first start sweeperback. "Todd is a tou player who likes to play har said coach Bowman.

said coach Bowman.

The three goalies in a game, Peter Corbin, Mike Herington, and John Billings all contributed in securing the transfer of the year. first shut-out of the year. In proud defensive unit has allo ed only five goals in the fo games played so far The Sho'men feel they had worked out the problems to resulted in a 3-0 loss to the pressive Muhlenberg teams saturday. W.C. will have continue to work hard in pra-tices as they go head to he against the Mid-Atlantic Co-ference powerhouse Frank and Marshall in Lancas Pa., on Saturday, Septem The Shoremen will play th

pressive Muhlenberg teaml

next home game on Tuesd September 30, as they host Mary's College at 3:00 p.m.

Sports Calendar

Sat. 27

Tennis (men's and women's) Widener-10:00 a.m.

Volleyball Dickinson-1:00 p.m.

Franklin and Marshall (A)

Cross Country Washington and Lee, Mt. Washington (A)

Tues. 30

St. Mary's-3:00 p.m.

Notre Dame (A) Tennis (men's) John Hopkins-3:30 p.m

Wed. 1

Volleyball Salisbury-7:00 p.m.

Thurs. 2

Volleyball laverford (A)

Shoreman's Pit Beef 513 Washington Avenue

Chestertown, Maryland Phone 778-2333 (Located behind Mobil Station on Rte. 213)

OPEN PIT BEEF SANDWICHES BBO SPARE RIBS

Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Fri.-Sat. 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Closed Sundays

WE CASH CHECKS!

RETIREMENT PART for WARREN IVIE

College Controller September 30

3-5:00 P.M. Hynson Lounge

All Students, Faculty, and Staff Invited

port Shorts

romen Take Fall Classic

by Chris Wiant e Theta Chi softball tour-ent held on Sat. and Sun., ember 20 and 21st had en teams composed of rities, fraternities, sports niles, fraterintes, sports ns, and just anyone who ted to play, battling it out number one with the final e between the Woodies and Stromen ending in a 3-1 vicfor the Stromen. he Theta Chi's hoped this would bring the campus ether for a good time and mote unity between the

ents sident Cater was invited tend the opening game and we the first ball, but due to busy schedule, had to

Lung Laps

by Chris Wiant wenty volunteers for Laps Lungs spent this past Sunswimming laps ey Swim Center from 12-7 ollect proceeds from their to benefit the onsors erican Lung Association of ryland a Crites, a member of Age Group Swim Team nity swam 104 lengths. The ever is unknown becau ch swimmer turned in their seeds to the Lung Associa-nindividually.

washington cotenge was only ne of four schools par-coating in the Laps for large, the others being Talson hiversity, Chesapeake Col-

Comin'At Ya'

tallied a 4-0 lead before the end of the first half.

Bryon P. Bishop organized the most challenging team WC saves during the game. event at Washington. Although field hockey has faced thus far. this pool was one of the last asked to host the fundraiser. The playing style of Hood is showing a lot of unity

Field Hockey Challenged

by Chris Wiant

mindividually.

Solvent Table

Solve

and received only a week's different from most of the notice, he was pleased with the teams Washington has encountered in its brief time as a recognized team. The techni-que adjustment was difficult, but the team played hard and made strides in improving their skills. Coach Guinan stated, "I think the difference in style and strength of the other team showed us where

Said Liz Whelan, "the team is showing a lot of unity. Right now we need to build-up our endurance so we can meet the challenger of long, hard

Volleyball Is 'Intense'

by Chris Wiant

The first home match for the volleyball team on Thursday, September 18th, against Swar- defeat Widner, the first three thmore and Widner College, games ending that match in proved to be both challenging Washington's favor.

and exciting with a large spectator turnout.

The first game of the match against Swarthmore lasted an hour with a final score of 5-6 in favor of Swarthmore. Captain Kim Madigan stated, "it was one of the most intense games I've ever played." The Sho'women did go on to win one game, but Swarthmore captured the match.

The team did, however,

ooners Have Bosworth And Much More

by Bill Beekman Tlike to spit a loogie in a guy's face er I tackle him. Kwwwaak, ome to the land of Boz, and the of Oklahoma Sooners football. It's otherwise barren confines of ian, Oklahoma. It's a place where thing and everything goes, ke the Boz for example. The Boz ran Bosworth, linebacker extraor-ire and orator of the opening quotaon the merits of spitting. He's rica's newest folk hero, the gerator of 1986. The multilted, immature brute is more than a freek of nature, though. He's a player, too, not to mention a good nt (which all too often is not mend). Voted the top college icker last year, he was much-ized in the off-season. He has to live up to, and so far he's been more than two quarters against L.A., and an equally impressive against Minnesota, Bosworth is on his way to deserving his mition. But somehow I get the picat it takes more than a Brian ld hurt a lot more people than I do rth to make a national cham-And, as Oklahoma is proving,

For starters, consider Oklahoma's For starters, consider Oklahoma's quarterback, Jamelle Holieway, and offensive line, all 1395 lbs. of it. With you have the makings of an exceptional hulks of 275, 280, 285, 280 and 295 lbs. team. A championship team. An removing defensive lines like sex-undetacted team. Careact teenager removing clothes, a lot of the consider of the consideration o quarterback, Jamelle Holieway, and they netted another 458 while piling up points in a 62-0 slaughter. These are hefty numbers, but, remarkably, Oklahoma has even more going for it than this.

"Welcome to the land of the Boz ... and Sooners football."

The Sooner defense has allowed but three points all season, those coming compliments of a 71 yard interception return. Led by the Boz, they did not even let U.C.L.A. enter Oklahoma tereven let U.C.L.A. enter Oklanoma ter-ritory until garbage time. Against Min-nesota, Oklahoma forced Rickey Fog-gie to rush ten times for a net of -22 yds. Add to this awesome defense and when they face the explosive offense of No. 2 Miami. The predicted result: a more time.

they do have more than just a Boz. ground: against Minnesota last week Notes: I was leafing through old Sports Much more. beefed up offensive line a talented Illustrateds the other day when I Illustrateds the other day when I came upon the baseball preview issue. Here are some of the predictions I found: California, 699-3, 30 games out of first (they are 88-62, 9 games up); Houston, 62-00, 33 games up out of first (they are 88-64, 9 games up); Boston, 78-84, 19 games up). The only division with the state of the state Mets have already won their 100th game with more than a week to go). Considering SI's track record, and the fact that they also predicted the Mets to win the series, I feel even more confident with my assertion that the Mets won't be Major League Baseball World Champions this year... While we're on the subject of the Mets, pitcher Rick Aguilera's shoulder was injured when No. 2 Miami. The predicted result: a Aguilera's shoulder was injured when Miami self-destruction. of the ingres over-subberant fan jumped on him The Sooners have all on the ingres over-subberant fan jumped on him the solid solid another ten yards.

Master Pianist Opens Series Tonight

by David Healey

"He is a pianist who has eceived an awful lot of received marvelous criticism and notice," explained Professor Garry Clarke, Chairman of the Music Lepartment, in in-troducing concert pianist David Buechner. Buechner will open the 35th annual Washington College Concert Series with a performance tonight.

Sponsored by the Yale Gor-don Trust, which hoped to br-ing Buechner on campus, he ing Buechner on campus, he was also one of Clarke's first choices. "Every year, I accept many, many flyers from various agencies that sponsor performers. I noticed that this person really seems to have received incredibly fine notices from very important critics. As coincidence would have it... the Yale Gordon Trust wanted to sponsor a couple of concerts here, and they specifically had David Buechner in mind." Clarke continued, "One of the reasons that they are sponsoring him, I believe, is that he grew up in the Baltimore area... His parents still live in Baltimore, in fact, they're coming for the concert on Friday Night. Having grown up in the Baltimore area, and having been known area, and having been known there, I think even as a child he was something of a prodigy, they were interested in bringing him to campus." The Peggy and Yale Gordon Trust was established to support assorted educational and cultural institutions in the Baltimore and surrounding areas. The trust provides concert career opportunities for both beginning and well-known artists of the finest quality "Basically he comes as a very promising young artist who is going to play program." The honors that have made Buechner, at 26, a renowned pianist include the Grand Prize at the 1984 Gina Bachauer Competition and the Bronze medal at the Queen Elizabeth International Competition in 1983. Added distinctions include placing in the 1984 Leeds Competition and receiving six major awards from the Julliard School, where he was a pupil of Rudolph Firkusny.

Making his recital debut this

Audition bassador Audi Pasadena. He has with the Buffalo Philhan and Grand Rapids Sympl

Clarke added, "After w decided about this last ye went to Moscow to Tchaikovsky Competition Tchaikovsky Competition Tchaikovsky Competition one of the most prest piano concerts in the p David Buechner was highest ranking Americ place in the competition

Buechner has been lau the New York Times, wrote after his 1984 h debut in New York, "Atth of 24, Mr. Buechner is a a master pianist. Buechner has it all telligence, integ compassing technical pm One predicts an outsta career

Clarke described the gram for Friday eve "He's going to do the ki a very interesting piece that is well known in Moonlight Sonata Beethoven; he's playing Stravinsky at the end. summarized, "Basicall comes as a very pror young artist who is go play a very interesting gram.

> The concert is open to public and tickets will be at the door. Adult tickets $7.00, children's and storare $2.00, while Washi College students enter Season tickets for the c

Arts Update

by Mary Riner Maybe it was the mind alter-ing fumes of oil paint, or the tedious intensity of darkening and creating lines, or maybe a more unified fine arts com munity that inspired Jeremiah No, the Writer's Union is not the only congregation of admirers for the Fine Arts. A new Arts Union for artists and friends of the Arts, 'Twenty,' has been created amidst the "Artsy" crowd of Washington College.

'Twenty' is a club "for the rse and venturers into the vance. Rain date is October 8. "Twenty Formed unknown." says sophomore Steve Kogler as he looks up for a brief moment from his draw ing pad. The membership, now 30, needs some new additions If you are a prospective member and missed the last meeting, there will be another one scheduled at the end of > Ahead on the agenda, 'Twenty' plans to sponsor museum trips to the Smithsonian, National Gallery of Art, and the Baltimore Museum of Natural . Also, the Union will offer pottery and paper manufacturing workshops.

October 10, in the Hynson Lounge, a student Art Exhibition will be held. Students with any talent or motivation are encouraged to submit their work. No, you don't have to be a 'Twenty' member to submit work. Drymounting of paintings and drawings can be ar-

Bach's Lunch

Enjoy lunch in the outdoors Wednesday as the Washington lege Music Department sents it Bach's Lunch. To be College held on the Miller Library Terrace at 12:30 p.m., the program features works by Telemann, Vivaldi, and Gluck Performers include the Washington College Chorus, Susan De Pasquale, Rick Davis, Amzie Parcell, Elizabeth Parcell, Ann Mat thews and Garry Clarke. Also the Bach family will represented by P.D.Q. Bach

The concert is free and the audience is welcome to bring a lunch to eat while listening to the performance. Boxed lunmay be ordered from the Food Service one day in ad-

Function Works Well

by David Healey A Private Function combines the unlikely ingredients of an English podiatrist and a pig to pro-duce this socially critical duce this socially critical comedy. Malcolm Mowbray directed this screenplay by Alan Bennett.

...satire

this smart

is a rare commodity...

Set in postwar Yorkshire the upper class and would-be-blue bloods plot to avoid the drab food ration laws in an attempt to properly celebrate Princess Elizabeth's wedding. Gilbert Chilvers (Michael Palin, of Monty Python fame) befriends the object of the feast - the pig -while his aspiring wife (Maggie Smith) wants to use its bacon to grease her social

'Newsweek' writes satire this smart is a rare commodity itself, and there is much delight to be had." Part of the Washington College Film Series, A Private Function will be shown in Norman James Theatre on Friday, Sunday, and Monday evenings at 7:30 p.m.

Amity Bakery and Coffee Shop

Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Bread: Rolls. Pies. Cookies, Special Occasion Cakes On Order Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M. Lunch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

Mon.-Sat. 5 A.M.-5 P.M Sunday 5 A.M.-2 P.M

Artist Concert Tonight Tawes Theatre 8:00 p.m.

Admission free for W.C. students Adults $7; youth $2

Genesis Keeps In Touch

Since 1968 Genesis has been ne of the leaders in pro-ressive music. Over the years the group has produced classic albums such as Selling England by the Pound and Lamb Lies Down on Broad-way. Since 1975, when Peter Gabriel left the band, vocalist Phil Collins has been lead vocalist and Genesis has become more and more popular with each album. Invisible Touch, the band's

by Ken Haltom

Invisible Touch, the bank of test album, has already gone bulti-platinum and yielded no hit singles. The record egins with the title track he most commercial and pheat song the band has ever ecorded. "Tonight, Tonight, ecorded. "Tonight, Tonight, onight' clocks in at almost line minutes but never bores listener. Collins uses musual electronic percussion thile Tony Banks creates an rie ambiance with his eyboards. The next track, and of Confusion, has a jumby beat, but silly lyrics bog the long down and the listener will ant to move on. In Too Deep a ballad that will especially ease Phil Collins fans. The ng isn't a classic but makes

Side two opens with ything She Does," a dance ack that uses horns and bears ack that uses horns and bears semblence to Collins' assudio. The next track, omino pts, 1 and 3 makes for e most interesting song on avisible Touch. Despite it's minute length, it should not the anyone. Every second is led with sound. Collins plays me very inspired percussion hile Tony Banks once again reates an interesting at-losphere with his syn-lesizers. "Domino" is at once allad-like and a rocker — the finest piece on the album. Throwing It All Away is a ballad in the vein of That's All (From 1983's Genesis), a pretty, light song which Collins sings beautifully. The closing sings beautifully. The closing track, The Brazilian, is an instrumental piece on which drum machines, guitar, and synthesizer compete for who can be the 'noisiest. Not bad, but the listener will find a better instrumental on the B-side of the single Throwing It All of the single Throwing It All

Invisible Touch was produc-ed by Hugh Padghan, who has produced albums for The ed by Hugh Padghan, who has produced albums for The Police, XTC, Paul McCartney and Phil Collins. Padgham's specialty is sound and throughout the album he or-chestrates a veritable wall of instruments. Surprisingly, Invisible Touch is dominated by keyboardist Tony Banks who uses the latest technology (synclaviers, digital samplers) to put his signature on every track. Phil Collins sings and drums using both accoustic and simmons sets. Mike Rutherford plays guitar and bass in his usual restrained

As a whole. Invisible Touch is a strong, solid record that is enjoyable to listen to. Some material is weak and lyrics are definitely average (apparently Gabriel took this talent with him), but the playing is so strong that the songs could stand-up all alone.

The future of Genesis is obscure with each band member finding solo success in recent years. The group is now on world tour with drummer Chester Thompson and guitar player Daryl Struemer. If the next year sees Genesis dis-band, the group has managed to end on a strong note Invisible Touch.

Chestertown Movie Theater

"About Last Night" Hturs: Fri.-Sun. 7 6 3 p.m. September 26-October 2 TO THE WASHINGTON THE T

778-1575

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Friday 26

"Piano or Forte: That is the Question" Robert Koff will in-troduce David Buechner's con-cert; Literary House, 7 p.m.

Film Series: A Private Func-tion, Norman James Theatre,

Concert Series David Film Series: A Private Func-Buechner, piano; Tawes tion, Norman James Theatre, Theatre, 8 p.m. 7:30 p.m.

Steve Cochran, D.J.; Coffeehouse, 9-1 p.m.

Saturday 27

AKC Match Show Norwich & Norfolk Terrier Jubilee College Lawn

Sunday 28

Film Series: A Private Func-tion, Norman James Theatre,

Monday 29

Wednesday 1 Bach lunch; Miller Library Terrace, 12:30 p.m.

Thursday 2

Beach Bash - KA's Middle Historian - Robert Pomeroy Sophie Kerr Room, 7:30 p.m.

Things to do

Places to go

Eastern Shore
Academy of the Arts
Artquest '86/The Video Exhibit A video featuring 72 contem-porary artists working in 12 different media. 10 a.m., 12 p.m., 2 p.m. daily through Oc-tober 11.

Rock Hall Museum Display of hand carvings. Through October 31.

Olney Olney Theatre Educating Rita. Milo O'Shea and Kitty Sullivan.

Harper's Ferry Mountain Heritage Art and Crafts Festival. Sept. 26, 27, 28. 1-800-624-0577

ANNOUNCING:

FIRST PRIZE:

$3,000 and publication of the winning story in a future issue of PLAYBOY magazine.

SECOND PRIZE:

$500 and a one-year subscription to PLAYBOY magazine.

DEADLINE FOR ENTRIES:

January 1, 1987

ADDRESS ALL ENTRIES TO: PLAYBOY COLLEGE FICTION CONTEST

919 N. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, IL 60611

JUDGES:

The editors of PLAYBOY magazine. All decisions are final.

contests routes. No age limit Employers of Paylory Expenses and the Contest is open to all college audents. No age limit Employers of Paylory Expended manuscript of 25 pages or lies, with a 3 x 5 card string your name, age, college afficiation, and permanent home address and phone to P. APBOV COLLEGE of Entering College afficiation, and permanent home address and phone to P. APBOV COLLEGE of Entering College afficiation, and permanent home address and phone to P. APBOV COLLEGE of Entering College afficiation, and permanent home address and phone to P. APBOV COLLEGE AT Entering College afficiation, and permanent home address and phone to P. APBOV COLLEGE AT Entering College afficiation and the College afficiation and underload the College afficiation and the College affici

Entertainment

Calendar

Friday 26

Caroline County Public Library
"Silverado"

479-1343. Through Sept. 27 Charm City Comedy Club. Sept. 26-27 Dennis Blair, Mike Saccone. 576-8558

Sept. 25-27. Dizzy Gillespie 727-7077 Baltimore

Newtowne Square Pub "Bad Sneakers" through Saturday, 778-1984

'Ain't Misbehavin' Philadelphia 8:30 p.m. (215) 862-2041

Patriot Center Neil Young

Saturday 27

Bookmart 9 a.m.-4 p.m

Dorchester County Fall Antiques, arts and crafts, food 10 a.m.-3 p.m. 228-7953

Dorchester Showcase Open house of museums, Open house of museums, historical towns, special events. 12 p.m.-5 p.m. 228-7782 Through September 28

Maryland Renaissance Festival Renaissance entertainment. Saturday and Sunday. An-

National Hunting and Fishing Remington Farms 10 a.m.-5

Kennedy Center Terrace Theater Handel Festival Orchestra

Sunday 28

Present Laughter through Oct. 19. 332-0033

Society Hill Playhouse Phil. (215)923-0210

Wednesday 1

Talbot County Library Brown Bag Book Review Lucille Fletcher to discuss and read excerpts from Women and Children, her play on the National Symphony Orchestra Doc Severinsen through Thurs Kennedy Center Concert Hall 857-0900

John Fogerty Falls Flat

by Barclay Green It's not been a good year for releases from classic ar tists First came Lou Reed's commercially tinged Mistrial commercially tinged Mistrial. Then Bob Dylan released his disappointing Knocked Out Loaded. Neil Young followed with his electronic mishap, Landing on Water. Now added to the list is John Fogerty's newest, Eye of the Zombie.

Eye of the Zombie, Fogerty's follow-up to the surprise number-one album.

prise number-one album, Centerfield, bears no resemblance to anything Creedence Clearwater Revival's former leader has released before. While Centerfield was a phenomenally successful attempt to show the music world what CCR would have sounded like if they'd staved together, Zombie is a dismal attempt on Fogerty's part to divorce the Creedence sound and create music in an Eighties vein. I spent the better part of a vein. I spent the better part of a day closed in a small room searching desperately for something good in this amalgamation of musical anathemas. While I did find a few bright spots, Eye of the Zombie is, for the most part, a musical compact hile for send musical compost pile for good ideas which do not come to fruition. Even Fogerty's newly formed and woefully misused all-star band consisting of John Robinson on drums, Neil Stubenhaus on bass, and Alan Pasqua on keyboards (Fogerty handles the guitar and vocals) is unable to inject any life into the material. Fogerty has simply moved so far away from his roots that he is unable to make music with any soul in

The title cut, Eye of the Zom-bie may well be the worst single to bear the Fogerty name. Although the song opens with a funky, jazz-inspired rhythm guitar, the subtlety is buried beneath an onslaught of loud minimalist rhythms befitloud minimalist rhythms bent-ting second-rate rap and one note bass lines befitting second-rate high school heavy metal bands. These flaws, coupled with deep backing vocals and an amelodic guitar solo, effectively destroy all that could be built around the progressive chords of the rhythm guitar. Eye of the Zombie becomes a parody of the swamp rock Fogerty himself almost single-handedly made famous. Knockin On Your Door, Change in the Weather, and Violence is Golden all suffer similar fates. Each has in-tricately listenable guitar and keyboard parts, but the complexity is lost under a barrage of spasmodic percussion, bass and lead eruptions usually expected from the likes of Twisted Sister. In his attempt to record "Eighties style" music, Fogerty is unable to render the melodic and rhythmically sound Genesis, U2, or The Police, let alone anything comparable to lyrical acoustic/electric combinations which sent Proud Mary, Locli, and Lookin' Out My Back Door to the top of the charts a decade and-a-half ago.

To make matters worse, the quality of Fogerty's lyrics have deteriorated at the same rate as his music. Once famous for his delving and pessimistic social criticisms, he now seems to be delving into his imagination in order to find something to be pessimistic about. For instance, five minutes and fifty-three seconds of side two is devoted to a denunciation of marketing tactics used by the soda pop in-dustry: "Take a million dollars baby/Put in my hand/Put my favorite retouched photo/on the cola can." The song is en-titled, you guessed it, Soda Pop. Wasn't That a Woman, another cut from side two, takes the lyrical degeneration one step farther. Fogerty has never written songs about pure lust before, and with lines like, "Oh dear I got it badly/There aint' too much to tigure out/Bam boom and she had me/Oh yeah, of yeah, oh yeah," this seemingly commendable silence may actually be a blessing.

GOLD & SILVER JEWELRY DIAMONDS WATCHES, CAMERAS & FILM ENGRAVINGS & REPAIRS

FORNEY'S JEWELERS

106 Cross St. Chestertown 778-1966

HAIR PORT

KENT PLAZA

No Appointment Necessary

Family Haircutters and Styling

OPEN 6 DAYS A WEEK MON., THURS. AND FRI. OPEN TIL 7:00 P.M.

John Fogerty's Eye of the Zombie album is somewhat ghastly, all here and there some good material peeks through.

This is not to say that Eye of of the Zombie is almost ac the Zombie is all bad, plete failure. John Fog Headlines is a fairly exciting needs to return to his mus blues number, the instrumen-roots which made Center blues number, the instrumen-tal Goin' Back Home conjures up notions of electronic gospel, and Sail Away, the final cut of the album, is the closest Fogerty comes to a coherent style.

a number one album ever the Eighties and Creeds Clearwater Revival one of finest bands in rock and

The Collegian will hold a MEETING ON September 28th. 9:00 p.m. Queen Anne's Lounge

SMILEY'S SUBS AND VIDEO

COLLEGE STUDENT MEMBERSHIP

Show College I.D. and Receive 9 Month Membership For

§7.95

Monday & Tuesday All Tapes .99' Wednesday 3 Tapes For $5.00 All Other Days $2.00

ALSO: VCR available for rent and X-RATED VHS, BETA

Mon.-Thurs. 10 a.m.-9 p.m.; Fri. & Sat, 10 a.m.-11 p.f Sunday 12-5

778-5560

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 5

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, October 3, 1986

Literary House Additions Proceed

Many students may have t corner of the Washington campus is getting a ft. Right now the terary House is in the middle a renovation/addition plan ch began last year with the nstruction of a new press mpletion of a screened-in he renovation plan, which cludes the construction of a rge deck, the replacement of old screened-in deck on the ont of the house, and a novation of the basement. s been under consideration ralmost two years.

"It took some time to ecome aware of what was seded. This was only possible fter it had been lived in for a ile," said Bob Day, prothe Literary House. Day said at the additions would nefit all students involved ith the house. The screenedporch to be built on the front the house, which is the last dition and scheduled to be impleted in December, will serve as a place for club meetings and lectures. The new deck is scheduled to be completed on October 11, and will be used for meetings as well as recreational and out-door activities. The basement. to be completed this week, will provide a place for dry

Already, many of the addi-tions from last year have been put to use. The press room will be the location of a class on be the location of a class on journalism while a drama group has been formed in hopes of utilizing the outdoor theatre, also added to the house's grounds last year.

The Literary House has been pen since its presentation to the College by Mrs. Betty Casey almost three years ago. On October 17, festivities will take place on the grounds as part of the dedication of the new press room.

"The literary house is open to all student groups wishing to use its facilities. Its most important function is to serve as a comfortable atmosphere in which academic club meetings intellectual events can take place," said Day

Dr. Donald Munson fingers the Biology Department's new toy - a phase/fluorescence microscope. The microscope is the result of a 57,123 grant to Washington College made by The National Science Foundation, and matched funds from the college islatif. The new microscope will be used by Munsen, Dr. John Heinbekkl, the Visiting Distinguished Professor, and the upper-level biology classes for their research.

Renner Takes Research Management Position

by Audra M. Philippon

"It's just very difficult to ave, especially if you love hat you're doing...," explain-Dr. Tari Renner. The first y of classes in September, mner received a job offer im the International City inagement Agency (ICMA), public interest group in ashington, D.C. One week ter, Renner (28) made his ecision, and one week after hat, the Political Science proficially the Director of Survey Research, coordinates the six to eight annual surveys the IC-MA distributes, MA distributes, as well as research for municipal year-books, and various academic and practitioner's journals. The position carried nearly a 50% salary increase, Renner joked, but other factors af-fected his decision to leave the Renner contacted the ICMA for data. He learned there was a summer position available, and applied for next summer. ICMA called him back for two interviews, then made its permanent offer September 8th

Renner submitted his resignation to Dean of the College, Elizabeth Baer, and she in turn presented it to the faculcollege. ty at its meeting, Monday, Renner's wife, Judy, works September 15th. "I'm very

"I want to try this. If I want to come back to

In addition to teaching, Ren-ner ran the Maryland State internships program, served as faculty advisor to the SGA and the Kappa Alpha fraternity. Renner even participated in formal rush with all the KA pledges two years ago. He came to Washington College came to Washington College from American University, where he earned his masters degree and Ph.D., while teaching part time. The new job directly integrates Ren-ner's specialties. Electoral politics and statistical analysis. John Taylor, fellow Political Science professor, wishes Renner luck, but admits, "He's a valuable member of the department, and we'll miss him." Former students of Ren nim." Former students of Ren-ner's are even more vocal with their praise. "I can't tell you how disappointed I am that he's leaving," said Junior Deb-bie Kirkpatrick. "He's the best teacher I've ever had in terms of Political Science. His leav-ing is a loss for the school."

Sophomore Cate Lucas, intended Political Science major, has Renner for an advisor.
"I like the way he teaches:
he's enthusiastic, and he gets the point across. He translates and makes the information clear. He just makes class

Even today, Renner still is nervous about his career move. "I think I'll always be move. "I think I'll always be scared and wonder what things would be like..." He and Judy tentatively plan to settle in the Annapolis area, but Renner still hopes to teach part time at American University. "I'll always feel attached to this place," he said. "I guess because of the kind of people I've come to know."

make me more qualified to teach." or handed-in his resigna-

"I just asked myself, 'Wait a te, where the hell are you ?"" This would be Ren-fifth year teaching at ington College, which hington College, which him up for tenure con-ration. "I felt that if I yed, I'd have so much in-yed, I'd have so much in-sted here, I couldn't leave," continued. Renner recalled indecision: "The whole was full of so many emois; it was just so unsettlin Baltimore, and commutes daily from their Chestertown residence. The college strongly encourages its faculty to live in the area, and the commuting is quite a problem. The greater possibility for advancement inpossibility for advancement in-trigued Renner, too. "I want to try this. If I want to come back to academics, I think this job will make me more qualified to academics. I think this job will

"he said. It all happened quickly and unintentionally. In August, while doing some research for his honors seminar Pat Horne, Cities in Transition.

sorry to lose him. He's a promising teacher and a promi-nent member of the faculty."

The search for a replace-ment Political Science teacher

"is underway, but it's in its early stages," explained the Dean. Renner will be finishing out the semester and starting at ICMA in January. The com-mittee handling the search is still determining Renner's responsibilities and the needs of the rest of the department. "We may just make a one-term appointment, and then conduct a wider search," said Baer.

Inside: off the cuff

Tennis Soccer Ties

Drama Production

enner's new position, of-

OPINION

Pass Out On-Campus

At Tuesday night's dinner for the members of the Leadership Council, the Resident Assistant staff, and Peer Advisor, these council, the Resident Assistant staff, and Peer Advisor, these council with little disperse of the Council Council leaders, be able to head-off the student using touch our become an annual occurance.

This is a notified forge makes theirs a potential name on a court docket will use liberal amounts of common sense and precaution to avoid a van ride to the state pen. But the number of students whose lifestyle puts them at risk of having a warrain served at three a.m. by the C-Town police for narrocket.

**Evitors and demkenses in general will prove to be a much drunk driving and drunkeness in general will prove to be a much larger danger to WC students this year.

The chances are very good that, this year, a Washington College student will be killed on the roads of Kent County in an alcohol-related accident. With approximately 280 students living alconol-related accident. With approximately 200 souteness 1700g, off-campus, here will be a lot of students leaving on-campus parties on weekend nights who are going to be internally debating whether or not to get behind the wheel. A lot of them are going to say "What the Hell" and do just that. Most, perhaps all, when make that decision will a way with it. But this year, the odds are stacked against it.

In two months, when its forty to fifty degrees colder and all the bicycles have been put away, there are going to be a lot of drunk students looking for a warm ride home. A post-party shuttle to students footing for a wall in the tonder. A possparity is directly students of the students aren't going to arrange the perience tells us that all students aren't going to arrange the venings around a trip schedule and that those folks who concientiously seek-out a ride aren't the ones that fellow students need worry about in the first place.

need worry about in the first place.

The ones that we worry about no mea who, at three or four a.m., are staggering drank, and, having missed any safe ride wind with care keys in hand, thinking about their warm bed downtown. All WC students are familiar with this phenomenon. There is, however, one sure way to head-off this situation. On-campus residents need to make aleeping accommodations available on weekend nights for fellow students.

The stage of the students are familiar with this phenomenon. The stage of the students are staged to the stage of the students are staged to the stage of the students. The stage of the available on weekend nights for fellow students.

By issuing RA's cots and binaries along with their fire extinguishers, giving a drauk fellow student a place to aleep in a tinguishers, giving a drauk fellow student a place to aleep in a laternative, but an enormously stafer one than leaving them no other choice but to make it home on their own. Students living on campus should encourage and constantly remind their offcampus friends that they can borrow a blanket and sleep on the flow if it comes to that. After too much Old Milwakee, the offer will more often than not be gratefully accepted

As part of its effort this year to discourage drunk driving, the SGA might consider establishing a "crash area" somewhere on campus for intoxicated off-campus residents on weekend nights.

Leaving students no other alternative but to make it back to their off-campus residence invites drunk driving. Let's establish sleeping facilities for snockered students before some of them claim beds in the hospital, or worse yet, in the morgue.

Editor-in-chief .....

Washington College Elm

Editors .... Thomas M. Schuster

|                            |          | Audra Philippon |
|----------------------------|----------|-----------------|
|                            |          | David Healey    |
| Sports Editor              |          | Chris Wlant     |
| Photography Editor         |          | J.M. Fragomeni  |
|                            |          |                 |
|                            | Managers |                 |
| Managing Editor            | Managera | Alison Shorter  |
| National Advertising Manag | r        | Michelle Royal  |
|                            |          |                 |

The Em is the official student newspaper of Weshington College. The Em is published every friday during the acadimate year with the scope Editorials are the responsibility of the Editorial case in the separation of the Editorial stars. He responsibility of the Editorial case in the separation of their earthers and are not necessify the views held by the member of the Editorial staff.

It is not to be a separation of their earthers are the sevent held by the manual sea therefore the Unique letters will not be considered for publications, the editors cannot shave publish every letter received and some marked horse and the service of the service

tion in that week's issue.

The Elm's business and editorial office is located in the Queen Anne lounge, found on the first floor of the Queen Anne's House dormitory. Business hours are 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Tuesdeys and 7:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. Wednesdays. The office phone number is (301) 778-2800, extension p.m. Wednesdays. The office phone number is (301) 778-2800, extension

Objectivity Questioned

To the Editor:

After reading the article concerning the SAB and committee appointments in last week's issue of the Elm, I began to question the objectivity of the journalist. Having been inter-viewed for the aforementioned article, I know as a fact that other views and opinions were presented to the journalist, and vere apparently chosen to be ignored. I was under the impression that responsible journalism calls for an unbiased presentation of all opposing sides. Since, in this case, the opposing views were readily offered to the journalist and were blatantly ignored, I feel that the responsible journalism of this article is questionable. Allyson Tunney

Write About The Facts

To the Editor:

Last Friday'a article concerning the senior class gift was one of the poorest demonstra-tions of collegiate journalism: not only were facts and quotes misconstrued, but a completely biased opinion permeated the article.

Perhaps the most glaring fallacy was the accusation that "plans for the anti-apartheid scholarship were already underway..." Chris Doherty underway..." Chris Doherty was questioned about this at the senior meeting, and he was the senior meeting, and he was careful to emphasize the fact that nothing was definite; some preliminary inquiries were made to determine the potential feasibility in the Elm to bring this point to light. I was also distressed to see that only the opinions of a select group, (and I use the term loosely), were aired in the arti-

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR cle. Surely there are other

seniors on this campus who are able to think independently from the circle of people represented in the context of the article

Let's get with it writers, (you know who you are), try writing about the facts as they stand not what you want them to be

The discussion of a senior gift is still open and I engift is still open and I en-courage every senior to not on-ly consider the suggestions already made, but to think of other viable projects. Any ideas can be forwarded to either Chris Doherty, or Irene Nicolaidis

Sincerely, Jane R. Keller

Article Was Biased

To The Editor:

Does the controversy over the senior class gift divide the senior class, or does The Elm divide the Senior class? After last Friday's "news article" I tend to agree with the latter.

There are several issues that need to be addressed. My main reason for writing this letter is reason for writing this letter is because I felt we saw an example of news reporting at its ultimate worst. Ms. Phillipon, a junior, took it upon herself to draw conclusions about the senior class and their feelings, after talking to a select group ofseniors. She did not however, seek anyone "outside" the seek anyone "outside" the group for their opinion. She wrote an article that was ex-tremely biased. Aren't reporters supposed to be objecis also imperative that It is also imperative that another point be made concer-ning Ms. Phillipon's 'news' reporting. Her article contain-ed only opinions — opinions of a few seniors and opinions of her own. Therefore, the article and not a front page ne It is unfortunate that so seniors were alienated by a actions and the actions of Chr

Doherty. As far as Chris' or vocation speech goes, I did write it. I merely investigat the feasibility of the idea of scholarship to a black Sw African. I wanted to be able offer ideas to the seniors at Cocktail Party concerning a gift. I wanted to get some ide and feedback from classmates. I by no means of trying to force my ideas w them. And I most certainly not trying to undermine th I am a business major, and idea was not anywhere nes

"political move" on my par
I'd like to congratulate Elm and Ms. Phillipon their success. They have di ed our class and resentment among studen a time when they should united and enthusiastic

Irene Nicolaidis Senior Class President

'86 Pegasus Editor Respond

To the Editor;

In the wake of last week controversy over the Pegasus, I would like to a few insights that only an As Editor of the Pegasus, I took

Pegasus, I took photographs in question. WI did so, it did not occur to to worry about whether May Day streakers would embarrassed upon publicati of the pictures. Rather, I the quite logical reasoning if those particular member the Washington Colle population did not mind aring without clothes public place, they could tainly face up to the put

continued on pa

"Discrimination" Is Often Manipulation

Sexual discrimination appears to be a existing problem for the female stuent body at Washington College only hen one chooses it to be. I have never it that because I am woman that I we been denied anything in the lassroom, in my intellectual life, or in assroom, my social lite, or an yn social lite. Washington College does not, in my social lite. Washington College does not, in my popular was a problem with its female udents being discriminated against. s seems more likely that women may be placing the blame for their own utils. A women may fail in a certain erea and feel a need to find something or someone to blame for her own weaknesses. Sexual discrimination is just this outlet. A woman can use her sexuality as a # way to manipulate others. How many Janet Simms

times has a woman tried to use her femininity to gain access to something or to just simply get her own way? I wonder how much money some of the fraternities have lost because of two batting eyes and a persuasive smile? Surely, the Thetas have lost more money to such eyes and smiles than to any KA trying to get into a party without paying.

This is not to say that all women use their status as females to manipulate others or that when a woman claims to be discriminated against because of her gender that it is in her mind. It does mean however, that sexual discriminamade. Laws against discrimination excist protect people. They are not made to be used in a vengful manner.

I hope that the committee which is made up of a majority of women, will seep this in mind and not ty to create seep this in mind and not ty to create the committee of the committee of the to be a committee of the committee of the shouldn't justion to look as though sexual discrimination has played a part.

> Janet Simms is a Senior majoring in Sociology

ISSUE:

Is Sexual Discrimination An Existing Problem For The Female Members Of The Washington College Student Body, Faculty, Staff, and Administration?

Wendy Morrison Visiting Assistant Professor Department of Mathematics

"I think it's there to some exnt. It's part of society. There discrimination against men d women in different ways. I sink I see it more in terms of e staff than the faculty. As ar as the students; I don't see me being forced into the bles as much as continuing to lay them."

Dean McIntire Dean of Students

"I can say personally I have never felt there was any discrimination on this campus of any nature. I can say I have never felt discriminated against for being a woman. I have never felt that it was a positive or negative to be a female but rather that it was a female but rather that it was a get a different feel your to the bousekeeping or secretarial staff."

Jean Krawer Admissions Receptionist

"I don't think it's a problem. I've never encountered any sexual discrimination since I've been here, but I may be kind of isolated."

Leigh W. Mendelson Sophomore Philadelphia Pennsylvania

"I don't believe so. With all the faculty, staff, and administration I have come in contact with there have been as many women as men in steese positions, so it hasn't struck me to be true. The only discrimination having to do with the female students."

Jane Keller Senior Lafayette Hill, Pennsylvania

"I don't feel sexual discrimination is overt on this campus. It is the subtle innuendoes and sarcasm that constitute most of the discrimination. I'd say the most flagrant is in the women's athletic program, facilities, attitudes when girls work out in the gym, and the looks you get. I realize that they are trying to improve

by Michele Balze

Campus Voices

Sexual Discrimination Is Out There

by female who claims never to have a victim of sexual discrimination with a victim of sexual discrimination may be used to be a victim of sexual discrimination takes. Consequently, I aleased that the status of women in washington College community is washington College community as washington College community as washington College community as washington College community as washington to the status of women as can be said to be used t servations, or seek clarification out the status of women here. As to whether sexual discrimination as existing problem for the female and the sexual sexual

Several years ago, during the renovation of the hill dormitories, the Student Affairs Committee tried without success to interest sororities in what promised to be the best housing on campus. The sororities preferred to respect tradition, stay in Minta Martin, and let the fraternities continue to claim the hill dormitories.

Chaim the nut cormitores.

More subtle than equatuality house. More subtle than equatuality house and a comportunity in the classroom. It is a fact that female students do not speak up in class as often as male students and to exacerbate the imbalance, teachers (of both sexes) tend to call on learned behavior of a passive student is difficult to turn around. How reflective clarest the contract student is difficult to turn around. How reflective early with the century attudes are our textbooks? What pronouns are used? What pronouns do we (faculty and students) use in speech and writing? Laboriously uses beylse we take casual notice; when a speaker chooses the female pronoun first, it explodes through our complacent consciousness. Women faculty, like women students, have never formally organized Approximately 23% of the total (full and part-time) faculty is female; three women are department chairs. In the past four or five years, administrative offices have been staffed more fully, and many of those appointments have been women.

Kathy Mills

Events in the past strike me as significant: the year a woman (Margaret Newlin) addressed Washington's Birthday Convocation which was the search of the sear

the past five years when maternity benefits were incorporated into the college group insurance plan.

I had the experience long ago of not being taken seriously by a college president, partly because I was young and only a part-time teacher, but just as surely because I was female. I surlessons one semester by taking an audit, only because I was taking more credits than the college allowed. Yet, I was practicing four hours a day, I was a piano major, and I knew a male stitcollege credit limit. I have been paid less than a man doing the same job. From these reference points in my own life, I look hopedity toward the positive taking to the positive to the college at the positive to the college and the positive status of women can play at washington College.

> Kathy Mills is an Associate Professor of the Music Department

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

(Continued from Page 2) tion of those photos (in censored form, yet) in a book that, after all, would be read by the same audience in front of whom they had bared their birthday suits in the first place

Now, however, the complaint that such publicity is exing is an understatement. May Day was included in the Pegasus because it was felt that as an event unique to the later College, it deserved coverage (Since it was also felt that my original prints required coverage, we censored them prior to publication.) I am ge-nuinely surprised that the peo-ple who willingly participated in May Day "just for the fun of the same area who. it" are the same ones who are unset today

To those people, I offer no is that such publicity is ex-ploitative, spoiling the spirit of apology. It is someone is embar-may Day and (gaspi blush!) rassed by the photos, I am ap-ruining reputations. To say I palled only by the fact that find these allegations confus-ing is an understatement. May boundless. The time for modesty is before you decide to take your clothes off, not six months

Sincerely, Mary Helen Holzgang '86

Bell Faces Drug Charges

by Harris Whitbeck

A former Washington College student is facing trial this week after having been ar-rested last Spring along with three other students on drug

Charles Bell, a sophomore from Baltimore, was one of those detained last March 26 and charged with possession of marijuana and possession with intent to distribute. The other students arrested were sophomore and seniors Ellen Hennesy and periencing a (drug) epidemic Katherine Bockhart. The arthat is very, very serious."

rests came as the result of a prolonged investigation by the Chestertown Police Department which involved a number of officers, including Chief of Police Mauritz Stetson Bell is scheduled to appear in court in Chestertown today. If convicted, he faces a max-imum of five years in prison and a fine of $15,000.

State's Attorney Fred Price would not comment on the case except to say that drug crimes were a very serious problem: "The whole country is ex-

Next Thursday, October 9th, there is going to be a "New England Lobster and Steak Jamboree." Those coming to dinner that night will have their choice of either a 1½ lb. whole Lobster or a 10 oz. New York Strip Steak. The cost for this dinner will be $5.75 for off-board students, 50 cents for students with a 5-meal ticket, and no additional charge to boarding students. I know this is going to be one sumptuous feast. Make plans to come and

Mom's Cookie Jar

I would like to start-off by ex-tending a special "THANK YOU" to all the W.C.D.S. workers, fulltime, part time, and students, for a great job in maintaining a sanitary and neat kitchen and Dining Hall.

The diligent employees of the W.C.D.S. go to great lengths to ensure that the meals are prepared and served in the most sanitary way possible and the equipment, floors, work and eating areas are kept

On Monday, the W.C.D.S. received a score of 96 (out of a possible 100) on a routine health inspection. This superb score reflects the high standards of management and care exercised in the running of the Hope you all enjoyed the "Middle East Dinner" Wednesday night. I thought the dishes were all delicious.

Speaking of attending meals, I would like to remind all of you who frequent the dining hall to please bus your tables. The dishroom crews will greatly appreciate your efforts. Well, I guess I'd better get back to the kitchen. I have a new recipe for applesauce, oatmeal cookies. I'll let you know how they turn

Until next week...MOM.

SGA Clipboard

by Christopher Foley SGA Secretary

The SGA Senate held its first meeting on Monday, September 29th. The meeting was well attended by students armed with their copies of the Student Constitution they helped clarify the confusion surrounding some of the issues on the agenda. As a result of this meeting, the Senate was sum meeting, the Senate was Bijous, a well-known band able to approve the nomina- from the Virginia-North tions for both the Student Carolina area. Be sure to note Judicial Board and College this event on your calendar for committees. The chairwas the state of the state of the committee of the chairwas the state of the state of were nominated and approved as well. They are: Kevin mittee), Tom Steele (Facilities Committee), and Perry Finney (Elections Committee).

The SGA Homecoming Bash plans are progressing smoothly. Scheduled to appear at the Bash are Nick Flick and the Projectors, who will be opening for Hege V. and the standing Senate committees You won't want to miss it.

Drugs Subject Of Leadership Dinner

by Audra M. Philippon Tuesday evening, President Cater and the Deans called together a large group of student leaders to discuss the problem of drugs on campus. Resident Assistants, Peer Ad-visors, fraternity and sorority heads, the Executive Board of the SGA, and the members of the leadership council were all invited. Over dinner in Hynson Lounge, students listened to several presentations regar-ding the College's position on drug use and the potential legal drug use and the potential legal ramifications of drug use. "I thought I would be in sad neglect of my duty if I didn't do everything I could to increase awareness...the College is not a sanctuary...the forces of law and order have the same ac-cess on campus as they do off," said Cater. The purpose of the meeting, according to Dean of Students, Maureen McIntire, was to increase student awareness of the drug pro-blem, and to encourage student leaders to spread the message that the College is concerned for the well-being of its students.

"We are concerned about what we hear about drug use on campus. My feeling is that if we have any number students experiencing academic or social difficulty ... we do have a problem - and we 'said McIntire

One of the first speakers State Attorney for Kent County, Fred Price, outlined the present penalties for the possession and distribution of controlled dangerous substances (CDS), as the law refers to the kind of drugs most likely to be present at Washington College - mara-juana, cocaine, PCP, and LSD. Price reminded students that they are not immune from the law just because they live on campus. Chestertown Police investigations have led to four student arrests at the College in the past two years. Two of those students have already those students have already served time in the State Penitentiary in Baltimore. "I thought Fred Price was duly scary," commented to the College duly scary," commented Associate Dean of the College Cater admitted in his talk is a good idea."

— especially drunk driving Alice Berry.

kind of hard to find new ways to say the same thing." How to get the administration's point get the administration's point of concern and caring across to students was a problem voiced during the meeting. Todd Delpriore, RA in Kent house, had mixed feelings about the "I think it (the program) was very intersting The general idea of campus wide participation was a good idea but I don't know what the proper approach (to students)

blem differed among students in the audience, too. Somersel RA Demetri Zeferos doesn't think there is a problem, "a least not as much as last year I think a lot of people are really scared since the people got ar rested last year and went to prison." Lynn Burris, Peer Advisor, agreed: "if there is one (a problem), it's not visible to me." But she added "Especially now that kids are living off-campus, the awareness of drugs and alcohol

What constitutes a drug pro-

How five minutes can change the way you move through

Think of what you can do in five minutes.

Read three pages for English, Write the folks for a few extra bucks. Maybe even get a > burger at the student union. Or you could dramatically change the course of History. Economics. Biology. Or whatever else you may be studying

Just take part in a demonstration of the Macintosh" personal computer from Apple? You'll see how Macintosh can help you work better, faster and smarter. You'll also qualify to win a Trek* 12-speed touring bike. What's more, you'll walk away with a bicycle cap. Absolutely free. And the knowledge that studying so hard has never been so easy. Or so much fun. Macintosh and Trek. Both will do more than help you get ahead. Both will take you anywhere you want to go.

for restrictions and details are as salable at your microscomputer centur. Boycle cape as astable while mpply lasts. Tritife is a trademark of Tritife Bioycle Cosp. © 1985 Apple mpower. Inc., Apple and the Apple lago are registered trademarks of Apple Computer Inc. Macrosolus you trademark of Microsch Laborations. Inc. and is being used with

Emporium Offers Style for Less

ling men's and women's secon-nd apparel, the Cross Street Em-ium is opening from 10-5 Tuesday um is opening from 10-5 Tuesday bugh Friday and from 10-3 on orday. College students can live a 20% discount through the tithree weeks by presenting their by Andrea E. Kehoe Clothing from coats to dresses to lingerie crowds the three rooms of the Cross Street Emporium, a consignme shop located across from the

"We're just loaded down with fall and winter items," said manager Karen Somerville-

She and owner Emma Shivers select clothing, ac-cessories, and even such items as drapes and tablecloths from approximately 1200 consigners - the owners of the articles - the owners of the articles who receive fifty per cent of the price. This price is determined by starting at what the item costs brand new and depreciating according to condition, style, and size-factors which influence demand for the item. Consigners pay a $3.00 service charge which is automatically deducted from their first sales check. The only other charge to consigners one dollar per seasonal Merchandise includes blazers and a large selection of wool sweaters in a range of sizes. Only a few children's items are carried to avoid competition with The Children's Exchange, a consignment show downtown, and women's clothes predominate.

"We women always dominate when it comes to clothes," said Smith, pointing out that many of the men's items are purchased by women who like a more tailored look. Also available are vintage style cocktail dresses and tuxstyle cockan dresses and tux-edos, and sweaters. Such ac-cessories as belts, scarves, gloves, shoes, purses, and a "crazy collection of neckties for Halloween" can also be found, she said

"We need to have an eye for style. We want to emphasize quality and design and styles for college students," she explained. plained.

Among the brand names at the Emporium are Woolrich, LL Bean, Evan Picone, Forenza, Lanz, Calvin Klein, JH Collectables, Pendleton, Levi's, lectables, Pendleton, Lev Lee's and Osh Kosh B'Gosh.

Smith estimated that 35% of smith estimated that 35% of the items were never previously worn more than once or twice. Prices range from 50 cents to 50 dollars, with two fur coats currently in stock mark"We're also negotiable," she said, explaining that while $100 usually buys one outfit retail, it can bring two bags of clothing at the Cross Street Emporium.

atthe cross street Emporium.
Currently in stock are a man's cashmere overcoat, marked at $65 from a retail price of around $250, and a Hungry Pallet dress for $40 rather than the original $250. A That silk dress priced at $40. Thai silk dress, priced at $40, is original no matter what you do," said Smith.

"People don't know what to do with things that are too good to throw away," she said.

To control the deluge, some clothing is stored in a side room and consigners are on an appointment schedule to bring things in. New items are put out each day.

Smith said many college students are consigners and customers at the store. A twenty percent discount with

"People don't know what to do with things that are too good to throw away."

'Right now we're in a stage "Right now we're in a stage where what you wear just doesn't matter if you feel good and are comfortable with it. You can be who you want to be," she said.

Smith said she has noticed a rapid increase in consignments and sales in the last few months, a trend attributed to the lack of Salvation Army boxes.

presentation of college ID through about the third week of October is expected to increase

She encouraged students to ween costumes or Birthday Ball apparel.

"Come in and make yourself

Is Bartending In Your Future?

Certain questions have blagued philosophers for cen-uries: Does God exist? Are numan beings obligated to ollow a moral law? Is a liberal rts education worth a hill of eans, after all?

Of all college students, only niors, who are faced with th spect of graduation, ponder be latter question as they corry whether their education fill land them a job and prode them with the necessities
I yuppie life, things like reign made tennis shoes and meals at vegetarian

off the cuff

Despite those nasty rumors that the majority of the manual aborers on the Eastern Shore de WC grads (a few who careers. Four years of traditional to travel became tional WC weekends make Despite those nasty rumors anted to travel became ligrant workers instead), the ligrant workers instead), the eople in Admissions and areer Development will renaind you that not all former the second of the second waiting in the sun waiting in a bread line. In act, Louis Goldstein, Louis Goldstein, davland's Comptroller and Comptroller and he chairman of WC's Board of isitors and Governors, raduated from this fine inlitution, and Linda Hamilton, actress in such classic films Terminator Black Moon Rising," took me classes here.

acting aren't among your talents; WC grads are well

Don't despair if politics and students here apt bartenders and familiarity with the col-lege grapevine is the best preparation for any future gossip columnist. For those who'd like to remain on the Eastern Shore, there are always jobs for people skilled at picking crabs or embroider-

Even with career possibilities such as these, some majors still harbor concerns about their future prospects. The op-portunities are dazzling for them, too.

ing ducks on clothes.

English majors, for example, become annoyed when always asked if they plan to teach but can take heart in the fact they are the only consumers able to recognize the symbolism to be found in the directions on bottles of cleaning products. They can look forward to a job working for a forward to a job working for a former business major whose memos they will secretly cor-rect in red pen to make the nouns and verbs agree.

6-PACK OF SODA

All Varieties

*1.69

Same price as chain stores. At the Coffee House

Also at risk in the job market Also at risk in the job market are Art majors, who can earn a living teaching ceramics to bored housewives or can open a store that sells only black clothing. They won't worry about making a great deal of money as long as they can smoke a lot and criticize the Establishment.

While philosophy majors realize they are also deadweight on the job market, they take an existentialist view and question the whole purpose of getting a job. Secretly, though, they harbor grandiose ambitions and eventually become syndicated political columnists, where they will make allusions only other philosophy majors can understand.

For those who can't envision themselves in any of these careers and who can't even land a job making Big Macs, one option remains: grad school.

ATTENTION WRITERS:

The Washington College Review is now accepting applications of poetry, fiction, essays, non-fiction, artwork and photography for its fall '86 issue. Submissions may be given to Cathy Beck, Paul Henderson, Jeremiah Foster, Eric Lorberer or left in the Review mailbox in the Literary House. Deadline for submissions is November 4.

SPORTS

Soccer Stays Intense

game 2-0 in which they are the underdog, but it can be even more frustrating when their team struggles for a 1-1 tie in a game in which they are the favorite.

This was the story for WC soccer this past week as they lost 2-0 to Franklin and Marshall College, and tied 1-1 against St. Mary's College

Senior captain Pat McManamin explained, "We tend to play according to the caliber of our opponents. We seem to rise to the occasion against strong teams, but to weaker teams we lose the style of our game of our game."

Saturday, September 24, the Sho'men literally went "head to head" against the powerful Franklin and Marshall team, but despite a gallant effort, the Sho'men lost, 2-0.

Though the scoreboard reminded them of their loss, the WC soccer team left the field with a positive attitude. In recent years, Franklin and Marshall have dominated the Shoremen, winning games by a seven or eight goal margin, but this time the Shoremen w determined to give F&M all they could handle.

Through the intense physical battle, the Sho'men never let the hard physical play almost resulting in a bench-clearing brawl at one point. Early in the second half, with F&M leading 1-0, the Shoremen suffered the biggest blow of the game when a controversial call by the referee denied the

Cross Country

Shoremen of a goal

Improving by Mike Jenkins

Washington College Cross Country team is "slowly, but surely getting better," stated Coach Don Chatellier. The Sho'men ran against Washington and Lee and Mary Washington Saturday, September 27th

The meet proved to be a challenging one for the seven man team as they placed third. One of the obstacles they had to overcome was the hilly course, which is unfamiliar to the Chestertown area: but Chatellier claims "the team ran reasonably well."

More importantly is the spirit of competition in cross country at Washington College The Sho'men compete with two and three teams at a time to gain experience and give in-dividuals more incentive to push themselves harder. "The more congested the race, the better the chances are to im-prove." said Chatellier.

The next meet will be held The next meet will be held Saturday October 4th against Lynchburg, Virginia State University, and Virginia Com-monwealth University at Lyn-chburg.

Forward Jon Larson had i by John Bodar Forward Jon Larson had in-It's frustrating for both tercepted a pass from the F&M coaches and players to lose a goalie to his sweeperback, and scored on the open net. The referee ruled that the ball had not left the penalty area, and therefore the goal was denied. Later, Larson said, "the goal could have turned the game around for us. It would have tied the score at 1-1, plus we were gaining momentum." The pain and frustration in-reased as F&M scored late in the game to hand the shoremen a heartbreaking 2-0 defeat.

the situation worsened as they were held to a 1-1 tie with St. Mary's College on Tuesday, September 30th.

Coach Bowman stated. "We didn't challenge for head balls and we failed to put together consistent successful passes.

The Shoremen did score midway through the first half wher Tom Bowman put a chip ball from Jon Larson in the lower left corner of the net, but that was all for WC. St. Mary's bounced back and tied the Sho'men Tennis Takes Two score early in the second half

The Shoremen did - have several opportunities to win the game in both regulation and in the two ten minute overtimes, but didn't manage to pull ahead. They failed to con-nect on two indirect kicks inside the penalty box and were unsuccessful on eight cor-nerkick attempts.

Captain Pat McMenamin said, "We didn't play, we wat-ched St. Mary's play. It's a let down, but nothing's completely shot. We're a young team. We'll bounce back and play a solid game against Swar-

The Shoremen hope to pull out a victory when they battle Swarthmore College at home on Saturday, October. 4.

Amity Bakery and Coffee Shop

Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookles, Special Occasion Cakes On Order Breaklast 5 A.M.-11 A.M Lunch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228 Mon.-Sat. 5 A.M.-5 P.M. Sunday 5 A.M.-2 P.M.

> Shoreman's Pit Beef 513 Washington Avenue Chestertown, Maryland

Phone 778-2333 (Located behind Mobil Station on Rte. 213)

OPEN PIT BEEF SANDWICHES BBO SPARE RIBS

Mon.-Thurs. 11 a.m. to 8 p.r. Fri.-Sat. 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Closed Sundays

WE CASH CHECKS!

Teamwork! Sho'women volleyball met their Dickinson opponents on the home court Sat. Sept. 27. At right Kim Madigan and Sue Coulter rise together to block the Dickinson attack.

For the second consecutive ear the Washington College

Men's Tennis Team captured the Haverford College Invitational Tennis Tournament held at Haverford College September 13-14th. Last year the Shore Netters upset Division I Lehigh University, and Division II power West Chester State University, in addition to Haverford. This year the Shoremen successful-ly defended their title by shutting-out host Haverford 9-0, ripping MAC Southwest champion Franklin & Marshall champion Franklin & Marshall 8-1, and trimming Division I anova University 6-3.

In all 3 matches, the Shoremen clinched their victories after the singles com-petition. WC's "top 6" — Ale-jandro Hernandez, Claudio Gonzalez, David Marshall, Ross Coleman, Rich Phoebus, and Bill Shaw scored 17 wins out of 18 singles matches. Col-eman, Phoebus, and Shaw never dropped a set in all three of their matches. Hernandez was the only one to lose a match. The senior All-American fell to Villanova's Mike Rouse 6-4, 1-6, 6-2. Gonzalez was a three-set winner over Haverford's Bruce Berque, and Marshall needed only three sets to drop Greg Acker- fall.

Having only one week to savor their triumphs at Haver—Maximo was placed in the starsaver unen tituspine an trainer. In the was pince of it for stars as a fall campaign by crossing the Maximo's first of the fall and it Chesapeake Bay on Tuesday came at a most opportune September 23 to battle the time. The Dover native's win Naval Academy in Annapolis. assured the Shoremen of vicalejandro Hernandez stop- tory before the doubles com-

ped Navy's Kink White 6-3, 6-3 at No. 1 singles, but that was the only victory the Shoremen could claim as they bowed to the Middies 7-1. Ross Coleman was on the brink of victory, leading 5-2 in the 3rd set, when he twisted his ankle and was forced to retire. Coleman will be out of the line-up for three

David Marshall nearly pull-ed his match out at No. 3 singles as he went 3 sets only to lose 7-5 in the final set. Gonzales, Phoebus, and Shaw were straight losers. The doubles teams of Hernandez/Pheobus and Marshall/Ganzales suffered their first defeats of the fall after losing pro-sets 8-3, and 8-4 respectively. After their loss to the Mid-clinched WC's fourth win of the and Gray whipped Hoofall.

singles matches Hernandez impressively stopped Ken Crowthers 6-1, 6-2. Crowthers upset Hernandez's doubles partner Enrique Leal last spr ing. Claudio Gonzalez No. 2 and Rich Phoebus, No. 4, annihilated their opponents 6-0, 6-0, and 6-0, 6-0 respectively, while Marshall had a more difficult time defeating the Pioneer's top recruit Felix L'Armond 6-1, 7-5. Shaw, playing at No. 5, suffered the only loss of the day as he fell to Patrick Erickson 7-5, 1-6, 6-0 petition ever began. In other singles matches Hernandez Sophomore Dave Pikus of Milford, Delaware, saw his first action of the year and responded with a 6-3, 6-3 conquest over Toufic Chahine. WC swept all three doubles matshipmen, the Shore Nettmen ches with lopsided scores. The returned home and scored a doubles team of Her-convincing 8-1 victory over a nandez/Phoebus trimmed returned nome and scored a double's team of Her-convincing 8-1 victory over a nandez/Phoebus trimmed talented Widener University L'Armund/Crowthers 6-2, 6-3 team on Saturday September while Marshall/Gonzales 27. Freshmen Vince Maximo's walloped Terista/Ruben 6-0, 6 6-2, 7-5 triumph at No. 6 singles 1. The frosh-tandem of Maximo

> For Sale: Moned

Good condition. Runs well. Can be seen in C-town.

758-2541

EMPLOYMENT

Applications are now being accepted by the Student Union for employment. Applicants must be 21 yrs. of age. Both wages and hours are great!

Apply Now!!

oduction of My Sister In This

My Sister Will Fill House

ween confinement and fantasy-role playing - how each sus-tains the other. It's an interesting mixture of

As Nahmias said, the play is different. Braden commented,

'It's an all female cast. There are voices of men offstage. There's a photographer, there's a judge, and a medical examiner. But you never see them." Cindy Curley added, "I don't think it's for any true reason, there simply aren't any men at this point." Curley went on to hint at the twist in the plot, "There's a growing love between the two sisters."

While set some 53 years ago, the play is modern. "It's a very stark, bare, modern play. I wouldn't go so far as saying minimalistic, though," said

"It's a long one-act play with thirteen scenes. It's just about an hour long," said Maloney. The play has only four members in its cast. Senior

Cathy Beck is Madame Dan-sard, Sophomore Debbie Nahmias is Isabel, Freshman

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Friday 3 Tuesday 7

Back Seat Boogie Band, Coffee House, 9 p.m.-1 a.m.

Film Series: Double Feature Confidentially Yours, and One sings, the other doesn't Norman James Theatre, 7:30

Sunday 5

Film Series Double Feature Confidentially Yours, and One sings, the other doesn't Norman James Theatre, 7:30

Baltimore Monday 6

"How a Book Gets Into Print: The Process of Modern Publishing." Sarah Gearhart, speaker O'Neill Literary House, 4 p.m.

Talk begins at 4:30 p.m

director, Cindy Curley is stage manager and Rick Davis is lighting design. Film Series: Double Feature

Nahmias, who appeared in Men's Night Great Expectations last year, enjoys her part. She commented, "I like it a lot because Trivia Night Coffee House

Thursday 9

My sister in this House, a play by Wendy Kesseleman. Tawes Theatre, 8 p.m.

Things to do Places to go

"Present Laughter" Center Stage Showing until Oct. 19, 332-0033. Walters Art Gallery

Master drawings from Titian to Picasso: The Curtis O. Baer Collection. Through Nov. 2.

Philadelphia

Forrest Theatre 'Biloxi Blues" New Neil Simon Comedy. (215)

Art Blakey and the Jazz Messengers. (215) 849-0760.

Chestertown Movie Theater

"BACK TO SCHOOL"

Hours: Fri.-Sun. 7 8 9 p.m. October 3 - October 9 Mon.-Thurs. 7:45 p.m.

778-1575

Friday Night, Oct. 3, in Coffee House 9 p.m.-1 a.m.

The Wazoo's are Back 50's, 60's and 70's Rock Band

> $2.00 Students $3.00 non-Students

ing the lower-class." Maloney added, "The play portrays the relationship bet-Wendy Snow is Christine, and Leah is played by freshman Emily Lott. Tim Maloney is Drama Department at exte Entertainment Calendar

Friday 3

by David Healey
"It's definitely not a tradi-tional Washington College play," said actress Debbie Nahmias of the first Drama

Department production of the year, Playwrite Wendy Kesselman's My Sister in This House. The story revolves Iround a middle-class bousehold and its four in-babitants, Madame Dansard, her daughter Isabel, and the wo sisters who are their naids, Christine and Leah.

Sophomore Gina Braden explained, "basically it's the tory of two sisters who are working as maids in a middle-class household. It's based on a bizarre killing that happened in Le Mans, France, in 1933."

ccording to Drama Departent Chairman Tim Maloney, it is based on the same incient that inspired the play, The reveals some of the conflicts etween the upper-class and ower-class and the attitude of

be upper-class towards stifl-

Braden continued,

lewtowne Square Pub Pashion'' 73-1984

Saturday 4

bestertown Arts League spon-us fine arts, crafts, garden ir, in historic district of destertown. 10 a.m.-5 p.m., estertown Arts League spon ee. 778-0416

ell Frolic

onsored by Queen Anne's ounty Arts Council. Music, afts, food. Schoolhouse com-ons, Stevensville. 12 p.m.-6 m., free. 643-4020.

Baltimore Symphony Laureate Orchestra
David Zinman, Conductor.
Cecile Licad, Piano. 783-8000, 8:15 p.m.

Newtowne Square Pub "Fashion" 778-1984

Sunday 5

A Harbor Fest Benefit for Historic St. Michael's Bay. Hundred, Inc. Hambleton Inn, St. Michaels. 1 p.m. 745-5103.

Monday 6

Robert Penn Warren Free reading by Poet

Auditorium, Library of Con-gress, 8 p.m.

I'm usually typecast as an older woman. Now I'm playing a younger part." Juggling a schoolwork and a drama production has been difficult.

'There's so much I have to do

I'm looking forward to finally

Lott said of her involvement

"I went out because I want to be a drama major. I'm very in-terested in the theatre." She

Nahmias, Maloney, and Curley

"Fortunately I got a added "Fortunately I got a role, which is surprising since so many people had gone out. I was excited." The workload is difficult, "It's a lot... But I don't mind because I really enjoy it. It's a fun play." Lot also mentioned the help that Beck, getting it on stage

Wednesday 8

Delaware Symphony
Tidewater Performing Arts
Society '86-'87 series. Talbot Auditorium. Easton County Auditorium. Easton High School, 7:30 p.m. Call 822-7370 for tickets.

Thursday 9

Philosophy in History Discussion group led by WC professors. Talbot County Free Library. 11 a.m.

FINALLY A FREE FLIGHT PLAN JUST FOR STUDENTS. YOU WON'T GET A BREAK LIKE THIS ONCE YOU'RE OUT IN THE REAL WORLD.

INTRODUCING COLLEGIATE FLIGHTBANK, FROM CONTINENTAL AND NEW YORK AIR.

If you're a full-time student at an accredited college or university you can join our Collegiate FlightBank." You'll receive a membership card and number that will allow you to get 10% off Continental and New York Air's already low fares. In addition, you'll get a one-time certificate good for $25 off any domestic roundrip flight. Plus, you'll be able to earn trips to places like Florida, Derwer, Los Angeles, even London and the South Pacific. Because even time you fly you'll earn mileage towards a free trip. And if you sign up now you'll also receive 3 free sisses of BusinessWeek Careers magazine.

This Porsche 924 can be yours if you are the national referral champion.

SIGN UP YOUR FRIENDS AND EARN A PORSCHE.

But what's more, for the 10 students on every campus who enroll the most active student flyers from their college there are some great rewards: 1 free trip wherever Continental or New York Air flies in the mainland U.S., Mexico or Canada.

Or the grand prize, for the number one student referral champion in the nation: a Porsche and one year of unlimited coach air travel.

And how do you get to be the referral champion? Just sign up as many friends as possible, and make sure your membership number is on their application. In order to be eligible for any prize you and your referrals must sign up before 12/31/86 and each referral must fly 3 egyments on Continental or New York Air before 6/15/87. And you'll not only get credit for the enrollment, you'll also get 500 bonus miles.

So cut the coupon, and send it in now. Be sure to include your current full time student ID number. That way it'll only cost you $10 for one year ($15 after 11/31/86) and $40 for four years ($60 after 12/31/86). Your membership kit, including referral forms, will arrive in 3 to 4 weeks. If you have a credit card, you can call us at 1.800.255-4321 and enroll even faster.

Now more than ever it pays to stay in school.

| Name  | Date of Birth   |  |  |
|---|---|--|--|
| College   | Address   |  |  |
|   | Zip   |  |  |
| Permanent Address   | Zip   |  |  |
| Full time student ID #  | Year of Gradustion  |  |  |
| $ Check/Money Orde   | r Enclosed PLEASE DON'T SEND CASH  Visa  MasterCard  Diner's Club |  |  |
| Account Number  | Expiration Date   |  |  |
| Signature X   |   |  |  |
| FOR MEMBERSHIP APPLICANTS UNDER THE AGE OF 18: The undersigned is the parentguardian of the membership applicant named hereon, and I consent to his/her participation in theCollegater High Bank program. |   |  |  |
| Signature X   |   |  |  |

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 6

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, October 10, 1986

Middle States Team To Visit

by Audra M. Philippon In 1983, the Middle States Association of Schools and Colleges reaccredited Washington College. Every ten years before its visit, the MSA requires that the college perform comprehensive self-study and identify its own strengths and weaknesses. As a result of the visit and the conclusions of the College's self-study, the MSA requested that four a of the College be examined fur-ther. Those four areas were: academic enhancement pro-grams, administrative organization, long range planning, and final equilibrium MSA also gave the College three years to strengthen these areas, and this week, three evaluators from MSA are here to inspect the progress made in those areas. As required by MSA suggestions, the College has prepared a summary of changes and improvements made in the identified areas of Academic enhancements new to the College in 1983 included the Writing Program. cluded the Writing Program, the Business Management Ma-jor, the Honors Program, the Freshmen Common Seminar, the "3-2" Engineering Pro-gram, Academic Computing, and faculty development. Most of these programs were still in the pilot stage when the MSA team visited last, and now all have been operating several years, so more informed evaluations can be made.

The team suggested more attention be spent on the struc-ture of the College's ad-ministration. "Particulars inministration. "Particulars in-cluded the organization and functioning of our Board of Visitors and Governors; the availability of a tale of organization and of job descriptions which reflect the actual functioning of the Col-lege; improvements of lines of communication throughout the organization; and the organization of our academic elements," states the sum-mary written by the Steering

WC Student Convicted

by Harris Whitbeck by Harris WhitDeck Charles Bell, the Washington College senior who was ar-rested last spring on drug charges, pleaded guilty last Friday at his trial in Chester-lown's Count Count town's Circuit Court.

pearance last Friday he was convicted on one count of possession with intent to distribute. He is now scheduled for a disposition hearing where he will be sentenced to a split-suspended sentence of five years, meaning he will serve Accused of possession of actions of the distribute, Bell was detained the plant of the distribute and the di

Since the MSA visit, the functions of many of the College's departments have been ex-amined, including: the Board; the offices of the President, the Dean, Student Affairs, the Registrar; the computing center; the Library; Admis-sions; Development and College Relations; Office of Finance; buildings and grounds; and the Dining Ser-

Aspects of long range plann-ing like physical plant and Master Plan, various ad-ministrative committees, Student life and attrition, Finan-cial health, and institutional research. Financial equilibrium concerns led to studies of accounting procedures, capital improvement, development, and the endowment policy.

"It's very ordinary (of the MSA) to require colleges to submit an update 18 months to three years of progress made on areas of concern," said Dr. Steven Cades, acting Chair-man of the Steering Committees and also a MSA evaluator.
"I'm looking forward to this visit personally. In those areas we identified, we have made great improvements" since the visit in 1983.

Cades explained the purpose of MSA visits: "All that MSA does is make sure an institution does what it says it does. All American colleges and universities undergo this kind universities undergo this kind of inspection, whether it is by private, regional agencies like MSA, or by specific vocational agencies. MSA handles the accontinued on page 4

Off-Campus Housing Causes Confusion

Because of Minta Martin renovations, the delays in the construction of the Hollows Townhouse project, and a sizeable increase in enrollment, almost 100 returning up-perclassmen who had applied for on campus housing were offered housing in one of the eleven off-campus housing scattered throughout Chestertown. During the sum-mer, the college administration reached toward the out-side community for assistance eventually rent more apartment spaces in three private homes, The Hills Inn, and seven renovated apartments, six of which were novated through the Hogans

Real Estate Agency.
The displaced students were given the option of either ren-ting off-campus housing arranged through the college or finding housing on their own. The students choosing the first option had to sign a lease with option had to sign a lease with a leasing agent. The college business office co-signed the lease. Associate Dean of Students, Ed Maxcy explained the procedure: "The student would have to sign a lease and responsible for upholding his/her end of the lease, except there would be no worry of eviction by not paying the rent. This also insures to the owner that there will be someone to cover any possible damages.

Students, however, have aised concerns regarding their off-campus housing that neither Student Affairs, the Business Office, Maintenance, nor the owners of the buildings can answer.

"The biggest problem is not knowing who to go to if there is a problem," said off-campus Resident Assistant Rita Brigman. With maintenance questions, the college administration and the maintenance department find themselves burdened with many problems that are not technically their responsibili-ty; and students are finding that the landlords of the properties involved have either been not honoring their responsibilities or have been conve-niently inaccessable.

'I had a great deal of trouble trying to get landlords to res-pond in clearing up pro-blems...and in one case, even finishing an apartment. As far as I know, one apartment in the Evans building on 200 High Street is still not finished," said Jim Quinn, Assistant to the Vice President of Finance.

According to Quinn, the apartment in question has yet to have electrical work completed. The apartment, one of six leased by Frank Hogan, Jr.

isolated occurance, said Quinn. "Our main concern is trying to get the major concerns out of the way before dealing with small maintenance," he said, adding that "up until last week there were still outside doors there were still outside dools without adequate locks...no electrical hook-ups in one kit-chen..and bathrooms without electricity.'' To Quinn's electricity." To Quinn's knowledge, all the apartments experiencing major problems are leased to the college by the Hogan Agency.

"All the apartments were completed as agreed," said Hogan during a phone interview. Yet when presented with a list of complaints of unfinished projects unique to his apartments, Hogan refused to give any comment.

My understanding is that it is the landlord's responsibility is the landlord's responsibility to keep the apartments liveable," said Bill Coleman, Director of Campus Maintenance. "We really can't Maintenance. "We really can to do any maintenance without asking the owner," said Col-eman, adding "But if any of the kids has had a serious prokids has had a serious pro-blem, like a broken pipe or something, we wouldn't hesitate to do emergency maintenance."

Coleman said that college maintenance can't spend a great deal of money and man power on property which they weren't responsible for. On occasion, Quinn and Coleman have had to do maintenance themselves due to a lack of response by the owner, such as installing door locks and cut-ting grass at the Hills Inn.

ting grass at the Hills Inn.

According to three offcampus resident assistants,
there have been few problems or complaints. R.A. Jack Gilden said that everyone in his building "loves prefer it over dormitory liv-ing." Chris Kane, the R.A. at the Hills Inn, said that continued on page 4

Inside:

Trick-or-Treat Honor Society Religion Hockey Victory

Tessem Arts

"Perversion"

How To Choose

A Major 101

An academic rite of passage, the declaration of a major area of study by college sophomores signifies perhaps the "true" transition to upper-classman status. Everpresent in each newly-labeled student's mind is the realization that now a definite and truthful answer can be given to the second most common half serious question asked on a college campus. Following cleasity partial "Arey you 11" is manif-slat inquiry to drouzes "What's your main."

jort."

Altitudely the process by which the average sophomore closes his or her major could be the subject of a doctoral dissertation due to the many factors involved. Despite the complexity of the decision process, some students have recently questioned whether or not sophomores, when it comes time to seek the signature of some department chairman, are making adequately whether or not sophomores, wasn't comes time to seek us signature of some department chairman, are making adequately. Brought to the attention of the Dean recently by four members of the Lambda Chi raternity, this concern will be dealt with later this month with the start of a series of informal faculty student discussion seasons entitled "An Evening Series, Majors At baped by the students who expressed a need for such a program—several who felt that their personal decisions could have been better informed—that it will put sophomores in a more advantageous position when selecting a major.

At a time of the series of the series of discussion sessions with department chairpersons, it seems, could help deuted liberal arts students in more ways than one about choosing a majors. Beaddes informing freshmen and sophomores about the different departmental majors, the series could help deuted liberal arts students in more ways than one about choosing a majors. Beaddes informing freshmen and sophomores about the different departmental majors, the series could help deuted in the series of the series of the control of the series of the series of the control of the series of the series role should an undergraduate liberal arts education play in planning for a cares of "We, as liberal arts closic, an obligation to its students see that the liberal arts ideal is not lost in this age of increased see that the liberal arts ideal is not lost in this age of increased seems of the control of t

Washington College Elm

Editors News Editor . . Features Editor

| Arts/Entertainment EditorSports EditorPhotography Editor                 |          | Chris Wiant    |
|--|----------|----------------|
| Managing Editor  | Managers | Aliana Sharter |
| National Advertising ManagerLocal Advertising ManagerCirculation Manager |          | Michelle Royal |

The Ein is the official student newspaper of Washington College. The Ein is published every Friday during the academic year with the sccep not a viscation and exam weak.

Ein is published every Friday during the academic year with the sccep not a viscation and exam weak.

Commentation of the College of th

Mom's Cookie Jar

Hope everyone enjoyed the Steak and Lobster Jamboree Thursday night. Personally, after seeing those darling live lobsters in the tank, I chose the While paging through a "Facts and Fitness" pam-phlet, I came upon an in-teresting little tidbit. Ten percent of the population salt their food before tasting, and ter percent taste before salting tasting, and ten After reading this little-known bit of trivia, my question was, "What do the other eighty percent do?"

Only three more weeks now until Halloween. To celebrate

For those of you who read this occasion, the WCDS is this article regularly, I hope you will keep in mind (or keep planing a Transylvania dinner. The WCDS staff encourages all of you to come to dinner that a written list) all the types of cookies mentioned in each evening dressed in your most ghoulish costume. weekly article. At the end of this semester there will be a contest to see who Next Wednesday is our Oktoberfest celebration. Although all the plans are not remembered the most types of cookies mentioned. The winner will receive a cookie jar filled yet finalized, I guarantee you'll enjoy a very festive evening. At this time I would like to extend a special thanks to Charlotte Post for all her help.

Since the beginning of the semester she's always there when I need a poster done, a letter written, or people to conwith five dozen assorted gourmet cookies (Isn't this a sneaky way to get readers?). Well, that's all for this week My orange meringue cookies are ready to come out of the So until next

robert pennington CHESTERTOWN 778-6211 ROCKVILLE 881-0992

CONGRATULATIONS ZETA'S &

Death Rate Would Rise Without 55

In 1974 the Arab Oil Embargo caused In 1974 the Arab Oli Embargo caused the United States Government to enact a 55 m.p.h. speed limit. When the na-tional limit was imposed the highway death toll dropped drastically from 55,000 deaths in 1973 to 46,000 in 1974. since then oil prices have dropped, and with this decrease has come creased clamor for a higher speed

As it stands, if more than 50 percent of the drivers in a state violate the limit the U.S. Department of transportation can withhold up to 10 percent of the state's highway funds. States that are especially flat and characterized by wide open spaces such as Nebraska or Nevada have come perilously close to losing their funds through blatant disregard of the 55 limit by drivers there discrepencies between state penalties for violation of the speed limit vary from $100 fines with additional license penalties to a $5 fine for "wasting motor fuel." Yet polls con-

Elizabeth Rollins

sistently show the majority of the na-tion in favor of the 55 m.p.h. limit. It would appear that the public votes dif-ferently with its voice than with its gas

The main objection to the limit (aside from the loss of the obvious joy of high speed driving) is the time lost in travel when obeying the limit. Many pro-testors ask why they should spend 7 hours when they could spend 5 travel-ing through Ohio. In concurrence with view, a prediction was made that raising the speed limit to 65 m.p.h. on rural highways could cause up to 500 lives and 500 serious injuries per year; but around 100 years in driving time would be saved. The issue here is obviously which is more important, an hour or a life?

Recently, House Leaders proposed a higher limit on rural interstates if the states agree to ban radar detectors and enforce a mandatory seatbelt law. This agreement will hold only if the states demonstrate a 65 percent compliance

This compromise appears to be fair enough, but will it be enough? Once the speed limit is raised to so m.p.n., peo-ple might begin to argue that 70 m.p.h. is a rounder number and, well, hell, you're already going 65 — what harm can there be in five more numbers? speed limit is raised to 65 m.p.h., peo-Why change a system that already works? This entire issue rivals that of sex and religion in importance in this sex and rengion in importance in this country; aren't there more important issues out there for true-blooded Americans to dispute? Why don't we take off our lead shoes for a while and discuss something really important the country of the country like, oh, nuclear disarmament perhaps? Elizabeth Rollins is a

Freshman from Alexandria, Virginia

Should The National 55 M.P.H. ISSUE: Speed Limit Be Abolished?

Michael Rudin Holden, Massachusetts

"I think it all came because of the OPEC oil embargo and now we have oil so let's use it while we have it. If you raise the limit you have to have stricter enforcement but that's the only difference really. Besides I like to stick my head out the window and make my eyes water.

Shawn Prendergast Baltimore, Maryland

"I think that because peo-ple already go 10 miles an hour over the speed limit, the unspoken speed limit is about 60 or 65. If we raised the speed limit people would be going 75 or 80 miles an hour and there would be more accidents

Dean Hebert Centreville, MD

"I disapprove because I'm a speed racer and I drive real fast. I'm just usually in a hurry whenever I go anywhere and around here it's mostly big spaces and there isn't much traffic."

Amy Tidball Bucyrus, Ohio

"I disapprove of it because, if the fastest speed you can handle a car at is 55, you shouldn't be driving.

Baltimore, Maryland

"It's just another example of the hobnailed boot of the Fascist government crushing it's wrong for the government to blackmail the states into following a law that they no longer agree with."

Campus Voices

by Michele Balze

Need For Higher Speed Limit Is Obvious

The 55 m.p.h. speed limit is an idea whose time has come and gone. During the oil embargo of 1973-74 it was needed being enhanced by help conserve fuel. In this day on the help conserve fuel in this day of the help conserve fuel in this day of the help conserve fuel in this day of the help conserve fuel in the hel not the whole story. Recent studies by the Department of Transportation incate that death rates continued to fall even though drivers exceeded the pre-sent limit. The decline is attributed to two factors, namely stricter enforce-ment of drunk driving laws (50% of all auto accidents are alcohol related) and mandatory seat belt laws. These two actors are for more effective life savng measures than a 55 m.p.h. limit. The National Regulatory commistion maintains that an increase to a 65 m.p.h. limit would cost some 500 lives and 500 serious injuries a year on in-terstates. It must be taken into con-sideration, however, that the NRC's figures are merely projection. Once more, 90% of all U.S. traffic fatalities do not occur on interstate highways.

The economic costs of the 55 limit are also too great. The present speed limit raises travel time by 21% from travel time of the old 70 m.p.h. limit. This extra time equals an entire working month for the traveling salesman or trucker who drives 45,000 to 50,000 miles a year.

Polls taken show that 70% of the population is in favor of the 55 m.p.h. limit. These poll results, however, hide regional and demographic discrepancies. Support of the 55 m.p.h. limit is less than 50% in most Western States where driving distances are greatest. Is it fair to allow the urban Northeast dictate to the Western States what speed they should drive?

The most damning evidence against the 55 m.p.h. limit comes from a study released by Northwestern university this summer. The study shows that the major cause of traffic accidents is the different rates of speeds at which drivers travel. The study suggests that if all drivers traveled the same speed the number of highway fatalities wou decrease dramatically. Considering that 75% of vehicles on monitored stretches of road exceed the speed limit, the need for a set high speed limit becomes obvious. It is safer for all of us to drive at a given rate of speed than it is for us to exceed the present limit at random speeds.

Perry Finney

The 55 m.p.h. limit is not widely enforced by states nor is it widely obeyed by the public. Instead of inanely attempting to enforce it or trying to make tempting to entorce it or trying or in-the public accept it, we should simply scrap it. States should be given the right to set their own speed limits to end the nonsense the present limit creates.

Perry Finney is a sophomore from Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

Philosophy Society Opens Chapter On Campus

Here at WC, there is an association whose primary purpose is to promote ties between philosophy departments in accredited institutions and interested philosophy students nationally. The organization, the Phi Sigma Tau National the Phi Sigma Tau National Honor Society in Philosophy, was founded at Muhlenburg College in 1930. With its national headquarters at Mar-quette University in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, the society now comprises a network of over sixty chapters throughout the United States. These chapters are present in both public and private institu tions of higher learning.

These chapters are held together in many ways, one of which is the Phi Sigma Tau journal entitled "Dialogue". Published tri-anually, it is devoted to publishing articles by graduate and under graduate students represen ting all areas of contemporary philosophical interest.

is called the Maryland Delta chapter. The WC chapter ad-visor, Dr. Newell, Professor of Philosophy and Director of Graduate Education, said that "the WC club is made of WC students, for WC students." Officers for the 1986-87 academic year are as follows: President, Laura Stevens; Vice President, Caty Coundjeris; and Secretary/Treasurer, Ayn

The primary purpose of the chapter is to hold meetings in which interested students and faculty members may meet in small discussion groups-a lux ury not always available within the philosophy pro-gram. Stated Newell: "We'd like students to debate things of interest to them." Student participation and input plays a crucial role.

To become a member of the society, one must be in the up-per 35% of their class. In addition, each member must have had at least three courses in sophy or religion in which an average of 3.67 was attained (three A's and one B). On becoming a member, you receive a Phi Sigma Tau Key, a certificate, and a member-ship card. Members are also recognized on the program at Commencement.

Upon graduating, members of the local chapter are eligible to belong to the Naational to belong to the reactional Alumni Chapter. This way one-time members of local chapters can stay in contact with the society. These with the society. These members continue to receive issues of "Dialogue," which maintains communication between members. The first meeting for this year's Maryland Delta chapter, to be held on Oct. 20th, sponsored by the Career Development center. This mill feature Brooks Development cente event will feature Jackson, now a management trainee for E.F. Hutton, who will give a presentation entitled "Philosophy Meets Wall Street" at 7:30 p.m., followed by the chapter meeting. Newell emphasized that "We would like to invite anyone who would like to come to the meeting on the 20th. It is open to all students." The chapter, which will meet twice this semester will, according to Newell, "Be student-oriented." In addition to these meetings, a picnic will be held in the spring for an induction-type ceremony.

Global Symposium

"Conversation on the Chesapeake," Washington College's annual symposium on global issues, is set for Saturday, October 11 at 5:00 p.m. in Norman James Theatre. The Conversation continues Col-lege President Douglass Cater's State of the College address about manipulation of information. It coincides with the events of the past week concer-ning government "disinforma-tion" and Col. Kadafi. A reception on the Miller Library Terwill follow the symposium

Several foreign policy ex erts are expected to par perts ticipate in a panel discussion moderated by College Presi-dent Douglass Cater, including Arthur W. Hummel Jr., former Ambassador to the Republic of China, Hodding Carter III, China, Hodding Carter III, former State Department spokesman on foreign policy, Nancy Dickerson, former White House correspondent, Raymond L. Scherer, former White House correspondent, and Najeeb Halaby, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, American University in Beirut

Homecoming Weekend

Washington College's '86 at 8:30 p.m. Iomecoming Weekend will Saturday Homecoming kick-off on Friday evening, October 17, with the 6th annual banquet and induction of the Athletic Hall of Fame. There Athletic Hall of Fame. There will be a cash bar and hors d'oeuvres beginning at 6:30 p.m. in Hynson Lounge, followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. Tickets for the banquet are $15 per person. The Hall of Fame's induction of athletes will begin nduction of athletes will begin

Saturday will feature several alumni sports events. To begin at 10:30 a.m., while a lacrosse match is planned for 3:00 p.m. The day will end with a beef and fish barbeque at the Leila Hynson pavilion on the river at 5 p.m. The public is invited to attend the barbeque. Tickets are $8 for adults and $4 for children

MSA Evaluates WC

continued from page 1

crediting of all the institutions of higher education in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, and West Virginia. is unique to American education that we have these private accrediting organizations that basically ensure truth in advertising," said on campus October 14-16th, and students are encouraged to speak to them candidly. Students who wish to make an appointment with one of the evaluators or leave a note may do so through the Dean's Of-fice. Evaluators are required to respect confidence. Copies of the Steering Committee's summary of improvements made are also available in the

Halloween Coming

by Audra M. Philippon

'Handing out candy to children is great for getting in the Halloween spirit," says Sue the Halloween spirit," says sue DePasquale, organizer of Trick-or-Treating on campus for local children for the past two years. On Halloween night, Friday the 31st, professors' children and local Chestertown children are again invited to trick-or-treat in the dorms

Sign-up sheets will be posted on all hall bulletin boards Monday, October 13th for any students who wish to par-ticipate. All dorms are welcome to get involved. Students' doors will be marked goblins will know at which rooms to stop. Trick-orrooms to stop. Trick-or-Treating will be held between 5:15 and 6:45 p.m. Halloween

1 1 19 X

Each year the number of children trick-or-treating has grown. This year we're expecting a record crowd," said DePasquale. At best count, nearly 150 children came to campus last year, dressed in costume to visit dorm rooms.

In the past, some students decorated their rooms, hallways, and lounges to make the walk around campus even more exciting. Imagination is encouraged.

Slow Progress On Housing Problems

continued from page 1

everyone there was happy and that no major problems arose,, except that at one point, the oil ran out and there was no hot water for two days.

"Progress is moving slower than I had hoped," said Quinn, who said that for several weeks there was little or no response from Hogan. According to Quinn, "I've met with Hogan several times and he has hired a full-time carpenter and plumber specifically for the students...due mostly to my constant calling and check-

"All student complaints are valid," said Dean Maxcy, "but it also must involve an adaption on the part of the students from dormatory living to living in an older apartment not equipped to handle several college students with computers, stereos, coffee pots, and hair dryers." According to Maxcy, has been a learning experience for everyone involved. If we had done this in the past, we would know who to turn to with each problem." Many students, in response to the new problems en-countered by off-campus housing have begun to organize for immediate action to present their problems and receive a faster response in the future. The SGA recently appointed Tom Steele Chairman of the Student Facilities Committee a standing committee of the

Steele voiced a fear that because it is leasing to college students, many realtors will at tempt to avoid repairs, blam-ing problems on the irrespons-ble conduct of the student residents. Quinn acknowledge this as a problem that has already come up and one expects to have to deal with in the

How five minutes can change the way you move through college.

In five minutes you could change the course of History. And any other subject you may be studying.

Just take part in a demonstration of the Macintosh™ personal computer from Apple."

You'll see how Macintosh can help you work better, faster and,

perhaps best of all, smarter.

You'll also qualify to win a Trek® 12-speed touring bike. And you'll walk away with a free bicycle cap. Macintosh and a Trek bike.

Both will do more than help you get ahead. Both will take you anywhere you want to go.

Offer restrictions and details are as astable at your inscrincempater center. Buycle cape a satable whole supply tasts. Trek* a a trasformerk of Trek Buycle Crep. D. 1986 pepte. Computer: Inc., Ripide and the Apple tops are registered trasformarks of Apple Computer. Inc. Macinisch as a trasformark of Michinoch Laboratory. Inc. and bening lead at this capters permission.

FINALLY A FREE FLIGHT PLAN JUST FOR STUDENTS. YOU WON'T GET A BREAK LIKE THIS ONCE YOU'RE OUT IN THE REAL WORLD.

INTRODUCING COLLEGIATE FLIGHTBANK, FROM CONTINENTAL AND NEW YORK AIR.

If you're a full-time student at an accredited college or university you can join our Collegiate FlightBank." You'll receive a membership card and number that will allow you to get 10% off Continental and New York Air's already low fares. In addition, you'll get a one-time certificate good for $25 off any domestic roundtrip flight. Plus, you'll be able to earn trips to places like Florida, Denver, Los Angeles, even London and the South Pacific. Because even time you fly you'll earn mileage towards a free trip. And if you sign up now you'll also receive 3 free sissues of Business Week Careers magazine.

This Porsche 924 can be yours if you are the national referral champion.

SIGN UP YOUR FRIENDS AND EARN A PORSCHE.

But what's more, for the 10 students on every campus who enroll the most active student flyers from their collerare some great rewards: I free trip wherever Contine. Or New York Air flies in the mainland U.S., Mexico or Canada.

Or the grand prize, for the number one student referral champion in the nations a Porsche and one year of unlimited coach air trayel.

And how do you get to be the referral champion? Just sign up as many friends as possible, and make sure your membership number is on their application. In order to be eligible for any prize you and your referrals must sign up before 12/31/86 and each referral must fly 3 segments on Continental or New York Air before 6/15/87. And you'll not only get credit for the enrollment, you'll also get 500 bonus miles.

So cut the coupon, and send it in now. Be sure to include your current full time student ID number. That way it'll only cost you $10 for one year ($15 after 12/31/86) and $40 for four years ($60 after 12/31/86). Your membership kir, including referral forms, will arrive in 3 to 4 weeks. If you have a credit card, you can call us at 1800-255-4321 and enroll even faster.

Now more than ever it pays to stay in school.

| SIGN ME UP NOW! (Please print of type)  Name   | 1 Year ($101 □ 2 Years ($201 □ 3 Years ($301 □ 4 Years ($40)Must be submitted by 12/31/86.□ Date of Birth. |  |
|--|--|--|
| College  | Address  |  |
|  | Zip  |  |
| Permanent Aildress   | Zip  |  |
| Full time student ID #   | Year of Graduation   |  |
| $ Check/Money Order Encksed PLEASE DON'T SEND CASH  American Express   Visa   MasterCard   Diner's Club   |  |  |
| Account Number   | Expiration Date  |  |
| Signature X  |  |  |
| FOR MEMBERSHIP APPLICANTS UNDER THE AGE OF 18: The undersigned is the paresgoardian of the membership applicant named hereon, and I consent to his/her participation in theCollegiore Flight-Bank program. |  |  |
| Signature X  |  |  |
| <ul> <li>Send this coupon to: Collegiate Flight BanP.O. Box 297847Houston, TX 77297</li> </ul>   | k 786  |  |
| Complete terms and conditions of program will  | Accomption and broken by   |  |

Religion Plays Part In Student Lifestyles

by Andrea E. Kehoe
"It's something you can always come back to as a foundation or almost as a refuge. It fulfills a need," said junior psychology major Ruth Davidson, ex-plaining her membership in Campus planning ner memoersing in Campus Christian Fellowship. Since she joined as a freshman, Davidson has seen this group of Washington College, students who gather weekly for prayer and Bible study grow from three to four members to approximately thirty. This reflects a national trend of increasing interest in Christianity among college and high school-age students

'Students today are more futureoriented about everything in life," said "They want more than to just look at themselves in the smaller picture - they want to see how they fit into the larger picture with God in it.

Siemen said the current religious revival, unlike the Jesus movement of the late sixties, is not merely a reaction to decaying moral standards but, at least on the WC level, indicates that students of the eighties are more

A variety of Christian religions from Mennonite to Baptist to Roman Catholic — are represented in fellowship, he said, though non-Christians are welcome. While the fellowship, he said, though non-Christians are welcome. While the group considers the Bible "the fun-damental means through which God speaks to us," Siemen said they are not fundamentalist and dislike the associa-tion with the religious right.

People like to affiliate with people who have the same beliefs, values and opinions. Fellowship offers a chance to meet others with likeminded concerns and interests," he explained. Davidson agreed. "I can spend time with others who have a priority in God rather than themselves. It helps me get a perspective on what's important.

Although raised as a Presbyterian, Davidson said she, was not "a strong Christian" until she came to WC and met members of the fellowship. She now attends the Methodist Church in Chestertown and said she tries to express her faith through her treatment

'My belief in Christ is the foundation of how I operate as a person; it's who I am. It's the most important part of my life," she said

"I want to serve my church..."

Some students find their religious beliefs so strong they consider dedicating their lives to their faith.

Senior Kevin Crowell, a history major, once planned to take vows as a Roman Catholic priest. After spending two years at West Point Academy in New York, which he found too militaristic and disciplined, he lived at the St. John Neumann Residence in New York City for a year with 35 other young men interested in the priesthood. The atmopshere was like that of a seminary, with daily mass and weekend retreats, but the residents attended college instead of having theological studies.

His dislike of the city took him to a similar program in New Jersey, where he specialized in work with children by going to a youth center in Harlem every other weekend and teaching Sun-day School in a parish there. When he came to WC last semester, he began to doubt his desire to enter the priesthood.

"I know I loved God and wanted to serve him in some way. I thought the way to do it was to become a priest. As time went on, I found it was not the only way," he said.

Crowell felt he would struggle with the commitment of celibacy and decid-ed he was not called to become a priest. He now plans to teach and coach in a Catholic high school and maintains his faith by praying daily and attending mace five times each week

as something to make them look better.

There's a lot of superficial religiousity he said.

While he emphasized that religion should not be forced upon people, Crowell views faith as an integral part

"People have lost meaning in their lives. Why are we here - just to acquire money and prestige and have as good time as we can? If life is just that, it's meaningless. There has to be

"There are still sometimes when I think I'd love to be preaching in front of people — I think I'd have something to offer them. Ideally, I want to be a priest, but I know I'll be happy doing whatever He wants me to do," Crowell

Still considering a life in the ministry is freshman Bill Kerbin, who may enter a seminary to become an Episcopal priest after graduation.

"Nothing is carved in stone, but I'm leaning toward it. I feel I want to serve my church and help other people," he Kerbin's family supports his career interests and parishioners from his hometown church have told him he would make a good priest, but reac-tions from friends have been mixed.

'It is a bit of a rarity to find someone who wants to go into the priesthood," he admitted. "It's something inside of e — you have a calling for it."

Unlike Crowell's, Kerbin's church would allow him to marry as a priest. He has participated in church as a choir member, lay reader, and youth convention delegate, and expects the priesthood would bring him closer to God. "It is a sacrifice. You have to curb your lifestyle and do things many peple consider unpleasant, but I still think it's the work of God," he said.

Stressing that he does not wish to push his beliefs onto other students, Kerbin said, "If they come around to Christianity, they'll come around to their own time, but I do want to help

Religion in Fashion

sometimes keeping the bills Not all students see the growing popularity of Christianity among col-ge students as a positive thing. "It scares me," says freshman Joe Koch, "It's like the blind faith they have in the government. When you get people believing anything you tell them or you have fanatic belief, then you're A self-described "parochial school drop-out from a very religious Irish Catholic family," Koch said he believes in God but dislikes formalized religion. "Everyone should have their belief. Religion is just a way to force your beliefs on others. Not everyone understands what the person who started the religion was trying to say. He said many college students let their attendance at church lapse when no longer under the eyes of parents, but guilt eventually causes others to return 'That's how church works mostly You have to go or you're a sinner.

Senior Joe DuBose, a History major attributed the re-awakening of college students to Christian religions to lack of anything better to do. There's nothing for people to focus on. During the Viet Nam war people had something to focus on, and now they don't know what's going on in the world.

An atheist, DuBose said he dislikes the hypocrisy or organized churches that condemn nonbelievers: "Religied should be made available to people but chould be to be in the condemn to the condem should not be imposed on them

He said most of his peers believe it God but do not attend services regular ly, and that many enthusiastic chur chgoers are more religious than in the past but lack understanding of their

"They became religious almost of of social pressure to do so," he said. It's just a big trend."

and opinions..."

To me the most important thing is to touch God in some way each day. If I don't touch him, I don't have a sense of being loved, and I run out of love to give Crowell said that because students are "searching for answers to ques ions" during college, some tend to view religion as an easy solution.

"It's almost a trendy thing sometimes. Some people do it almost something more than that.

Though he said skepticism is sometimes "a natural human tenden-cy," Crowell said the fast pace of life

sometimes "a natural numan tenuen-cy," Crowell said the fast pace of life prevents people from reflecting on their values. He said college has changed his personal values, but hopes that teaching in a Catholic classroom some day will provide the environment in which to express the beliefs of the

SOL

Credit Card Convenience Attracts College Students

by Kathy Carlson It's small, plastic, and takes the place of money, can be its owner's best friend or his downfall, and comes in a variebest friend or his of brand names. It's the credit card.

A person can get into a lot of trouble using a credit card through over charging or not paying bills on time. Both of these result in a bad credit which for the college rating student could be deadly.

Many college students own
Visa, Master Charge, American Express, some type of gas card, or a specific department store card. When applying for a credit card, it helps if a student has a checkaccount, a savings acnt, some type of job or past job history. For most students, obtaining a card is relatively easy, but sometimes keeping the bills paid presents a pro-

Some students obtain credit. cards solely for the purpose of establishing a credit rating. To avoid ghastly bills, sophomore Debbie Nahmias and freshman Kelley Darcy charge "as little as possible." Other students, such as senior Callie Sessions, have credit cards in case of an emergency, and other students, like sophomore Chris Koth use theirs when caught in a bind. Students also use their cards

Nahmias, and Session, pay their own bills, but others, like Koth and Schafer rely on their parents to pay the bills.

A credit card may be used in just about any store or com-pany around the world. The pany around the world. The Fashion Bug in Kent Plaza ac-cepts Visa, Master Charge, American Express, Choice, and also offers a store credit card. Students may apply for cards, and the student application is actually much easier to fill out than the regular credit card application, according to assistant manager Libby Raligh. Students also have credit cards for Leggett's, but obtaining a card for this store is much more different. When applying for a card at Leggett's in the Plaza, one must have substantial references have substantial references and a co-signed. It also helps if you already have a credit rating already established. said clerks Charlotte Ruebeck and Jane Scoon

Students do a variety of different things when they first receive their cards. Most students go shopping or out to dinner, and of course, charge everything. Having a credit card can be a big convenience. They are especially handy, ac-cording to Sessions, when buying "last minute presents" or when "going home in emegen-cies." Koth, however, feels that, "credit cards can be too

Credit Card Do's And Dont's

Bank cards are offered or low interest, but start through banks and savings and loan associations. Fees and loan associations. Fees and finance charges vary con-siderably (from 12.5% to 21.6%), so shop around. The average finance charge or bank cards for 1985 was 18.5%.

2. If you usually pay your bill in full, try to deal with a financial institution with an interest-free grace period, which is the time after a purchase is made and before a finance charge is imposed, typically 25 to 30 days.

3. If you're used to paying 3. If you're used to paying monthly installments, look for a card with a low monthly finance charge. Be sure you understand how that finance charge is calculated. For a list of banks offering low finance charges send $1.00, check or money order to BankCard Holders of America, 333 Pennsylvania Avenue, S.E., Washington, D.C., 20003, Request "Low interest Rate List." A "No Annual Fee List." a list of banks offering cards with no annual fee, is also available for $1.95.

4. Be aware of some credit cards that offer "no fee" cards charging interest from the day an item is purchased.

phone numbers in a safe place for quick reference in case of Tear up the carbons after you sign credit card receipts. 9. Report your lost or stolen cards at once. Most card issuers have toll-free telephone numbers for this This will make it more difficult purpose. 10. Federal law limits your

This will make it more difficult for anyone to steal your account number to use for fraudulent purposes.

6. Do not give your credit card numbers over the phone card numb 10. Federal law limits your liability for unauthorized charges to $50 per credit card. But you don't have to pay for any charges made after notify-ing card companies of your loss. After calling, follow up with a telegram or registered letter. to anyone unless you initiate the call. Ask any caller to put their request to you in writing.

 Keep your receipts after you make any charges. Compare them to your monthly statement. Carefully read your monthly bill.

8. Keep a list of your credit card numbers and issuers'

Source: United States Office of Consumer Affairs and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

or theft

paid presents a problem." to buy a variety of different things. Georgia Schafer uses convenient" because card

...sometimes keeping the bills

her card to buy gas. Koth usually uses his to go "out to dinner," and for clothes and dinner," and for clotnes and gas. Darcy and Nahmias basically just charge clothes, uses hers for and Session uses hers for travelling and buying lastminute gifts.

In obtaining a credit card, parents may have to sign. This is due to the fact that many students do not have their own Source of income or are younger than 18. Some students, such as Darcy, holders sometimes buy things that they otherwise wouldn't

Credit cards can be good things to have if they are used properly or, if misused, can br-ing serious financial troubles to the owner. A credit card may be a good way of developing a credit rating, which will be beneficial to a student. especially one wishing to start a business or a family. However, for compulsive buyers, the credit card can cause more harm than good.

> KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA SUN SYSTEM

EMILY HAIRDRESSER Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of

REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

WINE PARTY SUPPLIES CASE LOT DISCOUNTS C-Town liquors 8

LIQUORS

Deli HOMEMADE HOT SOUPS

BEER

"LET C-TOWN DELI FILL YOUR BELLY'

511 WASHINGTON AVE CHESTERTOWN, MD 21620

778-2988

Soccer Drops Two But Hangs Tough

by John Bodnar

With the soccer season half over and the Shoremen work-ing with a 2-5-1 record, it's important for the WC soccer team to maintian a winning attitude.

The past week the Shoremen lost two disheartening games at home, one to Swarthmore College, 3-0, on Saturday, Oct. 4th and another to Salisbury State College, 2-1, on Tuesday,

Freshman forward Steve Atresiman forward steve At-tias said "The team's general attitude has improved since the St. Mary's game. We're fighting hard to gain respect."

Defensively, the Shoremen did a good job of controlling Swarthmore's attack, despite the three goals. Sophomore was a lot closer than the score indicates.

Offensively for WC, they did set up effective passes but couldn't pull the trigger when they were in striking distance warthmore's goal

Added Attias, we shut Swarthmore down in the second half. Had we been able to move the ball better offensively we might have scored some goals."

The Shoremen did not succumb to their frustrations as they as they put together a solid effort against Salisbury State College, but came up two goals short of victory.

For WC, the breaks haven't been breaking their way this season. After playing a scoreless first half, Salisbury suddenly became alive and scored early in the second half to take a 1-0 lead

The goal seemed to ignite the Shoremen as they stormed back to tie the score 1-1 half ay through the second half The goal resulted when Peter Van Buren went up in the air on a head ball and collided with the Salisbury keeper. The ball popped lose and John Kirsher kicked it home for the tying

Freshman Marty Wenick said, "It was great not to see the team quit. We fought back and played physical. The team went hard for the ball and as a result John Kirsher scored. But what was to take place over the last twenty minutes of the game was typical of the Shoremen's season so far. The Shoremen's season so lat. The referee called back Allan Ler-ch's go ahead goal because of an off-sides penalty. The Shoremen pressed hard but couldn't boot-in the winning

Freshman Jeff Heubeck goes down for the count with a Salisbury opponent in Tuesd play throughout the game, the Sho'men still came up short with a 2-1 loss to Salisbury

the game turned into nightmare for WC when Salisbury broke on a fast-break and scored the inning goal with just 14 seconds remaining to hand the Shoremen their fifth loss of the season.

WC will be looking to turn 11.

their season around when the take on Western Maryland Thursday, October 9, and Albright on Saturday, October

Netmen Win One, Bow To Bloomsburg

Continuing to dominate MAC opponents, the Washington College netmen scored their fifth win of the fall as they defeated perenial rival Johns Hopkins University 6-3 in Chestertown last Tuesday. The Shoremen have not lost to an MAC foe this fall. Their only defeat came at the hands of Division 1 Navy As has been the case of most of this fall, the Shore netters swept all six single matches. Jumping out to insurmoun-table 5-0 leads in both the first and second sets, Alejandro Hernandez coasted by Sean Gelsinger 6-4, 6-1 at No. 1 singles while Claudio Gonzalez edged the powerful yet in-consistent Jason Shiffer 6-4, 6-4 at No. 2. After breezing to a 6-1 triumph in the first set against Dave Hannon, David Marshall fell behind in the second set but rallied to win in a tiebreaker. Rich Phoebus destroyed his Hopkins counterpart 6-0, 6-1 Hopkins counterpart 6-0, 6-1 and Bill Shaw got back on the winning track as he upended Steve Chang 6-2, 3-6, 6-0. For the second straight match Vince Maximo chalked up another big triumph at No. 6. Maximo laced Tom Fioccio 6-0, 6-3. The Blue Jays won all three doubles matches, but but reserves Joe Sonido, Rob Gray and Dane Pikas got valuable playing time. Sonido and Gray fell 6-3, 6-4, and Pikus and Phoebus bowed 6-3, 6-1.

Following their victory over the Javs the Shoremen knocked heads with three Division II universities from the Penn-sylvania Athletic Conference at the West Chester University Invitational Tennis Tourna-ment on Sunday. Bloomsburg State outdistanced the rest of the field by 16 points capturing five of the six singles titles and of the three doubles crowns. placed a respectable second, however, as David Marshall won the No. 3 singles cham-pionship and Marshall and Claudio Gonzalez copped the

No. 2 doubles title. Millersville State was third and West University finished

Marshall bested West Chester's Guy Jazynka and Bloomsburg's Scott Gibbs by identical 7-5, 6-3 scores to take the championship. Gonzalez and Marshall then stopped tandems from Millersville State 6-3, 6-3 to take the second flight doubles

Scoring valuable team points by taking 3rd place in their respective flights were Rich Phoebus, Bill Shaw and Gon-zalez. Shaw also teamed with Vince Maximo to place 3rd in the No. 3 doubles competition

Sports Calendar

Friday 10 Volleyball — WC Invitational

-6:00 p.m. Saturday 11 Volleyball - WC Invitations

10:00 a.m. - Eagles Eye :00 p.m. Soccer vs Albright (A)

Cross Country vs Widner at Drew (A)

Softball Intramurals

Faculty vs KA's King James vs. WC Fielder Fuesday 14 Soccer vs Ursinus - 3

Field Hockey vs Hopkins

Softball Intramurals - 5

Volleyball Maryland (A)

same intensity as last 7

Volleyball Splits Tri-Match Wednesday 15

Select Gifts Fine Framing Artists Materials (in stock or will order)

The Finishing Touch

Dull Dorm Room? We are the answer!

Poster, Prints, Frames and Novelties

We will even mount, shrink & wrap your posters - ready to hang.

311 High Street Chestertown

778-5292

by Drew Elburn

After four day's rest, the Washington College Women's Volleyball team (7-5) split their tri-match with Goucher College and Johns Hopkins University on Monday night before an enthusiastic crowd. first match with the Goucher (4-7), the Sho'women began the game with a quick 5-0 lead behind two ace services from Debbie Cohn. Goucher made a quick comeback and eventually led 8-7, but couldn't hold on as a powerful Washington team overtook them to win 15-10.

The second game proved to be more of a challenge when Goucher took an early lead, but the Sho'women quickly gained ground and overtook a 14-11 deficit to emerge victorious 16-

In the second match, Goucher was quickly an-nihilated by a powerful Hopkins team in the first game 15-5. However, their happiness was short-lived as Goucher won the second game 15-6. Hopkins returned to victory, however, in the third and deciding game by a margin of Hopkins then went on to eliminate Washington in two eliminate washington in two intense, spike-filled games resulting in scores of 15-11 and 15-12. Despite the victory against Goucher, Washington Coach Penny Fall claimed that the team, "didn't have the against Haverford.

Vol Williams a freshma the young Washington tes admitted, "We couldn't rea relax as a team. We had played since Thursday, weren't really up to par was pleased with the we play but admits, "all teams matter how good, have an night. Hopkins has impro but that was the first matel " Hopefully, the fan winning feeling will return the Sho'women at the up ing Washington Invitation Friday, October 10, and Sab day, October 11.

Sophomore Beth Matthews attempts to out-maneuver a Marymount oppo-vant during last Saturday's match-up. The Sho'women went on to stome he visiting team 6-0.

Notre Dame, Marymount Fall To WC Field Hockey

Exciting is the word one would use these days to describe Washington College Field Hockey. The team, which started as a club only two years ago, has made remarkable progress. The Sho'women's 3-2 record thus far is clearly an understate-ment of the great per-formances seen in the last

On September 26, the Sho'women took on Western Maryland, a team they distinctly remembered after a 4-0 whipping that they were dealt last year. If Western Maryland expecting another easy

ly before succumbing to the powerful Western Maryland team 1-0, in a game that saw goalie Kate Falconer pick up 17

Tuesday, September 30th, the Sho'women rolled into Baltimore for a game with Notre Dame, which went into overtime. Sandie Coulter, Chiz-zy Wilmerding, and Beth Matzy Wilmerding, and Beth Mat-thews all scored goals in regulation. Just 28 seconds into the overtime, Wilmerding made a pass to Carole Reece who shot the winning goal, making for a final score of 4-3. Coach Guinan cited the "in-credible" defensive work of sophamore operation Kethy. sophomore co-captain Kathy Kilroy and the great "transi-tion play" of junior co-captain victory. Kilroy summed up the game by stating, "We really pulled it out in the end — we really wanted it."

really wanted it."

In their last game on October 4 th, the Sho'women dismembered Marymount 6-0.
Along the way, Anne Johnson scored her first goal ever, Liz Whelan and Beth Matthews each added goals, and Sandie Coulter scored three. Next up for the Sho'women is home game against Johns opkins on October 14th. This match should prove to be challenging for the Sho'women. Win or lose, the Sho'women will continue to in-trigue their fans and the Field

Role Of Athletics In Academia Undefined

by Bill Beekman

This is the first in a series of articles concerning the proper role of athletics in the

It happened a few weeks ago in College Park. Ted Koppel and his band from Nightline me to the University of tackle the ergrowing controversy over hletics in academia. Koppel metics in academia. Koppel, in intelligent, candid jour-alist, is one of the best men or this hefty task. He brought ith him a supporting cast high included mention cast hich included many of the urrent stars in the combine reas of collegiate athletics academics: ughter, the chancellor of the versity of Maryland, Joe aterno, head football coach of enn State's Nittany Lions, an Kemp, the Unviersity of torgia Professor who was after criticizing school regarding remedial toget her job back after a result was a lot of chatter and lenghty court trial. Several NCAA representatives, along with an audience filled with students, athletes, professors, coaches, sportswriters, and concerned citizens. It apconcerned citizens. It ap-peared that this combination would shed some light on the problems in college athletics. A decisive battle was at hand. As Koppel opened the pro-ceedings, he promised "we're going to get down and dirty." Our hopes for solutions were higher than ever before. Somehow, though all he did was get stuck in the mud

e issue of athletics and academics is a troublesome academics is a troublesome one. It involves many issues and many variables, but no easy solutions. The problem which Nightline ran into is that it tried to combat numerous questions in-dividually, rather than as units of a much bigger problem (not to mention that the topic was entirely too broad for a two come today.

Callus

Phone: 778-2635

Chestertown, MD 21620
NEXUS PRODUCTS AVAILABLE
Complete Hair Care * Manicures * Sculptur

blems which plague both athletics and academics, but little was gained in solving or even understanding the broader issues. For example, consider the question of pro-viding stipends to college foot-ball and basketball players, a topic discussed on Nightline. There are valid pros and con-on this question. College foot-ball and basketball players generate lucrative amounts of even understanding the generate lucrative amounts of money for their colleges. Also, they spend vast amounts of time, thirty to forty hours a week or more, preparing for their contests. They have a justification to some of that money, especially since they can't earn money elsewhere when, ideally, their time is sulf heterographics. split between sporting and stuspin between sporting and stu-dying. To them, athletics is a job. Conversly, it can be-argued that many student athletes already are paid by virtue of receiving a free athletes already are paid by virtue of receiving a free education for playing a game. Likewise, student athletes only give them further advantages over traditional students. Student athletes should be treated no better than any other student. As you can see, this question can endlessly batted about with litendiessiy batted about with lit-tle or no headway. But then consider this: even if we establish a grand compromise and solve this dilemma, how for forward have we actually moved? Answer: we haven't. So where can we start? It seems that our basic problem what role athletics should play in the academic world. The first hurdle, then, is to determine if athletics even has a role in the academic world. If not, all else that follows is irrelevant.

This question, naturally, also has its pros and cons. It's very similar to some other popular questions, such as whether fraternities or drama clubs or other academic diversions have a role at college. To this answer unequivocally and em-phatically yes. While these ac-programs, etc., take away from academic pursuit, while they steal time from studying and paper writing, they have a necessary role at college. This necessary role is exactly what the argument against these activities is: they are a diversion from academics. While college administrators try to pound it into the heads of students that three to four hours of studying should be done for each hour of class time, the truth is that there is much more to college life than studying. A healthy balance must be stuck between academics, athletics, club activities, partying, working, and All of this talk establishes a role for athletics within the realm of athletics. The broad question now, though, is what that role should be. Should a students have to drop a class because field hockey takes up too much time? Should prestigious colleges invite moron-level athletes into their ivy covered halls, giving them ivy covered halls, giving mem four years of free education, just because they can dunk a basketball? Should profes-sional teams establish minor league systems, such as in baseball and ice hockey, to accomodate athletes who are not students also? Should students also? Should minimum intelligence restrictions be levied by the NCAA upon colleges as to who they can give scholarships to and who they can send out on the football field? These questions are all components of the broad question of the role of athletics in academics, which will be the focus of next week's Amity Bakery and Coffee Shop Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Breads Rolls, Ples, Cookles, Special Occasion Cakes On Order. Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M.

unch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

Tessem Speaks On Upcoming Exhibit

How hig is the exhibit?
Aritis Sus Tessem describes her upcoming show, Pastets Small Paintings: "It's the first time that I've ever shown the pastels. I've ever shown the pastels. I've

by David Healey

Over in the Art house it's a clutter. Bottles and baskets sit on wooden tables and wait to be sketched. Paint-stained easel and stools create an artistic obstacle course. It is here that Art Department Chairman Susan Tessem has her office. It is filled with art supplies and a little grey dog lounges by the door. She sits in a chair by the window and answers questi about her work and upcoming show, Pastels-Small Paintings: An Exhibit of Works by Susan Tessem.

What are pastels? "Chalks. It's essentially dry painting.

What will your show be about?

"I'm going to be showing a few very small acrylic studies along with the pastel studies That's exactly what they are they are studies for paintings They're finished works but I don't consider that my primary art. I simply use the drawings and the small paindrawings and the small pain-tings to work out my ideas and questions of design, color structure, and so forth in a small, intimate scale for larger never had an exhibition of pastels, primarily because I never finished them. I don't consider them that important. They're really my working studies. So for the show, I had to go back at least six years. I finished them, reworked them, so it's been interesting to go ick in my portfolio and see what's in there

So you basically work in pastels?
"Yes, Because it's very quick, it's very fast for getting a complete idea, and the pain-tings obviously take a much long time Sometimes I really do try to reproduce on a large scale what I've done in the drawings but often I just use the draw ings as a stimulus for starting the painting. I make my design decisions differently than I did in the study

There are things you cannot do with acrylics that you can get away with with the chalk. So I think that they have a very different feeling.

> Do you spend a lot of time drawing and painting

"Everyday, I work everyday usually between five and nine in the morning. This is on my teaching days. Then I come in Tuesdays and Thursdays don't have classes, so generally work these days."

How did you come to Robert Day's new book, The Four Wheel Drive Quartet?

"He's been trying for year to get me on one of his by jackets. We've only been s cessful with this one. He's b good over the years about hing a patron of mine. Be bought several of my patings. He admired my wo and wanted it on his bo

How much do you sell your works for?

"That particular paints (on the book jacket) is junder four foot square. I have gallery in East Hampi where something like would sell from anywhere b ween $2000 and $2500."

The exhibit will open Thursday, October 16 in to O'Neill Literary House with reception from 5-7 p.m. T display will be open 9-5 di through October 24.

It's

Perverted

by Anne Lindenbaum "It helps if your scrupless twisted." You may think the

WHFS Offers Unique, New Sound set aside Sunday for those who are Portraits in Sound (6:00 only non-AOR radio station in

by Mary Riner
Domingo-Dimanche-SuntagJumat. Sunday, no matter what its origin, connotates a day of rest. A day where one's aesthetic qualities can flourish in a tranquil atmosphere. In in a tranqui atmosphere. In the case of a typical Washington College student, Sunday is a lazy day of recuperation until nightfall when the burden of homework becomes apparent. Whatever the circumstances may be WHFS, the regularly modernprogressive rock station, has wish to soak-up some musical culture.

If you're interested in scoring a few brownie points with your foreign language pro-fessor, the WHFS Sunday line-up could be helpful. The station offers a variety of exotic shows ranging from the French music show Fran Kophonia (11 a.m.-12:00 p.m.) and Spanish La Horn Latina (1:00 p.m.-2:00 p.m.) to the East Indian music show, Geetanjali (2:00 p.m.-4:00 p.m.) The evening shows popular Regiae Splashdown (§9.09 n.m.) old on m.). He Honkins and Towson State (§9.09 n.m.) old on m.). He Honkins and Towson State radio stations, can only be tion in the sense that it sets no heard a few blocks away from limits on the program listing, campus. WHPS is the working the program listing campus. WHPS is the working the program of the program heard of the program of the program heard on the program heard on the program is the program. He was the program of the program o p.m.-7:00 p.m.) featuring Win-the area. It's the only dham Hill type music, and the semblance of college radio in popular Reggae Splashdown Maryland. WJWU and WCUT,

Paul Henderson could not change from the top 40 gak-say enough about it. "It's the spew." For Sale:

Coffee House manast Katherine Norris a employee John Flavin a speaking of the May D streaking activities made famous here at WC, but this No. the case. No. it's "Perverted Puppeteer,"

The "Perverted Puppeter alias John Foraker, has p formed here many tip Coffee House on October at 8 p.m. The two dol charged for admission wil donated to a charity picked Foraker

And what exactly does "Perverted Puppeteer" Well, to tell all would ruin surprise — or shock, as case may be — but one thi for sure the show is 9 um, creative.

really funny," 5 senior Janet Simms aginatiion show in everyth he does — the puppets, write-up, the performatiself — everything."

"Nothing is sacred," Sophomore Ken Wir "He's the only person if Washington College fund willing to say f_

SMILEY'S SUBS AND VIDEO

COLLEGE STUDENT MEMBERSHIP Show College I.D. and Receive 9 Month Membership For

Monday & Tuesday All Tapes .99° Wednesday 3 Tapes For $5.00 All Other Days $2.00

ALSO: VCR available for rent and X-RATED VHS. BETA

Mon.-Thurs. 10 a.m.-9 p.m.; Fri. & Sat. 10 a.m.-11 p.m. Sunday 12-5

778-5560

Moped Good condition. Runs well. Can be seen in C-town.

AR RIM ORE'S Quick Stop For

758-2514

- Breakfast Sandwiches
- Subs
- Dinner Platters *Shrimp *Crab Cake
  - *Chicken Nuggets
  - Fresh Fried Chicken

Mon.-Sat. 6:30-9 p.m. Sun. 8-7 p.m.

778-1096

Location 213 South of

Simon Records Tour de Force

The first thing that startled me about the new Paul Simon about the new Paul Simon about Graceland was the srice. I cannot believe that price. I cannot believe that anyone-even Price's Music-would try and get away with selling an album for $9.95 in the age of the CD. Aside from this wholly trivial qualm othing on this album not to

Beautifully put together, this album makes the job of reviewing very difficult. What can a viewer say when Simon mself tells of the genesis and disyncracies of each song. he album cover itself is a joy read, offering a glimpse into he creative process as well as chance to see what strikes arely have I heard of an arist being so forthcoming about he content and inspiration of work Contrary to what the title night suggest, Graceland is ck and roll popularized by Evis. In an obvious sense it is s far removed from the raceland in Memphis, Tenssee, as could be imagined. The album is an odd aggregaof South African, Cajun Zydeco bands. that ogether, make a body of music hat is fresh, but at the same ime music that is not comletely alien

A good example of this is You Can Call Me Al", the ng currently being offered as e first single. On the surface does not sound as strange om the cast of musicians he assembled. Chickapa Ray" Phiri on guitar, Baghiti humalo on bass, and Adrian ess on the guitar synthesizer.

Paul Simon's Graceland contains an odd aggregation of South African, Casation jarring as the wonderful quality coming no doubt from African rhythms are jammed- the Gospel singing background up against the blocky of the grown. The deep American R&B horns. Right sonorous effect of the away, though, there is that Ladysmith Black Mamboza wonderful tone in the bass singers is only hightened by playing and the guitar. Simon's own throaty whisper. Something intangibly African Another song that starts out as song that may well be the that adds to the lyrics in a way albums tour de force. This that instruments cannot. That song, sung completely acap is why it is so disconcerting pella in English and Zulu, is co-when half way through the written by Simon and Joseph song he abruptly drops this and Shabalala-the composer and begins with what now sounds lead singer with Ladysmith like a fairly ordinary song. It is Black Mainbao. There is a not, however, and is powered great depth of feeling in this in a large part by the brilliant song that, despite the bleak, bass playing of Khumalo. despairing lyrics (Homeless, In addition to the South homeless/Moonlight sleeping African influence on the on a midnight lake) is also

There is an uncomfortable sen- tempered with a redemptive

Something managiny Arrican Another Song that starts out about it. If you had to look for African meshing of these two styles is influence on "You Can Call Me "Diamonds on the Soles of Her Al", you wouldn't have to look Shoes". Here too there is that hard to find it on "Homeless", wonderful interplay of sounds written by Simon and Joseph song he abruptly drops this and album, is the Cajun. "That Was Your Mother" is a perfect example of the wedding of the southern Louisianna good-time music with Simon's own nar-rative style of song writing. The result here is a collaborathe result here is a collabora-tion between Simon and Good Rockin' Dopsie and the Twisters that sounds much like a Cajun version of Johnny B. Goode, with an accordian in-stead of a guitar.

The use of an accordian is also employed by Simon in an ironic way. In "The Boy in the Bubble", the irony in the lyrics is reflected by the use of the accordian. It is difficult to keep a serious attitude about lyrics dealing with fairly grim political realities while listening to an accordian-an instrument that will never be accused of being sombre or grim. The refrain of "These are the days of miracle and / wonder' juxtaposed against a song about bombs in baby carriages, makes one hope for the levity of an accordian

There is a dicotomy between There is a dicotony petween the lyrics and the music of Graceland but it never becomes a problem. The music itself is always fresh and infectious and the lyrics (with a few exceptions) are generally upbeat, much more so than his last, largely confessional album Hearts and Bones.

The title track "Graceland" contains a bit of the autobiographical element of Hearts and Bones but there is also a joyous feeling that is almost impossible to miss. He sings: "But I have reason to believe. We all will be receiv-ed." In Graceland, we know he is talking about more than a museum of Rock and Roll memorabelia. He is talking about a state of mind, of heart, and of hope. We are glad to

Latin American Entertainers To Visit

"Ruminahui," a group of Ecuadoran entertainers, will offer a variety of authenic Latin American music, dances Latin American music, dances and folklore on Sunday after-noon, October 12th, at Washington College, in honor of Columbus Day. The perof Columbus Day. The per-formance begins at 4:00 p.m. in Tawes Theater.

The 30 member group, which has performed widely in the Baltimore/Washington area, recently returned from an engagement in Toronto. Decked in authenic costumes, the performers will present music of the Andean region with traditional flutes and other instruments, as well as regional folk dances.

sored by the Kent County Arts Council, Washington College Lecture Series, and the Spanish Club. The per-formance is free and the public is invited to attend.

Spanish Club President Chip Schaller added, "Everyone is Schaller added, "Everyone is invited to a reception sponsored by the Spanish Club in Hynson Lounge, immediately following the performance." Vice-President Lynn Burris said of the event, "It will be fun and you get to experience some Spanish culture. It's certainly something, different. The something different. The term of the change of the control of the change of the control of the change o Ecuadorans and find out what they do and what they think of travelling in America and to various schools.

ENTERTAINMENT

CAMPUS

CALENDAR

Friday 10

Film series: Home of the Brave Norman James Theatre, 7:30

My sister in this House Drama production Tawes Theatre, 8:00 p.m.

Tom Larsen Band plays the blues Admission: $2 student, $3 nonstudent Coffee House, 9:30-1:00 p.m.

Saturday 11

Symposium: Conversation on the Chesapeake Norman James Theatre, 5:00

O'Neill Literary House, 6:00 n m

My Sister In This House Drama production Tawes Theatre, 8:00 p.m.

Sunday 12

Film Series: Home of the Norman James Theatre, 7:30

Ruminahui, Folklore of Music and Dance Tawes Th eatre, 8:00 p.m.

Monday 13

Literary House Talk Memories of the Future: A memorial reading dedicated to Aleixandre, Borges, Cortazar and Rulfo O'Neill Literary House, tea, e p.m. talk, 4:36 p.m.

Film Series: Home of the Brave Norman James Theatre, 7:30

Tuesday 14

German Literature Today: A European Perspective.

Jocken Kelter, German Poet & Critic, Speaker Sophie Kerr Room, 8:00 p.m

Wednesday 15

Coffee House Perverted Puppeteer Coffee House Admission $2, 9:00 p.m.

William James Forum Big Brother (or sister) in the Bedroom: The menace of sex ual privacy.
Barry Lynn, Legislative Councel, ACLU, Speaker

Thursday 16

Pastels - small paintings: An exhibit of works by Susan Tessem.

O'Neill Literary House, 5-7 Display open 9-5 dialy through Oct. 24.

Step Aside, Madonna

by Jeremiah Foster

Laurie Anderson has been a mercurial performance artist in a business that puts fashion above talent. She rises above the mundane world of pop music with her performances. Her new movie, "Home of the Brave" is a film about her last our and contains footage of her music and performance

This movie will automatically disappoint anyone who has seen Laurie Anderson in concert because it doesn't com-municate as powerfully as a live performance does. Film is a medium that Laurie Anderon is exploring and should be viewed as a singular work of art, not an aggregate of video clips of her in concert. The film is sufficiently representative of Laurie Anderson's work and contains some new song: Others, like "Sharkey's Night are from previous albums

Laurie Anderson is not an 'alternative music' artist nor s she the type of performance artist who stands on stage and slaps meat on her head. She is an investigator of dreams and an annihilator of the American archetype. She is perversely humorous, yet her humor strikes you in an odd way. For example, as she recites in one of her pieces from the movie, "I dreamed I had to take a test... in a dairy queen on another planet," or, "I got ome and both our cars were gone and there were all these flamingos arranged patterns all over the lawn. like a tornado had hit... then I you don't see this film realized I was in the wrong house." The impossible and the everyday are mixed together in a moca-swirl of illusion and reality throughout her work.

Laurie Anderson is a well-trained musician who also has an excellent knowledge of modern technology. She is adept at predicting the future of music. In the film she plays violin which is patched through a computer/syn-thesiser to create strange tonality. She also alters her voice through a synthesiser, destroying the barrier between voice and instrument in the process. Adrian Belew, a guitarist from the band "King Crimson" also performs in the movie. Together they create a polyphony of machinery and technology

Laurie Anderson also explores the medium of film by having a film within a film. There are times when Belew is playing live and times when he is playing on the screen that Anderson uses to project im-ages throughout the movie The images explore the connection between aural and visual art, amplifying the impact of both.

This is a film unlike any you've seen before, and at no point is it dull or vapid. It will expose you to the harsh reality that there are other people recording music aside from Madonna and Bruce Springsteen. It is an art film in every sense of the word but it also reaffirms the nature of beauty in art and it contains a hint of cultural armegeddon. You will be making a serious mistake if

Philosopher Meets Wall Steet

Washington College taught at New York Universi graduate Brooks Jackson ty. currently an executive with E.F. Hutton, will present lecture entitled, Philosopher Meets Wall Street: The Liberal Arts in Business," on Monday, Oc-tober 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the Sophie Kerr Room of the Miller Library

For the first eight years after his graduation from Washington College as a philosophy major, Jackson wasnington College as a meet philosophy major, Jackson liberal pursued a career in teaching and g and counseling. During that Securitime, he earned a Master of Science Degree from the Medical College of Virginia, free at studied for his doctorate and attend

After a mild career crisis, he made a radical shift into the world of business. As a stockbroker at Dean Witter. his production rose steadily as he soon became a Regional Mutual Fund Coordinator. In 1984, E.F. Hutton recruited him for a management position in New York.

Jackson will lead an in-formal discussion on such topics as changing career direction after college, using a liberal arts degree in business and getting started in the Securities Industry. Sponsored by the Center for Career Development, the lecture is free and the public is invited to

HAIR PORT KENT PLAZA

Family Haircutters and Styling

No Appointment Necessarv

OPEN 6 DAYS A WEEK MON., THURS. AND FRI OPEN TIL 7:00 P.M.

Arts Update

Memorial Readin

by Anne Lindenbaum ne Writers' Union Mon The writers Union Mono series will continue Octoo 13th, with "Memories of a Future: A Memorial Reads Dedicated to Vincente Alein dre, Jorge Luis Borges, Ja Cortazar and Juan Rulfo."

The reading will be given 4:30 p.m. in the O'Ne Literary House (reception 4:00 p.m.) by Professo Pabon, Premo and Shivers. Alexiandre, Borges, azar and Rulfo are all outst ding Hispanic writers a have passed away in the two years, said Profess Shivers. Aleixandre, for exp ple, was a Nobel Prize winn Jochen Kelter was born in Cologne in 1946. He has travel-ed throughout Europe and poet. The only poet of the function del '27,' whose contained authors sporaries included authors sporaries included authors sporaries.

as Lorcas and Salinas. Pabon, Premo and Shiw originally wanted to have reading last spring, reading last spring, up couldn't due to scheduling p blems. This year, however, b date is firm. "We're carry on the tradition of hav tributes to great writers,"s Pabon. Each professor give a brief introduction and reading/interpretation of the respective writers.

by Ken Haltom
On Tuesday, October 14, at 8:00 p.m., German poet and critic Jochen Kelter will present a lecture entitled man Literature Today; An In-ternational Perspective." 'Kelter will use his expertise and experience to place Ger-man literature today within the framework of Western literature," says Professor

Joachim Scholz

Poet Lectures

ed throughout Europe and presently lives in Switzerland. Kelter has taught at several universities in Germany and Switzerland and has lived in New York City for one year, which is the subject of one of his books. Kelter is also the Vice President of The Association of German Authors. In this post Kelter is in charge of relations between German, Western European, and American authors. The lecture will be held in the Sophie Kerr room of the Miller Library

6-PACK OF SODA All Varieties

$1.69

Same price as chain stores At the Coffee House

Chestertown Movie Theater

"ARMED AND DANGEROUS"

778-157

"AN ABSOLUTE MUST...if intelligence is the ultimate aphrodisiac, then Laurie Anderson is one of the sexiest women on earth."
-Michael Dare, LOS ANGELES WEEKLY

"A GENUINE SUCCESS... skillful eraftsmanship and undeniable charm."

"★★★★ .MAGNIFICENT... alive and spontaneous."

"JOYFUL... There's no denying the beat, energy and drive of Laurie Anderson's performance.

HOME OF THE BRAV

A FILM BY LAURIE ANDERS

LAURIE ANDERSON PRULA MAZUR ELLIOT ABBOTT JOHN LIM LISA DAY RONA BARAN & LAURIE ANDERSON
PERRY HOBERRAN LERINEUMEAR DOS DIELECT DRUIG GRÖPMAN SU

DO COMPREDE SIMULIECT RITH ROLLIE IN BIRGE REISHE HEISHE, MYS HE EINER DEUTE DEUT

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 7

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, October 17, 1986

False Fire Alarms Plague Campus

alarm sounded in some dormitory on campus. Although three of those alarms were attributed to system malfunc-tions, five were deliberately set off, and two are unexplained. During the forty-eight hour period, the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Department responded to six of the false

More than twenty false alarms have sounded in dormitories since September 1st. Nearly 50% of those alarms were deliberately pulled as pranks, estimated Gerry Roderick, Director of Security. Someone either pulled the handle at a pull station, or threw water or blew smoke near an Captain Richard White of the Fire Department explained, 'We don't mind coming up...I mean you're going to have false alarms, but this is like crying wolf." The Fire Depart-ment covers nearly a 17 mile square area - the largest single area of responsibility in

The alarms, called "audible do not automatically ring at either the Kent Center sudden rash of fire alarms be-

If concern is warranted, the Ten times in a forty-eight RA calls the dispatcher, who hour period this week a fire notifies the Fire Department notifies the Fire Department, as required by law. Campus security is also notified so that they may reset the alarm, or aid in the evacuation. Even if the alarm is false, according to Roderick, "The Kent Center is requried to alert the Fire Department for liabilty Both RA's and security per-

Both RA's and security personnel are trained to conduct searches. "We don't see the need of the Bre Pepartment they (the dispatchers) come up with some way to trust you (the RAs)...they've got to send us, said White.

"There are two problems here," said McIntire. "One is the waste of the town's time, money and the potential danger when the volunteer danger when the volunteer crew has to respond to all the false alarms. The second is this as students braced for the mid-term onslaught of papers and exams and began looking forward to the start of Fall Weekend next Friday.

Kent County met on Thursday to try and eliminate the communication inadequacies and second floor of Somerset, are without operative alarms and smoke detectors. Others have been vandalized and are unreliable. Parts to repair the faulty alarms are on order, ac-

At a meeting for the head RAs on Tuesday, the student deans and the students added sanctions for non-compliance with the standing policy of evacuation. From now on, any student that does not evacuate the building when an alarm sounds will be issued a $25 fine.

"It's for their own welfare," said Dean Maxcy, "It's not a punishment." The RAs also plan to schedule several dorm make sure students know where to go when an alarm goes off. Said Roderick: "We don't put the alarms in to be a nuisance; we put them in to comes, we aren't going to have anybody here to respond."

cording to Roderick.

investigate the alarm system malfunctions. Several floors, including the first floor of Wicomico and the further

Triggering a false alarm, said McIntire, "Is a very, very serious thing to do. This is not going to be a Student Judicial Board case – it's just going to be pack your bags and leave!"
The student handbook states that anyone outh! I ware size. that anyone caught tampering with a fire alarm will automatically be suspended from the College for the re-

"People don't realize what ey're in for...not even con-

Roderick, Neil, and the Director of Civil Defense for Avenue by three fire engines rushing to campus, said Capsidering what the College can do to them," said Haines. "The state can do some real damage." According to fire Chief Bruce Neil, anyone caught deliberately pulling a fire alarm is subject to either a $5000 fine or up to 10 years in

M.S.A. Evaluation Presented

by Tony Caligiuri
In 1983, when the Middle States Association of Schools and Colleges accredited Washington College, a three year period was provided for improvement and follow-up study in four areas of the colleges program Specifically leges program. Specifically, academic enhancement pro-grams, administrating organization, long-range plan-ning, and financial equilibrium were targeted for the follow-up study. Yesterday, in the Sophie Kerr room, three MSA com-mittee members ended their three day visit, presenting a report of their findings to the college community.

During their stay this week, the committee talked with a wide range of students, facul-ty, and administration members, while examining financial records, visiting facilities, and attending campus events. The committee reported the following on the four major areas specified by the previous visiting team in 1983. Concerning administrative organization, the committee recognized President Cater as one who "takes a great deal of the responsibilty of the college upon himself, and commended him for his great concern for the future of the college." Dean Baer was also commended by the team as a talented and capable professional. Although recognizing that im-provements had been made in the past three years the com-mittees voiced concern over the possible lack of com-munication between the ad-ministration and the faculty. According to the report, faculty should be more directly consulted in the academic improvements currently taking place. The team recommended that several steps be taken in order to strengthen the comcontinued on page 4

Inside:

Blood Drive Majors Lectures

Betty Scott Crew Victories

Comics

Album Review

"We don't mind coming up... but this is like crying wolf."

or the Fire Department. Ac- ing pulled. Why on earth this cording to Dean McIntire, Col- has become a practical joke is lege policy dictates that the RA beyond my comprehension," in the building when an alarm she added.

Sounds conduct an immediate "Every time those fire guys search of the dorm and roll out of their station, they're vacuate the building. If the endangering their own lives alarm appears unwarranted, and others too," said security starm appears to the officer Ken Haines, who was on the officer Ken Haines, who was on the officer start of the other officer start of the other officer start of the other officers and the other officers of the other other officers of the other officers of the other other officers of the other other officers of the other o

lege policy dictates that the RA beyond my comprehension,

Charges Brought Against Students

by Audra M. Philippon
Wednesday evening, October
8th, freshman Chris Deegan and junior James Hounten-brink were charged with assault by Chestertown resident Janet Johnson. That evening, Johnson and her daughter were walking down on Campus Avenue, coming home from Burger King. While passing a large group of students at New

Dorms, Johnson saw several

Thinking they were rocks, she screamed to her daughter, and they started to run. More ob-jets were thrown despite Johnson's threat to call the Chestertown Police.

Johnson did call the Police, and Jim Quinn responded. He followed a student into a dormitory, where he was apprehended by Quinn and campus security. The second student then stepped forward and acknowledged being in the crowd that Johnson had seen. Both students explained that the objects were water balloons, not rocks, which balloons, not rocks, which Quinn confirmed. Deegan and Hountenbrink face a preliminary District Court hearing Thursday, Oc-tober 16th to decide whether or not to set bail and to schedule a court date.

Chief Neil, who personally responded to several of the calls, was angered by the false caus, was angered by the false alarms. "If we have to come up here in the middle of the night and pull fire drills ourselves, it's gonna stop," he said. "We're working on the pro-blem. We just don't want our guys dragged up here for nothing. When the real thing

OPINION

False Alarms

Burn Students

Is it the shiny, red trucks that are so fascinating? The residents of Cullen, Kent House, Ried, and Middle Hall will gladly buy one for you to play with behind bars if you ever receive the conviction you deserve for activating a false fire alarm. I suggest you go see a counselor; you are obviously in desperate need of some help. Anyone that would repeatedly endanger the hundreds of lives for a cheap moment of glory ought to be locked up.

cheap moment of glory ought to be locked up. Did you ever think about the thirty or so volunteer firemen whose lives you have consistently been disturbing? How would you feel if there nights in a row someone made you get up, get dressed, and race across town for no reason? There are men in connecutive evenings. They don't even get paid for it.

While I was wandering around with the twenty other students in Worcester in the wee hours of the mornings—three consecutive rainy, school mornings—in our pajamas, because of you, I overheard one of the firemen say: "Looks like just another college-ass joke." How do you think each one of us fell being students forced to live in town, the College needs to improve its relations with the community. You are hardly boosting our image.

dangerment of lives en route to campus by speeding fire trucks; and the growing indifference to life-saving fire alarms. How much more danage must occur to satiate your sick sense of To quote one of the more polite volunteers that you've been abusing this week, "God help you if you ever kill somebody."

Washington College Elm

|  |    |    |    |   |   |     |   |    |    |       | E | d  | it | 0 | n  | ı |   |  |  |  |  |  |    |     |    |           |    |      |    |     |    |
|--|----|----|----|---|---|-----|---|----|----|-------|---|----|----|---|----|---|---|--|--|--|--|--|----|-----|----|-----------|----|------|----|-----|----|
| ditor-in-chiefews Editorestures Editor |    |    |    |   |   |     |   | i. | ٠. | ı |   |    |    |   |    |   |   |  |  |  |  |  | A  | uc  | dr | B         | Ph | rili | in | DC  | n  |
| rts/Entertainsports Editor .               | m  | 01 | 1  | E | d | lit | 0 |    |    |       |   |    |    | ٠ |    |   |   |  |  |  |  |  | c  | . I | Di | avsti | id | H    | N  | ale | Y  |
| hotography E                                   | di | to | 10 |   |   |     |   |    |    |       |   |    |    |   |    |   |   |  |  |  |  |  | J. | N   | ٨. | F         | ra | gc   | n  | 10  | ni |
|  |    |    |    |   |   |     |   |    |    | h     | 1 | 81 | 18 | 9 | įe |   | 8 |  |  |  |  |  |    |     |    |           |    |      |    |     |    |

Managing Editor
National Advertising Manager
Local Advertising Manager
Circulation Manager

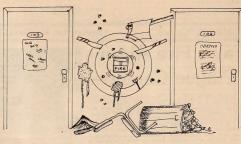

The Elin is the official student newspaper of Washington College. The Elin is published every Friday during the academic year with the scape. Editorials are the responsibility of the Editoria-ched. Edges columns, California series in responsibility of the Editoria-ched. Edges columns, commentates, latters, editorials, and editorial carteous regressent the manhear of the editorial staff. Which is the editorial staff, which is the editorial staff of the editorial staff, which is the editorial staff of the

tion in that week's Issue.

The Eirr's business and aditorial office is located in the Queen Annalounge, found on the linst floor of the Queen Anna's House dormitory.

Business hours are 750 p.m. to 90 pp.m. Tuesdays and 700 p.m. to 11:000 pp.m. Wadnesdays.

The office phone number is (301) 778-2800, extension 321.

Steve Schmidt

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR one instance included an am-

To The Editor:

I am addressing this letter to those "mature" Washington those "mature" Washington College students who get their kicks from hearing the fire alarm go off and seeing the bright shiny fire trucks come screeching onto campus. It's really great to see those firemen all dressed up in their yellow suits with axes and oxygen tanks, isn't it? Didn't your parents ever take you to parades when you were little? You all know who you are, so

Get Smart

I don't particularly enjoy be ing blasted out of my sleep by the fire alarm going off, and, being an RA, I don't enjoy the luxury of just rolling over and going back to sleep. Nor do I enjoy having to leave my din-ner half-eaten because the fire department is in front of my dorm and looking for someone to explain why, for the second or third time that day, they have to come up here for false alarm. But these are trivial, inconsequential things. You can read, on the other pages of The Elm, the details of just what happens when one of those alarms go off. The volunteer firemen have to immediately drop whatever they are doing, get into their cars. and endanger their lives on the road in order to get to the fire station in time to answer the call. And, in rushing to get to campus to be told that it was just someone playing a prank again, traffic is held up on the road (sometimes for as long as fifteen minutes), traffic that in one instance included an am-bulance trying to get to the hospital. I'm sure, though, that these thoughts don't enter your sick, twisted, perverted little minds just before you succumb to the temptation to pull that handle, or hold a cigarette underneath the smoke detec-

Nor do I believe that this let-ter, if any of you bother to read it, is going to get through the haze that must exist in your brain. Perhaps, when someone finally is caught, and has to pay a $5,000 fine or spend ten years in prison, or both, reality will hit and these childish pranks will stop. I personally pranks will stop. I personally would like to hang you up by your toenails for endangering my life, because one day when there is a fire, the fire company, as good and as conscienpany, as good and as conscien-tious as it is, is just going to say (justifiably) "It's just those college kids again." and not break their necks to get up here, and somebody is going to lose some valuable posses-sions, or perhaps even his life. Janet Szabo

Feature Story

To The Editor: I appreciated the article that appeared regarding the Washington College Campus Christian Fellowship. We have people on this campus who choose to express their faith and share their convictions in a relatively open forum. One of the values of a liberal educa-self-discovery, independent thought, and clarification of goals. I was saddened in some goals. I was saddened in some ways to read that religion is frightening and still seen as "a way to force your beliefs on others." It strikes me that that could only be possible in an environment where religious ideas are not freely discussed. But more to the point, how could anyone view a 2000 year old phenomenon. with conold phenomenon, with con-siderable and sacrificial investment in financial and personal resources, where the in-dividual life goals are permanently altered, be "just a big trend" for people who "lack anything better to do?" I can assure you that the fellowship on this campus is peopled by caring, committed, liberally liberally educated students who simply share a common network of beliefs and value one another's opinions.

Praised

n is that it opens the door for

Sincerely, James R. Siemen, faculty sponsor

The Elm

will not be published next week due to Fall Break

SKI TRIP Ski the Alps from Kitzbuhel,

Austria. Week of January 2-9, 1987

The $969.00 price includes: round trip airfare, Philadelphia -Munich; transfers to and from Kitzbuhel; double room accommodations in 5 star hotel (top quality) with swim-ming pool, etc. in center of town; breakfast and dinner each day.

Deposit of $200 needed right away with the balance due by end of November. See Dean Maxcy in Student Af-government attempts to control population growth by birth control or financial constraints, in order to prevent a population explosion beyond control. In the west, particularly in America, the population is overlooked, instead the government tends to focus on sexual practice rather than its fun tion. Western religions believe birth control is a sin despite overwhelming world population growth, and govern-ments want to control every facet of the individual's rights.

Sexual Practices Not A Political Concern

Why does the U.S. government want to control sexual practice? It must be aware that such control is nearly impossible. Does the govern-ment fear for our nation's morality ment fear for our nation's morality while they are killing people in Central America, and while they are helping to prop up a dictator in Chile? Yes, we must take Penthouse off our shelves because the young men of this country will all be sex fiends and won't want to fight in our next war

ISSUE:

Somehow Ed (float me a loan) Meese overlooked the first amendment when he wrote his report on pornography. He believes the first amendment appl written document - except those that might harm national security, except pornography, and except literature that contains explicit sexual inuendo, There's not much left, Ed. The Supreme Court is not much better. Most of it's judgements rely on

Jeremiah Foster

precedent, as in the case of Georgia's anti-sodomy law. The Supreme court is afraid that sodomy will cause depravi-ty in America. The view that sodomy is inherently immoral and will create a nation of homosexuals is limited at best. There have always been homosexuals throughout the ages and there always will be. Creating laws against them, with the intent to eradicate their existance, will also affect non-homosexuals.

Sex is bizarre. It is also very per sonal. One's sexual practices or lack of is not a governmental concern. All peois not a governmental concern. All peo-ple have some sexual practices, and in some cases those practices are deemed immoral by other people. Why should other people be the judge of one's sexal practice when they are not directly affected by it? For example, a married couple who has raised five upstanding citizens and lived many years in har mony within the community may be afmony within the community may be af-fected by Georgia's anti-sodomy law. There is no way one can contend that only homosexuals practice sodomy. Why should the government interfere with a successful marriage? Obviously it shouldn't. I've been told in my political science class that the United States is not a totalitarian nation. There are times, however, when I don't believe this. The government is interested in limiting the rights of individuals to preserve its twisted concept of morality and decen-cy. The Supreme Court destroys the precarious balance between church and state as it gets more conservative-ly extreme and hands down decisions. The government wants to sit in our bedrooms and slap our wrists when we behave in an illicit manner. Freedom from government is only allowed in our private thoughts. No longer are we free even in our own rooms.

To regulate sexual practice is to deny individuality and expression. The most worthwhile emotions on earth should worthwhite emotions on earth should not be limited by a court order or rule book. To repress sexual practice is to repress sexuality and that is antithetical to nature. Sodomy itself is not unnatural, limiting it's practice is.

Jeremiah Foster is a junior majoring in Art

Should Government Be Permitted To Regulate The Private Sexual Behavior of Individuals?

Pasedena, Maryland Freshman

The regulation of sexual activity by the government is ridiculous. First off, there would be no possible way to prove that violators are guilty and it is a violation of the Bill of

Dave Morrison Gaithersburg, MD Sophomore

"Well since I've already had my house screened for pornography by the police, I know that I'm safe there. Consequently, I check my every sexual move with Ronnie and Meese to make sure I'm not doing anything wrong."

Missy Godley Chestertown, MD Junior

"No, it's an infringment on the privacy and civil rights of all individuals. The job of the government and law en-forcers is to protect society. How can this possibly harm society? Besides that, en-forcement of the laws is almost impossible with the exception of the few unlucky ones caught in the act. PULL YOUR SHADES and LOCK YOUR DOORS!

Micia Burgard Rockville, MD

"Definitely Not. I believe people should be able to love each other in any way they choose to. It's a purely per-sonal and private isle and a person should be able to have the right to express his or her sexuality without the fear of sexuality without the rear or Ronald Reagan and the Moral Majority telling them they're committing a crime. They shouldn't have that power."

by Michele Balze

Campus Voices

Just this past year, a pornography nographic materials can affect young ommission appointed by Ed Meese children in a detrimental way for the released a report charging that pores of their lives. Laws should be lography degrades women and may cause some men to commit sexually Guse some men to commit sexually violent acts. Pornography presents wonen as sex objects totally inferior to men. Does the government have the fight to govern what we watch on TV, what magazines we read or where we so for entertainment? Maybe it should. If one reads the Meese commission report, one will find startling evidence "evealing the harm that pornography."

report, one will find startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to the startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to the startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to the startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to the startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to the startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to the startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to the startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to the startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to the startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to the startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to the startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to the startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to the startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to the startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to the startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to the startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to the startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to the startling evidence treport, one will be a supplied to th afficts on society.

First, the availability of porbographic material raises the issue of foung children being exposed to such explicit material. Cable TV and sexualy explicit magazines are easily ac-cessible to many children under the age of twelve. Exposure to these procasecus to regulate what is shown on cable TV and printed in magazines that maybe viewed by young children. With governmental intervention we can pro-tect our nation's youth from destroyier their moral values. One must consider the link between pornography and

Government Should Set Moral Tone

ome statistics suggest that men after watching pornographic films or after watching pornographic nums or looking at pornographic magazines, commit sexually violent acts. A study including rape victims and battered wives showed a link between their vicwives showed a link between their vice timization and pornography. Also, the concept of the rape myth, that is the woman lead the man on, is more accep-table due to pornographic material labeling women as the aggressors of rapes instead of the innocent victims.

Finally, pornography in general allows women to be subjected to degradation. Women are only to be degradation. Women are only to be thought of as sex objects and nothing else. This thought is very chauvinistic and an unfair way to categorize women. In a 1986 poll, 72 percent of the people polled wanted a crackdown on

Bill Kerbin

pronography. This statistic alone speaks for itself.
Examining pornography closely, one can see that not all forms are totally harmful to society, but many forms include amoral practices and illustrate violence against women as glamorous and wonderful. There are several cable TV channels and magazines that specialize in this type of pornography. Though censorship is unconstitutional, Thomas Pickney and Alexander Hamilton did not have the opportunity to read Playboy or Penthouse when they were drawing up the Constitution. Our Constitution was drawn to consider one's personal enjoyment, but more than likely to set down a moral tone to make this country into what it really stands for: life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. If the government does not intervene, it is neglecting its duty to uphold the prin-ciples that this country was started under.

Bill Kerbin is a Freshman from Pocomoke City, Maryland.

Security Officer J.R. Glado reset a pull station on first floor Somerset on Monday, after a series of false alarms had been set over the weekend. Fire Chief Bruce Nell (left) inspected Cullen himself with a full volunteer fire and

Lambdas Help Undecided Majors

by Audra M. Philippon The Lambda Pi Deltas have solved the age-old question plaguing students Washington College: " am I going to major in?" The brothers and their advisor, Jeff Chaffin, recently proposed a six week lecture series to expose the undecided and underclassmen to each major.

All department heads have been invited to participate in the discussions. Starting next Tuesday, October 21st, three or four departments will present their majors to students. Categories for discussion are: personal enthusiasm for the discipline, commitment required of major (courses and senior project), and future op-tions for students majoring in the discipline.

The seminars are scheduled to last only a little over an hour, and all are followed by a social gathering where faculty, majors, and prospective ma jors can get acquainted. Lambda John Kelly explained, "We saw the need (for the series) right away, and we wanted to give the freshmen sophomores, and the undecid-ed an opportunity to find out about the majors and what they can do with it after Kelly also said, "This will make our fraternity more visi ble, in a more academic way on campus.' Dean Berry added, "Their point is really valid. I mean, how do you pick a major? The faculty was really impressed with the proposal."

We're hoping the professors will coordinate their students and invite their majors," "We figure that being sponsored by the Lambdas will be more appealing to freshmen. That's what going to bring them there initially Lectures will be held on Tuesday nights at 7 p.m. for the next six weeks in Hynson Lounge (note: November 11 meeting will be held in the Sophie Kerr Room) All students are encouraged to at-

Middle States Evaluates Washington College

munication lines, including more feedback from the faculty to President Cater as well as making more information concerning budgeting and finance available to faculty members Overall, in the area of administrative organization, great strides were found but some improvements are still

After examining long-range planning, at the college, the committee failed to find any concrete and binding long-term goals. Although Washington College is going through a transitional period, A committment to long-range planning still needs to be made the area of academic enhancement programs, the Committee offered numerous suggestions regarding the dif ferent programs. The writting was viewed as an program asset to the college, yet it is operating out of a "constrained space." The report recom-mended that the program the program to evaluate student progress. Finally the writing program seemed to be isolated from the academic departments and should become more closely related to the English depart The new Business Management major was commended for its continued emphasis on the liberal arts philosophy. The honors program was examined and several recommendations will be made. The committee feels that not enough is expected of the honors courses and that a way in which to develop goals and monitor the program should be set up. The 3-2 engineering program was seen as a way to attract possi ble engineering majors, still undecided, but not as a widely used program. The computing program has improved, ac-cording to the team, but the importance of continual training of the instructors was stressed. Miller Library was reviewed and determined to have adethe college's graduate pro-gram be further developed, as it may be a beneficial program to the college.

committee's follow-up evalua-tion was the college's financial quate resources. Finally, the ted at a later date. Recommendowments and a possible procommittee recommended that dations include a slowing of grain of early retirement for the college's graduate pro-large projects without tenured professors. guaranteed operating en-dowments, an effort to funnel Concluding its findings, the more revenues into completing present projects, and a tuition

"substancially higher evaluating committee applauded the College's progress in the last few years but pointed out the need for further improvements. It was noted that the committee saw "a bright future for Washington

"The review was un-necessarily swift," said Presi-dent Cater after the team's presentation. "It is important to have people come in to take a hard look at what we're do-ing... and these results are what I had hoped for and ex-pected."

Dean Baer commended the than half of the colleges enrollment is on the financial aid program, the committee Dean Baer commended the committee on its percep-tiveness and looks forward to receiving the report in writing. The written report should be received by the Deans office within a week, and according to Dean Baer, should be made ### than that of the present rate of inflation." Seeing that less "It is important to have people come in to take a hard look at what we're doing..."

equilibrium. The committee spent many hours reviewing the financial records of the col-lege and determined that although recent projects and additions to the school have been very benificial, steps do have to be taken to secure the school financially. The com mittee made a series of recom-mendations to be expanded in believes that this will not pose a major problem. In effect, the report states that the students realize the quality of education that they are getting, but the college is "underselling its pro-Other recommenda- to Dean Baer, duct tions will include new pro- available to the students by cedures for attracting en- next Friday.

Ironstone Cale 236 Cannon Street Chestertown, Maryland 21620 301-778-0188

Tuesday-Saturday Lunch: 11:30-2:00 Dinner: 5:30-9:00 Sunday Brunch: 11:00-3:00 Closed Mondays

Forum to Discuss Farm Crisis

by Brian J. Lang Emerging this semester on Washington College's campus is an organization designed to "discuss problems of national interest," according to interest," according to Ann Hoon, Director of Continuing Education. The National Issues Forum will be con-ducted in Kent County and also Caroline County December 2nd and 9th in Hyn-Lounge to examine and debate the farm crisis

Because farming is an important industry on the Eastern Shore, the Kettering Foundation organized the forum for the agricultural community of Chestertown and the surrounding area to present its opinions directly to state legislators, rather than through lobbyists.

Some of the controversial topics to be discussed include: Do farmers need and deserve more government assistance other businesses? Should benefits only go to farmers using new techniques? ould Eastern Shore farmers do during the present crisis? The forum is divided into two parts. In the first week members will separate into groups of fifteen and discuss their opinions on the farming issue. The members will then read a pamphlet dealing with the farming issue and return to the same groups the following week to discuss the issue in greater depth. The groups will be moderated by the faculty, staff, and League of Women

The second week is the most important. Facts presented in pamphlets, interspersed with opinions, should result it refined, mature arguments The groups will then converse as one body and their opinion will be taken directly to the Maryland Legislators in Amnapolis and Washington.

The service is provided to the community. This is a good chance for a student to become involved in a major national issue," said Hoon, who is look ing for an out-going student to travel to Annapolis with her b interests. "Any interested student should just contact me the phone or through campus mail, said Hoon."

President Douglas Cater and guest Najeeb Halaby discuss the fate of truth in the Age of Com Saturday's "Conversation on the Chesapeake." The symposium is held annually to discuss plai

Sophomores Sponsor Blood Drive

by Rachel Smith Washington College's 1986 Blood Drive will be held Tuesday, October 21, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Coffee House. Coordinated by the Sophomore Class and the American Red Cross, the annual event is one way the campus demonstrates its support for the community and responds to its needs

Because of its excellent track record, Red Cross Representatives consider the College one of the best donors Eastern Shore. Last year the College Drive collected an impressive 128 pints of blood. This year, because of even closer college-community relations, the goal is 150 pints

The Red Cross supplies 95% of the blood required by 41 area hospitals — more than 2800 a week. This amount, however, meets only the lege community is encouraged average needs of surgery, to participate. Don't let this Blood Drive gob without give leukernia patients. One accident alone can push the weekly allowance to 4000 units. Are through Monday the 17th allowance to 4000 units. Are through Monday the 20th. never given blood before" or "I'd like to give, but I don't have the time" sufficient responses to such statistics."

Giving blood takes less than one hour. First, a volunteer's blood is typed. Then, if a donor is eligible, it is collected in only eight minutes. After the pro-cedure is over, the volunteers rest. During this period, donors are watched by nurses for any diziness. Donors are served refreshments and then are free to leave. There is a good chance that these few minutes will help save someone's life

Every member of the Col-

A.P. Numbers Drop

by Audra M. Philippon

Associate Dean of the Col-Associate Dean of the Col-lege, Alice Berry, has en-thusiastically announced that Academic Probation is a shrinking phenomenon. The College's Admissions and College's Admissions and Academic Standing Committee conducted an investigation concerning those students on A.P. and are pleased with their

The number of students put on Academic Probation decreased; the number of students removed from Academic Probation increased; and the number of students dropped from the College for academic performance poor academic performance decreased steadily and significantly over the past three school years. During 1983-84, for example, the total number of A.P. students was 157. By the spring semester, those sutdents represented those sutdents represented 12.3% of all full-time students For 1984-'85, the total was 126. By spring, that was only 10.9% of enrolled students. By the end of last year, the total number of students on A.P. dropped to 101-only 5.7 % of all students.

The Committee offered several explanations for this positive trend: better advising, higher caliber students admitvices. In the last three years, the Writing Lab and the Study Skills Center have been launchskills center have been author-ed; and just last year A.P. students began to report regularly to the Associate Dean for academic counseling. "Last year was the first year that all students on Academic Probation were systematically interviewed by the Dean's Of-fice," said Berry. "It was man-

Currently, students are con-sidered for Academic Probation for getting two grades in any given semester below a Last spring the faculty voted to explore the possibilities of using GPA to define Academic Probation. Berry noted that the individual student attention now possible might not be under a GPA definition of A.P. Dean's List and honors, however, are presently determined only on the basis of GPA.

We just want the fairest y to deal with students," way to deal with students," said Berry. "My real goal is to put myself out of business, My secondary goal is to get 25% of the students on Academic Probation off the 'Associate Dean's List' and onto the Dean's List' and onto the

Mom's Cookie Jar

While wading through some much neglected reading last weekend, I came across an arabout herbal teas. According to the article, (University of California, Berkeley; Wellness Letter, Jan. 1986) some herbal teas are actually more hazardous than regular teas or coffees. The Food and Drug Administration states that many herbal teas contain ingredients which have been shown to be partially dangerous, such as shown to be partially dangerous, such as Chamomile, which causes reactions in people sensitive to Ragweed or Goldenrod, Sassafras, which is a known carcinogen, and Nutmeg, which can be toxic when brew-which can be toxic when brew-which large-amparities ed in large quanties

Although many herbal teas are good for you, they generally aren't a healthier substitute for regular tea or coffee. Herbal tea drinkers should take

Hope you all enjoyed the Oktoberfest Dinner Wednes-day night. I thought the accor-dionist, Robert Crow, was ex-cellent and added much to the festive atmosphere.

The HSH Food Show scheduled for next Wednesday night has been canceled. We hope to re-schedule it for next

Don't forget the Transylva-nian Dinner on Thursday oc-tober 30. Come in your Hallo-ween costume. A prize for the best costume will be awarded during the dinner.

Christmas is not far off. If you are in need of some extra cash, we still have a few open-ings in the dishroom and on the serving line. See Sharon Crew for more details.

Well, it's back to the kitchen for me. I think I'll try a new chocolate cookie recipe that someone sent me last week. So until later Mom

Two ways to leave the pack behind.

From grade point averages to grad school applications to preparing for the (gasp) real world, there's one thing that stands out about higher education The higher the educa-

But don't despair. Apple has two ways to make sure the competition eats your dust.

tion, the stiffer the competition.

Just take part in a five minute demonstration of the Macintosh™ personal computer.

You'll see how Macintosh can

You'll also qualify to win a Trek* 12-speed touring bike. Just by showing up. What's more, you'll walk away with a free bicycle cap. And the knowledge that vou can dramatically change the course of help you work

better, faster and

History. Biology. And whatever else you may be studying.

Macintosh and a Trek bike. Both will do more than help you get ahead. Both will take you anywhere you want to go.

ctions and details are available at your microcompater center. Boycle cape available while supply lasts Trek* is a tradomark of Trek Boycle Corp. C 1986 Apple Inc. Apple and the Apple logs are registered trademarks of Apple Compater Inc. Macrotisch is a trademark of Not Institut Laboratory. Inc. and is have a product the contract of the Institut Laboratory. Inc. and is have a product the contract of the Institut Laboratory. Inc. and is the contract of the Institut Laboratory. Inc. and is the contract of the Institut Laboratory.

FEATURES

Employee Moonlights in Christian Band

by Mary Riner

Most of us recognize her as the pleasant " cereal lady" who stocks and oversees the who stocks and oversees the maintainence of the dining area, but to the Trinity Assembly of God, Betty Scott plays an integral role in the pursuit of a higher coalition of Christians. Beneath the grease spots and grape juice stains of her apron lies an experienced guitar player in a christian country Rock Band.

Scott, a resident of Kent County, has been strumming the guitar for about 15 years. Her peaceful existence on the Eastern Shore has nourished her faith to pursue her God-given talent. A self-taught musician, Betty began playing for her church three years Her spiritual intentions have led her to the formation of a trio. Accompanying Betty on the guitar are an accordian player and a pianist. Practic-ing once a week, the group has compiled a variety of Christian Country songs comparable the phonetic quality to the home town country vocals of Loretta Lynn. The Methodist congregation of about 20 led by Pastor Lee Rhell enjoys this spiritual involvement every her spare time playing guitar for a Christien country rock band.

Some of the songs include "I'm Using My Bible For A Silver," "He Washed My Eyes such Christian favorites as Road Map," "Thirty Pieces Of Of Tears That I May See," and

The Christian Country Rock band has no trade name as that would defeat the purpose of the band to appeal to the higher understanding of God through simple and more meaningful

The "cereal lady" generates that same optimistic home town faith every morning and afternoon in the cafeteria. Without her dedicated service to the Washington College Din ing Service, many of us would forum in which to rejoice in the benevolence of God. And what could be a better way to relay this spirit than a band where at oins in this spirit. "I love getting together in good fellowship playing. You learn so much."

"You work for the Lord. Whatever you can do to serve him, you do."

means. In Scott's own words be eating dry bagels without means. In Scott's own words be eating dry bagels without she reinforces this beliet. "You be reinforces and Lucky work for the Lord, she said, which was not been supported by the said and ble identity. Freshman Alison Auber expressed her surprise at Scott's musical ability, this spirit than a band where at second musical ability, everyone can join in and clap their hands and stomp their Betty is just another example feet to the word of God? Scott of God's mysterious deeds that most people overlook. Wake up, enjoy the simple things in Eastern Shore musician Tom Larsen and his band brought a distinctive bluesey rock-nroll sound to the Coffee House last weekend. Unfortunately, due to scheduling conflicts with other campus social events, the rockers played to a record low turn out of students. Larsen, who has been played to distance the conflict of the composition of

OLD WHARF INN

Enjoy Waterfront Dining Located at the foot of Cannon Street

> Chestertown, Md. (301) 778-3566

The Finishing Touch

Fine Framing Select Gifts Artists Materials (in stock or will order)

> Dull Dorm Room? We are the answer!

Poster, Prints, Frames and Novelties

We will even mount, shrink & wrap your posters - ready to hang.

311 High Street Chestertown

778-5292

FREE TFORST

INTRODUCING COLLEGIATE FLIGHTBANK, FROM CONTINENTAL AND NEW YORK AIR.

If you're a full-time student at an accredited college or university you can join our Collegiate FlightBank." You'll receive a membership card and number that will allow you to get 10% off Continental and New York Air's already low fares. In addition, you'll get a one-time certificate good for $25 off any domestic roundtrip flight. Plus, you'll be able to earn trips to places like Florida, Denver, Los Angeles, even London and the South Pacific. Because every time you fly you'll earn mileage towards a free trip. And if you sign up now you'll also receive 3 free issues of Business Week Careers magazine.

This Porsche 924 can be yours if you are the national referral chambion

SIGN UP YOUR FRIENDS AND EARN A PORSCHE.

But what's more, for the 10 students on every campus who enroll the most active student flyers from their college there are some great rewards: 1 free trip wherever Continental or New York Air flies in the mainland U.S., Mexico or Canada.

Or the grand prize, for the number one student referral champion in the nation: a Porsche and one year of unlimited coach air travel.

And how do you get to be the referral champion? Just sign up as many friends as possible, and make sure your membership number is on their application. In order to be eligible for any prize you and your referrals must sign up before 12/31/86 and each referral must fly 3 segments on Continental or New York Air before 6/15/87. And you'll not only get credit for the enrollment, you'll also get 500 bonus miles.

So cut the coupon, and send it in now. Be sure to include your current full time student ID number. That way it'll only cost you $10 for one year ($15 after 12/31/86) and $40 for four years ($60 after 12/31/86). Your membership kit, including referral forms, will arrive in 3 to 4 weeks. If you have a credit card, you can call us at 1-800-255-4321 and enroll even faster.

Now more than ever it pays to stay in school.

| Name   | The state of the s | Must be submitted by 12/31/86.  Date of Birth. |
|--|--|--|
| College  | Address  | A STATE OF THE STATE OF                        | |  |  | Z'p_   |
| Permanent Ad   | kdress   | Zip  |
| Full time stude  | nt ID /  | Year of Graduation                             |
| s  | Check/Money Order Enclosed PLEASI  | DON'T SEND CASH                                |
|  | ☐ American Express ☐ Visa ☐ MasterC  | Card C Diner's Club                            |
| Account Numb   |  | Card © Diner's Club  Expiration Date           |
|  |  |  |
| Account NumbSignature XFOR MEMBERguardian of theCollegiate Fligh |  | Expiration Date                                |
| Account NumbSignature XFOR MEMBEREvandian of the                     | RSHIP APPLICANTS UNDER THE AC  | Expiration Date                                |

SPORTS

Sho'men Rookies Exude Potentia

by Kevin Crowell

Last Saturday afternoon, the Washington College lacrosse team lost to the Eagle Eye Lacrosse Club 7-6. The Eagle Eve Lacrosse Club wasn't very good, the game really wasn't that exciting, and I didn't even stay for the whole game. stay for the whole game.
(Pon't tell my editor that, though.) So why write this article? Well, I'm writing the article because there is much to report about the new talent that has joined the ranks of Sho'man lacrosse

You might be thinking that Washington College may not be very good this year because they lost to the lowly Eagle Eye Lacrosse Club and because they lost the best goalie in Division III lacrosse Larry Boehm - and most of their offensive firepower when John Nostrant, Rick Cote, John Nostrant, Rick Cote, Mike Papa, Bruce Yancey and Tom Gaines graduated. However, you and I both know that appearances can be deceiving and I think we will have to wait awhile before we can honestly judge this year's team. A load of new recruits, including one of the biggest classes of transfer students. are working to fill the gaps Coach Corcoran, and all lacrosse coaches use the fall games to assess talent for the spring season, Coach Corcoran wanted to get a look at a lot of different players and therefore wasn't interested specifically in beating Eagle Eye Lacrosse Impressive during the scrimmage were transfers, Bob Kuzdale at midfield and John May at attack. Freshman Bob Mar-tino also appeared to have great potential as a midfielder. Goaltenders Muggsie Mickum and Ron Knoz seem ready to fill Boehm's shoes. Starting for the Shoremen on Saturday were defenseman Mark Coleman and attackman Matt Kelly.

Transfer defenseman Bill
Carr said "The transfers are glad to be a part of such a com-petitive and winning team and they did not come down here to finish second." This is an inexfinish second." This is an inex-perienced team but a team with a great deal of potential and, come spring, they are ready to prove that they will

The Sho'man lexers, fortified with newly recruited talent, went head-to-head with the Eagle Eye Lacrosse Saturday as part of their fall training effort.

breaks and win."

WC Soccer Trounces Albright, Ursinus

by John Bodnar W.C. soccer team

The W.C. soccer team received what the doctor ordered this week as they won two out of three games lifting their record to 4-6-1.

Though the Shoremen lost 3-0 to Western Maryland earlier this week, they bounced back to beat Albright College 3-2 and Ursinus College 4-0. For the first time this season the Shoremen are on a roll. Senior captain, Patrick McMenamin "We played a great game against Ursinus, it's the kind of game we needed to get us rolling. It showed us that we can play up to the level of some teams that used to dominate frustration, and not even scoring a goal against Ursinus, a 4-0 victory was sweet.

This important win has not only boosted the Shoremen's confidence but has also evened their record in the Mid Atlantic Conference at 1-1. "Beating Ursinus now puts us at 1-1 in the M.A.C.," said Mark Nastaf. "Hopefully this win will keep us going. Tom Bowman headed in a crossed ball for W.C. from Jon Larson to give the Shoremen an early 1-0 lead. In the second half the Shoremen smelled victory and were determined to hold on. Their hard work and patience paid off when Mark Nastaf and Tom Bowman both The Shoremen pulled this scored to extend the lead to 3-0. victory right out of the magic Jon Larson's goal late in the hat. Senior Mark Nastat, who game was the final nail in cof-scored the second goal of the fin for 'Ursinus, giving the game, said 'After 3 years of Shoremen a proud 40 victory.

Freshmen goalie Peter Corbin picked up the shut-out, behind a solid defensive effort

The Albright victory didn't come as easy for the Shoremen on Saturday October 11th. W.C. had to wait until there were 15 seconds left in the game when ophomore Alan Lerch scored his second goal of the game to give the Shoremen a 3-2 vic-

The team didn't feel that they played up to their capabilities, but were happy to win after having come from Van Buren knocked in ball. In the second half, after behind twice during the game. Captain Patrick McMenamin ing behind 2-1, Alan scored to tie it once again said "We played terrible, but it 2. W.C. then applied pressure and chalkedwas our turn to win. So many winning goal with a m seconds remaining i times we have played well and lost. It felt good to get some game. In the first half the Shoremen The Shoremen host h tied the score at 1-1 when Freshmen Peter "Shatter" opponent Haverford tomorrow at 1:00 p.m.

Crew Consistently Victorious

by Chris Wiant

Washington College crew has definitely made a strong imon the rowing community. Saturday, October 4th, Women's and Men's Fours rowed in the Ship Shield Regat a race they hadn't ticipated in in six years, and oth emerged victorious

The Women's Four, Maggie Virkus, Cherie Waylett, Becky Brown, and Tina Smith, with the aid of their cockswain, Kim niedeinan, ran a rough race against Villanova's A and D teams. The Villanova A team had triumphed over them last year in Philadelphia, but this year the Sho'women were

The Markel

The Men's Four, Henron rownell, Schaffer Reese, Tom Merrill and Kevin McLaughlin, led by their coxswain, Dan Feiner, rowed their way to victory over Villanova A team, a Temple team that had been part of a national championship gold medal winning eight last year, and Stockton State. The Sho'men had also lost to Villanova last fall season, but this time, the big race was between Washington and Temple. Men's crew showed their str rength as a team and left Villanova in the water

Natural

CHECTEDTOWN MARYLAND

- SAT. 9:30 TO 6:00 . FRIDAYS TIL 8:00

Gourmet

& Cheeses

778-3292

of Women's John Wagner, speaking both teams stated, "Sal was a good sign of this come. It is very encou-early in the year to wins a bigger program that

Coach Chatellier was pleased and gave cred Geoff Gibbons, a junior coached the Men's test Saturday. He stated team has a good attitude respect Geoff for his judged by the coached the Men's test of the coached t and ability.

The Women's Four the on to compete in the He Connecticut Regatta Sat October 11. The race is forty boats leaving the heats at the second into Washington succeeded if ing three other crews. passed by no one. Over Sho'women placed 19th

Although only the crew has rowed thus Novice boat will have chance to make their Sunday, October 26th, home scrimmage with Washington.

AMAZING YARD SALE
3 houses down from Bunting, 219 Mt. Vernon Ave. October 18. Shetland sweaters-sizes 8-12, nifty fake fur coat-size 12, some antique clothes, old lace, unusual jewelry, etc. 9 to 1. Come at nine for the best treasures.

- Breakfast
- Sandwiches
- Subs
- Dinner Platters
- *Shrimp
- *Crab Cake *Chicken Nuggets
- Fresh Fried Chicken
- Mon -Sat Sun. 8-7 p.m.

778-1096

Location 213 South of

Volleyball Suffers Setback The volleyball team tasted both victory and defeat as they be completed for first place on the complete for first place on the com

11, in the Washington Invita-

The tournament did not bring the results the team had hoped for, but rather a spirited start which lost momentum and ended in a disappointing loss. In their opening match against Notre Dame, Washington shut out their opponents, 15-6, 15-0. The final match on Friday against Essex again resulted in a Washington win, 15-11, 15-8.

Still coasting on their vic-tories the Sho'women were brought to an abrupt half on Saturday by a loss to Wilm-ington College of 15-7, 15-12. In their next match, coming back-to-back to the Wilmington game, Washington faced St. Mary's and again tasted defeat

Gallaudet handed the Sho'women their final loss of the tournament 15-6, 15-5 later that day. Coach Penny Fall stated, "We were not up to our usual caliber of play. Friday was much better. We just had a bad day."

Sports Calendar

Friday 17

Volleyball -Gallaudet Tournament(A) -U. of Maryland(A)

Saturday 18

Soccer -Haverford, 1:00 p.m. Lacrosse -Alumni, 1:00 p.m.

Volleyball -Gallaudet Tournament(A)

Cross Country
-Dickinson Invitational(A)

Monday 20

Volleyball -Del. Tech., Stanton, 7:00 p.m.

Wednesday 22

Soccer -Widener, 3:00 p.m. Field Hockey -Gallaudet, 4:30 p.m. Volleyball -Catholic, 7:00 p.m.

Saturday 25

Crew -Head of Schuylkill Regatta Field Hockey -Maryland Tournament(A) -U. of Virginia(A)

Sunday 26

Crew -Mary Washington(H) Field Hockey -MD Tournament(A)

Tuesday 28

Field Hockey Wed. 29 -Widener, 3:00 p.m. Volleyball -Catholic/UDC, 7:00 p.m.

Platform Tennis

Attention:
Any student wishing to participate in men's, women's and mixed doubles Platform Tennis is asked to please contact Ann Hoon in her office next to the mail room.

The program will run from November to March, and the fee is $5.00.

The tentative schedule for men's matches will be Monday nights, women's Wednesday nights, women's Wednesday and Thursday mornings, and mixed doubles, Wednesday

WC Hockey Goes Down Fighting

by Job Stewart

Despite losing two matches teams that were heavily believed to be perfectly believed by the perfect of the week. WC field bookey favored against them before Sho'women, however. "This sas shown no signs of failing part this season. Playing two United Williams of the performed real well. They've the year, the Sho'women Thursday, October 3th. Colored WC Runners Upbeat WC Runners Upbeat WC Runners Upbeat the Sho'women's offensive game played with greatly hurt the Sho'women's offensive game played with the property of the performed real well. They've played, we performed real well. They've played, we perfor

On Tuesday, October 14th, a strong John Hopkins team defeated Washington 1-0. In this game Guinan felt the this game Gunan feit the Sho'women weren't at their best. "Hopkins played well against us, and we had one of those days when we just didn't click well, she said."

The feverish season for the Sho'women is quickly coming to a close. On Wednesday, Oc-tober 22nd, WC plays their last home game against Gallaudet. Guinan feels that the Sho'women must combine "speed, transition, and aggres-sion" in order to defeat the in order to defeat the improved Gallaudet squad.

HAPPY HOUR - DAILY 4:30-6

AIR TAXI SERVICE AVAILABLE

SCHEELER FIELD

The Cross Country team is against Widener and Drew at being progress and hopes to Drew University. Chatellier and the fall season on an up-self: according to Coach Don they almost defeated Drew and atellier. The team ran is convinced "they're working ainst Loyola College on a shard as they can."

The Shoremen have a two pinst Loyola College on as hard as they can."
Mendady Actober 8th. The Shoremen have a two hairvidually, senior Russel week break entitl their final fiter, the No.1 runner, plac-meet on Wet and of No.
Bladd in a field of nine com-November 1st. against hiss. The whole team is im-Lebanon Valley and Western wing and 'we have good Maryland. The race will be run meet it in a zainst on the river course near the wing and "we have good impetition against on the river course near the latellier. In against atellier In fact, 1:00 p.m.

salington College's No. 2
The Sho'men cross country
Barr, senior Kevin team will conclude its season micella is close behind at the Mid-Atlantic Champion-Truslow Boathouse starting at ships in Gettysburg, Pennn Saturday, October 11th, sylvania.

STEAKS . SEAFOOD . COCKTAILS BUFFET EVERY SUNDAY 12-5

RESTAURANT CHESTERTOWN, MD. 778-1222

Rt. 213 & 291

KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA SUN SYSTEM

EMILY HAIRDRESSER

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

Chestertown ravel

Airlines • Steamship • Railroad • Hotels 4514 Tours • Car Rental • Travel Insurance

GOLD & SILVER JEWELRY DIAMONDS WATCHES, CAMERAS & FILM ENGRAVINGS & REPAIRS 'RAYBANS

FORNEY'S JEWELERS

106 Cross St., Chestertown 778-1966

College Athletics Can Undermine Education

by Bill Beekman

on the proper role of athletics in academia.

"School's going to be a distraction..." mentions Alabama coach Ray

"School's going to be a distraction..." mentions Alabama coach Ray with his players. His summation, however, uncovers some of the real problems and distractions found at Alabama, and at college campuses across America: athletics are class

perkin's quote, recorded by Sports Illustrated, sheds light on the heart of the current athletics vs. caademics dilemma. Specifically, it exposes two of the main problems more than the conmistaken philosophies. Is next Saturday's big game more important than this Friday's Econ exam' Is the mandatory of a.m. practice more important than 6 a.m. practice more important than finishing the U.S. History reading? Should Joe Star-Football-Player receive a better grade than he deserves so that he can remain academically eligible, and keep his team in the hunt for the top ranking? More and more, these questions are being answered yes. And more and more it is being revealed that academic success, or even academic survival, means less than victory on the playing field. But does it?

It doesn't, or at least it shouldn't. In our modern world with ever-expanding our modern world with ever-expanding technologies, a good, sound education is essential. When a college star's play-ing days are over, if an education has not been obtained, he's damned to a life

This is the second in a continuing series which shifts between moving refrigerators, standing in unemploy-ment lines, and signing welfare checks. Few sportsmen ever make it in the ranks of the professionals, and only a minute percentage of those few have a professional athletic career which secures them for life I don't think that any reasonable in-dividual will dispute the value of an

Last week I discussed what makes athletics such a high priority, the lucrative revenues, the mass media glitz, the focal point for colleges, the necessary distraction, and so on. But all of these benefits carry a price, a price which falls primarily upon the players themselves. This price includes failing to complete an educa-tion, or completing one of an insuffi-

Is next Saturday's big game more important than this Friday's Econ. exam?

Milwaukee

Perkins about this remark, he will say that it was not what he meant. He would probably lecture on the importance of an education to the athlete and non-athlete alike. I'm sure that on and non-attitude and the inside coach Perkins hopes that his player will excel in life after their college days are over. But as Perkins' quote illustrates, in college athletics what is thought and what is done are two different things. Often, good inten-tions become garbled and glanced over when applied to real life situations, where athletics carry a top priority and ball games must be won at tremendous cient nature. Many athlete-students go through "pre-real life"—having everything given to them-grades, cars, money, attention, fame—only to get out of college uneducated and unprepared for reality. Then there are the six and seven year students who struggle to get their degree years after their lacrosse their degree years after their lacrosse eligibility has expired. These students all suffer because they allowed athleties to get in the way of their educations. Many go through life wondering what might have been if on-ly they had paid more attention in

Although many of these woes seem self-inflicted, athletes cannot solely be put to blame for them. Responsibility also lies on coaches who demand by much time out of players; and a ministrators who put too much pressure on winning. On a larger scalblame can be put upon us, society, who in our sports-obsessed minds had demanded excellence from college that the wind the state of the college of th athletes, without realizing that they a just like you and me, that they, to must regularly face the travails of li and deserve an education in orde

But how can we deal with the in mediate problem. Here are some su gestions: stricter admissions sta gestions: stricter admissions and dards, so that only those reasonal prepared to deal with colleg academics will do so; development professional teams of minor leaguest and the stricter admissions. professional teams of minor legg systems to accomodate athletes who sole ambition is the pros, and to ma-colleges a place of learning againg rather than a professional breeding ground; gradual de-emphasizing of co-lege athletics; stricter eligibility staiege athletics; stricter eligibility sa dards; continuous progress reports student athletes and college athlet programs by unblased source restrictions on practice and play time; and scholarship numbers of tingent upon ratio of athlet graduated.

graduated.

These are all ideas to solve a land complex problem. Each has own pros and cons, and each fits doesn't fit) into the overall scheme things in its own way, to its own degr How and where these components will be the subject of the next article

12 oz. Btis.

LAMBDA PI DELTA $\Lambda \Pi \Lambda$

Presents An Evening Series:

Majors At Washington College

A great chance for freshmen. sophomores, and undecided students to learn about potential academic majors.

Tuesday, October 21st 7:00 P.M. Hynson Lounge

- Refreshments Afterwards -

Thurs. Fri. 10-24-86 SUDS'n SODA DISCOUNT BEVERAGES

> 1 Mile North of Campus 778-5077

6 AM To 12 Midnight - 7 Days

BEER & WINE Thurs. Fri. 10-24 & LIQUOR

Hunting Licenses & Ammo

- MASTERCARD - VISA-I.D. REQUIRED ON ALL ALCOHOL PURCHASES

Congratulations On Pledging ALPHA CHI OMEGA Beth & Cathy Love, Beta Pi

Meese Studies Molested Fish

By Ken Haltom

Wednesday night Mr.
Ty Lynn of the American Liberties Union spoke at ham James Forum on "Big ther in The Bedroom." Mr. in talked about the Supreme the Meese Commission's or on pornography. Mr. serves as counsel for the issues closely. Mr. Lynn ed his concern over the vacy the present adis summer the Supreme it voted 5-4 in favor of elding an anti-sodomy law orgia. This decision in efoutlaws sodomy in the e nation. Mr. Lynn ex-sed alarm over why our mment has the power to te an individual's sexual rences. "It tells homosexosedly the champion of Court ny and freedom, has laws majority of students at House ngton College are too Preciping-up the paper due be c

now or last week on the

the modernized com

has forged between the nth and twentieth cen-Most students take it for ed that the funex-easytouse Mac will be at their fingertips, to make tomorrow's

y John:

What is C. Motor? 1 ar there is le coming to mpus! Katharine

mity Bakery Coffee Shop

French Loaves

1815 A.M.-11 A.M

Soups & Sandwiches Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

Sat. 5 A.M. -5 P.M.

If tells homosexby are soon class Berry Lynn, legislative counsel for the ACLU, was the William James Forum
sep. "said Lynn. It is hard speaker Wednesday night. Lynn enlightened the audience on the governsimple that the U.S., ment shart stempts to regulate severally, including the recent Surprise seculty the champion of Court decision outlewing sodomy and the blassed Meass Commission."

g certain sexual prac- witnesses told the Commission The Meese Commission gave most interesting part of to steal and to abuse and ym's talk dealt with the molest animals (among other to Commission, Mr. Lynn things). Lynn admitted some the Commission's "field of the testimony was quite funto adult book stores and ny. Said Lynn, "one man told the commission's "rieid of the testimony was quite tun-to adult book stores and my. Said Lynn, "one man told a very interesting of how he molested his tropical song given by the Com-fish." This is our government on's witnesses. Several at work!!!?? Watt a minute!

no heed to those who defended porn and gave a very one sided view of the subject in their report (which itself, is quite racy). Lynn calls the report "irresponsible" for its lack of real effort to find a solution to problems such as family sex abuse. ess Room Dedication Tonight room at the O'Neill Literary Preceding the dedication will be cocktails and the Washington College Jazz Band at 5:00 p.m. The Literary House is even adding more incomn the centive for those withering ten away from cafeteria food by it for holding a delicious picnic supnexper from 6:00-7:00 p.m. After will the dedication David Godine, from Godine Publishing, will give an enlightening speech, "The Art of Fine Printing in line. Repent and aber the burden printers bear before computers Sear before computers After you attend this Printing Press Function tonight to the dedication of the and your adrenaline is surging through your veins, relax, there is still more to come! Tomorrow morning, if you are awake, from 9:30-10:30 a.m., the Literary House will be ser-ving fruit and coffee for those avid devotees of the printing press. Following the refreshments will be a talk by William Bailey on "The Inven-tion of the Printing Press: Technological Change and Modes of Learning."

Also at the Literary House will be "Pastels-Small Paintings: An Exhibit of Works by Susan Tessem," on display throughout the weekend and 9-5 daily until October 24th.

Talk On German Writer

The Literary House Teas and Talks series continues Monday, October 20th with An Introduction the Work of Notart.

A turn-of-the-century troduction the Work of Stata Xevig. Professor Bren - be one of the top ten German and his many, novelst, short complishment. Zweig is known as a dramatist, novelst, short The talk will be in the O'Neull story writer, poet and humanist. To this exhaustive served a 4.p.m. and Keiser will list can be added his work as a speak at 4:30 p.m.

The Literary House Teas and known biographies is of Mary

6-PACK OF SODA All Varieties

> *1.69 Plus Tax

Same price as chain stores. At the Coffee House

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Fri 17

Homecoming Hall of Fame Banquet and Induction Hodson Hall, 6 p.m. Returning Writer's Reunion Return with Entertainment by WC Jazz Band O'Neill Literary House, 5 p.m. Dedication of the Letterpress and Press Room O'Neill Literary House, 7 p.m. The Art of Fine Printing in America

Godine, Publisher, David Godine, Publisher, Godine Books, speaker O'Neill Literary House, 8 p.m. Pastels Smell Paintings: An Exhibit of Works

Exhibit of Works by Susn Tessem O'Neill Literary House Alpha Chi Omega sponsors D.J. in Cullen sponsors D.J. in Cullen Film Series: After Hours Norman James Theatre, 7:30 p.m. Sat 18

Alumni Tennis, 10:30 a.m. Alumni Baseball, 10:30 a.m. Alumni Lacrosse, 3 p.m. Beef and Fish Barbecue

Beet and Fish Barbecue Lelia Hynson Pavilion, 5 p.m. Letterpress and Letterpress Room Dedication The Invention of the Printing

Technological Change and Modes of Learning Professor William Bailey, speaker O'Neill Literary House, 10:30

Homecoming Dance Featuring Nick Flick and the Projectors, Hege V. and the Bijous $5, Semi-formal.

Hodson Hall, 9 p.m. 1 a.m. Set up at 6 p.m.

Film Series: After Hours Norman James Theatre, 7:30

Literary House Talk An Introduction to the Work of Stefan Zweeg. Professor Brenda Keiser, speaker O'Neill Literary House, Tea 4 p.m., Talk 4:30 p.m. Film Series: After Norman James Theatre, 7:30

When Women Rebel: The Rise of Popular Feminism in Peru. A lecture by Carol Andreos O'Neill Literary House, 7:30 p.m. Tues 21 Sophomore Class Blood Drive Coffeehouse, 10-4 p.m.

Evening of Majors Sponsored by Lambda Phi Delta Hynson Lounge, 7:00 p.m. Wed 22

Lecture Series Sex Hormones and Executive Ability Dr. Estelle Tamey, Prof. of Medicine Georgetown University speaker Hyson Lounge, 7:30 p.m. Movie: Electro

Norman James Theatre, 7:30

Maryland Wildlife Show Coin Athletic Center Through Sunday Film Series: Streetwise Norman James Theatre, 7:30 p.m. Mon 27

Sat 25

Literary House Talk This is Reggae Music Kathy Mills, speaker O'Neill Literary House, Tea 4 p.m., Talk 4:30 p.m. Film Series: Streetwise Norman Hames Theatre, 7:30

MORE TELP

ENTERTAINMENT

Entertainment Calendar

Newtowne Square Pub 'The Cutlers Chestertown 778-1984 Kitty Knight House

Gene Hamilton through Satur-day Sasafrass River, 9 p.m.-1 a.m. 648-5305

Saturday 18 Newtown Square Pub "Great Train Robbery"

Capital Center, D.C. "Journey and Glass Tiger" Oct. 22-23, 792-4001

The Bayou "The Smithereens"

Candidate Night Meet the Kent County Contenders for public office. Chestertown Middle School Media Center, Center, 7:30 p.m.

Friday 24

Tred Avon Players "Harvey"

Oxford Community Theatre, Rt 333 $5, 8 p.m. until Oct. 26, 822-2963

Tuesday 28

Newtowne Square Pub Halloween Party with "Great Train Robbery" Chestertown, 778-1984

Lecture On Rebellion

Carol Andreas, author of "When Women Rebel: The Rise of Popular Feminism, will lecture Monday evening at the Literary House. Her topic will be the Latin American feminist rebellion that is the subject of her book

Peru, like so many countries of Latin America, is in the throes of an indigenous revolt against the way the country is dominated by the U.S. and foreign capital. It is a country in which women, many of them of Incan descent, are leading the struggle to maintain their native earth, language, and culture. At the same time they have to combat the Macho have to combat the Macho tradition which influences many of the men. Some of these women are direct descendants of the people who lived in Peru before the arrival of the Spanish and still carry with them the values and legacy of social structures of the pre-Hispanic societies, in which women had respect and power equal to that of men.

Carol Andreas now lives in Colorado Springs, Colorado, and has been a guest lecturer for the Center for the Study of Women in Society, Univers of Oregon, Eugene, Oregon. She is a sociologist who lived and married in Peru and has since made frequent trips there to gather information for this book. Because of her long experience as a teacher and activist, she is able to impart immediacy and human in-terest to this history of the women's role in changing the social and economic structure

Neil Young Splashes Down

by Barclay Green
A couple of weeks ago, I read a review in which Neil Young's a review in which Neil Young's latest album, Landing On Water, was called an "elec-tric mishap." The reviewer had no taste. Or else he had never heard the album

Landing On Water is Young's best album since Rust Never Sleeps. It marks his second attempt to record exten-sively with synthesizers. The first attempt, Trans, failed because its rhythms were too slick, too commercial. Landing on Water does not suffer this Young has created in novative synthesized rhythms backed them with fine percus-sion, and mixed the result with some unique guitar riffs. The result is an album which, though a bit simplistic at some points, proves that Young can write good electronic music.

The album opens with one of its best tunes, the un-characteristically optimistic "Weight of the World." This is a well-written piece which thrives on the drumming of

Steve Jordon. Jordon uses a wide range of instruments to create rhythms of varied tone create rhythms of varied tone and color. Young mixes these rhythms much louder than usual, giving the song a fran-tic, vibrant quality. This effect is highlighted by Young's quick lead riffs and Danny Kort-chmar's refined post-punk whether withered chmar's refined post-punk rhythm guitar. "Weight of the World" is followed by another of the album's best pieces, "Violent Side." This song is notable for its combination of musical styles. It opens with an "Eighties" rhythm guitar/synthesizer duet, but Young quick-Arts Update Approdite, and very cunningly uses her feminine wiles on

Writers' Theatre

by Alison Auber

partying is doing to their minds and bodies?" Aries asks Dionysus on the newly-built stage adjacent to the O'Neill

Actually, the two mythological gods are not performing especially for the mor-tal WC student; Joe Maggio and Todd Karr are rehearsing for the first Writer's theatre performance, Smoke Gets in Your Eyes, by Shawn Orr.

This three act play will be presented on stage at 4:30 p.m. on October 22. The stage adjoining the Literary House was built expressly the stage adjoining the Literary House was built expressly the stage adjoining the Literary House was built expressly the stage and th

built expressly to accomodate

dent writers a chance to have their work performed," says Diane Landskroener, the Ad-visor/Director of the Theatre.

"There will be performances throughout the school year to gauge the amount of interest,

Other pieces on the Theatre's agenda include works by Chas Foster, Elizabeth Rollins, and be a part of The Writer's Theatre, Mary Riner respond-ed, "It's great because it's the only organization on campus that gives writers a dramatic

'It was created to give stu-

the Writer's Theatre.

she continued

Kelly Lamoree When asked how she felt to Literary House.

What do you think all that songwiters have attempted this, the results have in-variably been failures. The lead always stands out drastically. Young succeeds with his combination, however, because the percussion is once again mixed louder than usual. The lead guitar is consequently somewhat buried beneath the drums. No instrument dominates. Thus, a highly interesting and listenable sound

Yet the fruit of Neil Young's ccess is also the seed of his failure. The main drawback of is a dul "Landing On Water" is that no feeling.

Zeus, who is played by John Richards. Directly following the performance, there will be a reception in the Literary House, to which everyone is in-

Reggae Day

What is Reggae music, anyway? This will be the ques-tion answered by Music Pro-fessor Kathy Mills on Monday, October 27th. Her lecture, "This is Reggae Music," is part of the Literary House Teas and Talks Series.

Mills will investigate the twenty year history of the music, and delve into its roots. Also, she will discuss how it is linked to Jamaican cultural, social, and political influences. The religious influences of the Rastafarians will be con-sidered as well. Mills will conclude with an explanation the rise from obscurity of Reg-gae during the last five years since the death of Bob Marley

Please note that the lecture the Sophie Kerr Room.

Neil Young's Landing On Water album floats on a sea of synthesised about by lyrical white caps.

ly adds to this an "early Seven-instrument dominat ly adds to this an "early Seven-instrument dominat less" lead. When other sound when one instrument dominates the spanse. It is usually a simple, unvarying rhythm devoid of the synthesizers and tone color which makes "Weight of the World" successful. Only world successful. Only with enteresting to sets sometimes is Young's lead Young can bring to his guitar even added. The result found talent for electronic is a dull sound lacking soul and same ardor which marke feeling.

The most interesting ment of "Landing On We though, is not always music. Neil Young is know music. Neil Young is know the quality of his incisive pessimistic lyrics, and a ding On Water" does not he damage his reputation. In lyrics may not be up to standards of those on After Gold Rush but they still one creat deal of insight. great deal of insight.

A fascinating theme in Landing On Water lyne Young's treatment flower power generation "Hippie Dream," he sing "Hippie Dream," he sing his realization that wooden ships," an allusing the CSNY tune of the some tle, "were just a higher dream...capsized in excellent the realism is emphasing "Hard Luck Stories."] cut criticizes those who ale cut criticizes those who am "say...how much bad is came (their) way" and "m try to start again." Neil Yo seems to have altered is sions slightly

Several of the tunes are too simplistic, too boring. There is album, but not a great so nothing to grab the listener's definitely proves that 'n attention.

"I Got a Problem," the third symbolism with well well to this category. The song so, Landing On Water is a control of the category. The song so, Landing On Water is to this category. The song so, Landing On Water is to this category. The song so, Landing On Water is to the category. The song so, Landing On Water is to the category. The song so, Landing On Water is to the category. The song so, Landing On Water is to the category to the category of the category moved away from his coustic roots, and the resul uncertainty leaves his thesized music floundering passionless at some point will be interesting to see if

Chestertown Movie Theater

"Nothing In Common" 778-157 urs: Fri.-Sun. 7 & 9 p.m

"THERE'S NEVER BEEN A COMEDY QUITE LIKE 'AFTER HOURS,' A RACY, RAUCOUS RIDE THROUGH THE NIGH BOUND TO LEAVE AUDIENCES REELING WITH LAUGHTER.

"What a pleasure it is to watch Scorsese cook. He is masterful images sparkle: his love of moviemaking reveals itself in evil dazzling cut and close-up. The cast is a dream."

**★★★ (Highest Rating).
Martin Scorsese's ingenious new film gern will stay with you long after you have experienced if.

The film is definitely an original, unlike any of Scorsese's films, or for that matter, unlike any film."

"A wild, funny and wonderful original! A delicious, top-notch comedy."

"A true black comedy, "Affiliations" is a great movie!"

— A "re NOVES Toget Earn Gare 34th Hilarious, fascinating, fro

eningly funni quite a night the town You'll laugh at this frank

Tea and cakes in the Literary House at 4 p.m. The talk will begin at 4:30 p.m.

"Liberal Arts in Business: Philosophy Meets Wall Street," has been rescheduled to October 20th at 7:30 p.m. in

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 8

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, October 31, 1986

Along with other students' cars, Senior Skip Middleton's Chevette was vandalized with spray paint October 11th Is the Reid Hall parking lot. Neither campus security nor the Chestertown Police Department have been able to administration, but recently the cost of vandalism has had a more direct effect on several students. In recent weeks a wave of parking lot vandalism has left many students with damaged automobiles and expensive repair bills.

Student Autos Vandalized

During the night of Saturday, October 11th, in the parking lot behind Reid Hall, several cars were found damaged by van-dals. Although several cars were damaged, only two were reported to campus security damaged on the same evening, and only one incident was Obscenities were painted on reported to the Chestertown the hood and both sides and Police Department.

That night, a 1974 red Monte Carlo owned by sophomore Thea Bournazian was a target of the attack. Obscenities were spray painted in black on the by Tony Caligluri sides of the car, and one Campus vandalism has headlight was painted over. always been a concern to Although the car was constudents as well as staff and siderably defaced, Bournazian administration, but recently considered herself lucky in comparison to other were damaged the same night. Upon the discovery of the vandalism, she contacted her R.A. and campus security, as well as the Chestertown Police Department. Although she did make the effort to contact the authorities, she does not expect any results.

In a second reported inci-dent, a tan Chevette owned by senior Skip Middleton was also obscenties were painted on the hood and both sides and parts of the car'schrometrim were pulled off. The antenna was also twisted off. Middleton did report the incident to campus security, but chose not to

SGA Debates Part-Time Student Representation

by Audra M. Philippon At Monday night's SGA senate meeting, the senate reaffirmed the status of parttime students on campus, stating that part-time students are in fact members of the SGA, and that they may vote and seek office in the student government. The vote was the tesult of a heated discussion wer the appointment of part-ime student Steve Meehan to Academic Council and the signation of a dorm senator to is a part-time student.

Meehan, Editor-in-Chief of the Pilot, is a history major thing two courses and writing its thesis. He was appointed to heademic Council early in the temester by the SGA Exemester by the SGA Exhis appointment imarily because of his status part-time student. SGA members of the SAB were also concerned that Meehan did not reside on campus, he already has a time-consuming job editing his newspaper, and there was some question about his academic caliber.

Meehan's appointment, after being rejected by the SAB, was reinstated by SGA President Chris Doherty, who claimed that it is his constitutional right as president to fill appointment vacancies. Meanwhile, Academic Council was func-tioning without one of its student representatives. For a second time, nearly three weeks ago, the SAB rejected Meehan's appointment.

man Mona Brinkley stated that SGA) and to hold office," said tion did not allow him to be a Meehan. Taking on part-time students "will only make the SGA better down the road.

Brinkley voted along with the rest of the senate in favor of representation for parttime students, but she does not agree that they should hold office. "Their view is important too, but I still think you need full-time students to sit on the most important faculty com-mittees," she said. "We should try to pick our best academic representatives to sit on these committees to establish our credibility. And the best way to do that is to take a full course load," she continued.

Meehan's appointment.

To settle the dispute, Meehan the senate meeting, offaddressed the senate himself campus dorm senator and on Monday. "I think this is a part-time student Tom very discriminatory thing. II Jackson stood up, announced you're qualified, you deserve that he was a part-time stuthe representation (on the dent, and that if the Constituent senator he wanted to resign.

"The whole discussion got me thinking about the role of parttime students in the senate ... I felt dishonest for not saying that I was a part-time stu-

Minutes after Jackson walked out of the senate, SJB Chair-man Chris Fascetta moved that "All part-time students are members of the SGA." The motion passed unanimously with one abstention, according to SGA minutes.

Wednesday morning Meehan withdrew his name from con-sideration for Academic Council, believing that his appoint-ment was keeping the SAB and the senate from their agendas.

The status of part-time students, however, still re-mains undefined. No College document delineates the dif-

their rights as students on campus. According to the Registrar, all students fall under two broad categories: matriculated or nonmatriculated, meaning that students are either pursuing a degree or not. In both categories there are full-time and part-time students. A part-time student is one that takes less than 12 credit hours in a semester. Part-time students are further distinguished as traditional (under 25 years old) or non-traditional (over 25

According to the Business Office, all students except nontraditional students pay a percentage of their tuition to student fees, which funds the SGA, and partly funds The Elm, the Pegasus, the film series, and the concert series. Bar-bara Toy explained: "part-

continued on page 5

Senate Role In SGA Resolution Unclear

Thursday, October 16. resident Cater eting to discuss off-campus sing problems with any stuwho wished to express feelings. The housing ing was prompted by the wing SGA resolution: TRESOLVED, that the ludent Government association of Washington llege has expressed conm regarding the appall-state of College provided

d-campus housing.

must question the wisdom of the College Administrators who failed to attend a town meeting called to address parts of this issue.

THEREFORE, we, the Student Government Association, have called an all campus meeting on hous-ing Wednesday, October 22, 1986 at 9:30 p.m. in the Nornan James Theatre. It will be here that student grievances may be heard, and we request that members of the Washington College administration be on hand to answer those grievances, as well as being (sic) made aware of student concerns.

Since it is mid-October. and some students have yet to receive adequate plumb-ing, maintenance (sic) and ing, maintenance (Sic) and other amenities usually associated with paying eleven thousand dollars per year, the time for answers—and action—is long past. LASTLY, the Senate of the Student Government

Association has endorsed and will implement a plan for students to attend the next town zoning hearing set for the twenty third of this

This resolution is passed the Senate on this day, October 13, 1986.

October 13, 1986,
This resolution did produce positive results. At the meeting, Cater and Tom Steele, chairman of the SGA facilities committee, decided to send out a questionnaire to
continued on page 5

Inside:

Ghost Stories

Crew

Baseball Lords

Reggae

Album Review

OPINION

SAB Sabotaged

"Contuned." It was a word heard over and over at this Monday's SGA needing as our elected representatives tried to rus a constitutional obstacle course with their shoeless tied together. Academic Council appointee-in-limbo Steve Meehan, who has atnew withdrawn his name from consideration, told the Senate that there were serious ramifications. Telept now, the faculty is laughing at you," he told the Senate. Don't do anything, Meehan Launtied, "if you want Dong Cater and Dean Baer to decide your academic board or you." Meehan appoint of you." Meehan appoint of the Student Academic Board primarily because of his status as a part-time student. The Issue of whether or not part-time students can serve on student committees arose and was temporarily resolved when the Senate overwhelmingly biguou clause in the Constitution, it is determine fully the structure of student representation on all faculty committees. "The real insue of the property of the committees." The real insue of the Status was that to much time has already been wasted disputing his somination. The Senate, the SAB, as stated of proves of the president.

Meehan's reason for withdrawing his name from consideration was that too much time has already been wasted disputing his somination. The Senate, the SAB, and the Academic Council have a housewey, that the entire process by which Meehan was nomnation. The Senate, the SAB, and the Academic Council have already been logged down with the issue for too long. It seems, however, that the entire process by which Meehan was nominated to Academic Council was a waste of time as well. Had the SAB been given the chance to nominate its own list of candidates, as intended by the constitution, instead of being presented with one by the president, no one's time would have have wasted at 15. een wasted at all.

been wasted at all.

Meehan maintains that the objection to his nomination was a "political move" on the part of a "faction" of students who, according to him, are out to discredit him any way they can.
Paranoid delusions anide, Meehan fails to realize that the first upon himself to submit Meehan's anne as an academic council nominee. The entire "political" battle that resulted was one which questioned this primary move—a move that tried to cheat the SAB, out of its say about who sits on what comittees. Although the SAB, for whatever reason, found Meehan manufable for a position on Academic Council, the source of the grid-lock between over Meehan specifically, but over the attempted power grab on the part of the president.

It isn't clear what is occuring within the minds of student

the part of the president.

It inst't clear what is occuring within the minds of student leaders who create and use non-existent student "factions" or their way to create and use non-existent student "factions" or their own ineptitudes and failings. What it clear is that the source of conflict and the time consuming delays of the past weeks is primarily the result of the SAB not being given it constitutional to the student of the past weeks is primarily the result of the SAB not being given it constitutional to the student of the past weeks in the student of the past weeks in the student of the past weeks in the student of the past of the past weeks and the past of the he said

Washington College Elm

| Editor-in-chief           |                     |
|---------------------------|---------------------|
| News Editor               | Audra Philippon |
| Features Editor           | Andrea Kehoe        |
| Arts/Entertainment Editor | David Healey        |
| Sports Editor             | Christine Wlant     |
| Photography Editor        | J M. Fragomeni      |
|                           |                     |
|                           |                     |

Managing Editor
National Advertising Manager
Local Advertising Manager
Circulation Manager

The Em is the official student newspaper of Washington College. The Em is published every Friday during the academic year with the scape. Editorials are the responsibility of the Editoria-check signage columns, commentaria, latters, editorials, and editorial carbons represent the manners of the editorial staff.

All latters to the editor are read with interest but, due to space limits makes to the editor are read with interest but, due to space limits makes to the editor are read with interest but, due to space limits must be alternated. Unsigned latters will not be considered to publication. Students should include their year and major. Faculty and staff to 500 words or less and include day and weeking phone numbers in the avent that clarification of portions of the latter is needed. Latters may be a supported to the control of the latter in seaded. Latters may be alternated to the control of the latter is needed. Latters may be alternated to the control of the latter in seaded. Latters may be alternated to the control of the latter in seaded. Lattern may be alternated to the control of the latter in seaded. Lattern may be a supported to the control of the latter in seaded. Lattern may be a supported to the control of the latter in seaded. Lattern may be a support of the latternated to the control of the latternated to the latternat id must be received no later than useds y to see that the Queen Anne an in that week 'issue.

The Elm's business and editorial office is located in the Queen Anne usage, found on the first floor of the Queen Anne's House dormitory. usanass hours are 7:00 pm. to 8:00 pm. Tiesdays and 7:00 pm. to 11:00 usanass hours are 7:00 pm. to 8:00 pm. Tiesdays and 7:00 pm. to 11:00 m. Wedness(s): The office phone number is (2011 778-2006, extension

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Watch Out For Vandals

To The Editor: I would like to call student attention to a recent rash of vandalism that has occurred on campus. According to the Student Affairs Office, as many as four cars have been spray-painted on campus, in addition some similar incidents that have occurred in town.

On October 11th my sisters came for a visit in a brand new car. Unfortunately, while they were here, someone paid a visit to this car with a can of spray paint. They returned home with headlights and hood streaked with black paint. This act of vandalism not only cost a lot of money to repair, but my family is now inconvenienced by their reluctance to park on this campus

The slime who performed this brand of "artwork" is, luckily for him, still at large. Students, especially students with cars, should be wary of parking lot vandals and, when seeing someone suspicious, should not hesitate to report them to campus security. The vandal or vandals in this in-stance are criminals and should be prosecuted.

Thank you,

Cherie Groomes

Meehan Bows Out

At this past Student Government Association Senate meeting, our representatives took a simple, significant, and unanimous vote to recognize part-time students as members of the SGA, giving them full right to representation and to represent.

This historic vote emerged out of the battle by Vice President Mona Brinkley and the student Academic Board against President Chris Doherty and the SGA Senate over my nomination to Academic Coun-cil. While the Senate had approved my nomination in a previous vote, the SAB turned Monday, 39 yeses and one abstention, reaffirms that in the SGA Constitution there exists no discrimination on the issue of a student's status.

The vote is important for several reasons, but no more significant than that one senator, Tom Jackson, can re main in the Senate. A part-time student who works for WC food service, Mr. Jackson has been lauded by his fellow senators for his work on several projects, including Homecoming. In a dramatic statement Mon day night, Mr. Jackson boldly offered his resignation to President Doherty over the "part-time student" argument the SAB presented to the Senate. The Senate refused to accept his resignation Mr Jackson's contributions signify that part-time students can offer much to the Washington College campus. In this day of declining scho ship and loan support and ris-ing tuition, we will see more and more Tom Jackson's on and more 10m Jackson's on our campus as they work for and through their education. The Senate's vote shows the forethought of our current representatives such as Mr. Doherty, Senators Lisa Buckey and Perry Finney, and Senior Class President Irene

laidis

In a roll call vote of 36 yeses, two-no's (V.P. Brinkley yeses, two-no's (V.P. Brinkley and Sophomore class Presi-dent Rachel Smith), and two abstentions, the Senate over-whelmingly reconfirmed my appointment to Academic Council. Following that vote members of the SAB, including Mona Brinkley and Sue Kolls, said publicly that they would not support my nomination if reconsidered. The Executive Board and SAB are scheduled to discuss the appointment unday.

To save time and to get the business of student govern-ment and the Academic Council moving forward, I remove my name from consideration at this time. The SGA's support of part-time students was a win in itself and I feel that the SAB's "bad blood" politics that continue to hold up my appoint-down my nomination on ment are wasting the time of grounds that I was a part-time students, faculty, and adstudent, and therefore not a ministrators working for a member of the SGA. The vote compromise. I only hope that Monday, 39 yeses and one when the Executive Board, be when the Executive Sourd, we official nominating committee for the SGA, makes its new nomination, the SAB will not hold petty politics over the heads of the students involved.

I want to personally thank my supporters and, as always, offer my assistance to the work of student government a Washington College

Sincerely, Stephen Z. Meehan, '87

Jackson

To The Editor:

To my fellow students Thomas My name is Philmore Jackson. I'm a part time student of Washington College. I am a graduate o Kent County High and I have one full year of studies at Frostburg State. For those d you who do not know me, work in the Dining Hall.

Responds

I am writing to you b of an event that took place if At this meeting I handed in m resignation as off-campu senator because I am a part time student. In the student government constitution und article one, section two states as follows: "All full-time undergraduate students Washington College at members of the SGA and an entitled to representative voli

My resignation was the result of my personal feeling and had nothing to do with the disagreement over an appo academic councils. Since actions on that night, the ide that my resignation somehow planned out ahea time has come to my atten All I have to say is that the P ple who have known me some time know that I w never do anything that I my did not believe in. My P anything else. over the appointment, as it, was a launching pad.

continued on page

Student Increase Would Be Advantageous

The issue is this: Should Washington College expand its current enrollment of 850 and thrive or should it maintain it and possibly cease to grow in any way, shape or form?

As a transfer student from the Land a transfer student from the Land transfer to admit that too large a student reputation can be detrimental to qualified to the Land to t

Obviously, a change from 850 to 1200 students is not something that could transpire overnight. Lots of organization, preparation, hard work and of course money would need to be spent in order to bring about such a change. But the long term benefits could alter the course of history of Washington College in many positive ways.

Tim Grav

Upon hearing the afore mentioned question, yet another question has come to mind. That is how would Washington College be effected economically, socially and educa-

41----

Economically, an increase of 400 students per year would bring in some 4 million dollars in revenue to the College, not to mention the probable increase in consumer trade for Chestertown merchants.

Socially, adding 400 students would increase involvement in many activities whether they be social clubs, academic functions, parties, student government, etc., and the list goes on

On the academic side of the matter, I'm not sure that the student teacherratio would be affected in any manner. After all, there seems to be many vacant seats in most of the classrooms as

Again, I must reiterate that this sort of change is not a simple matter, on the contrary it is one that must be thought out to its fullest extent. Though Washington College adheres to the idea of "quality" versus "quantity." I'm convinced that adding "some" quantity to this Institution would benefit its overall quality as an institution.

Tim Gray is a senior majoring in Philosophy.

ISSUE:

How Would Raising Student Enrollment To 1000-1200 Affect The Quality Of A Washington College Education?

David Marshall Junior Milford, Delaware

"The higher enrollment would hinder academic progress since it would increase the student-teacher ratio. However, it would be a builfied boost to the social life."

Jennifer Smith Freshman Ocean City, Maryland

"I guess there would be more people to meet but the size of the classes wouldn't increase too much. That small of an increase wouldn't hurt the academic life. I think it's a good idea. They should.

Tim Walbert Sophomore Queenstown, Maryland

"It would affect it adversly. Washington College would lose its individuality as a small campus."

Chris Huebner Sophomore Bethesda, Maryland

"The academic aspect of the college would be hurt, however, the social life would be enhanced."

Helen MacMahon Sophomore Middleburg, Virginia

"As long as it wouldn't hinder the benefits of a small college, raising the enrollment would be alright. It would increase the diversity of the student body by accepting more students."

Campus Voices

by Michele Balze

Level Of Personal Contact Would Decrease

remonal contact is in essence the reveal contact is in a damittedly the reveal strength and admittedly the reveal strength and admittedly the reveal strength and admitted in the reveal strength and reveal s

The facilities at the college are not whose the college are not whose two cademic brains. We only have two cademic biddings which are barely adequate is our institution as it stands. People are struggling for positions at computer terminals now. I dread to witness result of an increase of users from a fer student body. The Dining Hall and have to mlarge or establish longer dining hours. The list of inconveniences is endless.

niences is endiess.

One may argue that an increase in students may increase the money inflow and permit the expansion of our campus. However, I do fear that any campus. However, I do fear that any of academic buildings of structure of academic buildings of academic and the building plans for the academic in the building plans for the academic enter etc. I do not think that in our present condition we can improve facilities, and increase the student population without raising the tuition.

overcowding and money demands Overcrowding and money demands of the control of the control of the control of the prospects. Yet the most member was grinn prospects. Yet the most member was grinned and election of the control of the control of the control of the vantageous faculty student ratio would be mullified. Most university classes are lectures and students would not dream of interjecting their personal ideas. In contrast Washington College affords its students a freedom conducive to the growth of each individuals integrity. The very fact that we have essay ex-

The very fact that we have essay exams and two or three papers per term stands as a remarkable phenomenon in today's "faculty educational system." Yes, at first some of us may not feel inclined to call examinations beneficial. On second thought a reasonable student must confess that the personal contact each Washington College professor gives to his or her students is inherent in the curriculum. We not only receive grades but constructional criticism. This takes much time and effort on the part of the professor with the student body as it exists already; an increase will certainly harm this.

Caty Coundjeris

We have, existing at our college, a very real example of the inconvenience an increase in the student population presents. Over two hundred students are living off campus due to the renovation of the women's domitiory. Ferhaps this is one way of accommodating a larger student body. Commodating a larger student body commodating a larger student body campus the student of the student large that large that the student large that larg devastating maturation process in such a community as ours.

Yes, there are many side effects in expanding an institution when its very nature depends upon its intimacy most of them negative.

Caty Coundjeris is a senior majoring in English.

FREE FLIGHT PLAN JUST FOR STUDENTS. YOU WON'T GET A BREAK LIKE THIS ONCE YOU'RE OUT IN THE REAL WORLD.

INTRODUCING COLLEGIATE FLIGHTBANK, FROM CONTINENTAL AND NEW YORK AIR.

If you're a full-time student at an accredited college or university you can join our Collegiate FlightBank." You'll receive a membership card and number that will allow you to get 10% off Continental and New York Air's already low fares. In addition, you'll get a one-time certificate good for $25 off any domestic roundring flight. Plus, you'll be able to earn trips to places like Florida, Derwer, Los Angeles, even London and the South Pacific. Because every time you fly you'll earn mileage towards a free trip. And if you sign up now you'll also receive 3 free sisses of Business Week Careers magazine.

This Porsche 924 can be yours if you are the national referral champion.

SIGN UP YOUR FRIENDS AND EARN A PORSCHE.

But what's more, for the 10 students on every campus who enroll the most active student flyers from their college there are some great rewards: 1 free trip wherever Continental or New York Air flies in the mainland U.S., Mexico or Canada.

Or the grand prize, for the number one student referral champion in the nation: a Porsche and one year of unlimited coach air travel.

And how do you get to be the referral champion? Just sign up as many friends as possible, and make sure your membership number is on their application. In order to be eligible for any prize you and your referrals must sign up before 12/31/86 and each referral must fly 3 segments on Continental or New York Air before 6/15/87. And you'll not only get credit for the enrollment, wu'll also get 500 bonus miles.

So cut the coupon, and send it in now. Be sure to include your current full time student ID number. That way it'll only cost you $10 for one year ($15 after 12/31/86) and $40 for four years ($60 after 12/31/86). Your membership kir, including referral forms, will arrive in 3 to 4 weeks. If you have a credit card, you can call us at 1800-255-4321 and enroll even faster.

Now more than ever it pays to stay in school.

| Name   | Date of Birth  |
|--|--|
| College  | _Address   |
|  | Zw   |
| Permanent Address  |  |
| Full time student ID#  | Year of Graduation   |
| Account Number   | Vissi   MasterCard   Directs Club  Expiration Date   |
| guardian of the membership applicant noColleguate HightBank program. | JNDER THE AGE OF 18: The undersigned is the pareimed hereon, and I consent to his/her participation in t |
| Signature X  |  |
| Send this coupon to: Collegiate FlightBePO. Box 297847               | nk 786   |
| HOLSON 297847Houston, TX 7729  |  |
|  |  |

CONTINENTAL SNEW YORK AIR

Council Appointment Raises Representation Issue

time students pay an equal por-tion of student fees." However, students allowed to apply for any finan-cial aid from the College.

The Dean's Office n written distinction between full and part-time students. "It's a different classification, but the grading system is the said Associate Dean Alice Berry. However, acman of the Admissions and Academic Standing Committee, part-time students are not allowed to compete for the Dean's List or for department unless they are attending full-time when the decipart-time students to play on varsity teams because of an NCAA ruling. Director of Athletics Ed Athey said "You have to take at least three courses — the equivalent of 12 credit hours at other institu-tions - to play .... it's just an

The recent SGA motion allows Tom Jackson to remain a dorm senator, but the motion contradicts Article I, section 2 Student Government constitution that reads: "All full time undergraduate students of Washington College are members of the SGA and are entitled to representative vote in all proceedings," (Stu-dent Handbook, p.34). The Student Government Association By-Laws state that "No person Department does not allow may be a candidate for any of-fice in a campus election if he is not a member of the SGA,"

(Student Handbook, p.37) "Part-time students deserve representation all the way to the top," said Doherty. "They can run for President if they want.. and they have a right to serve on faculty committees." He continued: "Tom's resigna-tion outraged the senate; they saw that he was one of their own. They saw he had a lot to give, and that there's no dif-ference between part-time and full-time students.

"Basically there isn't any ifference," said Jackson. difference. "It's just because of financial academic reasons that students are part-time. Once in a while, there are people that that feel that way."

The status of part-time students at the College and on the SGA could have major implications in the long range for the College, says Dondery, In-ent topic of discussion of the Land-Bange Bonnier Gramut. Long-Range Planning Commitfurther cuts in financial aid by the federal government, the shortage of campus hous-ing, the rise in tuition are all factors that conceivably lead see you're part-time and treat time students is," said Doher-you differently. I think there ty, "and that's got to come are a lot of part-time students from the students and the Ad-

The SGA ad hoc committee established to review the Con-stitution and the Student Judicial Codes is now looking into the possibility of a con-stitutional amendment clarifyfactors that conceivably lead stream to an increase in the percentage of part-time students at ending Washington College in the near future. "The goal is to the near future is the role of part decided whether to amend find out what the role of part when Constitution or not.

SGA Resolution Leaves Senate Members Dubious

all off-campus students asking them to list any housing pro-blems they had. The results will be returned to the President who will undertake the necessary steps to rectify any problems submitted.

Despite the results of the resolution, there is a discrepancy regarding the discrepancy regarding the manner by which the resolu-tion was drafted. The discrepancy revolves the apparently faulty com-munication between the senate and the executive board. Chris Doherty, SGA President, said the resolution was drafted because there was a consensus among senators that the housing pro-blem (the condition of the housing provided for those students displaced by the renovation of Minta Martin) needed to be addressed by the SGA. Specifical-weak all-campus meeting mentioned drafted in the meeting and read aloud." Because of an extensive agenda and in the in-terests of time, it was decided that anyone interested in con-tributing to the final draft ald remain after the meeting and help with the wording of the document Mona Brinkley, SGA vicepresident, has a different understanding of the matter: "The senate decided to draft a letter, not a resolution, to the Dean (of students) to ask to set up a date that would be conve-nient to meet and discuss the housing situation." She

There are steps that should be taken - such as interviews and surveys — to get the facts straight before a resolution of this tone is sent. Now that it's sent, it's worthless, and it weakens the stance of the

Chris countered this arguand amples meeting inchanged in the resolution, or as Doherty ment by saying "either way, it described it: "A barn-burning represented the voice of the per rally for the housing SGA. Whether it was cause." He continued: "The presented as a letter or whate agreed by a voice vote resolution is a question of without doing their homework, and it weakens the stance of the SGA in the future."

This discordance aside, the resolution, as stated in the last sentence, was "passed by the Senate on this Day, October 13, 1986." According to several senate members, however, the senate did not pass the resolu-tion. Tamara Hunter stated:

Mona disagreed: "The SGA a resolution that I know of."

This there its strongest position without doing their beautients."

"We (the senate) never passed a resolution that I know of."

Christina Fisher said: "It was supposed to be a letter," and Perry Finney claimed: "To my recollection, it was supposed to be a letter."

Ceci Kosenkranius also Ceci Kosenkranius also thought it was decided that a both can be sent requesting the dean's presence at the dean's added: "I was quite surprised at this (the resolution)." Upon seeing the resolution, Laleh Malek, Kathi Winter, and Bill Kerbin stated that they had never seen it.

the dean's presence at the neeting and "didn't know it pass or reject the resolution, it was going to be a resolution."

Erika Del Priore agreed and the Senate."

Vandalism Not Being Reported

continued from page 1

report the incident to the Chestertown Police Depart-ment since he felt that there was "nothing they could really

Jerry Roderick, director of campus security, confirmed that there had only been two incidents concerning parking lot vandalism reported so far.
"It's beneficial to everyone if the incidents are reported,

even if the person feels that mited," said Cheif Mauritz M.
nothing can be done." Stetson of Chestertown Police Roderick pointed out that the department, who shares reports are the only way that security can become aware of any possible problems. Both Middleton and Bournazian, who had their cars damaged, suggested more frequent patrols around the parking lots by security, yet Roderick said that, unless the problems are reported, security has no way of knowing where problems ex-"I disagree with those who made aw feel that nothing can be done solution once the crime has been com-unlikely.

department, who shares Roderick's concern. "It's true that once it's done, the damage cannot be reversed, but many times someone is caught committing the same crime somewhere else and unless a report is filed, there can never be any connection made bet-Both Stetson and Roderick agreed that until the authorities are involved and made aware of problems, a solution to the problem is

Mom's Cookie Jar

It is documented that if a Person exercises the heart at 120-130 beats per minute for laif-an-hour, three days per week, that person would indergo what is known as a ing effect.

That person, all else being testant, would lose weight, ave lower blood pressure, be as tired during the day, tend are lower to be the day, which is stop smoking if a smoker, have lower cholestoral levels he less prone to In the blood, be less prone to teart attacks and strokes, and e a stronger sense of well

People who exercise regulary tend to live longer and lead more fulfilling lives. SO EX-ERCISE—PRUDENTLY!! As it is almost the first of the month, I would like to extend Happy Birthday Wishes to all cose celebrating their birays in November

I was disappointed with the amout for your Halloween dasquerade Contest at the were designed as an alter-native to the regular every night dinners. If students aren't interested or do not feel need for these special meals, we would appreciate them letting the Dining Service

Next Wednesday, November 5th, is our Eastern Shore Dinner. The menu will feature: fried chicken, crab casserole, sliced country ham, oven browned potatoes, vegetables a la Chester, corn on the cob, corn bread and pecan pie.

The S.G.A. Food Service
Committee will soon be handing out reservation forms for the Student Thanksgiving Dinner, November 19th. Start get-ting your group of four or eight

A special "Thank You" to Dave Knowles, Darrell Jester, Kim Faulkner and Ted Legates for "holding down the fort" for "holding down the fort" while Jeffrey DeMoss, Mary Lorraine Sexton and Sharon Crew attended an NACUFS regional seminar last week at Millersville College, in Millersville, Pennsylvania. The seminar was both educational and informative. This was a first-time experience for was a first-time experience for Mrs. Crew and Ms. Sexton to attend a three day regional seminar. They made a lot of friends with whom they can exchange ideas beneficial to all.
Well, I guess it's back to the kitchen for me and a batch of gingersnaps that needs to be baked. Until next week...Mom.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

continued from page 2

feelings and views are the same as before. I represent not only the students off campus but also the part-time and if I may go as far as to say, I'll represent the non-traditional students as well. My views have never changed, and if I have to resign again, they will never change even when I do become a full-time student.

As it stands now, the SGA will not allow me to resign. They have passed a motion that gives part-time students a representative voice in the SGA. I've decided to take my seat back because of one thing, my voice may not be heard out side the SGA and my hands aren't tied, but in the SGA, I have a voice and my hands are tied, to a point. I'll say this one time only, this will not be the last time you'll hear from me.

It may take weeks or a month, or two, but I remind you that I'm here and still independent in my views. No one can buy or control me. Thomas P. Jackson Part-time student SGA part-time Senator

Cater Misquoted

To The Editor:

I wish to commend The Elm for its excellent coverage of the report made by the Middle States team which visited Washington College last week. It should be noted, however, that I was misquoted. Rather than stating that the review was "unnecessarily swift," I said that the review was "necessarily swift" necessarily swift.

Sincerely, Douglass Cater

FEATURES

Poltergeist Plays Pranks On Reid Residents

by Mary Riner

One breezy September Eve, awoke - her mattress breathed in, pulling her into the center. She felt long, wispy fingers stroking her blond hair and gently patting her on the back. No, her boyfriend was not the source of this attention, in fact, there was no one in her bed

Earlier that day across the hall another resident was sitting on her bed diligently pursuing a homework assignment, a loud thud distracted her from her work. A television securely lodged inside a desk securely lodged inside a deak by be passed-on as mere som-had been disloted from its cidences?

resting place, plummeted to the floor without a scratch Did arises from the eternally lost that television sprout wings, souls Earthbound, they satisfy and fly down to the floor by their lack of fulfilliment by tizelf, or did it have a little help preying on the better judgefromes the room, her room- Deapite the legendary phost mate, just a few minutes tales of spiritual apparations

stretch the includes had been linking around the scene of a itself, or did it have a little help from an invisible friend? Across the room, her room-mate, just a few minutes before this incident, had been perfore this incident, had been jurking around the scene of a rummaging through her calen-murder, poltergeist can dar trying to pinpoint a date to manifest their trickery go home. Simultaneously, wherever there's an abun-when the television dropped, a dance of energy — radiating stragetically placed vase of roses fell on the calendar, smearing the dates into illegible puddles of ink. Several days later, television was moved to a mo central location upon a shelf of a few sturdy milk cartons. Minding her own business the re dent heard another crashing sound. To her dismay, the TV had been dislodged from the shelf again. This time it lay shattered on the floor. Ap-parently, that television was never meant to exist in the room across from the crawl space to the Reid Hall attic. Can these incidents realistically be passed-off as mere coin-lurking around the scene of a

Not resting in peace, troubled spirits celebrate Halloween year-round with their haunts of campus buildings

They plague the numans. They plague the human conscience by moving objects, rapping and tapping out strange sounds, and physically touching people physically touching people they can sneak up on. What could be a better place for a poltergeist to conjur-up in-cantations than a college dorm — the home of young, vibrant, and impressionable

At first one is struck by its many similarities to "the Adams Family" house. Reid Hall was built in 1858, complete with an eerie double staircase and an attic that has a reputation for mysterious happenings. The incidents described above occurred within a week's time in the older wing of the third floor. Hand-carved wooden panels above each door characterize the older portion of the hall before it was renovated in 1932. The crawlspace, located deadcenter in the right wing, leads to the impending attic entrance above. The crawlspace has remained closed ever since Retty, the Reid Hal maid, can remember — until this summer. Poltergeists control their crawl space, "alias the T.V.

activity from a special place, or hot spot, where the energy is most highly concentrated. After a few maintenance men discovered that the crawl space was open, they deadbolted it shut. Since the crawl space was closed, there has been no reported activity of the room," is the sight of another strange occurrence. This time the unoccupied room with the milk crate. When the resident unlocked the door and exerter pressure, the door wouldn't budget. She turned again, this time successfully, but her favorite unicorn mug, broke in to pieces on the floor.

During that week, a coalition of third floor Reid girls would discuss "Amelia's" — the name given their mysterious name given their mysterious visitor — precarious pranks over breakfast, especially her bathroom antics. Alone in the bathroom, while brushing her teeth, Linda Bloechi heard all four toilets flush at the same time. "Impossible," she time. "Impossible," she thought, unless Amelia was at it again. One day Debbie Nahmias was lounging outside the bathroom door when she heard two showers turn on. She knew no one was in the bathroom, so to satisfy her curiosity, she proceeded in and found the bathroom empty and the showerheads turned off. Could it have been her imagination?

This prank, as with every other prank in the "T.V. room" other prank in the "T.V. room" seemed rather vindictive com-pared with the mild and harmless pranks. Reid Hall contains many blond-haired girls. Amelia seems to prefer natural blonds for het harmless tricks, saving her more anoying tricks for the circle with altered unnatural girls with altered, unnatural

One September aftern light brunett with frosted blond streaks awoke from a dream In her effort to sit up, her back and neck were held down into the pillow for a few moments No there was no other human occupying her bed with her. This was one of Amelia's scarier pranks

"Amelia is motherly," Deb bie Nahmias explained. "She looks after us." She merely plays little pranks with most d e girls.

One morning, after setting her alarm clock the previous night, Sheila Nash awoke will find her alarm clock upside down and now across the room On some mornings, from be room on the balcony, footstep could be heard outside but n one was out there.

These strange occurrence happened the week september 12-20. Since we can be seen to see the second seed of the see witches holiday, doesn't mes that she's going to appear."

GOLD & SILVER JEWELRY DIAMONDS WATCHES, CAMERAS & FILM ENGRAVINGS & REPAIRS 'RAYBANS

FORNEY'S JEWELERS

778-1966 106 Cross St., Chestertown

HAIR PORT KENT PLAZA

No Appointment Necessary

Family Haircutters and Styling

OPEN 6 DAYS A WEEK MON., THURS. AND FRI. OPEN TIL 7:00 P.M.

robert pennington CHESTERTOWN 778-6211 ROCKVILLE 881-0992

Ghost Makes Tawes A Spirited Place

by Susan Kolls

Sure theatres make noise That's the nature of a building with huge, air-filled space full of electrical wires, hidden doors, empty seats, cat walks and metal staircases. Sure it makes noise. It was when I walked in and realized there wasn't any noise that I started to get scared.

We spent the night in the Chas Foster and I. to see if the much-talked-ab thost would appear. Neither of ghost would appear. Nettner of us had ever seen the theatre ghost before, although Foster had waited for it before. "I saw stray cat," he recalled. There was a stray cat in the eatre this night too.

majestically across the street from the fire-lane, directly cross from the street-light that always shuts off when you pass under it. This theatre, like Il theatres, is rich in imagina on, energy and people who cend long, hard hours work-ing there. And like every beatre, Tawes has its own egend about an in-house ghost.

the cat-walks and the house. There was nothing to do but

The first time I heard about The first time I near about the theatre ghost was when I was a sophomore. It was during the production of My Lady from the Sea. Before the show our technical director was on our technical director was on. our technical director was on stage taking care of some last minute problems when he heard someone on the grid. When he looked up he saw a figure dressed in black peering down at him. It was the theatre ghost. And so I learned that we had a ghost, and that this ghost had two outfits, one white and one black. According to legend, if you see the ghost in black something bad is bound to hapsomething bad is bound to hap-pen. During strike (dismanti-ing of the set) that night a rope broke and a pipe fell about twenty feet onto the stage floor, where it left a hole an inch deep. The music was so loud in the theatre that no one heard the head'sen, call and heard the head's-up call and the pipe barely missed the dramaturg's head. This was undoubtedly the work of the theatre ghost

John McDanolds, a '85 with a degree in Music has experiencto local lore, the ghost of playwright Noel Coward roams this bos

as sophomore Gina Braden did once while she was playing the piano.

Although we waited patiently, Chas Foster and I saw no ghost that night. The theatre was noisy of course, filled with the usual sounds of doors open-ing and closing, machinery turning on and off, and an occa sional cricket. At regular inter-vals all the noise would stop and the theatre would become and the theatre would become deathly quiet. At these times we could hear each other breathe. Perhaps the ghost enjoyed watching us, knowing we were there to catch a glimpse of him. The theatre ghost, whether it dwells in our imaginations or in the shadows of Tawes theatre. is certainly

ATTENTION WRITERS:

The Washington College Review is now accepting applications of poetry, fiction, essays, non-fiction, artwork and photography for its fall '86 issue. Submissions may be given to Cathy Beck, Henderson, Jeremiah Foster, Eric Lorberer or left in the Review mailbox in the Literary House. Deadline for submissions is November 4.

"A dark, shadowy image

moved across the back row.

took a seat, and sat there."

Pastitionally every theatre bone to the spirit of some of the spirit of some of dead of the spirit of some of dead of the spirit of some of the spirit of some of the spirit of some of the spirit of spirit of the spirit cause its human ancestor ked there, died the same ar the theatre was built, or cause the theatre was nami-for them. As it turns out, tartes seem to be ideal less for ghosts to dwell. Dhere is a lot of imaginative trity concentrated in one tag, "Drama professor Rick was said. "Plus, there're lots ha places to ghost around cause the theatre was nam-

side Tawes Theatre alone ere are hundreds of places a spirit to ghost around. ever, has been seen only in by places, namely on the lurking the cat-walks, at the back of the house. set-up our sleeping ac-nodations at center stage, ectly under the grid, facing

Amity Bakery and Coffee Shop

Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies, Gil Occasion Cakes On Order. Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M.

unch-Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

"the same visual supposed ap-parition." On both occasions Mc Danolds said, "A dark, shadowy image moved across the back row (of the theatre), took a seat, and sat there."

Danous samples against the second section of the second section of the section of the second section of the sec Others have heard the ghost

Complete Hair Care 10 Visits for $40.00 or $75.00 unlimited until March 15

Our SunTana SunSystem guarantees you a glorious, Our surraine Subsystem yourantees you a givinus, ardiant tan hat you can keep all year long. A tan you achieve with soft, comfortable and SAFE U.V.A. light and without all the burning, peeling and flaking you get in and without all the your SunSystem is QUARANTEED to tan amyone who tans in the sun...while you relax in cool tan amyone who tans in the sun...while you relax in cool

We'd like to tell you more about this exciting new way to tan. A single visit will convince you.

The Beauty Lounge Callus

Phone: 778-2635 Midtown Mall

come Chestertown, MD 21620
NEXUS PRODUCTS AVAILABLE
Complete Hair Care • Manicurea • Sculptun today.

AT WASHINGTON COLLEGE

is now open Saturdays 9:30 to 1:00

Sweats in all sizes are in!

New records & tapes!

Take a Mac Demo and get a chance to win a Trek Bike!

SPORTS

Preventive Maintenance Is Key To Athletic Success

by Christine Wiant

As the wave of fitness rolls As the wave of fitness rolls over the country men and women everywhere are abandoning their T.V.s., easy chairs, and munchies. They're out there on the track, in the gym, on the playing field. But wait. Haven't they for gottle something. Are the civity? You right say '0f course they unight say '0f course they tready. It's about time, before they turn into celluloid blobs." they turn into celluloid blobs.

But there are things you have to remember. What you do before you exercise is just as important as what you do as important as what you do when you exercise. You can't go from lifting your favorite chips to pumping iron. Exercise is a building-up process.
If your body's not ready to adjust to the bold new fitness agenda your mind has planned, you may be in trouble

Jumping right into any athletic activity can be hazar dous. Pain, shortness of breath and fatigue are all warning signals. If you're well prepared before you start then your body and mind can work together to achieve fitness in a sensible, progressive manner. Smart athletes find a warm-up ses-sion imperative before attempting to participate in any physical activity

> "Exercise is a building up process."

One man here at Washington who is well acquainted with preventive care is Tony Dugall, sports trainer. Mr. Dugall teaches a class of high school coaches from the

KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA SUN SYSTEM at

EMILY HAIRDRESSER

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

neighboring Kent and Queen Anne counties on the principals of preventive care. The program is funded by the state and this is the first time it is being offered. Tony Dugall is a well qualified teacher with a masters degree in health and physical conditioning, along with his many awards for his contributions to sports Preventive care is perhaps the most important fact of sports. Mr. Dugall stresses the common sense knowledge that is often overlooked in order to train harder and longer, or just not considered important. Proper diet, rest and exercise are major factors in preventing sports-related injuries. The body cannot function properly without enough nutrients. If water intake is not sufficient the body works slower and car-bon monoxide builds up in the system, causing fatigue.

Warm-up before athletic activity is the best preventive medicine an athletic can ad-minister to the body. The pulse rate needs to be increased to gear the body for more strenuous work. Muscles can't be expected to respond to an in-tense work out cold. This causes muscle soreness. worse yet, torn ligaments. Stretching after a work out helps to keep the muscle from tightening and loosing flexibili-ty. It also prevents post training soreness. Although fitness doesn't begin at the gym, if you take preventive that may be where it ends

Volleyball Suffers Losses. Expects Recovery

by Christine Wiant

The Volleyball team entered the Gallaudet tournement Oct 17th and 18th confidently, but their optimism quickly faded as two minutes into the first game against Christopher Newport, Kim Madigan, team co-captain, suffered an injury and was taken out of the tour nament. The team continued to play hard for the remainder of the game and won 16-14, but ac-cording to coach Penny Fall, "the loss of Kim proved to be difficult to adjust to." The match ended 16-14, 14-16, 8-15 in Newports favor.

The next match of the tournament against Catholic also ended in defeat 5-15, 10-15 Saturday morning's meeting with Methodist left the team with yet another loss 6-15, 7-15. But owing to their skill and spirit the Sho'women bounced spirit the Sho'women bounced back against Eastern for a vic-tory 15-8, 15-7. Their come-back did hold up against Glassboro, however, although they put up a tough fight, the Sho'men suffered a 12-15, 5-15 defeat. Coach Fall

Wolfe "for her leadership in holding the team together." Their slump continued Monday Oct. 20th, as they lost to Del Tech 12-15, 6-15. Pulling together the Sho'women gave it their best against Epsolo 15 3, but again fall back to a 4-15

2-15 loss On Thursday Oct.23rd, while still recovering from their losses, the team met Cecil head-on for a victory of 15-9, 15-3. Their next victim, Mon-tgomery, also succumbed to the Sho womens playing skill 15-7, 15-13. "The backline play was good and the spikes and were strong," stated coach Fall. Holding a present score of 12,15 the team has an op-timistic outlook. Kim Madigan, timistic outlook. Kim Madigan, now out for the season stated "of course I'm upset about bing out for the season, but contrary to what some may believe, I know the team will continue to play well." Debby Cohn voiced the feelings of the team. "We'll miss Kim's spiri, but we have enough talent on the season will be the man be the season will be the season but we have enough talent of the team to carry us through.

Soccer Takes Strides

by John Bodnar

The Washington College soccer team has not only made the jump to a respectable team but is, in addition, a serious con tender. After back-to-back vic tories this past week, the Shoremen have now won four out of their last five games and increased their record to 7-7-1.

"Our skills have improved greatly over the last five games, as well as the strengthening of our offensive unit." said freshman Marty Waries "Walks scored" Wenick. "We've scored als so far this season and we still have three regular season games left. Last year the team scored only 13 goals all season. That's an improvement!

The Sho'men's most receent The Sho'men's most recent victim was Gallaudet on Tuesday, Oct. 28th. W.C. posted a solid game as they chalked up a 5-1 victory. Two of the five goals came on penalty shots.

Senior Captain Patrick McMenamin said "Gallaudet was basically a practice game for us. It was one of those games that up until now, use to be a close game. We just dominated."

The goals for W.C. were provided by Jon Larson (2), Alan Lerch (1), Peter VanBuren (1), and Pat McMenamin (1). Freshman John Billingsly was the winning goalie.

While most of the campu was taking mid terms last week the W.C. soccer team had a test of their own when the squared-off against Widnes University on Wednesday, 0: tober 22nd.

The Sho'men received a high grade as they marched to a impressive 3-0 victory. The victory evened the shoremen record in the mid Atlantic Company of the shorement of the mid Atlantic Company of the shorement of the shorem ference at 2-2, making them i strong contender in the con-

The Sho'men are temporary in control of their of destiny. They will battle it with Johns Hopkins Universit Hopkins is currently 13th Hopkins is haven't made the M.J. playoffs in over fluy eyars, where they knock off Hopkins were thought in the state of knock off Hopkins over Hopkins could give A over Hopkins could give A over Hopkins could give W the home field advantage in state playoffs.

After beating Wides University, we've proven ourselves that we can be a tender in ou Conference," McMenamin. "We have a ly good chance of knocking Johns Hopkins. I think H is going to underestimate The Shoremen have one scheduled home game Saturday, November against Mary Washington possibly a home bid in Maryland State Tournamen

OLD WHARF INN

Enjoy Waterfront Dining Located at the foot of Cannon Street

> Chestertown, Md. (301) 778-3566

Hockey Looks Ahead To Tourney

Liz Whelen struggles with her Gallaudet opponent in an effort to gain possession of the ball during the Sho'women's last home ma tch of the season.

by Jeb Stewart
The WC women's Field
Hockey team finished up their regular season Tuesday, Oc-tober 28th, losing to Goucher 2-1. Although the loss set the Sho'women's record back to 4-5, outstanding freshman 5. outstanding freshman Carole Reses seemed en-couraged. "We came out strong, played hard, and really wanted to win," she said. "We had a good passing game and a lot of offensive breakways. We just couldn't get the ball in the just couldn't get the ball in the player for the Show was considered to the strong of the said. "Carole had some nice movements, good cuts.," she stated. "She really played well."

Earlier, on October 22nd, the Sho'women finished their home schedule, outshooting Gallaudet in shots on the goal 34-9 en route to a 3-0 victory. Liz Whelan stuck two goals in and Sandie Coulter added one during the game. "Overall I was very pleased with the per-formance of the team," said Coach Guinan after the game. We had some nice connections, transitions and hustle. We haven't quite gotten back to our full potential as a team, but we did have some shining

This Saturday at Gallaudet WC will play in a single elimination tournament. The Sho'women will probably open with rugged Georgetown. If the Sho'women take the game, they will have another shot at first ranked Catholic, a team that defeated WC 1-0. Guinan is encour aged with the encour aged with they down the worth the gas, but they'd better won't be easy, but they'd better and count an us at this point." with rugged Georgetown. If the not count on us at this point," she said. "Georgetown and Catholic will be our biggest challenges. If we have a good day we could come out on top.'

Sports Calendar Fri. 31

Volleyball CWAC Tournament (A) Soccer

Sat. 1

Cross Country Lebanon Valley/Western Md. 1:00 p.m Volleyball CWAC Tournament (A) Crew Head of occoquan (A)

Tues. 4

Soccer Delaware Valley (A)

Wed. 5

Volleyball Wilmington/Anne Arundel 7:00 p.m

Thurs. 6

Volleyball Cecil - 7:00 p.m.

Men's, Women's Crew Row Schuylkill by Tom Merrill ly race without incident. Star-

On Saturday October 25th the Washington College Crew rowed the Head of the Schuylkill, a three mile race. The boats involved in this race were the men's varsity four, the men's varsity eight, and the women's varsity four

In a Head Race, the boats start 10 second intervals. The clock starts as your boat goes through the shute. Obviously, the best time wins.

The men's four rowed the on-Tennis

ting 29th overall, the four finished 25th according to time, out of a field of 43

The men's eight had difficulty at the shute. A boat out of order reached the start too oon, and blocked it. Despite this, the crew rowed a strong race. "Inexperience hurt us at the start, but our training paid off in the body of the race in a successful attempt to hold off

Kennedy, stroke of the varsity out of 23. "The top ten were I was our first three mile, and as such it was a good chance to see how well we are doing so far," said coach Geoff Gibby

The women had a fair start, but roughly 1,000 meters into the race there was a clash betthe race there was a clash between the women and a slower boat. The interchange lost approximately 15-20 seconds. They recovered their rhythm the Coast Guard Academy and They recovered their rhythm finish strongly," said Sean and finished their race, 16th clearly out of our league, thus we were really 6th out of 13," coach Johnny Wagner said.

The team is travelling to Oloquon, Virginia this Saturday, November 1st for another three mile race. Competing for the first time will be the men's and women's novice eights. and women's novice eights.

The competition will be Duke,
the University of Virginia,
Lafayette, George Mason University, and Mary Washington Washington.

lege and Hunter College.

Women Fall To Haverford, Men Take Army by Fred Wyman

The Washington College ten-ais team made their fall debut Friday, October 17th, at Haverford College. Haverford, the 2nd best team in the Middle

Monday - Saturday

Coley Charlie hopes for victory. The 'Fords swept all six singles matches. The doubles matches could not be played due to rain.

Playing with only three returning veterans (Pam Atlantic Conference, and the returning veterans (Pam inclement weather put a Loughman, Erin Patterson, lumper on the Shorewomen's and Cathy Engle), and ex-

778.4771

to win the "big points" and the "big games;" however, Coach Holly Bramble said that the "The 'Fords periencing first match jitters,

the women netters were unable swept all six matches."

women "gained valuable ex-perience." Carla Stevens, Beth Walbert, Tracey Pritzlaff, and Meg Wheatley each played in their first collegiate match. Pritzlaff, and Stevens turnedin good efforts, losing 6-3, 6-3, nd 6-4, 6-3 respectively. ty" to the Gudeny. to the Cadets of the U.S. The women return to the courts this week as they travel to Trenton State University to complete in the Rolex Eastern Small College Championships. The Shoremen racked up their 6th victory of the fall by upsetting Army 7-2 Friday, Smail College Championships.

Representing WC will be Pam Loughman, Cathy Engle, and freshman Susanne Segal. On November 7th and 8th, the women will play their last fall matches hosting John Jay Col-Oct.17.

Playing some of their best tennis, the netters who hold a pre-season ranking of 7th in the NACC III, captured the top NACC III, captured the top four singles positions and swept the doubles. Alejandro Hernandez, Claudio Gonzalez, David Marshall, and Ross Col-David Marshall, and Ross Col-eman registered straight triumphs to give WC a 4-2 ad-vantage after singles; however, it was Coleman & Hernandez doubles victory that clinched the team win for Washington. The Shore tandem's win paved the way for an all Washington sweep of the doubles. As Marshall & Despite the fact that it was Army's first trip to the Eastern Shore, the Washington College men's tennis team did not ex-tend any "Southern Hospitalitof an an Washington sweep of the doubles. As Marshall & Gonzalez walloped Kenadall Sheets and Todd Ramsey 6-1, 6-2, and Rich Phoebus and Bill Shaw edged Jeff Vazeau & Kevin Lemke 7-6, 6-4.

ARRIMORE'S Quick Stop For

Breakfast Sandwiches

Subs

*Shrimp *Crab Cake *Chicken Nuggets

*Fish - Fresh Fried Chicken

Mon.-Sat. 6:30-9 p.m. Sun. 8-7 p.m

778-1096

ocation 213 South of Chestertown

PHIL'S FARM MKT. LIQUOR . WINE ·BEER ·

Ye Olde Towne Barber & Stylists

A & P Parking Lot Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Subs, Deli, Groceries COLD CARRY OUT

Md. State Lottery LOTTO/NUMBERS GAME

OPEN 20 HOURS DAILY 7 DAYS A WEEK HAVING A PARTY? CALL NOW

778-1893 FLATLAND RD., CHESTERTOWN

- Dinner Platters

ATTENTION: Anyone interested in cheerleading please contact Karen Smith in the Cain Athletic Center as soon as possible.

Gimme a?

An Overlord's Look At The Realm Of Baseball

In the beginning there was The Game. And it was good. Kids across America played it in parks and across America played it in parks and sandlots, dreaming of someday joining their heroes in the big time: Ruth and Gehrig and Koufax and Cobb, Young and DiMaggio and Hornsby and Hobbes.

and DiMaggio and Hornsby and Hobbes. The Game was played on grass, under the sun. It was called "America's game" and associated with apple ple.

Over the years there were problems and changes, betting scandals and drug scandals, domed stadiums and articular grass. But still them of the control of the cont Always, the Game won our hearts by breaking the summer doldrums, our minds with endless statistics and strategems, and our souls with penant

But then came the year 1986. And all was not well. The baseball lords looked down upon the diamonds and were dismayed. They saw dropped pop-ups and botched double plays. They watched Steve Carlton pass like misdirected mail from Philly to San Fran to Chicago to oblivion, and Pete Rose collect dust, going the month of September without an at-bat. In September without an at-bat. In Baltimore they watched Eddie Murray battle with administration instead of opponents, and the O's battle for last instead of first place. They witnessed the year without the pennant race, the year that subway riders talked about tax reform and super-power summits in-stead of who won last nights game.

I talked with one of the baseball lords in August. He was noticeably upset. He had just witnessed the Mets increase their lead to 22 games with a victory over Pittsburgh. "Baseball like it oughta be" the scoreboard read, but the scorecard showed something dif-ferent. I pressed the baseball lord to tell me what was wrong with this year's

"I don't know. I think it's a test. Ya, that's it, it's a test. You American fans that's it, it's a test. You American fans have had fun every year. You take baseball for granted nowadays. We're going to show you what it would be like if baseball were a less perfect form than it is. But in the end we'll deliver just like always. And next year certainly come true. The 1986 playoffs certainly come true. The 1906 playoff, have been a welcome relief to a lackluster season. But, still, something is missing. That something is style. Continuously, games were won not but to but the but to be the season of the season of the season of the but to be the season of the s because of strong defense or clutch hitting, but because of lack of execution by the other team. The Mets didn't win the Series so much as the Red Sox lost it. Four times the Red Sox were one strike away from the world championstrike away from the world enampion-ship, only to finally collapse on a wild pitch and an error. Three times in the playoffs baseballs bounced off of gloves and over fences for home runs.

"But baseball isn't like politics, it's purer, more reliable."

watch out. When all is said and done you'll appreciate what we have given you more than ever. You'll see I was ecstatic. These baseball lords carry a certain aura about them, like a politician. But baseball isn't like politics, I thought, it's purer, more reliable. So I canceled my trip to Iceland, my right class, and my weekend work shifts, and prepared for a phenomenal ending to a forgetable October was reserved for baseball.

Now, two months later, series just completed in time for Halloween, I can say that baseball lord's promise has

Throughout, the winning formula was simple: luck. Hope that the other team makes more mistakes than you do.

makes more mistakes than you do

But these problems asside.

But these problems asside.

But these problems asside.

But the problems asside asside asside asside.

But the problems asside asside late, even on weekends?." I asked "It's all part of a grand compromise ABC and NBC give us heaps and heaps of money and we let them decide when to start the game. Everybody "But isn't that bad for your fare especially for the kids who dream a watching their heroes." "Oh, sure, it's a little inconvenien for the little tykes. But Mom and Day watch the game and tell them about in the morning. Nothing lost. And in Mom and Dad who buy the product that ABC and NBC advertise, not the

"But don't you think that by doing this you'll lose the interest of the kids? Nah. Kids simply love baseball. It one of those unwritten rules "One more question. Do you thin baseball is selling its soul for the sale of an extra buck?"

"Sorry. I'd love to answer that to but I don't have the time. Got a meetle with NBC about a contract extenso you know. And then I have to discus some things with the Republican Part Chairman. It's been nice talking wi

He hurried off into the distance, egg still glowing from the 55 Nielson sha his series had received Monday night He carried the future of baseball with him. Unfortunately it was in his brie case, not on the playing field.

NOTES: There are two mo episodes in our athletics in acaden series to go, with next week's being look at various programs which sho be implimented to solve this dilemn but definitely upwardly mobile. He, like I was before, was ecstatic. "Why are all the games starting so this relates to Washington College. and the final article a look at how all

Super Hits From CBS Records Cassette Sale

Reg. $889

TIL TUESDAY &

More Great Hits

Reg. $9.89

SALE

Reg. $9.89

Reg. $9.89

ASK FOR CBS

Reg. $989

NGTON COLLEGE BOOKSTORE

De Reggae Be Du-Du-Du-Du

Reggae. At the word you think of Rastafarians in dreadlocks, spun out on this ex-etic music while ganja smoke twists upward into the Jamaican night. Maybe this is how it was. Maybe it still is. But Reggae has beat its way beyond tropical ghettos. It has even grooved its way into Gasy Casem's American Top think

Music Professor Kathy Mills told us all about it. She gave a great talk called "This is Reggae Music," part of the Literary House Teas and Talks series. It was in the press room with every seat taken. This reporter had to sit on the steps and still there were people standing in the doorway looking in.

Of course it all began in Jamaica, in the slums of Jamaica. 'Trench Town and any other slums of Kingston

The course ere poor kids like Bot rley, Neville Livingstone Marley and all the reggae musicians grew up in severe poverty, where survival was a hoodlum's life of gangs, petty crime and harrassment," said Mills. To be important one had be a D.J. To be a D.J. one loaded up a lot of stereo equipment onto a truck, took along stacks of 45's, and set up at some empty place in the ghetto. There one played music for the rudies, cheeds, band their he rudies (hoods) and their gris. It would be a great party and the D.J. would be highly popular. Mills said, "These enrepeneurs (DJ's went to great ngths to procure these 45's, en flying to Miami and then tarefully scraping the paper abels off the discs to prevent a mmpeting DJ from discover-

SPAGE ALIEN

SAW THEM ...

tere in the decerted

oce faction senseless CHBIE SORDRITY GIRLS.

Stunned scientists make discovery of the century!

Back from the more self - help 25

Sorority Girls in scary

ALIEN MACHINES

ing what new hits he'd scored. and vocalists got $20."
These DJ's were showmen Ska developed in These DJ's were snowmen with pretentions to royalty, calling themselves names like Duke Reid, Prince Buster, King Tubby, and Sir Coxone Dodd, and wearing lavish and

Mills continued, "When American pop music fizzled out--lost its danceability-around 1960, the sound system men had to turn to the local scene for interesting music. They set up recording studios, thus setting the stage for reg-gae, and indigenous Jamaican

Out of this grass-roots search for music came ska and rock steady. Mills explained, steady. Mills explained, "Either the Jamaican musi-cians didn't nail down the rhythm and blues style quite right or they didn't really care to; either way, a new style emerged called ska. Jamaican ska was influenced by horns and saxes of jazz, and features an accented back beat, often played by rhythm guitar." So there they were, all those ghetto Jamaicans recording songs in the booths set up by former DJ's. Chris Blackwell of Island Records took many recordings back to London with him. The West Indian population there loved it. Thus the roots of reggae twisted themselves down into the English soil during the early 1960's. Back in Jamaica the kids in the recording booths tids in the recording booths

Then came reggae. It came not making much money.

In 1968 with the Maytal's recormentalists who play backmentalists who play backmade out a little. Said Mills, "Session men, in-strumentalists who play back-up, made out a little better. Rico Rodriguez, the horn-Struhennansis who pay oack- again in 1999 with Desmond annuagn Sumaly School must up, made out a little better. Dekker's "The Israelites." be fun for Rastay. Be fun for Rastay. P. Bio Rodriguez, the horn- This cut sliced along to $12 on Reggae grew up. Bob Ressage to the Grightal, 40 U.S. music charts. While Mills Marley, "Kingman" of reggae Message to the property of the Struke Struke and the Struke Stru

Ska developed into Rock steady in 1966. Mills explained that it's hard to tell the difference between ska and rock steady. She played examples of Dodd, and wearing lavish and each and it was hard to tell outrageous Liberace style But there is a difference in costumes."

Mills continued, "When and guitar, and solo vocals. It and gutar, and solo vocals. It has a slower, steadier beat, explained Mills. It was easier to dance to than ska. She continued, "On the question of tempo, Bob Marley told Timothy White in 1975, "Da guys who were in control robbed da older musicians up. Dem set frustrated and stop leavier." get frustrated an' stop playin'. So de music changed from da older musicians ta de younger, hungrier ones. People like I, we love James Brown, an love your funky stuffs, an' we dig into dat American bag. We didn't to dat American bag. We didn't wan't a stand around playin' dat slower ska beat anymore. De young musicians, they had a different beat—dis was rock steady now! Eager ta go! Duu-du-du-...Rock steady goin' t' ough!' Ed Ward, in the Rolling Stone History," is contradictory but il-luminating: "Ska...was replaced by the slower, even more rhythmic rock steady, 'which women are otherwises better for 'rubbin' up a dary in importance daughter on the dance floor.' Ganja, mrijuana, Mills herself thought the beat sidered the 'wisd was slower, but the rhythm was more complex. It was edgy.

reporter suggests you stay up late and listen to WHFS. Tune to their Reggae show from 9-1 a.m. on Saturdays. This will be a good program to hear what a good prog the music is:

Rastafarians were mentioned. These are the members of a Jamaican religion which is often associated with reggae. orten associated with reggae. Many of the bands are Rastafarian and they make music about being a Rastafarian. Certainly all Rastafarians do not play reggae and all reggae is not Rastafarian. tastafarian.

The Rastafarian creed is that Jah is the living God. Babylon is evil and coruption-Babylon is evil and coruption-that's the white world, in-cluding Jamaica. The goal is always to return to Africa. Rastas are peace-loving peo-ple, whose lifestyle is based on whatever is pure and natural, that is "I-tail." Hence they con-sume no alcohol, the diet is restricted, hair is never cut or combed, resulting in wildcombed, resulting in wildlooking dreadlocks. Rastas are looking dreadlocks. Rastas are not inclined to vote, pay taxes or send their children to schools. Make-up is not allowed, menstruation is feared, and women are otherwise secondary in importance to men. sidered the "wisdomweed prescribed in the Bible, and the Rastas encourage the smoking of ganja "to aid dere meditations on de truth," as Marley put it. To the reporter it all sounded like Bokononism, although Sunday school must be fun for Rastas. "wisdomweed"

Madison Square Garden con-cert in 1979. Punk and New Wave bands borrowed from it. wave bands borrowed from it.
Commercially successful groups like the Clash and the Police play it. Today there are many reggae clubs in big cities cities.

Mills finished by saying,
"Perhaps reggae will be around for a long time, injecting new twists into American pop music and yet at the same time preserving the original synthesis of African rhythms, Jamaican folk music and American rhythm and blues. This is a music that speaks about a downtrodden and tragic world, in a language that is seductive, joyous, infec-tious and moving. Get in the groove! This is reggae

Consort With Classics

The Washington College Music Department will present the Early Music Vocal and Inthe Early Music Vocal and in-strumental Consort on Sun-day. Various works that in-fluenced other works will be performed in this program of music, most of which was composed in the Renaissance. Josquin's Solve Regina and its Plainchant source will be per-formed, as will Palestrina's motet, Dies Sanctificatus

motet, Dies Sanctiticatus Ockeghem's D'ung aultre
amer will be sung, and Jusquil's motet, Tu solus qui facis mirabilia, which quotes the Ockeghem work will also be performed. Issae's Innsbruck ich muss dich lassen will be sung in its criginal yeard lesses sung in its original vocal form, and instrumental fantasy on the work by Lutkeman will be played.

Performers at the consort include: Alison Shorter, Mary DeMoss, Elissa Teeple, Susan DePasquale, Marilee Schumann, Jennifer Eisberg, Tim Rohs, Elizabeth Cooper,

Tim Rohs, Elizabeth Cooper, Laura Brown, Jennifer Leach, Marty Duyer, Kathy Prendergast, Kathy McGuigan, Kate Bennett, Gina Braden, Ruth Davidson, Christopher Martin, Esther Diamondstone, Don Diefen-Diamondstone, Don Die dorf, and Chip Schaller, Rick Davis. The director of the instrumental consort is Amzie Parcell. Gary Clarke directs

Parcell. Gary Clarke directs the vocal consort. This performance begins at 4:00 p.m. in William James Theatre. Admission is free.

"MONALISA" 778-1575 Oct. 31-Nov. 6

Chestertown Movie Theater

P.A.C.E. A STORY TELLER'S CANVAS:

HISTORY, SHAKESPEARE. AND HENRY IV - PART I

RICK DAVIS

The Washington College Drama Department will present HENRY IV on November 20 and 21. This course will serve as a preview for the production.

Monday, November 3 and 10 7:00-8:30 P.M. Fine Arts Center Tuition $20.00 (Students $5.00) To Register Contact Ann Wilmer Hoon 778-2800 - Ext. 207

Student Affiliates of The American Chemical Society Present "Things That Go

Boom In The Night: The Chemistry of Fireworks" By Dr. John Conklin Thurs., Nov. 6th 7:30 P.M. Dunning 203

ENTERTAINMENT

CAMPUS

CALENDAR

Theta Party Coffeehouse, 9 p.m.-1 a.m.

SATURDAY Halloween Party East Hall, 9 p.m.-2 a.m.

SUNDAY 2 Early Music Vocal and Instrumental Consort Norman James Theatre, 4 p.m.

Teas and Talks Series Rabelais. Talk by Alice Berry. O'Neill Literary House. Tea at Talk at 4:30 p.m. Evening of Majors

Hynson Lounge, 7 p.m. TUESDAY 4 SGA Band The Deal Coffeehouse, 9 p.m-1 a.m.

WEDNESDAY 5 Advising Day - No Classes

Things That Go Boom in the Night: The Chemistry of Fireworks. Dr. John Conkling, Speaker, Dunning 203, 7:30 p.m.

Night of Comet

a Good Tale

by David Healey

is this comet coming It's Christmas time and everyone is in a great mood. They all go out to watch it. But there is a problem. The comet is passing too close to the earth. Last time it did this the earth. Last time it did this it wiped out the dinosaurs. What happens to all the revelers in Times Square? All the folks in L.A.? The comet turns them all to red dust. Anyone partially exposed becomes a flesh-eating zomble. What an unhappy way for Thom Eberhardt's "Night of the Comet" to begin. There are, like these two valley girl babes left, ya know. valley girl babes left, ya know.

Regina (Catherine Mary.
Stewart) and Samantha (Kelli Maroney) swank it up. The comet—a la neutron bomb—has only eliminated people. There are still clothes stores, man sions, and Porsches. Imagine the world as a playground

Of course there are these zombies to worry about. There are government scientists who only survive by draining blood from surviving citizens While the girls are having fun in California they get into shoot-outs with zombies, captured by the scientists, and fall in love. They aren't the only survivors, and they meet with a handsome guy (Robert Beltran) who goes for Regina. With him they liberate children held as blood stock by the government scientists

This is an original movie that mixes violence and humor. It's not a masterpiece, but it is a fun weekend movie that won't eave you sentimentally sad or tragically depressed. Probably you'll come out smiling.

Blood & Chocolate A Mixed Meal

by Paul Henderson The new Elvis Costello/Mac-Manus/Napoleon Dynamite album (I am still waiting for him to decide what he wants to be called) Blood & Chocolate is in many ways both a success and a failure. He seems to be and a randre. He seems to be slowly living down the praise paid to him by Linda Ronstadt when she called him perhaps the best songwriter of all time. I say he is living this comment down slowly because Blood & Chocolate shows him to be both a very good songwriter and a very confused and confusing songwriter.

Praise by Linda Ronstadt is faint praise indeed. To my knowledge she has never written a song of her own and is at best a pretty face who does an adequate job of breathing new life into other people's oldies. Costello, though, is still struggling as a performer. He has never really broken through in the manner he should. Always adored by the critics, he has only rarely been able to appeal to the American record-buying public. This album should pro-ve no different. There are no songs on this album that are comparable to his best-known comparable to his best-known singles of "Pump It Up" or "I Write The Book". There are no outright great singles, but there are several songs that are very good

"I Hope You're Happy Now" and "Home Is Where You Hang Your Head" certainly fit the bill for the "love-sucks" song genre. "I Hope You're Happy Now" describes the feelin ow" describes the feelings with another man. He sees her putting this newcome through the same hell she sub jected him to. He ends the song with the self defensive coda miserable love song. "Here comes Mr. Misery/He's tearing out his hair again/He's crying over her again/He's stan ding in the supermarket shouting at the customers". Here is another jilted lover who can't understand why nobody cares. Costello does not resolve or give any indication

Elvis Costello's Blood&Chocolate is a meal for wounded lovers and sweet that it is anybody else's con-The message is Costello doesn't care about this person and the world doesn't either: "And the world has wiped it's mouth since then/Or maybe it was yawning' Whoa!! hard to get happy

It's alright that these songs equate love with futility. We can still admire the picture. can still admire the picture.
This is harder to do later,
however, with songs like "Blue Chair". One gets the vague impression that this is another song about a broken love affair but that certainty isn't there The song is written in language so vague and enigmatic that it almost impossible decipher. Float this mess on an ocean of indefinite pronouns and you have a song that you not only do not understand but don't really want to. All the songs, however, are not the anthems of the cast-off, resentful lover. "I Want You" is a brilliant, unrequited love ng. There may not be a big difference between the two subjects, but there is a great difference in the feeling. It con sciously echoes the Beatles song of the same title. There is the same slow ostinato form and a very Harrisonesque guitar squawkings, followed by tortured Lennon-like vocals. His voice, which has often been described as grating on the nerves, here achieves a real emotional quality that is both delicate and pained.

Another excellent song and the one most resembling a single is "Tokyo Storm Warn-ing." Powered by a big beat rhythm and churning guitars, it is one of the few really upbeat songs on the album. It also a song that showcases Costello's considerable abilities as a songwriter. It contains many internal and end rhymes, that, in his somewhat unique phrasing, are delightful in their inventiveness. Costello does not deal with love in this song, but in-stead makes satiric thrusts at everything from protest singers to the tawdry materialism of the jet set. Here again he paints a grim picture and lets us stew in it. What good is it to sing protest songs when nobody cares about what you are protesting? "They say the gold paint on the palace gates comes from the teeth pensioners/They are so tired of shooting protest singers/That they hardly mention us/While fountains fill with second hand fountains fill with second ham perfume/And sodden trading stamps/They'll hang the bullies and the louts the dampen down the day". You may not always know who he slamming but you have to be impressed with the way h does it.

The idea of the artist, touched on in "Tokyo Storm Wan-ing," expands its level of cynicism in "Tired Old Bird" Here he draws an analagy be ween an artistic mind house filled with different characters. There are abusing cnaracters. There are abusing parents, psychotic and murderous Clark Kent type, and alchoholic writer.

Throughout there are drug, and a crutch that keeps in steady but motionless.

Musically the album is the same old Costello-fairly simple, post punk, rock and roll. It is competent but never very surprising. The only time the gives us a little bit of musica excitement is in the little ray up "Honey Are You Straight of Are You Blind?" Again is mines the old vein of an uncer tain relationship with woman. It does not have any the depressing qualities of the reminds me of one of the Fabulous Thunderbirds.

Blood & Chocolate contains some extraordinary songs and a lot of pained and confuse ramblings. When Costello ble to write songs like "I Wan You" and "Tokyo Storm Wan we are willing to liste and pay attention. When be wanders around a subject rely ing on a few nicely turns phrases we turn him off.

ROSE'S FURNITURE. ANTIQUES

AND ACCESSORIES

Browsers and Buyers Are Welcomed Rose's Has Something To Fit Everyone

Sun. 1:30-5:00

314 Park Row 301-778-1522

STEAKS . SEAFOOD . COCKTAILS

CHESTERTOWN, MD.

BUFFET EVERY SUNDAY 12-5 HAPPY HOUR - DAILY 4:30-6 AIR TAXI SERVICE AVAILABLE SCHEELER FIELD

> 778-1222 Rt. 213 & 291

THE SCI-FI COMEDY HIT OF THE YEAR!

AN ABSOLUTE HOOT FROM BEGINNING TO END! Effortless comedy that balances perfectly with the action."

NIGHT OF THE COMET lights up some new stars. Sharon Farrell is hilarious Kelli Maroney is adorable."

YOU CAN'T HELP HAVING FUN!"

Friday, Sunday, Monday 7:30 P.M. Norman James Theater

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 9

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, November 7, 1986

College Absorbs Yearbook Debt

Recently the College Board of Publications absorbed a financial debt of the financial debt of the recent of the college Board of Publications absorbed a financial support on the part of the college, the Pegasusstaff is still pushing for more significant lunding from the S.G.A.'s organizations committee.

The Pegasus has had a history of financial hardships as well as several blows to its financial credibility in the past

Micheal Kline, appointed editor of the Pegasus in the 1983-<sup>94</sup> academic year, left the college during semester break, absconding with several thou-

absconding with several thou-sand dollars from the Pegasus account. No yearbook was pro-duced that year and the staff was left with a five thousand Phyllis Proctor, etitor of the Pegasus, in the 1884-785 academic year, attempted to complete both the 1994 book and the 1985 book. She produc-ed neither book, and she added yearbook deta. In 1985-88, Editor Mary Hellen Hotzgang published the yearbook debt.

In 1985-86, Editor Mary Helen Holzgang published the two overdue books and the 1985-86 book within her 85-86 195-86 book within her 85-86 budget. Nevertheless, 86-87 Pegasus editor Arian Ravan-bakhsh faces a seven thousand dollar plus debt. The Pegasus now receives The Pegasus now receives The Pegasus Tablications. The Board Publications. The budget is tunded through student fees; each student con-

Costumed beggars swallowed up the attention and treats of college students during Halloween last Friday night. Organizers estimated that nearly three hundred local youngsters took advantage of the high-density trick-or treating in the dormitories

When it's free, people don't care," said Ravanbakhsh. He petitioned the S.G.A. during last week's senate meeting, but the topic was tabled temporarily by the Organizations Committee. According to Senate March 1988 of the Treasurer and Chairman of the Organization committee,

"There is no way to produce a good book on the budget we are allowed now."

tributes $14 annually to the Pegasus. The Pegasus budget also estimates $1,000 income this year from advertising from advertising

In addition to an eleven thousand dollar printing cost, the 187 budget lists several expenditures including $1,200 Payroll, $1,000 photographic equipment and supplies, $500 Postage, $400 bookstore charges, and $600 for phone and xerox expenses.

"There is no way to produce a good book on the budget we are allowed now," said Ravan-bakheb

Ravanbakhsh is presently looking into the possibility of loaring students an additional six dollars for the year-book, bringing the total cost for students up to twenty dollars per book. "That's all it takes — ger book are not support to the proper soon."

refused funding on the grounds that the Pegasus is not a club, but a publication, and therefore should be the responsibility of the Board of Student Publications. Professor Colin Dickson, Chairman of the Board, was not available for "Ill's obvious that the S.G.A."

"It's obvious that the S.G.A. doesn't care about the year-book...I feel that there was a lot of bias toward me on that funding committee," said Rayanbakhsh.

Ravanbakhsh does not ex-pect the S.G.A. to fund him, but he plans to continue his pursuit of extra funds through the Senate and college administra-

"If students want a decent book, they should be willing to pay, but right now with the budget we're on, I don't see how a quality book can be pro-duced," he said.

delay the call to the Chester-paris, accusing town Volunteer Fire Depart-ment until the alarm has been burden them," said Roderick, verified by the College security "It's not that we don't want department." Hessey explained: "My letter to the Fire Department was a confirmation of their request. They approached (the College) to ment would search the building quickly, and then they notify the dispatcher again to send a fire crew or not.

Since last month, the dispathewas unable to be reached for cher notifies the Fire Depart-comment. ment immediately of every "It is understandable why call they receive regarding the County Commissioner and alarms. It is the Fire Depart-continued on page 4

Policy Exemption From Fire Dept. Requested

by Audra M. Philippon ment's policy, as always, to respond to every call they get. Hessey said "The Fire Departby Audra M. Philippon
Vice President for Finance
Gene Hessey recently requested from the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Department
that the College campus be exment simply changed its proempt from its newly instituted policy of responding to every alarm. The request stems from the rash of false alarms on campus earlier this semester.

College's concern regarding the Fire Department's policy was based on "the manpower they have to put out every time the alarm goes off and the equipment they have to use. It Hessey wrote to Chief Bruce equipment they was a joint concedelay the call to the Chester-parts, actually." was a joint concern on all our them up here."

As Hessey pointed out in his request, the College has receiv-

Roderick explained that the

ed a temporary okay from its insurance company, USF&G, for the exemption from the proached (the College) to insurance company, USF&G, develop an agreement with our of the exemption from the insurance company to revert Fire Department. After back to the previous system. "January, 1, 1987, the insurance According to Gerry company will reassess the Roderick, director of campus risks involved. The response security, before October 1, 1986 from the Fire department was the Resident Assistant was "mittally very avorable," said the Resident Assistant was "mittally very avorable," to the Resident Assistant was a mittally but the County Combination of the Resident County Combination will not protect them under the exemption." The attorney handling the County Commissioner's ques-tion is Earnest Cookerly, but he was unable to be reached for

Letter From Dean Criticized

by Audra M. Philippon Dean Elizabeth Baer recently mailed letters to the parents of all seniors suggesting that they remind their sons or daughters of the importance of their senior obligation. The personalization and the wording used in the letter, however, offended several seniors, who received copies of the letter sent to their parents three days later.

"Parents have a right to know about something as im-portant as the senior obligation - but the wording of the letter was too alarming for its general informative purpose," explained senior Jackie

Senior Class president Irene Nicolaidis said, "A lot of seniors have received phone calls from their parents, mak-ing them think that their daughter or son is not working on their thesis." She added, "They (the Deans) sent this letter almost accusing us when, in fact, a lot of seniors are working on their theses and getting them done."

Dean Baer declined to meet with a reporter for comment.

According to Associate Dean seniors. We hadn't expected Alice Berry, "our most impor-tant purpose in writing the letter was to explain the quality of the senior obligation to the parents. We also wanted to exsupport and understanding." She continued, "students assume that people understand it (senior obligation), and as a parent, I know that they Berry admitted though that "there were some indignant responses from some of the

Miles Davis Review

Senior Chris Doherty comsenior Chris Döherty com-plained to Dean Berry about the letter's effect. "I don't doubt their good intentions... but, it was just poorly writ-ten."

For example, each letter was addressed individually and personalized with the name of the student used throughout the letter. Baer signed each and every letter by hand to give the letters added per-

Page 11

INSIDE:

| Dartmouth Hook-Up Changed             | Page 4  |
|---------------------------------------|---------|
| off the cuff                          | Page 6  |
| Hockey Wins Trophy Cross-Country Race | Page 8  |
| Cross-Country Race                    | Page 8  |
| Conkling On Fireworks                 | Page 10 |

OPINION

Editorial

Seniors Regress

One of the greatest advantages of a Washington College educa-One of the greatest auvantages or a washington counsel educa-tion is the personal academic attention given students by the faculty and administration. These members of the college munity, with few exceptions, take a gent and the college academic well-being of all students of the student advising system, a low average class. twelve to one are integral to this personal academic attention. That, after all, is what a small, private, liberal arts college is all about Academic attention, however, can be taken too far. The letters of concern sent by the Dean to the members of the senior class and their parents last week constitute a rather insulting example and their parents last week constitute a rather insulting stample of academic concern gone overboard. Charry the Dean's interious were good, more of the first for "slert" the parents of the control of

One ability any parent undoubtedly wishes his or her "child" to One sounty any parent undoouteup wisnes mu or ner 'cand' to acquire at college is the ability to successfully meet challenges without relying on mom and dad to make sure that things get done. Asking parents to reinforce the importance of self-discipline and concentrated academic effort indirectly assumes that the student in question may not have adequately learned these lessons. This is not a message that college seniors, who by their title are recognized as successful veterans of the academic system, need to hear.

system, need to hear.

This is a time when anxiety about once again assuming "freshman" status in the sa-called at world." if enting lowest percental involvement and encouragement at this point in a senior's life undermines the already shaky confidence of a student looking to achieve economic self-sufficiency come the end of May. If a senior can't meet deadlines and accept basic resputtions and the state of the senior of the senior of the senior is a state of may if a senior can't meet deadlines and accept basic resputtions in a time nouth when his or her pawheck deepends unon them in six months when his or her paycheck depends upon meeting such demands?

meeting such demands?
Genuine concern on the part of the Dean simply took a wrong turn in this instance. Precisely at a time when the maturity and academic experience of the senior class should be taken for granted, parents are being urged to nag about the Senior Obligation—an undertaking designed to allow each senior a chance to individually demonstrate these unlikels. Income and average that many senior rice insulted. anyone that many seniors feel insulted

Washington College Elm

| Editor-in-chief .              |     |      |    |   |  | Ed | lis | 0 | rs |     |     |  |    |  |   |   |    |    |    |    |    |    |    |    |     |    |  |
|--------------------------------|-----|------|----|---|--|----|-----|---|----|-----|-----|--|----|--|---|---|----|----|----|----|----|----|----|----|-----|----|--|
| Editor-in-chief .              |     |      |    |   |  |    |     |   |    |     |     |  |    |  | T | h | 30 | n  | 18 | Ņ  | ١. | S  | CI | ıu | BT. | 91 |  |
| News EditorFeatures Editor |     |      |    |   |  |    |     |   |    | • • | • • |  |    |  |   | A | u  | 31 | 2  | 4  | i. |    | 4  | Ċ  | Ľ   | "  |  |
| Arts/Entertainm                |     | C.41 | :: | • |  |    |     |   |    |     |     |  |    |  |   |   |    |    | ា  | ,  |    | ld | Ť  | ia | ale | 8  |  |
|                                |     |      |    |   |  |    |     |   |    |     |     |  |    |  |   |   |    |    |    |    |    |    |    |    |     |    |  |
| Photography Ed                 | tor |      |    |   |  |    |     |   |    |     |     |  | i. |  |   |   |    | J  | N  | ١. | F  | ra | g  | on | ne  | n  |  |
|                                |     |      |    |   |  |    |     |   |    |     |     |  |    |  |   |   |    |    |    |    |    |    |    |    |     |    |  |

Managing Editor
National Advertising Manager
Local Advertising Manager
Circulation Manager

The Elm is the official student newspaper of Washington College. The Fine publishes are designed to the academic year with the acceptance of the student of

The Elm's business and editorial office is located in the Queen Anna lounge, found on the first floor of the Queen Anna's House dormitory. Business hours are 7:00 p.m., 10:9:00 p.m. Tuesdays and 7:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. Wednesdays. The office phone number is (301) 778-2800, extension

Dear Mr+Mrs Doe

It has come to my attention That John has not been brushing his teeth, washing his face and hands, and has been seen with his Shirt tail hanging out

Please take action immediately

Thank you, The Dean

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor: The Senior Class would like to thank the following merants and organizations for their donations to the

> Suds and Soda Tri-State Gas Roy Rogers Pizza Hut W.C. Movie Series Ms. Dee's W.C. Bookstore Single Tree

Rolphs Wharf W.C. Food Service Bikework Newtowne Pub Procolino's Drug Fair Burger King Sly Horse S.G.A.

Bramble's Men's Wear

Coffee House P.G.'s Hallmark Alpha Chi Omega Phi Sigs Lambdas

K.A.'s

Mr. Jimmy Beasley from Thunder Sandblasting made a cash donation to the class of $25.00 Another private citizen of Chestertown made a $10.00 donation and wishes to remain anonymous. We would like to also thank all the individuals who purchased balloons and raffle tickets. Our fundraiser was a success!!

Irene Nicolaidis Senior Class Pres

Mom's Cookie Jar

On behalf of the Dining Ser-vice Staff I would like to extend ongratulations to the Dining Service "Employee of the Month," Tyrone Moody. Keep up the good work "Ty!"

It was recently brought to my attention that there are certain students not bussing their trays at lunch and dinner. Also, certain groups are regularly leaving food on the floor under and around their tables. Bussing tables is a rule of the dining hall, and if you are caught not clearing your dishes and tray, you could be fined. Food fights are another no NO! This practice will not be tolerated. So, please, make life easier for all of us, BUS YOUR TABLES and NO MORE FOOD FIGHTS.

Did you know salt is related to high blood pressure? Salt contains the mineral sodium, which stays in the body tissues holding water. This results in swelling and may lead to high blood pressure and increased November 12th. pressure on the heart We need only about 200mg. of sodium (or 1/10 teaspoon of salt) each day. An average American consumes 4,000-8,000 mg. each day. To reduce the should aim at a sodium intake of 2,000 mg. per day. Sodium found naturally in foods is sufficient to meet our daily requirements. The 50's Night dinner is scheduled for Wednesday, set up for your listening and dancing (if you care to do so) pleasure during the entire It will soon be time to start baking cookies for the sk of high blood pressure we entertainment, a juke box with oldies but goodies tunes will be holidays. My favorites are Her-mits and Cherry Winks. What are some of yours? Until next week...Mom.

> Amity Bakery and Coffee Shop

Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies, ial Occasion Cakes On Order

Breaklast 5 A.M.-11 A.M Lunch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

fon.-Sat. 5 A.M.-5 P.M. Sunday 5 A.M.-2 P.M.

CONGRATULATIONS

FIELD HOCKEY TEAM For Taking 2nd Place In WCFHA Tournament

LOVE-YOUR SENIOR

Majority Leans Toward Top 40

There is enough variety in the music presented at Social events for a small college such as ours. If there at first appears to be a preponderance of top fory it is simply because that is what the hough I myself may prefer to the hard present the present the progression of the hard present the music presented at social events has been durren, but the non-top forty events are not always popular. During my technany vera, DC Star played and incrity twenty people showed up.

Last year there was a night of punk and reggae in the Coffee House after a group of students took the initiative and arranged the event, and this year the Literary House sponsored an evening of reggae. Many of the social events are DJ's who play requests, and if what is requested is often the same night after night it is representative of the musical tastes of those making the requests, not necessarily those sponsor-when the Tom Larson Band played in the Coffee House it was to a very small crowd because the majority of students opted to listen to the top forty sounds of the DJ in Cullen rather than listed to

Monica Gill

Blues. The Wazoo, who play music Blues. The Wazoos, who play music ling to increasingly smaller crowds due to a lack of interest on the part of the student body. The musical tastes of the student body have been moving more and more towards popular music and

and more towards popular music and our social events reflect this swing. Typical college music is not a prevalent force on this campus. This can be seen not only in the social aspect but also in the selection of albums available in the college bookstore. It is very rare to find an album that is listed in the Gavin Reports Top Ten College Albums for sale on this campus. Perhaps it is due to the isolation of this campus and the fact that there are no college radio stations within listening range, but the albums offered for sale in the bookstore are "safe" albums that either are, or were, top forty. This seems to be a reflection of the musical tastes of those on this campus. Although what students listen to in

Although what students listen to in their rooms varies greatly from what is played at social events, dancability comes into play when selecting music for a party. However devoted a fan of Rush or Pink Floyd you may be, there are some songs you just cannot dance Although the majority of events remain top forty, the SGA sponsored bands are selected by our elected bands are selected by our elected proposed to the selected selected selected sak their Dorm Senators for a particular type of music it will appear on campus. Because live bands are expensive the SGA often cannot afford to sponsor bands they feel no one will attend:

I the responsibility of the students of inform the SCA of the types of music building the students of the student interest in certain types than a lack of effort on the part of the school. If The Smiths were to play on this campus I would glisdly stltend, but I have a feel-would glisdly stltend, but I have a feel-would glisdly studend, but I have a feel-would glisdly studend, but I have a feel-would glisdly studend, but I have a feel-would glisdly students, and the students of this campus.

Monica Gill is a Junior majoring in Mathematics and Computer Science

ISSUE:

Do Washington College Social Functions Favor Certain Student Musical Preferences Over Others?

Richard A. MacKnight, Jr.
Junior
Potomac, Maryland

"I hate top

40 and funding for social events seems to draw the cover bands that really make me want to puke. We need more money for better original bands that are not in the top 40."

Campus Voices

Freshman Richmond, Virginia

Richmond, Virginia
"We need less top 40 and more real music — the classics like Zepplin, the Doors, Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young, etc. Our school needs to improve on-campus bands by encouraging those who play this style of music."

Steve Kogler Freshman Baltimore, Maryland

"We have a lot of pop here. We should definitely have more underground bands from Baltimore or D.C. Music should range from folk and reggae into the magnetic syndrome."

Erin Patterson Junior Severna Park, Maryland

"Sure they do. It depends on who is sponsoring the social event. You don't often hear country."

by Michele Balze

Candice Tomei Junior Vineland, New Jersey

"I do not think that most of the music played at campus activities represents the preference of the college students. We need more danceable music played. When the music has a good beat, people get more involved and have a better time."

We Want A Piece Of The Action

Those of us who waste time flipping arrough magazines like Creem and Spin down at the newsstand while diversioned the plays sports can't help the set a load of pictures of cool people where a load of pictures of cool people where a load of pictures of their waste of their was substance acts about to upper some stays garbage can be much by garbage can were also kind of butter, and we're also kind of substance and we're also kind of butter, and we're also kind of butter, and we're also kind below of some you're below of Somic Youth in action; tump with any and snag the part of us that likes to watch David Letterman, or stakes us play one favorite record over as over, or the part of us that makes us companied to books. Whatever kind succeptable to books. Whatever kind succeptable to books. Whatever kind succeptable to books. Whatever kind would the substance of we're substance we're go we're going to want to see them say sometime.

We skim a few, short, corresponding articles that mention the names of some bands, and include terms like "left of the diat" and "east-westtollege music scene." We start to get excited. We situate ourselves in the back of the Dining Hail at danner so we back of the Dining Hail at danner so we can hound the people in our classes who always walk in late and look like they might write poetry and let us borrow about a hundred albums we'd like to tape. We get our hands on a record by Christmas, and discover two guys and a girl from Cambridge, Masschusetts who know exactly what we want; cather than the control of th off and says ne knows declause usey play there all the time.

Play there all the time.

and a piece of the action. Other people that we don't really know too well think we have some kind of problem because we weeknight, but won't lel it drop when the meaning the property of the weeknight, but won't lel it drop when we sit with them at lunch about how great this group called Touch me we sit with them at lunch about how great this group called Touch me well when the property of the property infamous Replacements, and start saying stuff afterwards like "If our ears don't ring for the next three days, it isn't Rock and Roll." We don't know anything about the

We don't know anything about the SGA, or whoever runs the Coffee House, but we don't see that as any reason not to whine about their choice of bands. Don't get us wrong, We're not looking for any trouble, and we're not the kind who like to complain. It's just that bands like the one that played here Tuesday night don't quite cut it in our book. We don't appreciate a soporfile.

Chris Parmelee

singer who keeps telling us to "dance!" We think Synthesizers stink. We can only to the lack of spirit for the mysterious lack of volume to come out of the band's readily apparent amplifier stacks. Being firm believers in variety, we did at least applaud this particular group's refusal to cover "short."

Sure we could shut up and transfer. But then again, maybe we couldn't. Soon there is going to be a radio station here, and we were glad to have it. The chance for a variety of people to play the records they like could obviously widen the assortment of musical tastes to which the College would have to consider catering to. We are hardly the first ones to mention that the frequent airplay on tiny, independent stations run by student bodies like our own across the country for the past five diverse and challenging red million. RPM, Let's Active, and the Feelles are just a few.

Last year someone got a lot of people to sign a petition that said the campus taste in music tended towards ignorance and closed-mindedness. We thought that was stupid especially the people of the control of the cont

Chris Parmelee is a junior majoring in English.

Dean's Letter To Parents Insults Several Seniors

continued from page 1

Doherty and sonalization. Nicolaidis pointed out several specific phrases that they found alarming to parents and insulting to students.
"...this letter is to alert you

"...this letter is to alert you... to the special demands that the Senior Obligation, as an independent study, will make this year on (name)'s selfdiscipline, commitment, and sense of responsibility.
Graduation in May, 1987, depends on your child's purreceivlactions now.

set by the department...

uspenies on your clause plan

"It would be most helpful if Associate Dean of the College Alice you would stress to your (son Berry explained the purpose of the or daughter) the urgent importance of keeping the place period in the college of the nt... ple understand (the Senior Obliga-will give tion), as a parent, I know they don't."

students an idea of their pro-gress on the Obligation and what is expected of them, but cannot do so if the student fails to make and keep regular appointments.

"We know that we can count on your support in assuring that (name) responds as effectively as possible to the needs requirements and

Berry responded, "I think you could pick out words or phrases that should have been different or that we could revise, but I honestly think that it was the personalization that pushed alarm bells we never intended to push." She added, We have sent a copy of this to the faculty for thier editorial comments."

Nicolaidis, whose mother did panic unnecessarily upon receipt of the letter, wrote to the Dean asking her to write another letter to the parents of seniors explaining: "1)that every parent received a letter of this kind; 2)that the letter was not due to any negligence on any senior's part; and 3)that their support is crucial at this time. Dean Baer has not yet

Nicolaidis suggested "Perhpas she (Dean Baer) Nicolaidis suggested "Perhpas she (Dean Baer) should have consulted someone from the class... and maybe some faculty." Berry said that "the idea for the letter came from the faculty letter came for the faculty suggested in the faculty suggested i

With the exception of two, "most of the responses from parents have been very positive – they said 'just let me, know what I can do.' "The main lesson from this that we've learned is the per-sonalization... We'll just do it differently next year. We will continue to send the letter, but with an impersonal address, like 'Dear Senior Parent', to make sure that parents realize this is just an informational let-ter from the College."

Dartmouth Computer Hook-Up Found Too Expensive

by Jennifer Smith

College officials are presently seeking economical alter-natives to the costly computer hook-up with Dartmouth Col-lege. The College has only used the "Dedicated Lease Line" provided by AT&T since March 1985. At nearly $2000 a month, however, the number of simply does not warrant the

The lease line system allows a large number of students to use the program simultaneous ly. The disadvantage is that the College pays a flat rate fee every month to maintain the system — the College pays almost $2000 a month whether or not anyone uses the service

Some students and faculty do, in fact, use the Dartmouth hook-up, and consequently, the College is not terminating the system entirely. WC is "simply changing the way in which changing the way in which we're accessing their system," said Paul Bishop, director of the Computer Center. Bishop feels that the flat fee currently paid by the College is not ap-propriate for the usage, and that "it makes more sense to pay on a usage basis for a school this size, rather than a

There are two alternatives being considered by the Com-puter Center. One suggests that users dial Dartmouth peng considered by the com-puter Center. One suggests that users dial Dartmouth through the school modern, almost like a long distance telephone call. The other op-tion involves Telenet, a company that creates its own com-puter connections all over the country. Users would dial a number to get Telenet, enter a code for a hook-up at Dart-mouth, and then Telenet would connect the user to Dartmouth. prime system.

Bishop explained, "We're looking for the most cost outh's services

No specific plans exist for the money saved by a new system. According to Bishop, the money will go back into other computer related pro-jects in the next few years, like wiring dorms for easier computer access or more public machines on campus. Addi-tionally, Bishop said that "hopefully this year we'll be able to provide more programs of interest to students on the

College Asks Exemption

continued from page

the Fire Department are so sensitive to this ... liability in-surance is hard to get," said

"Part of their concern is the response time on the part of our security," said Hessey. our security," said Hessey. County certain things," added Roderick, like complete evacuation of the building involved and notification of the dispatcher if the security of-ficer on duty cannot respond immediately.

Roderick said through, "If the RA calls the dispatcher and says there's smoke and flames

he's not going to wait for verification from the security

In the meantime ... the Fire Department is reinstating its new policy to respond to every call," he explained, until the liability issue is resolved. 'This (exemption) is going to make the RAs handle the fire alarms more seriously and start the evacuation process themselves. If we don't get cooperation from students and RAs, we're not going to risk somebody's life, and we'll re-quest that the Fire Department respond every time," explain-ed Roderick.

This holiday season, get the "Write Stuff" at the right price.

edge when classes begin in January. With a Macintosh personal computer, and all the write extra-

We call it the Macintosh "Write Stuff bundle. You'll call it a great deal! Because when you buy a Macintosh "Write Stuff" bundle before lanuary 9, 1987, you'll receive a bundle of extras-and save $250.

Not only will you get your choice of a Macintosh 512K Enhanced or a Macintosh Plus, vou'll also get an Image Writer<sup>TV</sup> II printer, the perfect solution for producing near letter-quality term papers or reports complete with graphs, charts, and perfect papers you ever turned out. And turned in on time What's more, there's a Macintosh Support Kit filled with valuable accessories and computer care products from 3M.* Complete with all the things you need to keep your Macintosh running long after

Together with your favorite Macintosh word processing software, you can transform your notes into the clearest, most letter you've graduated. Let us show you how to get through college better, faster, and smarter. Stop in and see us for more information

Students Fight Illiteracy

by Tony Caligiuri Imagine a world in which every book, every newspaper, every roadsign, and every other form of printed literature appeared in a foreign language. This may sound unrealistic to many, but for over 39,000 illiterate residents of Maryland's eastern shore. the situation is real. In this area, an astonishing one in every five people is unable to read

In an attempt to alleviate il-literacy, the Eastern Shore Regional Library has set up "Project Read." The library takes interested individuals and trains them to work oneon-one with illiterate people wishing to learn to read. "I took a personal interest in the program," said SGA president Chris Doherty, "And I thought I could use my position to promote it." Although the program is not directly related to student government, Doher-ty brought it up during a recent meeting, urging students to get involved.

"Project Read" meets in the Kent County Library where in-terested individuals go once or twice for tutoring instruction After the group meeting, each volunteer receives his reading materials and is paired up with a reading student

'The immediate goal is to teach the person to read and fill out a job application, read road signs, and to be able to read for basic survival," said Doherty. He added that he was Donerty. He added that he was impressed already by the positive response for the pro-gram. By the beginning of this week, 50 applications had been picked up and ten had been

Interested students either call 800-638-2665, or pick up an application in Miller Library. The next meeting for volunteers who would like to begin this short training ses-sion or just learn more about the program will be held in the Kent County Library on High Street next Monday evening at

FEATURES

Flower Children Blooming Again

Amidst a crowd outfitted by Bean, long-haired students wearing tie-dyed shirts appear to be glaring anachronisms from the Sixties. Yet even with the conservatism of college students in "the Reagan generation," the music and styles of twenty years ago are undergoing a revival among youth nation-

Interest in the era, begun in the musical sphere with the reappearances of Bob Dylan the renewed popularity of the Grateful dead, has peaked to a point where visitors to San Francisco can tour the former hippie haven of Haight-Ashbury. At Washington College, a minority of students reject the yuppie lifestyle and nostalgically recall the spirit of self-described hippie, Mercer said that while she w only born in the Sixties she prefers the period's challenge to authority and promotion of peace to the political passivity of today's youth.

"Everyone was trying to find inner peace and happiness," said sophomore Sheilah Mercer

Sophomore Sarah Danowski also criticized the political apathy she finds prevalent to-day, and pointed out that in the Sixties students protested against the Vietnam War and fought for the right of 18-yearolds to vote

"Everybody now is out to make the Almighty buck. "It's just make money, not try to be the best person you can be," Danowski said, linking such materialism to the increase in business departments in col-leges across the nation. Another aspect of Sixties thinking—the freedom to ex-plore non-Establishment was praised by junior Peter Goode

"I like the idea of going out to find yourself and finding out what the hell things are all about. Now it's get a job, make money and get a house in the 'burbs," he said.

Junior Andrew Unger echoed Goode's praise of the Sixties ideal of abandoning a settled existence to travel. "Go out and find America - that's what it's all about."

In addition to the philosophy of the Sixties, students liked the era's styles and music

do with what was going on

The music of the age — from the Beatlest to Jimi Hendrix to—to—to boppy and too Crooby, Stills, Nash and Young technical with the use of synthesis of the strength of the steers and electric drums, a frend he blamed on growth a frend he blamed on growth as the strend he blamed on growth or the strend he blamed on growth as the strend he blamed as the strend he blamed as the strend he stre

Unger called Eighties music

One of the most visible signs

Dead epitomize the 1960's ideal of acceptance of different people. During the summer tour, which she followed for a while with money raised from selling tie-dyed shirts, even a group of slam dancers was acc those touring with the band.

Despite this emphasis on tolerating differences, many students with a fondness for this earlier age feel set apart from their peers. Both Danowski and Mercer admit-Danowski and Mercer admit-ted that more mainstream students say they live in the past and are closedminded about today's music.

Most of those interested in the Sixties cited older siblings. not parents, as the source of their attiudes toward the era. Danowski said her parents "missed the Sixties" raising a family but her sister introduced her to the music of the Grateful Dead when she was Grateful Dead when she was ten and thus sparked her in-terest. Likewise, Goode associated his parents more with the 1950's: "I've liberalizthem more than they've liberalized me.

Although she considers her parents more politically con-servative than herself, junior Laura Kerbin said their example of 'looking out for the underdog' shaped her views. Last year, she protested in Washington, D.C. against Con-

"It was a fantastic ex-perience. I'd do it again in a minute she said.

Protest is an area in which those nostalgic about the Six-ties curb their enthusiasm. Kergin, for instance, said radical actions by student pro-testers further alienated adults and thus widened the com-munication gap between generations

People thought of them as a bunch of crazy college kids and not as reasonable, intelligent people who could think," she said.

According to Danowski, drugs also became a problem as their use came to be for amusement rather than a search for a higher level of consciousness or a utopian society, as was true with the famous "acid tests" conducted by the Grateful Dead and writer Ken Kesey and his companions, "The Merry Pranksters."

"People jumped on the band-wagon and the people who real-ly believed it (that a utopia could be achieved) got pushed

Even the realization that the age of protest of war and the rigidity of the Establishment ended in disillusionment does not prevent some from wishing that they had lived, not simply been born, in the Sixties.

Said Goode, "It was a time to go out and experience new things."

"Everybody now is out to make the Almighty buck. It's just to make money. not try to be the best person you can be."

(than the music does now),"

Danowski and Mercer said they prefer the clothes for their comfort. "Fashion now is a lot wilder than fashion then, Mercer. "Now we're right back to the 1950's again everyone looks exactly alike." we're right

Criticizing today's songs for lack of originality and promo-tion of violence, she linked a re-

"In the Sixties people used drugs and listened to music but the music was saying 'All you need is love' and 'Give peace a chance,' '' she said.

of a 1960's revival comes in the recent Surge of popularity of the Grateful Dead, which Danowski and Mercer attributed to the band's increascent Satanic grave robbing by teenagers to their using drugs ed exposure from playing this and listening to heavy metal. summer with Dylan and Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers. The Dead has not sold out," said Danowski, pointing out that many former Sixties groups have entered the MTV

Ironstone Cafe

236 Cannon Street Chestertown, Maryland 21620 301-778-0188

Tuesday-Saturday Lunch: 11:30-2:00 Dinner: 5:30-9:00 Sunday Brunch: 11:00-3:00 Closed Mondays

HELP WANTED:

Part & Full-Time Yard Labor Great Oak

Marina

Contact Bob at 778-5007

Let's Play The Advising Game

hy Andrea Kehoe

Among the traditions of higher education during the 1950's was an impromptu cancellation of classes in celebration of the arrival of spring.
Still practiced at some Ivy League institutions, the vacation day allows students to escape academic drudgery free day in the sun. for a day in the sun

But at Washington College in the autumn, the only comparable academic reprieve is Advising Day. This year students spent a day in typical Eastern Shore drizzle choosing courses for next semester and nursing hangovers acquired the previous even-ing in the Coffeehouse, the lack of classes being a midweek excuse to imbibe.

Adding to the atmosphere engendered by gloomy weather and uncertain health, the selection of courses is a depressing element in itself. After all, this brings a reminder of schoolwork, which all party-loving "students" know to be an inconvenient distraction from college life. distraction from college life

But as academics are the essential excuse for encouraging parents to fund a four-year, $40,000 social life, signing up for some more classes is in-escapable. First, students must try to remember who their adviser is, a par-ticularly difficult feat for freshmen who may not have seen this elusive in dividual since orientation.

After locating the adviser's assigned campus cubbyhole, one must make an appointment and then prepare for the appointment and then prepare for the meeting. This involves a search for "blow-off courses" – those classes which allow one to spend the bulk of one's time in Miss Dee's and the Coffeehouse instead of the library and the computing center and still obtain a degree in four years.

The scholarly descriptions of each reveal any course offerings fit for the course found in the catalogue are of lit- academically apathetic, students must tle aid in discerning which ones can be passed without even purchasing the textbook. Instead, savvy students discover blow-off courses by surveying lacrosse players to see which of their classes they are passing academically apathetic, students must find some other way to determine what their schedule will be. Some people do this arbitrarily by signing up for only courses held in their favorite room in Bill Smith or by picking a number and applying it to four different departlasses they are passing.

An the event that this method fails to ments: This number itself can correspond to one's weight of I.Q. provided they are in the three-digit range.

they are in the three-digit range. Ideological students specialize in courses dealing with literary, philosophical, historical or practical "isms," while those looking to stress their social life sign up for whatever their friends are taking.

Sometimes a student is unable to determine his schedule and is truly in need of his advisor's counsel. This creates a problem if the advisor falls its attempt of the problem of the advisor falls into either of two categories of extremes: the bureaucratic figurehead and the substitute parent. The former of these two considers his role as advisor a mere formality. He feels his "John Hancock" on the required paperwork is more important than his opinions and thus does not even flinch when an advisee expresses even finch when an advisee expresses a desire to study "Introduction to Magazine Reading" or "Contemporary American Soap Operas." In fact, such an advisor is so laid back he would probably not even object to one of his students dropping out to pick daisies. The more authoritative type, on the The more authoritative type, on the other hand, dictates the advisees schedule and often endorses an "in locus parentis" philosophy. Sometimes an element of greed is involved underpaid professors can receive kickbacks from aspirin companies for encouraging unwary freshmen to "challenge" themselves with physics, economics, calculus, and chemistry in

Once the hurdle of selecting courses is behind, students can anticipate the joy of spending $200 for books that will require hours of reading and study time in the library – making them long for a free day in the sun, not in the driz-

economics, calculus, and chemistry in a single semester.

WE HAVE EXPANDED!

We now have expanded our floor space as well as added a fine line of ladies' traditional classics to compliment our classic menswear.

Open House

Fri., Nov. 7 Damiery 9 to 9

Sat., Nov. 8 9 to 6

We Welcome

GET A JUMP ON X-MAS!

Compliments with your purchase from

- Bramble's ☆ FREE GIFT-WRAP
- *FREE UPS SERVICE
- ☆FREE ALTERATIONS ☆FREE MONOGRAMMING
  - Truly Old-Fashioned

ervice That Is Hard To Find Anywhere

BRAMBLE'S TRADITIONAL

CLOTHING

THIS WEEKEND ONLY!!!!

MEN'S & LADIES JEANS $14.90

ENTIRE STOCK HUNTING CLOTHES /2 PRICE

ENTIRE STOCK SHOES /2 PRICE

Athletes Must Seek Victory In Classroom

and the bad, and then proposed ways of healing the bad. These suggestions include: de-emphasizing college athletics; strengthening admissions standards; developing minor league standards; developing minor league systems; requiring progress reports on the student athletes and college athletic programs; restricting playing and practice time; and limiting athletic scholarships. Naturally, implementing all of these programs is not the solution to the athletics in academics dilemma. These are merely suggestions aimed ameliorating some of the more troubl-ing parts of it. My intentions, though, are not to devise some magical system which will solve the problem. That is up to the NCAA hierarchy, What I can do. though, is appeal to those who can truly solve the problem — the athletes. Most deficiencies which arise

Most deficiencies which arise If we are to solve the problem of because of college athletics are due to athletics in academia, we must attack be individual. Athletics cannot interefere with a student's education dividual, the student-athlete must coaches, fans, and so on - within the individual himself, are just in the state of the student allows it to. Lacrosse is a consistent and act upon argument between Mr. Beehm and consistent and act upon argument between Mr. Beehm and the state ago, and the masser roared in field hockey or basketball is not got the masser between the state ago, and the masser roared state to got the state ago, and the masser roared succent. First, I feel that Mr. I feel that Mr.

dividual ones. But it would be naive to their grades suffer. Secondly, we must I do not deny the benefits of college thinks so. Athletes are pressurized by decrease the societal pressures and es-athletics, and in fact I have mentioned coaches, alumni, and administrators pectations which we put on college many of them in my series. I, but a shelptial in literature with a company to the series of the structure of the structure of the series of the series of problems, and it is these problems which I have addressed.

Lastly, I feel that Mr. Boehm has unfairly associated my word 'lacrosse' with Washington College. Indeed, the problem of athletics interfering with academics affects Washington College, alike, who demand top performance athletes. Until victory in the college and, above all, victory. While the in- classroom becomes more important to the extent that the individuals con-cerned allow it to. This is true of volleyball as much as it is of lacrosse, or for that matter any other athletic or non-athletic activity sports are good and sports are necessary, to the extent that they do not hinder our true purpose of being here namely getting an educa-

Next week: A look at how this applies to Washington College dividual student can have the last say than victory on the college playing — can, in effect, just say no — that is field, the problems with college often almost an impossibility. The pressures from others — teammates, Boehm Criticizes ...

Beekman Responds... I do not wish to start a continuing

COMMENTARY

Sho'man Defends WC Athletic Program

and from the student allows it to..."

We have the sure and cases own to the college is "to teach learn about REAL-LIFE. What to think well...and employer, I ask you, is going to stifty." The second was how he stereotyping of individuals inders them from achieving Dr. Smith's goal - to think rell it is my opinion as an lumni of W.C. and a former acrosse player that the dereotyping has hindered any students, not only libetes, from reaching Dr. mith's goal.

The anxiety of being labeled as prevented many in-biduals from exploring new

Many athlete-students go real-life. ades, cars, money, attention, me-only to get out of college educated and unprepared

Il seems as if Mr. Beekman ver truly learned what com-tive athletics teaches an in-dual. An athlete is taught ponsibility, discipline, pride be or her abilities as well as to handle oneself in asure situations. But, in my

"the athletic field is an excellent

before the country of the country of by Larry Boehm '86 in opinion, the best lesson that a sports teaches an individual is an ome of the sports teaches an individual sports that an opinion, the best lesson that a phenedic in the both of the sports teaches an individual sports that the sports teaches an individual sports that the sports teaches an individual sports that the sports that athlete either. Obviously, Mr. Beekman has not attended any pre-season practices where everyone is sweating and working to earn every ounce of the attention and fame they deserve. And once again I don't see local television stations rushing to interview the lacrosse team after a 10:00 p.m. practice either.

To continue M. Beekman's paragraph: "Then there are the six and seven year students who strug-gle to get their degree years after their lacrosse eligibility has expired. These students all suffer because they allowed athletics to get in the way of the educations."

the educations. I only wish Mr. Beekman would have done some research before opening up a whole new can of worms on assumptions. First of all, out of eight seniors from the 1986 lacrosse team, six graduated in four years while the other two were transfer students and will be graduating after com-

ROSE'S FURNITURE. ANTIQUESAND ACCESSORIES

Browsers and Buyers Are Welcomed Rose's Has Something To Fit Everyone

Mon.-Sat. 10:00-5:00 Sun. 1:30-5:00

314 Park Row wn, MD 21620 301-778-1522

his time of graduation, doesn't extend it over one year, simply because its expensive to go to school. Remember also that W.C. is a Division III school. That means no athletic That means no athletic scholarships. The word that gets to me is "struggle." Yes, the student-athlete will struggle to graduate in the struggl gle to graduate in an extended period of time, but he or she never quits. Again, a true athlete bounces back from adversity and doesn't submit

In conclusion, I believe that athletics at W.C. is the purest form of amateur spots in the NCAA. No alums give athletes training tables are made available, and the physical facilities are modest to say the least. More importantly, however, the athletes are taught to think well. Isn't that why we want to come to college in the first place?

Gimme a?

ATTENTION: Anyone in-terested in cheerleading please contact Karen Smith in the Cain Athletic Center as soon as possible.

Beat The Christmas Rush

Start Your Shopping Early At

THE FINISHING TOUCH

Many gifts, decorative doormats, music boxes, brass items, stuffed animals and much, much more!

> Fine Framing and Artist's Materials (In Stock or To Order)

311 High Street, Chestertown 778-5292

Runners Keep Stride Against Opposition

by Mike Jenkens Washington College The Washington College Cross Country team competed at home on Saturday, November 1st. The Sho'men lined up against Western Maryland College and Lebano Valley on the river course near the Truslow boathouse.

This met marked only the second race held at home this year. Although the team as a whole was not victorious, is dividual members Kevin Chris Parmelte Lauricella. and Lars Hendriksen - the and Lars Hendrissen - the n #3, #4 men respectively, "hat the best scores on the course a couple years," said Coad Don Chatellier. "the team's personal goals were at complished and its expecta-tions were reached, he added.

The team will travel to Get tysburg College this weekend saturday, November 8th, be run in the Middle Atlantic Championship in Gettysburg Pennsylvania. The Sho'me will be competing against 2 teams, some of which and familiar from past races. Coach Chatellier hopes the team will improve their reco from last year's conferen

Hockey Takes Georgetown, Falls To Catholic

by Jeb Stewart
"We only lose one player next year to graduation. I don't know how the team will unify. I think we can be optimistic, they've laid the foundation in working towards being a good working towards being a good team. The competition's going to increase...We had a suc-cessful season.'' These euphoric words were stated by womens' field hockey coach Diane Guinan after her team narrowly missed a winning record by finishing at 5-6-the best in WC field hockey Next year the women will be without senior Alison Shorter, but for now it's nice to evaluate this season in which the Sho'women won three more games than in any previous season.

"The step we took is really larger than I expected," said Guinan. "There was more to the team than observers would realize. Beating Georgetown was an incredible accomplishment. 5-6 meant something to us. We opened up a lot of eyes."

favored Georgetown in penalty strokes 1-0 during last Saturday's tournament. "In the past," stated Guinan, "Georgetown was a team that unquestionably dominated us. However that was not the case on Saturday." The team then on Saturday." The team then took on Catholic, first seed in

KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WOTH OUR SUNTANA SUN SYSTEM

EMILY HAIRDRESSER

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

the tournament, and a team that had beaten WC 1-0 earlier in the year. This game was not however, as early so close, Catholic netted three goals in the first half and held off WC to win the tournament champion-ship 3-0. Although the team lost, Guinan was not unhappy with their performance: "We The Sho'womens' season is have nothing to be disapnow over, but for Kate pointed about," she said. "Catholic played well and deserved to win-but we played well also. We never gave up, and we kept them scoreless in the second half. We ac-complished a great deal including bringing home a trophy for second place."

Falconer, Carole Reece, Be Matthews, and Liz Whelan who were chosen to Southeastern District All-S Team, the season will contin for a while longer. Hats of the 1986 Sho'women, a te that began as a club only years ago, and is poised to ing home a winning record.

Laxers Battle UM, UVA In Final

by Christine Wiant

Sho'men lacrosse finished up its fall season with two par-ticularly tough games. The first, on October 17th, against first, on October 17th, against the University of Maryland, the number five team in Divi-sion One, ended in a 13-8 defeat for WC, but not without a fight. Maryland was up 6-0 at the end of the first quarter, but came back and out-goaled the other team 8-7. The number two team in Division One, University of Division One, University of Virginia, presented the Shomen with their final challenge. Played on October 25th, WC lost 12-7, but never relaxed their determination to play their best

The primary purpose of the fall season is to work on the fundamentals and to evaluate progress. For this against the toughest teams losses are not really losses when they are close gal when they are close a played against top of Di One teams. Mike Woodfo junior and three year man, stated "Just from w could gather this fall, the has various dimensions capitalize on other undermining mistakes, could set the stage for tacular season."

and thinks defensively team has a lot of depth. looking forward to season starting Mar against North Carolii defending Division One Sportswriters wanted!

Call 778-2800 ext. 321

Great American Smokeout-Nov.20

Soccer Against Del. Valley Yields Dirty Play

by John Bodnar Excitement, satisfaction, reward are usually associated with a victory, but that wasn't the case for WC soccer on Thursday November 4th when they defeated Delaware Valley College 4-2.

The victory was marred by dirty play by Delaware Valley and retaliation by the Shoremen. Both teams tallied up a total of 37 fouls, three vellow card violations, and one red card violation

Along with rough play, the themselves in a hole when Shoremen were inconsistent in Delaware Valley headed in a controlling the game. Head goal in the beginning of the second played about (Ifteen conduction of the second played about (Ifteen conduction) the second played about (Ifteen conduction) the second played about (Ifteen conduction) that the second played that the second played that the second played played sweeperback Todd Emmons broke up several one-on-one threats. Goalies John Thom. had five saves and John Billingsley had one save.

It was all tricks and no treats on Halloween for W.C. when Johns Hopkins University silenced the Sho'men by a score of 4-0.

The Shoremen did all they regular season has come to an abstance of the same o (13-1-1) but were simply classed. "They exempl

The shut-out victory for Hopkins placed them undefeated in the Conference (5-0) with no team having yet scored against them For the Shoremen,

Men's Varsity Eight Places Five Out Of Six

by Christine Wiant

"There's no time outs, once you start that's it." These words, spoken by Coach John Wagner, sum up the essence of a crew race. It's a lot of hard work with no breaks, no matter

The women's eight novice surely know the meaning of these words after getting-off to a bad start last Saturday. The three mile course that was waiting for them was their first race. Despite a timing mix-up that has not been resolved, the Sho'women placed well as did the men's eight novice boat which placed third out of nine

Also rowing were the men's eight and men's four, varsity, which placed five out of six and three out of five, respectively.
A timing controversy also arose during the men's four

"Irregardless of timekeepirregardless of timekeeping everyone rowed up to their potential," said coach John Bodnar. "The women's and men's novice especially, for their first race, and men's eight and four both looked moother on the water."

nen's varsity eight pushes hard through their first race at the Head of the Occoqua

Growing Consensus

Fitness Can Be A Good Time

by Christine Wiant

Have you gallantly joined in the quest for fitness, or did you just step back and let all the "health freaks" run on by? If you're laying on the sidelines, do you regret it yet? Have the rolls of fat collecting around your middle subtly called your your middle subtly called your attention to the fact that — yes it's true those mad dashes to Miss Dee's for late night munch out sessions have been the extent of your exertion?

Well, you have another chance to mend your ways. The fitness courses offered to freshmen, transfers, and select upperclassmen, are now of-

A variety of activities, such as raquet sports, fencing, golf, dance classes and nutrition are being offered at convenient times. The opportunity to take one activity for half the semester and another the se-cond half is available to save you from the doldrums of athletic stagnation. You see, fitness can be exciting.

The program for this semester has not been fully evaluated yet, so you still have your chance to make fitness a success at Washington College. If you're still not convinced, the students who have taken the courses are alive and functioning well. Many even en-joyed it. Camille Bickerson, a junior, said, "the courses could use some more exercise time, but it's a good idea. Keeping in out it's a good idea. Keeping in shape is important. The lecture part was even helpful and in-teresting." Ryder Daniels, a freshman, said "the course heightened my awareness of the fitness issue. It taught me more than 1 had are reful!" more than I had expected.

Karen Smith, the chair-woman of the Fitness Pro-gram, stated. "The program has been a success as an initial It definitely fills need. We've had more students than ever involved in fitness.

Sports Calendar

Friday 7

Volleyball MAC Championship

Saturday 8

Cross Country MAC Championship Volleyball MAC Championship

Sunday 9

Gordon State Sprints

OLD WHARF INN

Enjoy Waterfront Dining Located at the foot of Cannon Street

Chestertown, Md. (301) 778-3566

STEAKS . SEAFOOD . COCKTAILS

BUFFET EVERY SUNDAY 12-5 HAPPY HOUR - DAILY 4:30-6 AIR TAXI SERVICE AVAILABLE SCHEELER FIELD

778-1222

Rt. 213 & 291

Business Booming For Expert

Coup de grace of pyrotechnics: fireworks over the Washington Monument

THE COMIC THAT DARES

Olympic champion Paul McCartney was better when he was with the Boatles

mermaids becomes

Lady Fatima Lobotomy's suprising predictions for 1987 Incredible as it seems, Washington College will raise its

by David Healey Exploding fireworks are not everyday entertainment. But where would the fourth of July be without fireworks? Where would fireworks be without the

That's where Dr. John A. Conkling comes in. Conkling is a pyrotechnician-the world's ading expert on fireworks, in ct. A 1965 graduate of fact. A 1965 graduate of Washington College, Conkling taught chemistry here until 1984. In 1982 he received the Lindback Award for Distinguished Teaching by the College. Now teaching only one course, Conkling uses his chemistry background in the field of pyrotechnics, as Ex-American Pyrotechnics Association

Last night, Conkling gave a talk called "Things That Go Boom in the Night." He demonstrated how fireworks produce light, color and excitement in a layman's introduc tion to pyrotechnics. Your reporter interviewed Conkling forehand, to find out what this explosive subject was all about, anyway. 'My chemical specialty, explained Conkling, "is the chemistry of pyrotechnics which is the fifty cent term for producing colors, light and smoke with chemical mix-tures." There is more to a than lighting firecracker fuse, and there is more to pyrotechnics than Conkling works with both the civilian fireworks industry, and the government. Government pyrotechnics include flares, smoke signals, and smoke screens. Applications even include the space shuttle. "There are probably 100 dif-ferent pyrotechnic devices us-ed in the space shuttle," said

"Civilian concerns with pyrotechnics are usually with safety. The manufacturing of fireworks has had a very bad record over the past few years. There is a major campaign..to improve the manufacturing of eworks and get up to the safety standard level that the government facilities have."
There are also the public safe-ty messages on the use of fireworks. Conkling's knowledge of fireworks safety made him a seasoned celebrity. 'Pve been on the Today show three or four years on the 4th of July years on the 4th of July discussing safety. This year I appeared on ABC right before the Statue of Liberty celebra-tion explaining what people would be seeing and how the effects are produced.

Conkling works with several different national committees which review safety precautions. They decide how far crowds must be from the launching point, the kinds and use of certain fireworks. That's . "They're enormous important. devices. They get up to 24 in-ches in diameter and 100 pounds in weight. If one of those goes off in the wrong place there's going to be a very serious incident. You've got to know what you're doing.

ow what you're doing." Touring other countries,
"Just lucky, I guess," said Conkling recently visited

Conkling on about getting in-volved in pyrotechnics. In 1969 he began teaching. Dr. Joseph McClean was then chairman of the Chemistry department and the Chemistry department and later president of the college McClean had been involved in pyrotechnics since World War II. Through him, the interest was ignited in Conking. "I've was basically through Dr. Mc-Clean that I got involved in the field. I really didn't have any field. I really didn't have any unusual fascination with fireworks when I was young, although I certainly set off my and was fascinated by how they worked. Every year it began taking more and more of my life. For a number of years I was leading three lives, as a chemistry teacher, a safe-ty consultant, and a media personality doing the safety campaigns every year." Conkling decided it was too much. "I could not do both and devote had the time I had been to teaching." He retired and went into pyrotechnic work fullstarting his own consulting company

China to make sure that American Safety standards were met. Fireworks began there in the 11th century and today most fireworks are in ported from China

While Conkling does not make fireworks, he does do chemical research on the prosmoke and such. As senior pro jects, many WC students have ssisted him in the research "I guess if there is was on aspect I'd like to have mon time to devote to it's resear ch...it's essentially a bran new field of chemistry. There just hasn't been that must basic research on how smoke produced, how light's produced ed, how colors are produced We're just beginning to unlood several of the mysteries of the Conkling's research resulted in a book, The Chemistry and Theory, published in 1988. He assures that a sequel is to follow. See you on the Fourth.

by Ken Haltom

Conceived during the fall at 1985, the Washington College Jazz Band has practiced, per formed and given the campu an opportunity to enjoy Bi Band and Jazz classics. Pro fessor Amzie Parcell is lead of the group and said the iss for the project came for students who expressed it terest in performing.

The band will perform November 13 at 8:00 p.m. in Tawes Theater. Some of compositions played will Duke Ellington's "Take th Train," "Mood Indigo," Garner's "Misty" and Miller's "In The M Among the more mode pieces will be Miles Day "Four," Manhattan Transfe mangione's "Hill Where ! Lord Lies."

The Jazz Band has members and could use four memoers and count use for five additional musicial Band members are: Ja Musachio, Fred Connel Devon Barrett, alto st ophone; Janet Szabo, Bro Danner, and Beck Bro Danner, and Beck Bro trombone; Keith Wharton Jonathan Sarris, trumpet; Cessna, bass; Ford Schum guitar; Bill Faust, drums; Dr. Parcell, piano. Dr. Parcell, piano. November 13th performi will include a rendition of ing's Suite For Flute and Piano by Sue DePasqui flute; Jeff Cessna, bass gui Bill Faust; drums; Elizabeth Parcell, paino.

Dr. John Conkling speaks to a reporter about his specialty.

"The month of June is spent radio, TV, magazines, newspapers- just trying to get as wide a message as possible out for people to be careful."
Also he is busy with prepara-tions for Independance day celebrations

Later in the summer, Conkling runs three one week seminars on pyrotechnics at Washington College. Since 1982 his program has expanded and educates both government and civilian pyrotechnicians.
"There's no other place in the country where training is of-fered. It's a field of chemistry rered. It's a field of chemistry which is not offered as an academic course anywhere." He added, "We filled both weeks with sixty people each week from five different coun-

Holding a recital, students will play in James Theater on Wedn Works by Purcell, Dubussy, Weill, and Hin are on the program. performers are Susan quale, Kathy Pren Deirdre Derbis. Leach, and Kathleen The recital will begin at 4

ENTERTAINMENT

Miles Davis Heralds End Of Jazz

by Jeremiah Foster The new Miles Davis album music and concludes that jazz has reached an epiphany, a conclusion. The music is smooth and accessible, anyone who likes Scritti Politti or Cynd Lauper will enjoy this music and get a lot out of it. But Miles Davis is not playing jazz anymore, he's not even playing fusion. He's playing a hybrid of ock and roll and fusion This album is dominated by only two people, Miles, who who plays almost all the other instruments and com used all but two songs. Rock nd roll musicians often record whole albums by themselves For example; Paul McCartney and Steve Winwood both recorded solo albums and played all the instruments. This is realtively easy to do because one doesn't need to be good musician to play rock and roll. Jazz is a different fory because the music is so olex and one needs to be ble to read music, something and to read music, something many rock and roll bands can't de Miles is moving closer to rock when he records whole albums with two people. This is not as important as the ason why Miles is moving closer to pop. In the sixties rock eclipsed jazz as the most nportant popular music. Jazz ourished in the fifties in the sixties jazz went through some revolutions of it's own. Miles Davis created fusion, which spawned such bands as Weather Report and John McLaughlin's Mahivushnu Orchestra. The other brand new jazz avenue that developed was free jazz, developed by Ornette Coleman and Cecil Taylor.

Free jazz is extremely unlistenable, if you don't like Courished in the fifties in jazz you'd hate this stuff. The Dumerous clubs and bars but when the youth revolution took ondensed and reduced into a wer, rock buried jazz. During dense polyphonic ball that it takes extreme attention to find the theme and follow it. There is no decipherable scale move ment or rhythmic system; it exists but it is hard to find.

This brings us to the brink of modern jazz. Many pedantic jazz scholars and musicians believe there is a new vanguard of great, young jazz musicians like Winton and Branford Marsalis. While Winton is lauded for playing classic jazz, his brother is ac-cused of selling out because he played on Sting's solo album. The fact is jazz musicians can't survive by playing jazz anymore; nobody goes to see them. Rock is expanding its perspective by embracing azz, and making rock icrative to jazz musicians. iazz financially and by the huge au-dience rock has.

Miles knows all this. He is a step ahead of rock and jazz, he has arrived at where they are both going. His style is polished by echo and delay, and syn-thesizer permeates the album. The solos are complex. He has not given up the use of modes or invented scales. But the compositions are machinehoned with no jagged edges, only flawless surfaces.

One of the best solos on the album is by Michael Urbaniak who plays electric violin. The violin has never been assimilated into jazz without cliche, with the exception of Grapelli. But baniak's violin is warmed by distortion and delay. He plays with excellent knowledge jazz feeling, obviously h lassical training did not interfere with his jazz attitude.

The album is worth buying for its listenability alone, ultimately that is the criteria for buying records. But this album is also a futuristic conclusion of the decline of fusion. Miles retells all jazz's history in a handful of notes on the precise, it is heralding the end of jazz and the submission of music to the totalitarianism of music's bland and generic mind control.

The Atlantic and The New Yorker, and he is the author of On Writing Well. Zinsser's book has become a

Watch Out

For Trouble

all disciplines.

p.m. 11 Theatre.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Friday 7 D.J. Jay Goodman Coffeehouse, 9 p.m. - 1 a.m. Saturday 8 Back Seat Boogie Band Coffeehouse, 9 p.m. - 1 a.m.

Monday 10 Teas and Talks Series The Culture of Water in Peru Dr. Jeanette Sherbody

o'Neill Literary House.

Talk, 4:30 p.m. Tuesday 11
The Paintings of Jack Bonsal Gibson Fine Arts Gallery. opening reception 5-7 p.m.

On Writing Well Author William Zinsser speaks. Norman James Theatre,

8 n m Wednesday 12 WCDS 50's Night Hodson Hall

The William James Forum Squaring the Circle: Arms Reduction and SDI Hynson Lounge, 7:30 p.m. Student Recital Norman James Theatre,

4 p.m.

Thursday 13 The Washington College
Jazz Band
Tawes Theatre, 8 p.m.

SDI Forum

National security and the Strategic Defense Initiative ("Star Wars") will be the sub-ject of discussion Wednesday, November 12, at Washington College's William James Forum. The program begins at 7:30 p.m. in Hynson Lounge, and the public is invited to at-tend Anndbook for writers and has been compared to Strunk and White's The Elements of Style. Zinsser will discuss the aspects of good writing and using writing as a lifetime skill in The program, entitled "Squaring the Circle: Arms Reduction and SDI," is cosponsored by the Committee for National Security. The The lecture will begin at 8:00 in Norman James principal speaker will be Alton Frye, Washington director of the Council on Foreign Rela-

Frye has taught at UCLA and Harvard and has served on the staff of the Rand Corporation. He has been a fellow at the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars and Watching Trouble in Mind is like going back to the 1940's. It is the author of several books.

Also participating in the program will be James Leonard. former assistant director of the Arms Control and Disarma-ment Agency, and Adam Yar-molinsky, board chairman of the Committee for National

The Committee for National Security, co-sponsor of the evening program, is a nonprofit, non-partisan organiza-tion formed in 1980 to call attention to the drift toward excessive reliance on military solutions to complex international problems. CNS is par-ticularly alarmed by the un-controlled accumulation of nuclear weapons, regards as the ultimate threat to American security

Abstract Artist Has Substance

by Mary Rines "If I had to choose an artist, en it comes to abstract pain ng and painting for painting's e, it would be Jack Bonsal he's the most exciting abstract painter around," writes nd a life-long lover of art. Jack Bonsal, a one-man abstract art machine, will be displaying his paintings in the Gibson Fine Arts Center open-ing on Tuesday, November 11th. Following the opening will be a reception for the artist eorge Udel, an artist's agent and art lovers held from 5:00 p.m. until 7:00 p.m. The show will be open for public viewing Mondays through Fridays from 1:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m., through Tuesday, November Island Creek, Maryland, gave up a successful business career in 1963 to devote himself solely to his painting. His paintings have won several prizes at the Baltimore Museum of Art and elsewhere, including "Best in Show" awards at the Artists Equity-sponsored "Racing at Laurel" and at Lovola College Invitational Show. His work has been displayed in group shows at the Baltimore Museum of Art, the Peale Museum, and commercial galleries in Baltimore.

Interested in Learning RUSSIAN?

778-9800

If You Are Interested In Organizing A Class for The Fall '87 Semester.

ARRIMORE'S Quick Stop For

- Breakfast
- Sandwiches
- Subs - Dinner Platters
- *Shrimp *Crab Cake
- *Chicken Nuggets
- *Fish - Fresh Fried Chicken

Mon.-Sat. 6:30-9 p.m. Sun. 8-7 p.m. 778-1096

Location

On Writing Well

by Jenny Eisberg
The Washington College
Writing Program and the Maryland Writing Porject is sponsoring a lecture on Tuesday November 11th. The lec-ture, entitled "On Writing Well," will be given by William Zinsser, general editor of the Book-of-the-Month Club.

Zinsser has been both a writer and teacher along with his editorship. His writing has ap-peared in magazines such as is classic, dreary film noir. But it may be a bad dream. Time says "Trouble in Mind is a walk on the dour side." Set in the "Rain City," Seat-tle, Hawk (Kris Kristofferson) tle, Hawk (Kris Kristofferson) parades around as Mr. tough Guy, scopes on Wanda (Genevieve Bujoid) and Georgia (Lori Singer). Of course Georgia has a macho kind of husband, Coop (Keith Carradine). With a shoot-out scene as the ending the finale scene as the ending, the finale th not be worth the wait. Differing, Gene Siskel says, This is the one to see!" ossibly. See it at Norman

James Theater Friday, Sunday and Monday at 7:30 p.m. Admission is $1

FREE FLIGHT PLAN JUST FOR STUDENTS. YOU WON'T GET A BREAK LIKE THIS ONCE YOU'RE OUT IN THE REAL WORLD.

INTRODUCING COLLEGIATE FLIGHTBANK, FROM CONTINENTAL AND NEW YORK AIR.

If you're a full-time student at an accredited college or university you can join our Collegiate FlightBank." You'll receive a membership card and number that will allow you to get 10% off Continental and New York Air's already low tares. In addition, you'll get a one-time certificate good for $25 off any domestic roundrip flight. Plus, you'll be able to earn trips to places like Florida, Derwer, Los Angeles, even London and the South Pacific. Because every time you fly you'll earn mileage towards a free trip. And if you sign up now you'll also receive 3 free issues of Business Week Careers magazine.

This Porsche 924 can be yours if you are the national referral champion.

SIGN UP YOUR FRIENDS AND EARN A PORSCHE.

But what's more, for the 10 students on every campus who enroll the most active student flyers from their college there are some great rewards: 1 free trip wherever Continental or New York Air flies in the mainland U.S., Mexico or Canada.

Or the grand prize, for the number one student referral champion in the nation: a Porsche and one year of unlimited coach air travel.

And how do you get to be the referral champion? Just sign up as many friends as possible, and make sure your member ship number is on their application. In order to be eligible for any prize you and your referrals must sign up before [21/31/86] and each referral must fly 3 expments on Continental or New York Air before 6/15/87. And you'll not only get credit for the enrollment, you'll also get 500 bonus miles.

So cut the coupon, and send it in now. Be sure to include your current full time student ID number. That way it'll only cost you $10 for one year ($15 after 11/31/86) and $40 for four years ($60 after 12/31/86). Your membership kir, including referral forms, will arrive in 3 to 4 weeks. If you have a credit card, you can call us at 1.800.255-4321 and enroll even faster.

Now more than ever it pays to stay in school.

| Name   | Date of Birth  |
|--|--|
| College.                                     | Address  |
|  |  |
| Permanent Address                            | Zip  |
| Full time student ID #                       | Year of Graduation   |
| 5 □ Check/Money Order E □ American Express □ | nckred PLEASE DON'T SEND CASHVisa : B MisterCard : Diner's Club  |
| Account Number                               | Expiration Date  |
| Signature X                                  |  |
|  | NDER THE AGE OF 18: The undersigned is the parermed hereon, and I consent to his/her participation in th |
| Signature X                                  |  |
| Send this coupon to: Collegiate Flight Ba    |  |
| PO. Box 297847Houston, TX 7729           | 786  |
| Complete terms and conditions of program wa  |  |

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 10

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, November 14, 1986

Students of Mike Kaylor's printing class near the completion of their trailing. Approximately seven graduates must be evaluated on their printing skills next semester before they may be awarded keys to the press.

Amnesty Chapter Opens At WC

by Jennifer Smith

Nearly 90 students attended the first meeting of the campus Amnesty International chapter campus. Founded twentyfive years ago, Amnesty Interfive years ago, Ammesty Inter-national strives to stop torture, end apartheid, increase public awareness of important issues and, as Amy Malkus stated, "basically fight to free prisoners of conscience throughout the world."

throughout the world."
To help free these prisoners, the organization sponsors a "Letter Writing Campaign."
Members of "Amnesty International" send letters to ministers of foreign governments, heads of state, distonate in Washington D.C. diplomats in Washington D.C. and the press, asking for the release of prisoners who have been imprisoned for their beliefs.

in 1968, he became involved in Woodrow Wilson Center.

Before taking the position of Washington Driector of the Council on Foreign Affairs which he presently holds, Frye became the Chief Policy Advisor to Presidential Candidate

John Anderson in the 1980 to express one-sided opinions," said Kevin Morrison, Assistant Field Director of The Commit-tee for National Security. The tee for National Security. The CNS, which co-sponsored the lecture by Dr. Frye with the William James Forum, is a non-profit organization that travels to American cities semi-annually to give such lecture to Interest of Server Theorems.

tures to interested groups. The Committee, presided over by Chairman Paul Warnke,

Chairman Paul Warnke, distributes literature, does in-terviews, conducts con-ferences, and addresses groups in order to make the public more aware of the issues concerning National Defense and Disarmament.

Presidential elections. 'Our goal is to educate, not with Amnesty International. Malkus became interested in the organization when she attended the "Conspiracy of Hope" concert in June. While at the concert, Malkus picked up information on Amnesty. She later called for more in-formation and asked about formation and asked about starting a campus chapter. With the help of area coor-dinators Debra Povich and Amida Cary, Malkus' goal is now a reality.

In addition to the huge crowd of interested students that attended Tuesday's meeting, five faculty members indicated an interest. About fifteen of those students present showed en-thusiasm and volunteered to help coordinate the chapter. These coordinators will concentrate on different tasks including publicity, special events, campaigns, and an "Urgent Action" network. Although Malkus and these coordinators will organize the chapter, Malkus insisted that "everyone will take part." She explained, "We're asking people to get involved in at least ne aspect of it."

Many plans for Amnesty already exist for the upcoming year. There will be monthly year. There will be monthly group meetings to send out let-ters urging the release of prisoners, known as the "Urgent Action" plan. The group will receive the case history of an individual prisoner monthly, and the members will be asked to write letters. Several lectures and films are planned for obester. films are planned for chapter members and for the public.

members and for the public. Speakers, such as exprisoners, are also being contacted and Malkus hopes to have some visit the campus before Christmas. In addition to these events, the organization will also hold fundraisers. Currently olans for a write-a-Currently, plans for a write-a-thon are underway, as well as benefit concerts in the Cof-

continued on page 4

Frye discusses SDI, Nuclear Disarmament

by Tony Caligiuri

President Reagan's Strategic Defense Initiative Strategic Defense Initiative was the topic of Wednesday's William James Forum which presented speaker Alton Frye, the Washington Director of the Council on Foreign Affairs.

"Reagan and Gorbachev have injected fresh impulses into arms talks... and we shall soon know if the prospects linted at in Rachiovak are tal," said Frye. His lecture real," said Frye. His lecture Minted out the importance of becoming more decisive in determining the goals of S.D.I. uences and costs of deploying

Frye stated that the present-stagnant position that the leagan Administration is takng in relation to the actual alue of the system would wentually be self-defeating.
With the President's relucance to put SDI on the table

the present situation, Frye said, "(Reagan and Gor-bachev) have much to repair, and they have best get on with the task." this multi-million dollar defense program has not lived-up to its reputation as an effec-tive bargaining chip in arms reduction," said Frye. Compounded by the fact that Congress has become increase.

ingly skeptical about its effec-tiveness and more hesitant to provide requests for increased ess has become increas-

"Reagan and Gorbachev have much to repair, and they have best get on with the task."

funding, Frye sees the present conception of SDI hindering the arms reduction efforts as opposed to helping them. Frye stated that Reagan and Gorbachev had made real progress in reaching some impor-tant agreements and "created moderator James Leonard, former Assistant Director of the Arms Control and Disar-

"Alton Frye is one who looks for solutions, not just at the problems...he is one of the most analytical thinkers in National security matters," said the Arms Control and Disar-mament Agency.

Frye, who received his Ph. D from Yale in 1961, became a satellite specialist with the Rand Organization in 1962. After joining the staff of Senator Brooks in Washington more running room than any predecessors." In reference to

Beware of Faulty Software

by Brian Lang Problems have resulted from the upgrading of white-access Macintostes vailable on campus. All of the ablic use machines, both in the Computing Center and in the Library, have been upgrad-th 512k enhanced machines. Bootleg copies of MacWrite "Bootleg copies of MacWrite in cause problems," said lead Librarian William lubbs, also a member of the upgraded machines."

This problem came to Tubbs' attention after two students lost their papers on the upgrad-ed Macs. The Academic Computing Committee recently addressed the problem. The Com-mittee is in the process of upgrading all Macs to 800k for the internal and external internal and external Academic Computing Commit-tee. "Students need upgraded messages to faculty and material for compatibility with upgraded machines." till problems. Students should tal problems. Students should get used to borrowing up-to-date material from the Library," said Tubbs. The Library has also expand-ed its student computer access by installing six new Macs in the Newlin room. The twelve computers now available in the continued on page 4

INSIDE.

| HOIDE.                    |     |
|---------------------------|-----|
| Letters to the Editorpage | 2   |
| Language Lab repairspage  | 2 4 |
| Sociology internshipspage | 5   |
| 10-9-1 Soccer seasonpage  | 6   |
| Henry IV previewpage      | 7   |
| R.E.M. album review page  | 8   |

OPINION

Ironstone Cafe

236 Cannon Street Chestertown, Maryland 21620 301-778-0188

Tuesday-Saturday Lunch: 11:30-2:00 Dinner: 5:30-9:00 Sunday Brunch: 11:00-3:00 Closed Mondays

Welcomes You

Enjoy a delicious Eastern Shore meal, prepared at its best, while overlooking the natural beauty of Fairlee Creek and the Chesapeake Bay. ATTENTION:

WASHINGTON COLLEGE STUDENTS! Mears Great Oak Landing offers to you an opportunity to play golf for a green ise of only $5.00! Just show your

And don't miss dancing to Dave Brand every Friday and Saturday night from 9 pm to midnight.

Special Gatherings Are Welcome Call 778-2100 On the Bay at Fairlee Creek, P.O. Box 527. Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Washington College Elm

|                              | Editors  |                    |
|------------------------------|----------|--------------------|
| Editor-in-chief              |          | Thomas M Schuster  |
| News Editor                  |          | Audro M. Ohilippor |
| Features Editor              |          | Addra M. Fillippoi |
| Arts/Entertalament Editor    |          | Andrea Kenoe       |
| Arts/Entertainment Editor    |          | David Healey       |
| Sports Editor                |          | Christine Wiant    |
| Photography Editor           |          | J.M. Fragomen      |
|                              |          |                    |
|                              | Managers |                    |
| Managing Editor              |          | Alison Shorte      |
| National Advertising Manager |          | Michelle Roun      |
| Local Advertising Manager    |          | Michelle Hoye      |
| Circulation and manager      |          | Mariella Hul       |
| Circulation Manager          |          | William Faus       |

The Elm is the official rudent reversible or of Weshington College. The Eric is published wavy Friday culting the academic year with the accep-lion of vocations and exam weeks.

Editorials are the responsibility of the Editor-in-chiel, Signad columns, commentaries, letters, editorials, and editorial cartoons represent the member of the acceptance of the control of the control of the members of the accipital staff are not necessarily the views had by the members of the accipital staff are.

members of the deficient sets.

All lateran to he delitors a read with interest but, due to paped limited tions, the deficient cannot always publish every later received and some tions, the deficient cannot always publish every later received and some control of the control o on in that week's issue.

The Elm's business and editorial office is located in the Queen Arne The Elm's business and editorial office is located in the Queen Arne's House dormitory, usiness hours are 7:00 p.m. 10:50 p.m. Tuesdays and 7:00 p.m. 10:10.00 p.m. Tuesdays and 7:00 p.m. 10:10.00 p.m. Wednesdays. The office phone number is (301) 778-2800, extension 3:00.00 p.m. 10:10.00 p.m. 10:10.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letter Clarified

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to the editorial, and related newsstory, in the November 7 ELM dealing with the Dean's letter to parents about the Senior Obligation. The History Department recommended to the Dean that we have such a letter and it is perhaps appropiate that I attempt to clarify its purposes.
First, I would like to agree with the editorial writer, and others who are quoted in a similar sense in the newsstory that the letter should be improved in several regards. The text whould be rewritten to remove offensive terminology 'child"), and to conv clearly that this is a routine message to all senior parents Students should receive their copy significantly in advance of the mailing to parents. I am confident that the Dean's office has carefully noted these constructive complaints and will satisfy them in future versions of this letter. The more important issue however, is that raised in the second part of the editorial. The point is made that seniors are academically mature adults; the letter is not only superfluous, therefore because it assumes that paren tal involvement and en-couragement are needed, but also insulting. Insofar as the letter may have induced some parents to "nag" students, it has had an unintended result and should be rewriten to avoid such an interpretation in the future. But that leaves the essential issue. Is there any good reason to inform parents about the senior obligation at the beginning of the senior year? It cannot be argued that parents are now considered to have no legitimate interest in son's or daughter's academic progress. This is a frequent topic of discussion among parents and faculty members on Parent's Day; parents are sent copies of academic progress letters at the end of each semester (War-ping, Prophism Deapris, List): ning, Probation, Dean's List); parents are notified about half way through the final semester a student's work when the major department has reason to be concerned about a student's performance on Senior Obligation. I It Senior Obligation. It is recognized in these and other ways that parents are, in general, sympathetically and properly interested in their son's or daughter's college career. Since the editorial did not challenge this larger prin-ciple. I will address myself on-the new letter is a useful and expedient addition to our list of standard notices and reports to

The History Department has discovered from our own experience over the years that parents are not well informed about the special character of the Senior Obligation at Washington College. In particular, they tend to assume well in the final semester, barring accident or illness, graduation is assured. In the past, we have relied on Dean's letters of warning to call attention to cases where lack of pro gress in the Senior Obligation placed normal graduation in jeopardy. But this has not worked for cases where the evidence of progress is not at hand early enough to give prowarning. in our perience, and in the experience of other departments, it is very traumatic for parents to discover late in the semester that their son or daughter will not graduate at the expected Commencement especially meaningful ceremony for parents, sym-bolizing and rewarding by public recognition the acey love. We are convinced that it is very useful for parents to understand the special challenges of the senior year and to realize well in advance that final judgment on the Senior Obligation often comes quite late in the semester (for example, in the case of comprehensive exams that are given in the final weeks of the semester) and may not be positive. well advised about the Senior Obligation, If the Dean's letter, in stressing the positive (sup port and understanding) went too far and provoked "naggthis knowledge will doubt influence the wording of the next letter. My colleagues and I do believe strongly, however, that the basic idea of providing essential informa-tion about the Senior Obliga-tion to parents at the start of the senior year is a sound one.

Sincerely

Nathan Smith Professor Chairman, Department of History

What's

be published.

I have attended Washington College for three years and have yet to meet anyone who chooses classes by "signing to for only courses held in the favorite room in Bill Smith by picking a number and applying it to four different departments." I found to departments. I round to remark regarding lacross players especially insulting because I am a lacrosse player and I work very hard at selecting my classes and in attaining good grades. I am not her taking classes because I was to enjoy a $40,000 social life. am here to attain a college education. Not every student a involved in the search we "blow off" courses. In fact al students have to meet the Co lege's core requirements are the requirements for their ma jor. The College does not allo people to graduate withou

I find it hard to believe the after so easily categorizing the students Miss Kehoe treats the meeting these requirements.

faculty with the same disrespect. I have yet to heard an advisor who does not offer some input into a student's course selection or to hear of a course selection or to hear da course called "Introduction in Magazine Reading" or any course similar to it al Washington College. I am no saying that it is impossible (or a student to take courses that are relatively easy but it is also important to note that they cannot do this for all four year at Washington College because if they did they would may graduate. I feel that advisor at Washington College try is encourage each student to take courses that are both relatively challenging and interesting I

The Elm obviously did ad realize that there are students at Washington College was care about their education. To The Editor:

After reading Andreg Kehnes which go and the reading students over the contents as the students of the student

Humorous

Until....

To the Editor:

the student.

I am writing this letter is response to an article The Ele published last Friday November 7, 1986, entitle "Let's Play The Advising Game." I thought the article was entertaining and humorous until it made continued on page robert

ly to the question of whether pennington

CHESTERTOWN

ROCKVILLE

Helmet Law Would Save Lives

It is a known fact that motorcycles are dangerous. It is also a known fact hat motorcycles are very enjoyable, depending of course on people's tastes. Motorcycles have been glamourized for quite some time now; Elvis Presley orde bikes in several of his movies, rode Dikes in several of its movies, james Dean rode a motorcycle in gebel Without A Cause, and more recently. Tom Cruise in Top Gun. Notice however, that none of these people have ever had an accident while iding their bikes in a movie.

Unfortunately, we do not live the and do have accidents, and when we do, we can become very badly injured. Luckily for us, though, somebody was kind enough to invent crash helmets. The only dilemma with helmets is that not everybody wears one. It is aproven fact that helmets can, and do, save lives, In 1983, 679 people died in motor-cycle accidents in Maryland. That same year, 131 cyclists died in ac-cidents in Delaware. Although there is a difference in size of the two tions, there is also another difference: Delaware has a mandatory helmet law.

Matt Weir

A Chestertown rescue

me about two motorcycle accidents to which he responded. One rider hit a woman from the side, and "completely demolished the front half of the bike. He flew through the air for 30 to 40 feet, leaded on his heads on the heads of the bike. landed on his back, and was released from the hospital the same day." The rider was wearing a helmet. Another rider, "hit a tree head-on. He was transported by helicopter to Baltimore Shock Trauma with multiple neck and head injuries. He is a paraplegic to-day." This rider was not wearing a

Many people believe that the government is controlling them too much when they are told that they have to wear helmets, or "buckle-up." How far may the government go when trying govern? When any person that does not have insurance is injured in an acci-dent and can not afford to pay their medical expenses, the state picks up the tab. Hence, not only does the state give money for the individuals' hospital bill, but there is a greater risk of the state's lighlitty inspenses and the state's lightly inspenses and the state of the state bill, but there is a greater risk of the state's liability insurance premium go-ing up. This hurts the taxpayer. So, not only does a helmet save lives, it also saves money, both the rider's, and the taxpayer's. There should be a mandatory helmet law in Maryland, for both the rider's and the taxpayer's

Matt Weir is a freshman from New York city and a motorcyclist.

ISSUE: Should Adult Motorcyclists And Moped Riders Be Required By Law To Wear Helmets?

Sarah Pinney Somers, Connecticut

Mike Harrington Dover, Delaware

Geoffrey Harwood Baltimore, Maryland Freshman

Marnie Shehan Bethesda, Maryland Freshman

Camden, Delaware

"Most definitely, because in comparison with the seat belt law, wearing a helmet and possibly eye protection could protect the motorist "I think there should be no tuestion about it. Every motorcyclist should be re-tured to wear a helmet, (as with) the seat belt law, we are many trying to protect lives." and possibly pedestrians because of the inability to focus properly, which could result in an accident."

"Everyone should be allowed to make their own choice. If someone is going to be stupid enough not to wear a helmet then it is their right to

I don't believe in trying to force someone to d something against their will.

"Yes, because a rider that does not wear a helmet is put-ting himself in extreme danger. My sister, a nurse, works on a hall with doctors that call motorcyclists donor-cyclists because they get all their donor organs from them. Not wearing a helmet is suicidal."

"No, because it should be the decision of the rider whether he wears one or not.

Campus Voices

by Michele Balze

Education, Not Legislation, Is The Answer

Motorcycles are dangerous. the swithout saying, yet a number of sople who ride them don't realize (or state of the say in the atlact once, and then for only fitteen seeds During those fifteen seconds. It a almost killed. I will give you any that flying in the air, ask feet for ground, and having your head see the rest of your body is an in-testing, but not highly recommend-caperience. I owe my life to a test it won't argue for the use of attest I won't argue for the use of the seed of the when the seed the seed of the se eidea of legislating their use. Helmet laws, like seat belt laws, imp-ge on an individual's personal rights. Prson's body is his and he has a right to with it what he wishes. How far will elaws go? Helmet laws suggest that society is sumet laws suggest that society is are to look after us. This is an at-ide that makes little sense. Society and create us, we created society, arefore we must tend to it. This is the point. If we absolve people from being responsible for their actions, then we will raise generations of idiots who won't know what to do if society is not telling them. If everyone expects to take, and no one expects to give, then nothing will be accomplished.

Any traumatic accident costs a great deal, the least of which is money. Yet, it is the money that we are worried about. The rising cost of insurance (which is an entirely different question (which is an entirely different question that would be more worthwhile for the legislature to address), medical costs, and property losses are all considerations. But I ask you, can we put a price on our rights? What was the war two on our rights? What was the war two hundred years ago about anyway? People are looking at the question of motorcycle safety from the wrong point of view anyway. If we want to cut down on accidents then we should educate the users of these two-wheeled rockets. Getting licensed to drive a motorcycle is often a joke. In New Jersey you don't even have to take a test on the street, and once licensed, you're on your own. Some of the written manuals distributed by the states to people applying for licenses give er-roneous information. It is common knowledge among motorcyclists that a high percentage of accidents are caused by the other guy. Any experienced rider will agree, but he will also say that the rider involved in an accident should have been able to avoid it. Yet in should have been able to avoid it. Yet in no states are new riders required to learn the proper riding techniques and attitudes that help one avoid an accident. The Motorcycle Safety Foundation offers courses that do just that. These courses are highly effective: "In the late "10's and early 10's Air Force employees (military and civilian) operated 100,000 motorcycles, and their operated 100,000 motorcycles, and their motorcycle-fatality rate was above the national average. The Motorcycle Safe-ty Foundation stepped in and trained Air Force instructors to teach the MRC (Motorcycle Rider Course) and the BBP (better Biking Program) to Air Force personnel. "By 1982... the Air Force's motorcycle fatalities had been reduced by 35 percent, with injuries decreasing 45 percent, although motorcycle registrations increased 54 per-cent" according to the November, 1986 issue of Motorcyclist. These numbers speak for themselves. The solution to the problem lies here. If it is the safety of the public that we have in mind then we should educate the public about its options, defenses, and courses of ac-tion. Let's not send a person out on the road with a helmet, so that he won't get killed when he crashes. Let's teach him how not to crash. Charlie Wilcox is a junior from New York and a motorcyclist.

Charlie Wilcox

continued from page

reference to a particular group of students on campus. The ar-ticle stated that "savvy students discover blow-off courses by surveying lacrosse players to see which of their classes they are passing." The basis of Ms. Kehoe statement is unjustified. I, being a lacrosse player myself, found this to be a personal insult to my intelligence. If she had bothered to research the statistics she would have found that only one of approximately seventy male varsity and "E team lacrosse players failed to quirements of the college that re needed to return. figure is, I am sure, far better than the entire student body average. In addition, a number of lacrosse players achieve meet the academic re- Management program, as well as from many other respectable major programs.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Considering the three to four ure is, I am sure, far better un the entire student body erage. In addition, a number lacrosse players achieve ement on the Dean's List at the end of each semester. As should be congratulated and far as "blow-off classes" are not slandered for their concerned many lacrosse academic records. These tar as "blow-off classes" are not standered for their concerned, many lacrosse academic records. These players graduate from the students have dedicated highly-touted Business themselves to this school as well if not better than any other group of individuals on campus. They should be ap-preciated for their dedication to the College and not subject to "cheap shots," a common term for unsportsmanlike play. Furthermore, the article had no reason to mention any singular organization on campus. Is The Elm now allowing its writers to make personal at tacks on certain groups of students without just cause?

Sincerely, Christopher C. Huebner

Language Lab Gets Needed Repairs

Many of the machines used in the language lab here at WC were recently repaired after lying in disrepair for several months. Due to excessive heat in the lab over the summer months, a number of the con-soles malfunctioned. As a consequence, there were not enough working machines available for those students available for those students taking a foreign language.

While the malfunctioning units were under repair, the lab was closed for almost four weeks. During this time students studying a foreign language had the option of either working on the machines in the library or taking takes home for their own. ing tapes home for their own personal use. By doing this, these courses. Cheryl Schlein a German student, said. thought it was good that tapes were made available to take home. This way we didn't get out of practice." The lab was reopened as soon as there were enough machines working to accomodate the students.

Dr. Scholz, assistant fessor of German, explained that it was not renovated, but that the broken machines were simply fixed. "The lab is working now," he said, "but it still continued from page 1 remains an old lab." Although Dr. Scholz believes that "all Amnesty Inter the machines are working and the lab's working as well as possible with the present equipment," he hopes to see receive an answer by early December. If granted these funds, the College plans to rebuild the lab from scratch. It is hoped that this restructuring can be done within one to one students still practiced the other changes in the lab in the drills which are necessary for future. The college has applied for and-a-half years.

If the Federal Funds are not received, Dr. Scholz explained presented with an outline describing the plans of the renovations. Labs have changed drastically over the last few years and Dr. Scholz feels, "a lot of new avenues have opened up that weren't available previously." New items

Amnesty International definitely looks promising, ac-cording to Malkus. Awareness of the group's cause is rapidly increasing and anyone in-terested is urged to contact You can join at will be a second chapter meeting in the next few weeks and is open to everyone. "I strongly urge anyone to attend since," said freshman Lisa Rackova, "Amnesty is a growing concern today, and growing concern today, and the freedom of men from conscience captivity is something everyone should be involved

eviously." New items VCR's, movies and computers, among others. All of these options will be examined until the best plan is found. Amnesty's mailing list. There

Mac Problems

continued from page 1

Library are hooked-up to the Prime Computer. The Library has also installed a new Laser Writer which will be avialable to students by next week.
"Everything is working ven well," said Tubbs. "We hope to get a good silencer to put over the Imagewriter and we're hoping to receive ten new packages of software soon." With the installment of new computers, the Library's full-time staff is willing to help students who may have problems with the Mac

'Don't be afraid to use the machines or ask for help," said Tubbs. "Read the signs - they will help with lost papers."

The most important measure to take is to use up-to-date soft-ware which the Computing Center of the Library will guarantee. Said Tubbs, they are using a public-access disk, they won't have problems with any Mac on campus

> Amity Bakery and Coffee Shop

Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies, Special Occasion Cakes On Order Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M Lunch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228 Mon.-Sat. 5 A.M.-5 P.M. Sunday 5 A.M.-2 P.M.

Amy Malkus. " any time along the way," she said. After expressing interest, students will be placed on Mom's Cookie Jar

Next Wednesday, November students without reservations 19, is the Traditional will be seated from 5:30 to 6:30 Thanksgiving Dinner for p.m. Remember, your reservstudents. Be sure to pick-up your reservation form from the numbers lady, fill it out and return it to the numbers lady lunchtime Tuesday, November 18. Your reserva-tion forms must include reservations for parties of four or eight people

There will be a pre-dinner reception in the Student Center beginning at 3:30 p.m. Reserved tables will be seated bet-ween 4:30 and 5:30 p.m. Those ed table will not be seated until all members of your party are

One other thing...PLEASE BRING YOUR ID CARD!!

As in previous years. students have the opportunity to donate their Thanksgiving turkeys to the Kent County Department of Social Services, which will distribute them to people less fortunate than ourselves. For every eight students who donate their turkey, a turkey will be given to a needy family. Just remember, to receive credit remember, to receive credit for the "Give-a-bird" pro-gram, you must attend dinner.

I look forward to seeing all of you on Wednesday, November 19, and I hope everyone enjoys one of the most memorable events on the Washington College Dining Service's calendar

Until next week Morr

WC DEBATING CLUB Presents

> Debate on Abortion

Monday, November 17th 8:00 P.M.

Sophie Kerr Room Open To The Public

This holiday season, get the "Write Stuff" at the right price.

edge when classes begin in January. With a Macintosh<sup>TM</sup> personal computer, and all the urile extras

We call it the Macintosh "Write Stuff bundle. You'll call it a great deal! Becau when you buy a Macintosh "Write Stuff" bundle before January 9, 1987, you'll receive a bundle of extras-and save $250 Not only will you get your choice of a Macintosh 512K Enhanced or a Macintosh Plus, you'll also get an Image Writer II printer, the perfect solution for producing near letter-quality term papers or reports.

complete with graphs, charts, and

Together with your favorite Macintosh word processing software, you can transform your notes into the clearest, most letter perfect papers you ever turned out. And

What's more, there's a Macintosh Support Kit filled with valuable accessories and computer care products from 3M.* Complete with all the things you need to keep your Macintosh running long after you've graduated

Let us show you how to get through college better, faster, and smarter. Stop in and see us for more information

FEATURES

"School of Hard Knocks" Opens Eyes

Soc Interns Discover Real World

by Andrea Kehoe

Homework for senior Chris gane includes helping cook dinner for eleven boys and assisting them with their own choolwork. The Sociology major spends t least eight hours a week at the though the though the though the fir boys, to fulfill the intern-the requirement of her "Field" Experience in Social Welfare'

"It's a great experience; I'm terning a lot," said Kane, ading that the other counselors have been especially helpful.

A private facility, Kent Youth provides a home for delinquent boys ages 12-17 hile they attend public school. "graduating" from the rogram (the average stay is hout a year), 70 % of the bout a year) oungsters never get into any nuble again.

"The boys viewed me as a iend at first - not as someone charge. Now that I'm gainag a more authoritative posin, they don't know how to act to me. I'm in a transition eriod." she said

Currently Kane is trying to master the point system in which the boys acquire credit or appropriate behavior - good completing mannere usehold chore - or lose it for appropriate actions - such as sing their temper

"I go to this place and see oys lose points for things I see this College everyday," she chapter relations person for her sorority, Kane has previously dealt with people's problems but in a counseling, not a teaching, capacity. "You realize these kids are not the same as ones you're ac-customed to being with. You learn a lot from them - as much as you try to teach them," she

Kane emphasized that the boys at Kent Youth are "nice kids but they've just had a rotten introduction to social behavior. They have a hard behavior. They have a hard time dealing with adults and with authority. They have to learn that all your life you have to deal with people you don't like and you can't just blow-up when you don't agree with something."

Weekly class meetings of seven students interning at local social services agencies offer a chance to discuss different approaches to problems that arise, Kane said. Her ex-perience has led her to consider a future career in guidance counseling of high school students.

"It's such a weird time for them. People overlook the fact that high school students have problems," she said.

Ignored By Society

Similar to Kane, senior aura Chase, an intern at Laura Chase, Benedictine School For Excep-tional Children, said society also ignores the handicapped. made me extra aware that there are so many handicap-ped people in our society-millions of them-yet you don't see them. It makes you wonder where they are and what hap-pens to them."

One day a week she makes the 45 minute drive to Ridgely, Maryland, to the residential school for mentally retarded youth from ages five to twenty-one. She teaches sign language to six nonverbal students and writes social profiles of some students. She now plans a career working for the handicapped.

"You just can't label these kids," she said. "Once you label them they turn around and learn something were learn something thought they couldn't You can't have a set notion of what's going to happen-these kids do have potential and they can learn

Although she had previously worked with exceptional children, Chase had not been in a school situation and even her classes did little to prepare her for the one-on-one teaching she has encountered at Benedictine.

"It's a lot of everything psychology, sociology, and a lot of knowledge you have from other classes," Chase said.

Her internship at Carter Youth Detention Facility, a maximum security holding located on the grounds of the Upper Shore Mental Health Complex, has taught senior Michelle Royal how the

in the facility as they await a trial or another placement. Because some have been found to be a danger to themselves or others, each child is locked in an individual holding room at night, and during the shift change. Most of their day is

"I've learned in anything else at Washington College,"

ing informally with the youth and playing ping-pong and spades, a card game she learn-boys referred by juvenile services.

a great experience; I'm learning a lot," said senior Chris Kane,

Initially apprehensive about the position, Royal now enjoys the personal contact with the youth and hopes to work with juveniles if she enters the field of social work.

"I think it's the greatest thing I've ever done. I'm hav-ing a ball; I go now more than I have to. Now I wouldn't give it away for the world," she said.

Life at Carter Youth, however, is not without

"I've left there and cried. Some of the kids will be in the system for the rest of their lives. They don't realize there's more out there than getting into trouble and getting locked up. It's a circle they just go through over and over again."

778-6900

hip at Kent Youth, Inc., a group home for

While she said she suspects While she said she suspects that some are jealous of her freedom to leave the Center, Royal said the juveniles do not seem to resent her life as a college student.

"I don't go out and get high and have the excitement of stealing. To them I'm missing out," she said.

Outside the Classroom

Despite the shock of seeing teenagers locked up in an environment where strip sear-ches, outbreaks of venereal diseases and escape attempts are not part of a television show, Royal said her visits to Carter Youth are a relaxing way to forget life at WC for a few hours.

"When I come back here it seems like people are petty over really stupid things and take so much for granted. They (the youth in the detention center) worry about finding a place to live whereas we worry about whether they're having hamburgers for the third time that week in the Dining Hall.

While she said she does not wish to denigrate her classroom experiences at WC, Royal emphasized that her internship has been invaluable to her education:

"I've learned a lot more here than memorizing facts I won't remember the next day. This I'll remember for a lifetime.

spent in the recreation unit.

Royal visits the facility three days a week to spend time talk-

Chestertown

KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA

EMILY HAIRDRESSER

SUN SYSTEM

OLD WHARF INN

Enjoy Waterfront Dining

Located at the foot of Cannon Street

Chestertown, Md.

(301) 778-3566

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

Lock Haven

Unisex Styling Salon

Browsers and Buyers Are Welcomed Rose's Has Something To Fit Everyone's Budget Mon.-Sat. 10:00-5:00 314 Park Row Chestertown, MD 21620

Sun. 1:30-5:00 301-778-1522

SPORTS

Tennis Aces John Jay In Season Final

by Fred Wyman
A very successful fall season or both the men's and women's tennis teams at Washington College ended this past weekend. Despite inclement weather, both teams rolled to impressive victories over John Jay College of New York.

Friday, the Washington women netters blanked John Jay's women 9-0 while WC's men's varsity swamped the visitors men's squad 8-1. On Saturday, the Shoremen trium phed again when the J.V. trip-ped the New Yorkers 5-2. Two matches were suspended due to darkness The Shoremen's victory in the fall finale gave the netmen a near perfect 7-1 record. Their only defeat was to the mid-shipmen of Navy on September 23. This was by far the most successful fall campaign in the College's history. John Jay proved to be much stronger than they were last spring when WC won 9-0; nevertheless they were no match for the nationally ranked Shoremen. WC's top six players were straight set winners in singles. Ross Coleman and Rich Phoebus shut-out their opponents while Claudio Gonzalez, David Marshall and Bill Shaw lost only one game each in their matches. John Jay's Dewayne Boyce put up the best fight, but still fell 6-3, 6-2 to Alejandro Hernandez at Maximo and Tim Walbert, playing together for the first time, walloped Rich Gonzalez and Clint Johnson 6-2, 6-1. The freshmen tandem of Rob Gray and Joe Sonido suffered the only loss of the match, dropping two sets 7-6, 7-5 to Tracey Jackson and Kevin Maysonet

The Shorewomen dominated

In doubles Coleman and the John Jay women as all eight with as much ease as they did Phoebus teamed to play No. 1 players contributed to a sweep singles The No. 3 doubles team and ripped Boyce and Pran- in both singles and doubles, of Beth Walbert and Meg clack Martinez 64, 62, Vince The women netters lost a mere Wheatley had the most difficult of the women states of the state of the women terms of the state of the women terms and the state of the women states and the state of the women states and the state of the women states are with the women states and the women states and the women states are well as the states and the women states are well as the women states and the women states are well as the women states are well as the women states and the women states are well as the women states and the women states are well as the women states and the women states are well as six games in singles competi-tion. Erin Patterson (No.3), Tracey Pritzlaff (No.4) and Suzanne Siegel (No.5) blanked their opponents while Lindsay Tanton made her collegiate debut a success as she won 6-1, 6-0

Seniors Pam Loughman and Cathy Engle won 6-2, 6-0 and 6-0, 6-3 respectively. The Shorewomen won the doubles ty in their match but still prevailed in straight sets, defeating Murit and Medina 7-6, 6-2. Loughman and Engle walloped Jamison and Blake 6-0, 6-2 and Pritzlaff and Patter-ches they needed to defeat John Jay's varsity. The triumph evened the J.V. record at 1-1. Sonido's 6-1, 6-1 Johnson clinched the win to Washington. Vince Maxim, had the other singles triumpl as he stopped Tracey Jackson 6-2, 7-5 at No. 2 singles.

vo, o-a and Printant and Patter of the State of the State of State of the State of

Soccer Finishes Strong In Play-offs

"It ain't over till it's over." This popular sports phrase, coined by the ex-manager of the New York Mets. Yogi Berra, became the motto of the Washington College soccer team this season

Just over a month ago the Shoremen were headed for another disappointing season. They were the owners of an unwanted 3-6-1 record.

Led by seniors Patrick
McMenamin and Mark
Nasteff, however, the young ream refused to accept another losing season. They salvaged their record by winning seven of their last 10 games and finished second in the state tournament behind Division II Mount St. Mary's College.

Senior forward, Mark Nasteff, said "At the beginning of the season I was quoted as saying, 'We won a total of 10 games in our last three seasons combined, but this year I think we can win 10 games.' A 10-9-1 record really proved it.'' who were seeded last in the state tournament, were forced to play all their games on the road. They opened up the tournament on Thursday, November 6 by upsetting Salisbury State 1-0 in a dramatic shoot-out.

After playing ninety minutes of regulation and two 10 minute both teams went head-to-head in a shoot-out consisting of five in a shoot-out consisting of rive penalty shots by each team. W.C. scored all five of their penalty shots, while Salisbury scored four of their five shots. Shoreman goalie John Thomas had an outstanding game and came up with 18 saves. He was penalized during the penalty shots for moving before the managed to shut down his op-

Scoring the penalty shots were Pat McMenamin, Jon Larsson, Peter Van Buren, Steve Attias, and Jeff Heuber.

tory. This time the victim was tarnish the successful seam frostburg College.

In the rain and mud the Head coach Tom Bowns underdog Shoremen played stated, "We really pulled to the coach underdog Shoremen played tough defense and held their opponents scoreless. W.C. scored early in the second half when Peter Van Buren headed in a chip ball from Frank Davis.

"In the rain and mud, the Shoremen played tough defense."

With another outstanding game by John Thomas (sev game by John Thomas (seven saves), the Shoremen withstood any goal-scoring threats, secured their victory, and kept their dream alive.

The ball didn't bounce in more years to play because W.C.'s favor in the state finals the next few seasons that they lost 5-1 to Mount St. Shoremen will probably we together, we never were expected to get this far. We supprised a lot of teams. We had great season.

Junior defensive Todd Enmons said, "The team came long way in one year. We know we could get to the state play offs but we didn't know how is we would go. John Thomas w the key to our success in it state play-offs. He's given solid goaltending, somethin we haven't had in the thre seasons I've been here."

The Shoremen, who score only 14 goals in 1985, ended the season with 37 goals, had fi shut-outs (two in the state tor-nament), a record of 10-41 and finished second in the state

'It was a really great way end the season and my socol career at W.C." conclude Senior captain Patrid McManamin. "I wish I had!" Larsson, Peter value and Jeff Heuber. as they lost 5-1 to Mount St. Shoremen will probably In the semi-final round of the Mary's. The loss ended the the state championship tournament, the Shoremen team's dream of becoming maybe even make came up with another 1-0 vic- state champions, but it didn't N.C.A.A."

Runners 24th

by Christine Wiant

W.C. Cross Country traveled to Gettysburg for their final meet of the season, the 39th an-nual MAC Championship, on Saturday Nov. 8

The muddy, slippery condi-tions of the five mile course would have dampened any team's enthusiasm, but W.C.'s six winners gave it their all. Twenty-four teams, totalling 159 runners, competed, and added to the race, "a sense of ex-citement which heightened concentration," according to senior Greg Anderson. Coming in first for Washington was Chris Parmelee at 30.59 sec., cutting his usual time considerably. Chris Dodson, Russel Hertzler, running with a leg injury, Lars Hendriksen, and Greg Anderson followed closely behind.

The official results placed

The official results placed Washington at 24th, but the race proved to be a strong one for the Shoremen. "The team worked hard and achieved some personal bests," said coach Chatellier after the race.

ZIHT ZZIM T'NOG OPPORTUNITY TO TALK WITH US ABOUT OUR CIVILIAN FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT CARFFR PROGRAM

Each year we hire a select group of entry level accountants, auditors and budget analysts for a two year developmental training program that leads to responsible decision-making positions in financial management Liberal arts and other majors are strongly encouraged to apply for budget analyst positions. Accountants and auditors need 24 hours of accounting We will be on campus on December 1, 1986. Check with your Placement Office for time and place

Come talk with us or write for more information:

COMPTROLLER OF THE NAVY Office of Career Management, Code NCF-3 Crystal Mall #3, Room 119, Washington, D.C. 20376-5001

(202) 695-3587

Application deadline February 1, 1987 AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER . U.S. CITIZENSHIP REQUIRED

King Henry IV Holds Court

(Chas Foster) and Falstaff (Jere Wallace) swank it up in London

by David Healey

Sitting in the green room are Siting in the green room are the dram people. They sit in the hallway practicing his crazy." sound on a worn-out couch lines is putting into it. Mike "It's got a lot of funny of unstaffed chairs and the Sell, Keip, Melissa Filling seense," "Were doing a lot of fundy the search of t hear the lines, 'says another.'
"I'm tired. I didn't get much sleep last night.'' You hear that one a lot here. "I'll be glad when it's over," sighs Melissa

Henry Part I, will be performed next Thursday by these same people. Then they will seem effortless and energetic but oh, what goes into it. What goes in-

Fraternities [ see ] 3 De

to those three nights on stage. it with the scissors. "The next (Ass't to the Lighting Director) parts in the play. The reporter in the green room are putting leaves her sewing now and into it. The reporter leaves.

goes downstairs. Upstairs in the costume Buzzing downstairs in the room Sue Kolls (Hostess of the workshop is a saw. There are Boar's Head Inn) makes a boards and sawhorses and paper pattern for a gun holster, things all around. On stage

It's a slow rehearsal up until Skip he last two weeks," says smok

A ARTOO . DOOR and

Middleton (Hotspur) says smokes a cigarette and bangs Kolls. She lays the pattern on nails into the wooden stage—the black vinyl and cuts around length ramp. Charlie Wilcox (Technical Director) is there working. He points to the ramp. "We're building a 'rake,' or hill for the set." This is where all the action is. "Love is made on it," adds Wilcox. The ramp will be covered with sod. "Live bluegrass sod," says Wilcox. Rebecca Jewsbury is in charge of watering the sod. Esther Diamondstone Manager) comes up and hands Wilcox a big stack of card-board egg cartons. He explains these will be hammered beneath the hill to muffle the hollow sound footsteps have on

"It's gonna be a happenin' show," he says. "Even if you don't like Shakespeare, come see it." It's almost time for see it." It's almost time for rehearsal. Emily Lott comes in. Jere Wallace (Falstaff) comes in. In the big empty theatre Gina Braden (Lady Percy) sits waiting for rehear-Lighting Designer) sits in his office explaining about the play. His idea is the content. What Shakespeare says is important. There will be less concentration on the costuming and scenery and more on the content. "There will be a simplicity of costumes. Sometimes one person plays difthose three mights on stage.

It will the sensors. The next solutions of the ferent lose. They change the hallway practicing his crazy."

It got a lot of funny ment. He says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a simple, ment the says, "It's a simple, ment the says," It's a sim ot of clean way of approaching the But production."

"This is not a 'history' play. What is interesting is the what is interesting is the human story." This is the story of Prince Hal. He leaves his in-dulgent world of foppish friends and "grows into something bigger than those sewing now and around him.

Davis enjoys the play. "It" always supports you in rehear-sal. You're always being stimulated by the text."

"It's funny. There is lots of action," he says. "It's going to be hugely entertaining. It's a great play for young people. Prince Hal is asking himself, What the hell am I doing

Drinking tea in the Literary House, Eric Lorberer (Ass't Dramaturg) explains the plot.

The title character is Henry "The title character is Henry IV. Things are not going great in England." Henry is not the true king. He killed his relative Richard II and took the throne. Hotspur leads a movement of nobles against Henry to restore the true king.

Meanwhile Prince Hal is in London. He and Falstaff are living it up. "The culminating action is the battle of Shrewsbury," says Lorberer. Here Henry and Hal battle Hotspur. Who wins? Come see

Professor Nancy Tatum will give a performance preview talk Thursday. It's called An Introduction to Henry IV, Part It is in the Literary House at 4 p.m. Performances of the play are Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at 8 p.m. in Tawes Theatre.

Back in the green room. On the wall is a chart with everyone's name and the times when they can come in to nail egg cartons under the hill or sew holsters. Tim Maloney, Drama department chairman, is Dramaturg. Joanna Wilson does costumes. Jason Rubin is set designer. Ryder Daniels plays Poins while John McDanolds plays King Henry and Glendower. It is a long chart and the reporter can see it takes many people to make a

by Mary Riner

Is it morally right to kill onself? This question will be left for the audience to decide on Monday, November the weekly tea and talk in the O'Neill Literary House. This week's discussion will be given by Dr. J.D. Newell, professor of Philosophy. Tea and cakes will be served at 4 p.m. and the discussion will begin at 4:30

BUFFET EVERY SUNDAY 12-5 HAPPY HOUR - DAILY 4:30-6 AIR TAXI SERVICE AVAILABLE SCHEELER FIFLD

778-1222

Rt. 213 & 291

Chestertown Movie Theater

TOP GUN

778-1575

NOW IN THE COFFEE HOUSE:

W.C. Drinking Glasses $1.00 Plus Tax

W.C. Mugs w/Candy $1.50 Plus Tax Six Packs of Soda $1.69 Plus Tax

rare and unexpected delight Rex Reed, New York Post

CANNON CHANGE R

Fri., Sun., Mon. 7:30 PM NORMAN JAMES THEATER

ENTERTAINMENT

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Friday 14
Lambda Pajama Party
Coffeehouse, 9 p.m.-2 a.m.

Monday 17
Literary House Talk
Lis It Wrong To Kill Oneself?
O'Neill Literary House. Tea a

Talk at 4:30 p.m.

Phi Sigma Tau Honor Society for Philosophy Debate

Evolution vs. Scientific Creationism.

Tuesday 18
Cosmology Talk
Professor Glen Cooper, speaker
Sophie Kerr Room, 8 p.m.

Wednesday 19
Modern Language
Poetry Reading
O'Neill Lit House, 8 p.m.

Thursday 20
Performance Preview Talk
An Introduction to Henry IV,

O'Neill Lit House, 4 p.m.

The William James Forum
Aging: Facts and Fallacies
Sophie Kerr Room, 7:30 p.m.

Drama Department Play Henry IV, Part I Tawes Theatre 8 p.m.

R.E.M. Dreams Up Rich Pageant

by Barclay Green
"LEM"s newest album,
"Lifes Rich Pageant," reminds me of James Joyce's Ulysses. I realize that it's alt risque to compare a rock in roal price of literature, but the analogy is apt. Both are so full of beauty, dread, and interpretive possibilities that the reader or the listener can spend hours with the work of intrinciacies. The compared in the intrinciacies.

"Lifes Rich Pageant" has a marketly different south than albums. It was produced by Don Gehman (Scarecrow. JCM) who has produced by Don Gehman (Scarecrow. JCM) who has made an albout the state of the

The musical intensity, though, is only half of the album's brilliance. The other half is supplied by lead singer Michael Stipe's lyrics. Stipe has matured as a lyricist on on "Lifes Rich Pageant" is his finest to date. He has used naturalist imagery and a handful of symbols to paint a swiring portrait of the modern world. In this portrait, Stipe beginning, despairs for lost time, and professes on ultimate faith in God.

"Begin To Begin," the first cut on the album, is Stipe's thesis statement. "Let's Begin again," he sings over the frantic, urgent drums, "Begin the begin/Let's begin again/Like the begin/Let's begin again/Like the single singl

Stipe seems to be the only one who realizes that something is wrong with the world. (After all, he was the one who alone rediscovered the insurgency.) But, even so, he will not give up his quest for change. In the second cut, "These Days," a combination of blazing prepunk and post-punk guitar styles accentuates Stipe's refusal to accept his generation's indifference: "We are young despite the years/ We are concerned/ We are hope despite the time...Happy throngs take this joy wherever/Whereveryougo."

In the first two cuts, R.E.M., though asking for help, is seemingly prepared to take on the world by themselves if necessary. But in "Follow Me," by the property of the prope beautifully interwoven guiaStipe summons the pordrawn from all that be believ in to make an urgain the simple state of the simple state of the seleve my spirit is wear, thin," he sings, "and chanis what I believe in," reprimands society for its at intermediate of the simple simp

tilfes Rich Pageant"is, of the finest abums reige, this year. It compared with a likes of Paul Sinse, this year. It compared with a likes of Paul Sinse, this year. It compared with a like of the lik

WASHINGTON COLLEGE BOOKSTORE

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 11

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, November 21, 1986

These turkeys escaped an early death for Wednesday's Thanksgiving Dinner sponsored by the WCDS, but their time wanes. The hundred birds maintained at the Neff-Gibbons farm in Rolph's Wharf, pictured here.

Car towed for Repeat Parking Violations

by Audra M. Philippon
"I was coming out of English class, and somebody said, 'I just saw your car being towed man, it was the funniest thing Senior Eddie Cammack did not think it was funny. "I just kept getting tickets and getting tickets and getting tickets, but I didn't think it would ever get towed."

At the beginning of the semester every student receiv-ed a pamphlet published by campus security warning, "Any vehicle that receives more than five (parking violations) in a given semester shall lose all parking priviledges for the remainder of that semester. Violations of this prohibition will cause further disciplinary action to be

Cammack is only one of at least seven or eight students on campus who have accumulated more than five tickets this semester, fines for each ex-ceeding $250. In fact, Jerry dent who has stacked up fines worth more than $600. worth more than $600. "The reason that people get these ex-ceedingly high fines is because they have failed to get their vehicle registered," expalined Roderick.

"We send out notices to students about three times a semester with how many outstanding tickets they have and the amounts of the fines. For people who don't make payments on their fines, their notices are sent down to the business office, business office, and their grades are withheld," said Roderick. The second batch of notices will go out some time next week, said Roderick, and the third will go out during

"Towing is our last resort," said "We have no alterhe said

In Cammack's case, Rodrick continued on page 4

25-Plus C-Town Residents Face Eviction

by Tony Caligiuri
A Delaware lawyer recently purchased and plans to demolish numerous waterfront residences in Chestertown, leaving over twenty-five people homeless. Liborio Vincent Ramunno, the new owner of the properties, has made no plans yet on how or when the properties will be developed

The total cost of the pur-chase, according to Kent

Associates, L.P., was $250,000.
Before the purchase, the residents of Scott's Point (areas of Queen, Front, and Cannon Streets and Railroad Avenue) had been renting their home from Kent Associates. Many of the occupants pay as little as forty dollars each month in rent.

If I had a place to go, I uldn't mind moving, but wouldn't mind moving, but we've got to be close to the hospital, and I don't have a Mildred Pnick, a twenty-five year resident of Chestertown. Pnick lives with 68 year old Sam Harley Henry. When not taking care of her daughter's children, Pnick is nursing Sam Henry who requires frequent trips to the hospital.

The couple shares the one and one-half room apartment with a 63 year old man known as Wills. Between the three of them, they pay $84 rent mon-car," said 56 year old Miss thly. If required to leave their Mildred Pnick, a twenty-five apartment, Pnick said, "We apartment, Pnick said, "We would have no place to go, and would have no place to go, and if we did, no way to get there." "It's just a fact of life," said Ramunno when presented with Pnick's situation during a November 19 interview. "I cer-tainly don't want to be a tainly don't want to be a landlord, so renting to these people is out of the question...people deserve more adequate housing than that." Ramunno added, "I simply purchased the land, and I understand it to be the responsibility of the town in finding places for these people to live." "Chestertown is experiencing a real bouries shorters experiencing a real bouries shorters.

"Chestertown is experienc-ing a real housing shortage, as the college well knows, in fin-ding enough housing for off-campus students;" said real estate agent Jim Norris of Chestertown. Norris said that the little housing that was available is being used by college students, and that the displaced waterfront residents could not have afforded the rent in such apartments.

Norris added, "What's going on is nothing new, the town has been developing around these people for years...it's just never happened on quite this scale before." He continued, "That land is prime real estate, and this kind of developing would have happened recover alone. It's just the

ed sooner or later...It's just too bad that it had to happen like

Norris commented on Ramunno's ethical respon-sibility, "What (Ramunno) is doing is perfectly within his legal rights, but as far as establishing good relations with the town, he's getting off on the wrong foot. We don't need this kind of nonsense around here.

continued on page 4

College Future Discussed

by Jennifer Smith

Should Washington College increase enrollment to 1000 students? Should there be an students? Should there be an increase in ruition? Should increase in ruition? Should increase in ruition? Should aculty be paid more? These and other pressing questions are being addressed by the Long Range Planning committee this year.

The Long Range Planning committee this year.
The Long Range Planning committee met jointly with the committee last month at President least mouth at President Cater's request. He said 'It is Cater's request. He said "It is necessary for both committees to have an overview of the College business for some control of the college business for some co lege budget finances, in order have effective strategic According to Gene Hessy

According to Gene nessy, Vice President for Finance, the purpose of the committee is to oversee all the other faculty and College committees. Student representative to the committee, Rachel Smith, explained "it acts as a guiding force for the future." Current concerns facing the Long Range committee include increasing enrollment, in-creasing tuition (both of which were suggested by the Middle States Association during its States Association during visit to the College last month), the construction of new dormitories, and a review of the academic program. Financial equilibrium, early retirement plans, and faculty salaries are also on the agenda.

Subcommittees have been formed to investigate specific areas of concern. After collecting relevant data, the subcommittees will present their findings back to the Long Range committee. Only then will deci-sions be made, explained focus of yesterday's November meeting of the committee. With statistical data from Kevin Coveney, Director of Admissions, discussions centered on the overall size of the College, projected growth through 1991, levels of financial aid. possible ceilings on enroll-ment, and recruitment alter-

Can the academic plan here at Washington College support more students? Housing and rising tuition will affect any decisions made by the commit-tee. Hessey said that the community made it clear that it would not favor an increase in off-campus housing.
Therefore, new dormitories would be a must to accommodate an increase in

INSIDE:

letters to the editor .....page 2 Suicide Myth.....page 6 off the cuff......page 7 Basketball Opens.....page 8 Getting in the Mood.....page 11

The Pretenders Review...page 12

OPINION

Another Biased Editorial

Recently it was made known to the editors of The Elm that some students on campus have had trouble recognizing the respective purposes of the articles, editorials, and columns that appear each week. Because space is not available to run an indepth article similar to Walter Cronkite's "How To Read A depth article similar to Waiter Cronkiters "How To Read A Newspaper" series that has run in several nationally prominent publications, this short, blow-by-blow explanation of Eurocatest with lave to suffice for those or the Protect of the Control with lave to suffice for those or the Control page and on one or two of the inside pages. News deals with what has, is, and will be going on — information about your environment at Washington Col-lege. Editor's Warning: The news is often controversial. If the newspaper want conclusion explanation of the Controversial is the con-trol page of the Controversial of the Controversial of the Section of th newspage wasn't sometimes controversial it would not be news, but public relations. If you want information, read this section. If you want to be flattered, look elsewhere.

Opinion: As the word implies, this section deals with personal views. This space, for example, is reserved for the opinion of the Editor-in-chief or, if initials appear at the bottom of the editoria, one of the other editors. You'll notice heat the word OPTION species at the top of offs page. Pages two and three fall into that

With this in mind surely you'll understand the amazement of the editorial staff when fellow students make the stunningly insightful observation that an editorial is blased. A similarly in telligent statement analagous to this would be something along the lines of "that wheel is round." Never before has intrinsic

the lines of "inst wheel is found. Never before his intrinsic meaning been such a difficult concept to grasp Columns in general, satire in particular. This past week's con-troversy over the content of The Elm's satire column, "off the cuff" is perhaps the best example of the misinterpretation being spoken of here. Columns are the work for one writer, appear on a regular basis, and can deal with everything from the writer's opinion about a political situation to how to catch large mouth bass to satire (read humor). Unfortunately, the "off the cuff" published two weeks ago which spoofed advising day left, as one put it, scorch marks on the scalps of more than a few people as it passed over their heads at warp twelve.

Since this is an editorial it is entirely appropriate to say that you're out to lunch in the next galaxy if you actually believe we were serious when we talked about choosing courses on the basis of what room the class meets in or that buried somewhere deep in-side the college catalog is a course entitled "Introduction to Magazine Reading." An actual course entitled "Introduction to Newspaper Reading" seems, at this point, to be sorely needed for those literal-minded students who are beginning satire readers.

those intera-minded students who are beginning saure readers.

To make amends, however, and to show all the lacrosse players and others with bruised egos that it wasn't meant personally, in this week's "off the cuff" the lethal weapon has been turned on ourselves. It is only hoped that your gerbil will enjoy this blased

Washington College Elm

| ditor-in-chief    |        | Thomas M. Schuster     |
|-------------------|--------|------------------------|
| lews Editor       |        | Audra M. Philippon |
| eatures Editor    |        | Andrea Kehoe           |
| rts/Entertainment | Editor | David Healey           |
| ports Editor      |        | Christine Wiant        |
| hotography Editor |        | J.M. Fragomeni         |
|                   |        |                        |
|                   |        |                        |

Managing Editor
National Advertising Manager
Local Advertising Manager
Circulation Manager

The Em is the official student newspaper of Washington College. The Em is published every Friday during the academic year with the scepe. Editorials are the responsibility of the Editoria-lock if Signage columns, commensates, laters, editorials, and editorial cartoons represent the members of the editorial staff.

All laters to the editor are read with increase but, due to space limits marks to the college of the editorial staff.

All states to the editor are read with increase but, due to space limits must be shortened. Unsigned letters will not be considered or publication. Students should include their year and major. Faculty and staff to 600 words or laters may be averaged to the control of the state is needed. Laters may be want that clarification of portion of the laters is needed. Laters may be all the control of the Em. Washington College, Chastertown. Maryland 21820. Laters become the property of The Em upon receipt in the control of the Em. Washington College, Chastertown. Maryland 21820. Laters become the property of The Em upon receipt in the control of the Em. Washington College. Chastertown.

and must be received no later than Tuesday to be considered for publica-tion in that week's issue.

The Elm's business at editoral office is located in the Queen Anne lounge, found on the Sind Hoor of the Queen Anne's House dormitory.

Business hours are 7:09 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Tuesdays and 7:00 p.m. to 11:00

m. Wednesdays. The office sphone number is 2011 778-2800, extension

Ah, I don't read those editorials, they are just biased, one-sided, personal opinions!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR note from

Look Out

To The Editor: Attached is a letter I receiv ed from Bruce Neal President of the Kent County Fire Chief's Association. I would preciate your reprinting it in

> Sincerely Douglass Cater

Dear Dr. Cater At the regular meeting of the Kent County Fire Chiefs Association on October 17th it brought before members that there have been problems at the Washington College crosswalk on Washington Avenue with some students ignoring the right of way of emergency vehicles. We hope that you will pass this information on to your student body in an attempt to correct this situation. The safety of everyone is first and foremost with our Association. Thank you for your help in this matter. Sincerely, Bruce Neal President

Debt Disputed

To The Editor:

There was false information concerning me and the 1984 and 1985 yearbooks that was printed in the November 7 printed in the November 7 issue of The Elm. I have the proof available, if necessary, to prove that I, not Mary Helen Holtzgang, started and finished the 1985 Pegasus. Mike Klien left me with approx-imately 15 pages of the 1984 yearbook, and I completed all but six pages of the rest of the book. I even had four of the book. I even had four of the remaining six pages com-pleted. I was waiting on some photographs for the other two pages. Mary Helen then receiv-

(publishing house) that there was six pages missing, so, without contacting me she threw together six pages and set them in.

I also did not run the Pegasus $2,000 into debt. Mike Klien, though he ran the book into debt some, did not run the Pegasus $5,000 into debt. I en-courage The Elm to print a retraction.

The Reporter also printed similar false information last summer. I wrote them a detail-ed leter, and assummed that since I didn't hear from them, they would print a retraction in their next however, check into this mat-ter as well.

What I am most concerned about is where is the source of this false information? Where ever it is. I would like it to be located and banished, as my reputation and that of my staff is at stake Sincerely,

Phyllis V. Proctor '85 Pegasus Editor Where Did The Money Go?

To The Editor: There were several points in your November 7 article. ege Absorbs Yearbook
"that were just plain unThe false statements Debt, were as follows: (1) That Mike Kline absconded with money. Irrespective of the truth of this statement, it cannot be proved. When the 1985 staff took over, all the records were carefully searched and nothing could be prov-

(2) That Mike Kline ac cumulated a $5,000 debt. This is just plain false. He was in fact left a debt (I believe about left a debt (I believe about $2,000) by Mark Slater. (3) That Phyllis Proctor did not finish the 1985 yearbook. Ms. Proctor did finish the 1985 yearbook and it was merely distributed by Mary Helen Holtzgang. This was tradi-tionally the function of the next ear's editor until Ms Holtzgang changed the format of the yearbook so that the graduation section was not bound with it.

(4) That Phyllis Proctor drove the yearbook an additional $2,000 in debt. In fact, the 1985 yearbook was published more than $1,000, under budget. Any deficit on the final balance sheet was merely the result of having to absorb the debt of previous years.

(5) That Mary Helen Holtzgang published both the overdue yearbook The 1985 yearbook I have already ad dressed. As for the 1984 year book: the 1985 staff received it with about fifteen pages completed and subsequently completed it. However, six pages were lost by the publisher. The 1985 staff was in the process of reassembling these pages, and had four completed, when the publisher wrote to Ms. Holzgang to say he had to have the pages immediately. Without contacting the 1985 staff, she assembled the pages and sent them. In this way she can be said to have completed the 1984 yearbook, but it is certainly a slanted statement.

As to how the rumor got started or how the debt reached $7,000, I have no idea. However, the financial records and gallies (for both 1984 and 1985 yearbooks) are still in the ession of Ms. Proctor and are available to anyone in terested in the truth of the mat-

Sincerely, Stephen Bergenholtz Assistant Editor, 1985 Pegasus

Article Is Accurate

To The Editor:

"I told you these were the shadows of the things which have been," said the ghost. "That they are what they are, do not blare me."

do not blame me."

"Remove me," Scrooge explains, "I cannot bear it."

I know the way Ebenezer

continued on page 5

Students Need To Learn Real Responsibility

Right off the bat, I'd like to make it known that I am all for attending classes. There is not a doubt in my mind that making it to all classes in-creases a student's ability to com-prehend the subject matter. But should the administration force us to go to classes? What I am not for is being treated like a baby, and having my pro-essors act as sitters.

The attendance policy at Washington College is to wrapped-up with the grade school concept of being part teacher and part parent. We are all supposed to be adults here, even though some may parents had wanted us to be supervised and that is; if a student can skip every class, get passing grades on his tests, papers, quizzes, etc., then he has pass-

Peter Goode

ed. Now this idea may rub some people the wrong way, but hear me out. First of all, to pull off such a stunt means a person would have to be pretty in-telligent, although not necessarily wise. Second, having such a policy is they would have sent us to community not going to cause any great evacuation college.

I should get to the crux of the matter, and that is; if a student can skip every who can are only cheating themselves, who can are only cheating internseives, for they will fail to receive the knowledge actual classes have to offer. Third, we already have sanctions against poor academic performance in the form of academic probation. the form of academic probation.

College is a lesson in the real life; social, academic, monetary and organizational. If students are so unorganizated that they fail to attend classes, then they should pay the penalty with the poor grades they are likely to receive on tests, papers, and exams and not by an attendance decree from lessons teach the student. On the other hand, if students attend classes without this threat from the administration, then they have organized their own time and can take satisfaction from the discipline this requires. discipline this requires.

Students pay over $10,000 a year to go to school here. That works out to more than $1,250 per class. If students are so careless as to throw away their own or their parent's money by failing classes, then they should go learn about respon-sibility in the real world. In the end it is only themselves that they are cheating Peter Goode is a junior majoring in In-ternational Studies.

Are Class Attendance Policies That Can Affect ISSUE . The Course Grade Necessary To Ensure That Students Attend Class Meetings

Raymond Crowe Annapolis, Maryland

I think there are two kinds of students; students who can learn without professors and those, like me, who need all the help they can get. If we could learn without the professors we wouldn't be here, we'd simply buy the books instead of paying full college tuition. We need attendance policies because the professional attention is what we're paying for.

Tami Tomlinson Elkton, Maryland No - if students aren't mature and responsible enough by now to attend classes on their own then that's their problem.

J.P. Alpert Edgewood, Maryland

I'd say yes for classes that involve a lot of student discussion. It's up to the student's discretion, real-ly. It's their 10 grand a year. If they want to get the maximum amount out of their education it's to their advantage to attend

Samantha Milbredt Freshman Long Island, New York

I don't think it would make much difference if we didn't have the policy because when people miss a class it generally means they're either too tired or they have a paper to write or a test to study for.

Robert Alexander Bethesda, Maryland

I believe that the classes that depend on the professor's lecture to provide the gist of the course should have carefully monitored attendance as opposed to those where the professor merely backs the reading.

Campus Voices

by Michele Balze

Policy Ensures Better Academic Performance

All college students think about skipping class. Some consider it once or wice a semester while others give it serious thought each morning when the alarm goes off. Students who fail to attend classes for "no good reason" are a common part of every college, but then the ramifications of poor attendance. cance are not readily apparent to those in or pursuing a more appealing activi-ly. It is for this reason that the college as made mandatory written attenonce policies that are presented creat-to students and submitted to the bean for approval. The rationale whind this plan is simple: Class atten-dance policies that affect the final rade are necessary to ensure that fludents attend all possible meetings and thus newform better in the course and thus perform better in the course

Regular class attendance is directly hegular class attendance is directly flated to class performance. Students are often unaware of the importance of tach class meeting. Obtaining the loge for the control of ach class meeting. Obtaining the totes from a missed class is easy, but asking up class discussions and understanding other students' input is not. Even if one is not prepared for a class, there is much information that can be gleaned by listening to others participate.

Mandatory attendance policies contheir classes by making them think twice about the consequences of not attending. They often prevent students from wasting time by providing an ex-tra incentive: avoidance of a lower grade. Students need to be shown that missed classes have a negative effect on the amount of material learned by the end of the semester. Attendance policies which subtract points from the final grade show this in a surprisingly blatant way.

Final grades are measures placed on Final grades are measures placed on learning; they are an evaluation of course material absorbed by the student. It is necessary, then, for them to show good attendance, for days lost are pieces of information lost - information which is not always easily recovered. As the years go by, students gain more experience with the attendance of the statement of the st positive reinforcement of good class performance as shown by their grades or a greater understanding of how much more can be learned when attendance is constant.

Attendance policies vary from pro-ssor to professor, ranging from mandatory attendance only at exam time to a given number of allowed absences, beyond which the final grade is affected. It is important that students trust their instructors: they are not looking for excuses to assign poor final grades but are instead genuinely con-cerned about how much their students are learning. The instructor's judg-ment is final, and it is the most informed. Since the professor knows a good deal more about the course material than most of the students, he or she is the one individual who can assess the structure the policy accordingly. By regarding attendance and participation as equally important in determining final grades as are exams and papers, professors emphasize how vital good class attendance actually is.

Carolyn Naff

Class attendance policies also ensure Class attendance policies aiso ensure that students have a fair chance to achieve high grades in any class. Without a strict policy, some students take the opportunity to skip lectures and still do well in the class by reading the texts. This is often true, but it is unfair to those who spend valuable time listening and contributing in class. Obviously, class attendance policies are important and necessary to the extent that they affect the final grade. It is up to the student to make the choice to miss the class, but attendance re-quirements are good guidelines and should be a deciding factor in the deci-

> Carolyn Naff is a sophomore from Baltimore, Maryland

International Peace Party Planned

by Laura Kerbin

December 31, 1986 marks the last day of the "United Na-Peace," and cities around the world are planning events to celebrate world peace on that day. Chestertown is no exception

Countries like India, the Soviet Union, and Japan and more will participate in the two world-wide events already planned for New Year's Eve. At 7:00 a.m. EST a one hour prayer for peace is planned. At 7:00 p.m. EST people around the world will light candles to symbolize the eternal flame of peace at the United Nations to be ignited simultaneously

U.S. cities from New York to Denver are all planning special events to recognize peace on the day. In Chestertown, ac-cording to organizer Wendy Morrison, the local Friends Meeting House will open at 7:00 a.m. for prayers and meditations for peace. Mor-rison, a mathematics professor, also said that interested townspeople are organizing a candle ceremony in the town park to coincide with the world-wide lighting of candles and the eternal torch at the Other activities being con-sidered include a poster con-test, games, and puppet shows for community children. Special buttons may even be made for the event.

"The most wonderful thing is the opportunity for the children," said Morrison. "If they see the Russians lighting candles at the same time, it could change their attitudes," toward the Soviet Union and other countries. "Then maybe they will see that children are the same everywhere."

Morrison also believes that down everyone wants peace on earth, they just don't know how to achieve it. "Maybe if [peace] can happen at the grassroots level it can at the grassroots level it can spread up that way." According to Morrison, both a Soviet and an American dreamed independently of a world-wide participation in a torch-lighting ceremony. To her, that is the most mean-ingful aspect of the peace lebration scheduled for New Mildren Pnick, 25 year resident of Scott's Point, expressed her fa tion over her impending eviction, "you live here all your life, and all you get are bills, heartache, and your home taken away."

Scott's Point Purchase Displaces C-Town Residents

Gary Dolde, Assistant Direc-tor for Kent County's Depart-ment of Social Services, agreed that any local housing that was available is now occupied by college students. By late last week, most of the "Unless there is housing residents involved received letavailable, we have nothing to ters from Ramunno's office in work with "explained Dalds Williams."

either, according to Dolde. "Right now federal funds are scarce, and besides, there's not a lot of available land in Chestertown for projects of that size work with," explained Dolde. Wilmington extending their same thing next June," said

The near future is no brighter eviction deadline from Elwood Finwood, a resident of December 1, 1986 to July 1, 1987. This was partly due to delays in processing demoli-tion permits requested by Ramunno when he purchased the property.

"Now that everyone has an extension, this may settle down, but it's going to be the

He can't build in the winter anyway. The town can slow this man down, but nobody is going to stop him."

"(Ramunno's) attitude is 'every man for himself', but that's not like it is down here," said Willy Henry Conners, one the affected area. "Why not give an extension and make himself (Ramunno) look good? here, people not thrown out are helping people that have been. Everyone is so concerned with promoting the historic part of town, but what about the peo-ple? My father has lived here for forty years, but I guess that doesn't mean anything uoesn't mean anything anymore."

All vehicles with 5 violations lose parking priviledges

said "We had sent him letters notifying him that this car was in violation, and he did not make contact with this office. We then sent him a notice th his parking priviledge had been revoked."

"That's where Jerry and I have this big rub. Jerry says he mailed me four letters. I only got one... I didn't know residents couldn't park behind Bill Smith. I don't want to park behind Talbot." said Cammack, who lives in West Hall.

By the time his car was towed nearly two weeks ago, Cammack had accumulated $550 the area.' The fee for towing is the "rem a inder of the worth of fines or "about 12 $50, plus $5 a day for storage, semester," said Roderick. "If Cammack added," I got a live (students) with to park who gets an occasional ticket, but there are a few repeat of fenders who just tend to ignore them," said Roderick. "I've only gotten two or three tickets in my whole three years here – until this year. I guess I was in the wrong, but I was still really pissed off," er-plained Commands.

"There's always the person who gets an occasional ticket, but there are a few repeat offenders who just tend to Minner's Mobil station on High Street handles all the towing required by security. Roderick explained, "We lookignore them."

Ironstone Cafe

236 Cannon Street Chestertown, Maryland 21620 301-778-0188

letter from Roderick last week their cars on campus, they saying that he knows I've got my car back, and that if they (security) find my car parked on campus, it will be towed im-mediately." "Once the must reregister the vehicle the next semester. He added, "And we are holding them accoun-table for the fines." "There's always the person

LAST CHANCE!

plained Cammack.
Cammack's car is the only one to be towed this semester, so far. However, "We are towing them as we identify the owners," said Roderick.

to reserve a space on the Washington College Ski Trip-

-Kitzbuhel. Austria-January 2 -January 10 Cost $999.00 See Dean Maxcy

LIBRARY HOURS THANKSGIVING WEEKEND

Wednesday, November 26 - 8:154:30 Thursday, November 27 - Closed

Friday, November 28 - Closed Saturday, November 29 - Closed Sunday, November 30 - Noon-Midnig

Complete Hair Care 10 Visits for $40.00

Our Sun Iana Sunsystem guarantees you, a giorous, radiant tan that you can keep all year long. A tan you achieve with soft, comfortable and SAFE U.V.A. light and without all the burning, peeling and flaking you get in natural sunight. Our SunSystem is GUARANTEED to tan anyone who tans in the sun...while you relax in cool

We'd like to tell you more about this exciting new way to tan. A single visit will convince you

The Beauty Lounge

Callus Phone: 778-2635 01 come Midtown Mall Chestertown, MD 21620

NEXUS PRODUCTS AVAILABLE
mplate Hair Care * Manicures * Sculptur

Tuesday-Saturday Lunch: 11:30-2:00 Dinner: 5:30-9:00 Sunday Brunch: 11:00-3:00 Closed Mondays

New Position Created

Student Affairs has recently instituted a new student posi-tion, Foreign Correspondent, and senior Cathy Beck, at the Deans' request, is currently filling the position.

Created in the interest of students who are studying abroad, this job has become necessary due to the increased number of Washington College students participating in foreign programs. This year, there are 14 such students in European countries, including ix who are participating in the Manchester program

The main responsibility of the correspondent is to maintain communication with those correspondent is to maintain communication with those students abroad, keeping them informed of deadlines, elec-tions, campus events, and other dates they may need to know. Other aspects of the job include assisting sophomores interested in studying abroad who haven't decided yet, as well as helping those who return to readjust to life back in Chestertown.

Cathy Beck, returning from hester year in Oxford, feels that this job is needed by students. "It's hard enough to go away," she said. "This way the students have someone to inform them of what's happening here. It helps maintain the bond with Washington College, so that the returning senior doesn't feel displaced

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

continued from page 2

Scrooge must have felt. In my case, however, I am haunted not by the ghosts of Christmas, not by the gnosts of Christmas, but of yearbooks past. This time, the visitor is the spirit of '86 the Pegasus published and supplemented last spring, and just as in Scrooge's old ust as in Scrooge's old nemories, there is a morbid preoccupation with finances.

I created, worked with and maintained the budget of the 1986 Pegasus, and also had to deal with the residual debts from the 1984 and 1985 editions All information given by Mr. Ravanbakhsh in The Elm's article is accurate and true. There were, as he stated, debts which were carried over from both publications. Also, the 1986 Pegasus was published in accordance within its own budgetary guidelines.

I applaud Mr. Ravan-bakhsh's outspokenness, to say nothing of his efforts to work within a very difficult and within a very difficult and negative atmosphere. By now, I would have thought that the college population had developed the minimal brain cells necessary to understand the incompetence of past editors and staffs in ancient history, and that no amount of petty bickering and debate can change that. (Had action been taken, there would be no need for quarreling now.) I know of no other organization on campus whose current staff suffers the hangover from the antics of its predicessors as does the Pegasus, nor has any staff had to put up with so much as has the staff of the '87 Pegasus . Mr. Ravanbakhsh's efforts to clear up the mess are truly admirable. Publishing a yearbook is difficult, even under best of circumstances, and the more that old problems are dredged up, the more difficult the job becomes. I do hope the students realize that every time they invoke the spirit of Pegasus' past, they impede the production of their own cur-rent yearbook. In the end, if the cation is delayed, the student body will have no one to blame but itsself. So, stick that in the ledger and slam it shut. Sincerely Mary Helen Holzgang '86 Pegasus editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: The previous three letters to the editor are in response to the ar-ticle run on November 7, 1986 regarding the absorption of the yearbook debt. Information on the financial debts incurred by the previous three yearbook editors in 1983-84, 1984-85, and 1985-86 was obtained from the present Pegasus editor, Arian Ravanbakhsh, Ravanbakhsh now has possession of any existing budget records that remain from those years. He said himself, "According to the sketchy records that I have pieced together from the business office, all the figures quoted in The Elm are accurate.

BARBER STYLISTS

The Thompson Building

College Heights 507 Washington Ave. Chestertown, Maryland 21620 778-1097 Res. 639-7201 Carroll, Jane and John Thompson

FLOWER SHOP LIQUOR STORE

Start Your Shopping Early At

THE FINISHING TOUCH

Many gifts, decorative doormats, music boxes, brass items, stuffed animals and much, much more!

> Fine Framing and Artist's Materials

(In Stock or To Order) 311 High Street, Chestertown 778-5292

Mom's Cookie Jar

To all those who attended the Washington College Dining Service's Traditional Service's Traditional Thanksgiving Dinner last Wednesday night, I hope you had a good time and enjoyed the meal. A round of applause to the Dining Service Staff for all their efforts in preparing

A special Thank You to the 93 students who participated in the "give a bird" program. Through your unselfish thoughtfulness and generosity, tine Kent County families will have a Happy Thanksgiving

To Kevin Lauricella and the other members of the S.G.A. Food Service Committee, hanks for all your help in the Student Center. You did a fine

On December 11, the WCDS will sponsor a "Gingerbread House" contest. This contest is open to individuals and organizations of Washington College (students, staff, faculty, fraternities, sororities, clubs, etc.) and the local community. Prizes will be awarded for first and second place in both individual and organization categories. Tickets to a ounge on December 11 from Lounge on December 11 from it. 90 noon to 1:30 p.m. will be on sale starting Monday, November 24. Contact Sharon Creen in Enring Hall for more in the Dining Hall for more in the luncheon will be deceded from the luncheon will be called to Angels Haven. I have some of you expert bakers from the college community will submit your enmunity will submit your en-minity will submit your en-bies — the Dining Service is! Next Tuesday is Birthday Night. To all those who have processes and a service of celebrated or will be celebrating birthdays this month — Happy Birthday from the WCDS staff.

As a reminder to all students, the last meal served before Thanksgiving break will before thanksgiving break will be lunch on Wednesday, November 26. The first meal after the break will be breakfast on Monday, December 1.

The Christmas season is fast approaching and I'm sure there are many students who would like to earn a little extra spending money for Christmas presents. I can assure anyone who might be interested that you can earn that extra cash by signing up to work for the Washington College Dining service. Stop in and see Sharon Crew or the supervisor on duty to sign up

Now that the Thanksgiving Dinner is over, it's time to plan the Christmas Dinner with all the trimings, including the gingerbread men for the cookie

On behalf of the Washington College Dining Service I would like to wish each and everyone Happy and enjoyable hanksgiving. Until next week...Mom harrere exercises es es conserve es en conserve es en conserve es en conserve el conserve edge when classes begin in lanuary. With a Macintosh<sup>TM</sup> personal computer, and all the

We call it the Macintosh 'Write Stuff' bundle. You'll call it a great deal! Because when you buy a Macintosh "Write Stuff" bundle before January 9, 1987, you'll receive a bundle of extras-and save $250. Not only will you get your choice of a Macintosh 512K Enhanced or a Macintosh Plus, vou'll also get an Image Writer" II printer, the perfect solution for producing near letter-quality term papers or reports. complete with graphs, charts, and illustrations Plus, you'll get MacLightning.

Together with your favorite Macintosh word processing software, you can transform our notes into the clearest, most letter perfect papers you ever turned out. And turned in on time

What's more, there's a Macintosh Support Kit filled with valuable accessories and computer care products from 3M.* Complete with all the things you need to keep your Macintosh running long after you've graduated.

Let us show you how to get through college better, faster, and smarter. Stop in and see us for more information

FEATURES

Dispelling the Suicide Rumor

"He lay in the dark room as sour thoughts twisted through his feverish mind. Desheveled hair hung over drooping blue eyes that desperately sought for quiet sleep. Sweat formed on his pale face as the body's temperature stretched above the Tylenol level and into the 100's. Because of the disease's particular dislike for antibiotics, his entire body swarm ed in an itching red rash IIn. shaven and dirty, he snoved his burning hands under the cool protection of the bottom piollow. Flipping back and forth uncomfortably in the

In a short while his room-mate would return from the library. In a short while his roommate would be dead...With the positive result of the bloodtest, he realized that his grades were going to suffer. He knew, that except for food, all of his time would be spent in the room, in his bed. He had tried at first to keep up with the work anyway, as it was too important not to It was the first semester of his freshmen year, and he had his A's and B's to protect...

It was too much on his sick system though, and he fell into a D-filled chasm. The only way a D-filled chasm. The only way to accomplish a good average now was to murder Phil posedly, the College granted a 4.0 to the surviving roommate of a dead student. This was the ticket back to good grades,

Freshman Geoffrey Girard's

"Anatomy of a 4.0" was writ-ten under the pretense of a popular myth circulated around the Washington College campus that if your roommate commits suicide or is murdered, then the surviving suicide or is murdered, then the surviving roommate automatically receives a 4.0 for the semester. Of course, this folktale is not true, but it has caused many students to fabricate wild fan-tasies of death traps for their roommates. Mark Frederick, a freshman, proposed two solu-tions for his roommate's suicide. "I'd tell my roommate that Australia stopped expor-

such as The Elm would even print an absurd thing as this!" Dean McIntire, even though she is in close touch with the students, has never heard of such a rumor. She couldn't such a rumor. Sne country acid in her shamped of make believe that such a story would all her hair vaporize into the be circulated amongst college air. She would definitely kill herself," says Melisas Grim, a Freshman. Michael J. Woodhumorously among many students and their roommates.

of using chemicals and ex-plosives to cause the death of their roommates. mate prizes her hair above her life. I would mix some type of acid in her shampoo to make

Apparently, this rumor is folk, a Junior, thinks for a ell known and discussed while and comes up with an while and comes up with an outlandish situation. "First I'd build a seven ft. loft with my Sarah Martin and Jackie roommate's help. Then, when Dailey, both sophomores he was away for the weekend, I chuckled and admited, "We would loosen all the bolts and

The general concensus among the students at Washington College is that this rumor is just a myth talked about with no seriousness over lunch or at the moment of stress for a touch of comic relief. No harm is done over these discussions, most people make use of their creative minds to brainstorm more outlandish roommate stories.
As it turns out in Geoffry Girard's "Anatomy of a 4.0," the sick roommate dies in an attempt to sve his college ideal lover, Julia, from drinking the poisoned Koolaid. "In his weakened state however, he found himself slipping and crashing down below to his back. Swollen kidneys burst and deadly pain ran through his limp body. As blackness rolled over his eyes, he realized Phil would make the Dean's List. attempt to sve his college ideal

"First I would type a suicide note... Then then I would carefully insert a safety pin in his hairdryer and he would be electrocuted."

ting Foster's to the U.S. and on the same day I would casually drop the fact that America won the America's Cup. Another method, a little more gruesome but still effective, I would slit his wrists with a would slit his wrists with a razor blade while he was asleep and have his favorite REM tape chewed up and strewn about his bed."

Just to validate that this widespread rumor is nothing but a farce, Dean McIntire stated, "That is the most ridiculous thing that I've ever heard! No college in this world would ever grant a 4.0 on the suicide. I can't but never kill each other, some miscellaneous object (a but sometimes when the hand genade) leaving behind classes weigh you down, you might say this class is killing suicide note."

Other people, caught up in dittle more thought into the suicide of the intervention of the control of the suicide of the suicide of the suicide of the suicide of the propose have put a the world of soap opera's and little more thought into the suicide of their roommates, method, copy murder's conspiculties of the suicide of the sui

the Academic Board. Mike Hearn, a Junior, plans to "climb the watertower" with roomate and when he forge. wasn't looking at anything ex- insert a safety pin in his hair-cept the ground, I would throw dryer and he would be eleca noose around his neck and trocuted.'

method, copy murder's as on General Hospital. Steph Strein, a Freshman, jokes with his roommate, "First I would type a suicide note, his handwriting is too sloppy for me to forge. Then I would carefully will not be published next week due to Thanksgiving

The Elm

OLD WHARF INN

Enjoy Waterfront Dining Located at the foot of Cannon Street

Chestertown, Md. (301) 778-3566

The Market Gourmet & Cheeses

Tuesday-Saturday Convenient Parking 8:00 AM-6:00 PM

COMPLETE HAIR CARE - MANICURES SCULPTURED NAILS RETAIL ITEMS

505 Washington Ave. Chestertown, Md. 2160

Janie Thompson (301) 778-0898

STEAKS . SEAFOOD . COCKTAILS

CHESTERTOWN, MD.

BUFFET EVERY SUNDAY 12-5 HAPPY HOUR - DAILY 4:30-6 AIR TAXI SERVICE AVAILABLE SCHEFLER FIELD

778-1222

Rt. 213 & 291

THERE'S MORE TO LIFE THAN FRICTION

break

THERE'S MORE TO LIFE THAN FICTION

BE YOURSELF TODAY!!!

Amity Bakery and Coffee Shop

Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies, ecial Occasion Cakes On Order

Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M Lunch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

Mon.-Sat. 5 A.M.-5 P.M. Sunday 5 A.M.-2 P.M.

Not all students clean their plates, so uneaten mashed potatoes and

Jobs Offer Fun

by Andrea Kehoe

Behind the wall near the con-eyor belt where students eposit their trays before exng the dining hall is a side of the Food Service that few ever

While mandatory busing of ss fine if they do not comply) elps to alleviate some of the leanup work after a meal, shroom employees are left to ow away the uneaten scraps of food and stack the dirty

ishes awaiting washing. "It's one of the only jobs on impus where you actually ave to work," said a former amployee.

Amidst the noise of an stitution-sized dishwasher orkers collect trays from the surveyor belt while others apprvise the actual washing

As one employee vainly atkraps from one plate with the imof another, a fellow worker wines to his aid by seizing the overs with her bare hands ad throwing them into the

Such teamwork is the key to mrking in the dishroom, rding to the handbook that ns the system and offers descriptions of the various positions. Unlike past broom employees were colstudents, the majority are w local teenagers or han-capped adults. Only two College students ork on the line this semester, the a total of eleven students ning money as dining hall

"It's a lot of fun in here," id WC Dining Service super-ser, Sharon Crew. "Like any r job, it's what you make of it. In most cases, you have a good time. College students employeed by the Dining Hall start out at a minimum wage and receive a work incentive of a ten cents per hour pay raise after put-ting in 125 hours of work in a semester. While many begin on the dish line, they soon graduate to working on the serving line employed by the WCDS as a freshman, does not remember her experience fondly, woke me up in the morning due to the fact that it was so highly revolting.

She worked approximately four hours a week in the dish room, which she called, "the easiest, most accessible job on campus. You can start the day you walk in."

Conceding that the camaraderie with the adult employees was an enjoyable aspect of the job, the dishroom veteran nonetheless said she felt a stigma working there until she "began to climb the Food Service Ladder" as a Food Service Laurer server. The serving line, she portunities for socializing as students came in to eat.

Other perks of working for the dishroom include of WCDS uniform shirts, hats, gloves. Employees can o obtain future job references

An unexpected bonus of join-ing the WCDS team is the possibility of romance. According to a former employee, many campus love matches have found their beginnings in the dishroom.
"People used to see each other across the spattered spaghetti and they knew it was

Of Joyce, Journalism. And Gerbil Cage Liner

Even at Washington College school renowned for its creative writing program and philosophy of "writing across the curriculum," the majority of the student body has a decidedly unliterary bent. A Required Reading Seminar may be in order for these students to prevent them from graduating with the "Johnny can't read" stigma of the illiterate upon them. Such a stigma would not be entirely remedial but would allow the participants to bypass the elementary stage of reading aloud about the adventures of Dick, Jane and their dog Spot. Instead, the students progress to dropping typical "English major" words such as "in text," "bildingsroman," and "doppleganger" — into their daily conversations. Before reaching such an advanced stage, however, the fledgling readers would be taught how to differentiate the various forms of writing found

The first focus would be on creative writing. While writers always complain that they are misunderstood, they are deservedly annoyed when in-dividuals whose literary background consists of Forms of Lit. point out the "sentence fragments' in the "paragraphs" of a poem. These people, who probably count "Mary Had A Little Lamb" and "Over the River and Through the Woods" as their personal favorites among lyrical masterpieces of the tyrical masterpieces of Western civilization, also criticize e.e. cummings' lack of capitalization. They are sure James Joyce's use of the technique of stream-ofconsciousness writing was not a pioneer effort in literature, but the results of too many bad acid trips.

written in the first person point

Poetry? ... It don'traven

off the cuff

of view, such lovers of lit assume it is autobiographical, particularly if the subject mat-ter is sex. Hence, many who frequent the Lit. House earn colorful reputations among their peers.

Those of considerable critical skill sometimes scuss a work's meaning with the author, though they are apt to scold poets for not being direct. The writers skinned things that they are tend to get upset when the product of many weeks or months is reduced to a question: "So what does that mean, anyway?"

Likewise, journalistic writing, though supposedly directed at an eighth grade mentality, also meets confu-sion from its audience. One source of concern from some readers is the fact that editorials are biased - a complaint that might interest such as is to be ovpected, it is the humor column that ignites the real controver sy. Readers are angered, not amused, when their academic capabilities are questioned, even in jest. In fact, the outrage engendered by admittedly weak attempts at satire even forces the writers to request that those brave enough to be their friends refer to them by a fake name (like Bertha or Mavis) while in public — or at ast while in the presence of those who play contact sports.

Pulitzer-Prize Winners as Washington Post editorial page editor .Meg Greenfield, who tends to throw a lot of her own opinions into her Newsweek

Journalistic publications, whose primary value lies in their convenience as gerbilcage liner, are often improved by the editorial assistance of *iş&? for those blasted mild obscenities. National adver-tisers also help out with formulating editorial policy - the newspaper of one large univer-sity was saved from running an article with actual references to alcohol (horrifying) by a company that threatened not to pay for its ad if both were printed on the same page. Thankfully, the Women's Christian Temperance Union spirit (no pun intended) is still alive today Hopefully, though, a Required Reading Seminar would bridge the gap between writer's intention and reader's reaction. This lofty goal would draw countless willing participants, perhaps even reve the popularity of the homore Writing Seminar. Sophomore Anyway, students prefer to read their little black books or Ozzy Osbourne lyrics would become future Sophie Kerr Prize contenders or sentenced to a lifetime of reading gerbil-cage liner.

ZIHT ZZIM T'NOD OPPORTUNITY TO TALK WITH US ABOUT OUR CIVILIAN FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT CAREER PROGRAM

Each year we hire a select group of entry level accountants, auditors and budget analysts for a two year developmental training program that leads to responsible decision-making positions in financial management. Liberal arts and other majors are strongly encouraged to apply for budget analyst positions. Accountants and auditors need 24 hours of accounting. We will be on campus on December 1, 1986. Check with your Placement Office for time and place.

Come talk with us or write for more information:

COMPTROLLER OF THE NAVY Office of Career Management, Code NCF-3

Crystal Mall #3, Room 119, Washington, D.C. 20376-5001 (202) 695-3587

Application deadline February 1, 1987

ROSE'S FURNITURE. ANTIQUES AND ACCESSORIES

Browsers and Buyers Are Welcomed Rose's Has Something To Fit Everyone's Budget 314 Park Row Chestertown, MD 21620

301-778-1522

WC Basketball Ready To Roll

Whats up for the Sho'men in 877 Says Coach Tom Finnegan, "I don't believe in rebuilding years. We are simply replacing some good players with young, talented, and eager ones."

It's that time of year again. In season for crowded gyms, jumpsho and rebounds. Yes, it's basketha season. After a month of practices season. After a month or practices an a victorious scrimmage against Dis-sion I University of Delaware beins them, the Shoremen venture to Yest Pennsylvania for the York Tourname Friday and Saturday, November 21 and

Principle and Saturday, November 21a. 22. Tournament opponents incide Elmyra, York and possibly John Jay. Opening against Elmyra, WC pects to hold its own in their first regame of the season. "Elmyra has be top six players back this season Coach Finnegan stated. "It'll be tough game." Elmyra with its returning player and its last season 11-14 record is als and its last season 11-14 record is also determined to hold its own in its game. Coach Paul Manchowski Elmyra said, "We're looking forwat to the game. It should be interesting Washington has a strong team." also stated the Elmyra team is a you team composed of sophomores a juniors, which should match up we with Washington's own young squad.

Depending on the outcome of the two games, the Sho'men will square against John Jay for the final game the tournament. Captain Tom McVi stated, "I'm optomistic about our fin game. If we play together we'll have good season. It's just a matter of rea ing and playing up to our potential."

Crew Proves A Formidable Opponent In Div. One

by Mike Jenkins
The Washington College
Crew competed Saturday, November 8, in the 1st Annual Garden State Sprints. The County Municipal Park. The heats were short-only 1500 meter sprints-whereas most meter sprints-whereas most other races this season were considerably longer. The Men's Varsity Eight team placed third behind the University of Pennsylvania and Rutgers. Also in the race were Drexel. Franklin & Mar-

John Wagner said, "the team rode very well, considering that the University of Penn and Rutgers are bigger teams."

The Men's Varisty Four competed in two different competed in two different heats. They were much tougher races because the Division I schools (Rutgers, King Crown, and the University of Penn) were much faster than most competition in Washington College's Division III. "I thought we rode a good piece," said Wagner. "Suff because competition was stiff because competition was stiff because would have been hard to beat and was not able to retain the even with a very good per-advantage to win the race. formance," stated Wagner.

The Men's Novice Eight Also competing in the sprints team, however, did beat per placed second behind the was The Chester River Rowing ticlipants of Stockton State University of Pennsylvania in Club. The team comprised of Novafink and Lake Carnegie.

The Women's Novice Eight a close race. The Washington members of the Chesterlo did fairly well as they were boat had the lead at the start, community and sor beaten by the Drexel boat and but later incurred problems, Washington College alum community and some Washington College alumi The Club rowed in the Men's Masters Four and placed se cond behind King's Crown. The

Swim Club Looking For Meets

Outstanding Shorewomen

by Jeb Stewart November 14-16, Washington College Field Hockey took a bold step towards national pro-minence. Liz Whelan, Beth Matthews, Kate Falconer, and Carole Reece participated in the Southeastern region tournament in Richmond, Virginia Three of the women played on an undefeated second place team coached by none other than their WC coach, Diane Freshman Carole Reece felt positive experience saying, goal has been surpassed.

other teams."

At the beginning of the season, WC field hockey appeared to be looking for credibility. It seems that this all-star participants this

"playing with and against selected players together before they played as though they "had been playing together for years." Though the valuable playing time was important to Reece, she stated that the best part of the tourna-ment was, "getting to know and playing with girls from coached by Brian Bishop split the tri-meet, winning over St.

The men's Swimming club in the 200 I.M., Shaeffer Reese blem resulted from the formed this fail, participated in the 500 I.M., Shaeffer Reese blem resulted from the formed this fail, participated in the 50 M. Freestyle, and that the team was form in their first meet last Satur-Carter Boatner in cluving, when other Division III was a gainst St. Mary's, and Carter Boatner qualified for had already at their scheel Catholic University. The eleven member team, are to be held in Kenwood, Ohlo Leam to continue compelled. next spring

Mary's. Outstanding per-formances were turned in by several members of the team. Winners of individual events members are not sure when the next meet will be. This problem resulted from the 150 that the team was formis when other Division III testis had already set their schedul.

The only possibility for the The only possibility for a team to continue competing if other teams in dual med agree to letting W.C. enter be competition, thus creating the competition, thus creating the competition of the continue of t tri-meet. This was the case weekend with St. Mary's, Catholic University.

V-ball Sinks Cecil In Final

by Drew Elburn

With their last match on the line on Thursday, November 6, the volleyball team walloped an unsuspecting Cecil team by sweeping them 15-1, 15-2, 15-11 This match finished the youthful team's season with a total of seven freshmen, and only one senior. "We'll be sorry to lose Beth Wolf this year," said coach Penny Fall of the co-captain who will be graduating in 1987.

Coach Fall praised the team which ended the season with a 16-20 record against - "the 10-20 record against — the toughest schedule this college has ever had to play." Washington's team lost the ser-vices of Kim Madigan, co-captain, which hurt the team but also allowed the strong

Sue Coulter and Val Williamser the "steady" startes coach Fall described the were always there to sal game with a crucial blo spike. Much praise was to the setting/hitting tea Sharon Diser and Debbie but also allowed the strong bench to rise to the occasion. Genie Auchinchloss, Becky Cox, Dawn Dams, and Ann Ur-ban came off the bench and proved themselves in the Debbie qualified for th Tournament team at her Coach Fall was very P with the season and ticipating spring practi season next year. This agrees with one spectator said at a game that the women were "lookin class 778-6900

Lock Haven Unisex Styling Salon

Freshmen Build Up Sho'men Basketball

"We could win every game or we could lose every game" mentions coach Finnegan, mentions when asked of his outlook for this season. Of course, it is doubtful that either of these exdoubtful that either of these ex-tremes will occur. But what finnegan's remark displays is the uncertainty which sur-rounds the 1986-87 Washington

College Basketball team Last year, the Shoremen net-ters were, to say the least, ex-cellent. The 1985-86 team earned a national ranking of 20th and a solid 20-6 record. They enjoyed championships in the Tournament and the Wild Goose Classic, as well as in their own conference, the MAC east. In the Middle Atlan-Southeast. In the Middle Atlan-tic NCAA regionals, they fought to win a third place finish. These are all im-pressive accomplishments, and represent a tough act to follow tougher still for this year's team will be overcom-Gone from last year's roster is 80 percent of the offense, most notably Middle Atlantic Conference MVP, Kurt Keller, and guards George Roberts and Dave Repko. Gone, also, are almost fifty points per game.

Left, though, are senior captain Tom McVan, junior Al Hepting, and a dozen freshmen and sophomores. It is up to this

Washington College.

Washington conege.
"I don't believe in rebuilding years," "We are simply replacing some good players with young, talented, and eager ones." And talented they

The Shoremen added seven outstanding prospects this year to the strong returning sophomore group of five. The new faces include: point guards Chris Brandt and guards Chris Brandt and Charles Duckett, Tony Macei at wing guard and small for-ward, Tim Keehan and Brian Kelly; and at strong forward and post positions, Chris Jamke and Charles Johnson.

Tom Finnegan

Finnegan is pleased with this fresh crop of talent and, though he won't name names, says that several may play signifi-cant roles on the team this year regardless. If these young men stay, they will provide a "great freshman-sophomore nucleaus" that will keep Washington winning for years to come

"We could win every game or we could lose

every game."

Still, there are many holes to fill and much inexperience to contend with. Finnegan doubts that any one man can replace Kurt Keller and his 21 points per game. Instead, he will rely band of fourteen to carry on the All received recognition in per game. Instead, he will rely winning basketball tradition at their playing areas and have more on group Participation, the potential to rise as stars at with several individuals Washington College. veraging in the eight to 14 point range

> The coach compares this The coach compares this years team to last years, except that they don't have a bona-fride all-American to bona-fride all-American to the coach of t in Finniegan's 17 year career as head coach -of which last year was one- has he had a 20+ scorer.

To begin the season, Fin-negan plans on starting McVan and Hepting, together with sophomores Steve Brady, Scott Jones, and Matt Wilson. Additionally, sophomore Andy Bauer will see much time as the important sixth man, with the remaining time going to sophomore George Small and the freshman seven.

Overall, Finnegan has four goals for this year's Shoremen goals for this year's Shoremen squad: a winning season; to win the conference and make the league playoffs; to win the invitational tournaments; and to make the NCAA's. Fin-negan, though, like any good coach, makes no guarantees for this team, noting that this team, noting that that's why we play the

Sports Calendar

Fri. 21

Basketball York Tournament (A)

Sat. 22

Baskethall York Tournament (A)

Swimming (Women's) Towson - 1:00 p.m. Tues. 25

Basketball Frostburg (A)

Sat. 29

Basketball TRA

Attention
Any student, faculty or staff member with juggling talents interested in ing talents interested in participating in the Renaissance Christmas Dinner is urged to please contact the Music Department.

Box Lacrosse "Finally" Comes To Baltimore

Baltimore and Washington, with exactly what we wanted. Well not exactly. It wasn't Major league Baseball that you heard knocking in D.C. last week, or, pick 'em, the NHL, NFL, or NBA ringing doorbells in Finally, professional sports fram Baltimore the other day, but rather two blass have come begging to both other 'professional' leagues Introducting, brace yourselves now, the Eagle League and the International Basket-Well not exactly. It wasn't Major

I hope that you've recovered sufficiently for me to continue. First, the Eagle League is the latest professional box lacrosse league to hit the shores of America. I'm not quite sure what box lacrosse is, but, then again, being a non-Marylander, non-New Yorker, I was a little unsure as to what lacrosse even was until I landed on the Eastern Shore last year.

I do know, however, that the Eagle League will feature four teams: The Washington Wave, the Philadelphia Wings, the New Jersey Saints, and the Baltimore Thunder.

The regularr season will be played in January and February, with each team playing six games. The league openers are January 10th, with Philly playing

"This sounds like a league

the Colts should join."

WE HAVE ONLY GOOD THINGS TO SAY ABOUT CANCER OF THE COLON

If detected early, the cure rate for colorectal cancer is very high it can be as high as 75°.

Because we now know how to Because we now know how to fight 1 one we we know how to fight 1 one which is the second of the second o

Two, get a stool blood test Two, get a stool blood test every year if you are over50. Three after two initial negative tests one year apart, get a procto exam every three to five years if you are over 50. These guidelines are the best protection against colorectal control of the you can have given this information to frends and loved ones who are.

AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY Get a checkup. Life is worth it.

at the Meadowlands in New Jersey and Baltimore facing Washington at the Capital Center. Additionally, there is a pre-season tournament which will be played November 22-23 at the Perring played November 22-23 at the Perring Athletic Club in Parkville. In March, the first Eagle League playoff will take place. All four teams will participate, this sounds like a league the Colts should join. Just think of it, they'd only have seven games to lose and would make the playoffs, too.

The league and all four teams are rned by two Kansas City men. Chris Fritz and Russ Cline. The duo, who are n the sports entertainment and promotions business, will pay each player $100 per game. Rosters will carry twenty-two players.

Fritz and Kline hope to appeal to the uppie and Wrestling crowd. In order to be successful, they must attract 8,000 fans to each game. For those who have forgotten, there was a similar box Lacrosse League, the National Lacrosse League in the Seventies. That league folded in 1975 after two un-

As for you basketball fans, prepare for the latest craze, the International Basketball Association. The IBA is for players 6'4" and under. Not since Chet Simmons introduced Spring Football have we had a league so needed.

Tentative plans are for a league of twelve teams. One owned by Lawrence Vevel, will play in Washington. Although a name, home court coach, or GM haven't been chosen yet, the Washington team is ahead of most, some of which have no city or owner

Regardless, the IBA as slated to begin in June of 1988. Each team will begin in June of 1988. Each team will play sixty games. Don't expect this team to fall flat a la USFL, though. They've planned ahead, putting a salary cap of 600,000 on each team. With this league bringing basketball down to size and shrewdy planning their financial future, they can't lose.

So. D.C. and Baltimore have finally attracted the professionals and made their cities sports he are sonce again. With box lacrosse and baby basketball, who needs a new stadium or baseball team?

ARTS/

Brass Quintet Plays Chamber Music

by Jenny Eisberg On Tuesday, December 2 Washington College welcomes the Annapolis Brass Quintet to Baltimore. According to campus. Having seen the Clarke, theirs is the sort of fessor Garry Clarke views the neces Quintet as "one of the most im-hall." Quintet as "one of the most tm-hall."

portant ensembles in The Quintet will perform a protant ensemble is number of contemporary known word-wide and is the works, including Mussic for United States' first full-time Brass by Inolf Dahl. Also on performing brass ensemble. In the program are selections 1978, the Quintet won the From J.S. Bach's The Art of the Critic's Award in Munich after Fague, as well as Sulte from playing Elliott Carter's Brass

Many audiences have been introduced to the distinctive sound of brass chamber music upon hearing the Annapolis Brass Quintet. Besides its performances across the world. Quintet has recorded

December 2 appears on classical radio sta-ege welcomes tions, such as WBJC in to campus. Having seen the Clarke, theirs is the sort of Quintet play here before, Pro- performance that one wouldn't necessarily hear in a concert

> Fugue, as well as Suite from Obras de Musica by Antonio de Cabezon, among others. Feel-ing positive about the concert, Clarke hopes that the ensem

On Drinking Bordeaux: An Art Of Taste

favorite. But what about drinking as an art? This does not perience, from when vines mean putting the quarter in grew only the post of the properties of the properties of the form is a now for fart. InFrom within Roman times.
the drink is a now for dart. Infrom within this large propossible, say fans of Natty Bo vince come may regional and Milwaukee's Best. Ab, but wines: Medoc, Saint-Emilion, wine! Wine can be a work of Pomerol, Graves, Sauternes, art - except Boone's Farm and and Barsase. But they are all the proposed of the properties of Riunite, which are more like Bordeaux. graffiti

by David Healey
Drinking is a favorite college wine from the Bordeaux pastlme. Pastime, because it is region. It is world famous for the alcohol that makes it a its excellence. This fame favorite. But what about drink- comes from centuries of ex-

wine is produced by Professor Robert Janson- chateaux, or vineyards. The LaPalme agrees. After all, ho distinctive taste results from is an art professor. On Mon- the soil of these vineyards. The day he will give a talk called, soil of each region varies, mak-"Vintages of Bordeaux." ing each regional wine unique.

ed, and the juice is fermented. Then the wine is aged in casks bottled, and hidden away in a wine cellar until it is ready to drink. Many wines take twenty years to develop, and are still drinkable after fifty years or more. Each bottle becomes an individual over time. Bacteria in the wine produces this individuality, creating the drink which is art excellence in art recognized by the name of the is regognized by its vintage Vintage is the year when the grapes were grown. Some years there is warm weather and sunshine, other times it rains or vine blossoms are harmed by frost. It is almost like the right brushstroke or a bad mixing of paints. The fame of Bordeaux comes from using the right brushstrokes every

"It is so consistent that you can study it," explains LaPalme. LaPalme has been an amateur of wine for the last quarter century. For him in taste. "You have to evaluate just as I would evaluate a picture.

The evaluation is the challange of great wine. "It's very hard to put what you're tasting into words," he says.

LaPalme emphasizes that wine is for everyone, and that Bordeaux is everyone's wine.
"It isn't only a rich man's drink. There is Bordeaux wine for everyone, from the poorist to the wealthiest." He adds that food and wine go together. "It's something to make the meal enjoyable. It com-pliments the meal, although great wine can overshadow it In an average year, million gallons of wine are produced in Bordeaux, Processing factories abound. Workers are rationed a bottle of inexpensive wine daily, with two or three bottles of finer wine each month. "The Bordeaux people have it down to a science. A lot of the most advanced methods are used," says LaPalme. Crushing grapes with the feet is obsolete and diversity, Bordeaux i The person who really want to get into wine can really find out what he likes," says LaPalme. The vintage year is what distinguishes a wine, and finding a good vintage year car be tricky for the consumer. can also be expensive. "Sinc Bordeaux wine requires a lot of aging, it becomes expensive.' But there is still good wine a reasonable prices

"It's a much imitated wine," says LaPalme. Wines from Hungary, Chile, and other countries try to copy it. But the wines of other countries and French regions can't compare 'We're talking about drunk by the Romans two thos sand years ago. It has a far-tastic tradition."

In his lecture, LaPalme wil try to define the descriptive terms of wine. He will give hints on what to look for a information handouts.

Part of the O'Neill Literary House Teas & Talks series, the lecture will be in the pres room of the Lit house. Tea at cookies are served at 4: p.m., talk at 4:30.

KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA SUN SYSTEM

EMILY HAIRDRESSER

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

entertainment

FRIDAY 21 Newtowne Square Pub Fashion thru Nov. 22 Chestertown, 778-1984

SATURDAY 22 Towson State University Stevie Ray Vaughan and the Outlaws Towson Center

THESDAY 25 Hammerjack's Concerl Hall 'Til Tuesday, Free FRIDAY 5

Patriot Center George Mason University Fairfax, VA

next week:

Kung-fu horror !! TOR! How I gave birth while waiting in line for the W.C. Thanksgiving Dinner.

JASPER! you spelled my name

Til Tuesday' Plays Lush And Loud

what is one of the best new nds in America? Til Tues-Welcome Home, their se nd album, demonstrates that bey have reached new heights playing and songwriting, st year, when their debut bum Voices Carry yielded its like the title track and looking Over My Shoulder, o forty stations were forced play darker visions of love ther than the usual slush by linel Ritchie and Whitney ionel Ritchie and Whitney buston. This first album was urk and distant but still a ery personal statement from be band's leader, Amiee ame message of lost love, but the band adds broad and lush ne pand adds broad and lush naturentation. The album ones with the first single, what About Love." In it fan questions her routine festyle and wants to know bout her partner's decimal. uther partner's desire for a neaningful relationship. shlight of the track, ranging from deep confession to high seems Mann has found love, hope. "Coming Up Close," the but that it escapes her through next song, is probably Til Tuesday's finest recording. next song, is probably Tuesday's finest recording.

With its strumming guitars and acoustic piano, the song has a slight country feel. It creates the atmosphere of driving through midwestern corn-fields — which is exactly what the song is about. Along the way there is an encounter with a man who may be a lover. Lyrically it is Mann's finest work. "On Sunday," the next tune, has Mann asking her tune, has mann asking her lover why he hides in a world of pain when he can find love with her. Once again, this song shows Mann's fine vocals and shows Mann's fine vocals and the band's knack for creating a track about a lover who, when be a utiful yet wistful he left, took Mann's dreams background. Willl She Just and hopes for the future along Fall Down' and "David with him: taking/Every dream Denies" are in the vein of "On I had of you." "Angels Never Call" is a small poporter in both of these tales. She also wonders why these people cannot believe that she trally loves them. If another's mistrust and

Side two begins with "Lover's Day," a song about a lover who uses Mann as a crutch for his guilt. She sings of conscience, but she inevitably lets him use her. "Have Mer-cy" has Mann singing of a former lover who dropped her, but whose loneliness she pities: "Have mercy on him/The love I saved for him is gone."

"Sleeping and Waking" is a easy to understand the cynical viewpoint. Here Mann shows deep affection for another

Name of organization: _

Strumming lush and loud, 'Til Tuesday backgrounds Almee Mann's loving lyrics on their second album, Welcome home easy to understand the cynical videopoint. Here Mann shows "Microme Home is personal vocals." Welcome Home woman (Keep your specular and connewhalt melanucholy, results of the Avaian and connewhalt melanucholy, results of the Avaian closing tune, "No One Is Wat glimpse of her inner hopes and sound, Pre-recording is digital, half you know, "is like "Have some of her inner hopes and sound, Pre-recording is digital source for some of the transportation of the source of the sou

Pop The Bubbly and Play That Song

by Alison K. Auber The fire blazes. Somewhere cork pops from a bottle of abbly and the frothy liquid mosphere is cozy, but there something missing — mething essential. The quesmething essential. The ques-m of what music to play meps into the silence. The ario is blown

What three songs do nk are most conducive to in-This reporter asked the students interviewed contemporary tunes he exception of one, who th the excep ined that Bach does it for urprisingly, the songs rangfrom the raw rock sound of saliway to Heaven" by Led spelin, suggested by suggested by bedinger Raul Felipa, to the fibre popular of "Love is the Saver" by England Dan and the Ford Coley, submitted by Carly Son Tunney. She advocated, "Slow Dan-"by Lophan Blusser." by Johnny Rivers

On the side of lighter rock, freshman Kevin Quinn enjoyed the melodies of "True" by Spandau Ballet and "Stand By Me," Benny King's hit single. Freshman Tamara Hunter recommended Lionel Richie and Diana Ross' "Endles Love" and "When I Saw You" "Endless by Matt Bianco.

that she truly loves them. It

One Senior added a sixtiesone Semor anoth a sixtus-seventies twist with Pink Floyd's "Us and Them," Spr-ingsteen's "Meeting Across the River," and "Helplessly Hoping" by Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young, Freshman Kelly Collings also fell into the hippie sound, stating that "The End" by the Doors was, "the only song.'

Lastly, and not too subtly, junior Lela Kempe proposed "Darling Nikki" by Prince and Bad Company's "Feel Like Makin' Love."

There it is. Pop the cassette into the tape deck and get back to the bubbly.

If you want your group to appear in the 1987 Pegasus, you must inform the staff of your next scheduled meeting. At that time, a photographer from our staff will be there to get your organization's picture and a roster of the members in your group. We expect this to take, at the most, ten minutes of your time. Your cooperation is essential. We will not seek out any organizations which do not respond by returning the bottom portion of this notice to the Pegasus. Return the lower half to either Arian Ravanbakhsh or Arvie Wrang by student mail, or drop it off at the Pegasus office, rooms 223-225 in Talbot.

ATTENTION ALL CAMPUS ORGANIZATIONS

Thank You, The Pegasus

The Greek organizations need not respond, they will be photographed in the spring for publication in the supplement.

pider Woman SpinsStory Of Love And Politics

by Chas Foster

hiss of the Spider Woman is ove story a story of oples of two men who one is Molina (William n), a homosexual for whom Prison has become an a journalist imprisoned is political views and links be revolutionaries. Each is the by, and takes shelter is own cause, which the cannot share or even rstand.

dentin holds on to the

(which would make him 'soft") refuses to break under torture, refuses the friendship

Molina, on the other hand has no concept of politics, only of romance. He entertains of romance. He entertains Valentin with the plot to his favorite movie, a Nazi propaganda film, in which he worships the strong, blond German soldiers and the sad, beautiful woman who betrays the French Resistance.

Each of these men lacks something essential — each gives this to the other. And, while remaining true to their own interests, each lives for continued on page 12

| Approximate No. of mi                           | cintoers.           |  |
|---|---------------------|--|
| Time, Date, and Locati                          | on of next meeting: |  |
| Name of organization IPhone number (of abov |                     |  |

ENTERTAINMENT

CAMPUS CALENDAR

FRIDAY, 21 Drama Production Henry IV, Part 1 Tawes Theatre, 8:00 p.m.

Kiss of the Spiderwoman Norman James Theatre, 7:30 p.m.

SATURDAY 22 Drama Production Henry IV, Part 1 Tawes Theatre, 8:00 p.m.

SUNDAY 23 Film Series Kiss of the Spiderwoman Norman James Theatre. 7:30 p.m.

MONDAY 24

Film Series Kiss of the Spiderwoman Norman James Theatre 7:30 p.m.

Chamber Music Concert Tawes Theatre, 8:00 p.m.

TUESDAY 2 Concert Series Annapolis Brass Quintet Tawes, 8:00 p.m

Peter Pan in C-Town

By Mary Riner While reminiscing over Disney World days when movies for children under 12 were free and you sat mesmerized by the magic of the Enchanted Forest for hours, did you ever wonder what happened to all of those magical Walt Disney films? All hope is not lost since the Actor's Community Theatre will present a production of Peter Pan, by J.M. Barrie, at the Norman James Theatre in William Smith Hall with shows at 7:30 p.m. on November 28 and 29, and a matinee at 2 p.m., November 30

The Darling children played by Gretchen Coucill, Mike Pelzcar and Vince Raimond, are asleep when Peter Pan, portrayed by Bonnie Hill

Pretenders Get Close But Mellow Out

by Paul Henderson I really don't know what hap-pened to Chrissie Hynde. The pened to chrissie Hynde. The toughest woman in rock and roll, the woman who wrote Precious and Tattoed Love Boys has mellowed. Perhaps it was her recent motherhood it was her recent motherhood, perhaps it was the accumulated strain of watching her band- the Pretendersundergo one of the highest attrition rates in rock and roll history. Whatever it was, the Pretenders have lost their vitality, and Get Close is atbest a shadow of what was one one of the most promising bands of the eighties Learning to Crawl the Pretenders last album, shows Hynde moving into the pop scene. But she still kept her sneer and her sarcasm about her, writing songs like "Middle of the Road" and "My City was Gone", "Dance", and "How Much Did You Get For Your Soul?" Here she is moving ever more firmly into the musically safe 'middle of the

The record and tape makers wrote on the cover of Gel Close - New Album, New Band and that is perhaps where the backing band of Rubbie McIntosh, guitars; Tim Stevens, hass: Blain Cunningham, drums; but this must be a boring band. None of the songs on the album are by them. Some of the guest musicians on this album, Simon Phillips, the virtuoso drummer best known for his work with Jeff Beck, and Bernie Wopped on keyboards, are horribly miscast. It is not that their playing is not up to par. It is that what they are asked to play are simple, watered-down songs with little life to them.

into the window searching for his lost shadow.

In Never-Never Land, they In Never-Never Land, they come into contact with eight lost boys in the Mermaid's Lagoon. These lost boys include Neyah White, Andy Geiser, Mart Sipula, Billy Arrowood, David Ostwind and Heath Raimond. With the fillusion that Wendy is a bird, the boys short of the ras she flies boys shoot at her as she flies Technical over. While Peter, Michael and Butch Clark ising band of the eighties. The Pretenders only get close to their former pretensions capture some of Chrissie Hynde's old sarcasm. "Dance" and "How Much Did You Get For Your Soul?" are upbeat songs that are exciting, but in a more polished professionl sort

Other songs on the album are just confessional, and show her chas on bass exploring the same private romantic relantionships that Joni Mitchell so often sings about. "My Baby" and "I Remember You" are all songs that are better left to the likes of Christine McVie and Rosan-na Cash, who are better explorers of the same lyric ter-

"Don't Get Me Wrong", the song getting much hype,

John are explaining her mater nal significance, the shivering Captain Hook (Ron Clarkson his band of Pirates and the Indians of Never-Never Land ar rive on the scene

Peter Pan will be produced by Vince Raimond and directed by Kate Schroeder and Leslie Raimond, who also does the choreography. Technical director will be

Two songs on the album do stands out from the rest of the album like a sore thumb. That does not imply that it is bad just out of place. It sounds more like a leftover from Learning to Crawl, than any of the other songs on Get Close. This is odd as it features Steve Jordan (David Letterman's drummer) and Chucho Mer-

Occasionally Hynde's general tenderness works well. "When material.

I change my life/And seasons have faded/I'll be meone you look up to/Net cuse when your friends on around

"Chill Factor" is and song that explores a vulneral side of Hynde. The role of mother is a new one to her having to raise a child with benefits of a father seems give her a perspective on a tionships: "She wants to be good mother/So she'll do best she can/Sut and she wants to be the she can/Sut and she wants and she est she can/But what a the other/What about man/Well it's cruel to lea woman/With a family of own/It's chill factor/To Get Close also inch three cover songs, an unusually high number for Pretender's album. Perhashe misses her old band mai Pete Farndad and How Scott who co-authored some her earlier songs. Of the thr cuts here, "Hymn to Her" a run-o-the-mill. Her cover Jimi Hendrix's "Room Ful Mirrors" was, however, amusing mistake. The not twisting of Steve Lillywin keeps "Room Full of Mirror lively, but then that is to be pected of him. Bob Clearms tain and Jimmy Lovine vide a clear and crisp pro tion that gives the album style that seems to hide general inferiority

NOW IN THE COFFEE HOUSE:

W.C. Drinking Glasses $1.00 Plus Tax W.C. Mugs w/Candy $1.50 Plus Tax

Six Packs of Soda $1.69 Plus Tax

Chestertown Movie Theater

DEADLY FRIEND

Hours: Fri.-Sun. 7 & 9 p.m. Mon.-Thurs. 7:45 p.m. NOV 21, NOV. 27 778-1575

continued from page 11

Spider Woman

the other's cause, through a common love born out of the prison's necessity.

Far from being a sappy love story with a homosexual twist, this is a hard-hitting, political love story about two men who will live and die for what they believe, each in his own very opposite way.

This is a great movie — not only incredibly powerful — but incredibly filmed and acted. Hurt won the Academy Award for his role. You should see it.

Ca$ino Night Saturday, November 22

Reid Basement

$1 At The Door $ RAFFLE $ $Poker$ $Roulette$ DON'T MISS ...

Kiss of the Spider Woman

NORMAN JAMES THEATER Friday * Sunday * Monday 7:30 P.M.

$1.00 WASHINGTON COLLEGE FILM SERIES

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 13

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, December 12, 1986

up from the roots: This Christmas true redefined by Pardoe's Lawn and Tree on Washington Avenue, stands as a beakon to passing motorists and a rithat Christmas is drawing near.

Campus Landscape Plan Completed

Trees Planted by January

by Audra M. Philippon

"About a year or so ago, there were some negative comments about how the College looked," said Christian Havemeyer, a member of the Board of Visitors and Governors. A committee has been formed to attend to the pro-

has been formed to attend to the pro-blem, and "we're trying to improve the appearance of the campus," he said. Landscape architect Ellen Samuels of Long Island agreed to design a master plan for the campus, and she has. All those wooden stakes planted Samuels' plan is to accentuate the placement of buildings on the terraced rises by planting flowering trees and shrubery away from the foundations. Cherry trees, white magnolias, and Chestnut trees are some of the varieties the committee has chosen. Varieues the committee has enosen, Targeted planting sites include grassy areas along Washington Avenue near Dunning, the fronts of Bunting And William Smith, Hill Dorms, and Cullen. "Unfortunately, the area north of Cullen seems to be an intramurel playing field, and some of the stakes have

"I do think this change on the campus will, when complete, greatly impress students, alumni alike."

around campus mark where trees will be in place - weather permitting - by the time second semester starts. "As the time second semester starts. "As long as the ground isn't rock-hard frozen, we can dig," said Havemeyer. The committee has divided up its goals into several stages, the first of which the members hope to complete by the time students return next month. "We hope to plant about twenty trees and shrubs," Havemeyer ex-plained.

been pulled up," said Havemeyer.
"Maybe the stakes purpose was misunderstood or maybe they were resented. We're not trying to pull anything over on anybody." Dean Maxcy said"I do think that this change on the campus will, when com-plete, greatly impress students, alumni The hope is to have trees in bloom this spring and to have the trees in place by Cullen when the new 'entrance' to the College is created '

Happy Holidays

from the staff of

The Washington College Elm

Workers Object to Pay Schedule Change

Audra Philippon

di college employees will gin receiving bi-weekly ecks next month despite spread opposition to this food service employees ex-pressed concern that many of their Co-workers earning low their Co-workers earning low the constraint of the constraint of the ty meeting their weekly fool and housing bills.

"I would say that almost "I would say that almost give to be handlepped by this," werred that many employees live in public housing and must pay rent on a weekly basis. He is staff's and computer process-ing time." stated Vice Presitood service employees expressed concern that many of employee. "Even the people of management skills to meet in a November 20 memo to employee with the provided of the provi continued on page 4

Dunning Renovation Cut Back

by Tony Caligiuri

Faced with cost overruns in renovations planned for buning Hall, science depart-tent faculty members met the architects and College adistrators to discuss options cost reduction.

Each departmental overrun.

The renovations and additions to the Dunning Science Center are part of President Cater's 284 million dollars have been allotted to the Dunning Cater Center are part of President Cater's 284 million dollars have been allotted to the Dunning Cater Catery and million dollars have been allotted to the Dunning Cater's Catery and Dunning Cater Catery Category and Dunning Catery Category and Dunning C the state of the administration described by the construction of Busings Hall, and Thrower. The construction of the constructi

During the meetings, each academic resource center, and chairperson responded to op-the conversion of the old boiler ministerated by the ad-plant into a creative arts ministerated by the point the center. Of the 2.4 million discovery of the large cost delaws of milled in the cambridge cost delaws of the c

INSIDE:

letters to the editor.....page 2 R & B Uptown.....page 6 Swim Team.....page 7

Philip Glass .....page 8 Ceremony of Carols..... page 8

OPINION

Anonymous Justice?

This publication supposedly made a boo-boo last week when we published the names of the twelve students who have been charged and tried by the Student Judicial Board this semester. Supposedly we violated the Buckley amendment—spice of legislation designed to protect student privacy by keeping their records confidential. If this were true, which it isn't, the SJB, being made up of students, wouldn't even be allowed to exist. The SJB made up of students, wouldn't even be allowed to exist. The SJB has unknowingly negated tised by misinterpreting the lawrest was the We did notice, as you probably did as well, that in three of the We did notice, as you probably did as well, that in three of the viveled a "well-thin apology." Since the convicted students, according to the SJB, are supposed to remain anonymous, there was the inevitable speculation over what exactly such an "apology" would entail under such circumstances. Possibly it would be a letter to the editor the this...

Dear Students, Faculty, Administration, and Staff, You don't know who I am, and according to someone's distorted interpretation of the Buckley amendment, you aren't allowed to find out. I was tried and convicted of first degree murder by our on-campus kangarco court-the SJBfor putting cyanide in the Coffee House key last Saturday inglit. I'm supposed to apologine for this behavior, but since my privacy is erroneously protected in this instance and no one can know who is writing this letter, I don't see why I should bother.

soould bother:

I can't begin to tell you what a luxury it is to escape the burden of accountability to all my fellow students. Sure, the members of the SJB know—after all, they were the ones who sentenced me to fifty years of transplanting shrubbery around campus—but they think that they aren't allowed to reveal my identity. They are under the misconception that it they did, I could sue them, and I know that the thought of real judicial proceedings is something that they just aren't prepared to deal with. You see, the joke is on you. I'm just prepared to deal with. You see, the joke is of you. I'm just comforted by the thought that the next time I have to knockoff seventeen people to get revenge on the person who blows the curve on one of my midderms that my right to anonymous justice is protected.

A Student Felon

The Elm certainly regrets trampling upon the rights of any stu-dent who was charged and brought before the SJB this semester. Those individuals who were convicted must certainly be disap-Those individuals who were convicted must certainly be disap-pointed. After violating the collective rights of the College com-munity by vandalizing College property and/or behaving in a clearly unacceptable manner, it must be embarassing to have considered to the control of the collective control of the collective undergrade and the collective collective collective collective collective trampled on the rights of everyone else.

As long as the names of those students brought before the SJB are obtainable. The Elm will be holding those students accom-table by publishing their names. Just at the SGA has made it a practice to publicly debate the supposed confidential past SJB practice to punify usuate the supposedy commentar pass spread records of candidates for office during Senate meetings, The Elm, as is our standard policy, is published with the philosophic that the Callege community should be as fully informed as possible about such proceedings. Such a policy makes for good democracy and more importantly in this instance, proper justice.

Washington College Elm

| Editor-in-chief . |     |    |   |   |    |   |  |  | E | d | it | 0 | r | 8 |  |  |  |  |   |   |   |    |     |     |    |     |    |      |    |    |    |  |
|-------------------|-----|----|---|---|----|---|--|--|---|---|----|---|---|---|--|--|--|--|---|---|---|----|-----|-----|----|-----|----|------|----|----|----|--|
| Editor-in-chief . |     |    |   |   |    |   |  |  |   |   |    |   |   |   |  |  |  |  | 1 | h | 0 | п  | 18  | 8 1 | W  | . 4 | Sc | h    | us | te | 10 |  |
| News Editor       |     |    |   |   |    |   |  |  |   |   |    |   |   |   |  |  |  |  |   |   | L | ıd | Ire | . N | 4  | F   | h  | illi | pp | 0  | n  |  |
| Features Editor   |     |    |   |   |    |   |  |  |   |   |    |   |   |   |  |  |  |  |   |   |   |    |     | Ar  | ıd | Ire | 18 | K    | ol | 10 | e  |  |
| Arts/Entertainm   | en  | ıt | E | i | to | r |  |  |   |   |    |   |   |   |  |  |  |  |   |   |   |    |     | D   | a  | vi  | d  | H    | 98 | le | y  |  |
| Sports Editor     |     |    |   |   |    |   |  |  |   |   |    |   |   |   |  |  |  |  |   |   |   |    | C   | nri | 8  | til | 10 | М    | H  | ar | 1  |  |
| Photography Ed    | ito | ٢  |   |   |    |   |  |  |   |   |    |   |   |   |  |  |  |  |   |   |   |    |     |     |    |     |    |      | m  | e  | nì |  |
|                   |     |    |   |   |    |   |  |  |   |   |    |   |   |   |  |  |  |  |   |   |   |    |     |     |    |     |    |      |    |    |    |  |

Managing Editor
National Advertising Manage
Local Advertising Manager
Circulation Manager

The Ellin is be efficied incident onerspaper of Washington College. The First published wave friends during the anothers, the Washington College. The First published wave friends during the anothers, the Washington College. The College is the College in the College is the College in the College in the College is the College in the College in the College in the College is the College in the Col

The usual - vandalism assault, disorder. Who's gonna know?

What's up, Blutto?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Bad Banners

basketball game with the University of Delaware, I want you to know that you offended many attending the game and brought no credit to Washington College or its outstanding basketball team. Anyone having attended the game and having seen the ban ner on the gymnasium wall will know to what I make reference

Edward E. Maxcy Associate Dean of Students

It Wasn't Me!

To The Editor:

The December 5 issue of The Elm printed a synopsis of the cases brought before the Stu-dent Judicial Board this semester, and I am writing to make a correction in acknowledgements made in the insert. I did not divulge any names to The Elm; the only information I provided included hearing dates, charges brought, decisions reached, and penalites imposed. In The Elm, unfortunately, no distinc tion was made between the To The Editor: sources and the information To those responsible for the provided. Again, I did not supbanner displayed at the home ply any names for publication.

Thank you, Brenda Conner Clerk of Court Student Judicial Board

Amnesty International

Appreciation

To The Editor: The Washington College

Chapter of Amnesty Interna-tional would like to thank all of those involved in the write-athon - both the letter writers and the sponsors. Because of your work and support, our first event was quite a success.
A special thanks goes to Harris Whitbeck for translating let-ters for us. His help is much ap-preciated. Thanks again.

Sincerely, The Washington College Chapter

of Amnesty International

LOST An Extremely Sentimental Rhinestone EARRING

With Screw-In Back
If Found, Please Contact Irene Nicolaidis, West Hall, Rm. 206

ROSE'S FURNITURE, ANTIQUES AND ACCESSORIES

Browsers and Buyers Are Welcomed Rose's Has Something To Fit Everyone's Budget

314 Park Row wn, MD 21620 301-778-1522

Chem. Major Frustrated

To The Editor:

As a junior majoring in Chemistry I am frustrated because once again the plans for renovating and adding to Dunning Hall have been changed and postponed. The delay is due to not more additions being planned, but instead to cast that have been made in the original plans. Not only would a modern science facility attract more students interested in the sciences to this fine co lege, but it would also greatly benefit the science majors wh are already here trying to pur sue their interest in an out dated, and potentially unsafe building. The equipment asked for by both necessary and standard for any college science facility. It is my understanding that the administration does not fee these renovations are a pert nent issue and that many of the requests for more modern equipment are not necessary. This is hardly the case! I per sonally invite anyone in the administration who does think these improvements an important to spend four hour one afternoon in the organic laboratory with me while w periment using organic solvents under these "adequate" conditions. Maybe then they will understand who continued on page

> Amity Bakery and Coffee Shop

Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies. Special Occasion Cakes On Orde

Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M. unch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

Mon.-Sat. 5 A.M.-5 P.M. Sunday 5 A.M.-2 P.M.

Students Are Not Apathetic

ticipate actively in the community. The Greek organizations, for instance, have Greek organizations, for instance, have heir own separate public service ac-pression in the community. As the Vice-President of Delta Pl Omega (a non-greek, co-ed club), I can only mention our own activities. We help out the Magnolia Hall Nursing Home director of activities with holiday parties. In the past, our members have taken the past, our intenders have taken the mentally handicapped at Angel's Haven on activities such as bowling, and attended plays and movies with them. In the spring we wish to use the Casey Swim Center to teach the mentally handicapped of our community to

The only drawback to these programs is that we are only dealing with a small segment of Chestertown. This a small segment of Chestertown. This is not a failure of the organization's goals and mission. The cost in time and money to sponsor activities for the whole community is simply too much for one organization. We and other stu-

ISSUE:

Kevin Lauricella

dent organizations do well by serving such groups as the mentally handicap-ped and the elderly.

The fact that we have service organizations on campus shows that our students are not apathetic about participating in community service, townspeople will lessen negative feel-However, on an individual organiza- ings of one group to the other. Comtional basis, there are many segments of the community that we leave out.

of the community that we leave out.
Our campus needs to become more of an integral part of the entire community. There seems to be resentment and deference of local townspeople to Washington College students and viceversa. The only way for our school to become part of the community and not an isolated segment is to interact with wnspeople as a whole. This burden obviously cannot and should not rest on the shoulders of one organization.

It is imperative for service organizations to get together to sponsor occacommunity-wide activities More interaction between students and ings of one group to the other. Com-munity activities designed to raise designed to raise munity activities designed to base money for specific purposes (such as Muscular Distrophy, i.e.) would give both the College and the community goal to work toward. If both groups unite to tackle a goal, amiability and respect will ensue as well as good relations for many years to come Learning to work with outside groups should be a part of our out-of-classroom education—after all, many of our graduates who will fill managerial positions will have to deal with br-

in Business Management

Are College Students Today Apathetic About

Participating In Public Service Activities?

Kelp Shipley Rockville, Maryland

"In general I feel that the college student consenbusy with studies and other school related functions to participate in public ser-vice activities."

Melody Redman Chestertown, Maryland Sophomore

"I am I don't mind doing things in the communi-ty but I'm just not an outgoing person.

Cheryl Dabes Kennedyville, Maryland

"Around here — yes I think so. At Washington College at any rate. As far as I know there aren't any organizations to help the community on campus."

Bridget McElroy Baltimore, Maryland

"I think they were more apathetic when I started school but they are moving toward a greater awareness."

Bill Carr Guilderland, New York

We are much more apathetic than kids were in the late 60's and early 70's. I don't know if apathetic is the right word. I think that people's goals are a lot dif-ferent now than they were then. The people that are in control today are the peo-ple who come out of a socially conscious genera-tion, but they have failed to do as many of the things they did in college."

Campus Voices

by Michele Balze

We Are Hoarding Our Talents

Washington College is uniquely stuated among a small community. Stop keepers put up signs welcoming the students back after every break. People greet perfect strangers with a mile or a hello as they pass on the sidewalk

Granted ours is not a utopia, there some friction, as I understand, with the town and college over the issue of off-campus living. These things were rened out through compromise, and so must all disagreements. We do not put stone walls to separate the town and sown as Oxford university was forced to in the 13th century. Yet there are arriers of apathy existing which inreases hostility.

Ties are not yet what they could be. Ties are not yet what they could be. Sudents line their papers, exams, and smpus activities around them as a sail of defense against the outside world. In some cases the problem of apathy is not one lacking sympathy but one bound by fear and isolation. Real life for many of us seems unreachable in this cocoon we call college. We are afraid we shall not succeed and so we do not even take up the challenge

Many times the initial step is merely to say, "yes, I will accept responsibility." The actual fulfillment of this obligation follows naturally after an act of mental will. The next step is a duel against our lazy nature. Walking down town to work at the elementary school does not take much effort.

How many of you leave the campu to go into town more than once a week reasons other than renewing your defense camp sullies? It is very easy to get burried on the campus and cut neself off to outside contact.

How many of you sing, dance, relate well with children, handicapped, elderly? I know your out there and truly desire to do meaningful things with your lives. Its hard as a student to keep touch with the concept of the present. Life is now and if we don't involve ourselves today chances are we never will. The world is out there is less than a mile away from your doorstep Why is it that we hesitate? I think the truth of the matter lies deeper then college otherworldiness, because the out-side world is populated with talented people hoarding up their talent for fear of losing them through a failure. Yet failure in the beginning is merely a stage of learning

Caty Coundjeris

Now you shy people out there are shaking your heads and saying," I am incapable of doing anything constructive in the community. I could never talk to my grandmother. How can I relate to a strange old woman I've never even seen before?" Those who are uncomfortable in doing such things on their own can get involved in campus organization focused toward helping in the community. Did you donate your turkey this Thanksgiving? Its a simple way to show you care and it means so much to the families who receive from

This year the Washington College's Chapter of Amnesty International is sponsoring lectures and letter writing campaigns. There is a lot out there that needs your attention. The world of man does not spin by itself, but by the imetus of individuals willing to move it. Caty Coundjeris is a senior majoring in English.

OLD WHARF INN

Enjoy Waterfront Dining

Located at the foot of Cannon Street

Chestertown, Md.

(301) 778-3566

Christmas Shop at the # Bookstore

Now Through Dec. 19 Get 20% Off All Best Sellers & Other Gift Books!

Monday-Friday 8:30-4:30 Saturdays 9:30-1:00

Employees Feel Shortchanged

counting system," he said in an interview this week.

"The response we've gotten (from WCDS and Main-tainence) was to be expected. It's a change, and that's the natural human reaction to change, I hope that once we've gotten through the adjustment period, everyone will be able to adjust, and it will become that standard to which everyone is accustomed."

After receiving the memonotifying them of the new biweekly schedule, employees of the WCDS and maintainence department collectively ob-jected to it by circulating peti-tions which were handed to Hessey immediately prior to an employee/management meeting last week. Two peti-tions were submitted, one from the WCDS employees and one from the maintainence staff

Said Hessey, "I received the petitions before we explained the reasons for the changeover ... I haven't receiv ed any petitions since. Mainly the petitions asked to delay the lementation of the new schedule

Despite the protests against it, the Business Office is set to go ahead with the bi-weekly schedule in January, with the last weekly check scheduled to be issued to employees on January 8. Under the new receive another check until January 23.

Un til now, College employees have been able to choose between a weekly schedule. The loss of this schedule. The loss of this of several faculty members of several faculty members when the change was discussed during the December 1 faculty meeting. Said professor Nancy Tatum: "I find it inconve-

Besides the hassles of ad-justing personal financial patterns to the bi-weekly system Tatum, as well as others on the College's payroll objected to the change being made im mediately after the holidays. The explanation given to the faculty for the change "made sense," according to Tatum. She stated, however, that new faculty members with salaries actust members with salaries at or slightly above starting level may be strained by the new policy, but not as much as other college employees. "I don't think that we're (the faculty) the ones who are real-ly going to get hit," she said. Bloomer maintains that if the policy cannot be changed, College officials should have announced it now but waited until July to implement it. Besides the extra expenses accompanying the holidays, Bloomer pointed out that the highest heating bills of the year will arrive in the coming mon-ths "It couldn't have hit at a worst time," he said

Dry Run

are scheduled for the weekend are scheduled for the weekend to avoid noise and disturbances for students studying for final exams. Please respect the posted quiet hours determined by the RAs in each dormitory. e Coffee House will be op Friday and Saturday nights and throughout exam week.

The above petition was given to Gene Hessey, Vice President for Finance by WCDS protesting the change made in pay schedule for all College employees. Numerous members of the Maintenance Department submit ted a second petition to Hessey lest week.

before pay day can receive a loan which will later be sub-

7 nul godi

Gene Hessey, Vice President for Finance "Once the decision was made, we announced it early to allow employees enough time to adjust their finances."

tracted from subsequent paychecks. "What we're do-ing," said Hessey, "is we're giving them the opportunity for a salary advance to catch up in the first few months to be repaid out of spring and sum-mer checks when costs are

According to maintainence employees, however, a person can only take advantage of the loan policy once and that the amount borrowed cannot exceed that of a standard paycheck. "There has always

NEWS BRIEFS

For late-night studiers, WCDS is again sponsoring free coffee and doughnuts for students from Ilpm and I2am, Sunday through Friday night.

Field Hockey

Sophomore on the Washington College Field

Bloomer and other been a policy here that you employees mentioned the excistence of a policy where an help." said Bloomer, "but I employee in need of money before pay day can receive a take advantage of it." Many employees foresee reluctance on the part of their co-workers to ask for money in advance, believing they will be embar rassed to do so.

"That just puts you into debt," said maintainence employee Lawrence Taylor.

"They're already in debt."
Taylor said that there are College employees of twenty years or more earning low hourly wages that live "week to week" and depend on a check each Friday. "I feel sorry for each Friday. 'them," he said them," he said.

According to Taylor, College officials discussed the option of the bi-weekly pay schedule with employees last July and at that time it was unanimously rejected. "It was voted down," said Taylor. This time, he stated, "they are more of less as a support of the said of the said that the said th less ramming it down our throats. Bloomer described what he views as "a kind of ar rogance on the part of the addecision to proceed with the new pay schedule when 10 employees are in favor of it. Said hessey, "this was the ideal time to make the change" since January is the beginning of the fiscal tax year and the new schedule would aid the College's accountants in meeting new reporting requirements. "The suggestion was first made two years ago, I think, by the auditors, so is isn't a new idea."

Hockey Team, has been selected as a Regional All-American, Honorable Mention by the College field Hockey Coaches' Association. Washington College competes in the South Region, one of five regions within the United States. Beth came to Washington college from Marymount University and has been a tremendous addition to the program.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

continued from page 2 colinued from page 2 1 leave Dunning Hall every wednesday afternoon with a gounding headache caused by the lack of ventilation in this building. Hopefully, they will also understand why these requests must be met quests must be met.

Let us not forget that the fundmental goal of Washington College is to provide a quality education in both the liberal arts AND sciences. This goal can not be met without proper educational facilities like an apdated science building.

Yet again...

To The Editor:
Mary Helen Holzgang has repeatedly prefaced her remarks about the yearbook with "one more time," implywith one more time, implying that she, and the rest of the world, is bored to tears with the whole subject. And they/she might be, for all I mow. If I happened to be in her position, largely getting credit for three yearbooks when her participation in two of them was extremely minimal, I might be content to sit back and yawn. As the case stands, however, I think it is important to set the record straight.

First of all, I am sick to death of the continual disclaimers, "As far as I know..." Someone who really seeks knowledge checks the in-formation with everyone involved. For The Elm, Miss Holzgang, or the present editor of the yearbook to use this phrase seems to me to show an interest in half the issue which borders the boundaries of Miss Holzgang couldn't think of any reason why the '84 and '85 yearbooks were late. It takes a real genius to figure out that two books take longer than one, doesn't it? Her other one, doesn't it? Her other statements seem equally as ab-surd, as in her last letter, when she claimed that the Elm article was true and accurate. The truth of the matter is that she answered a few specification questions (the most boggling being the paper weight) about the '85 yearbook without bothering to contact Phyllis Proctor (a local phone call that would have taken all of five minutes). As for her "production" of the books, I production" am astounded that she claims credit for them. Perhaps my astonishment rests in the fact that I, as layout editor of the 1985 Pegasus, spent many months of my life working on months of my life working on these books. If she thinks I would be content (or anyone else on the staff) to let the books sit in their respective publishing offices after all of gossip-mongering. that work, she is foolish - as is

I was shocked to read that anyone who believes such a lie. The financial records can be looked at. It is obvious that for many years the yearbook has been absorbed the debt of past books, and that this is the reason why the records claim Phyllis Proctor's staff put the yearbook into debt. The fact is, we came under the budget and we came under the budget and helped to erase some of the debt. Perhaps her lack of understanding of those issues rests again in that statement, "as far as I know...," which, in this case, is virtually nothing.

Sincerely, Sandy Hiortdahl

Dunning Cutbacks

continued from page 1 ject has remained the same said Gene Hessey, Vice Presi-dent for Finance, who added that this cost-cutting does not reflect the overall financial significantly better facility," situation of Cater's campaign. said Munson. "The project has been sufficiently funded and endowed," After repeated attempts to cabinet, and drawer space, a tempts to the chemistry department, a written state ment was provided, calling according to Dr. Donald Munson, Chairman of the Biology faculty "has reluctantly according to Toly thirty to expetit the control of the co

fter repeated attempts to area was lost while no teaching space had to be given up by the Jellolary department.

"I think we had to sacrifice completed by the end of some things we had hoped for, but all in all, we should have a beginning in early spring.

Coley Charlie Merry Christmas

Ye Olde Towne Barber & Stylists

A & P Parking Lot Chestertown, Maryland 21620

open Monday - Saturday

BARBER STYLISTS

BEAUTY SHOP

The Thompson Building

College Heights 507 Washington Ave. Chestertown, Maryland 21620 778-1097 Res 639,7201 Carroll, Jane and John Thompson

FLOWER SHOP

LIQUOR STORE

Mom's Cookie Jar

College are preoccupied with last minute papers, studying for exams, Christmas break and shopping for family and friends. This is the time of year for a mixture of emotions: the second semester will be anticipation.

As in past years, the WCDS ticked off its Christmas season with an annual Student's Christmas Buffet. I hope all who attended enjoyed themselves. Once again the naw bar and the "cookie box" seemed to be very popular

To give the students a break from studying for exams, the S.G.A. Food Service Commitke and the Washington College Dining Service are once again sonsoring a Coffee and Donut Break in the Coffee House at II p.m. each night from December 15 through

A "Midnight Breakfast" will again be served by the WCDS on sunday, December 14 from 1:30 pm to 12:30 a.m. The

The Christmas season is breakfast free to all W.C. here! Students of Washington students.

There will be no changes in meal hours during exam week. The last meal of the semester will be lunch on Saturday, December 20. The first meal of

Sign up sheets have been posted in the main dining room for anyone interested in working on the serving line or in the dishroom next semester.
Anyone interested in becoming part of the WCDS is free to sign up. The arrival of Christmas is quite evident in the Dining Service's baking section with the aroma of fresh baked sugar cookies, gingerbread men and rious cakes, pies and breads filling the kitchen.

I would like to wish everyone the best of luck with finals and hope you have a very Merry Christmas and a Happy and Healthy New Year. I'm looking forward to seeing all of you against next Semester. Holiday Greetings . . . MOM

Brambles MENSWEAR

"Outfitters From Head To Toe"

ALSO COMPLETE TUXEDO SERVICE

Happy Holidays!!

Free gift wrapping

Free postage: we will ship your purchase for you at no cost

> DOWNTOWN CHESTERTOWN, MD 21620 PHONE (301) 778-6090

PLEASE DON'T DRINK & DRIVE DURING THE HOLIDAYS!!

a public service announcement from

The Washington College Elm

and the

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

FEATURES

Rock Roots And The Eastern Shore

by Barclay Green

assignment marvelous: investigate rumor that rock 'n roll legends Fats Domino and Chubby Checker had performed at the Uptown Club in Chestertown, It vas the perfect story. I'd talk to a few of the impoverished frequenters of the Club, maybe share a few drinks with them, and have a good time chatting about the 1950's. Then I'd write a story about my experiences with the romantic beginnings of rock 'n roll

But that isn't the way it happened. Far from it. This is not a story about me. This is not a about romantic beginn-. This is a story of endings

I was, of course, dubious at first. If these artists has actually performed in Chestertown, why didn't more people know about it?

My first impulse was to check back issues of local newspapers. Surely they would have run stories or advertisements about the concerts if they'd occurred spent an afternoon in small room at the Kent County News building looking through back issues from the 1950's. I came up with nothing. I spent another afternoon looking through back issues of The Washington College Elm. Again nothing.

I was beginning to think that the rumors were only rumors and that my story was at a dead end. I decided to try and find someone who'd actually attended these concerts.

attended these concerts.

I spoke with many people who told me that they too had heard Chubby Checker and Fats Domino had played in Chestertown. Not only that, they'd also heard that Ray Charles, Otis Redding, and Little Billingham had generated. tle Richard had performed here. But no one claimed to have actually been to the concerts Then I spoke to maintenance worker and a friend of his. "Sure, all of those people played here," they told me. He'll tell you all about it." So I went and talked to Charlie

Charlie Graves is the owner of the Uptown Club. The Sunday that I interviewed him he was at home relaxing and watwas at nome relaxing and wat-ching a football game. Even though he was a little miffed that the Skins were getting pounded by the Giants, he was happy to answer my questions.

"Oh yes," said Charlie when I asked. "We had 'em. We had 'em at my Dance Hall (The Up-

He reeled off the names: Fats Domino, James Brown, Otis Redding, Jackie Wilson, Little Richard, Chuck Berry, B.B. King. The list went on an

We did have some of them at the Armory too," he added. "And that's a small amount of There was many, many more of them than that We booked (the artists) out of New York, through the Shore Artist's Corpora-

.Then we advertised heavily with posters.'

concerts were advertised on WANN radio in Annapolis, but even with that kind of exposure I wondered how many people in the 1950's would have actually attended concerts in Chestertown. I ask ed how many tickets he'd sold on good nights. Charlie looked slightly amused.
"The one when we had Fats

Domino, we had almost a thou-sand people," he said with a laugh. "There were onehundred-fifty (Washington College) students when we had Little Richard.

I was shocked. The issues of The Washington College Elm had run no advertisen articles about any of the con-certs. No one in town told stories about large crowds back in the old days. I wanted to ask Charlie what he thought about this, but he was on a roll, and I couldn't get a word in. "Jazz Johnson used to be my ouse band back then. He'd played all the time. He's still "Go and talk to Charlie playing. He plays the sax. He's Graves: he brought them here. a good entertainer. He sings

The Uptown Club as seen today: Thirty years ago the dance hall helped to seed the roots of rock and roll by booking such beginning performers as Fats Domino, Little Richard and Chuck Berry.

Jazz Johnson still lives in Chestertown. As a matter of fact, he lives next door to Charlie Graves

Charlie called him on the telephone hoping that Jazz uld be able to name more of the artists who had performed. ne rapport between Charlie and Jazz was immediately evi dent. It's a rapport which can only exist between two people who have been together through times that weren't that

"Jazz, Did ya see Count Basie? (pause) Ya know I missed that... I'll be dog-gone. it pretty good? (pause) Isn't that a shame? I missed it (Laughter) I woke up an it'd gone off. (Laughter) Jazz, I got a student here who evidently writes for the Washington Col-lege paper and he wants to

Charlie told Jazz what I was writing about, and Jazz began to relay names to me. First came those of the very famous performers whom Charlie had already named. Then came those of performers who are not famous but somehow more exemplary of their time because they are performers who faded with their time:

who faded with their time:
Guitar Slim, whose single
"The Things That I Used to Do" went to the top of the R&B charts in 1954; Etta James, who scored big that same year with her single, "Roll with Me Henry"; The Midnighters, who successive releases "Work with me Annie" and "Annie Had a Baby," upset more than a few parents in the 50's; and Bill Doggit, who took "Honky to the top of the charts

The the names drifted into stories

Who's that guy I paid for and he never showed up?" said Charlie to Jazz, "He only got as far as Washington D.C and we had a full house. (pause) Yeah. Len Hope, the man with the

They were lost in the past. I got the impression that Charlie and Jazz never really talk about the 1950's too often. Their stories were too fresh to have been told many times before.

"Who was that?" Charlie continues, "The female vocalist that we had to cancel to the armory? (pause) Yeah. That night we had all the entertainers. (pause) Yeah. Faye Adams." (Faye Adams scored big in 1953 with "Shake A After a few more minutes of this, the stories began to wind down, like they'd unconsciously accepted them as part of the long ago, as something not to be discussed too much, lest the beauty which time gives memory be marred by Charlie and Jazz refuse to dwell on the past in this way. The 1950's are over, and they must live in the 1980's. Appropriately, as the conversa-tion closed, it turned back to the music of today. Jazz was booking a group to play that evening at James Methodist Church Jazz. What time's your singing tonight? Six o'clock? (pause) Good. How're tickets goin!? (pause) Good. Ya know I haven't got one yet? (pause) O.K. I'll check you out Charlie hung up and turned

That was Jazz Johnson," he said. "I knew he'd remember

STEAKS . SEAFOOD . COCKTAILS

BUFFET EVERY SUNDAY 12-5 HAPPY HOUR - DAILY 4:30-6 AIR TAXI SERVICE AVAILABLE SCHEELER FIELD

778-1222

Rt. 213 & 201

more of them than I would. And that comment seemed is sum up the entire story for me. No one, not even those respon sible, think about the concert too much. Remembering the 1950's requires a lot of effort It's surprising at first, but why ldn't it require effort? Charlie Graves and Jazz Johnson lived in a time that is nored them simply because they were black. The musi-cians that they brought to cians that they brought by Chestertown were not considered artists; they were called mere entertainers. This were not given coverage by The Kent County News or The Washington College Elm. Even today, Charlie Graver contributions to Chestertown bistory are ignored. In a low history are ignored. In a town which prides itself on its heritage, this is an injustice Which is not to say that things haven't changed. Hurt Deringer, the current editor of The Kent County News, was County Historical Society was very polite when they told me that they didn't know anything about Fats Domino playing The Uptown Club.

Somewhere along the line though, mistakes have been made. We are willing to preserve and glorify the traces of a culture which fought and won The Revolutionary Was but we are unwilling to remember and explore the cultural conditions which is nited a social revolution in the 1960's.

Perhaps we don't explore this culture because we are afraid or our own complicity in the social crimes of that era. we do not face our past, however, we will miss the wonderful music which Charlit wonderful music which Change Graves brought to Chester town, and will be condemned is repeat the mistakes which have caused everyone to if But Charlie Graves doesn't seem to mind that his at compilishments have been is nored. He's too concerned with what's going on now. It seems appropriate that this wet Charlie Graves had time for a newspaper that didn't have time for him thirty years ago.

Ironstone Cafe

236 Cannon Street Chestertown, Maryland 21620 301-778-0188

Tuesday-Saturday Lunch: 11:30-2:00 Dinner: 5:30-9:00 Sunday Brunch: 11:00-3:00 Closed Mondays

Wild Goose Approaches

by John Bodnar . time. An over-time loss to Lin-radition and pride will be coin University, a one point at the line this weekend when loss to Salisbury State, and a sign Storemen basketball team 80-76 defeat by Spring Gardens bods for their 10th con-cellege of Philadelphia ac-sequive Wild Goose Classic count for their three losses. on the line this weekend when the Shoremen basketball team shoots for their 10th con-secutive Wild Goose Classic Tournament championship ti-

The Shoremen, who have naments in a row, have not only dominated but have also played in some "nail bitting" played in some "nail bitting" games. Take for example, the 1984 Wild Goose title game. A late field goal by Kurt Keller gave the shoremen a 76-74 victory over Salisbury State. In 1978, forward Doug Byrne tallied 52 points and 18 re-tounds to lead W.C. to another title "The expectation level is high for the tournament, but we are not the type of team that's going to be over confi-

"There's one thing to winning. but..."

dent," said head Coach Fin-iegan. "We've won nine wild gosse tournaments in a row. The players expect to win, and the coaches expect to win. There's one thing to winning, but there's another thing about winning consecutively."

In the first round on Friday, December 12, the Shoremen (3-3) will host Wesley College (2-3), while Allegheny College (3-1) will play Juanita College (1-1). The winners will play the thampionship Saturday after-

Said Coach Finnegan, Wesley College has a good team. It should be a really tight ballgame. They have a good program that includes a 6'9" tenter and a solid guard nam-d Rich Davis."

Wesley recently bear-frostburg College in over-

Allegheny College of Penn-sylvania should be a strong contender in the tournament. Allegheny was ranked in the pre-season top-twenty and is defending champion of the north Caost Athletic Conference. Finnegan added, "It's a fun tournament, we hope to get some support." The tourna-ment will benefit the co-sponsoring Optimist Club of Chestertown.

In this week's action, the Shoreman lost a tough game to Division I University of Delaware (91-73) and lost (81-59) to conference rival. Widener University.

Widener University.

"The team played hard in both games," said Coach Finnegan. We hung in there against two really good clubs. Widener will probably be ranked in the top 10 for Division III when the N.C.A.A. polls come out in January."

out in January"
For the Shoremen, Steve Brody had 13 points, tour rebounds and three steals, while Tim Keehan had 10 points and eight rebounds in the contest eight rebounts in with Widener.

Against Delaware, Tim
Keehan had 20 points, Tom MgYan had 18 points, and Andy Bauer had 15 points. Scott

Jones chalked up six assists.
W.C. rebounded with an 87-72 victory over Gallaudet on Tuesday, December 9. It was a as five great team effort Shoremen scored in the double digits. Tom McVan had 15 points, Steve Brody and Tim Keehan each had 14 points, Chris Jamke had 13 points and Andy Bauer had 10 points.

Tim Keehan also snuck away with seven steals and Charles Duckett added five assists.

"The game was a little physical," said Finnegan, "but physica, said rinnegan, but it was a good win. I really ex-pected the game to be a lot closer. Gallaudet is a solid team, and had just revently won the Fredona tournament in New York. Last year we beat them in over-time.

Tank Duckett charges with the ball during Tuesday's winning game against Gallaudet.

The Year In Sports

1986, like any other year, had its memorable moments. Here's a sampling of some of the players, teams, and events which make up the best and worst of the year's sportsworld:

Most Significant Event: Without a doubt, the cocaine-induced death of University of Maryland star Len Bias. This single tragedy brought single tragedy brought upheaveal to the entire athletic department of Maryland, as well as spotlighting two of America's biggest problemsdrugs and athletics in academia Least Significant Event: The Kansas City Kings did come to Sacremento, but this year's least significant award goes to the USFL's announcement that they were cancelling the 1986-87 season. Three fans had to refund tickets.

Biggest Upset: Three things come to mind the American League winning the AllStar game, the Edmonton Oilers be-ing eliminated from the Stanley Cup Playoffs, and the Houston Astros winning (They're good, but hardly in-anything. But don't forget vincible). those yachtsmen from New Biggest Disappointment: No Zealand who are running all individual gets this, although over our U.S. boys in the many deserve it. This year's Biggest Controversy: Okay, forget the entire debacle tak-ing place at Maryland. This year's biggest controversy is whether Mike Scott was scuff-ing the ball. Was he? Naaah. The "Up-and-Comings": Bills,

The "Up-and-Comings": Bills, Saints, Vikings, Eagles (NFL); Giants, Indians, Phillies, Rangers (MLB), Hawks, Bulls (NBA); Flames, Penguins, Maple Leafs (NHL). The "Fading Aways": Cowboys, Raiders, Jets (NFL); Dodgers, Orioles, Royals (MLB); Islanders, Sabres, Oilers (NHL): Sizers Bucke (MLB); Islanders, Sabres, Oilers (NHL); Sixers, Bucks (NBA).

The "Real Things": N.Y.
Giants, N.Y. Mets, L.A. Rams, Houston Rockets.

Most Overrated: "Ref-rigerator" Perry and Jim McMahon; N.Y. Mets (Really, now, what do they have after their pitching?); Mario Lemiux; Edmonton Oilers prize goes to one of those once-in-a-Haley's Comet oc-curances: Nopennant races. Best Make-Up for a Disappointment: Both the American League and the Na-tional Lorge Characteristics. tional League Championship Series were outstanding, making up for the six months which preceded them. Biggest Surprise: The Boston Red Sox didn't choke until the World Series.

World Series.

Newest Advances: Instant replay (NFL); 3-point shot (NCAA); "We do not condone fighting" (NHL); Fiscal responsibility (MLB).

Biggest Victory: Although he hasn't recovered yet, the fact that Dick Howser, who in July was found to have a malignant brain tumor, will be back to manage the K.C. Royals next year is quite an accomplish-ment. Stay tuned for more.

Smallest Defeat: The NFL lost $3 for monopolizing profes-sional football; the USFL lost its existance. No loss either

Best Sports City: Boston (Celtics, Patriots, Red Sox). Worst Sports City: (tie) Baltimore and Indianapolis. Baltimore floundered this year when the O's fell to last place and there was no other major league team to cheer. Indianapolis had both the pacers and Colts. One of these would have qualified them for this

Best Teams: The Penn State Nittany Lions and hte Miami Hurricaines will make their bids on January 2. As for the pros, the Chicago Bears, Boston Celtics, and New York Mets easily outclassed

Worst Team: There are a lot of bad ones, but my vote for worst team goes to the Indianapolis Colts (Count On Losing This Sunday).

Sho'women Swimmers

by Mike Jenkens

On Saturday, December 6, the Sho-women Swim Team competed against Franklin competed against Franklin and Marshall and Elizabethown. According to Coach W. Dennis Berry. "the team swam quite well with regards to where we are at this part of the season." He is pleased with second year's team performance.

Also Coach Berry stated, "It's important for us not to peak too early." Finally diver Alden Caldwell placed third in her last meet of the season.

The Sho'women swim team will compete Saturday, December 13 at Dickinson. There the team will see "almost all the teams competing in the MAC champion-ships."

Tuesday-Saturday Convenient Parking 8:00 AM-6:00 PM

Janie Thompson (301) 778-0898

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

A Shear Design

COMPLETE HAIR CARE - MANICURES SCULPTURED NAILS RETAIL ITEMS

505 Washington Ave. Chestertown, Md. 2160

Call 778-2686

KEEP YOUR SUMMER

TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA

SUN SYSTEM

at

EMILY HAIRDRESSER

Complete line of

REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL

Full Service Salon

Celebrating Christmas In Carols

Celebrating Christmas wouldn't be much fun without carols, and keeping with the holiday spirit the music department will present a program of seasonal music. British composer Benjamin Britten's well-known A Cereanony at Carols will be extended to the composer benjamin Control of the control

Britten composed his work in 1942 for boys' choir and harp. It is a cycle of carols set to medieval and sixteenth cen-tury poems, framed by the plainsong antiphon from the Christmas Eve Vespers, 'Hodie christus natus ets "This is a very popular piece," explained the choir director, ofessor Kathy Mills. College Community Concert Professor Kathy Mills.

"There has always been a color, there has always been a laso sing a sturday. They also sing a set of Renaissance Christmas concert," said Christmas motets and teth century carols. people to work together and participated in the Mon-treal exposition. Usually the concert is held at a local church, but this year the twenty-seven singers will per-form for the first time in Nor-

The choir combines student and community talent. Former students often participate. "There are lots of people who sang when they were here," said Mills. "It's a good social situation for students and older towards a common goal." This year Chestertown residents Kathleen Bennett and Cecilia Everitt represent the community. Student soloists are Laura Brown, Deirdre Derbis, Jennifer Leach, and Christopher Brower. Professor Garry E. Clarke accompanies the choir on piano.

The Concert Choir invites the public to enjoy this free holiday season concert at 8:00 p.m. Afterwards there will be a reception in the faculty lounge.

not realize Glass' desire to assimilate the separate worlds of song and composition. The lyrics are done in the same contemporary, unpretentious style as the music but the end result seems contrived and doesn't fit. The vocalists are exceptional, The Roches and Linda Ronstadt both put in great performances but the songs are too separate from the music. The movement and arrangement of the pieces tends to over emphasize the music, leaving the lyrics to float on the surface of the music. At times the lyricist is

Calendar FRIDAY 12 Last day of classes

Campus

Basketball Wild Goose Classic 6:00 & 8p.m.

The Constitution at 200 The Perils and Promise of the Third Century William Reynolds, speaker

Kent Humanities Building 7:30 p.m.

SATURDAY 13 Reading day for exams Basketball Wild Goose Classic Cain Athletic Center, 3:00 p.m. The Music Department Ceremony of Carols orman James Theatre, Norman

8:00 p.m. Swimming

Christmas in Historic Chestertown A tour of historical and architectural C-town Tickets $10, 778-0866

Choral Arts Society Christmas Concert: Vivaldi's "Magnificent" Christ Episcopal Church Easton, 8:00 p.m $3 students

Philip Glass Shatters The Song Barrier

by Jeremiah Foster
Philip Glass is at the vanguard of modern classical music. His most recent album In Liquid Days combines several songwriters and singers who work in conjunc-tion with Glass to explore tion with Glass to explore America's most popular musical medium – the song. David Byrne and Laurie Anderson both have compositions that appear on the album

Glass' music has been used in opera before, specifically in Einstein on the Beach but it has never been adapted to popular song. In Liquid Days must be viewed in context with Glassworks because they are stylistically similar and Glass is developing ideas in In Li-quid Days that are tangential to Glassworks.

records is repetitive and in-cremental. Small and subtle changes in linear harmony are metry. The harmonic move-ment in the separate voices is connected. The voices, (alto, soprano, bass, etc.) move in small steps and then stay in a sort of holding pattern while the other notes ascend or des-

In one composition from Glassworks, the horns, synthesizer and piano outline the theme of the composition in a fairly slow, methodical manner. Very soon, at the beginning to the song, the tempo is

"Philip Glass is at the vanguard of

modern classical music."

cend. The focus is centered on the movement or lack of move-ment and the monolithic tapestry of the compositions. Glass creates a fluid stream of tone and timbre, the syn-thesizer matching the French horns or strings while the piano is usually responsible for both Philip Glass' style in both the establishment of theme and

The change in rhythm is in-tegral to Glass' compositions.

shifted from slow to fast and then shifted again to a tempo moving nearly at the speed of light. The tempo is so quick that one has to listen very carefully to hear the theme restated. Superimposed on top of this is the slow tempo of the horns creating a sort of dichotomy between tempos dichotomy between tempos while the timbre and incre-ment outline this dichotomy and hold the composition together

Waiting For Godot Planned For

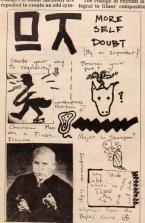

Plan a dramatic ending for rian a dramatic ending for the semester. Go to see Waiting For Godot. The first act of this play will be perform-ed by drama students next Fri-

The plot of Samuel Beckett's play is simple enough. It is about waiting . and waiting. Waiting for Godot, to be exact. Waiting for Godot, to be exact. Vladimir (Clindy Curley) and Estragon (Gina Braden) do this waiting, interrupted only by Potso John McDanolds), Lucky (Ryder Daniels) and Godot's messenger (Dean Hebert). The set is as stark as the plot, with only a mound of dirt and a tree for the characters to lounge on.

Join the wait in Tawes Theatre at 8:00 p.m. Seating

Next Friday.

will be on stage.

Garry E. Clarke, Piano Kathleen Bennett, Laura Brown, Chistopher Brower, Deurdre Derbis, Cecelia Eventt, and Jennifer Leach, Soloisss Saturday, December 13, 1986 8:00 p.m. JAMES THEATRE & CHESTERTOWN

WASHINGTON COLLEGE

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 14

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, January 23, 1987

Tuition Hike In The Works

by Audra M. Philippon
"During the last two years,
the College has been under evere financial pressure - a li-midity crunch, it's called," explained President Douglas Dr. Martin Kabat, finance officer, explained that crunch's effect on students: "I think we're going to have to raise tuition, but no one can really speculate how much until the entire budget is prepared and see how much it's going to cost to run the College

"We're going to have to raise tuition.

but no one can speculate how much..."

"A college must stay com petitive in faculty salaries, in maintain and im prove its physical plant ... and lthink we're finding we'll need b increase tuition" to do that, said Kabat. Washington College, along with other instituig tuition increases between 5 and 15% for next year, explain-

Student expenses for the 1886-87 year total $10,820. Even maximum fifteen percent in-crease would keep total ex-penses under $12,500 for 1987-8, "and that is still low compared to other schools like us," dded Kabat

Washington College charges about $1,000 less than schools our size in the Maryland region. For example, while region. For example, while WC's tuition is currently $7660, Gettysburg's is $9425, Franklin and Marshall's is $10,200, Goucher charges $8955, and Western Maryland charges

Nationally, Washington College compares its costs to those of 87 other similar institutions chosen by Cambridge ociates. WC is ranked only sixth from the bottom as the most inexpensive.

"As the New York Times says, we are a 'Best Buy' in higher education," said Cater, "and our goal is to keep the lid on tuition." According to Vice-President Gene Hessey, students' tuition covers 54 per-cent of the educational and general budget; the rest of the College's revenue is pulled from Endowment earnings, gifts, state funding, and various fund-raising efforts.

Baer also noted that more than half the students atten-ding Washington College receive financial aid. Kabat assured, "When we raise tuition, we know we'll have to raise financial aid, too."

"It's really a combination of complex analysis and soulcomplex analysis and sour-searching. What can we fairly ask students to pay?" said Kabat. "The budget is really a big puzzle, and tuition is just one piece. We look at all the one piece. We look at all the pieces to figure out how to fit them together," he explained. The preliminary puzzle sket-ches will be presented to the Board of Visitors and Govertheir February 21 meeting. Final budgetary deci-sions are not made, however,

This scene of pristine whiteness didn't last past the early morning as legions of students hit the powder for an all day - and all night - snow party.

Surgeon To Visit Campus

by Tony Caligiuri

Practical, economical, and ethical issues in modern health care will be the focus of Woodrow Wilson Fellow Dr. Jack Cole during his week long visit to Washington College

February 1-6.
Dr. Cole, who served as chairman of the department of Surgery, director of the divi-sion of oncology, and director of the Yale Comprehensive Cancer Center during his twenty-year tenure at the Yale University School of Medicine, will offer three public presentations, participate in several classes and meet with in-

A lecture on "Caring for the Terminally Ill" is being highlighted, which will take highlighted, which will take place on Wednesday, February 4, at 8:00 p.m. in the Norman ames Theatre. In addition, Dr. Cole will give an informal presentation on "The Role of Humanities in Medical Educa-Humanities in Medical Educa-tion" on Tuesday, February 3, at 4:00 p.m. in the O'Neill Literary House. On Thursday, February 5, at 4:00 p.m. in the Sophie Kerr Room of the Miller Library, Dr. Cole will discuss "What is good Health Care?: A Com-parison of the United States will also be joining several chemistry, biology, physics, and philosophy classes.

Before holding a faculty position at Yale, Dr. Cole was appointed Chief of Surgery at Philadelphia General Hospital and at Yale-New Haven. He has applied his experience and expertise on numerous task committees, and forces, committees, and organizations studying such issues as cancer, health in-surance, geriatrics, and medical education. Dr. Cole's primary areas of interest and expertise lie in the history and practice of surgery, cancer, medical education, medical ethics, and medical economics.

SGA To Investigate Student Affairs Office

by Audra M. Philippon
The SGA announced Monday

e "formation of a commisson to examine the increasing stodent concerns regarding the Office of Student Affairs," acterding to the SGA's press Pilot, and the Kent County

In the release, SGA president In the release, SGA pressues. Ours Doherty explained, "the addent body has been fed up for years over how the Office of Sudent Affairs has been run, and the time has come for Student Gracermant to uncover and the time has come for such that Government to uncover the questionable practices of those who run that office."

This is something I've been concerned about for a long time," said Doherty. Secretary Chris Foley, who chairs the new commission, agreed, "There have been a lot of complaints to the senate" plaints to the senate" regarding the Student Affairs Office including fraternities losing their housing, housing in general, and specific decisions of the student deans in disciplinary actions.

Foley is presently gathering members for the task force from the senate and the leader-ship council. The press release states that the committee will issue a campus-wide question-naire to gauge student opinion of Student Affairs. Also, the SGA's task force plans to in-vestigate "how housing decisions are made" and to "deter-mine the contents of student 'files' which are maintained by the Deans of Students." Resi-dent assistant selection, the deans' personalities, and their role in the student judiciary were also mentioned by Foley as topics of concern.

The commission hopes to complete its investigations by mid-February in order to pre-sent its findings to the Board of Visitors and Governors at its February meeting. At that time, President Douglass Cater intends to invite a trustee of the Board to followup the inquiry into Student Af-fairs if so desired.

When asked to comment on the SGA's task force, Dean continued, "I've never had the Maureen McIntire said, "This feeling that people 'have been is the first I've heard of it." She continued on page 4

INICIDE

| INSIDE:                 |     |
|-------------------------|-----|
| Student profile Profile | p.4 |
| Yearbook Problems       | p.5 |
| Tom Larsen              | p.6 |
| off the cuff            |     |
| Basketball Success      | p.8 |
| Music in '86            |     |

OPINION

Editorial

Task Force?!

Once again the S.G.A. Is back in the ring hattling the forces of darkness on this campus that have dedicated themselves to undercutting student rights. Monday night, after the first Senate meeting of the seemester, the S.G.A. sen ta "press release" to The Elm and other publications announcing the formation of a TASK. FORCE" to investigate what they revealed to be the "TASK FORCE" to investigate what they revealed to be the newest member of the conspiracy—the Office of Student Affairs.

"The student body has been fed up for years over how the Office of Student Affairs has been run, and the time has come for Student Government to uncover the questionable practices of those who run that office" was the pre-investigation verdict anounced by President Chris Doherty. The release, which is a superb example of how not to launch an investigation, then went on to insult our intelligence by quoting Secretary cum lawman Foley as saying "we intend to be fair during our investigation..." One of the things the TASK FORCE has on its agenda ac-

One of the things the TASK FORCE has on its agenda ac-cording to the press release is "to determine the contents of stu-dent "files" which are maintained by the Dean of Students. "The fact that any student may see his or her file and its most rudimen-tary informational contents seems to have been forgotten. The only confidential thing about any student's file is the questioned only confidential thing about any student's file is the question-ted that it will be kept confidential) students of the students of the kept confidential) should be again may be got more is a submor-mate committellity. Then again maybe got more is a submormate compatibility. Then again, maybe your mom is a subver

If you're wondering who is going to monitor the S.G. A.2-TASL.
FORCE to ensure that it is an "fulf" as Force claims it will be, well, so are we. Who's to say that after these investigators have finished running around in their Ray Bans, flashing their Dick Tracy credentials and getting to the bottom of things, they won't manage to somehow skew the results so that the injustices that they seem so sure exist are revealed to be "true."

Legitimate and impartial participation from outside the organization is something the S.G.A. must obviously arrange for organization is sometiming the S.C.A. must obviously arrange for if they expect the results of the TASK FORCE to have any more value than a roll of institutional toilet paper. Inherent in this is the S.C.A. acknowledging that their ability to conduct an 'investigation' is questionable at best. The 'press release' distributed this week has already demonstrated an ignorance of distributed this week has already demonstrated an ignorance of this thousand this when the basics of such proceedings.

When basics of such proceedings.

When the basics of such proceedings.

When the basics of such proceedings when the west grade the Office of Student Affairs does need to be investigated the office of Student when the whole of the such as the such a to organize and oversee, not Student Government

Washington College Elm

| Editor-in-chief |      |     |     |    |  | E | d | it | 0 | rs |  |  |  |   |   |    |    |    |   |    |     |     |    |    |     |
|-----------------|------|-----|-----|----|--|---|---|----|---|----|--|--|--|---|---|----|----|----|---|----|-----|-----|----|----|-----|
| Editor-in-chief |      |     |     |    |  |   |   |    |   |    |  |  |  | ı | т | he | or | na | 8 | M  | . S | ch  | ıu | 10 | nr. |
|                 |      |     |     |    |  |   |   |    |   |    |  |  |  |   |   |    |    |    |   |    |     |     |    |    |     |
|                 |      |     |     |    |  |   |   |    |   |    |  |  |  |   |   |    |    |    |   |    |     |     |    |    |     |
| Arts/Entertainn | nen  | t E | dit | 10 |  |   |   |    |   |    |  |  |  |   |   |    |    |    | 1 | 10 |     | 100 | 10 | *  | 10  |
| Sports Editor   |      |     |     |    |  |   |   |    |   |    |  |  |  |   |   |    |    | 0  |   | a  | VIC | щ   | щ  | ж  | ıγ  |
| Photography Ed  | lito |     |     |    |  |   |   |    |   |    |  |  |  |   |   |    |    | CI | ш | 15 | in  | 6 , | w  | aı | ıć  |
| and a second    |      |     |     |    |  |   |   |    |   |    |  |  |  | ۰ |   |    |    | J. | m |    |     | g   | DΠ | 18 | ΛI  |
|                 |      |     |     |    |  |   |   |    |   |    |  |  |  |   |   |    |    |    |   |    |     |     |    |    |     |
|                 |      |     |     |    |  |   |   |    |   |    |  |  |  |   |   |    |    |    |   |    |     |     |    |    |     |

Managing Editor National Advertising Manager Local Advertising Manager Circulation Manager

The Elm is the official student newspaper of Washington Calego. The Elm is published every Friday during the section year with the sccept not vizeation and scam weaks.

The Elm is published every Friday during the section year with the sccept not vizeation and scam weaks.

The Elm is published every Friday during the section of the Elm Calegorian commentation. In the Elm Calegorian commentation is the Calegorian commentation. In the Calegorian commentation is the Calegorian commentation. In the Elm Calegorian commentation is the Calegorian country of the Calegorian commentation. All letters to the selfor ser send with interest but, due to paper limits on the elm Calegorian country of the Calegorian country of t

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editorial Was Biased

To The Editor:

As a member of the Student As a member of the Student Judicial Board, I would like to address the "Anonymous Justice?" article printed on December 12. First, The Elm should be commended for its apology to the students whose ames were included in the list of cases handled by the SJB. However, your interpretation of the Student Judicial Board's purposes have been

The SJB was established to protect student rights at Washington College, if only this campus would recognize that fact. One of the reasons for the SJB's existence is to force the protection of student rights as stated in the Buckley amendment. But, you say that the Buckley law is not true and as a result, the SJB should not exist Your "example" of an apology letter is demeaning and tasteless. The statement "the real judicial proceedings "the real junctar proceedings is something that they the SJB) just aren't prepared to deal with," offends me. The work we do is important in maintaining order and setting standards for this campus. It is unfair that we are mocked for rightfully enforcing campus rules. Also, the term 'kangaroo court' is an insult. We investigate cases fully, get the facts, and follow all judicial proceedings in order to settle disputes. Unlike you, we are fair, and above all, we are un-

In the future, research your ideas before slapping garbage journalism into the paper. If you must insist on making a mockery of judicial pro-ceedings, then sit down with the picture of Judge Wapner (included on page eight), and watch "People's Court."

If your intention was to of-fend the SJB, you have done a terrific job. Maybe in the future, you will understand what the Student Judicial Board stands for, especially if we are called to defend your rights!!

Sincerely, Mike Jenkens Investigator, Student Judicial Board

No Lines

To The Editor:

In the past three and a half years, I have come to accept the fact that waiting in lines is a part of being a student at Washington College, as is pro-bably true at most any college. I remember having to reserve a good part of the first day my a good part of the first day my freshman year for registering and buying books. That all to vivid memory is why I would like to tell the bookstore and the business and registrar's of fices how much their efforts this semester were appreciated. The changes you made were obviously very cessful, cutting the wait in line from hours down to minutes. Thank you and all of your employees who worked over-

Allyson Tunney

APPLICATION FOR GRADUATION

Any senior enrolling for the Spring term, who did not apply for graduation in the Fall, and who expects to complete all requirements for the degree by May 1987, please come to the Office of the Registrar as soon as possible to take care of this

Lower Costs Are Why I'm Here

sudents. I hope you are seated and in a bring you is not pleasant. If given a check-up by the Middle States ASSOCIATION interim visiting team. This organization looks over the happenings at the entire school, from academic programs to retirement plans for teachers. The usual recommendations were made in those areas, and no drastic changes will be made. However the bombshell I hereby drop into your spective laps is this suggestion by the MSA: "(A tuition increase) substantially higher than the present rate of in-

An Economic professor I am not, but I need no degree in finance to interpret this statement as a burn deal for me and my parents' bank accounts. But that's only the beginning. This wonder-ful committee also thinks that because less than half of us are on financial aid, (all being oil magnates) won't mind this increase!!!! I'm sorry if lunch doesn't taste so good now, but I feel we really need to discuss this.

Ken Haltom

Washington College is, no doubt, a great school. We also get good, strong, academic programs, and our teachers are among the best. However, the MSA feels Washington College is "undersellig its product." Since when is intellecing its product. Since when is interes-tual accomplishment a mere "product"? The beauty of this school is that its superior programs in academics and cultural affairs do not cost a student nearly as much as other private colleges. That's one of the main reasons I'm enrolled here, no doubt the same reason for many of you as well.

Our college stands apart from most other schools. Its small size, ideal loca-tion and the tremendous benefits from tion and the tremendous benefits from going here are unparalleled by other schools in this part of the country. The tuttion we now pay is a large one, some could argue too large. The issue is not the present ultion, however, it is the fact that the MSA urges our school's fact that the MSA urges our school's later than the MSA urges our school's fact that the MSA urges our school fact that urges our school fact that the MSA urges of the least has a "irrithf future." How lege has a "bright future." How sad and ironic it is that some of us will not be able to afford that future.

Ken Haltom is a sophomore Is A Year At Washington College Worth ISSUE: Substantially More Than The Current

$10.820 Annual Cost?

Jennifer Leach Silver Spring, Maryland

"Although I think I am getting a good education, and I do understand that the costs of running the school are high, I would strongly object to a large tuition increase, unless a lot more was done to provide financial aid to those students who need it, but might not show that on paper."

"Coming to this school is one of the best decisions I've ever made. I like my classes and have met some good friends. If a tuition increase changes this school. it could chase away people who could afford the in-crease along with those who can't. Those who can afford the increase may not want the type of school the administration is trying to create.

Baltimore, Maryland

"The logic behind a substantial increase in the tuition worries me. The administration seems to think that raising the cost of the school will produce a better school by that act alone. One of the good points of Washington Col-lege is its wide range of ege is its wide range of students, many of whom would be adversely affected by higher tuition.

Sophomore Baltimore, Maryland

"A Washington College education is worth more to me than any dollar value. Nevertheless, some families that do not receive financial aid may have trouble affording more than is presently required; to lose such students would be regrettable."

Cumberland, Maryland

"As far as a strong education goes, I feel that a degree from Washington College would be worth the extra money. Looking atthis practically, however, the majority of the students here will be students here will be unable to afford the tuition increase and it will do more harm for the school than good."

Campus Voices

by Michele Balze

Major Increase Can Be Justified

Last year the 1959 painting "Out the indow," an avant-garde masterpiece by the still active Jasper Johns, sold for 1,500,000.00 at Sotheby's Auction house a London. Isn't that a bit excessive for asquared off parchment destined to lang on the wall? The person or instituon who purchased the painting ob fously didn't think so. Neither do the resters and museums who hold works by Jasper Johns. They've realized thenomenal gains for their insights. benomenal gains for their management of the control reginal, otherwise the bidding

Similar to a work of art, the U.S. osmilar to a work of art, the U.S. ligher educational system, which indudes Washington College and over too other colleges and universities, lerves are investment vehicle. No erves as an investment vehicle. No natter how one measures it, i.e. in stars of monetary, spirtual, moral or bellectual growth, college is still a beans to a higher end. However, a key lege education over a $40,000 painting by an unproven artist is that the cultural value has already been conferred in a college education. Statistically our society places the greenest college graduate leagues above his high counterpart in salary and social posi-tion. A college education is not only an extremely affordable, highly ap-preciable investment but is also practically risk free.

However, assuming most all indergraduate schools offer a standardized educational package, such as a basic liberal arts curriculum, a library, room and board, etc.; how would Washington College justify in-creasing "student tuition at rates substantially in excess of the rate of in-flation?" What's to keep them from charging a tuition of $15,000 a year? As-solutely nothing. They key lies in the school's potential value in relation to eir present value. Since President Cater's arrival five years ago, Washington College has undergone a fundamental and highly visible inhancement. Admissions is more competitive, student demographics has expanded, the budget has been balanced and uniquely attractive academic programs such as the O'Neill Literary House have been successfully implemented.

John Richards

there is ment. However, the past five years have proven the college is committed to becoming an exemplary model of higher education. The school's reputation is no longer static, but growing dramatically with a promising future. Even a major increase in the tuition can be justified, when linked to the value of a promising future. As the Middle States Asociation of Schools and Middle States Association of Schools and Colleges interim visiting team advised during their visit last October, Washington College is "underselling its product." Furthermore, a higher tui-tion is needed to continually fund the school's educational commitment.

For those who would argue that it's impossible to place a fair education, it should make no difference whether the tuition was $10 or $100,000. For the rest, the present price may seem steep at present, but is a small seem steep at present, but is a small sacrifice when compared with the potential for overwhelming future gains. Chances are good that the squared-off, suitable for hanging parchment we call a diploma (the only tangible evidence of your Washington College tenure), may be worth substan-tially more than a Jasper John's painting and in far less time John Richards is a senior majoring in

Woodrow Wilson Fellow To Visit

continued from page 1 said Dr. Cole during a telephone interview. "I think the stereotipical pre-med ma jor is a nuisance; a broader education is needed. Spending most of the time cramming in chemistry, biology, and physics can end up short-changing the student," said Dr. Cole when asked about possible drawbacks for a premed student in a liberal arts at-

Washington College is the ninth college that Dr. Cole has visited since becoming involv-ed in the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Program. For the last ten years, has brought successful professionals to the campuses of 174 small liberal arts colleges around the country. Washington College is now participating in the program for its second year. 'A visitor such as Dr. Cole 455, or contact Dean Berry presents a great opportunity for students planning on entering a related preofession to gain expert insights and make valuable connections," said junior Biology Major Janet Szabo, who has been involved in much of the planning for Cole's upcoming visit joining Dr. Cole for lunch or meeting with him individually can contact Janet Szabo at ext

Birthday Ball Plans Underway

by Mike Jenkens

Preparations are underway for the annual Washington Col lege Birthday Ball, scheduled for February 21.

Tradition of years past will be carried on as the Cain Gym-nasium is decorated with nasium is decorated with lights, balloons, murals, and gazeboes to the theme of "An Evening in Paris." The theme will add many new decorations and a special atmosphere to the black tie affair. The gym ceiling will be decked with streamers and balloons while the theme will be enhanced by replicas of the Eiffel tower or the Arc de Triomphe. Washington College will be

Bing Miller and his sixteenpiece orchestra; the change in musical entertainment is expected to encourage more of the college community to at-

Members of each class are encouraged to get involved with all aspects of the preparations. Set-up and clean-up activities especially need student support. Any assistance pro-vided would be greatly ap-preciated by the freshman class and the college communi-

Tickets will be available at the Student Affairs Office by February 1. The price wil be $15 per student couple, $25 for faculty, staff, and administra-tion; $40 for alumni, friends. and others; $100 for patrons; and $150 for sustaining patrons. The proceeds from the ball will be contributed to a full scholarship fund established by the freshman class. Minimizing costs and encouraging student participa-tion are the freshmen class' goals for the event. So far, the class has been pleased with the progress made. If there are any questions or in-terested volunteers, feel free to contact Mike Jenkins, reshman class president, at 778-9855. The freshman class sincerely hopes that George Washington's Birthday Con-vocation and Ball will be among your plans for the next

Student Body Profile

Nearly 1000 freshmen applied to Washington College for the Fall 1986 semester: 670 of them were accepted; 249 enrolled. The figures below reflect the Fall 1986-87 semester enrollment

Full-time students = 772 Semester avg. GPA = 2.590 male = 397 male semester avg. GPA = 2.494 female semester avg. GPA = 2.697 female = 375 combined avg. SAT score = 1000 Parttime students = 70

students living on-campus = 520 # students on AP = 68 # students living off-campus = 260 # students on Dean's List = 123

transfers arrived for Spring 87 = 8 # students who transferred or withdrew from WC in Fall 86 = N/A Countries represented in student body:

United States Relgium Jordan Trinidad West Germany France Guatemala Switzerland Sweden South Africa India Bermuda Korea Mexico Denmark Canada Peru Great Britain Australia

Maryland residents = 409 (the most contributed by Baltimore County)

students in Greek organizations: # females = N/A

males = N/A

SGA Task Force Investigates Student Deans

continued from page 1

fed up for years' about us ... I would hope that students at least feel we maintain a fair of fice Commission chairman Foley anticipates a large return on his questionnaire though, "because of the number of complaints brought before the SGA and the abnormally large number of cases heard by the SJB last semester. It signifies the need or desire for informa-tion," he explained.

According to the student deans, the "files" referred to in the SGA's press release contain the following items: the roommate questionnaire and the general information sheet filled out when a student is accepted by the College, the con-fidential information sheet completed by parents upon acceptance, any personal com-munications that a student may have had with the deans (e.g. room change request, absence from class, personal recommendations), and any forms regarding disciplinary and any action taken against the stu-dent. Every student has the right to view his own file. No one other than the two student deans has access to student According to Dean Ed Max-"all student records are destroyed upon graduation," except any that involve how a student may be located should the Alumni Association or Ad-missions be interested in contacting him

Dorm senators first heard Dorm senators first neard about the task force's forma-tion at Monday's senate meeting, said Foley. At the meeting, "he (Doherty) gave us a laundry list about what he thought was wrong with Student Affairs," said Worcester senator Christine Raising tuition, unfair disciplinary actions, and creat tain individuals on the College payroll were included in that list, explained Fischer.

"No one objected to the idea of the task force," said Reid senator Erika DelPriore. "I just didn't see any reason for (Doherty's) opinion to be in the press release." DelPriore remarked, however, that "Doherty then told us that his was not up for the senate's approval!" Rob Alexander, senator from

Boo Alexander, senator from Dorchester, argued on the other hand "It's just a press release. It's the same thing that AP or UPI puts out - it doesn't need to be approved by the senate. All it means is that we've formed a committee, and we're concerned."

Doherty said, "The senate greed on every line in the response, Maxcy hoped "lelease except my comments. I would like to believe that (but the senate property of the response) and the senate property of the response of the agreed on every line in the agreed on every line in the responsi release except my comments. I included my comments task for because as SGA president I think I have insights into cer-at heart.

tain areas ... I am just reflecting an opinion a lot of student

Below the president's conment in the press release was the following statement from Foley: "This is a necessary action for SGA to undertake. We intend to be fair during to investigation, and we hope to deliver the facts to the studen task force) has the students and the College's best interest

Looking for a Summer Job?

The Washington College Summer Conference Program is accepting applications for its 1987 Summer Program, from May 19 through August 22, with a minimum of hours weekly. Positions are: waiters/waitresses, serving line, dishroom, laundry, and student center. For more information or to pick up an application, see Jeff DeMoss or Sharon Crew.

APPLY NOW-LIMITED OPENINGS AVAILABLE

Students Win At Stock Game

During the fall semester twenty-five Washington College teams participated in a ten-week stock market simula tion game. The game, which is sponsored by the Investment Club, the Business Manage-Department, the Washington College Center for Economic Education, and Legg Mason, allows players to trade stocks listed on the New York and American Stock Exchanges using $100,000 in computer money. Computer prin-touts showing the current value of each team's portfolio are provided weekly. Winning are awarded cash

Last semester's first place team included Beth Munder, Amy Malkus, and Mark Malkus. At the end of the tenweek period, their stocks were worth $109,801. Charlotte Post. worth $109,001. Chariotte Post, Ziad Abujaber, and Frank Davis belonged to the second place winning team. Their team's stocks were valued at $105,054. Stocks of the third place team totaled $103,973. Members included Tracy nvestment Broker George E. Mclaughlin of Legg Mason Wood Walk Inc., and Dr. Michael S. Malone, Chairman of the Business Manse ment, pose with some of the student winners of the stockmarket 5'.

The first place team received a $150 cash reward for increasing $100,000 computer money investment to more than $109,000.

Smith, Roshen Koshy, and played again this spring begine Luke Short. The first, second, and third place teams received thecks for $150, $100, and $50 to play by Pebruary Temperature, and the spring the stockmarket registration for shock market game can be College students.

Yearbook Suffers From Uncooperative Seniors

by Audra M. Philippon
The yearbook deadline for senior portraits is next Wednesday, but only 19 out of 162 candidates for graduation have had their pictures taken. pegasus editor Arian Ravan-bhsh offered seniors the op-tion to submit their own photographs of themselves he even extended the due date for pictures four weeks. Less than one week before deadline 143 seniors remain unpictured in their own yearbook. mailed all graduation candidates a letter explaining the yearbook's procedure to col-lect pictures the first week in December. Two weeks later, after minimal response. Ravanbkhsh extended his deadline with the yearbook's publisher, Herff Jones Publicapublisher, Herff Jones Publica-tions, and sent out another notice to seniors. Monday, January 19, he sent out a third plea for seniors to arrange for their pictures.

Student Mfairs has offered we will seek out any pictier that the college can give is of you (seniors), otherwise helping too by spreading the be seniors without pictures word through the seniors."

and Ravanbkhsh. The editor out all the seniors individually. "Student Affairs has offered and sit them down to take their picture. We have a skeleton staff. It takes less than five minutes..." the editor explained. "Get a friend to take a pic ture of you if you don't want us

The letters sent to seniors asked them to set a time for a Pegasus photographer to take their picture. "We said we'd accommodate their schedules -we just needed a place and a time," Ravanbkhsh said.

The yearbook staff is disap-pointed in the paucity of pic-tures they have. "I expected to get a better response than 19 students; many of the first seniors who called, in fact, were non-traditional students." Ravanbkhsh continued, "You can only yell at people so much. After that they stop listening. I think eight weeks is sufficient time" to either schedule an appointan appointment or find a picture. ment or find a picture. Previously, seniors have had their portraits taken professionally for the Pegasus, "but people complained that they lost their originality," said Ravanbkhs, "We'll probably do it that way again next year, at least the pictures of the product of the pictures of the product of the pr at least the pictures get done that way

The staff has had a similarly poor response from clubs on campus. Out of the eighteen pages reserved for club photos, less than ten have been filled. The freshmen class was the on-ly class to return Rayanbkhsh'

call for picture-taking appoint-

"I even put an ad in The Elm for club pictures. I got some pretty good response from the smaller clubs, but I guess the bigger organizations decided they didn't want to be in t yearbook," mused the editor.

Students who plan to graduate in May should contact a member of the Pegasus staff in Talbot 223-225, or at extension 230 as soon as possible. Anyone not photographed by Wednesday, January 28, will not appear in the yearbook. "We'll be in all weekend," said "We'll be in all weekend, said Ravanbkhsh. "Come seek us out. After all it's your year-book; I can only make it as good as you let me."

= NEWS BRIEFS =

The following is a list of new faculty appointments for the Spring Term, 1987.

Tim Cleveland is currently serving as Visiting Assistant Professor of Philosophy, a sabbatical replacement for Peter Tapke. Mr. Cleveland taught part-time at the University of maryland, Baltimore County and was an Adjunct Professor of Loyola College and the University of Baltimore in the Fall of 1986. He received his B.A. in English from Hardin-Simmons University in 1981; simmons University in 1991; his M.A. in Philosophy at The Johns Hopkins University in 1883; and expects to receive his Ph.D. in Philosophy from The Johns Hopkins University in the Spring of 1987.

Peter Kivic is currently serving as Visiting Assistant Pro-fessor of Biology, a sabbatical replacement for Donald Munson. Dr. Kivic has served as Senior Postdoctoral Research Associate and Research Assistant Professor at the Universitant Professor at the Universi-ty of Tennessee, a Senior Scien-tific Officer at Prince Henry Hospital in Australia, and a Postdoctoral Research Fellow at the University of Sydney in Australia. He received his B.A. in Biological Science at Johns Hopkins University; his M.S. in Biology at Northwestern University in Illinois; and his Ph.D. in Zoology from Indiana University in Indiana.

Edward J. Weissman is cur-

Associate Professor of Political Science, a one-semester appointment due to the resignation of Tari Ren Dr. Weissman taught at York University, Ontario, Canada from 1969-1983. He received his B.A. in 1966 from Middlebury College in Vermont and his Ph.D. from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Sherry Magill was sppointed on aireacy applied for gradual-sherry Magill was sppointed on aireacy applied and the Visting Assistant Professor or registra immunicate vi-y History for the Spring Term. Diplomas must be ordered for She will be teaching one course those candidates who did not in the History Department — apply last fall. History 202. Dr. Magill is currently Executive Assistant to

President Cater and received President Cater and received her B.A. from the University of Alabama in 1974; her M.A. from the University of Alabama in 1976; and her Ph.D. from Syracuse Universi-

SENIORS intending to graduate in May 1987 who have not already applied for gradua-

Anyone interested in writing news for The Elm can contact

Audra M. Philippon, Worcester, 205

THANK YOU to the Registrar's office and the Bookstore for their extra ef-forts last Wednesday. Registration and text-buying were painless and quick.

Mom's Cookie Jar

cessful 1987

cessful 1987.

With the advent of a new good ideas.

Year comes change. One I don't like to sound change in the dinner meal that repetitious, but bussing tables most of you are now aware of is still seems to be a problem.

avidual to help him or herself by dual to help him or nersen-be as much or as little of the regetables as wanted. And as Moms tend to do, I strongly urge you to eat your vegetables "have need for you they're good for you. As in the past two semesters, we are continuing with the special events nights each Wednesday. Russian Night, Oriental Night, J.P. Brokerage Food Show and Steamship Night are scheduled for the best few weeks. The majority of you who turned in the dinner Survey conducted by the W.C.D.S. and the S.G.A. Food Service Committee last month the entire Dining Service staff, events dinners. We thank those I would like to extend warmest who gave good suggestions for wishes for a Happy and Suc-future special events nights. Some of you came up with very

the self-serve vegetable cart in You are each responsible for us sell-serve vegetable cart in You are each teaponshire ior be main dining room. We hope bussing your tray when eating this will speed service on in the daining hall. According to be line and enable each in-the handbook, anyone caught not bussing their tray will be subject to a $25.00 fine. I would hate to see this happen to anyone, so please BUS YOUR TRAY!!!

Effective February 1, you will not be allowed access to meals without your I.D. card. There will be no more "I left my card in my room or my locker." I.D. numbers will no longer be keyed into the computer, unless your card is damaged or de-magnetized. In the case of a damaged card, you will have to have it replaced. De-magnetized cards wi be re-encoded by the W.C.D.S.

This Sunday is Super Bowl Sunday and the Dining Service reminds you to pick up your Super Bowl Contest entry form from the numbers lady. Deadline for entering the contest will be 5:45 p.m. Sunday (close of the dinner meal) winner receives a steak dinner for two. So don't forget to enter the contest and good luck!

Now it's back to the kitchen for me and a new recipe for pecan logs. Until next pecan logs. week...MOM.

NEED A TUX?

WHY NOT STOP IN AND GIVE A LOOK AT OUR LARGE SELECTION OF TUX RENTALS.

ALSO WHILE THERE, CHECK OUT OUR WINTER SALE ITEMS OF GREAT SAVINGS ON SHIRTS, SWEATERS, OUTERWEAR AND OTHER SELECTED ITEMS.

Bramble's Traditional Clothing

For Men and Women

Downtown Chestertown 778-6090

FEATURES

This Is The BLUES

by Tom Schuster

"A lot of people don't know what blues is," says guitarist Tom Larsen who, with his band, will appear in the Coffee House tonight. "A lot of people think a blues band is an old black guy up there who can barely walk and he's, you know, cryin' about his dog dvin'

As white boys go, Larsen is among a minority who operate confidently and convincingly in a musical genre born out of the black culture in the Deep South's Mississippi delta region. Says Larsen, region. Says tarsen, busicar-ly blues is an approach, or an outlook on life. It can be that real slow, heartache kind of music and it can also be real up-tempo and full of a lot of energy

Tom Larsen doesn't mean just blues, though. He dropped that word from the name of his and in 1982 because it steered attention away from the funk and rock & roll integral to his performances. Larsen's music is a mutant offspring of these three genres. "There really isn't anything out there that has the same feel, the same mixture of funk and rock and blues that we have," he says. The mutation was the result of the musical experimentation Larsen has toyed with from the onset of his career. A typical number of the band would play would be a B.B. King number replete with the chord and tem replete with the chord and tempo changes needed to "Larsenize" the thing. The standard result was sure house rocker that was unrecognizable from the original but still had to be original but still had to be credited to the original artist when fans inquired. This was the situation that motivated Larsen to begin writing the original numbers which constitute the majority of his "We are different," he says.

"We're very progressive if you consider us in the light of an R&B band. If you think of us as a rock band then we're just really different.'

the audience, as Larsen put it, "a handle." Numbers by Thoroughgood, Stevie Ray Vaughan, Hendrix, Cream, the Doors and such are likely to rise in the midst of the sh partly because it gets the au-dience on the dance floor and because the band gets a sur prising number of requests for such songs — especially on col-lege campuses. Says Larsen, "the batch (of college students) that's in there no seems to be really in tune with what went on 20 years ago."

The Making Of A Guitar Man

Larsen had a textbook musical beginning - a chain of events that can be seen literal ly dozens of times in something like Rolling Stone's History of Rock & Roll. At age sixteen the Mt. Vernon, Maryland boy meets guitar. Boy falls in love. Boy becomes a bad ass guitar picker. With an earful of the likes of B.B. King, Muddy Waters and Guitar Slim, Larsen began his performance career doing acoustic folk music in the mid-70's. In 1978 he dropped out of college to start his first band, "Fever" which played dates on the Eastern shore ("It got my feet wet, he says")

Tom Larsen will bring his blues and his band to the C-house tonite

.45 caliber automatic pistol ... and I played with that. told me later that it was loaded. Talk about hot shot guitar..."

"One time a guy pulled out a Larsen disbanded "Fever degree in music at Salisbu to work for a year at a factory State. Once he had the capital Cover songs still appear in job to save money for P.A. the band's reportoire to give equipment and complete his

of the business end - booking dates, cutting demos, operating his own l Kingsnake Records.

Evolution Of A Bar Band Larsen has been playing dates at WC since 1980. One of the reasons he still does is that in spite of his growing reputa-tion and the accompanying tion and the accompanying ability to pack bigger and big-ger halls, Larsen hasn't aban-doned the smaller beer joints from which he was launched. Increasing popularity and the move to clubs with an 800-1000 capacity has, however, allow-ed Larsen's band to open for some of the most powerful and well-known performers on the blues and rock scene today.

Albert Collins, Johnny Copeland, James Brown, Roy Buchanan, Luther "Guitar" Junior, Johnny Winter, Albert King, Foghat, George Thoroughgood and the Fabulous Thunderbirds have all had the Tom Larson Band Albert Collins precede them on stage.

The guitarist has a theory about why he hasn't been asked to tour nationally with any of the more popular artists. "With any of the R&B guys, we've really made them sweat to earn their money," said Larsen. "I always have respect for the act we're open-ing for, but at the same time we give them a real challenge to see if they can follow us."

Taking The Show To The

Larson puts on a show with the folks sitting at the back tables in mind. He comes arm-ed with a 200 foot long gargan-tuan lead from his guitar to the amplifiers — allowing him to explore the darkest corners of any hall, or even the outside of buildings. At one well-known show in Harrisburg, Pa. Lar-son exited a large hall with his still connected guitar and the audience in tow and, while standing by a highway outside in a snow storm, heaved snowballs at the traffic while he played

"That's just one of the things I picked up from playing with some of the blues acts," says Larsen. He picked up his amp lead at a custom music shop "I just went in and got 200 feel and everybody thought I was

Slide guitar — using anything as a slide — is Larsen's other show stopper. In the past he's used everything from jukeboxs, pitchers of beer and waitresses. One incided, which shouldn't eurorist waitresses. One incident, which shouldn't surprise anyone familiar with a lot d the fans the band draws, stands out. "One time a gw stands out. "One time a gw pulled out a .45 caliber automatic pistol and gave it lo me and I played with that. He told me later that it was load Talk about hot shot ed

Beyond the thrill of having Beyond the thrill of having Larsen play guitar with your date or your drink is always the music. The man knows he doesn't have to dye his hair orange or run his music through state of the art elec-tronic circuitry to get you to new attentions it say the feel! tronic circuitry to get you to pay attention to it and to feel it "I know that as long as they turn-up and come to the show we can go ahead and do out thing and that'll change everybody's mind once and for

Larsen's Best

Tom Larsen's latest album is a 45 that was released last month and which will be on sale tonight in the Coffee House.
According to the guitarist, the music is "radio playable" and "ideal" for the college market. "We'll make it a little record release party for Washington College," he said.

During my interview with Larsen earlier this week, I asked him to name his favorite all-time blues albums so that readers who want to become familiar with the blues might have an idea about where to start. Said Larsen: "If you get these five albums, you'd have a real handle on what blues is all about.

TOM LARSEN'S FIVE BEST (in no particular order)

ARTIST Robert Cray B.B. King Johnny Winter Guitar Slim Muddy Waters

ALBUM TITLE "Bad Influence "Live At The Regal" "Johnny Winter"
"The Things I Used To Do"
"The Best of Muddy Waters" Tom Larsen's Killer Blues Band had what amounted to an emergency delivery. "It got so I was missing so many nights at work — I was on night shift that I finally decided to take the plunge ... and go out on my own. The reaction was so good own. The reaction was so good and I managed to hustle up enough work to keep going that I basically never stopped," he says. "I'm still out there hustling up work and going on.

The band grew beyond its original Salisbury/Ocean City turf in 1980 and '81 by playing shows in Pennsylvania, Delaware and D.C. Today, after wearing out three bass players and five or six (he can't remember the exact number) drummers, Larsen with his two current side mer — John Postley on bass and Keith Brooks on drums — is playing 80-90% original music around a six state circuit. Beten shows and rehearsal he still finds the time to take care

A Day in the Life George the Cat

7:30 a.m.-What a rotten night! If it gren't for Erin's roommate, who is the again, nuzzled against her curly bond hair in a nice warm bed. Instead en the coldest night in two weeks. My ones are still aching with frostbite! Oh daritable soul to give me a few

8:00 a.m.-I can't believe this! Not one wouldn't know. I had to curl up under fe from this terrible weather. If I had nown winter nights were going to be so cold I would have quit this college ast semester and gone back to my

It's too late now, they probably ouldn't recognize me after all the reight I've gained since September. I m putting on a few pounds-maybe I should prowl around the big oak tree tehind East Hall this morning. Who mows? Maybe there are a few un-respecting squirrels out digging for aspecting squares out their winter supply of nuts

$:30 a.m.-Ahhh, there goes a little ro-ent now, looks like a breakfast! I am at of shape, and this mid-morning spint is doing me in. This is the last time this furry little creature escapes my hungry jaws. Got him! Why is that gd staring at me? Hasn't she ever een a cat eat a squirrel before? Didn't be mother tell her it was rude to watch last night in the Literary House was in the middle of John Dustin's etry, when I felt a pair of warm tods stroke my back. What an sthetic experience! Then, right when started purring, the resident gently, at reassuringly, pushed me out the for I think she was worried about the think she was worried about the the think sie was worried about the thinks who might have been offended my manly scent. What do they have? I have half the female population of Washington College scratching wheal.

10:30 a.m.-What should I study to ay? Maybe I'll hang out in front of Bill ith and wait for a failing student to ome by and ask me for some help. I are picked up quite a bit of literature this campus. Last semester I helped the Drama Department with the pretty burnt out on plays, so I the directed my energies towards orecontemporary literature.

12:30 p.m.-It must be lunch time. I be because my mid-morning snack is ginning to wear off. Besides that, are are at least thirty students lined in front of the cafeteria. Ummm. It mels like bacon burgers. There is that it girl with the dark stringy hair, maybe if I rub up against her leg a few es she'll feel compelled to steal me The she'll feel compelled to stear me if we slivers of bacon. That should do the is completely in my power. Who bows, if I start purring she might brow in a slice of cheese.

3:30 p.m.-Time to hit the books! I think I'm supposed to help Michele out with her Political Science, besides I haven't finished the new books that the library purchased over Christmas break. I love these couches. They are so much more comfortable than the bushes in front of Hodson Hall! Anything is more comfortable than those bushes. Maybe I'll just close my eyes and do some reading through

6:30 p.m.-What a nice nap - I mean, book. It was so relaxing, almost as good as meditation. I find meditating about an important book to be very soy student has come out to eat helpful to the learning process. realisat this morning. It must have although meditation is not the only been a wild night last night; of course, I thing that feeds the mind. I'm starved! That was lucky. The dining hall lady Inat was lucry. The dining hall lady didn't even ask for my card, she must not have seen me. Now I've got it made, all I have to do is casually meander over to any of these tables and look hungry and bingo I have a plate of turkey, chicken, or milk at my disposal. If I don't like what someone offers me I can just go to a different person. This is the life! At this rate I won't be hungry until tomorrow morn-

8:25 p.m.-All that food in my system really made me thirsty. I'll go down to the C-House for a beer or some water. Great! Michele is working tonight, I bet I can sucker her for a free bowl of beer. If I'm extra purrfect maybe she'll throw in a few pistachio nuts. It's not too crowded. How am I supposed to pick up a young chick for shelter tonight if there is no one here? I'll have to come back in a few hours when it's really rocking. Now I'm going to have to look elsewhere, I scared Michele off with my manly scent. I will never understand why some girls are just not

9:30 p.m.-All of this action today has really taken its toll on me, I'm bushed! reany taken its tool on me, I'm business.
Looks like I have had no luck with women today, I know Paul is working late at the Literary House-he'il let me sleep in his room. I know it's not much, but it's better than those bushes in front

A New Semester: From Jekyll to Hyde

by Andrea Kehoe

Even for those not fordiagnosed as schizophrenic, the beginning of a new semester brings many college students a different personality as well as new classes. Whether you classes. Whether you spent the holiday prematurely wrinkling your skin and shaking sand out of your shoes or serving Big Macs and Chicken McNuggets to the cuisine-conscious, it is bound to affect your state of mind upon retur-ning to campus, thus ac-counting for abrupt personality change.

Moreover, the flip of a page on the calendar psychologically offers a chance at "a fresh start" and students can again seek to attain that tenuous balance between academic performance (the reason your parents wanted you to go to col-lege) and social pleasure lege) and social pleasure (the reason you wanted to go to college). Students who spent the first semester in a state of "social passivity" resolve to begin emulating David Lee Roth, while others who vowed in September to "live on the edge" denide "live on the edge" decide to trade in their thrill-seeking lifestyle for a shot at a whole number for a grade point documentaries about out in a field at night to penguin mating rituals fry an egg is always fun, and studying lists of ar- and awakening drunken cane vocabulary words in friends to hear them the hope that someday answering your inquiries they might get into a wild Scrabble tournament.

off the cuff

Months of seeking entertainment by inven ting new latchhook designs, doing taste tests on mouthwash and waxon mouthwash and wax-ing the floors of the dor-mitory can drive "social passives" to such ex-tremes of boredom that they read the dining hall menu a week in advance to plan what will be tolerable to consume. Wearied of trying to recall all the verses to "It's A Small World" or "Home on the Range," these individuals seek to alleviate the tedium in their lives by going to Miss Dee's to see who is on the list of people not paid up on their charge or by cutting arbitrary sections of their hair to see what the resulting geometric shape will be.

"eccentricity is the last taboo at Washington College."

The "social passives" (for example, frat members in diligent pursuit of the Inter-Fraternity Loving Cup) realize that their habits are more suited to a nursing home than to a college whose real Dartmouth connection is not a computer link but its feeling of kinship for John Belushi's frat friends in Animal House. They know that National Lam-

"Social actives," particularly those whose wild ways landed them on the Academic Probation list, also often seek to change their ways at the start of the new se Nocturnal adventures ennocturnal adventures en-compassing travel up and down the Eastern Shore (such as biking to Smiley's on a tandem) can be exciting, but lack of sleep takes its toll and eccentricity is the last poon doesn't make taboo at Washington Colpoon doesn't make taboo at Washington Col-movies about people who lege. Adventure can be spend their Saturday found a little closer to nights watching home, of course: going documentaries about out in a field at night to earning experience.

Eventually, though, anyone seeking unusual anyone seeking unusual experiences locally runs the risk of disappoint-ment: people-watching in Chestertown's park hard-ly offers the social aber-rations to be found around Baltimore's in-famous "Block" or anywhere in the Rig or anywhere in the Big Apnle and playing beerng in the Coffeehouse the object being to avoid hitting the ping-pong ball in the opponent's cup of beer, hardly constitutes unconventional

Reforming "social actives" may begin to long for the days when wearing clothes in colors that clash did not represent the biggest thrill of a weekend and resentment of their new boring-but healthy-and-sane lifestyle may build. Un-fortunately, they often ent their vindictiveness by refusing to water their innocent plants, using the liquid on their wood fur-niture instead.

Boredom, however, is habit-forming, and these individuals will soon find themselves content to spend hours reading the emoirs of Lee Iacocca and the warranties to their old appliances or carefully laundering their clothing to avoid ring-around-the-collar.

Of course, former "social actives" can still find entertainment in that me-honored Washington College tradition: gossiping about the intimate details of other people's lives and drinking a sufficient amount of fermented liquids to cause the additional incidents of ntierly uninhibited acts that further fertilize the college

SPORTS

Shoremen Take Four of Five

by John Bodnar
After three weeks into a new year, most of us have already year, most or us have aireauy failed to live up to our New Year's resolutions. One group of guys, however, haven't fail-ed to live up to their resolu-

The young but talented Washington College basketball team is off and scoring with wins in four of their first five games of the new year to boost their record to 8-5.
Said Head Coach Finnegan,

"We've improved, but we have to keep on improving. We

Andy Bauer, MAC's Southern League Player of the Week.

The Shoremen's latest vic-tories were a 101-81 trounce over Catholic University, a 108-69 blowout over New England College, a 92-74 romp over Salisbury State, and a satisfy-ing 79-64 victory over The Johns Hopkins University.

haven't reached our full poten-

"The victory over Catholic University was definitely one of our best played games of the season," said Finnegan. "It was a big game for us. Last year they beat us by one point in overtime."

The win over Salisbury State was also a big win for the team, as well as a rewarding game for Sophomore Andy Bauer. Bauer scored a game high 18 points, a team high ten rebounds and three steals. Bauer also held Salisbury's scoring Ron Pritchett to four points in the second half.

W.C.'s only defeat in the five game stretch was an 89-86 neartbreaking overtime loss to Gettysburg College. In spite of the loss, the Shoremen cut a 12 point Gettysburg lead with just seven minutes remaining in the game to tie the score at 77, forcing the game into over

A key to the Shoremen's latest success has been the strength of their bench.

"The guys on the bench are as good as the guys who play," according to Finnegan. "Having a solid bench enables me to put together several strong combinations of players. Tom McVan, Matt Wilson, and

"The victory over Catholic was definitely one of our best played games of the season."

SUPER SPECIAL

COFFEE HOUSE

SUPER BOWL SUNDAY (JAN. 25)

Hot Dog & Coke 50° WATCH GAME ON LARGE SCREEN TV 6 Pack of Soda *1.69 + Tax

PHIL'S FARM MKT. LIQUOR . WINE . BEER

Subs, Deli, Groceries COLD CARRY OUT Md. State Lottery

LOTTO/NUMBERS GAME OPEN 20 HOURS DAILY

7 DAYS A WEEK HAVING A PARTY? CALL NOW 778-1893

FLATLAND RD., CHESTERTOWN WELCOME BACK!

Charles (Tank) Duckett have done a fine job.

A challenging schedule re-mains on tap for the Shoremen. Eight of the Shoremen's remaining 11 games will be con-ference games. In order for W.C. to qualify for any post season play, they must finish first or second in the con-ference. The Shoremen are currently 1-1 in the conference "We have to do it," Finnegan said. "We have the nucleus of a fine team if we continue to work hard at it."

The Shoremen have three home games next week, including an Alumni vs. Alumni game on Saturday, January 31, at 5:15 p.m., prior to the Haverford game.

Coley

Charlie Laura

Welcome Back!

Ye Olde Towne Barber & Stylists A & P Parking Lot Chestertown, Maryland 21520

Monday - Saturday

phone 778-4771

COMPLIMENTARY GLASS OF WINE WELCOME BACK STEAKS . SEAFOOD . COCKTAILS BUFFET EVERY SUNDAY 12-5 HAPPY HOUR - DAILY 4:30-6

CHESTERTOWN, MD. Rt. 213 & 291 (COUPON REQUIRED)

RESTAURANT

AIR TAXI SERVICE AVAILABLE SCHEELER FIELD 778-1222

Sports Calendar

Saturday 24

Swarthmore (A) Juanita/Notre Dame 1:€

Tuesday 27

Basketball Ursinus 7:30 p.m.

Thursday 29

Rackethall Swarthmore 7:30 p.m. Swimming Goucher (A)

Anyone interested in taking Lifetime ing Lifetime Fitness courses can still sign up for

Here Comes the Super Bowl

I was told to write something about the Super Bowl this week, since it is generally regarded as the sporting event of the year and it just happens to take place this Sunday. How conve-dient. So here goes: the last several super Bowls have been uncompetitive, over-hyped demonstrations of boredom. And this year's appears to promise much of the same.

on Sunday, after two weeks of inter-news and photo sessions and news teatures and other fun and games, in sunny Pasadena, California, the Denver Broncos and the New York Giants will finally square off in Super Bowl XXI. The Giants seem to be destiny's team, and are favored to win destiny's team, and are ravored to win by ten. I and many others think it may be even more lopsided. Still, tens of millions of fans will watch the game on CBS, while others watch the game on CBS, while others will pay up to $1,500 or more to get a seat in the Rose Bowl, this year's Super Site. One can only ask, why?

It's simple. Americans possess a lust or athletics which this game seems to satisfy. The set up is perfect: two emp-ty weeks in January to hype up a one game, all or nothing-at-all championship. It's so perfect that a growing group of individuals within and outside the USA want to emulate it. They are grumbling for a playoff format where the top eight teams would meet in the four tradi-tional bowls- the Rose, Sugar, Cotton, and Orange- around Thanksgiving. The four winners would then meet to nar-row it down to two. The final survivors en have it out to decide who the undisputed champion is in what the Rose, Sugar, Cotton, and Orangewould transform into pre-holiday initially led by Joe Paterno, Penn playoff would have on college's true State's coach, of the NCAA are pushing purpose education after all of the prostrate of athletics I think that we all understand what happens when this occurs. With many teams vying to become a part of the elite eight- and further to become part of the elite one- and with championship money flying around, athletic depart-ments would only be harder pressed for victory- and with victory more hard-pressed, athletics would step up another few rungs above academics in the college ballgame.

If we want to further overemphasize college athletics at the expansion of academics, then a football playoff for major colleges is a step in the right direction. But if we want to install a sense of sanity and respect into college sports, or we want to put the college back into college athletics, then we should move the other way, toward deemphasization. At least, we should re-main partially low key. For now, one amounts to a college Super Bowl.

'Americans possess a lust for athletics."

Much of this chatter is the result of this year's college championship, the Fiesta Bowl. There, two undefeated teams, Penn State and Miami, met to decide an undisputed champion, a rare occurence under the present policy system. With a playoff system, however, it would be an annual ex-

And so now several college powers.

preparations for the eventual chamionship come New Year's Day On the flip side, a playoff system would give renewed meaning to the overworn bowl games. With the bowls becoming hard-pressed for money and purpose, a playoff format would give back some meaning to the traditional

But more important than its effects

Setpoint Is Key To Weight Loss

by Christine Wiant
Has all that holiday cheer caught up with you? Find yourself struggling into your lavorite jeans that fit a dozen or so cookies ago? Now, with bathing suit season closing in yes, four more months till your you find the months that your body is bared to the world - do you find yourself eating less, but hungry most of the time? Out of energy? Well, eating less and doing less do not a successful diet make Many fitness experts agree that the body has a setpoint for fat storage. A dieter with a high setpoint will experience st constant hunger. When food intake is lowered, energy levels will be lower, directly af feeting the rate at which talories are burned. It seems to be a losing battle. But you can lower your setpoint through a combination of exercise and dieting. Repeated dieting lowers your metabolic rate and trains the body to increase its ability to conserve energy, making weight loss by calorie reduction harder and

Exercise raises your metabolic rate and the body metabolic rate and the body uses calories at a faster rate for hours after exercise. To determine the number of calories you need to maintain your weight, multiply your weight, by 13 (sedentary lifestyle), 14 (some exercise during the week), 15 (regular during the week), 15 (regular exercise program), 16 also cause you to eat less. Although researchers aren't

Once the body gets into its sure yet, they believe that workout, it's time to concen-when the body starts to burn trate on the one your mouth fat for fuel instead of glucose, may be getting. Stock up on blochemical byproducts called detone bodies are produced, Eat whole fruits instead of fat

Exercise not only lowers set exercise involving the arms salt. The taste sensation of sale point and burns fat for a period raises your heart rate faster ty and sweet signal your body of up to 24 hours after an and moves up into a more proto eat, while unripe and bitter aerobic type workout, but may ductive workout more quickly are signals to stop. Est more also cause you to eat less. result of chewing, and fiber is held longer in the stomach, contributing to appetite satisfaction. Fiber is found in foods such as carrots, celery,

Stock up on cushion foods. Foods low in calories that don't make you hungry are bananas,

"Exercise should be done at least three times a week for noticeable results."

(vigorous lifestyle), 17 (heavy exercise regimen every day). It takes approximately 36 days for your body to adapt to new for your body to adapt to new eating habits. So quick, two week weight loss programs won't work. They only add to the weight gain after your metabolism has slowed and you return to normal eating which act as appetite sup-

Exercise should be done at least three times a week, preferably four, to produce noticeable results. Working up a sweat keeps the fat burning without having to burn yourself out with overly strenuous workouts. Light to moderate drinking juice. Shortening the digestive process takes away from the appetite satisfaction btained from chewing. Avoid apples, oranges, baked potatoes, and popcorn. Try to eat smaller, more frequent meals. The body needs one hundred calories per hour, so small meals keep the body from storing excess calories as fat. Water, the most important drink, is calorie-free, and, if you drink it with a meal or in between meals, helps to make your stomach feel full, so you can avoid excess eating.

Amitu Bakery and Coffee Shop

Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies, ial Occasion Cakes On Order

Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M. Lunch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228 Mon.-Sat. 5 A.M.-5 P.M. Sunday 5 A.M.-2 P.M.

ROSES FURNITURE. ANTIQUES AND COLLECTABLES

314 PARK ROW, CHESTERTOWN, MD 21620

301-778-1522 MON-SAT. 10:00 AM-5:00 PM, SUN. 1:30-5:00 Vintage, Clothing, Jewelry, Etc.

With $25 Purchase Of Clothing FREE Your Choice of 1 Piece of Jewelry From Selected Stock

KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA SUN SYSTEM

at

FMILY HAIRDRESSER

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

Freshmen Writers Define Themselves

nen creative writers will give a reading on Monday. Pictured are Cannon, Geoffrey Girard, Michael McGinnis, Elizabeth Rollins er Harrison, Alison Auber, Erin Murphy, and Mary Riner.

10RE SEUP-MENP Use this HANDY E BEACH Z AMAZE YOUR FRIEN We all have certain instincts to insure contin-uation of the VIN species ...

the next generati

by Alison K. Auber Eight students from the Freshman Creative Writing class have been chosen by their colleagues to display their talents as poets and short story writers. It will be one day of glory to make up for the inter-minable rejections from rejections from and publishers magazines later in life.

decided she was the kind of person who "loved death"

This Freshman Reading will take place on Monday, January 26 in the O'Neill Literary House Press Room. A dinner will be held in honor of the creative writers on Sunday. In addition to the reading, a paragraph about who they consider themselves to be. He maintained that they are exactly the people who would come up with unique and unusual answers to this age-old question. Freshman writer Elizabeth Rollins decided that she was the kind of person who "loved death."

Reading their work is a welcome break for the freshmen. When asked how it felt to be chosen Elizabeth Rollins but very exciting at the same time." In response to the same question, Geoffrey Girard question, Geottrey Girard feels, "it's a great opportunity to try my work out on other people and quite an honor to be chosen besides."

> Senior Paul Henderson added, "The reading is a chance for freshmen to have people hear their work — people other than in the creative writing class"

Each student chosen must read between five and ten minutes of their poetry or fiction. It can be quite a problem picking and choosing between this poem and that short story. Mary Riner says she's got "too much poetry. It's really hard to pick the pieces I want to read.

The Freshman Reading is a valuable opportunity for talented writers to show the in addution to the reading, a talented writers to show the magazine consisting of their rest of the campus, and anyone work will be published by else who is interested, when seniors Eric Lorberer and they are capable of creating. It Maggie Virkus. Lorberer ask—also helps them set their goals ed the freshumen to write a and aspirations even higher.

Welcome Back Special Until January 31 10% OFF With This Coupon

FORNEY'S JEWELERS

106 Cross St., Chestertown 778-1966

NOTICE

Wednesday, January 28 is the LAST day to return books to the BOOKSTORE

We will not accept books that have been marked or used in any way.

Campus Calendar

FRI 23

Film Series: A ROOM forman James Theatre 7:30 p.m.

Theta's all-campus party Cullen, 9-2 a.m.

Tom Larsen Band

SUN 25

Film Series: A ROOM Norman James Theatre

MON 26

Film Series: A ROOM WITH A VIEW Norman James Theatre 7:30 p.m.

Freshman Reading O'Neill Literary House 8:00 p.m.

On Kissing and Beethoven In Edwardian England

My God, he kissed her! Ye George Emerson (John Sand kisses the innocent young Lo Honeychurch (Helena Bonh Carter) during a picnic. You Edwardian women aren't st posed to do such things. This one of the key scenes from Room With A View, this we film series feature

After a game of lawn ten working class George kiss the upper middle class 16 Honeychurch again... deep her engagement to Cecil Vy All this kissing may not George's fault, since Lucy been known to P Beethoven's music. How proper for a young lady!

Good performances by sporting actors help to me this coming-of-age story in wardian England both size and interesting. The film based on the E.M. Fors novel of the same name. The magazine has called it, Passage To India miniature."

Roll Over Those Rocks To Find Good Music In '86

The past year has not been a sechbuster in popular music. I certainly has not produced a age selling album a la the schael Jackson or Bruce Spr-agteen albums of recent sars, nor did it produce any age concerts along the lines of Live Aid or the Us festivals. here was the Amnesty Interason that got lost in the shuf-, and the Dylan/Petty/Dead cert in RFK was not the oncert experience of the year

Albums from some of the big nds of the past were un-tisfactory: Van Halen, The alling Stones, Queen, and mesis all proved to be disap-inting critically. Even some the old guard stars of the sixs put out solo albums that wed to be inferior. John serty, Neil Young, Tina mer, Paul McCartney and b Dylan have made better buns in the past. Some cur-burs of solo performers also eleased disappointing buns, as with David Lee th, Ric Ocasik, or that lead

o what did we get? Was 1986 wid of good rock and roll? by you just had to look a bit

Paul Simon's Graceland contains an odd aggregation of South African, Ca-jun, and Zydeco music. Graceland is the best album of 1986. It is one of the most exciting albums released in years, creating a new brand of music for the eighties.

albums all along finally received the popular support that thing any critic will do: combety deserve. Skew Emwood pile a best of its. Barclay and Peter Gabriel scored hit Green and I have come up with albums with songs that mixed what we think to be the best of big doses of soulful singing '85. I will be the first to admit

"Some Of The Best Rock And Roll That Made It To The Airwayes This Year Comes From Rock's Roots."

ter for it, remember some in to some of the new crop tick bands that are showing in the club circuit now.

of course, not all of the old if was good, and The stees were not the only stees were not the only six to be dredged out of rock to le's often embarrassing the Monkees were not the the attention they sived in their hey-day and 'certainly did not deserve have six (SIX!!!) albums and and have all of them con the charts.

ene of the best rock and bat made it to the air-ies in a big way this past is new but comes from the first best of the second of the second second of the second second of the second second of the second second second second of the second s tily been making good

with a well-produced blend of funk and ballads that were notable for their lack of pretense; a quality that was particularly endearing this year. They avoided the sappy lear. They avoided the sappy lear. They avoided the sappy lear that they are the same cock as seen to love, at the biguous crites for love, at the tion, and see that have recently tion, and sex that have recently been glutting the market.

Paul Simon also released a wonderful album in 1986. Graceland explores the exotic pop sounds of South Africa, Louisiana and Southern California, managing to serve both as a vehicle for his usual exquisite songwriting and to introduce us to music that has often been neglected on the all too insular playlists of America. The album has recently taken heat from some groups who are accusing Simon of plundering Africa's musical heritage, but these accusations are unwarranted. In a year when rock and roll seemed to have hit the doldrums there were a few albums that looked back at music's roots. Graceland look-ed the farthest back and emerged as the best album of the year. that I have not heard many albums that are no doubt wor-thy of being on the list in 1986, but as far as I know these are the albums that represent the best of the year. With no further qualifications and in no specific order—the best of '86.

Entertainment

Calendar

Theatre South Pacific Fells Point Dinner Theatre Through March 22. 522-4126

The Lyric Opera House Opens March 3, 7:30 p.m. 529-3109

ART

The Funny Side of Science Cartoons and Painting by Sidney Harris. Maryland Science Center 685-2370

Dutch Masterworks from the Bredius Museum: A Connoisseur's Collection Walters Art Gallery 529-3109

FOOT OF CANNON ST. CHESTERTOWN, MD. 21620

301-778-3566

COLLEGE PARK, MARYLAND

Monday, February 2 University of Maryland; Adele H. Stamp Union; Colony Ballroom Singers: 1 - 3 PM; Dancers: 4 - 5 PM Instrumentalists, Specialty Acts, & Technicians: 1 - 5 PM

BALTIMORE, MARYLAND Tuesday, February 3
Towson State University; Fine Arts Cente Singers: 4 - 6 PM; Dancers: 7 - 8 PM
pentalists, Specialty Acts, & Technicians: 4

KINGS ISLAND - KINGS DOMINION - CAROWINDS
CANADA'S WONDERLAND - GREAT AMERICA
AUSTRALIA'S WONDERLAND - KINGS Freductions 1987

JUNIOR YEAR ABROAD

Now is the time to move ahead with your applications for the junior year at Manchester College Oxford.

Each interested sophomore should now do two things:

(1) Write a brief, one-page account of why you are interested in the Oxford year and what you hope to accomplish through study in England. State what academic subjects you would like to study at Oxford, and do not hesitate to comment on your cultural and extracurricular interests. The Manchester College prospectus for 1987-88 has arrived, and copies of this may be consulted in Mrs. Eaton's office next to the mail room and in Mrs. Russum's office in Ferguson. Please do not remove the prospectuses from these offices.

(2) As soon as possible ask three professors who know you best to write letters of recommendation, commenting if possible on your academic abilities and motivation, adaptability to a different system of education, cultural interests, and the contributions you might make to the life of this small, cosmopolitan English college.

These statements and letters should be sent to Dean Alice Berry by February 20.

Graceland Gives Most Heavenly Music of the Year

by Barclay Green

Album of the Year: Graceland-Paul Simon

After several below par and commercially unsuccessful albums, Paul Simon has come back with a gem. Graceland is one of the most exciting albums released in several years. This synthesis of American rock and Soweto pop creates a new brand of mu in a decade when daring and innovation seem to be a thing of the past. Paul Simon's ageless voice and eloquent lyrics blend with the uplifting outh African tempos in son that are optimistic and joyful despite the oppressing cultural problems which they confront. album. It is the heart and soul of mankind revealed clearly and beautifully through mus Graceland is what rock 'n roll is all about Rappers RUN DMC have created a new sound for Aerosmith's classic, "Walk this Way" on their new album, Reising Hell.

Honorable Mentions

Live '75/'85-Bruce Springs teen and the E Street Band

There's no one in the business who can match Springsteen in concert, and the best of The Boss is now on compact disc. This album sets standards for live performances

Back In The High Life-Steve

and live recordings that will not be surpassed for many years. A definite classic from beginning to end.

1960's and early 1970's, but this album more than makes up for it. The ex-leader of Traffic has found his voice again. Back In The High Life is soulfully sung and has materials to match. A must for Winwood fans, old and new alike.

So-Peter Gabriel

Despite recording excellent albums, Peter Gabriel has never received the popular acclaim he deserves. So is mak-ing amends for this injustice. The former Genesis member has recorded an album funkier and brighter than anything else released this year. A critical success as well as a commercial one, So rates as high on content as on sound.

Raising Hell-Run D.M.C.

Though there have been bet-Raising Hell has met with un-precedented success. Run D.M.C. has combined white and black music to create their own style which can best be described as beige rap first album to successfully bring rap into the mainstream scene, Raising Hell is as important historically musically.

Life's Rich Pageant-REN

The young men who be put Athens, Georgia, on a musical map have come up n another brilliant album. It Rich Pageant is a concess masterpiece. In a tapesty, recurring imagery, RE makes a passionate call change in a world that a come to prefer the status must be a worked, revres with a re-worked, revres With a re-worked, revved sound, R.E.M. shows why the are the future of America rock 'n' roll.

> C-Town liquors 8 Deli FEATURING.

HOMEMADE HOT SOUPS WASHINGTON CHESTERTOWN, MD

21620 778-2988

Quest Seeks Nicaraguan Dollars

national movement launched at a press conference on at a press conference on December 12, 1985. Its goal at that time was to match the aid to Nicaragua's Contra move ment which had been approved by Congress earlier this year The 'Quest' sought to unite all those individuals and organizations across the country who opposed current U.S. policy in caragua in an effort to send $27 million dollars in aid (food, clothing, medical and educa-tional supplies) to the Nicaraguan people. By June 1986 the campaign had reached might be interested in organizits goal, thanks to the paring and working with a "Quest ticipation of over 600 organizations and thousands of individuals. Now, in response to the $100 million in aid requested by the Reagan Administration and approved by Congress, the "Quest for Peace" Campaign goes on, and again the goal is to match the amount voted by Congress dollar for dollar.

Any students or faculty members who would like to learn more about the "Quest for Peace" Campaign and who

ing and working with a "Quest for Peace Committee" at Washington College, are invited to attend a meeting on Tuesday, January 27 in the Stu-dent Center T.V. Room at 7:00 p.m. A video from the Quixote Center which gives background material on the Nicaraguan conflict and on the "Quest for Peace" Campaign will be shown and discussion will follow. Printed materials will follow. Frinted materials describing the campaign and what Washington College can do to participate in it will be available.

Chestertown Movie Theater STAR TREK 4

Jan. 23-29 778-1575

Hours: Fri.-Sun. 789 p.m. Mos.-Thurs. 745 p.m.

"ELEGANTLY FUNNY

'A Room With a View' is like a holiday out of time. Splendidly acted...Quite an achievement." - Vincent Canby, NEW YORK TIMES

WASHINGTON COLLEGE FILM SERIES FRIDAY * SUNDAY * MONDAY 7:30 P.M. $1 Admission NORMAN JAMES THEATER

Cinecom

Campus Paperback Bestsellers

- It Came From the Fer Side, by Gary Lancon. (Andrews, McMl & Parker, $5,95.) The latest carbons from the Fer Side. The Fer Side Gellery 2, by Gary Lamon (i Parker $9.95) Collection of Fer Side control
- The Hunt for Red October, by Tom Clancy. (Berkley, $4.50).
   The incredible chase of a nuclear submetine.
- The Accidental Yourlet, by Anne Tyler (Barkley, $4.50. Odd domestic life of a travel writer.
- 6. Galepagos, by Kurt Vornegut (Delt, $4.50.) Madcap genealogical adventure.
- 8. Secrets, by Devielle Steel (Dell, $4.95.) Behind the sce
- The Bachman Books, by Stephan King, (NAL/Signet, $5.95. A collection of lour of his series) works.

New & Recommended

Always Coming Home, by Linsale K. LeGuin. (Bertism, $4.95.) The story of the Kesh, a prescript people of the law killing.

ELMO ISLAND

CAREFUL! ENEMY MIME FIELD.

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 15

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, January 30, 1987

This awkward view may be familiar to students who have slipped down the icy back steps of Bill Smith. Students were to classes this week, but more snow is predicted.

Grading System Evaluated

by Audra M. Philippon
The use of plus/minus system of grading has come under serious consideration in the Admissions and Academic Standing Committee recently. Changes in the grading system could have profound effects on the way in which students interpret their own performance.

A proposal scheduled to face a faculty vote in March recomends the elimination of pluses and minuses. Also included in the Committee's pro-posal is a minimum G.P.A. required for graduation and possibly the removal of ransfer grades.

Adoption of pluses and minuses encouraged more faculty members to give them faculty members to give them
out. "For convenience," explained Dean of Students Maureen McIntire, "the Registrar assigned a weight or a value to those grades to calculate grade point averages for his uses." Those uses include class rank, Dean's List, someste and cumulative
someste and cumulative
for Commencement, etc.
However, the College never

However, the College never However, the college never accepted grade point averages to evaluate students' transcripts. In other words, "The impact of pluses and cellent, but that it is the highest you can get. There's not really such a thing as an A+." He continued, "If you're going to start being that accurate, we should distinguish those students who barely fail and those who fail spectacular-Excellence is excellence, ly ... Excellence is excell just like failure is failure.

Clark simply said, "the frequency of A+s is frankly quite rare, anyway. And besides, who gives an F-?"

Giving weights to A+s and s would have destroyed the 4.0 system. Although there are exceptions, Clarke found few other schools that give 4.3s for

SJB Revisions Proposed

Creating a more speedy and effective student judicial system is the purpose behind the recently proposed revisions in the present student judicial codes under consideration by the SJB and the office of Student things. office of Student Affairs.

board. First, an additional position is proposed for a position is proposed for a "Chief Investigator" for the purpose of "heading the investigation division of the State dent Conduct Council." Se-cond, the number of board

" 'Student Newspaper's Rights of Access of Judicial Proceedings' is not included in the newly proposed codes"

A number of proposals, basically limited to changes in judicial structure and terminology, were presented last fall by Student Judicial Board Chairman Chris Fascetta. After approval by both the Judicial Board and Student Affairs, the agreed proposals will go before the College faculty for final approval, possibly as soon as mid February.

The language of the codes and the names of the judicial boards will be changed. The Student Judicial Board will be called the "Student Conduct Council" (SCC) while the Judicial Screening Board will be called the "Conduct Screen-ing Board" (CSB). Terms such as "defendant," "court," and as "getendant," "court," and
"jury" will be changed to
"Party in Question,", "council," and "council panel," respectively. Instead," respectively. Instead of deciding the "guilt" of a party in question, the council panel will decide the "responsibility of actions.

"The whole idea of the changes in terminology is to get away from the legal sounding aspects in the SJB," said

Two of the most significant revisions involve changes in members will be raised from eight to ten, with five members hearing each case. Each case requires a majority decision; this was proposed to prevent having juries or mistrials.

Time limits will be cut to speed up cases. The amount of time allowed to act on a given case after notification of the CSB will be lowered from ten days to five. Notification of the parties in question is lowered from seven days to three.

The section of the student judicial code entitled "Student Newspaper's Rights of Access to Judicial Proceedings" is not included in the newly proposed codes. This section previously allowed The Elm attendance at all SJB and ACJ hearings, a formal statement including a summary of the case and the decision, and appropriate ad-ditional information from private hearings or the SJB. In the newly revised codes, The Elm would be denied any of these rights.

"We're not a bunch of gavelwielding kangaroos as Schuster (Editor-in-Chief of The Elm) implies. We base our decisions on school policy. Without student-run organiza-

continued on page 5

"There's not really such a thing as an A+"

been allowed to give students pluses and minuses on their report cards, but the distinction did not appear on a usinction did not appear on a student's official transcript. Any kind of A was worth 4.0; any kind of B was 3.0, for example. In 1982, explained Gary Clarke, chairman of the Admission. missions and Academic Stan-Committee. students began asking for the pluses and minuses to be registered on their transcripts, believing that the increased accuracy would work to their benefit. The faculty accepted the new system, and the Class of 87 was the first class to receive of ficial and the class of their pluses. ficial credit for their pluses was insignificant,' said McIntire, "because the College didn't (and still doesn't) use G.P.A.s

The inconsistency created by the mutual existence of the two grading systems has caused several inequities for students for the past four years. First, this is the first year when all four classes were evaluated with pluses and minuses. The registrar has been juggling two different grading systems for four years.
Second, the faculty voted in 1983 not to grant extra value to A+s or less value to F-s. Dr. Albert Briggs of the Committee explained: "Some faculty feel that an A is not only exA+s or negative G.P.A.s for Fwhen the Committee studied the system in 1982.

Briggs points out a third anomaly created by the par-tially adopted plus/minus system. "There's a lot more of a difference between As and Bs a difference between As and Bs than between Bs and B+s," he said. Yet, under the present system, four B+s is a better average than two As and two Descriptions. Bs. Similarly, Briggs explain-ed "To get from a C to a C+ is nowhere near as hard as get-ting from a C+ to a B-." The present system does not weight the letter grade jump any dif-ferently than the plus or minus

continued on page 4

INSIDE:

Letters To The Editor.....p.2 Phi Kap Rejects WC.....p.4 Racism On Campus......p.6 Cheerleading Squad......p.7 Shoremen Win Again..... p.8 Album Review..... p.12

OPINION

Editorial

Grading System Gets D-

The goal of any college is to offer students the opportuni-ty to gain an education. Those students who strive to learn as much as they can should be rewarded; those students as much as they can should be rewarded; those students who slack off and perform poorly should not be rewarded. Washington College's grading system using pluses and minuses, unfortunately, does not seem to abide by that principle. Here, there is no grade incentive to do any better than a low "A." "A+" are not rewarded any more than "A"s are. A "D-" option was instituted that spares lazy "students" from failing while still giving them credit for a

Each letter grade is worth one point in calculating Each fetter grate is worth one point in Carculating G.P.A.; the plus, the minus, and the single letter are each worth one third of that point. For example, a "C-" is worth 1.57, a "C" is worth 2.0, and a "C+" is worth 2.33. The scale goes no lower than 0.0 or the equivalent of an "F+". However, at the top of the scale, the "A+" is only worth as However, at the top of the scale, the "A+" is only worth as much as an "A". In other words, to do better than a 93 in class is a waste. For some, an "A" may seem sufficient and the value of an "A+" may be trivial, but the academic hike from an "A-" to an "A+" is an especially arduous one. The student who averages better than a 96 in class deserves the most credit available.

The College is bending over backwards to rescue slugs that perhaps don't even belong at Washington College, and yet it is ignoring its most successful students all the while espousing academic achievement and scholastic effort

The Admissions and Academic Standing Committee is now discussing the elimination of pluses and minuses and reverting back to simple letter grades. Although this system would alleviate the unfairness at the top of the grade scale, it still does not offer the additional recognition outstanding students earn

Perhaps the 4.0 scale could be extended to offer a 4.3 for , while still maintaining the failing cut-off point at 0.0. the degree of failure (i.e., giving an "F+" or an "F-") is irrelevant anyway: the College already states that anything below s "D-" is unacceptable. Once a student is below the minimum, it doesn't matter how far below he or she is. Or, if the scale were started a third of a point lower ("F" equals 0.0, "D-" equals 0.33, "D" equals 0.67..."A" equals 3.67, "A+" equals 4.0), there would be enough room equals 3.01, "A" equals 3.01, the "A+", a perfect score, at the top of the 4.0 scale to give an "A+", a perfect score. The issue is tentatively scheduled to face the faculty in March. It is hoped that students and faculty keep fairness and earned rewards in mind when they vote.

A.M.P.

Washington College Elm

Editor-in-chief
Naws Editor
Festures Editor
Arts/Entertainment Editor
Sports Editor
Photography Editor Thomas M. Schuster

Audra M. Philippon

Andrea Kehoe

David Healey

Christine Wiant

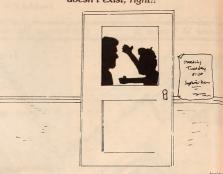

J.M. Fragomeni

Managing Editor National Advertising Manager Local Advertising Manager Circulation Manager Alison Shorter Michelle Royal ... Mariella Ruiz

The Elm is he official student newspaper of Washington College. The Fire is published every Friday during the academic year with the scape into it vections and scam weaks. In the control of vections and scam weaks in the commencer of the control of vections and scam weaks. In the commencer of t

So, It's OK to be a moron, but real genius doesn't exist, right!!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR mind? Members of the sports teams, of clubs and organiza

Driving Etiquette

While parked behind Bunting

on Monday, January 18, my 1982 Subaru four-door was struck in the right front fender another vehicle. driver apparently misjudged an angle while maneuvering into a space. It's not a very big dent, but it's quite obvious. And it's not the financial aspect that prompts me to write; after all, this car has been through the wars, legging 158,000 miles in four and a half years, and still looks quite presentable.

What bothers me most is that the other driver had to know that my car had been hit, and made no effort to be responsible by leaving a note behind expressing any willingness to correct the damage. In fact, the dent in that person's selfesteem disturbs me as much as the dent in the car. I'll still be happy to hear from the driver. Dal Holmes

Elected

To Serve

To The Editor

As a member of the S.G.A., (Yes, I'm still a member), I feel that I must reply to the editorial printed on January 23. First, I agree that students should be part of the investiga-tion into Student Affairs. What I disagree with is the state-ment, "Students - ones, in parment, Stitleents - Ones, in par-ticular, who know what they are doing - should certainly be a part of such an effort." Who, in particular did you have in tions, or maybe the people who don't get involved in school at all? No one can say for sure. But look at it this way. No one knew me and I was elected to the Senate. I didn't campaign and no issues were flashed before me. But it seems to me that the election of the Senate was not a popularity contest. I was elected to oversee the rights and concerns of the students and if that includes being appointed to a Task Force to look into any area, then I will. I have nothing to gain or lose as everyone knows. So I'll put away my Ray Bans and keep my Dick Tracy credentials in my wallet and do the job that I was elected to do. What that job is is up for you to decide Sincerely

Phil-Tom Jackson Off-Campus Senator

SGA Insecurities

To The Editor:

It has come to my attention that the SGA has begun another of its "in depth pro-bes" into a certain branch of the college administration.

First and foremost, I would like to applaud the job that all the branches of administration in this institution have done. It seems that there are always people who are so unsatisfied with themselves and their work that they must find another person to project their own insecurities upon. Positive feedback is what betters people and the job that they do, let's take all the necessary precautions to see that it is utilized to its greatest capacity. Please, no cheapshots!

Sincerely, Tim K. Gray Head Tennis Coach Widener University

Make Yourselves

Useful

To The Editor: Once again the SGA president has done his best Don Quixote impersonation quixote impersonation and found a new monster on this campus – the Student Affairs Office. This is distressing to many students who wish the SGA officers would spend more time organizing activities (with the money we pay them) and less time accompanying a President who, with lance in hand, gallops down the campus path looking to attack

This letter is not meant to be a defense for the Student Af fairs Office, which may or may not do its job properly. Instead we are suggesting the SGA stop scrutinizing other campus organizations and start per forming its own task Glorified Dance Organizers Have a nice day

Sincerely Jack Gilden Tom Layug Bob Morrow Walter Cox

Amity Bakery and Coffee Shop

Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies, Special Occasion Cakes On Orde

Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M Lunch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

Mon.-Sat. 5 A.M.-5 P.M. Sunday 5 A.M.-2 P.M.

**ATTENTION** Typing Done at Reasonable Rates Call Kathleen: 778-1039

Today's Students Are Smarter

#3S something straight out of the Sixched down the streets of an all white community. The result was something that some of us thought was dead in this time period. Members of the area Ku Klux Klan started to throw rocks, bottles and mud. There were also reports racial slurs and demanded that blacks

The events of last week have left a lasting impression on the country. It has opened up many questions that the young people of today must face. Colwondering whether others are resent- much needed federal dollars. It is terri- day cannot be answered easily. My

The answer to that question I leave be upset, but not good enough for up to you. If you believe that our dif-racism to become a resurging trend. ferences are just skin deep, then there is no reason for you to read any further.

I believe that if there is any racism among today's college students, then it is something that was passed on from previous generations. Or you could say that the trend may be resurging because some colleges have a number of minority students to take Many have a set number of blacks, Jews, etc. to enroll. The result is that other students are overlooked to get wondering whether others are resembled in the case in the case when the case is the case. These are all Are we really all that different?

very good reasons for some students to

Tom Jackson

Racism is a pretty ugly word that sparks feelings unlike any other. How this word and the feelings it generates are related to the college students of to-position on this subject is based on the fact that I myself have not openly felt any type of racism on this or any other campus. I will say that there are times when I feel that I can't get close to people, but this feeling goes away. The on-ly reason why I say this is because I'm always pushing people away from me.

I'd like to believe that today's students are smarter than the ones of the Sixties - that they look inside the book before worrying about what the cover looks like.

Tom Jackson is a non-degree student and an off-campus SGA senator

ISSUE:

Is Racism A Resurging Trend Among This Generation Of College Students?

Joe Maggio Junior Chestertown, Maryland

"I don't think that there's a lot of racism on college campuses - I think there's a tint of racism in our town, but it's not as told me it would be when I was a freshman. As far as college campuses go, I think students are still prejudiced towards other students' socioeconomic status, whether this reflects on the color of one's skin may or may not

Jenny Eisberg Freshman Westminister, Maryland

'While I don't "see" acts of racism on this campus, simply because the percen-tage of black people is low. I feel that verbal racism exists, perhaps as a result of the characteristics of ignorance of our parents conservative generation."

Laura Chase Senior Rockville, Maryland

Martin Luther King's desire to have a non-segregated America has yet to be totally fulfilled by the American people. I do feel that racism is a problem on college cam-puses even with students' awareness of civil rights doctrines as a result of the educational process.

Tank Duckett Freshman Severna Park, Maryland

"I don't think racism is resurging, it is around us everyday. I think this generation of college students can handle the situation and are better informed about what hap-pened in the past."

Neal T. Boulton Sophomore Columbia, Maryland

"Racism is not "back;" it never went away and un-fortunately it will be with us forever. My response here is that the present students can deal with the racism in and around them better than past genera-tions."

Campus Voices

by Michele Balze

Being Aware Impedes Racism

No, there is no resurging racism tge. But the truth is, racism still exists this world, and the students of Washington College must beware, erause it may pervade this communi-ly if we are not careful.

tw: it has been around for many tars. However, we may have been deluded into thinking that it disapbeinged into thinking that it disappeared after the civil rights movement if the 1960's. This, sadly, is not the tase, as three incidents from the past

The first of these occurred in April of ast year, in the small Eastern Shore community of Tilghman, Maryland, black family, having just moved to Tilghman, was rudely greeted one evening by a burning cross on their front lawn. The second of these occurred last month in a New suburb. Four black men were heading back to New York City when their car Side at each of careful.

Back to view fork city when their car broke down. When three of them walkhe fact that racism exists is nothing two it has tracism exists is nothing stars. However around for many assistance, they were assaulted by stars. However, when may have been three white youths. One of the black studed into thinking that it disapmen was killed. The last of these took place last Saturday in the all-white pro-vince of Forsyth County, Georgia. A peaceful protest march for integration of the county was marred by racial taunts and over fifty blacks as well as whites were arrested.

Syear, in the small Eastern Short White Market and State of Thighman, Maryland, Now that racism has been proven to Mach, incidentally, is fifteen miles exist, the question now becomes: How the many hometown of St. Michaels. A does this apply to Washington College? Now that racism has been proven to exist, the question now becomes: How well. These instances just mentioned seem to be an anachronism from the 1960's civil rights movement. In these more lenient 1980's, events like these a shock to those of us who believe that racism is nearly dead.

Tracy Smith

instances of racism tend to sneak up on us when our backs are turned. Just when we think it's safe to call ourselves brothers and sisters, we find events such as these which set this country's mentality back about twentyfive years.

The lesson we must learn here at the situation for granted. As a minority student here, I can look at the low number of minority students, faculty, and administration officials and say that this is a disappointing situation, but that it is not entirely (if at all) due to racism. There are extenuating factors which explain the whole story. Although I may be disappointed, I am pleased to admit that there hasn't been a racial incident that I have been in-volved in since I have been here. Hopefully, the College community will keep things as they are and never let racial incidents of any type "sneak up" while its back is turned. Tracy Smith is a junior majoring in Business Management

Honor Society Places WC On Hold

In October 1985, Washington College applied for a Phi Beta Kappa charter and was denied. A decade earlier, WC was also denied. Dr. John Taylor has recently requested Phi Beta Kappa to explain why the College was rejected.

"Phi Beta Kappa is a collegiate scholastic honor society, generally regarded as the ty, generally regarded as the most prestigious of such in the United States," according to Encyclopedia Americanna. Juniors and seniors are selected by Phi Beta Kappa faculty members on the basis of scholastic achievement.

Application to Phi Beta Kap pa is a two-step process, in-itiated only once every three years. WC had to fill out an extensive questionnaire regar ding such statistics like average SAT scores of incom-ing freshmen, library resources, the honors pro-gram, number of students gong on to graduate school, etc. According to Taylor, the ques-tionnaire and a $400 application fee was then review Beta Kappa's national "I think it's somewhat of an evbarrassment that we're one of the oldest colleges in the country, and we still don't have a charter ... "

The organization can either choose to examine the school more closely, or to reject it completely. In the mid 1970's, was examined further by a visiting team of evaluators from Phi Beta Kappa, but then rejected. Two years ago, WC did not even receive consideration after the first step.

Taylor, as chairman of a committee of Phi Beta Kappa know why WC wasn't granted "The letter they a charter. "The letter they sent back this time offered no clue why they denied us. It was uninformative," totally

The first rejection in the 1970s was attributed to WC's waning enrollment and uncertain financial standing, Taylor hypothesized. This time, Dean of the College, Elizabeth Baer pa found WC's graduation re-quirements too low - students can graduate with up to ten major.

"I think it's somewhat of an embarrassment that we're one of the oldest colleges in the country, and we still don't have a charter," said Taylor. Aside from academic recognition, the organization does not offer much tangible to from Phi Beta Kappa.

graduate, explained Taylor but it is still quite an honor. "The main reason school apply [for a phi Beta Kapa chapter] is to give ou, standing graduates the op-portunity to be elected to Ph Beta Kappa," said Taylor, "It's a shame . . . Pve See students here that would sure ly have been elected had the somewhere else. gaid

Baer pointed out, however that many other institutions of not have charters either many of which are larger than Washington College.

"They[Phi Beta Kappi claim it's not a 'rejection' said Taylor, "but it still feel that way." He explained however, that the Society car only examine so many scho at a time, so denial means ti Phi Beta Kappa merely decid ed not to consider WC at the point in time.

The Dean assures that W will apply again in the future The honor, she said, "is work it." Neither the Dean or Taylo know when to expect the letter of explanation they requested

G.P.A. Question Under Committee Review

More importantly. hoth Clarke and former registrar Ermon Foster have found that the availability of pluses and minuses have lowered students' averages. Professors tend to give more minuses than pluses...and it tends to lower students' grades on the whole." According to Dr. Robert Fallaw, another member of the Admissions and Academic Standing Commit-tee, the system was proposed, in the first place, as an effort to encourage students to do better

Lastly, when the 1983 pro-posal was adopted, the grade requirement for Dean's List was lowered from 3.5 (two As and two Bs) to 3.4. The proposal "lowered the standard to make Dean's List, Foster.

Now, students and faculty are asking the Committee to address the possibility of fully adopting G.P.A.s to determine class standing, awards, academic probation, etc. Students are still evaluated course by course. Academic Probation requires two Ds in a given semester, for example, rather than below a certain G.P.A. calculated using all four courses

The proposal being designed Admissions Academic Standing Committee require a minimum G.P.A. to graduate (e.g., 1.8). However, if a student got all G. a student got all C-s under this system (with that require-ment), he or she couldn't graduate, explained Fallaw. Thus, the whole existence of the plus and minus option is being reviewed.

The Committee tentatively plans to propose the following to the faculty: 1) the eliminasystem and return to simple accepted for graduation; and possibly 4) the exclusion of

Briggs. "Idon't think the facul-sonal touch of a small sense ty took the whole thing very that deals with students who seriously at the time." Foster records, rather than just a agreed, "if I were a student, I numbers."

calculating their G.P.A.s (only would prefer the other system grades acquired from WC will (simple letter grades)."

be counted in G.P.A.). Clark explained the "I wish we'd never adopted plus/minus system in a distribution of this system," lamented ferentlight: "I's the very per Briggs. "I don't think the facul-sonal touch of a small schw

G.P.A. required for graduation, and occupied for graduation of the control of the transfer students' grades wh SEND A Chestertown 357 High Street Trave MESSAGE Virginia Allen Judie Willock Centreville Representative/ Harriet Gearhart Airlines • Steamship • Railroad • Hotels Tours • Car Rental • Travel Insurance

ROSES FURNITURE. ANTIQUES

AND COLLECTABLES 314 PARK ROW, CHESTERTOWN, MD 21620

301-778-1522 MON-SAT, 10:00 AM-5:00 PM, SUN, 1:30-5:00 Vintage, Clothing, Jewelry, Etc.

With $25 Purchase Of Clothing FREE Your Choice of 1 Piece of Jewelry From Selected Stock

VALENTINE'S NO ONE WILL MISS

Advertise In THE ELM

Contact: Mariella Ruiz

778-2800 Ext. 321 Or In Caroline 311

Congratulations to John Congratulations to John Billingslea, the winner of the W.C.D.S. Super Bowl Contest.
Don't forget, next Wednesday the W.C.D.S. will have an Oriental Buffet in the main dining room. The menu features: Egg Drop Soup, Oriental Stir Fry, Shrimp Eggrolls, Almond Chow Mein, Steamed White Rice, Steamed Japanese Mix-ed Vegetables and Fortune

A big "THANK YOU" to all of you who bring your ID's to meals. With your cooperation the access system is working much better.

Did you know we have a new baker? Her name is Nancy Crites. Nancy has done an excellent job since coming to work for the W.C.D.S. Mrs Emily Bloomer, who shared the baker's section with her husband Ronnie for a number of years, retired the first of the year. Ronnie Bloomer is plann-ing on retiring the first of March. We are going to miss them both.

Speaking of the baker's secspeaking of the baker's sec-tion, I hope you enjoyed the lemon cheese bars served at lunch Friday. They are one of my personal favorites.

In the coming weeks look in Dinner and Dance, schedule for Saturday, February 14.

Anyone looking for sun employment is reminded the the W.C.D.S. Summer Co ference Program is accep applications. Positions waiters and waitresses, seing line, dishroom, laundry student center. For more formation, or to pick up and plication, see Jeff DeMoss Sharon Crew. Openings limited, so if you're interest APPLY NOW. Until ne week...MOM.

Snow Men

Thanks to the magnificent snow clearing efforts of the maintenance employees above, the WC campus was fully operational in short order after this week's storm. From left to right are Wes Derry, Randy Reynolds, Bill Maddox, Reggie Hynson, Hank Williams, Dave Antone, Frank Sutton, Jim Douglas and Bill Coleman. Not pictured is Joe Cathers, who was injured

Amnesty Chapter Gearing UP

by Amy Malkus

Since its start in November of last year, the Washington College Chapter of Amnesty International has been busy getting established. The first meeting drew over 100 people, and since then, more have join-

In only three months, the chapter has already sponsored a lecture on torture by Dr. Jeanette Sherbondy, as well as outdoor concert in the spring, and hopefully several films and speakers. They will also be running a campaign on the disappearances of people oc-curing daily in Sri Lanka.

curing dally in Sri Lanka.

Amnesty International is a group of people who believe in freedom. In many countries people are arrested simply for drinking a toast "To Freedom." These people are "The first meeting drew over 100 people, and since then, more have joined."

Judicial Board Revisions

tions, there would be total anarchy," said Fascetta, who hopes to see the SJB gain more respect once the proposed changes are approved and implemented.

"These changes should create a more speedy, simple, and more effective way to han-dle student misconduct," said Dr. Juan Lin, Chairman of the Student Affairs Committee. According to Lin, the changes are still in the developing stage and are not closed to amendments or compromise. proposals are flexible example) at some point The Elm has to be involved in publishing cases... but the rights of students must be pro-tected," said Lin.

Provided that the revisions are approved during the next faculty meeting, they will be implemented in September.

a Write-a-Thon. At that event, over 75 letters were sent out to countries all around the world asking for the release of prisoners of conscience - many of them students, teachers, and writers.

This semester, Amnesty plans to be even more active and visible on campus. T-shirts are being printed and will go on sale soon. The chapter hopes to sponsor an of torture or death, either for themselves or their families. Amnesty must be the voice of those who can only silently cry for freedom. When these silent pleas are given a voice, maybe someone will hear, and maybe things will start to change.

If you are interested in being a part of Amnesty Interna-tional, please contact Amy Malkus at 778-2729.

It's eleven p.m. Do you know where your paper is?

Let's be real. Compare the equipment she's using to yours. If you were both trying to tunnel through a mountain, she'd have a bulldozer and you'd have a shrimp fork

Don't despair. Your problem is already half-solved. For a limited time, you can buy an Apple* Macintosh Plus or a Macintosh 512K Enhanced computer with Microsoft Works-for less money.

Which is wonderful.

You get a Macintosh, with its speed, ease of use, and graphics capability. Plus, you get a software program that lets you use all this Macintosh power in all your subjects

Microsoft Works is not just one program, it's four integrated programs: word processing, data-base management, spreadsheet with charting, and communications.

Meaning you can put charts in your history essays. Spreadsheets in your economics papers. Call Dow Jones News Retrieval at 2:00 a.m. to get the facts for your journalism story due at 8:00 a.v.

So if you're taking more than one subject this semester, you should check out Macintosh and Microsoft Works.

But don't wait till the eleventh hour. This offer will end soon. And your paper might stay out all night.

Macintosh and Microsoft Works

WASHINGTON COLLEGE BOOKSTORE Hours: 8:30 A.M.-4:30 P.M. (Monday-Friday); 9:30 A.M.-1:00 P.M. (Saturday)

MONG . ASSN.

FEATURES

Racism Lingers On Campuses

by Andrea Kehoe

No one ever said a year at The Citadel, a military college in Charleston, S.C., would compare to life at a Swiss finishing school, but freshman Kevin Nesmith got more than he had bargained for

One night five other cadets, wearing white sheets and towels in imitation of Klan members, entered his room, tossed down a small, lighted paper cross and shouted racial insults. After culprits were discovered disciplined, reports of additional pre judice were made by other black students, and the FBI announced they would investigate racial harassment at The Citadel.

According to an article in People (12-5-86), expressions of racism on college campuses nationwide seem to be on the rise since the beginning of the academic year. Racist graffiti has plagued the University of Colorado, plagued the University of Colorado, Ohio State, Smith College and the State University of New York in Albany, some of it carrying particularly threatening messages: "We don't want threatening messages: "We don't want niggers on our floor. Leave tomorrow or die" and "It's jungle bunny season. Get out your .22s," are only two ex-violent overtones. The "Aryan Col-legiates" of the University of Texas claimed responsibility for the burning of an anti-apartheid shanty with a declaration to eliminate "outspoken minorities." At the University of minorities." At the University of Massachusetts in Amherst, a fight between drunken Red Sox and Mets fans after the World Series ended as a racial clash, as approximately 15 white students launched an attack on nearby eight of whom were later treated for injuries

At Washington College, however, black students report that they have not found themselves the targets of

Fighting For An Education

Junior Tracy Smith, warned by high school friends that he "would have to fight for (his) education" at an over-whelmingly white college, said he ar-rived here as fe rived here as a freshman on guard for blatant demonstrations of prejudice. Instead, he felt comfortable mixing with the white students, whom he found 'friendly but not condescenoften felt that she did not fit in with the

Smith said minority students can est combat bigotry by ignoring individuals who express prejudice and thus avoid igniting the situation

"Racism to me speaks of ig-norance," he said. "If someone were to call me a 'nigger,' then I would think the person didn't really know what that word means. The way I was raised nigger' is an ignorant person no matter what color you are.

While they do not feel they are targets of racism, some Washington College blacks said they are disappointed in the low numbers of minority students on campus.

'You kind of miss some of the things you would do if you were living with a lot of blacks," said Smith. "You know what they're like from living with them, you share the same social activities, you like to see the same people in concert

Though he regrets the absence of additional black students, Bethune emphasized that the racial composition of a school is less important to him than having a sense of belonging or getting a Washington College because his family felt the education here superior

Jackson said that he grew up around white people and feels comfortable with them because he does not want to be forced to meet black standards of behavior. "I don't really think I could emotionally handle going to an all-black school. I want to be myself,"

Coming from a high school where ne quarter of the student body was Bethune said that too often minorities tend to isolate themselves and form their own clique. "I like to in-tegrate myself and mingle with everyone. I don't like to just hang out with a separate crowd," he said.

Dropout Rates on the Rise

Raising the numbers of blacks at WC may not be an easy task. Since 1980, black enrollment in colleges across the country has risen only six percent, less than that of other minorities and a fall from the 246 percent gain between 1967 and 1976. At some schools, blacks constitute less than two percent of the population, and their dropout rate has increased partly due to government budget cuts in financial aid

Said Smith, "Blacks on the Eastern Shore can't afford Washington College. There aren't that many well-to-do black families on the Eastern Shore to black tamuies on the Eastern Shore to afford the cost." Although he came because the college offered him a scholarship that goes to a qualified minority student and because the loca-tion is close to his home in St. Michaels, he echoed Jackson in pointing out that many blacks avoid a school that is predominantly white.

Soon, perhaps, the student body at WC will be more diverse. Maureen Kelley McIntire, Dean of Students, said that in response to a memoran-dum from President Douglass Cater she is currently working on a plan to increase the appeal of the college to blacks and other minorities. "A mix is always more interesting, and offers a more creative approach to things," she said the students expressed concern that there are no black fact or administrators at Washington College. "There's nothing wrong with the faculty here, but I'd like to see a few black professors to have someone to relate to," Smith said.

Jackson, pointing out that a more racially diverse staff would improve relations with the local black com-munity, said that a history course munity, said that a history country taught by a black professor also might enlighten students about the pro-"enlighten students about the pro-blems blacks faced in the Sixties and the problems they face now. Students would understand why black students sometimes act the way they do." He explained that some black youths fed explained that some black youths fed them stories about the segregation and overt racism that took place before the civil rights movement.

Bethune, on the other hand, explain ed that he was used to being taught by whites: his Long Island, New York high school contained only one black teacher.

civil rights movement.

Interracial Dating

One problem that black students on a One problem that black students off ace, however, is the issue of interracial dating. Jackson, explaining that he ecasionally dated whites in high school and at Frostburg State College, saidht feels that is not considered a viable considered a viable control of the considered and at Frostburg State College, saidht feels that is not considered a viable considered c dating option among many groups at Washington College.

"Sometimes I feel I would like to go out with a couple of white girls, but I see who they hang out with, and knowl would not be accepted. They accept me as a black person but not as a black person dating a white girl," he said

Ironically, racism, even in its most subtle, underlying forms, seems to linger on college campuses, once the breeding grounds of the civil rights movement. All too often even the educated among today's generation sound much like the sixteen-year-old from Howard Beach, where a black man was hit by a car as he fled white youths who beat him and two friends after their car broke down in the New York community. The youth, who li many of his peers carries a basebal bat to keep outsiders away, declared "We own the turf of this neighborhood." If Whoopi Goldberg came into this neighborhood she'd be killed."

and their dropout rate has increased. Similarly, freshman Heath Bethune

At some schools, blacks constitute less than two percent of the population, said he encountered no barriers in for-ming friendships with whites when he arrived at Washington College: "The first week here I met so many people I didn't remember names." Tom Jackson, a sophomore, said that while he feels comfortable here most of the time, one black friend of his transferred from WC to Salisbury State College this semester because she good education. "It's how I feel when I'm there, not who's there. It's what you want to learn, not the people around you," he said.

Still, the students chose not to attend black colleges

Despite the fact that he initially planned to go to Howard University, a predominantly black school in Washington, D.C., Smith enrolled at Roosting basketball spirit...

C-H-E-E-R-L-E-A-D-E-R-S

by Mary Riner

g's the first basketball game the year. As the teams aparoach the court and begin varming up, a crowd of fans sit patiently anticipating the onoming action. Over in a corgra group of girls in burgunof and white mini-jumper outits sit calmly awaiting the inute, did I say calmly?!! Underneath their cool wilsh exterior, beats hearts at aree hundred miles per hour, salms sweating, butterflies flyng around, and the growing bar of developing a case of

of thought everyone mew what they were doing except me, then we were all in the iddle of the floor with hun reds of people staring at us. I was thinking are they going to dap, are we going to fall, or are they just going to sit there and stare at us?" said reshman Mary Beth Anderand stare at m, remembering her first ume as a Washington College heerleader.

Even though this was the season, these girls had another Washington College hasn't had ist basketball game of the reason to be nervous: a cheerleading squad in two years due to lack of interest or coaching material to organize a squad after Penny Fall, cheering coach for seventeen years, left the job. Another cause of these girls' nervous fits is that the squad was compiled only a month before the first game, which wouldn't be too bad except most of the girls had no previous experience Captain Tracey Coleman, an experienced cheerleader with seven years under her pom-poms, recalled, "We started a month before the first game. That's not much time. Out of twelve people, eight had never cheered before. We had to learn jumps, sidelines, floor cheers, and pyramids. We would practice whenever we could get any space.

After the concern of several of the spirited girls reached the of the spirited girls reached the administration, Karen Smith was appointed advisor of the squad. She, in turn, left all of the teaching up to Lauren Evewright, a senior and a Evewright, a senior and a former cheerleader for Washington College, who coached the girls at least an hour and a half every day for a month. After Evewright's teaching, Coleman and Jeanne King, both captains, were handed over the awesome responsibility of training and organizing the squad.

work is beginning to pay off The cheering squad has proshaky beginnings. Junior Patti Wienke looks back, "Most of us no experience and didn't know each other. We've come a long way.

Three months later the hard

Since they have revived the cheerleading spirit, many of the fans seem to be in support of their activity. Junior Camille Dickerson recalled Tuesday night's game. "(That) night was the first time we did the pyramid perfectly. Looking out into the crowd I could see mouths drop. It feels good to know that the fans like you." Added Wienke, "We receive most of our sup-port from Penny Fall, Coach Finnegan, and Coach Athey."

Even with all of this extra support, there are still students who believe in the stone age stereotype of the cheerleader the dizzy blonde whose brain is so pumped up with spirit, puppies, and butterflies that she has no room for anything ex-cept the hot air that escapes from her mouth as she giggles. "What a lot of people don't realize," commented Wienke, is that cheerleading takes a lot of coordination and concentration.

This year the squad only cheers at home games, but if the Washington College basketball team makes it to National's, then the cheerleaders will accompany them on their tournament. Tony Mace, one of the players, says, "I think if we play solid defense and our shooting continues as it has been, we have a good shot at National's.

Another player, Charles "Tank" Duckett, who calls the members "Modern Art on Legs," welcomes the new squad. "This year's cheerleaders are a welcome improvement from the previous veneral "hearts" of the previous veneral "hearts". previous years'," he said.

Looking for a Summer Job?

The Washington College Summer Conference Program is accepting applications for its 1987 Summer Program, from May 19 through August 22, with a minimum of 32 hours weekly. Positions are: serving line, waiters/waitresses, dishroom, laundry, and student center. For more information or to pick up an application, see Jeff DeMoss or Sharon

APPLY NOW-LIMITED OPENINGS AVAILABLE.

<sup>top</sup> form, the basketball team's boosters pile up into a pyramid to <sup>apl</sup>ay their sports spirit and rev up the fans.

SPORTS

Shoremen Storm Swarthmore And Ursinus

by John Bodnar

Mother Nature wasn't the only one whipping up ferocious winter storms this past week. The Washington College basketball team whipped up some storms of their own as they buried conference rivals Swarthmore College 87-69 and Ursinus College 74-64.

The victories improved the Shoremen's overall record to 10-5 and their conference record to 3-1.

Saturday, January 24, the Shoremen started out cold against Swarthmore, but quickly warmed up and built a ten-point lead by the end of the first half (41-31 In the second half, W.C. con-

the play of sophomores Andy tory keeps the Shore Bauer and Matt Wilson, ex- cond place in the Mi tended their lead and went on to win the game by an 18 point margin (87-69)

Said Coach Finnegan, "Bauer was hot and, at one point in the second half, Andy scored 11 of the team's 17 points. Matt Wilson played an excellent all-around game as he finished the game with 11 points, was 3-3 from the line, had seven rebounds, and five steals. Also, freshman guard Chris Brandt had a strong second half."

Tuesday, January 27, the Shoremen handed Ursinus Col- overall has played a tough lege their first conference loss schedule this season. Five tinued to dominate, and with with a 74-64 victory. The viccond place in the Mid-Atlantic conference with a 3-1 record behind Widener University, 3-

Ursinus, who is currently 2-1 in the conference and their nine losses have been to Division I and II schools. 'It was a good game for us," said Coach Finnegan. "We held Ursinus to only six field goals in the first half (23%) and built up a 30-21 lead by halftime."

In the second half, W.C. continued to hold down their opponent.

Finnegan said, "Andy Bauer did a great job of shutting down

Freshman Charles Johnson goes against Ursinus for control of the ball in esday night's victory down those two scorers was said Finnegan. definitely a key to our vic-

Prior to the Haverford gam will be the Alumni vs. Alum The Shoremen will host game at 5:15 p.m. On hand in

Mother Nature wasn't the only one whipping up ferocious winter storms this past week: W.C. 87, Swarthmore 69

Ursinus' scorer Joyner to only Ursinus' scorer Joyner to only seven points for the entire ference rival) on Saturday, saven points for the entire ference rival) on Saturday, annuary 31. "Haverford is a Matt Wilson teamed up to put much-improved team over last the clamps on Ursinus' other year and is currently coming Haverford College (also a con-ference rival) on Saturday, big scorer, who scored six off an overtime victory over points for the game. Shutting Johns Hopkins University," will be holding scorers Kurt Keller's Bob Fornoff '85, and Coat Finnegan '65, along with man other excellent players who have brought Washington Co lege years of exciting basket ball.

KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA SUN SYSTEM at

EMILY HAIRDRESSER

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

Sports Calendar

Saturday 31

Baskethall Haverford - 7:30 p.m. Basketball Alumni vs. Alumni-5:15 p.m

Monday 2 Swimming at Widener/Bryn Mawr

Thursday 5

Registhall at Western Maryland Chip Shots

by Bill Beekman

Sports God Blesses Writer With Insights

Brace yourselves, kids. We have drifted into an athletic void between the Superbowl and Spring Training called February, where golf and bowling and some yacht races in Australia suddenly dominate the sporting scene our sports calendars have forewarned us for months, yet still we are unprepared for the dreaded month without football and baseball.

To some this may sound like the utest horror flick that's playing worknown. Except this is real. From the last second of the Superbowl to the ly weeks of spring training, erica's games, baseball and foot-all, will virtually disappear For the hard-core sports fan, this could cause severe depression. Aware f that fact, I called Dial-A-What-To-Do-In-February, hoping to find some

So using all of the influence that be so using all or the influence that beg ing a sports columnist for The Elm provides me, I went straight to the great and powerful, sports God. And iere's what he talked about: "Mr. Great and Powerful, could you please explain why for one month out of every year you tantalize Americans by taking away their pastimes, voice, while condescendingly fixing his steel gray eyes on mine.

'I do it precisely for that reason - to tantalize you. You get eleven months of fun and games while I only get one.

He leaned back, as if to say, "I can

I watch and have fun. I give you a chance to realize how lonely your weekends are without a ballgame on

But what are we to do?," I pleaded.
You could fix the dishwasher or clean the basement or spend some time with your wife and kids. College football. You still have hockey and basketball and lacrosse and golf and tennis and all those sports to enjoy. And without baseball and football the way, maybe you can appreciate them a little more instead of just bowing down to a part of me. There is more to life than just baseball or football, or any other sport for that matter. any other sport for that matter."

A gleam came into my eye and the great and powerful sports God smiled.

He said, "It is not I who have given baseball and football such a high billing, but it is you, through television and the media. I have only given you the games to make what you want out of them, just as my fellow Gods have given you other things, such as books and knowledge, to make the most out

Then he handed me a slip of paper and left. he said that the NBA cham-pion would be the Celtics, and the NHL champion would be the Flyers. It told me that Kansas, Temple, UNLV, and North Carolina would be in the final four, and that Stars and Stripes would recapture the America's Cup. And then Yes, but what about those of us who it left a warning: use these as my prophet to spread the gospel of sports moderation around the globe.

Maybe February won't be so bad

"I give you a chance to realize how lonely your weekends are without a ballgame on the tube."

do no wrong," as I produced my second

"But sir, what are we, your faithful slaves, to do for this month? We bow down to you for eleven months of the year and then you disappear." He was angered. "I do not disappear. students can do some homework or catch up on their thesis work. This month is supposed to help you."

need sports?"

Again, he was angered. moderati
"I have not taken sports away from Maybe you — just professional baseball and after all.

by Christine Wiant

Fit Bits

Tried & True May Leave You Black & Blue

Everyone, including and appecially this section of The Elm, has been preaching the kenefits of exercise, telling you to get out there and work. But how to do that workout without low to do that workout without werworking yourself right in-to an injury has been largely overlooked.

Exercise can be good for you, but one stretch done the wrong way can spell trouble. Warm-up is important. That should be an accepted fact by now, but here are some Sit-ups with legs straight can hyperextend the back. They should be done with knees bent and feet crossed, so you bring your abdomen up to your

Rolling the neck around to actually strain them. The roll speed, is not good for the car-shouldn't be continuous. Toe touches while standing it. with legs straight is not the "Exercise can be

diac muscular system. You need to set a pace and stick to

The "tried and true" of

Call Me "Coach"

Washington College tennis standout Tim Gray has ac-tepted a position as head tenhis coach at Widener Universiin Chester, Pennsylvania. Gray, who was ranked na-binally at #57 for Division III singles competition, was traduated from the college in December 1986. His job at Widener begins February 1. "It's pretty impressive that

Tim was offered a head maching position at a Division II school right out of college said Washington's head tennis bach Wyman. "Tim was considering a coaching position at the local high school, but widener really wanted him." Gray, a 25-year old native of

Open For The Birthday Ball

Ye Olde Towne Barber & Stylists

A & P Parking Lot Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Greenville, South Carolina, played in the number two spot played in the number two spot for the college's skyrocketing tennis team for two years. He transferred in his junior year to Washington College in Chestertown from the University of Maryland. Last season, Gray competed in the national tennis championships in Clare-mont, California, and with senior Ross Coleman, captured the Middle Atlantic Conference doubles championship. After last year's triumphant 22-5 Washington College's tennis team is ranked number seven in the nation good for you..." true test of flexibility it was once thought to be. It can pull leg muscles and damage the lower back. The best way to touch your toes is to lie on your back, bring your leg up to your chest, and then slowly straighten your leg.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Gray: head Tennis Coach Robert Gray of Greenville, Widener University. South Carolina.

Deep knee bends are definite no-no's. Once you squat lower than the height of a chair, you're straining your knees

Anything resembling a jumping jack can be harmful to ankles, shins, and puts a strain on the entire body.

All out stationary bicycling, where you pedal at break-neck

Welcome Back Special Until January 31

10% OFF With This Coupon

FORNEY'S JEWELERS 778-1966 satisfaction of having played the game? Stam yesterday can produce the bench-warmers of today. If you have to get an injury, wouldn't you rather have the Drug Co.

215 High Street Chestertown, Maryland

778-3030

·Hudson's

Vitamins

 Cosmetics • Russell Stover

Fountain

open Monday - Saturday

778-4771

Campus Calendar

FRIDAY 30 Film Series: Double feature: Seven Beauties and My Night at Maud's Norman James Theatre

Arias and Songs of the

Lyric Theatre Rick Davis, tenor: Garry

Tawes Theatre, 8:00 p.m

Coffeehouse, 9-1:00 a.m.

Series: Double

Night at Maud's James Theatre

Beauties

D.J. Steve Cochran

7:30 p.m.

Film

and A

MONDAY 2

ARTS/

Rick Davis Lyricizes Theatre

by David Healey
"What we're going to do is very informally trace the development of music theatre through song," explains professor Rick Davis of tonight's recital, "Arias and Songs of the Lyric Theater." Music Depart-Chairman Garry Clarke will accompany him on recital will feature music from opera and musical theater of the last three centuries. The earliest piece to be performed will be by Handel, followed by works of Mozart and Gluck. All t a touch of humor, Davis will perform some nineteenth cen-tury Gilbert and Sullivan. There will be many twentieth century pieces, including Leonard Bertstein's operetta, Candide, and The Ballad of Baby Blue, from the 1950s. Also, Argento's modern opera from the 1960's, Postcard From Morocco, will be featured. Davis added that there would be, "... A bunch of Steven Sondheim stuff, because he's really a major working composer, librettist, and song writer in the lyric theatre of today

"It really covers about 240 years of songs. The thing that ties them together is that they're all from dramatic pieces; they all have a dramatic point." Davis stressed that the the the stressed that the the stressed that the str ed that theatre songs are not art songs — such as poems set to music. They are songs which can be acted out on stage. The term "Lyric Theatre" describes theatre which uses music and poetry

The recital is sponsored by the Kent County Arts Council. Davis is presenting work that he has been practicing for a long time. "I've just been studying voice for a long time and I'm always anxious to per-form. This is material that I've been working on in various ways with (music lecturer) Matthews, who teaches here...and thought it was time to share something." Rick Davis is assistant professor of Drama at Washington College. He has performed in many college ensembles and

"Arias and Songs of the Lyric Theater" will be held tonight at 8:00 p.m. in Tawes Theatre. The recital is free and

My Night At Norman's

Two Heroes And A Whole Lot Of Women

to a double feature this weekend. The Film Series will present both Seven Beauties and My Night at Maud's for the regular admission price.

Seven Beauties is an Italian form written and directed by Lina Wertmuller. Critics have called it, a "masterpiece" and a "monumental classic." It presents economical and political views of the war, poverty, and Nazism which capture and torture the hero, Pasqualino Frafuso (Gian-cario Giannini). Pasqualino, a small-time gangster in white suit and hat, flower in lapel, and cigarette holder clenched begin his office by choosing six between his teeth, looks the men to shoot, and putting a part of a "macho Italian." bullet into Francesco's head. Women fall for him but only in Vincent Canby writes of the seduction . . . or worse. Pas- film in the New York Times, alino does not have any true relationships. And his actions a farce, a drama of almost ward of a hospital. Pasqualing rapes one of the immobilized patients. He is "cured" of this sick crime by electric shock treatment and sent to fight against the Russians. En route he and Francesco (Piero DiOrio) desert from the Italian army and try to escape through the German forests. They are caught and sent to a German concentration camp To escape the worst horrors of imprisonment, he begs the female Nazis commandant for mercy, and gets it in exhange for sexual favors. He is made leader of his stalag, and must "It is a handbook for survival

The French film Ma Nuit Chez Maud, or My Night at Maud's, is the series' second feature. It is directed by Eric Rohmer. The hero of the film is Jean-Louis (Jean-Louis Trin-tignant), a single engineer in his early thirties

Vincent Canby describes the hero: "He just values himself . to waste time on too much superficial sexual or social experiments. Within his abiding Roman Catholicism, he also believes that he will ultimately meet and marry the right girl, who will not only be Catholic, but also blonde." Jean-Louis ends up two girls...the philosophical Maud, and that

How To Interview

Graduating seniors will find a talk called "The Dynamics of the Job Interview" to be an ex-tra dagger in their boot as they march off to find jobs this summer. Alumnus John Flato will be the speaker.

Flato will give practical advice on what prior research of a company a student should do. what questions to expect, il-legal questions, what to wear, and how to handle salary questions. He stresses that an interview should be a give and take, not an interrogation by the prospective employer. The issue of drug testing will also be discussed. Linda Cades, Director of the Career Development with students.

Center, said, "People are free to come and ask questions they like, to find out what to say and what not to say.

John Flato graduated from Washington College in 1969 with a degree in Sociology. Since 1980, he has been the Supervisor of Employee Rela-tions at Allied Corporation's Bendix Aerospace Technology and Microelectronics Center in Columbia, Maryland, Through his job, Flato has had a great deal of experience in both in-terviewing and hiring. He will return to campus for the third time to share his knowledge

Film Series: Double feature: Seven Beauties and My Night at Maud's Norman James Theatre, 7:30 p.m. The Role of the Humanities in Medical Education

Westley Cole speaker. O'Neill Literary House 4:00 p.m.

WEDNESDAY 4 Campus Christian Fellowship DPO Chapter room, 9:30

THURSDAY 5 Last day to change to pass/fail

What Is Good Health Care A comparison of the United States and Great Britain. John Westley Cole, speaker Sophie Kerr Room, 4:00

Matthews Speaks On Verdi

While Verdi's operas may seem far beyond the world of literature, they actually spring from the written word. Italian (1813-1901) often found the in the literature of his day. It is these works that music lecturer Ann Matthews discuss in her talk "Verdi and His Literary Sources."

Many of the stor operas were adapted from oreign plays, often French of Spanish. Verdi and his libre-tist translated the works and set them to Italian verse meter, then to music. Mal-thews, who studied Verdi's relationship. relationship with playwrights this summer at Princeton, will investigate these works, and focus on the portrayal of Verdi's female characters. Examples of his music will be played. The talk will be held wednesday, February 4, at 4 p.m. in Fine Arts room 9.

KINGS ISLAND . KINGS DOMINION . CAROWINDS CANADA'S WONDERLAND . GREAT AMERICA AUSTRALIA'S WONDERLAND . Kings Productions 1987

NTERTAINMENT

Classic Rock Shakes The Nation

by Ken Haltom, Val Young has said, "Rock of roll is here to stay," Insectits, however, and the said is here to stay," Insecting the said is here to stay, and the said is a said in the said is seen as a said in the said in the said in the said in the said has a said to said in the said of the said in the s

Another reason for the sucess of the classic rock format that the music, though twenyears old, still delights the with layers of atmosphere, wlan, etc.

from the harmonies of the Beatles and CSN and Y to the mellotrons of the Moody Blues and King Crimson. In the 60's and 70's, albums were not just collections of singles but entire concepts with each track flow-

"The messages of that era are as meaningful today as they

ing into the next. Also, the messages of that era are as meaningful today as they were then. Now, in the age of the compact disc and digital audio tape, classic rock has found a new home in the record were then."

There are some disadvantages to the classic rock format. New groups are not exposed to airplay and many fine artists go unheard. Luckly there are stations who play these new groups. WHFS (99.1) plays progressive new wave particularly plays progressive new wave as The Cure. Gene Loves Jezebel, New Order, The Smiths, etc. A lot of the music played on HFS is available on Nonetheless, if you are tred of hearing the regurgitated rot that dominates to 90 stations, your search for new and investigation of the search of the search for new and investigation of the search of the search for new and investigation of the search of the search of the search for new and investigation of the search of th

On the radio waves these days, you can hear a lot of garbage. So if you're tired of DICK Clark's and that ugliest of munchkins. KC Kasem's top 40 shows, you can take a trip back to the days of progressive rock (100). It rad with the control of th

Entertainment Calendar

Art

Modern American Realism: The Sara Roby Foundation Collection National Museum of Art, Theatre

Crime and Punishment Directed and adopted by Yuri Lyubimov.
Arena Stage, D.C. 488-3300

Les Miserables Kennedy Center Opera House, D.C. Info: 254-3770

Friday 30

Alan Mandel, piano American University, 8:00 p.m. D.C., 885-3426

Kenny Rankin Birchmere Club, D.C. 8:30 p.m. Glengorry Glen Ross A play by David Marnet Arena Stage, D.C., 8:00 p.m.

Prokofiev Orchestra No. 7 Orchestra on stage WGTS-FM 91.9, 3:30 p.m.

Saturday 31

American University Symphony Kaye Spiritual Arts Center, American University, D.C. 8:00 p.m., 885-3455

Washington Ballet Harris Theatre, George Mason University 8:00 p.m., 425-3900

33rd Annual Chesapeake Bay Boat Show Baltimore Convention Center Jan. 31-Feb. 8

Classic Rock WIYY ......98 WGRX......100

Gibson Fine Arts Center February 6-22

Opening Reception Fri., Feb. 6, 4:30-6:30pm

Washington College

NEED A TUX?

WHY NOT STOP IN AND GIVE A LOOK AT OUR LARGE SELECTION OF TUX RENTALS.

ALSO WHILE THERE, CHECK OUT OUR WINTER SALE ITEMS OF GREAT SAVINGS ON SHIRTS, SWEATERS, OUTERWEAR AND OTHER SELECTED ITEMS.

Bramble's Traditional Clothing

For Men and Women

Downtown Chestertown 778-6090

Same and the same

Woodentops Spin Giant Songs

For Dave Marsh, the better

And on the seventh day, Mor-rissey created The Wooden-tops. Given the large number of Smith's-cloned bands that Morrissey, The Smith's lead singer, seems to have recently inspired or unintentionally created, he probably should have rested. After a first playing of the Woodentops' album, Giant, many listeners will be sure he should have.

But there is something about Giant which refuses to be subdued, classified, and categorized. It's an album that grows on the listener with each spin of the disc. If Morrissey didn't actually like the music of this band which he helped on its way to a Columbia contract, then he at least saw some existential possibility for good in them. (You know Morrissey and his silly literary preten-

But pointing out the Morrissey connection isn't exactly fair to The Woodentops. As a U.K. based band, their primary influence is indeed The Smiths, but The Woodensame old chords again and again.

Still, there is something about this album that makes a reviewer indecisive. Giant gives time for indecisions and revisions, but allows none of the categorizing which is pleasing to musical afficiandos. But do not ask what this something, ? Let us go and listen to Giant

The first thing one notices when listening to this album is the startling discursive ir-regularity. And this revolution of cognizance occurs even before the music begins. In order to clear up the confusion hich most records cause, The which most records cause, The Woodentops have kindly label-ed the sides of the album "Front" and "Back" instead of opting for the traditional "Side 1, Side 2" approach. This 1, Side 2" approach. This should satisfy the intellectual appetites of those bright appetites of those bright students who major in things like English and Art, write for newspapers, talk about Michelangelo, and demand real content in the music they

But this Tiresian foresight doesn't illuminate Giant's attractiveness. I'm afraid this method of disc labelling doesn't rythm. Another guitar is added and the musical sound of a train appears from nowhere. This is an old-fashioned, but somewhat up-dated train song that leaves the listener waiting Sam Cooke or Little Eva to appear. Instead, Rolo uses a bass sliding in and out of the guitar snaing in and out of the guitar rythms to subtly build a ten-sion which culminates in a mock-feedback guitar solo. For a moment, it seems that Hendrix has come back from the dead. The Woodentops may be short on lyrics, but they cer-tainly don't lack aspirations.

Another song amalgamated Another song amaganates from various styles is "Travelling Man" (from The Back). A lead-in drum solo reeking with Larry Mullin's high toms, meshes with an Edge-styled riff complete with harmonics. But Rolo miraculously escapes the U2 sound by adding keyboards which alternate between chord flourishes that could have come from Purple Rain and two-tone, aharmonic B-52 lines. Then, in almost amazing shifts in musical texture, the piece moves into a fusion oriented arrangement, on to a mandolin-style acoustic, and finally ends in a blistering feedback solo. All transforma-tions are handled subtly and imperceptibly. In these cuts,

The Woodentops spin out an album of brilliant eclectic musts subtleties. That's right, Giant is the biggest thing this English group h

Chestertown Movie Theater

Heartbreak Ridge Hours: Fri.-Sun. 7 & 9 p.m. Mon.-Thurs. 7:45 p.m.

> ★★★★ (Highest Rating). A dazzling triumph!

Jan. 30-Feb. 3 778-1575

"It often sounds like Rolo and company are just going through the motions, like they have been etherized and just strum the same old chords again and again."

tops have created a unique musical style which is among the most eclectic on the air-w. ves. From the rhythms of Al ica to the guitars of The By ds, from the Price-inspired ke boards to the Grace-lai 1-hyped accordian, Giant is intriguing from beginning to

The Woodentops' songwriter and vocalist is Rolo McGinty, and Mr. McGinty is putting together musical styles in a way that no one else has ever way that no one else has ever done. With the accent, phras-ing, and vocal patterns of Mor-rissey, McGinty has taken the best of The Smiths and injected it into his already eclectic songs. But whoops. I've made a songs. But whoops. I've made a mistake. In keeping with the modernist tradition, Mr. McGinty goes by only one name — Rolo. The Woodentops are definitely original here. Rolo goes by his first name; Morrisers noce husbelest. Morrissey goes by his last.

But The Woodentops seem to have inherited the vices of The Smiths as well as a modicum of virtue. The Smiths worst songs have a lackluster, uninspired feeling, and Giant has captured it perfectly. It often sounds like Rolo and company are just going through the mo tions, like they've been etherized and just want to strum the even get The Woodentops' greatness to flicker. Un-fortunately, neither do Rolo's

Morrissey is arguably the best lyricist in music today, but his disciple is arguably the worst. "Get It On," Giant's first cut, makes the listener almost painfully aware of this shortcoming: "Get up/Fall down/Mess around," sings down/mess around, sings Rolo. "Get up/Fall down/mess around," sings Rolo again. Then he sings it again. And yet again. Is this guy afraid to disturb the universe by saying something with east by singer omething with even the tiniest bit of passion or insight?

"Love Train," another cut "Love Train," another cut from side one, excuse me, I mean The Front, isn't much better. Rolo is intent on driving either "the rhythm of the love train/the rhythm of the love train'' or 'love, love train'love, love train' into the listener's head time and time again. Getting good lyrics from this guy is like trying to get the sound of water from dry stone

But somewhere in "Love lies the endearing at tributes of Giant. It opens with a watered-down, pop-peppered CCR riff which gradually setinto a pseudo-Kottke

Rolo seems to be invulnerable; he doesn't even have an Achilles' heel.

So what do The Woodentops boil down to? What is there in this collection of dismal lyrics, uninspired songs, and brilliant eclectic musical subtleties? At this point, no one can say. There are whispers of immortality here, but they are still only whispers. So, since in my beginning is my end, when it comes to The Woodentops' music, I'll close with the question I've already asked, "What

C-Town liquors 8 Deli

FEATURING: HOMEMADE HOT SOUPS

511 WASHINGTON AVE CHESTERTOWN, MD

778-2988

DOUBLE FEATURE W/

My Night At Maud's WASHINGTON COLLEGE FILM SERIES 7:30 P.M. $1 Admission NORMAN JAMES THEATER

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

olume 58, Number 16

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, February 6, 1987

PanHellenic Tea Opens '87 Rush

by Callie Sessions

Formal Rush '87 for women opened Tuesday, February 3 with the PanHellenic Tea. The purpose of the PanHel Tea was to introduce the women to the sororities at WC and to shatter any misconceptions that are held about sorority life. When students think of Fraternities When students think of Fraternities and Sororities, their first thought is often of "Animal House" or "Revenge of the Nerds." Contrary to popular belief, sororities here exist to support and strengthen the individual growth of its members-not to degrade humanize them through the practice of rushee is invited to the Informal Par-ties. These parties will be sponsored by the AOPi's on Monday, Feb. 9, the ZTA's on Tuesday, Feb. 10, and the AX-O's on Wednesday, Feb. 11. At each othese parties the rushee will be introduced to the individual sororities and entertained with skits, songs, and refreshments.

On Thursday evening each sorority will hold a Formal Rush Party at which time the Rushee's may ask any final questions before they Preference. Each Rushee is requested to Preference which sorority she would like to join or "undecided" if she does not wish to pledge.

Rush concludes on Friday evening with a Bid Party in Cullen to which everyone is invited to Congratulate the

Wheelan Returns As Development Head

by Tony Caligiuri leadership of President

"Campaign for Ex-changed hands last ent for College Develop and Relations, was deed by former Director of ge Development, David der the direction of Baas, Development Office has led a key role in the imentation of Cater's capital laign. The "Campaign for silence" which has a goal raising 26.4 million dollars e year period, is now way through its program me from the campaign ed for such projects as renovation and expan-student scholarships, and creation of ende has expressed great pride the progress of the cam-although he passes a sa deal of the credit to the response of the community, and the secommunity, and the ge alumni. In the first half five year campaign, 79% 25.4 million dollar goal en secured while another has been "firmly commit-Since the launching of the gifts have increased from the girts have increased from the one million dollar range to a four to five million dollar an-nual income. The success of the campaign allowed Baas to feel comfortable with his

"They simply made me an offer I couldn't refuse," he said, of Kalamazoo College in said, of Kalamazoo College in Michigan. Baas had turned Kalamazoo down earlier in the year. "It was hard for me to think about leaving Washington College and Chestertown," said Baas. "We have a lot of friends among the faculty, and offer fard the arm." faculty and staff and the corr munity." Baas said not only the present success of the cam-paign eased his decision, but also "the likelihood of gaining a first-rate replacement," David Wheelan. Baas doesn't think that his leaving will disrupt the present progress of the campaign.

David Wheelan, hired two and one half years ago by Baas as Director of Development, left the College last December for a position at Johns Hopkins. After what Wheelan called

"intense negotiations," he agreed to return to the College to fill Baas's position.

Funding Requests Due

they received funding in the fall. Decisions for funding are seeking SGA funds can pick up abased on membership, will applications in the Student Afficiency of the seeking SGA funds can pick up the property of the seeking SGA funds can be returned by this atternoon, Friday, February 6. Sign-up availability of funds. The SGA sheets for club funding inter-organizations Committee, views are also in Student Afficiency funds funds for SGA Treasurer fairs; interviews will be held next Wednesday and Thurst interviews and makes recommendations for the senate's apreapily for funding even if proval.

campaign are foreseen.

Both Wheelan and Baas, as well as President Cater, mentioned the possibility that the 26.4 million dollar goal may be increased by several million dollars, but that the final decision in the matter would be left to the Board of Visitors and Governors.

"Jake is a great guy who has "A campaign takes on a cerdone a fine service for the Coltain momentum. My great lege. It will be a challenge to concern is that we don't break try to do any better," said stride as we move ahead, "said wheelan, who is a Washington Catter. "We should use this made the point that no major to look at everything afresh changes in the operation of the commaign are foreseen.

Birthday Ball Supplement Coming Next Week!

INICIDE.

| INGIDE.             |            |
|---------------------|------------|
| Snow Sculpture      | p.4 |
| Coffee House Blues  | p.5        |
| Sasketball Rolls On | p.6        |
| Swimming            | p.6        |
| Exit the The King   | p.7        |
| Album Review        | 8.0        |

OPINION

Editorial

SJB Speak

If it were true that the only thing standing between Washington College and a state of "total anarchy" are student-run organiza-tions like the SJB as its chairman claimed last week in The Elm, tions like the SJB as its chairman claimed last week in The Elm, then we are in big trouble. Fortunately, such statements, while helping politicians justify their own existence, suffer the drawback of being out of touch with reality — much like the pro-posed changes in the structure of the Student Judicial Board.

posed changes in life as ructure of the student Judicial poard.
One wonders if the common sease of the SJB leadership has taken a leave of absence when then proposed revisions include a purposeful exclusion of the student press and the implementation of some of the most convoluted judicial language seen anywhere
we are then told that these changes are going to foster respect

We are then told that these changes are going to foster respect among the students for their judicial system.

The obvious result of leaving the press out of the judicial profile. The control of the profile system is doing. That leaves the rest of us to gradually forget that there is a judicial system as tail. Not only is such a situation dangerous in that the leaders of the SJB have removed themselves from public accountability, but it fosters disrespect and above all, ignorance of such proceedings. Those in charge of the SJB remain admant in not allowing The Elm to publish the names of these students who are tried. They

Lim to publish the names of those students who are tried. They don't yet understand that of all the rights a student who is brought before the SJB does have, anonymity isn't one of them. Their idea of public disclosure is to provide all the information about a case except the name of the defendant. This, however, is worse than no information at all as it leads to speculation, rumors worse than no information at all as it leads to speculation, rumors and the uncertainty of the victims of student inscendent about whether specific perpetrators were ever punished.

whether specific perpetrators were ever punished.

"Student Condett proposable in the proposable implementation of terms such as "Student Condett Connetl," Party in Question" and "responsibility of actions." As intended, this terminology will certainly remove "the legal sounding aspects in the SJB" with its vague and imprecise meaning. Unfortunately, it will also remove clear understanding as well. This is an inadequate excuse for such a perverse muddying of the English language. At an institution with an aggressive writing program — one which teaches its students to say what they mean program—one wuncn teacnes its students to say was tasy mean and mean what they say—it would be highly ironic if this latest version of Orwellian Doublespeak was actually implemented. The Student Judicial Board will continue to be severely han-dicapped from self-inflicted wounds until some key individuals realize that full disclosure and cooperation with the press is by far the best way to insure greater adherence to the rules of the institution. This is precisely what the SJB will not achieve if it is allowed to officially establish the proposed barriers between it

Washington College Elm

|                |     |     |  |  |  |  | п | E | di | to | 01 | 'n |  |  |   |  |   |    |    |    |     |   |    |    |    |     |
|----------------|-----|-----|--|--|--|--|---|---|----|----|----|----|--|--|---|--|---|----|----|----|-----|---|----|----|----|-----|
| Editor-in-chie | ١.  |     |  |  |  |  |   |   |    |    |    |    |  |  | ı |  | т | hi | or | na | a 1 | м | S  | ch |    | ter |
|                |     |     |  |  |  |  |   |   |    |    |    |    |  |  |   |  |   |    |    |    |     |   |    |    |    |     |
|                |     |     |  |  |  |  |   |   |    |    |    |    |  |  |   |  |   |    |    |    |     |   |    |    |    |     |
|                |     |     |  |  |  |  |   |   |    |    |    |    |  |  |   |  |   |    |    |    |     |   |    |    |    |     |
|                |     |     |  |  |  |  |   |   |    |    |    |    |  |  |   |  |   |    |    |    |     |   |    |    |    |     |
| Photography    | Edi | ito |  |  |  |  |   |   |    |    |    |    |  |  |   |  |   |    |    | J. | м   | F | ra | no | mi | en. |
|                |     |     |  |  |  |  |   |   |    |    |    |    |  |  |   |  |   |    |    |    |     |   |    |    |    |     |

|                    |    | W | 01 | US | ıg | 6 | r | ŀ. |   |  |    |        |    |  |              |
|----------------------------|----|---|----|----|----|---|---|----|---|--|----|--------|----|--|--------------|
| Managing Editor            |    |   |    |    |    |   |   |    |   |  |    |        |    |  | Allson Short |
| National Advertising Manag | 10 |   |    |    |    |   |   |    | v |  | a. | e. | ٠. |  | Michelle Roy |
| Local Advertising Manager  |    |   |    |    |    |   |   |    |   |  |    |        |    |  | Marialla Br  |
| Circulation Manager        |    |   |    |    |    |   |   |    |   |  |    |        |    |  | William Enu  |

The Ein is the official student newspaper of Washington College. The Ein is published every Friday during the academic year with the except College of the C

The Elm's business and editorial office is located in the Queen Anne lounge, found on the first floor of the Queen Anne's House dormitory. Business hours are 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Tuesdays and 7:00 p.m. to 1:100 p.m. Wednesdays. The office phone number is (301) 778-2800, extension 321.

Mom's Cookie Jar

Valentine's Day dinner and dance on Saturday, February dance on Saturday, February search for the miracle 11. Inope you are all looking health in vitamin pills, org forward to a fun evening. I foods, and jars of wheat ge location, the property of the property o Muscular Dystrophy.

Thanks to the members of the S.G.A. food service committee who helped with the Nutrition Survey at dinner on Thursday. Your efforts were greatly appreciated.

From time to time this col umn tries to help you unders-tand a bit more about good nutrition so that you can make intelligent, informed decisions about the foods you eat and the lifestyle you develop. The old adage "you are what you eat" is true. What and how much you eat directly affect how you look and feel. A poor diet increases your risk of developing a long list of risk of developing a long list of life-shortening and typically American diseases such as heart disease, cancer, stroke, diabetes and high blood pressure in addition to the less threatening problems of tooth decay. bone fractures and

Diet can also affect your physical appearance, your emotional and psychological well-being, and how well you study and sleep. Yet, despite a growing awareness of nutrition and weliness, Americans continue to eat too much fat, too much sugar, and too much pro-

In this era of quick fixes and instant everything, many search for the miracle of health in vitamin pills, organic foods, and jars of wheat germ. There is no "magic" involved in good nutrition. The key is to moderation in your food choices. Food has long been great source of enjoyment

If there are any specific topics you would like addressed, please send them to Sharon Crew, c/o the Washington College Dining Services or drop them in the suggestion box in the main Dining Room.

Next Wednesday, J.P. Brokerage will put on a food show in the main Dining Room during dinner. Be sure to stop by and sample their displays. Feel free to ask the represenreel free to ask the represen-tatives any questions you might have about a particular product. I hope you are keep-ing track of the cookies men-tioned in this column each week. Add molasses cake bars to your list and next week I'll other one for you. Until then...MOM

Amitu Bakery and Coffee Shop

Donuts, French Loan & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies, Special Occasion Cakes On 0:

Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M Kent Plaza, Chesterious 778-2228 Mon. Sat. 5 A. MISEM

**ATTENTION" yping Done at Reasonable Rate Call Kathleen 778-1039

SEND A VALENTINE'S MESSAGE NO ONE WILL MISS Advertise In

THE ELM Contact:

Mariella Ruiz 778-2800

Ext. 321 Or In Caroline 311

en D's Are Too Many

approach me and say the words uation requirements. ght in my mind would have been for thesis." Then I read an article ast week's Elm about the college is rejected by Phi Beta Kappa. ibrary at The University of microscope, it was our graduation requirements too lenient ne graduation requirements for are quite simple right now. To out of here with an undergraduate all that is needed are 22 with averages of C or better ten more classes with D ages, only two can be in the student's major. That may not sound like an unreasonably low GPA until you realize than ten grades out of 32 is just about one third. Do you think a person who has a D in every third class should be allowed to graduate? Maybe the administration has a

SSUE:

Scott Butler

reason for allowing a student this many D's. One possible reason could be because the classes are unusually rigorous. People in the administration espouse that. They say things like, "Each class here is worth four semester hours at other colleges That's because our classes are really tough." That and fifty cents can get you a cup of coffee. I wonder how many classes here are really considered to be four credit hour classes by students who have taken them. Sure, some lab classes are worth four credits, and some writing classes are worth four credits, but the majority of the classes here are worth three credit hours at best.

Let's remember the senior thesis requirement. This thesis is a lot of work and the production of a thesis by an undergraduate is truly excep-tional. The thesis is something students at other schools usually don't hear about until graduate school. Washington College takes great pride in this fact and there is no doubt the College told Phi Beta Kappa about it. Maybe we should be able to graduate with a lower GPA than normal. After Phi Beta Kappa did not seem to think the thesis requirement offset the gut-ter level GPA that is expected of our seniors. Washington College makes all the washington Coulege makes all the right noises when it comes to sounding like a quality college that attracts quality students. It has a superior writing program, a strong computer base on campus, and professors who say "call me at home if you have problems." So why doesn't the administration care about what its graduates look like? Yeah, I know, Phi Betta Kappa would just give me another piece of paper when I graduated, but I sure would appreciate the opportunity to try to earn that piece of paper. Scott Butler is a Senior majoring in Psychology

Are The Minimum Acceptable Graduation Requirements

At Washington College Too Lenient?

Michael J. Woodfolk Juni Charlottesville, Virginia

Yes, they justifiably are student could fulfill his her distribution in the year and a half and some strange reason at intrigues me. I would that there should be rerequirements outside major because, after this is a liberal arts in-

David M. Heckscher Sophomore more, Pennsylvania

"It would be in the best interest of the student body and the College to raise the and the College to raise the graduation requirements, because it would better prepare the students for the rigors of the outside world."

Jennifer Vervier Freshman Belair, Maryland

"No, I don't think they're too lenient, because not a lot of people get through in four years. If everyone breezed through in four years it would be too

Todd DelPriore Senior Gaithersburg, Maryland

"For my major I don't think so. Most of my friends only have to get credits to graduate. We have to get distribution requirements and major requirements and write a

Baltimore, Maryland

"I don't think they are too lenient at all. In fact, I think that with them exthink that with them ex-pecting us to write a thesis or take comps they should lessen the requirements. They should at least give us some credit for our senior obligation because it's tough to write a thesis

ampus Voices

by Michele Balze

Grades Don't Measure Learning

teaching in the liberal tradition, Callege faculty hope to encourage mients those inner capacities that be most rewarding to them in the and public life. Among them magination openness and flexmagination, openness, and flex-ly of mind, the ability to analyze, a sensitive insight into human capacities...cannot be ated in a hurry, nor accumulated redits, nor derived entirely from goes on in the classroom statements are a portion of the of Washington College, which are at the beginning of the Catalog. I see these goals much more thinging and fulfilling than the yuppie goal-be it acheiving the ty 4.0 or admission into the Phi tighten graduation requirements. "It's too easy to graduate," said one student. "People are graduating with GPA's (ob, the GPA's) of 1.3," said another. (oh, the GPA's) of 13," said another.

"We must prove that this is a difficult, competitive school." The indignation goes on! Why? NOT because people don't feel they're getting a good education. NOT because people don't think they're learning enough. NOT because students are not leaving here with the ability to analyze ar with imagination ability to analyze or with imagination

All this furor has been generated by Phi Beta Kappa's rejection of Washington College. The Society has determined that our graduation requirements are inadequate. Students are allowed to graduate with ten "D's" on their transcript.

The aim of Washington College can-

Appa Society.

The aim of Washington College value of the property of the prop

as grade point average nor by Phi Beta Kappa's arbitrary criticism. At b these are imperfect evaluations of the learning taking place at this institution.

I maintain that a person earning one
"D" or ten "D's" during his college career is capable of learning just as

Kim Harb

much, if not more, than the person making the Dean's List each semester. Stop shaking your heads and use that openness and flexibility of mind that we are supposed to be acheiving!

We are fortunate enough to be in a small college which provides us with individual attention and a supportive faculty. But, not every student learns the same things. Two students can sit in the same lecture and write down two totally different sets of notes. Who is to say that the student who focuses on the "wrong" material, or who perceives a different perspective is not as in-telligent as the next? Granted, these students will probably not earn similar grades, but that doesn't mean that both have not learned.

Do not misinterpret this. I try just as hard as the next person to acheive the "A," and it would be very nice to have Phi Beta Kappa here on campus. However, let us not lose sight of why we are here - to learn!

Kim Harb is a Junior majoring in Political Science

Ready For Press:

Arian Ravanbakhsh, Pegasus Editor, proudly leans on the last pages of the yearbook. The Pegasus is due on campus in late April; meanwhile the yearbook staff intends to catch up on a cou

Pegasus

Summer Internships: New York City/Long Island/Westchester

The National College Intern- designed, fully supervised and ship Service, specializing in in-ternship development for col-paid internships. ternship development for co-lege students, is now accepting applications for Summer 187 plication material: National College Internship National College Internship

Placements are available Service, 374 New York Avenue with sponsoring companies in Huntington, New York 11743 New York City, on Long Island (516) 673-0440 or contact your and in Westchester. career and internship place-Placements are individually ment offices on campus.

FOOT OF CANNON ST CHESTERTOWN, MD. 21620

301-778-3566

Looking for a Summer Job?

The Washington College Summer Conference Program is accepting applications for its 1987 Summer Program, from May 19 through August 22, with a minimum of 32 hours weekly. Positions waiters/waitresses, line, serving dishroom, laundry, and student center. For more information or to pick up an application, see Jeff DeMoss or Sharon Crew.

Room & Board Included APPLY NOW-LIMITED OPENINGS AVAILABLE.

Entertainment

Calendar

FRIDAY 6 Palm Court Cameos

"Jump for Joy" Theater songs of Duke Ellington, with Debra Tidwell, singer; and Joseph Holt, pianist. Second performance Sun. 8.
Palm Court, National Museum of American History. noon, 202 357-3030

A play at the Fine Arts Center. Towson State College, Studio Theater. Thru. Sat. 7.

Nashville Bluegrass Band Birchmere Club, 8:30 p.m. 549-5919

Kennedy Center Concert Fri. 8:00 p.m., Sat, 8:15 p.m. 393-3600

SATURDAY Washington Ballet

Performances of "Unknown Territory," "Time Out," and "Variation Serieuses. Lyric Opera House, 2 & 8:00 p.m

Dave Edmunds & Concrete Warner Theater, 8 p.m.

SUNDAY 8 Musical/hymn sing Features choirs from local churches, solos and special music. Millington Asbury Methodist Church, 7:00 p.m.

MONDAY 9 "I Quit Smoking" Support group for ex-

Kent & Queen Anne's Library of the Medical Ser-vices Building, 7:00 p.m.

Dr. Freud, call your office: Scott Butler (right) and Jeff Cessna com work on their incredible, Oedipal snow sculpture which graced tha

Snow's L

The near 20 inches of snowfall that fell last week in the Chestertown area brought out the snow sculptors. WC students, however, far from being the traditional snowmen creators, decided to create an original piece of snow art.

On the front lawn of the Caroline complex, two WC students constructed a ten foot high snow phallus. sculpture was in full view of travellers down Route 213 a prompted one townsperson contact the local police. According to

Roderick, Director of Security Security

Writers Young And Old residents of the O'Neill

by Alison K. Auber

Four years ago, a tradition was begun at Washington Col-lege. Writing students from all classes were asked to be judges for the Young Writers Contest Foundation. This is a writing contest for sixth, seventh, and eighth graders across the United States. Entries were even received from overseas military bases, including

ast year, Professor Robert Day asked the student Literary House to be judges for the contest. The same people were asked back this year —

Paul Henderson, Chas. Foster,
Eric Lorberer, Mike Rudin,
Gina Braden and John

When asked how he felt to be grading contestants' work, which consists of stories and essays, Senior Paul Henderson replied, "I feel a little like a grade school teacher, but I get a great sense of what kids nowadays are doing and thinking. The stories are about things like divorce, Viet Nam,

Saturday morning cartons fantasy worlds like 'He Man and 'The Transformers' B continued that some of the kids

continued that some of the history can "write really well."

The grading system range from a C (2.0) to an A+ (4.5) harring disqualifications. Points are taken off for spiling, verb tense and other grammatical errors. If a contest and heaves the research as the second of the second of the spiling of the second of the secon testant has more than five such errors, he or she is dis

Sophomore Chas. Foste who is also judging, remarke who is also judging, remains that he enjoys the imaginator that the kids have. He cites story about "Mandrake in Magician" and the evil with that kidnaps his brother, les

Of the thousands of entries, there will be but two-hundre winners. These students with a business of the published in a magazine to circulated to schools as libraries (with special issues all the judges) around the country.

FEATURES

off-the-cuff

A Night At The Coffeehouse

by Andrea Kehne

It's another weekend evening at Washington College, where the rich and varied spical life is carefully planned and sponsored by the Student Spical life is carefully planned for fraternities. Tonight, however, a rare event something that happens at WC only as often as the apspical occur, or rather, not oceur: NO SCHEDULED SOCIAL ACTIVITY. Panicked and not knowing quite what to wour way to the Student Center:

19:30 Arrival. Selecting from the vast amounts of space still left in the room, you and your friends stake out, some terflory by the bar. You scan the Coffeehouse, inspecting the ten you know and don't many and don't want to know. Looks like another rockin' Saturday siebt at WC.

night at Wc.
19:32 Maybe a drink will help.
You order a beer, draft. It's too sweet, but you drink it anyway. You sit back and wait for the crowds to arrive.

10:33 You've reached a decision. You will keep your coat on. It makes you look really coal and detached from the situation, as well as giving the impression that you're about to so somewhere more exciting.

citing.

10:35 The crowd has increased to about 17. The place should be packed by the beginning of 10:45 The last ten minutes have flown by. You talked to someone from your history class about the questions you missed on the final exam last Semester. It's always nice to traffy get to know someone.

19-46 Another minute has passed. You wonder why you took a shower for this. You and your friends discuss your boredom. You recall that these are the "best years of your life."

riends discuss your boredom. You recall that these are the "best years of your life."
10:48 You synchronize your watch with someone else's. You watch the seconds hand to further appreciate how long a minute can be.

10:49 You consider taking up smoking to have something to do. Instead, you and a friend amuse yourselves by watching each other age.

10:50 You begin to suspect that those crowds of your peers are never going to show up.

There's obviously some BIG party happening somewhere that you and your friends weren't invited to Everyone else in the school knows about it, but they kept it a secret.
Yeah, that must be it.

Yean, that must be it.
10:55 Maybe you could order a Perrier for a diversion. Experimenting with different kinds of water is always fun.
10:59 You've decided to save the Perrier for some time
when you're even more bored,

the Perrier for some time when you're even more bored, if that's possible. You and a friend split an order of nachos instead. It's a well known medical fact that eating jalapeno peppers produces pain in your throat that keeps you awake.

11:06 Hey, there are maybe 30 or 35 people here now! You must have not seen them com in when your eyes teared from the peppers. At least now you can sit back and observe how others cope in the face of such excitement. The new arrivals seem as pulseless as the drones who were there when you walked in.

Suddenly, a girl rushes out, pushing her way through the throng. The room is abuzz as people realize this is a possible topic of discussion. Whatever could cause her to leave so quickly lover's quarrel, idiney problem, another social engagement, perhaps? Soon, her rumors are squashed with an explanation of her panic: where he was hair out of place.

You notice some people who seem to be having fun, to be smiling. Horrified, your mind gropes for an explanation: Perhaps the upward turns on their lips are merely muscle spasms. Or maybe those people are freshmen.

pie are rresimmen.

11:10 You break yourself away from the fun to go to the bathroom. You become frustrated when the paper towel dispenser doesn't work, but are glad to have something to tell your friends about. You complain some more about how bored you are.

11:30 The music selection makes you feel like you're waiting for the dentist. You complain to the bartender that you're tired of the Whitney Houston hour and request something "peppy," like Iron Maiden. He puts on Barry Manilow.

11:35 You consider playing videogames, but recall that you hate them. You eavesdrop on the conversation of two guys standing near you. "I just don't understand how I got it," one says, sobbing. "I haven't been to any bathhouses lately." You may be the send of the 11:45 A fight breaks out. You consider throwing yourself in the middle of it, for the adrenalin rush. Fear of bodily harm deters you. Anyway, after this, a lengthy wait in the emergency room would probably be overstimulating.

11:50 The fight over, you seek other diversions. Your mind turns to your problems, which began in second grade when you were the only person in the class not invited to this one kid's birthday party. The kid happened to be your best friend. You begin to tell the bartender all about this episode and about every other time you've felt depressed friend. You begin to tell the bartender all about this episode and about every other time you've felt depressed. It is about the particular to the tell the present into the next day. Your friends leave, saying they want to start preparing for finals. You decide that you can put off studied that you can put off studied that you can put off studied that you can be start preparing for finals. You decide that you can put off studied that you can be start preparing for finals. You decide that you can put off studied that you can be start prepared to the start prepared to 12:10 Now bored and alone, you long for the hordes of drunken, obnoxious people that crowd the Coffeehouse when a band is scheduled. This, you know, is the very essence of the social life at Washington College that you brag about to all your high school buddles who now enduring the tedium of a large

ing the tedium of a large university in major city. 12:15 Finally, you force yourself to abandon the Coffeehouse to go back to your room to watch the "Home Shoppers Network." You're not too discouraged about dragging yourself away from this wild bunch — you know that next weekend will be just as fun.

on the conversation of two you were the only person in the drunken, obnoxious people

NEED A TUX?

WHY NOT STOP IN AND GIVE A LOOK AT OUR LARGE SELECTION OF TUX RENTALS.

ALSO WHILE THERE, CHECK OUT OUR WINTER SALE ITEMS OF GREAT SAVINGS ON SHIRTS, SWEATERS, OUTERWEAR AND OTHER SELECTED ITEMS.

Bramble's Traditional Clothing

For Men and Women

Downtown Chestertown 778-6090

ROSES ANTIQUES AND COLLECTABLES 314 PARK ROW, CHESTERTOWN, MD 21620

ne14

301-778-1522

MON.-SAT. 10:00 AM-5:00 PM, SUN. 1:30-5:00

NEED A FORMAL DRESS? NEED A TUX? WE HAVE THEM!!

Vintage, Clothing, Jewelry, Etc. With $25 Purchase of Clothing FREE Your Choice of 1 Piece of Jewelry From Selected Stock

Winning Streak Continues

by John Bodnar

Teamwork, consistency, and depth are the three main cues for the latest success of the Washington College basket-ball team. The Shoremen are currently riding on a six-game winning streak

The recent victories boost the Shoremen's overall record to 12-5, and their conference record to 5-1 - second in the Mid-Atlantic Conference behind Widener University (5-0). W.C. is presently holding a olid 7-2 record at ho

The strength of the players on the bench was evident in the victory over Swarthmore on Thursday, January 29. The Shoremen shot 43% from the field and finished with 12 players scoring.

Said Finnegan, "This game points out our overall depth as a team."

Freshman Chris Jamke finished with 16 points, Chris Brandt had 13 points, and Brian Kelley added 11 points.

Jamke and Andy Bauer did a good job for us in-side on the boards," added Finnegan. "Sophomore guard Scott Jones had a great game The W.C. hoopsters netted with seven assists, three two victories at home this past steals, and five points. We've week as they bounced Con-been able to wear teams out in ference opponents Swarthmore the second half. We put a lot of 86-57, and Haverford College pressure on them defensively and take advantage of their er-

Sophomore Andy Bauer, who scored 102 points during the six-game winning streak (an average of 17 points per game), scored 22 points in the Haverford game. Freshman Tim Keehan added 13 points, four assists, and two steals while sophomore Steve Brody netted 11 points, and senior

A Shear Design BIRTHDAY BALL SPECIAL Manicure Available For 1/2 Price

COMPLETE HAIR CARE - SCULPTURED NAILS -RETAIL ITEMS

505 Washington Ave. Chestertown, Md. 2160

Jania Thompson (301) 778-0898

Callus

0.

Complete Hair Care 10 Visits for $40.00 or $75.00 unlimited until March 15

Our SunTana SunSystem guarantees you a glorious, radiant tan that you can keep all year long. A tan you achieve with soft, comfortable and SAFE U.V.A. light and without all the burning, peeling and flaking you get in natural sunlight. Our SunSystem is GUARANTEED to tan anyone who tans in the sun...while you relax in cool comfort

We'd like to tell you more about this exciting new way to tan. A single visit will convince you

The Beauty Lounge

Phone: 778-2635 Midtown Mall

come Chestertown, MD 21620 too
NEXUS PRODUCTS AVAILABLE
mplete Hair Care * Manicures * Sculptured Nails today.

The Shoremen took on Haverford College on Saturday, January 31 and went on to win 94-59.

Shore Notes: York College who beat the Shoremen 72-63 in the second game of the season three-game winning streak, game against St. Mary's 66 will square-off against W.c. at lege will be played here at the home on Saturday, February 7 at the center on Mr. at 17:30 p.m. captain Tom McVan added 10 and who are currently on a

Swim Program Going Strong

by Jennifer Pollard

The swim team travelled to Towson to challenge Goucher last Thursday and came away with a disappointing loss in a close contest. After a touch-out in the last meet Washington was placed as the winner but due to a judgment call referees announced Goucher the win-ner. The final score was Goucher 118 and Washington

Coach Dennis Berry said it was "a very good meet...if not the best meet of the season to date. It just got touched out at the end and that's what it came down to. A lot of personal bests took place and six team took place and

Washington took 1st place in the 100 back, the 50 back, and in the 50 breast stroke. Elizabeth Rexon captured First place, breaking the school record; Second place went to Martha Mumbach and

Last Monday the team traveled to Philadelphia where they met Widener and Bryn Mawr. Washington's team, only in their second year, was defeated by both schools. Both widener and Bryn Mawr have seasoned teams, and the fact that Washington can par-ticipate in such an event with no forfeits puts the Shorewomen in good standing and ahead of many other pro-

Third to Kay Montgomery.

grams that are just starting Highlights of the meet is cluded Chris Winschel, freshman, touching out a Bry

Mawr swimmer for Second place after coming from behind in the 200 Butterfly ehind in the 200 Butterfly -"the most difficult event as wim," said Berry "Freshmen have been carry ing the load of difficult event all year long mostly because they have been recruited out established swim programs."

Coach Berry is very optimistic about this promising swim team as well as the swimmers. "We all have personal and team goals that we are aiming for and each meet makes us more fired up to achieve them. Even though the records don't show us as have ing a winning season we are FRG.

April Baugher, Becca Jewsbury, and Maggle Virkus pull hard at their

Sports Calendar

Saturday, February 7 Basketball - York College,

Sunday, February 8 Swimming - Maryland

Wednesday, February 11 Basketball, Haverford (A) Maryland, 7:00 p.m.

Exit The King Crowns Drama Majors

by Ken Haltom

On February 13th and 14th the play Exit the King will be presented in Tawes Theatre. The play is being directed by Sue Kolls. Exit the King was written by French playwright Eugene Ionesco in the 1960's. of three plays he wrote in that decade, Exit the King was the most popular and well receiv-

Ionesco's play deals with death. The six characters portrayed all approach death dif-ferently, but in the end meld their experiences in to the most logical way. Ionesco wrote this play to "learn how to die." The playwright also felt that the audience could learn how to approach death in an acceptabl

Director Kolls chose this par-ticular play of Inoesco's because she felt it "was the most directable." This play is very difficult to produce on the stage because it calls for both characters and their sudden aging. Kolls is well assisted by Skip Middleton, who is lighting and technical designer. Emily

Lott is Kolls' stage manager, coordinating stage, cast and lighting changes. The cast of the play includes Ryder Daniels as King Barringer I. Ryder Molly McMahon as Juliet, John MacDonalds as the Doctor, Gina Braden as Queen Margarite, and Wendy Snow as Queen Marie.

Exit the King required much hard work on the parts of all those involved. It began to take shape last semester. Over Christmas vacation, sets were worked on, and research on Ionesco was done by Kolls. Rehearsals have taken place every night and have lasted on the average of five hours each.

The play is the senior project of Sue Kolls and Skip Mid-dleton. Kolls feels this is a mixed blessing because many teachers and students will judge their work. However, the hard work of the cast and crew will undoubtedly be ap-preciated, says Kolls.

Exit the King will be performed in Tawes Theatre. Tickets are by reservation only and may be obtained by calling 778-2800 (ext. 269).

The Queen (Gina Graden) confronts the King (Ryder Daniels) in Eugene lonesco's play, Exit the King.

Campus Calendar

FRIDAY 6
Local Color: Paintings, Drawings, and Prints
Exhibit of works by Marcy Dunn Ramsey Gibson Fine Arts Gallery, Reception 4:30 p.m.

Film Series: My Beautiful Laundrette Norman James Theatre. 7:30 p.m.

Musical Diversity Norman James Theatre. 10-1:00 a.m.

Junior Class Concert Diane Pascal, violinist Tawes Theatre, 8:00 p.m.

SUNDAY 8 Film Series: My Beautiful Laundrette Norman James Theatre,

7:30 p.m. MONDAY 9 Film Series: My Beautiful Laundrette n James Theatre, THURSDAY 12 Concert Series Tawes Theatre, 8:00 p.m.

7:30 p.m.

Local Color Opens Today just things from around here. I

by David Healey

Picture a country road disappearing into green fields, telephone poles marching beside it. Imagine a geranium in a window, its spindly stem groping in the light. This is the artwork of Marcy Dunn Ramsey, whose show, Local Color: Paintings, Drawings, and Prints by Marcy Dunn Ramsey opens today in Gibson Gallery

Ramsey is an artist who takes everyday scenes of Eastern Shore life and creates new meaning for them. She puts new light into things she sees, giving them a different perspective, new shades of color. Suddenly life preservers strung on a rail seem to float in orange and shadow, linked with twisted white ties, as in with twisted white ties, as in her painting, "Suspended Preservers." Ramsey ex-plains, "I just thought they'd be really neat if I grouped them together.'

just things from around here. I drive a lot and many of the things here are what I've seen' along the road." Works such as "Big Puddles" and "Route 544" illustrate this sense of straight, flat Eastern Shore roads, telephone poles, and puddles. Ramsey also presents studies of people. Her drawing of four men at a counter, which appears on the show's promo-tional poster, could easily be a scene from a Tuesday morning at Vonnie's. This is the specialty of her work. "Everybody sees a little of somebody they know in them," she says. "I have done figures of my own kids, and the college kids," adds Ramsey. For instance, her pastel "Chas", is a study of sophomore Chas Foster. Foster is the curator of the show. Another interesting work is her painting of women body builders.

"Most of the paintings are mediums of painting, pastel, st things from around here. I and drawing. Two of her drawand drawing. Iwo of ner draw-ings of plants and vegetables are done in colored pencil, but she now prefers to work with pastels and paint. "I got tired of it," she explains. "It wasn't interesting enough. I'm now entering a more intensive color phase." She hopes to expand her use of colors even more in > Ramsey is a graduate of Em-manuel College, where she studied French. Her interest in art eventually led to graduate school in Maine. Ramsey now lives in Chestertown.

The exhibit is sponsored by e Washington College Exhibits Committee, and will be on display through February 22. Exhibit hours are 2:00-5:00 p.m., Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays. A reception was user painting of women non between 4:30 and 6:30 p.m. in the Gibson Fine Arts Gallery. will open the exhibit this after-

Juniors Sponsor Violinist

by Jenny Eisberg

Looking forward to another Friday night sitting in your room listening to Bruce Springsteen on the radio? Why not ingsteen on the radio? Why not get out and listen to some live music? "Live music?" you asked. Sure, real live music-live classical violin music, that

This Friday, February 6 at 8:00 p.m., the Junior Class is sponsoring violinist Diane from the Curtis Institute of Pascal in concert at Tawes Music in 1986. She has perform Theatre in the Gilson Fine ed at Lincoln Center, Paul Hall Art's Center. Junior Ceci in New York City, and now Kosenkranius suggested the teaches music in Philadelphia, idea last semester to the class along with private teaching in officers as a way to raise Wilmington. Since Pascal is so officers as a way to raise money for the class. "Most organizations sponsor rock bands," Ceci commented, while also emphasizing the fact that no other student group has ever sponsored a classical concert before.

A native of Wilminton, Delaware, Diane Pascal at-tended the Juilliard Pre-College and received her bachelor's degree in music from the Curtis Institute of Music in 1986. She has perform-

oung, twenty-four years old, young, twenty-four years old, Ceci hopes that "the students will be able to better relate" to the concert

Listed in the program are Mozart's Sonata in C Major, K.V. 296, Johannes Brahm's Sonata No. 3 in D Minor, op. 108, J.S. Bach's Partita No. 2 in D Minor, Bela Bartok's First Rhapsody and Pablo de Sarasate's Zigeunerweisen (Gypsy Airs), op. 20, no.1. This promises to be a great concert and everyone who attends is guaranted to be satisfied.

Tickets are $7.00 for adults, $2.00 for non-Washington Col-lege students and children.

Open For The Birthday Ball

Monday - Saturday

Ye Olde Towne Barber & Stylists

A & P Parking Lot Chestertown, Maryland 21620

778-4771

ENTERTAINMENT

Clapton Isn't Hot In August

I knew I was not going to like the new Eric Clapton album the moment I saw it. There he is, the white blues man, standing on some quay wearing a Miami Vice styled leisure suit a thick gold chain around his neck, and one hand stuffed stiffly into his pocket. This is not Eric Clapton, this is some Florida clone of a man who has made his name by playing blues

There have been bad album covers before, and they should have very little bearing on the critic's judgment of the album. But in this case the cover says more about the album than the music does. August is a triumph of style over content.

In a recent interview in Musician magazine, Clapton admitted that he was getting older and that he was losing a bit of the intensity that is evident in some earlier albums. He even revealed that he can no longer play some of the music in his repertoire. The direction he has been taking with some recent albums shows him to be less and less concerned with the blues, coun try, and reggae influences of the past, instead moving firmnto middle-of-the-road Pop land. Behind the Sun, the album

some pretense of being an album by a good guitar player mining the rich tradition of old rock and roll blues. Apparently Phil (I've had my) Collins could not convince him to turn his back completely on his heritage on that album, but on August Clapton seems to have meekly taken Phil's hand and walked into the arid arena of discos, MTV, and the top forty O.K., Clapton has been in the top forty before, but you ways knew it was Clapton was something fresh There about those songs, whether it was the reggae tinged "I Shot the Sheriff," or the country rock of "Lay Down Sally," or even the straight out rock and roll of "Blues Power."

August has absolutely nothing of interest on it. He has dumped his old band, one of the most sympathetic backing bands he has ever had, in favor of a bunch of Los Angele automation session men, and guess who on drums - yes, our man Phil. Doesn't he ever get tired of work? The album only nally shows any of the old Clapton verve and feeling, and most of it shows up in the song "Tearing Us Apart," a duet with Tina Turner. But even on an off day Tina sings with soul. This sounded like it was an off day. She is simply not given enough to work with. Collins seems content to let people recognize that Tina Turner is indeed singing on an Eric Clapton song and then he quickly cranks up the rhythm section and lets the dance go a Robert Cray song, "Bad In-fluence," and for once has managed to make a cover sound much worse than the original. Perhaps he just does not have the hunger that Cray, an up and coming blues musi cian, has in the original.

"Holy Mother" is is a

He has also decided to cover

dedicated to the late Richard Manuel of The Band Instead of an emotional tribute to an old

Hours: Fri.-Sun. 7 8 9 p.m. Mon.-Thurs. 7:45 p.m.

pile of mush only slightly saved by the emotional quality Clapton's voice

The album is thoroughly professional. There is not a misplaced beat or note, the rhythm section is tight and precise, and the production is clear and bright. what seems to have been sacrificed is Clap-ton himself. His guitar solos have been cut down and con densed into nice little breaks For ten or twenty seconds we can hear him wailing away with some of those singular high crying leads he has always been able to muster. He seems to have been reduced to being just another session man in his own band. He has often opted for anonimity in a band, witness Derek and the Dominoes, or Delany and Bon-nie. But this was always to avoid the pressure of always having to be on—of having to be the guitar God, the great white Robert Johnson.

Maybe that is what I miss: Clapton being on, being able to hit that sixteenth note figure in the beginning of "Layla" and stretch out those two syllables out over it. I miss the laid back country feel of Slowhand and Backless. What I probably miss most of all is the emotion that I always associated with Clapton's playing. I would also like to see him in jeans, t-shirt; dobro in hand, swinging on the porch and playing the blues

Trio Plays Concert Series

Imagine relaxing your mind to the mesmerizing hum of the cello, turning your senses to the playfulness of the violin, while mentally dancing to the continuity of the piano. What better way to spend an evening than to absorb the pleasant sounds of chamber music? Well friends, the Washington College Concert Series brings to us the "critically acclaimed" Bowdoin Trio on Thurs-day, February 12 at 8:00 p.m.

Although he hasn't heard the trio perform in concert, Professor Gary Clarke com-mented that they "come to Washington College very highly recommended." Robert the Concert Series Committee

"outstanding," after after having

The three members of the trio - cellist Semyon Fridman, violinist Alexander Simionescu, and pianist Jon Klibonoff — have been playing together since 1983. They met at the Bowdoin Music Festival in 1981, each performing in numerous ensembles. These three musicians made their debut at Carnegie Recital Hall in 1985 cert, Pro-rke com-sored by the Peggy and Yale "come to Gordon Trust. The trust supports many educational and y recommended." Robert cultural institutions surroun-ey, former chairman of ding the Baltimore Concert Series Committee, metropolitan area. According sponsors "superior performers"; performers who are themselves." Among those concerts sponsored by the Peggy and Yale Gordon Trust that of pianist David Buechner, who performed here on campus last semester.

The Bowdoin Trio feature pieces by such composers as Mendohlson and Brahms. Tickets for the concert are sold at the box office prior to the performance; cost is $7.00 for adults, $2.00 for non-Washington College Students and children. For more in-formation, call 778-2800, ext. 209. The concert will be held in Tawes Theatre of the Gibson Fine Arts Center.

Chestertown Movie Theater

Heartbreak Ridge

778-1575 Feb. 6-Feb. 12

"A SHARP -Jack Kroll

MY BEAUTIFUL LAUNDRETT

Stam Drug Co. 215 High Street

Chestertown, Marvland 778-3030

- Hudson's
- Vitamins Cosmetics
- Russell Stover Candy •Soda Fountain

KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA SUN SYSTEM

at

EMILY HAIRDRESSER

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

WASHINGTON COLLEGE FILM SERIES 7:30 P.M. $1 Admission

NORMAN JAMES THEATER

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 17

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, February 13, 1987

Bars Close Doors To Students

Was several Washington College students stole glassware and liquor, abused the bartender and wrecked the school last weekend at the Bluebird Tavern, the proprietor has since barred all students from the establish-by Audra M. Philippon Monday afternoon the Coffeehouse management announced that it would not serve any alcohol for an indefinite period of time because of repeated alcohol-related violent and vandal acts in and around the area of the student

"A few people are abusing other people's privileges," ex-plained Jeff DeMoss, Assistant Director of the Dining Service, 'and all are going to have to suffer." In the single month of this semester, five chairs have been broken in the Cof-feehouse, more than five fist fights have occurred in the area, the bathroom has been destroyed twice, minors have been repeatedly served, and employees have been abused those buying beer, said Dean Maureen McIntire explained the student deans' position on the matter: Removing alcohol "seemed like a) an appropriate response, and b) it was a public enough response to make students aware that alcohol policy is a privilege.

Friday night's event was the straw that broke the camel's back. "It simply was not a civilized occasion," said McIn-

There underaged girl who spent several hours vomiting in the bathroom Friday night, she noted. Coffeehouse staff had to clean up the mess.

'The Coffeehouse staff has been coming to me, and they're fed up," said DeMoss. He continued, "It's up to the students when the Coffeenouse will come back. What are students going to do to solve the pro-blems? Are students going to allow a few to ruin privileges for all?"

"I think if the problems contime, the College will have no choice but to remove the sale of beer for good," speculated director of security Gerry Roderick, who investigates all the complaints from the Cof-feehouse. Students caught violating Coffeehouse rules are referred to the student deans to be processed by the student judicial board, chaired by Chris Fascetta.

We need the cooperation of students to run an organization like the Coffeehouse," furthered Roderick. "Things have just gotten out of hand."

Yesterday, the deans reconvened the Alcohol Task Force that wrote the alcohol policy five years ago to discuss continued on page 4

Plans Finalized For George's Birthday

has come once ain to celebrate the anniverof George Washington's hday. Being the only school the nation named after ent, WC annually holds a Convocation to thebrate the event. This tar's convocation is schedulthe day will start with a steting of the Board of sitors and Governors. This eting will be held from 10:00 m. to 12:30 p.m. and will be dowed by a luncheon for the lard members. Then at 2:00 p.m. Wasnington s Convocation will be held in the Gibson Fine Arts Center. Afterwards, there will be a groundbreaking for the new science laboratory center out-side Dinning Hall followed by an Open House at Bunting Hall. Finally, the Birthday Ball will be held at 9:00 p.m. Saturday night in the Cain Athletic Center.

George L. Bunting will be honored at the Open House. It was by his help that the renovation of Bunting Hall in the summer and fall of 1985 was possible. Bunting is the grandson of George Avery Bunting, an 1891 graduate of donated funds for the construction of Bunting library with George L. Bunting, Jr. later donated funds for the renovation of. George Bunting, Jr. is currently the chief executive officer of the Noxell Corpora-

President Cater commented on Mr. Bunting's donation, ''...not only are we rededicating Bunting Hall, which was renovated with the which was renovated with the generous assistance of George L. Bunting . . we will be turn-ing the first spade of dirt on what is to be our new science

The senior Bunting 2:00 will include an invocation by Dale Pruitt and the keynote address to be delivered by Bishop John T. Walker. The Bishop John T. Walker. The Right Reverend Walker was appointed Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Washington, D.C. in 1977 and washington, D.C. in 1977 and still holds the position. In addi-tion, he serves as Dean of the Washington Cathedral and President of the Council of Churches of Greater Washington. Walker is also the chairman of Africare and a trustee of St. Paul's School and the Virginia Theological School. Furthermore, he serves as a member of the Ur-ban Bishops Coalition and the Conference Greater Washington. The Bishop will be receiving an honorary Doctorate of Letters degree at the Convocation.

The celebration of Washington's Birthday here at WC will be very eventful day. President Cater feels that, "This is going to be a big day for Washington College, as we celebrate our 205th Birthday Convocation with the par-ticipation of the Right Reverend Walker . . . " Final-Reverend Walker ... "Finally, everyone is invited to attend the events and join in on the

Dorm Intruder Apprehended

black man entered her responded to the call and cked room in Reid at 6:30 quickly found the assailant in the morning. She was the Reid parking lot. Alvin but awoke suddenly but awoke suddenly Walley (27) of Chestertown of the man began rubbing was then arrested and charged arm. "After several with breaking and entering and wales of confrontation, the assult and battery."

Let the young lady's "Somebody had obviously man," explained Gerry propped the door open in serick, director of security. Reid..." suspected Roderick.

quickly found the assailant in the Reid parking lot. Alvin Walley (27) of Chestertown gri called security im-gri called security im-diately following the seer's departure.

Treant Lenny Thompson

The calls came in after the security guard had locked the doors for the evening.

"We urge that the residents be a little more security-conscious and make sure that the doors are locked behind them when they enter or exit a building," Roderick said. And "if you see someone in a dormitory that you don't recognize or are suspicious of, call security. It's the best preventative measure we have," he

INSIDE: Letters To The Editor......p.2 Jim Quinn.....p.4 Birthday Ball Supplement.....p.5 Swimming......p.13 Chip Shots......p.14

Album Review.....p.16

OPINION

Editorial

Student Reputations

Vandalized

The Coffee House wasn't the only bar that was closed to Washington College students this week. The Bluebird Tavern, a block north of the College, is now off-limits to the student community after a few of its members entered that establishment, stole glassware and liquor, were rude to the proprietor, and wrecked the bathroom. It was similar behavior last Friday night, including a fight, that caused the tap to be plugged in the C-House early this,

Whether the destructive behavior of a few "students should cause the entire student body to be deprived of social privileges is beside the point. The point is whether or not we, as a community, are prepared to make it very clear that this behavior will not be tolerated — ever. Like it or not, that is the ultimatum that, collectively, or not, nat is the ultimatum tax, colectively. the students of Washington College must make good on. It does not matter if your conduct in public is a model of responsibility, if you attend this institution, you must realize that a few fellow students have successfully flushed your reputation here and in the surrounding community down the tollet. That alone should make any student here mad, especially considering that correcting that reputation will take much longer than it took a few students to ruin it.

The situation is embarrassing enough to students whose behavior in public is responsible, but what is more embarreasing still is trying to explain the disgusting behavior of a few of our peers to the owner of the Bluebird, who, despite trying, cannot herself fathom an explanation. While money can be collected to pay for the damage and apologies given, no student can expect to be welcome there for quite awhile

Besides having a drinking problem, those responsible for the incidents last week seem to also have a problem defining themselves. Are they here to receive an educa-tion, or are they here to get into fights, abuse people and eastroy property? While the campus social life is secon-dary to the primary academic purpose, it is nevertheless a very important and, as we have seen, an extremely fragile element of life at Washington College. Those who seem so unconcerned about seriously damaging it would do well to

seriously consider whether they ought to be here at all Washington College Elm

Editor-In-chief

The film is the official readous newspaper of Washington Callese, The Film is the official readous newspaper of Washington Callese, The Film is published every Fridge during the account view with the exception of vections and exam week.

Ethinotics are the responsibility of the Editor India. Signed columns, and the state of the Callese of the Calles

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

BAR KILLER

Tighten Requirements

To The Editor:

The issue of minimum requirements for graduation from WC has come up for debate in the February 6 editions of the February 6. tion of The Elm, and in the Ad-missions and Academic Standing Committee, where a pro posal for a minimum accep-table G.P.A. and a lowering of the number of permissible "D's" for graduation has been made. It is incomprehensible to me that students and faculty ould object to tightening stan dards, assuming that the tion, and more practically, in the value of the degree offered by the College.

With the current policy of allowing 10 "D's" and 8 courses to be taken Pass/Fail, it is possible for a student to get "D's" in more than half of his courses and still graduate. Furthermore, "D's" are not terribly hard to achieve at this school. It has been my ex-perience that in most lower level courses here a student needs only to show up to class once in a while with a discernable pulse rate to pass. In response to Kim Harb's article, "Grade's Don't Measure Learning," I think it is naive to write that a student who scrapes by with the lowest possible grade in a course can have learned as much as the student who has actually d the reading, put effort into the ssignments, and made contributions in class - the nor-mal springboards to higher grades. Granted, there is more to college life than academics, but classwork ought to play a small but significant part in the learning process, too.
What's important here isn't whether WC students can get a Phi Beta Kappa key to lose the first time they move after graduation. The issue is whether the $40,000 sheepskin will be worth something in the job market when we graduate and whether the four years spent here will be wasted terms of intellectual growth. There are plenty of cheaper schools to go to if all you're concerned about its parties and sporting events, and if Daddy's going to give you an office, a desk, and a secretary to play with when you get out of school, maybe you should con-sider one of those colleges. If, however, you plan on com-peting with a nearly infinite number of college graduates for a place in business, govern-ment, or grad school, you might think it's nice if your degree means more in the real world than something you can get by drawing "Fluffy" from the back of a matchbook. President Cater's Campaign for Excellence must go beyond scraping up the cash for a cou-ple of new buildings. The most cost-effective form of ex-cellence, and the one which will benefit the students the most, is requiring higher minimal standards of educa-tion from Washington College graduates. Anything else meaningless.

Sincerely, David H. Kelly Junior Class

Libelous Slander Sheet

To The Editor:

As a student involved in many campus organizations, I know and work with many student leaders. It is distre that they are so blatantly attacked every week by someone we never see.

The editor's latest piece of misinformation, "SJB Speak," is another example of how The Elm has deteriorated this year from a well written source of information for the campus in-to a libelous slander sheet which serves to massage the egos of those who write it. The Orwell analogy should be ap-plied not to the SJB, rather it should be applied to the Elm. In 1984, those who controlled information controlled society, but in the case of The Elm, nobody listens anymore. The campus deserves an apology, and a better paper. Kevin Langan

Public Servant Bashina

To The Editor:

Mr. Schuster's editorial,
"SJB Speak," only serves to illustrate his ignorance regarding the Student Judicial Board, the SGA, and the campus in general.
Had Mr. Schuster taken the time to research the history and the proposed changes of the judicial system rather than implicate that they are Klan-hooded Orwellians, he might have been able to write an editorial based upon fact

I do not question his right, as editor of The Elm, to air his opinion in print. I do question his consistent policy of bashing student leaders for the sake of sensational yellow journalism students who have stepped forward to become student leaders have done so out of a sense of public service. By hiding behind bizarre editorials and cartoons, Mr. Schuster has performed public dis-service. Every we he emerges from his dark o ner of the cafeteria to tell us a how bad student leaders ar but what he has never done offer reasoned criticis which student leaders co respond to constructively owes it to the public research the facts in future. The students Washington College deserve least that.

Sincerely, Christopher Doherty

Protection Needed

To The Editor: There's an exhibition in the lobby Tawes theater right or — "Local Color", by an arts named Marcy Ramsey. If you were at its opening on the su you saw some of the 300 people who also attended. You also saw some very good work. I you weren't one of those 300 you won't get to see anything The Art Exhibition Committee doesn't have enough money by show, acting as security.

Because we can't pay its security, this art show will st behind locked doors until the 22nd, when we will take it down. If the College would like the public to see any of the shows it so enthusiastically sponsors, it should pay so meone for the nine hours per week necessary to keep a shor

Charles Foster Dawn Schmidt Jeremiah Foster Jeanne Costellostudent representatives-Arts Exhibition Committee

I Know What I'm Talking About

To The Editor:

The members of the student judiciary have sat back and taken your immature ridical ing for months, not wanting to stoop to your level of jour nalism, we now feel that it is finally time to respond. You so called journalistic expsentitled "SJB Speak" is so contered with garbage I feel the someone should definately is send you the WC trash collection. tors so that this type monstrosity never happ

To begin with, you quest the reality of the propo-judicial changes and the co mon sense of the SJB leads ship, I think you are a bit of fused. First of all I do not for that the common sense that

continued on page II

RETRACTION: J.M. Fragomesi was incorrectly credited for the Rush '87 and basketball photos in the Feb. 6 issue of The Ela-Michele Balze photographed

300 Students And Better Records

ter endless countings of Worcester ng tiles and hundreds of Dahli-like doodles on looseleaf paper, I finally granked the following out on a usually lent MacIntosh

The answer: simple. Give the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity all of Cullen and a $5,000/semester entertainment

That should just about lock up a bid for the President's chair, huh? ine yards, the whole kit and kaboo de lock, stock, and barrel. Even those ple on campus who seem to be hearing Barry Manilow at the Coffee House on Saturday nights could redeem their apparent acts of social suicide...

Yeah, that should do it Except for a couple things we need more students.

300 students would do much to promote a more social atmosphere on campus. This is a view held strong by many other undergraduates, as well. My second suggestion is much more specific, and not necessarily from an administrator's point of view.

Tim Walbert

This is an elite, private institution that consistently produces graduates of exceptional quality and high stature. Hardly mediocre, right?

Then why must our creativity be stifled and smothered with a mediocre

Folks, Lionel Ritchie and Motley Crue were created for the three 13 year olds crowding the lamppost down on the corner with a hundred dollar Panasonic and a single lit Marlboro between them. They're choking miserably on the cigarette. We're dying of asphyxiation from Ritchie and

Last week's Top Ten College Albums, as reported by Rolling Stone, featured some great new artists as well as a few already-established progressive bands.

Not one is to be found at our

Oh, but you can round out your

Carpenters collection quite nicely. I don't think it would be that expen-House and I'll buy everyone a... Coke? sive to increase or change the selection quality of music available on campus.

serve to increase sales, and a simple mailbox poll to determine just what the musical tastes are on this campus would turn up some data that would not justify what lurks behind the A-Z dividers in the record department. But really, whoever is dusting off those Madonna LP's and New Edition cassettes and slipping them into the racks at the bookstore should be blind-folded and placed in a small room with a chair. Two Bose 901 speakers. And three CD's: Lifes Rich Pageant, Mars Needs Guitars, and Shabooh Shoobah.

For 4-6 hours. Alone. Yeah, that should do it. Except. Hey, let's roll over to the C-

Tim Walbert is a Sophomore ### believe an enrollment increase of about If You Were A Washington College Administrator Given The Task ISSUE: Of Finding Inexpensive Ways To Improve The Institution,

What Would You Recommend?

John Caniere Havre de Grace, Maryland "Improving the institu-ion is difficult without the aid of money for improvement of faculty or re-sources. More strict academic requirements could improve the education received without increase of tuition. Faculty and resources are ade

Paula Cunningham Junior Chestertown, Maryland

Without raising the tuition perhaps one way of finding inexpensive ways to improve the institution ould be to raise the application and acceptance slightly - charging slightly higher prices athletic events could help a little. There are other things that could be done in combination with this but they are hard to name without much time to

Sharon Himmanen Penn Yan, New York

"Introduce more seminar courses with reading from primary sources rather than tex-tbooks, which just survey the material. Also, make graduation requirements more stringent."

J.P. Albert Edgewood, Maryland

"Raise the admission requirements, plant some grass seed on the bare spots and keep the library quieter. Please, for the school's sake and my sani-

"Increase the caliber of dergraduate students. the graduate quirements and degree requirements stricter. Pick up more classical courses as well as require some of

Campus Voices

quate

by Sarah Letaw

33 Ways To Improve A College

I was asked to do this editorial, and that freshmen don't have singles and so awas asked to do this editorial, and rither than try to come up with a thousand ideas myself, I decided to ask some of the people I know for suggestions on what kinds of inexpensive improvements they would make if they were an administrator at Washington College. These are their ideas:

1. Instead of giving fines to students, have the spuilty narties perform man-have the guilty parties perform man-datory community service.

2. Renovate Phoebe's, and encourage Paint the classrooms something other than institutional green, and 4. Get some new desks. 5. Put more lights in the parking lots

6. Landscape the barer areas of camous, and plant grass so that the ground doesn't turn into mud every time it

7. Make housing more equitable, so that there are no people living in

8. Improve the art facility.

9. Build a backstop for the baseball

10. Buy some new microscopes for the Biology department.

11. Develop a better system of reaching security when they are need-

12. Install a campus-wide phone stem. 13. Build a bigger mail room.

14. Have kitchen facilities in all the

15. Have the infimary stay open longer - at least until dinner 16. Have more vocational seminars and job fairs.

17. Have more security patrols in the ng lots 18. Have more recreational facilities, Coffeehouse.

19. Put more Lance and Coke es around campus. 20. Put paper towels in the 21. Have juice and cereal in the cafeteria until 10:30.

Janet Szabo

22. Redo the walkways so that they are not flooded when it rains.

23. Extend library and/or computer urs so that more students can get to

24. Have adequate heating and air conditioning facilities in ich as more ping-pong tables in the James Theater so that it's more comortable to watch the movies.

25. Have a student address directory for all the students, not just the R.A.'s. 26. Build or find room for a bigger bookstore.
27. Buy snowplows so walkways are passable when it snows. 28. Expand parking lots, especially by Minta Martin and Reid.

29. Replace stolen or missing books in the library. 30. Decorate the Queen Anne's Echo

Lounge.
31. Give more support and funding to the yearbook.
32. Paint the water tower.

33. Give more money to the film eries that more popular films can be

Janet Szabo is a Senior majoring in

Problem Solving Was Quinn's Specialty

by Audra M. Philippon
Jim Quinn, Assistant to the Vice President, leaves
Washington College today after six years of devoted ser-vice to students and to the institution. He was a man behind the scenes whom few students

Quinn was hired from the Chestertown police depart-ment at Dean Ed Maxcy's request in 1981 to establish a professional security department. "The College was being plagued by serious crimes at the time, including rapes and burglaries," ex-plained Quinn. In exchange for free tuition, Quinn put an end to the crime problems

"I can't praise him highly enough," said Maxcy. "We've come such a long way in a very short period of time . . . to a highly professional security department."

Quinn has also been in-strumental in strengthening the relationship between students and the various police jurisdictions (the Chestertown police, the Sheriff's Office, and the State police), said Maxcy "Although it may not be evident on the surface, the whole from that, as well as a lot of individuals have gotten help."

In 1983 Quinn became Vice President for Finance Gene Hessey's assistant. While coordinating maintenance, securi transition to a new telephone system, off-campus housing, damage control on campus, and later off-campus housing arrangements, Quinn gained his B.A. in Sociology. "I'm proud of achieving my egree — that's the biggest accomplishment in my life, especially to get it from Washington College," explained Quinn. "The second (source of pride) is establishing a professional security department and alleviating the serious threat to students; I'm proud of that too," he said Quinn described his respon-sibilities at WC: "I was the 'President's Ombudsman,' as he liked to call me. I dealt with problems. I would receive complains from students, faculty, staff, or even the public, then I'd make a report on how to correct the problem, and then I'd act on it — to the appeasement of everybody." He added proudly, "I didn't

Assistant to the Vice President Jim Quinn leaves Washington Col-lege today after several years of dedicated service. He has taken the position of Claims Represene for State Farm Insurance in make too many enemies. Leone Eaton, faculty secretary, has been known to say that Jim Quinn can move Ever since he's been here, he's treated everybody well," explained June Coleman, Supervisor of Housekeeping. "He is somebody you can talk to, and he was always fair. If you were wrong, he'd tell you but he could see both sides of everything. He would just tell it like it is." Another of Quinn's it like it is." Another or summer fans, Geraldine in housekeep-ing said, "Once Jim saw you, he knew you, and he'd stop

Before coming to WC, Quinn and Gerry Roderick were part-ners on the police force. 'We're very close friends he's the one that recruited me to take this position as security director," Roderick said. "I'll be sorry to see him go."

Quinn has been hired as a claims representative by State Farm Insurance Co. in Dover, DE. He will be covering the eastern shore region, so he will still live in Chestertown with is only true because he's never Anne's County Alumni Assection of Francis active forgotten his roots. "You work tion — I want to remain active forgotten his roots." The second of the s forgotten his roots. "You work tion — I want to remain acts with people; you ask people to on campus," promised Quin do things, not tell them." "I'll miss all the students.." Nobody who worked for Quina ever called him 'Mr. Quinn. His reason for leaving. His reason for leaving: His reason for leaving: feel my talents are more in the investigative field; I low working with people, and the job will entail both of these

Job will email box two years underwriting experience Hessey is now studying the existing staff in maintenant and security to determine how and security to determine her Quinn's duties will be redustributed, but firm plan regarding a replacement han not been made. Maxcy added that "Jim is one of those people that "Jim is one of the people that "Jim is one of those pega who's done a lot more ba-be's given credit for."

"We'll miss him," say thessey. "He did an outta-ding job as director of securi-and an equally fine job super-vising maintenance, but we'n all pleased that he is excite about his new position."

all pleased that he is excited about his new position."
"We sure have laughed a by with him," sighed Colema who is planning a that you/farewell party for Quin on Friday. "He's always bes his wife and two children. "I there for us . . . we're gom want to join the Kent/Queen miss him," she said.

False Fire Alarms Investigated

Two false fire alarms that ave occurred on campus in the last few weeks are under investigation by the state Fire Marshall's Office. After the outbreak of false alarms last semester, the fire marshall re quested that security turn over all reports for their review The fire marshall in Kent County, Richard Powell, will determine the student(s)' criminal intent and prosecute, or he will conclude that the alarm was set off by a accident of some sort. Two in cidences were pursued by the also, but no charges were eve filed against the students in-volved. Students found guilty by the fire marshall face up t a $2000 fine or up to two years in a house of corrections.

KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA SUN SYSTEM

EMILY HAIRDRESSER

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

Chestertown 357 High Street Chestertown Carol Wagner, CTC Carol Wagner, CTC Patty Mowell Carol Wagner, CT Virginia Allen Judie Willock

Centreville Representative/ Harriet Gearbart

Airlines • Steamship • Railroad • Hotels
Tours • Car Rental • Travel Insurance

Activist Ladonna Harris To Visit rights of minorities, specifical-

Political activist and founder ly those of American Indians.

of Americans for Indian Op-portunity Ladonna Harris will from Oklahoma, is accredited be arriving at Washington Col-with a long list of political prowith a long list of political prolege February 16 for a week- jects since her initial involve-long series of lectures and ment with civil rights in the classroom appearances to in- 1960's. Since then, Harris has crease the awareness of the done a great deal to bring the

Coffee House Closes

continued from page I possible revisions to the policy

and to brainstorm ways to solve the present abuses of the

The sophomore class will, however, be allowed to host its ince tomorrow night in the on a test basis. Behavior there will certainly be taken into consideration by the student deans. "We'll take it weekend by weekend," McIntire said.
"Either students must take control of their own social lives, or we're going to have to problems and issues concern ing American Indian tribes to the attention of national political leaders and decision the makers.

was the Harris was the wife a Senator Fred Harris for thiny years, which brought then a Washington as one of by youngest political couples a town. While with her husbaal who served as the nation chairman for the Democrat Party and ran for Presideal twice, Harris became increased ingly involved in the women' movement. She worked a such commissions as the Pres dent's Commission for Meta Health, The National Comm

Mom's Cookie Jar

Next Wednesday evening the dining service and Sandler Foods presents "Mardi Gras Night." The menu for dinner that evening will be fried chicken, blackened fish, seafood gumbo, hush puppies, steamed white rice with black beans, steamed corn with red and green peppers, steamed whole green beans and pecan pie. We at the dining service hope that you will enjoy this special dinner. If any one has a suggestion for a special event dinner, please put your sugges-tion in the suggestion box located in the main dining room or send it c/o Sharon Crew, WCDS.

This week, in a continuing ef-This week, if a continuing er-fort to inform you about nutri-tion, I would like to give you some "food for thought" about Calcium. Most of us think of our bones as being lifeless they are anything but! Bone tissue is alive. Every day new bone is added and old bone is broken down and removed from the body. About 700 mg of calcium enter and leave your

Your bones and teeth make up 99% of the calcium in your body. Calcium gives bone tissue strength and hardness. The other 1% is used by your heart to beat, for your muscles to contract and relax, your blood to clot and for your nerves to transmit messages. After performing these metabolic uses, about 300 mg of this calcium is lost by excre-

Since the body cannot make its own calcium, it must be ob-tained from the diet. If you don't eat calcium-rich foods every day, your body takes the calcium it needs out of your bones and puts it into the blood so that your body can continue

The lack of calcium in the adult diet can be linked to Osteoporosis, a disease that affects an estimated 15 million Americans. If day after day, year after year, calcium is taken from your bones and not replaced by the foods you eat, your bones become weak and

Some people wrongly believe that when you stop growing, you no longer need calcium.

The truth is, no matter what your age, you never outgrov your need for calcium. A low calcium diet not necessarily cause oster porosis, but a diet adequate in calcium can prevent retard its occurat Heredity, smoking, lack of exercise and excessive amounts of alcohol and caffeine also contribute to the disease.

The recommended daily calcium intake for adults is 800

mg. This amount is more the adequate to cover the 300 mg so lost each day and to all for a margin of safety since of your diet is absorbed Calcium is found almost ex clusively in a single class of foods - milk and milk products Next week I'll feature car bohydrates.

For those of you keepin your "cookie list," add chem winks. I'm always looking to new recipes for cookies, you have a favorite send it the WCDS c/o "MOM."

That's it for this week

The Washington College Elm's

Birthday Ball Planner

Spend An Evening in Paris

he finishing touches are being put abeplans for one of the most exciting displamorous events in Chestertown, washington College Birthday Ball, burday, February 21.

The Cain Athletic Center will be and of the desired and the desired at the freshmen class decorates the theme of "An Evening in Paris." In main attraction will be a 12 foot the from the desired at the des amed with white Christmas lights. walls will be graced by a 66 foot wal of a French street scene, as well as blue and silver balloons and streamers. The dance floor will be enhanced by lighted lamp posts, and, in combination with the streamers over the dance floor, should "really pull the atmosphere into the room," according to Freshman class president Mike

While Jenkens realizes the theme while Jenkens realizes the theme does not really coordinate with Washington's birthday, he feels the af-fair will nonetheless have a "dignified, celebrity air."

Attendants can expect a different ound on the dance floor this year, Bing Miller and his sixteen piece orchestra more contemporary music from the 50's, 60's, 70's, and 80's as the evening progresses. Jenkens explained the change in bands was due to a "loss of interest" after having the same band so many years.

The usual buffet will not appear this year due to a lack of popularity. Rather, there will be simpler "finger foods" set out - chips, dips, birthday will provide the musical entertainment cakes and beverages, in addition to the will provide the musical entertainment cakes and beverages, in addition to the instead of Diversity which has played traditional born, a variable in the Student carrier in the evening, and move on to purchased at the door the more contemporary music from the Ball. Prices are $15 for student couples, $95, 805, 705, and $95 as the evening $25 for faculty, staff, and adprogresses. Jenkens explained the ministrations, $40 for alumni and change in bands was due to a "loss of frends, $400 for alumni and change in bands was due to a "loss of frends, $400 for alumni and change in bands was due to a "loss of frends, $400 for alumni, and $150 for alumni, and $15 sustaining patrons. These prices have been upped $5 from last year in hopes of creating a scholarship fund, said

> The Ball will run from 9 p.m.-1 a.m. after which there will be a post-Ball party in the Coffeehouse from 1-5 a.m.

Ball Fashion

Tired of the traditional lired of the traditional stites and stites and significant suits? The Elm's shion feature looks at the lest in formal wear - meraid gowns and Miami Vice-spired tuxedos.

Etiquette Guide

Licking your fingers over lobster won't impress that special someone at dinner. Brush up on your table manners with our etiquette guide, taken from the advice of Amy Vanderbilt.

Dining Out

Birthday Ball night is no time to order pizza. Look into The Elm's restaurant guide to find the establishment where the atmosphere is elegant and the price is right.

Off-the-Cuff

Ladies, it's not too late to catch a date! Turn to Getting a Birthday Ball Date: A Guide for the Truly Desperate to learn how.

page 6

page 7

page 8

page 10

From Scarlett O'Hara to "Splash":

Formalwear Offers New Ways To Shine

by Jennifer Harrison

The rule in formal fashion for this season is anything goes. Dresses range from the full hoop to a short cut above the knee. Suits vary from the notched lapels of the business suit to flamingo pink tails. This season brings with it a wide assortment of fabrics, colors, and new ways to shine.

The key to stunning fashion for women this winter is glit-Sequins and lame are back, better than before in the body skimming styles of the sheath and the flair of the mermaid. The Bridal Boutique of Milford, Delaware recom-mends the completion of this femme fatalelookwith the addition of shoes, dyed to match, of course, and gimmering hair ornaments. Furs or faux furs add the finishing touches for "An Evening in Paris" at the Birthday Ball.

and the short dress. The saleswomen here also point out that pastels and eyelets are still going strong even when surrounded by the darker colors of wintertime.

Tim Reinhard of Royal Formals in Salisbury Mall boasts that all that glitters in this store is not just gold. The lame and sequins are found in silver, black and the royal colors: red, emerald, and blue. Though he loves the appeal of a woman clad in a shimmering sheath, his customers often opt for the classic silhouette dress in a simple taffeta. He adds that a sequined top crowning a taffeta or velvet skirt in black is always stunning.

Woodward and Lothrop of woodward and Lothrop of the Parole Plaza in Annapolis has sold an abundance of cleavage baring dresses in red lame and copper satin.

pumps are great to dance in as well. The best sellers in hair ornaments are silk flowers, bows and anything with glitter

Furs and cloaks with hoods are lovely for framing the makeup of the season that is anything but faint hearted. There is a reappearance of red not just for the lips, but for the eyes as well. Green is also appearing in smokier, more flattering tones. There is even glitter in the make-up this season, gold, silver and copper for both the eyes and the lips.

For men the choices are somewhat simpler. Although it is not necessary to wear a tuxedo to the Birthday Ball, the men who do will discover a wide range of color and style. Most men's shops that rent tuxedos carry the After Six line which includes names

Fashion flashback: the antique clothing at Roses in Chestertown of-fers a traditional alternative to the modern "mermaid" look in formal

Birthday Ball Fashion

Taffeta is always popular, and this winter it is best mat-ched with lace in a dropped waist cut. Lace and taffeta bows seem to be all over the dresses of Simon's Department Store in Dover. They are most often found on the shoulders and waists of the back baring dresses that Simon's can't seem to hold on

Simon's stresses the fact that hoops are still popular, even with the rise of the sheath

Downtown Dover (302) 678-8160

However, the saleswoman here still prefers the Scarlett O'Hara look of white ruffles and hoops.

Most bridal and formalwear stores sell dyable satin pumps and some like Royal Formals provide an extra strip of satin to test colors on. Dyed to match purses are also available, however imprac-tical. For the college woman trying to keep the cost down to

Sat. 10-6, Sun. 12-4

VISA-MASTERCHARGE

like Pierre Cardin, the Dynas-ty Collection, Yves St. Lauren and Bill Blass. Simon's in Dover rents the After Six line, but includes the pink and purple haze with mat-ching ties, shirts and cumber-bunds and white pants. Their Dynasty Collection is a little Dynasty Collection is a little more subtle in black, silver or white tails with short coats. Royal Formals prides itself in having not only the newest collection, but a collection ex-clusive to the area. This in-cludes the Robert Wagner Squad coat in royal blue or mauve jackets matched with white or black pleated pants.

Miami Vice line. These tux-edos come in vibrant colors such as fiesta blue, flamingo such as fiesta blue, flamingo such as fiesta blue, flamingo in this ensemble. This tuxedo includes padded shoulders with a coat that buttons to the belt and a notched lapel. Royal Formals also has a wide selec-tion of other tuxedos ranging from $39.00 to $75.00. Creativity is encouraged, but basic black is always a standby.

With the wide selection of colors and glitter available for the Birthday Ball one can only hope that couples appear in complimentary colors, No, gold lame and flamingo pink do not match.

Dining Etiquette: No Slurping

by Andrea Kehoe
Months of mealtaking in the Washington College Dining
Bill can leave even the bestrained sudentime of the sudentime of the Bill can leave even the bestrained sudentime of a sudergardener at anacktime, Set while slumping your soup ad chewing with your mouth get ammates, it's certain not impress your date. If you're alaming to shell out fifty backs for a dinner at a fancy to worth the sudentime of the Bill of the Bill of the sudentime of the Bill of the Bill of the sudentime of the Bill of the Bil

clare: Sticky cake is eaten with a fork. Dry cake, such as pound cake or fruit cake, is broken and eaten in small jeces. Tiny confection cake (served at wedding receptions, atc.) are eaten in the fingers. Cream puffs, Napoleans, and eclairs, all treacherous as to filling, are eaten with a fork.

Chicken (broiled or fried):
Chicken must be eaten with laife and fork except at picnics. Bones are not put into the mouth but are stripped with the knife while being held firmby by the fork. Joints are cut if one's knife is sharp enough and it can be done without lifting the elbows from the normal eating position.

caung posation.

Clams (steamed): If the shell is not fully open, take it up and bend it back with the fingers bend it back with the fingers with the state of the shell of th

Flah: Small fried fish are usually served whole. The head is cut off first, then the fish is beld in place with the fork and sit with the tip of the knife from head to tail and laid flat. The backbone is then gently lifted up with the knife and fork and laid of the side of the plate. The balance of the fish is then to twith the fork or knife. Any

Tracey-To My Special Valentine's Girl, I Love You Bryan

Erika S., l'Il see you Sat. night? -A Bel Air Buddy

To the Khaki Clan and Jeans West. Happy Valentine's To: A book this big - my answer was yes. Have you decided no? Should I ask you? Or should I go?

Marty Holden, Hi L.F.! Three U's and I love you more than ever! Always remember that you have all my heart forever and you're all mine!

Hey Aud,
Booga Wooga
56 minutes was a long time ago.
It's just that it's so exciting!
Merry V-Day, Squb, Muff, Eyebrows, Love Michael

tiny bones taken into the mouth are taken in thumb and forefinger and are laid on the side of

Incipates: (bulled or broiled):
Lobate the two yor the lobater on the plate with the left hand, twist off the claws with the text hand, twist off the claws with the left holding the lobster steady on meat with fork. Cut into manageable segments with knife, dip in melted butter or mayonnaise. Break off small mayonnaise. Break off small with seafood fork or nut pick, dip in melted butter or mayonnaise mailed butter or mayonnaise mailed butter or mayonnaise. Benedict mailed butter or mayonnaise melted butter or mayonnaise melted butter or mayonnaise. Benedict mailed butter of mayonnaise melted butter or melted butter or melted butter or melt

Oysters and Clams (half shell): Hold the shell steady with left hand and, using oyster fork, lift oyster or clam whole from shell. Dip in cocktail sauce and eat in one mouthful. Oyster crackers may be dropped whole in sauce, extracted with oyster fork and eaten.

Soup. The tipping of soup or deseart dishes is acceptable if the plate is tipped away from the spoon, not toward the state. Soup or bouillon served fashion served fashion small, opersized bow may be drunk. If there are vegetables or other garnish floating on top, these may be littled off with the spoon before the soup is drunk. Noodles or the bottom of the cup are spooned up after the liquid has been drunk.

Spaghetti: The afficiented knows that the only graceful and satisfying way to eat Italian spaghetti is to eat it with a large soup spoon and a leith and the same state of the Total Control of the Control of the

NEED A TUX?

WHY NOT STOP IN AND GIVE A LOOK AT OUR LARGE SELECTION OF TUX RENTALS.

ALSO WHILE THERE, CHECK OUT OUR WINTER SALE ITEMS OF GREAT SAVINGS ON SHIRTS, SWEATERS, OUTERWEAR AND OTHER SELECTED ITEMS.

Bramble's Traditional Clothing

For Men and Women

Downtown Chestertown 778-6090

Birthday

by Mary Riner
"What?! There is only a week until the Birthday Ball? I don't even have a date yet." Granted that there are still many students without a danc ing companion to celebrate Washington's birthday, there is still an entire week to ask an unsuspecting soulmate. However, the date problem can be solved in a last minute question. Dinner, on the other hand, is another story. You are dressing for a black tie occa-sion, McDonald's or the Dining Hall just won't do. The follow-ing is a list of fine dining establishments in the area that require reservations. That means reserve now, ask your date later.

Local

Rolph's Wharf

Rt. 1, Chestertown 778-3227

Wharf Restaurant has both a restaurant and lounge overlooking the Chester River. Colors of the brown and beige mix with candle and firelight to create a soft, quiet ambiance. A variety of dishes are available, with seafood, steak and Italian entrees. There is a nightly special and a buffet on Saturday night. For $11.95, the buffet provides a quick, no wait meal, while din-ner can be had in an hour's Reservations can be made early the same day or 24 hours in advance.

Imperial Hotel

208 High Street,

Chestertown
778-5000
The Imperial Hotel offers
French dishes in an at-French dishes in an at-mosphere of elegance. An average entree price is $19. The restaurant serves French wines exclusively, and is known for its extensive list. Reservations are required

Great Oak Landing Resort

Handy Point Road, Melitota

778-2100 This reataurant and cocktail lounge currently offers limited menu dining. An attractive feature is the dancing and listening music provided by a keyboard musician.

Old Wharf Inn

Chestertown

778-3566 The Old Wharf Inn provides casual, waterfront dining on the Chester River. Specializing in seafood, the Inn's entrees range in price from $8.95 to $15.95. A price of $11 to $12 is average

On Saturdays, the Inn is open for lunch from 11-4 and from 4-9 for dinner. The Old Wharf Inn is located at the front Cannon Street. It takes neither reser vations nor credit cards

Buzz's

Rt. 213 at Rt. 291, Chestertown 778-1214

About the closest restaurant to campus you'll find is Buzz's, located on Washington Avenue across from Kent Plaza. Although Buzz's is primarily a steak house, the restaurant does have a good selection of seafood dishes. The average across from Kent entree price is between $10 and

An interesting feature of this restaurant is the large selection of vegetables. There are 12 tion of vegetables. There are 12 different vegetables on the menu from which to choose. Buzz's also has petite dinners, which have smaller portions and are less expensive than the regular meals. Diners will enter that the state of the stat joy the casual, comfortable and friendly atmosphere of this restaurant

Buzz's will take reservations for parties of five or more. Nor-mally, reservations should be made one day in advance, but for February 21, they should be made at least two days in advance

Kitty Knight House

Rt. 213, Georgetown 648-5305 Built in 1755, the 230 year-old

Kitty Knight House preserves a colonial atmosphere, with fireside dining and a view of the Sassafras River.

Kitty Knight House serves seafood, steak and yeal. The average entree price is $12. An outstanding feature of this restaurant is that it gives a 10% discount to all Washington College students. College students.

Reservations can be made 24 hours in advance. Kitty Knight House is located 15 miles north of Chestertown on Rt. 213

Resta

Have your Birthday Ball Dinner delivered hot or cold to your room one menu includes:

-Hors d'oeuvre-Green Salad with Desto Vinaigrette Choice of

Chicken Breast Dijonnaise

Oriental Steak Tips with Peapods and Water Chestnuts Rice Pilaf Almondine Steamed Vegetable Medley French Bread with Honey Butter Sweet Tray (assorted cakes)

All For $20.00 A Person Price Includes Delivery, Plates, Napkins, Utensils Last Day To Order - Feb. 20th

OLD WHARF INN ON THE CHESTER RIVER

FOOT OF CANNON ST CHESTERTOWN, MD. 21620

301-778-3566

RESTA

on the Bay Chestertown 301

chomby I M Emines

rant le 17

e Creek and 21620

Ball Dining

Annapolis

The Harbor House

City Dock Annapolis 268-0771

Popular attractions at this restaurant are its windows overlooking the Annapolis Harbor. The atmosphere of this restaurant is friendly and lively. There is no dress code.

Harbor House serves both seafood and steak, with fresh fish every day. No reservations are needed. The restaurant serves on a first come, first serve basis.

The Chart House

300 Second St., Annapolis 268-7166 or 269-6692 (Baltimore Area)

This restaurant is right on the water, overlooking the Annapolis Harbor. It has a beautiful atmosphere filled with plants, teak wood, and model ships with plants, teak wood, and model ships.

The Chart House specializes in seafood and steak, with entrees priced from $6.95 to $21.95. The average entree

$21.95. The average entree price is $14. One of the interesting features of the Chart House is its lounge, with radiant fireplace and harbor view. An added plus is access for the handicapped.

The Chart House, once a boat house, was converted to a restaurant seven years ago. Its size makes it ideal for large parties.

No reservations are needed

W.T. Smithers

Restaurant 140 South State St., Dover 302-674-8875

W.T.Smithers Restaurant has informal Annapolis-style dining, different from what is normally found in Dover. It is located in a large, windowy house that dates from 1860.

Offering seafood and steak dishes, the restaurant's average entree price is between $12 and $14. Lunches consist of salads, sandwiches, and soups. Fresh, uncanned foods are standard.

W.T. Smithers will take reservations one day in advance.

Dover

Nuts

1068 South State St., Dover 302-678-1988

An interior of brass and black leather creates a Mediterranean effect in this restaurant, with a subdued, quiet, and dim atmosphere. There is a small, unique lounge with live place much with live plano music.

Nuts specializes in beef, and boasts of its prime rib. Fresh seafood, fresh veal, and gourmet dishes are also served. The average entree price is Reservations can be made in advance.

The Iron Gate

Inn

Rt. 113, Dover 302-678-9666

Seafood is the specialty of this casual inn. Also, the Iron Gate Inn claims to have the best prime rib around. Entrees are priced from $9.75 to $18, with and average price of $11 to

The inn is located on the left side of Rt. 113 south, between the Dover Air Force Base and the Blue Hen Mall. Reservations can be made one week in advance.

Dinner Bell

Inn
121 South State Street.

Dover

The Dinner Bell Inn offers several opportunities to its diners. There is the conductive both and the conductive boths, where a piacetal boths, where a piacetal closing. Also, rooms are available for large parties of 12 or 29. A glass-enclosed garden within the main dining room creates a pleasant atmosphere.

Specialties are crab imperial, space ribs, and prime rib. Many enjoy this restaurant because it serves a rarely serve ed vegetable—rhobart. The chicken and dumplings to $18.95 for lobster tall. The average entree price is $13.00 Friday and Saturday nights option of the price of the price is $10.00 powders, cold staurday nights options to the price is $10.00 powders, cold staurday nights options to the price is $10.00 powders, cold staurday nights of $10.95, or $2.25 with the purchase of an entree. An allyoucan-reat seafood buffet is available Friday evenings for

The Dinner Bell Inn will take reservations.

Ironstone Cafe

236 Cannon Street Chestertown, Maryland 21620 301-778-0188

Tuesday-Saturday Lunch: 11:30-2:00 Dinner: 5:30-9:00 Closed Sundays & Holidays

THE NARROWS

at Kent Narrows Bridge

827-8113

Getting A Birthday Ball Date

A Guide For The Truly Desperate

by Andrea Kehoe

Ladies, it's that season once again: Birthday Ball time. As her girls worry about getting a dress and dinner reservaons, you're just hoping to get tions, you're just noping to get a date. You live in fear of being dubbed "The Wallflower of Washington College." You begin to wonder if a manicure might boost your social life.

Fret no more. Getting a Birthday Ball Date: A Guide for the Truly Desperate contains the practical advice that will help you catch a man, if only

The first place to begin in your quest for a Ball companion is with your male friends. An evening with a pal is bound to be more fun than one spent with someone whose last name you can't remember Occasionally, however, for some inexplicable reason, even your male friends will seem unwilling to be seen with you on anything that even remotely resembles a date. When they begin to offer excuses that they'll be visiting sick friends

Dragons that weekend, you've got yourself a date — assum-ing you have a car to go pick

If you're not liberated enough to ask a guy to ac-company you to the Ball, you might need to offer some encouragement - or rather, enticement — so that he will ask you. Remember that many males seek a date with the hours after the Birthday Ball in mind, so you should work on spicing up your reputation. You might run the risk of catching pneumonia, but you'll definitely wake up everyone in your 8:30 class if you wear a leather miniskirt and fishnet stockings, and your friends will admire your ability to walk on ice in spike heels.

Also, you should aim to be seen exiting a different men's or coed dorm in the early hours of the morning every day for a week or so. This will no doubt get you many offers ... for a date to the Birthday Ball, that is. Enlist others in this revision of your reputation: bribe your friends of the opposite sex to

the

cuff

in a leper colony or attending a convention of worm breeders that weekend, just nod sym-pathetically, tell them you understand, and promptly write a newspaper column revealing their childhood

Next, ask all your friends the ones you're still speaking to — if one of their relatives is free of other social com-mitments the Saturday night of the Ball. If someone's little brother or cousin isn't already busy practicing the tuba or You might need to lower playing Dungeons and your expectations of the even-write your name, phone number, and a well-chosen adjective on bathroom walls

If it's beginning to look like the Colts will return to Baltimore before you ever find a date, you might have to resort to asking someone who wouldn't usually be seen at the Birthday Ball. Take, for in-stance, the male who attends only social functions at which you have to wade through several feet of beer.

to pay, or help to pay, for an expensive dinner at a restaurant where he can't read the menu and doesn't know which fork to use, when he could put the money to a better use, like fancy hubcaps for his car. Offer to fund an evening meal at Burger King, and you might get a date after all.

Likewise, don't expect some poor guy to spend his dough to rent a tux or to endure the discomfort of a coat and tie. If suits are acceptable attire for the Ball, then sweats are pro-bably okay, too, especially if worn with $100 tennis shoes.

A fear of many Washington College males is that the Birthday Ball might be boring — they might actually have to spend the evening talking to ing somewhat to make this you. Assure your "target" that catch. Perhaps it's you won't be miffed if he unreasonable to ask your date leaves you immediately upon entering the gym to drink with his buddies. He'll be relieved to know that you're around as a "nurse" if he gets sick from drinking seven or eight martinis too many. You can also be useful to inform security of where he lives when they come

> Another Birthday Ball unlikely is the type who makes it a rule not to attend social functions at which other people are present. You might draw this guy out of hibernation by assuring him that he can read his physics book at the Ball by candlelight and that the bar will certainly have milk. Promise him that he won't have to talk to anyone and that he'll be home by 11, but insist that he clean his fingernails before he picks you up. Be sure that you ask this popular guy several weeks in advance; he'll have to call home to get Mom's per-

to carry him home.

These procedures, of course, carry certain risks. If you rope less-than-enthusiastic date, his behavior at the Ball could make you feel like you're babysitting — and not even get ting paid. On the other han, your efforts could be fruitles, and you could end up with the self-confidence of Woody Allen Remember, though, that the Birthday Ball is not Noah's Ark: you can always go with a group of friends. might have a Ball.

Complete Hair Care

10 Visits for $40.00 or $75.00 unlimited until March 15

to a year 'round, beautiful tank

Our SunTana SunSystem guarantees you a glorious radiant tan that you can keep all year long. A tan you achieve with soft, comfortable and SAFE U.V.A. light and without all the burning, peeling and flaking you get in natural sunlight. Our SunSystem is GUARANTEED to tan anyone who tans in the sun...while you relax

We'd like to tell you more about this exciting new way to tan. A single visit will convince you.

The Beauty Lounge Callus

Phone: 778-2635 come

today...

Midtown Mail
Chestertown, MD 21620 too
NEXUS PRODUCTS AVAILABLE
Complete Hair Care - Manieures - Sculptured Nails

The Intimidating Girls of Queen Anne Second Floor wish Dean Turkalj a Happy Valentine's Day Wombat Spud Women

**ATTENTION** Typing Done at Reasonable Rates Call Kathleen: 778-1039

A Shear Design

MANICURES AT 1/2 PRICE SCULPTURED NAILS RETAIL ITEMS

505 Washington Ave. Chestertown, Md. 2160

Janie Thompson (301) 778-0898 Birthday Ball

15% off to students

with this ad

and ID

Corsages and Boutonnieres

Corsages in Roses, Mixed Spring, Orchid and Carnation

ORDER EARLY! "A trip to Elburn's is worth it for their low prices and high quality"

778-2200

Suffering From Birthday Ball Burnout?

by Tom Schuster

gverybody should go to the a to go would be to cheat re experience. But once time to establish a firm look about the event. One is er thrilled by it or wishes it and just go away. I place yelf among those who would a as soon see the Ball get thing. After two years of all attendance I'm now of the cal tavern is preferable to ge in Paris, that I'd rather be dening to Jerry Jeff Walker a 17 piece orchestra, and while tuxedos may make u look nice, they cost too one year ago, while this nind, I wrote an article for 1986 Birthday Ball Suppleat about how students could variety to Washington Cole's big formal event. The come too predictable. though at that point I had on-attended one, I wasn't at all surprised to discover that I was right. I had a good time at last year's Ball, but once it was over all I could manage was a great big yawn. When I began to reconstruct my experiences at the Birth-day Ball I realized that 95% of the experience is over before hours people spend shopping and spending for dresses, tux-edos, flowers, haircuts, dinner is the real Birthday Ball. The tion by drinking the booze you smuggled in.

I began to think that one could have as much fun by goereservations, champagne and ing through all the motions of all the other accouterments of Birthday Ball attendance, a formal event are the real thinking about the night of the source of enthusiasm. Once all dance, and then not actually the preparations are complete doing anything, but staying

As other burned out Birthday Ball goers may have done, I've decided to take my experiences at the event for what they're worth, cut the losses involved, and bail out of the situation. It was nice to attend for two years, but like anything, the Birthday Ball gets old after awhile. If, while in high school, we had all at-tended a prom each year, by the time we were seniors the occasion would have taken on remarkable similarity to finals something that something that occurred with a grinding regularity, re-quired a lot of preparation, and which we would ultimately rather do without.

anticipation of the Ball in those around me. I had it once and I'll never forget the times I've had at and on my way to the Birthday Ball. As events go, however, it has lost my per-sonal interest. When next Saturday night arrives, I'll be content to pick up a good book or climb aboard a barstool and let memories linger.

"As a classic 'chase is better than the catch situation,' the fun of the Birthday Ball would be realized without even showing up."

you and your date even get to the Ball. Walking through the doors of Cain Gymnasium is akin to walking into a ski lodge and you've returned from a 70 dollar dinner, walking into a decorated gymnasium is anti-climactic to say the least. The after a morning of downhill first ten minutes is spent ad-runs — the main attraction is miring everyones attire and over. The time spent during the then the rest of the evening is weeks preceding the Big Night spent trying to forget the situa-

home and reading a book. At the last minute you could cancel the dinner reservations, send back the flowers and the tux, and call off the whole af-fair. As a classic "chase is bet-ter than the catch situation," the fun of the Birthday Ball

Don't Drink And Drive On Birthday Ball Night

- The Elm Staff

C-Town liquors 8 Deli

> FEATURING: HOMEMADE HOT SOUPS

511 WASHINGTON AVE CHESTERTOWN, MD 21620

778-2988

ROSES ANTIQUES AND COLLECTABLES

314 PARK ROW, CHESTERTOWN, MD 21620

301-778-1522

MON.-SAT. 10:00 AM-5:00 PM, SUN. 1:30-5:00

NEED A FORMAL DRESS? NEED A TUX? WE HAVE THEM!!

Vintage, Clothing, Jewelry, Etc. With $25 Purchase of Clothing FREE Your Choice of 1 Piece of Jewelry From Selected Stock

M.D.T All My Love On Valentine's Day and Forever!

HARRIS-Conceit is Bad For The Soul

Happy Valentine's Day To: Laleh, Marnie, Paige, April, Sheri, and Eugenia From Wombat God

Stam Drug Co. 215 High Street

Chestertown, Maryland 778-3030

·Hudson's Vitamins Cosmetics •Russell Stover

Candy

Fountain

•Soda

Modern Amenities and Old Fashion Charm

301-778-5557

2 MILES SOUTH OF CHESTERTOWN ON ROUTE 213 CALL FOR BROCHURE & RESERVATION

-Rustic Inn-

for a warm, elegant atmosphere, perfect for pre-Birthday Ball Dining

Our slogan is: The finest food and service

- Cocktails -Lunch - Dinner

Easton

820-8212

Talbottown Shopping Center 2 blocks north of the Tidewater Inn

Annapolis

224-2626

1803 West Street

Activist To Visit W.C.

continued from page tee for Full Employment, UNESCO; and under such Presidents as Johnson, Ford, and Carter. In the late 1970's Harris ran for Vice-President of the United States with Barry Commener on the Citizen's Party Ticket in an attempt to create a new and lasting third While working under former President Johnson, Harris formed Americans for Indian Opportunity, a national vocacy organization to assist Indian tribes in strengthening their efforts to attain their political and economic goals.

AIO works in the development of reservation economics, tribal control of natural resources, in reservation en-viromental quality, and in tribal governance. Today AIO is concerned with the manage-ment of conflict in Indian comunities, the acculturation to Indian communities of youth programs of national service organizations like the Red Cross, and the creation of Cross, and the creation of discussion environments where Indians themselves can iden-tify issues, discuss them from their own multiple perspectives and participate fully in the United States' on-going in-tellectual dialogue. Political Science, and thropology classes through While at Washington College, the week. tellectual dialogue.

While at Washington College, Harris will conduct several lec-Harris will conduct several lec-tures, attend classes, and con-duct informal discussions. Monday evening, February 16 in the Literary House, Harris m the laterary House, Harris will be discussing Group Lobbying. On Wednesday, February 18, a lecture will be given on women's right's and Indians' rights in the Hynson Lounge. Friday night, February 20 at 8:00 p.m. Harris will attend the Precident's forum In addition.

President's forum. In addition, Harris will attend History,

I consider a great part of my work here to be make an attempt to educate the academic community as to academic community as to what is going on in the India communities. I take great delight in this aspect of my ork," said Harris during a re cent telephone interview Anyone interested in speak ing with Ms. Harris during he visit or finding out more about her lecture schedule should contact professor Fallaw.

Letters

continued from page 2 have or the common sense of my other judicial officers is be-ing looked at by the students (as a result of your editorial) it seems that the general feel-ing around WC is that your own level of common sense and reality is what is being ques-tioned. When are you going to grow up and start working with student organizations instead of trying to hinder them. So far you have attacked every stu-dent (since every student is a member of the SGA) and every student leader. At the rate you are going I expect to see your next editorial attacking Santa Claus or the Catholic Church. I also think that it is really ironic that the editors of The Elm have become experts on the Buckly Amendment and Privacy Act, claim that I have no understan-ding of them. I have been involved with the judiciary for three years now, have gone to several conferences pertaining to student run judicial bodies and have been in contact with United States Department of Education. At every conference and in conversations U.S.D.E. officials the federal and expert interpreta-tion (not the local Elm uneducated interpretation) of those federal acts is that it is illegal to disclose, at private in-stitutions, the disciplanary [sic] records of any student to anyone other than that student.

I guess that that qualifies you to say that I do not know what I am talking about, and that you do. Along the same lines you claim that The Elm (the press??) is not given anything in which the judiciary can be held accountable for. You have once again failed to reveal to the student body that I have given you in the past lists of all case dates, charges, determination of responsibility, and restitutions (if any) minus the names to print. Each time you and your editors have refused to print these. If anyone is secretly "cloaking" the judiciary it certainly must be you and your editors.

In conclusion your editorial nd cartoon make the adiciary out to be an off-shoot of the KKK, I find this (as well as numerous other students) to be very insulting and extremedish on your part. I think that it is time that you take a good look at yourself, you have a lot of maturing to do before the real world has to deal with you. It is a real shame that the quality of The Elm has dropped to the level of journalism equal to that of the National Enquirer. Hopefully once you and your editors are gone the "press" will truely [sic] be presentative once again. Un til then I guess the student body will have to wait to see which students the Washington College Enquirer will attack

Christopher M. Fascetta Chairman Student Judiciary Apart from the Coffee House, time having a party during the Student Affairs has also targeted the campus social week, again they recieved only a warning. I feel this demonstrates a significant organizations, in particular the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity. Phi Sigma has been on Social bias and inconsistancy in policy. To put this whole situa-tion in perspective, is such action for such minor offenses really necessary at a college? Indeed the students are being treated as if they are unable to manage their own affairs. Most colleges and universities do not even require such a for-mal registration process for social functions As a result of these policies many organizations feel that it is not worth the time or the effort to sponser a social event. They often feel threatened that Iney orten feet urreatened that has the potential to come if any problems arise at these Washington College is events that they will have to verge of becoming a face reprisals from Student college and it seems that fairs in the form of probation dent Affairs may be reor a loss of housing. This is a long term goal. legitimate concern. In the re-tinually fail to understand in that if it is indeed true that is illegal to disclose, at private is inegal to disclose, at private institutions, the disciplinary records of any student to anyone other than that stu-dent," why it is that Mr. Fascetta, as a student, is given disciplinary information about other students? Any student with an answer to this apparent logical absurdity is en couraged to submit a letter of explanation.

Regarding the garbage cluttering the paper, the editors of The Elm have agreed to meet with the WC Trash collectors on the condition that Mr. Fascetta agrees to meet with the WC Writing Lab regarding the letter above cent past organizations have lost their housing or have been threatened with a loss of housing by Student Affairs.

The result of all of this has social activity on campus to a minimum. The only organization providing a significant social medium on campus is the SGA. But the SGA's ability is limited and, with current udent Affairs policy, negligible. In a small place such Chestertown social activity is at Washington College are fin ding campus social outlets are being stifled. It seems that a bored and angry student body has the potential to cause all Washington College is on the verge of becoming a suitcast college and it seems that Student Affairs may be realizing

Student Finds Student Affairs Inconsistent

To The Editor: Since the start of this semester it has become evident that Student Affairs has been exercising its authority in a biased and unjustified man ner. The overall concern I have is that this branch of the adsciously forming a policy that is detrimental to student life. Student Affairs has repeatedly demonstrated a vindictive at-titude not only to the social organizations but also to individual students on campus. are incapable of answering to The most evident example of either point satisfactorily.

this is the current policy disallowing the Coffee House to serve alcoholic beverages. The notice stated that the decision as made after discussion with Student Affairs and the Coffee House Staff. However, every Coffee House Staffer I have spoken to about the notice said hey knew nothing about such decisions. Apart from this, the reasons for the policy are vague at best. The notice states that vandalism is a major reason for the decision. But does vandalism in a bathroom on a college campus justify a drinking ban? It may if vandrinking blant it may it vair-dalism is caused by drinking and whether the persons in question were under the in-fluence of alcohol. If Student Affairs can prove both of these points then their decision may be justified. As it turns out they probation since the start of the semester for not registering a closed party during the fall semester. However the frater-nity demonstrated that there was understandable confusion concerning the registration of the event. Student Affairs would not even consider this explantation. Beyond this, the sentence handed Phi Sigma was not fair in that they had not accumulated any previous warnings precluding such a harsh punishment. Recently another fraternity was caught breaking the rules of Rush by serving alcoholic beverages at a Rush party. They were given a warning by Student Affairs. They were caught a second

President States College's Position On SGA Task Force

I have received a written response from trustee Jack Stenger whose advice I sought on the matter of a written com-plaint from the SGA relating to the Office of Student Affairs. Dr. Stenger interviewed several student leaders as well as Deans Baer, McIntire and as Deans Baer, McIntire and Maxcy. The most pertinent portion of Dr. Stenger's response is the following. "My first recommendation is that you ask the Student Government Association to conduct a review of the Office of Student Affairs during the current semester. Such review would be, as I unders-tand it, in keeping with the tradition of the Student Government Association of reviewing other areas of the College's operation. The review should be a serious one that the students do not undertake lightly and to which they pledge the necessary amount of time, work and objectivity to do it properly. I suggest that you as President would pro-mise, perhaps in conjunction with the Dean, to give serious consideration to the results of the review in discussions with the student leaders. I believe that this would be a sensible way to approach the problem, for it would require the student leaders to tackle it in an analytical and objective fashion, and it would provide an exercise in responsible leadership."

At the same time, in ac-cordance with Dr. Stenger's recommendations I am asking the Office of Student Affairs to undertake a self-study of its mission and function, including its recommendations for the future operation of the office. This will become part of the an-nual review conducted by the Dean of the College in making performance evaluations of the ffices which report to her.

It is my belief that these three reviews can be con-ducted concurrently. I would emphasize my own strong belief that SGA's review should be conducted with the traditional fairness and impartiality that have characterized its inquiries in the past. I am prepared to discuss this with student leaders at any time. Sweeping allegations, unsus-tained by careful evidence, will not help but will hinder any efforts we undertake to improve the general administrative operations of the College. Douglass Cater

Anthony's Flowers and Landscaping

Full line of Corsages for The Birthday Ball

10% discount to all

Washington College Students on orders placed by February 20

778-2525

located on Rt. 213 - 2/10 South of bridge

Swimmers Place Third in In State

The Washington College spin team took third place in the State Championships on Smday, February 8. Many personal bests were achieved, with each person swimming about six events. Jenny Korten placed 2nd in the state in the 50 back, possibly seating the 50 back, possibly seating her in the Nationals at the end of the

The Shorewomen emerged defeated Wednesday night, february 11, over Western Maryland. Records were broken in the 200 yd. relay by Jenny Korten, Elizabeth Rex-on, Vicky Carole and Kathy Carlson; the 200 yd. freestroke by Kathy Carlson, the 1000 yd. freestroke by Stephanie Milton, the 100 yd. backstroke by Jenny Korten, the 100 yd. breaststroke by Elizabeth Rexon, and the one meter dive by Holly Walbert.

Coach Dennis Berry was pleased with the results. "Jenny Korten swam an outstan-ding race as well as Elizabeth Rexon, who had her best swim of the year." With three remaining home meets until the Middle-Atlantic Conference, the team is working hard and the effort is paying off. Friday, February 13, the next home meet, will be an event not to be

W.C. Basketball Wins Again

by John Bodnar

Ahh...the smell of sweet victery. It's been a familiar smell to the Washington College tasketball team over the past

The Shoremen are currently toasting a nine game winning streak as they notched three victories this week. "A nine game winning streak really says a lot," said Coach Finnegan. We're playing beter defense and controlling the npo of the game. Everyone's otributing

The W.C. hoopsters added able to open the game up in the aree more teams to the second half. Chris Jamke and The W.C. hoopsters added three more teams to the casualtv list this week with a crushing 75-62 win over Western Maryland College, an exciting 85-77 win over York College and a 90-67 blowout over St. Mary's College, Against Western Maryland, five of the nine players who five of the nine players who entered the game scored in double digits. Freshman Chris Jamke led the scoring with 16 points and added four blocked shots. Captain Tom McVan netted 13 points. Said Finnegan, "We were

Matt Wilson both had a solid all-around game.

York College, who beat W.C. earlier this season played a tough game but couldn't stop surging Shoremen. With a minute and 10 seconds remaining in the game and the Shoremen leading 79-74, Freshman Tim Keehan netted eight of W.C.'s 13 points to close out another victory 85-77.

"We played a strong game and wore them down with con-sistent pressure. Both teams put on an exhibition in good foul shooting," Finnegan said. W.C. shot 95% from the line (21-22) while York shot 90% om the line (27-30). In the make-up game against St. Mary's College the Shoremen had a sluggish start, but by the end of the first half

W.C. was in complete control.
According to Finnegan,
"George Small gave the team a big lift before the end of the half. The sophomore center scored nine points in the half and pulled down some big re-bounds."

The Shoremen

games remaining in the 1986-87 season. All four games are con-ference games. For W.C. the final two games of the season will be home games. After playing at Haverford and Urplaying at Haverrord and or-sinus the Shoremen will host conference leader Widener University on Wednesday, February 18. Widener is cur-rently 5-0 in the conference, 19-2 overall, and is ranked third in the nation in N.C.A.A. division III. W.C. will close out the season when they host The season when they host the Johns Hopkins University. The game has been scheduled for Friday, February 20 due to the Birthday Ball on Saturday, February 21. The Shoremen are currently 15-5 overall, 5-1

Coach Finnegan said, "I appreciate all the support th team has received, but I feel there are still a lot of students in the conference, and ranked 19th in the nation in the N.C.A.A. division III. and faculty who are missing out on good entertainment."

Bramble-Gewer Net Tennis Tournament Title knocked off Tom Dantanio and

by Fred Wyman

Washington College's latest tennis sensation, freshman Larry Gewer from Johannesburg, South Africa, teamed with the Shorewomen's net coach, Holy Bramble, to cap-ture the 12th Annual Dover Indoor Mixed Doubles Cham-pionship, held in Dover, Delaware, over the weekend. For Bramble it was her second mixed doubles title in the past three years. In 1985 she teamed with another WC standout. Tim Gray, to take the championship.

Entering six teams in the two ed the tournament as a tune up prior to regular season play. Three Washington teams advanced to the semifinals and it was an all Washington final as was an all washington lind as Bramble and Gewer edged Rita Premo and David Marshall 6-0, 5-7, 6-3.

Faced with the toughest draw of any team in the tournament, Premo and Marshall

Mancy Kershaw in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3, in the quarter-finals and then eliminated the second seeds, Peter Maller and Pan Loughman 6-4, 7-6(11-9) in

Other Washington College Other Washington Conege teams scoring victories were Rich Phoebus and Meg Wheatley over Don and Denise Knox of Dover, 6-4, 7-6; Maller and Loughman over Phoebus and Wheatley 6-3, 6-4 and Vince Maximo and Erin Patterson over Chris Owens and Ann Wong 6-2, 2-6, 6-4. The team of Ross Gleman and Suzanne Siegel were nipped by the Huf-nals 6-4, 7-5 and Alejandro Her-nandez and his partner Lind-sey Tanton fell to Chestertown's David Quinn and Maureen Karns 2-6, 6-3, 7-5.

The men's team scrimmage Tim Gray's Widener Universi-ty netmen on Saturday and travel to Lancaster Penn-sylvania the following weekend to play a four team tourna-Shoremen battle it out against St. Mary's, Monday February 9.

by Bill Beekman

All-Stars Shined This Week

Surprise, surprise. The two more minor of the four major sports leagues, the NBA and the NHL, held their annual all-star contests this week. Both featured something a little special. And you thought that February was boring.

In the NBA, the thirty-seventh annual game gave the basketball world a chance to say good byte to its saviour. Julius Erving. Dr. J and basketball have been synonymous since the early seventies, when Erving brought it into a new dimension. On Sunday, however, star game, as the Doctor will retire at the end of this season.

Perhaps the aura of Erving excused the over-sentimentality of CBS's allstar commentators, who seemed at every turn to pour another accolade on Erving, but it could not make up for the game itself. The score, 154-149, says it all. Let's just say that it was a very open game and everyone got a chance to display their offensive telents.

Things were a bit different in the NRL. Their all-star show was a helio MRL. Their all-star show was a helio of continuing those classic Wales conference vs. Campbell conference duels that everyone has been talking about lately, the hockey lords decided to try something new, introducing. Rendoz-bockey fight to the death, to determine who is the more super superpower.

Actually, it's closer to Canadians vs. the Soviets in an unbalanced two game series which highlights Quebec's Winter Carnival. The games, played on Wednesday and today, feature the all-stars of the NHL against the Soviet National Team. It won't prove much teams. These things often run down to the wire, as deadbeats battle to see who can lose the most games and be disqualified from the playoffs.

Maybe someday the NHL and NBA

"And you thought

that February

was boring."

however, since the North American stars will have only one practice day as a unit before facing the Soviet team that has played together for more than forty games. Competitive or not, the games will provide a change from other hum-drum ail-star matches. Still, don't expect to see a Rendez-Vous '88.

After the excitement of All-Star Week '87 finally dies down, expect things in the hockey and basketball world to get down to business. In the NHL five out of twenty-one teams must be eliminated before playoff time in April. The NBA faces an even stiffer challenge, as it must pair off seven will learn that the playoffs are more than just a three-game revenue producer for also-rans. What happens every year is that most of the bottombarrel playoff teams get swept in the barrel playoff teams get swept in the days and eliminate a team that has played well all season, even though they don't deserve to be in the playoffs in the first playoffs.

Meanwhile, the playoffs, which could serve to bring renewed attention to the lesser of the major leagues, are diluted to efforts in boredom. I guess that's why the NBA and NHL are condemned to being the more minor of the major sports. So much for innovations, and so long Julius Erving.

Sports Calendar

Friday 13

Swimming
Marymount/Gallaude

Saturday 14

Basketball Ursinus (A)

Wednesday 18

Basketball Widener, 7:30 p.m

GRAMPA Heal Up!

To the guy who, after only is dates: wants to go to O.C. knows that cold bands will get him nowhere, and is trying it stop my "illin" ... Who Arr You? No huggle, no kissle if yea don't answer soon. P.S. Happy V. Day-I Love You!

JEN
Happy Valentine's Day.
You are a very special and loving person. I will love you forever.
Marty

It's eleven p.m. Do you know where your paper is?

Vec

Let's be real. Compare the equipment she's using to yours. If you were both trying to tunnel through a mountain, she'd have a bulldoze and you'd have a shrimp fork.

Don't despair. Your problem is already half-solved. For a limited time, you can buy an Apple® Macintosh™ Plus or a Macintosh 512K Enhanced computer with Microsoft Works—for less money.

Which is wonderful.

You get a Macintosh, with its speed, ease of use, and graphics capability. Plus, you get a software program that lets you use all this Macintosh power in all your subjects.

Microsoft Works is not just one program, it's four integrated programs: word processing, data-base management, spreadsheet with charting, and communications.

Meaning you can put charts in your history essays. Spreadsheets you economics papers. Call Dow Jones News/Retrieval at 2:00 a.M. to get the facts for your journalism story due at 8:00 a.M.

So if you're taking more than one subject this semester, you should check out Macintosh and Microsoft Works.

But don't wait till the eleventh hour. This offer will end soon.

And your paper might stay out all night.

Macintosh and Microsoft Works

Apple and the Apple Tops are registered trademarks of Apple Compiler, Inc. Machinists is a trademark of Apple Compiler, by Doo John News Trademak is a registered trademark of Door Issue & Compiler to: Microsoft is a problement and an

WASHINGTON COLLEGE BOOKSTORE
Hours: 8:30 A.M.-4:30 P.M. (Monday-Friday); 9:30 A.M.-1:00 P.M. (Saturday)

Cole Discusses Medical Field

The following interview was oducted with Dr. Jack Cole, meritus Professor of Surgery I Yale University School of gdicine, while he was a stiling Woodrow Wilson llow at Washington College the Humanities play a role the course of a medical inding a study of the redical education are twofold. nindividual's perspective and in lead to personal enrich-eat in later life if one has had opportunity to be exposed dendy in some depth music terature, philosophy and story. These subjects will are the individual well in er life, when he must ad res the many issues that date to the practice of edicine and deal with things at should be taken in torical perspective, or from point of view of economics. edical administration, all which will be more and more of the practice of ficine in the days ahead, as pedicine in the days aneau, as pedicine becomes more and per complex. It is regretable, but true, that college is bably the last opportunity get this exposure, since the nds of a medical educa are rather stringent and otracted, lasting anywhere m four to nine years. This e areas following college nd therefore makes it all the re important that a student

coffee - house

Students have the right to throw if they want to.

The SOA has the right to make a to lot of money and hire fat DJs.

They have the

phasize that in today's world, the medical degree is oftennothing more than ticket for admission to a wide variety of career choices, some of which may require that the person have at least a working knowledge of some of the humanities; and for this reason, it does continue to keep the options open for someone who embarks on the study of medicine. I think this will be increasingly important in the years ahead, as people with M.D. degrees pursue a wide variety of careers."

How did you become involved with cancer patients and the terminally ill?

"My own interest in the cancer patient in particular cancer patient in particular derives from the fact that my early research work had to do with the study of the cancer cell. This was long before my clinical activities began to get into focus, and because of this interest at the laboratory level. it was a rather natural follow up to this that I became involv-ed with clinical practice, to see patients with cancer, and to pursue that aspect of my practice in great depth."

What are the major differences between the National Health Service in Britain and the health care system in the United States?

"The major differences, course, between the medical practice as it is now carried out in the United Kingdom and here in the U.S. is that the United Kingdom has government-controlled enterprise, and as such, they are we this sort of exposure durable to distribute resources in this undergraduate days. I rather equitable fashion throughout the United Kingdom, and this involves not only physical resources, but personnel resources as well. Here in the United States, of course, with a purely democratic society, doctors are free to practice wherever they wish, and as such, all too often cluster around large cities where certain cultural opportunities and educational ortunities abound, rather than going to some of the less well-served areas. We have tried here in the United States, through a variety of mechanisms, to partially cor-rect this maldistribution problem, but a society such as ours, and without adequate government control, it's clear that this is not going to be possible. Other differences, of course, are that we are now able to meet our medical expenses through a combination of financing, part of which is through the government (in the case of Medicare), part of it is through private, third-party insurers, and some of it is direct-ly out-of-pocket. In the United kingdom, almost all the medical care is provided through government expen-diture, which of course is generated by taxing the people. Some private practice is allowed in England, and more of the third-party payer is com-ing into the fore, but it remains essentially a state-operated health care system as opposed to that in the United States. Because it is government regulated, and they do have budgetary limits, efforts are made to conserve resources, and many of the diagnostic as well as therapeutic maneuvers that are carried out here in the United States rather ex-tional Product on health ser-vices, while England spends only about 4.5 %. Clearly we are not twice as healthy as the people in England, and this try there must be some waste in the use of health care resources."

Are women well-represented in medical school and the medical profession?

"Without knowing the umbers, I think it's fair to say numbers, I think it's fair to say that, at least in medical schools across the country, we're almost now at a 50-50 split in the number of women enrolled in medical schools. I do know that more and more women are entering the various specialties in the medical field, and this has been a rather dramatic change over the last twenty years. I know of no field now, and this would include surgery and all of the other specialties, where women are not only represented in growing numbers, but are assuming positions of greater responsibility in that profession at a national and international national and international small liberal arts undergrad-uste education? "Yes, I think there are real advantages to receiving a liberal arts education in a small institution, and perhaps the most important reason, and the obvious reason, is the faculty-student relationship. I think this sort of direct and close, personal contact is very rewarding, and while somewhat difficult to describe, there's a world of difference, at least in my view, between sitting in a small class and hear-ing the professor direct your course of study than it is to be in one of the large institutions where you are lost in a group of where you are lost in a group or four hundred or five hundred students in a lecture hall. I think the close personal con-tact is not only rewarding from a personal point of view, but from a professional point of view as well, and I think this is awfully important. It is important to bear in mind, however, that students may vary in their interests and their relation-ships, and this may not be everyone's cup of tea, but I think for the most part a good, a desirable thing.

P.A.C.E. Yourself

by Jenny Eisberg

Beginning February 17, the P.A.C.E. Series will be offering lectures on the Chesapeake Bay - The Land and The Water. P.A.C.E. an enrich-ment program of continuing education, is offered to members of the surrounding community of Cecil, Kent, Talbot, and Caroline Counties.

Dr. John F. Heinbokel, visiting McLain Professor in the Natural Sciences, as well as coordinator of the lectures, will open the series with a discussion entitled "A Primer on Land/Bay Interactions."

Other topics in this series include "Land Use: The Historical and Geological Record of Practice and Regulation", "Submerged Regulation", "Submerged Aquatic Vegetation: The Pre-sent Status", "Of Waterfowl and Watermen: The Biological and Economic Effects of Environmental Change'', "Changing Agricultural Pracchanging Agricultural Frac-ices", and "Neighborly erceptions and Approaches." Since the Chesapeake Bay is "subject of much controvertices" sy," while also playing an im-portant role in the lives of portant role in the lives of many Eastern Shore residents, it is expected that the lectures will be well attended by both community residents and community residents and students. The series will be held on Tuesdays from 7:30 -9:30 p.m. through March 31. Tuition for the complete series is $40.00, $8.00 for individual lectures, and free for undergraduate students.

(of No)

History

24 W.G

OF PROTEST

1968 THE E

OUR beer to Vietnam

OZZY LOVES YOU

B.W. Happy Valentine's Day. You're Very Special To Me. Love T.C.

Monday - Saturday

Die Lerche - sie knistert so mutig durch die Wolken- ist wie meine...warte. Die Sonne-sie legt sich so nuchtern auf die Welt-ist wie meine...noch nicht.

778-4771

Coley Charlie Open For The Birthday Ball Ye Olde Towne Barber & Stylists A & P Parking Lot Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Mariella Ruiz:
Selling these personal Valen-tine's Day ads was a GREAT idea! Keep up the good work.
The Editor

Amity Bakery and Coffee Shop

Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies, Special Occasion Cakes On Order.

Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M. Lunch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

ENTERTAINMENT

Los Lobos Howl By The Light Of The Moon

For my first review of the year, my editors closed me in a small room and made me listen to some dismal L.P. by a man named John Fogerty. The review for this week came to be in a similar manner. I was once again closed in a small room, but this time it was some closet on the second floor that the College pawns off on unsuspecting juniors and seniors who want singles The small size of the room, however, did nothing to diminish the grandiosity of the album I was listening to. Los Lobos' senond L.P., By The Light Of The Moon, is as large as America itself. Los Lobos as America itself. Los Lobos have combined blues and bluegrass, country rock and swamp rock, the sound of Southern California and the sound of gospel. By The Light Of The Moon is almost a history course in American musical roots. If there were prizes for celecticism, Los Lobos would take first place (sorry Roll).

But for a work of art to be considered good, it must not merely draw from the past; must fashion the elements into something new. Los Lobos passes this test with flying col-

All compositions on By The Light Of The Moon are by guitarist Cesar Rosas of the songwriting team of guitarist David Hidalgo and percus-sionist Louie Perez. Though all composers work from a dif-ferent musical context (Rosas uses a primarily swamp rock sound; Hidalgo and Perez have a Southern California feel), they have created a musical style which is definitely Los

The first cut, "One Time, One Night," is a Heraldo-Perez tune. It opens with an exciting but controlled electric riff which blends very nicely with an added acoustic rhythm. The bass line is simple but lively, the and percussion moves along with a countryish emphasis on snares and cymbals. Between lead fills, in that steel guitar vein which marked The Eagles' early work, David Hidalgo's bluegrass-tinged voice tells the story of the nation: "A quiet voice is singing to me/An age old song about the home of the brave/In this land here of the free/one time one night in America./ A lady one night in America. A lady dressed in white with the man she loved/ Standing along the side of their pickup truck/ A shot rang out in the night/ Just when everything seemed right/ Another headline written down in America."

It isn't easy to start feeling good after that, and Los Lobos have no intention of letting the images fade. The second cut. by Rosas and producer T-Bone Burnett, is called "Shakin' Shakin' Shake," an innocuous title for a song that gives the listener a good dose of fear. Over an upbeat, Creedence style rhythm and Buddy Holly sweetened chorus, Rosas and Burnett ironically paint a pic-ture of dread: "The wind blows ture of dread: "The wind blows through the valley/...And shakes up the leaves all night/...They shake up to the moon above/...And Lord it makes me tremble.'

Though the first side of By The Light Of The Moon depicts a land and people in fear, Los Lobos refuses to give in to the despair. With a trio of beautiful songs, the album's second side offers a solution to the pro-

The first song in this trio, "River Of Fools," sets the stage for salvation. Accompanied by an acoustic guitar and light percussion, David Hidalgo sings a ten-tative and bittersweet song of "Memories of a lonely past/ A boat set into the wind/ Drifting lost in waters of doubt/ on a journey that has no end/...A trio of angels holding candles of light/ Guide the ships to an unknown shore/ Sad soul riders with arms drawn tight/ As they stopped for just one more "The Mess We're In." the se cond song of the trio, is a reply to "River Of Fools." Musically much more vital than the song which proceeds it, "The Mess We're In" opens with an off tempo melody line underscoring the feelings of a world gone ing the reemings of a working some wrong. A driving rhythm is combined with powerful elec-tric keyboards to emphasize the lyrical message: "The the lyrical message: "The smoke is clearing and we see a light/ Coming together for a different fight/ All of us looking, finding our way again/ Out of this mess we're in "

Los Lobos how! By The Light Of The Moon.

The trio of songs culminates with the album's closing song, "Tears Of God." A soft, thoughtful tune, with hints of Southern rock influence, "Tears Of God" is Los Lobos' solution to a world in spiritual crisis. In it a subtle combination of rhythm and keyboard builds an inner tension which erupts in the gospel verses and erupis in the gospel verses and chorus: "The son of the maker said/ This is my cross to bear/ Taking off of our shoulders/ Something we should have shared/ You'll find out true/ What mother said to you/ The tears of God will show you the

By The Light Of The Moon is an album of serious intent which deserves to be taken

Burnett (who also co-wrote two of the songs) has mixed a sound that is clear and sharp; every note in Los Lobos' unique style rings true. When the music is combined with the lyric content, the result is a record of scope and vision. This is an album which cannot be denied

Campus Calendar

FRIDAY 13 Film Series: The Office Story Norman James Theab 7:30 p.m. Drama Department Sen Project Exit the King

Tawes Theatre, 8:00 p.m. SATURDAY 14 Drama Department Sen Project Exit the King Tawes Theatre, 8:00 p.m. Valentine's Dance

Hodson Hall, 9-1:00 a m Music by New Destiny. SUNDAY 15 Film Series: The Official Story Norman James Theatr

7:30 p.m MONDAY 16 Film Series: The Official Story Norman Jame

Theatre,7:30 p.m. Goldstein Fellows as Career Development Careers in Public vocacy LaDonna Har Americans for Indian 0 portunity, speaker Hynson Lounge, 7:30 p.m

Chestertown Movie Theater

Three Amigos Hours: Fri.-Sun. 7 8 9 p.m. Mon.-Thurs. 7:45 p.m. 778-1575 Feb. 12-Feb. 20

ONE OF THE YEAR'S MOST ACCLAIMED FILMS BEST ACTRESS (NORMA ALEANDRO)

BEST PICTURE

BEST FOREIGN FILM

ONE OF THE YEAR'S BEST

FOREIGN FILMS

ONE OF THE YEAR'S 10 BEST

Official Story

FRIDAY * SUNDAY * MONDAY 7:30 P.M. - $1 ADMISSION

NORMAN JAMES THEATRE WASHINGTON COLLEGE

FILM SERIES

Do AIDS Victims Have Rights?

by David Healey
AIDS has been spreading fear and death across the nation, and the epidemic has rais-ed questions about the rights of victims of the disease. Should they be allowed to go to school? Can they be fired from school? Can they be fired from their jobs? Should it be made public that they have AIDS? Can they be isolated? On Tuesday, J. David Newell, Professor of Philosophy, and Kathleen Rest, Medical College of PA, Hest, Medical College of PA, will try to find some answers as they present the William James Forum, "Do AIDS Vic-tims Have Rights?" The forum will be held in the Hynson Lounge, Washington College, at 7:30 p.m

Newell's interest in the AIDS question comes out of his background in medical ethics.

paper with Rest, "Conflict and Contagion: An Ethics of AIDS in the Workplace". It was presented at the Annual Con-vention of American Health Associations in Las Vegas, and is now being prepared for Newell will begin by presen-ting the possible denials of rights, Rest will follow with an account of the suffering which an AIDS victim undergoes. Then they will lead a discussion with the audience and try to resolve some of the questions presented.

AIDS is a growing concern on college campuses across the nation, and it is important that students are informed and understanding of the disease. Not only does the promiscuity of campuses provide a perfect breeding ground for the virus, but today's students will be the heirs to tomorrow's problems.

Wednesday's edition of "The Chronicle of Higher Education claims that as early as 1991 some 300,000 cases of the disease will be diagnosed, with annual health care costs of between $8 and $16 billion. Already between 1.5 and 5 million Americans are infected with the virus, and the numbers are growing. With these increases in costs and these increases in costs and lives will come poignant moral questions. But there is hope. "Education is the only defense we have. We could stop the spread of the virus tomorrow if people listened to us," says derryn Silverman, director of the American Foundation for AIDS Peners "Education for AIDS Peners". for AIDS Research, in The

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Johnne 58, Number 18

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, February 20, 1987

AIDS Awareness Program Initiated

by Tony Caligiuri

In step with the recent information explosion over the growing threat of the AIDS virus, the College health service, under the direction of Betty Shauber, R.N., has implemented an AIDS awareness program on the Washington College campus.

The program, according to Shauber, The program, according to Shauber, aims to increase the awareness of the College Community about Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS). The College health service of-ters pamphlets, displays, and is now conducting an informal survey to assess the students' understanding of the nature of the AIDS virus. In addition, for the past year, the health ser-vice has provided a "three for free" service in which condoms are offered to the students at no charge. According to the health service, the literature and the products offered, have resulted in a positive response from the students.

One of the most recent additions to the awareness program has been the presentation of several informal lectures which are open to anyone in-terested in the topic. The most recent lecture involved the rights of victims suffering from the AIDS virus, offered by Kathleen Rest of the Medical College of Pennsylvania and Dr. David Newell, professor of Philosophy at Washington College. The next planned lecture series will be offered by Nancy Dick, R.N., of Chestertown, The lecture will be offered to College Resident Assistants on Tuesday, March 17, and to the general public on Wednesday, March 18 at 6:00 p.m. in the coffee

The most important message that we can get across to everyone is that whenever you're intimate with anyone, you're also intimate with everyone that person has been with in the past," said Dr. Newell, who spoke at last Tuesday's lecture. According to Newell, colleges have the responsibility of educating as many people as possible over the facts of the disease.

The health service not only offers in-ormation about the AIDS virus, but will, and has referred students to Kent County Health Department for free blood tests to determine infection of the virus. The Kent County Health Service guarantees absolute confidentiality in the results of the test — going as far as to code results and offer a counseling service upon acquisition of the results.

Education, awareness, and prevention are all we have to work with since no cure is available," said Shauber, who said the only way for the sexually active to prevent contracting the virus is the use of protectional devices and avoiding high risk groups.

At this point, the most effective protection is a combination of the condom and sperm-killing foam, which seems

Medical Advising Program Under Evaluation

arlier this month, Dr. John ylor, faculty representative the Board of Visitors and ernors, announced to the ulty that the last twenty-two ashington College applicants the University of Maryland edical school were rejected. port given by Taylor on the rd's Academic Affairs nmittee

That statement and the ret visit by Woodrow Wilson low Dr. Jack Cole prompted evaluation of the prefered at the College. According to the Dean According to the Dean Baer, approximately ten WC graduates have placed in medical school in the past decade. Six or seven of those went into dental school, two went into opthamology, one to podiatry, and one entered pharmaceutical school. "Typically, about 25 freshmen enter as declared pre-med students; by the junior year, only three or four are seriously pursuing this goal," explained the Dean. themselves out of pursuit of a medical degree as a result of new interests which develop, or an unwillingness to pursue the demanding pre-medical program, she said At this point in time, no exact records are available to determine the number of students from Washington College that applied to medical school during the last ten years. Dr. Donald Munson, the pre-med advisor, is on sabbatical for the semester and unavailable for comment.

Dr. Frank Creegan, chairman of the Chemistry departman of the Chemistry department, feels that twenty-two is an inaccurate figure. "It's simply not true. I don't know what that means," he said. From his own records, Creegan believes that every year from 1988 to 1982, "with the execution of 1973, there's.

College student going on to med school." There was more interest in ing to have students that want to go to medical school and be doctors, but that don't have the aptitude to do the work." Four major criteria influence an applicant's acceptability to medical school, according to Dr. Kathleen Verville, Assisthe exception of 1973, there's tant professor of Biology and been at least one Washington acting pre-med advisor: 1) a well-rounded student; school wants an A student that has never left his room," she explained; 2) a student who is medicine ten years ago," explained; 2) a student who is Creegan said, "and we see that respected by the faculty; this as a problem." He did state,

continued on page 4

Athey Announces Retirement

Assistant Director of College Relations

news touched the heart le college community, as if Elm had been struck by for William Smith Hall had blown off. Coach Edward they '47, a sports legend in own right, wants to retire Director of Athletics — a the had held for 38 years —

The 65-year old Athey and his wife Rachel are in perfect health, Athey said, and they want to have some leisure time to enjoy their later years together — something Athey's teaching, coaching, and ad-ministrative responsibilities don't allow. President Cater stated: said. "Director Athey's decision to at the end of this academic retire comes as a blow to the retire comes as a blow to the College. After reviewing it with him, I can only accept his desire to reduce his workload during the years ahead. We are determined that this outstanding leader will continue to play an important role in our College programs."

"I don't want to leave the College completely," Athey said, "and I won't leave until continued on page 4

INSIDE:

Student Hot Line.....p.4 LaDonna Harris.....p.5 Basketball......p.8 Drama Production.....p.10

Album Review.....p.12

OPINION

Editorial

Public Evaluation

In 1966, a few students at Washington College decided to take a new approach to faculty member evaluations. The S.G.A. at the time devised and distributed a questionaire which asked students to evaluate the courses they were enrolled in and the professors who taught them. Seventy percent of the student body cooperated and returned the evaluations. After collating the statistics and typing all the written comments, the results were mimeographed and sent to all students through the campus mail. One of the S.G.A. organizers of the effort explained that by making faculty evaluations public, students would be able to make more informed decisions about courses and professors than relying upon rumors and third hand information.

With the processing of faculty evaluations for the Fall semester recently completed, it is an appropriate time to demand that, in the future, these evaluations be made accessable to the students enrolled at this institution. It is true that the present evaluation form was approved by the faculty with the understanding that only they and the appropriate administrators would have access to the results once they were finally processed. While this may preclude the results of last semester's faculty evaluations from being disclosed, it does not prevent the adoption of a new evalua-tion form to be used this semester, the results of which would be published and made available to students in the library.

There would be many undeniably beneficial results if the disclosure of faculty evaluation results was made a standard practice. Not only would it allow students, as the 1966 S.G.A. Senator stated, to make informed decisions about course selection, but as consumers of a $40,000 plus college education, it tion, but as consumers of a $40,000 plus couege education, it would aid them in getting the most for their money. When a purchase or investment that large is made, the wise buyer resertes the options, compares and goes with what he or she perceives to be the superior one. There is no reason why wise Washington College students concerned with receiving a quality and competitive education should not have the ability to review the past evaluations of the professors and courses they are con-

While such disclosure would undoubtedly cause students to flock to the courses taught by the College's top flight professors, such a trend would not necessarily be a drawback. The reaction of informed students would give administrators the incentive to rely more upon customer (read student) approval when making decisions about a faculty member's contract renewal or cancela-tion. It would also make the faculty members themselves ever more responsive to the expectations of those who enroll in their

Other benefits resulting from the disclosure of faculty evalua tions would be an increased commitment on the part of students to an honest and thorough critique of their courses—including a greater willingness to include the more valuable written co ments or the question the Property water of the published faculty evaluations helpful as well. How many limits tions can demonstrate the quality and integrity of their faculty with both administrative and student approval? Washington Colege would set itself above its competitors in this regard. Hopeful, yff faculty evaluations are made public, it would start a trend as

|                    | Editors | Thomas M. Schuster |
|--------------------|---------|--------------------|
| Editor-in-chief    |         | Thomas M Schuster  |
|                    |         |                    |
|                    |         |                    |
|                    |         |                    |
|                    |         |                    |
| Photography Editor |         | J.M. Fragomeni     |
|                    |         |                    |

Managing Editor
National Advertising Manager
Local Advertising Manager
Circulation Manager Alison Shorter Michelle Royal ... Mariella Ruiz

The Elm is the official student nervespor of Weahingon Cullege. The Elm is published every Fridgy during the ecclemic year with the accept not vications and exam weak. In the Company of the Company of

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Take A Look At Amerika

To The Editor On Friday and Sunday even-ing, Feb. 20 and 22, the final two episodes of ABC's Amerika

will be aired

One hesitates to recommend anything starring Kris Kristof-ferson, whose "space-cadet" message from Moscow was that he only pretended to be the hero in order to prevent the series from becoming too offensive to his Red friends. (He delicately refrained from men-tioning the money).

ABC has pulled a number of cop-outs already, and keeps telling us that "final episodes are still being edited"— translation, sails are being trimmed to the breezes. So far (I write having seen 4½ hours of the 14½ hours). the show has of the 141/2 hours), the show has been an intriguing mixture of absurdities and insights, and anyone may profitably delicately refrained from men- there and sort them out mean that.

mean that.

Besides, if the Lib censor have their way, you will never ever see that topic treated at the mass media again. You as not supposed to think about thi sort of thing. Fat-dumb-and happy is what's wanted, a long as possible.

> Yours truly, Dr. Susan Huck

Mom's Cookie Jar

I hope you all enjoyed the "Mardi Gras" dinner last Wednesday evening. The peo-ple from Sandler Foods, of Virginia Beach, Virginia are to commended for their sentation. The W.C.D.S. presentation. cooks deserve recognition, too. for preparing the evening's Next Wednesday the W.C.D.S. will feature a "Steamship Buffet."

In my continuing "Food for Thought" segment, I would like to briefly acquaint you with carbohydrates. What corn on the cob, steaming hot corn on the cob, steaming not and juicy sweet, fresh strawberries served over yogurt, crusty, fragrant whole wheat bread, a bowl of suc-culent salad greens with tomatoes and an array of marinated vegetables have in common? They are all carbohydrates

It is not true that all car-bohydrates are fattening. Many well chosen car-bohydrate foods are good for you. Carbohydrates provide an efficient source of energy, It is not true that all caring of the muscles, brain, and nerves and for good utilization of other nutrients in the body. They act as carriers of many essential nutrients, including vitamins and minerals

Carbohydrate foods such as fruits, vegetables and whole grain products are excellent sources of dietary fiber. They are an inexpensive source of protein, and offer variety to the

There are two categories of carbohydrates: simple and Simple carbohydrates clude the sugars found naturally in dairy products, and if fruits and vegetables. Comp carbohydrate sources inclu dried beans, peas, rice, oi and wheat. As an adbenefit, carbohydrate for are low in fat, with the exce tion of foods such as nuts at whole fat dairy products. Cabohydrate foods, except fairy products, contain cholesterol.

Thank you, Ted, for sugesting Fig-Date Bars. Ted were excellent

That's it for this week

Send letters to the editor c/o Tom Schuster thru Campus Mail

when we go to college we leave available to me Polygrammared artis

Stop It Before It Starts

I feel that most fights start with one w-off hassling a little guy. But if you o and think about it the next mo gyou won't remember why it started. ghting is going to happen — it's a it's gotten out of control. If someone get them out of "our" area. The whole aggressive behavior of a few peo

On the other hand, the community les have the responsibility. This thool is small and these are our friends. Don't let them fight - break it up. I don't think violence warrants exulsion because I believe that aggression isn't necessarily bad. Often this

Walter Spence

aggression is brought on by outside in-fluences, namely non-Washington Col-lege students. We're all very territorial and, after all, the Coffee House is supposedly only for students of Washington College.

When it comes to vandalism I am uzzled about how someone can get a thrill from trashing bathrooms. No one thinks it's "cool" to rip apart a thinks it's "cool" to rip apart a bathroom. This is a small school and we are prone to cabin fever. But taking tension out on bathroom walls is ridiculous. I think damages should be addressed to the guilty students and, if it's a repeat offense, then maybe they should be expelled. Friends should tell their drunk buddies that it isn't going to do any good to engage in this kind of behavior. Ultimately, it's only going to cause big trouble for everyone cause nig trouble for everyone.

Basically it's our responsibility to keep our friends from being stupid and immature. This is the only way to maintain our campus drinking priviledges. For off-campus establishments the same responsibility applies - we have to protect our right to go to local bars.

Being a responsible friend means taking drunk friends home or telling them to cool out. You're going to lose if you don't

Walter Spence is a Junior

ISSUE:

What Should Students Do To Prevent Further Violence and Vandalism By Their Peers In Campus And Local Drinking Establishments?

Kevin Quinn Chestnut Hill, Pennsylvania "Give bartenders guns."

Melissa Filling Sophomore Lancaster, Pennsylvania

"You would think that at a liberal arts college, the students would find other means of expressing themselves besides vandaliz-ing bathrooms — a fad I ught went out of style with bellbottoms. I say we send them back to elementary school to learn some man-

Robert D.F. Krumme Sophomore New York, New York

"I think student affairs should stop playing mom and dad and allow more social drinking events. It's the cramp on drinking that brought this boredom and boredom breeds vandalism. I think that with fewer rules things would mellow out and solve themselves."

Shelly Jarvis Ocean City, Maryland

"When you see that one of your friends is getting out of hand encourage them to leave and prevent them from caus-ing trouble."

Mary Riner Freshman Virginia Beach, Virginia

"If college students are so immature as to not be able to handle the effects that alcohol can have over their own physical actions then they ould not have the privilege to bear that responsibility.

Campus Voices

by Michele Balze

Intolerance Must Be Communicated

Student behavior is an aspect of shington College life which has been arefully scrutinized by the governing odies of the campus recently. The lestion of what students can do to inence behavior of fellow students, becally in regard to regulation of ndesirable actions (i.e. vandalism), is ow being asked by those wishing to ve the problem

In an instance in which vandalism is curing, it is best that a student serve and take note of the action. Invention would likely result in conmation would likely result in con-mation and unnecessary involve-nt of the innocent. The concern of bystander should be with macives and their well-being. When e observes these actions, he should member that he is but an innocent hystander and not a policeman

This problem should be dealt with at its source rather than with the results. The problem will be solved by restricting social life or providing the students with more entertainment possibilities.

The problem will be solved when students themselves decide to address the issue and solve it. Students must take it upon themselves to create an atmosphere where vandalism is not tolerated. The present attitude of W.C. students seems to indicate that they regard vandalism with complete indifference. Until this attitude is altered in such a way that the students begin to regard vandalism as an unacceptable phenomena, the problem will continue to plague the campus. When we go to college we leave behind a much more sheltered and the unwillingness of students to adway we behave are no longer influenced by our parents or some other group we respect and/or fear. We act, by in large, according to our own volition.

Perry Finney

The need for us to become, and act as, responsible adults is obvious. If we can-not act responsible in our college years one must wonder if we will ever learn to act responsible in our entire lives.

With few avenues of approach available to the College combined with dress the issue; it is perhaps wise for the school to take all appropriate action possible against any party convicted of vandalism. If this involves dismissing the person(s) from the school, then so be it. Actions of this sort will convey to the student body the idea that the school is trying to get across vandalism will not be tolerated.

If the act of vandalism and the concurring tolerance of it are a reflection of our generation's attitude, then it is required that we confess a few very poignant facts about ourselves. Namely, that we are a disrespectful and unconscientious generation.

Perry Finney is a Junior majoring in

Preparation Of WC Pre-Med Students Examined

auton; and 3) a decent G.P.A.
"Even these three things aren't sufficient," said Ver-ville. "Med schools are going to look for something else — MCAT scores. The fourth criterion, then, is the Medical College Admission Test (MCAT), a standardized exam required of all applicants testing biology, chemistry, physics, and mathematics competence We have a lot of students respect will be reflected in the WC's problem, it happens all from which to draw, therefore student's letters of recommen- over the country. There are an their numbers look bigger, dation; and 3) adcent G.P.A. enormous number of students Verville explained.

"Even these three things applying to med school out The ultimate question,

In other words, Verville views the seemingly low number of WC students getting accepted to medical school as a function of percentage. "This is a little pool." she said. "We is a little pool," she said. "We may only have ten biology ma jors with one or two interested in medicine. Maybe only one accepted .. relative percentage of accep-tances from WC is now lower "We have a lot of students relative percentage of any applying to medical school that tances from WC is now lower don't have those four going for than the percentage from other them, and they don't get in," schools around the country— said Verville. "But that's not they just have larger pools

however, what is the College's nowever, what is the college's responsibility to prepare WC graduates for the MCATs and the application process?

The Dean, the Associate Dean, and members of the Science departments are ad-Science departments are addressing this question, and the following five suggestions are being considered: instituting a three person pre-med advising team instead of a single ad-visor to spread the responsibilities, providing assistance to students preparing for the MCATs, rearranging the sequence of courses required in biology major pursuing the pre-med program, pro-medicine, stated the issuiding assistance to students more poignantly. "The country of the provide a solid provi itself, and encouraging students o gain some clinical ex-perience during their undergraduate years before their application.

Verville embraces improve-ment in any area, but she stressed importance of the MCAT score. "Yes, MCAT score. "Yes, we can help students gain the background for medical school, but we can't take the MCATs for them... not every person is a candidate for med background of information, by

it's ultimately the student, responsibility to review by material just as he would be any other exam — after all it three years of material on the Discussion on potential changes in the pre-med program will continue throughout the semester. According to Dean Baer, Dr. Jack Stengers of Visitors the Board of Visitors and Governors will be assisting the

Student Hotline In The Works

by Michael Rudin Chris Schanno, a sophomore transfer from Lehigh University, is working with Dean McIntyre to set up a hot line on campus for students. Schanno and McIntyre have been holding meetings for the last three weeks to organize the project. As soon as they have a decent core of interested students, they will begin training ses-

Schanno hopes to train students this spring and set up the hot line next fall. Dr. Bonnie Michaelson and Dr. Walter Roamer from the counseling Roamer office will train the students in counseling skills such as listening to a person on the phone and how to sit at a hot line. Some of the sessions will deal with specific types of problems, such as suicide. The students will not be told "The students will not be tood where the hot line is set up until they complete their training, for safety and ethical reasons," explained Schanno.

Also, real names are not used and all phone calls are con-line) after the one at Lehigh said

open every night from nine un-til midnight," Schanno said. channo worked at a hot line schamlo worked at a not line while attending Lehigh Univer-sity, and before that he worked with the Red Cross in Mon-tgomery County. "That pro-gram lasted 130 hours," he said. "I saw an ad in the newspaper for teen counselors. It intrigued me.

When Schanno transferred to W.C. last semester, he ap-proached McIntyre about establishing a hot line and has been working on it ever since. "It's very serious," he said. "We're looking for people who like helping people."

Anyone wishing to get involved in the program may contact Chris Schanno through student mail or leave their name and address with Student Affairs.

"I just want to add that the hot line is completely confiden-tial and that the training sessions will be spread out so it won't interfere with students' ad all phone calls are conschedules. Also, we need peo-dential. ple who will be returning to "I hope to pattern (the hot W.C. next semester Schanno

231 High Street * Chestertown, Maryland 21620 * 301-778-2300

Bed and Breakfast Inn

The bookstore will begin returning ALL unsold textbooks to the publishers Monday, February 23. (Books recently received will be held longer) If you still need texts buy them this week.

The Bookstore

Retirement Won't Stop Athey

we're satisfied we have the right person to take this posi

That person will be in-heriting an athletic program quite different from what Athey found in 1948, when he returned to his alma mater to teach physical education and coach basketball. At that time, the College offered a limited number of sports for men only. Today there are 14 sports for men and women, and the pro-gram is still growing. Also, over the years, collegiate athletics have become more complicated - today's athletic director is concerned not only facilities, recruiting, scheduling, staffing, and budgeting, but also with liability insurance, drug testing, and NCAA red tape.

"It's become a real hardship from an administrative point of view to stay on top of all the different sports," Athey said. "The budget has increased dramatically, and the paper-work is tremendous. The one thing I don't went to thing I don't want to give up is coaching. Coaching and doing this job is very difficult. This is a small college, but we have a big problem."

Athey wants to stay on as head baseball coach, and has volunteered to help the College in other areas. For the mo-ment, Athey will be consulting with his old history professor, Charles B. Clark '34, who has agreed to head a search committee for a new director. Clark is a member of the Board Visitors and Governors, former chairman of the department of history and political athletes."

The success of the athletic lacrosse coach. The search program can be traced to the committee will be seeking cancoaching staff's pride in their tion.

After 38 years of service to Washington College, Edward Athey, Director of Athletics, plans to retire at the end of the academic year

didates from within and outside the College community What the new director also will inherit are two constants that have endured the span of nearly four decades, said Athey — the quality of the student/athletes and the dedication of the coaching staff.

The kids have never changed," he said. "Even in the radical '60s, when the kids were looking pretty rowdy, we had some of our best athletes. When they were on the field we had nothing but cooperation and hard work out of them. Washington College has produced some outstanding athletes."

such as Washington College, as NCAA Division III school, the coaching staff has to get ou and recruit in order to make astonishing that a school this small has had such good success. We've built up a reputation now and kids want to come here and be a part of it."

If academics is the soul of a It academics is the soul of a liberal arts education, athletics is the heart of it Nothing stirs an alumnus more than the sight of an athletic contest reminiscent of his days contest reminiscent of his days on the playing field. And hearts, more than brute strength, have played a large part in making Washington College a force to be reckoned

"From a coaching point of view, some of the losing teams were the best teams I've ever had," Athey said. "Winning championships is always a highlight and we've had some successful seasons, but even the losing teams tried just as hard, if not harder (than the winning teams). I'm going to surprise you by saying this, but I trul believe it," Athey continued. "I don't it," Athey continued. "I don't think the success of a tam should be judged by whether they make the NCAAs. We should strive to be successful in our conference, but making the NCAAs is not the end-all. This may indeed surprise many who judge a season's success simply by the win-loss column, but as the old adage goes, "it's not whether you or lose, but how you play the game." It is not surprising to those who know Coach Athey,

Phi Sigma Goes National

regarding the Washington Col-lege chapter of Phi Sigma appeared in the January 1987 edi-tion of the Phi Sig Insider, a national inter-fraternity newsletter.

It is with great pride that the Grand Chapter announces the recolonization of Epsilon Tetarton at Washington Col-lege in Chestertown, Maryland. A local fraternity of some 25 men called Phi Sigma formally petitioned the Grand Council of colony status last December and was accepted The newest colony of igma Kappa will be called the Epsilon Tetarton Colony, Col-ony President Sheaffer Reese leads a dynamic group of quality men.

Associate Dean of Students Edward Maxcy referred to the members as outstanding and involved students and was very pleased with their affiliation with Phi Sigma Kappa. The members of the chapter are ac-tive in other student organizations, including the rowing crew and student government Epsilon Tetarton was originally founded in 1952 and went on inactive status in 1972 due to low manpower. During its 20 years of active status the

The Washington College campus boasts an enrollme of 800 undergraduate students Three national sororities, three national fraternities and t local fraternities make up the Greek system.

Local volunteer alumni will be working with the colony dur-ing their membership education program.

Phi Sigma Kappa is esremely pleased to return by Washington College, and is particularly proud to have this group. We see a bright future for our newest colony.

An Interview With LaDonna Harris

Editor's Note: LaDonna Harris president and Executive Director of Americans for Indian Opportunity (AIO), was on campus this week to participate in classes, give talks, and meet the Washington College community. Ms. Harris, a Comanche in-dian originally from Oklahoma, now resides in Washington where she, along with the other members of AIO, work to organize and strengthen tribal governments throughout the U.S. In 1980, she ran as the Vice presidential candidate for the Citizen's Party, which appeared on the ballot in 29 states and received 0.3% of the national vote. Today, much of the work she does centers on educating the public about the history and current situation of native and current situation of native Americans, which is one of the reasons she chose to visit Washington College.

Q. What does Americans for Indian Opportunity do and what kind of services do they offer?

A. We're an advocacy organization based in Washington. We have a Nanal Board of Directors and it's most which is very active. Our National Board has two token non-Indians and several Community leaders who are Indians. We try to make it geographically representative of the country as well as the population. I think we have a good, active board that's very sensitive and very responsible in the kinds of work that they're doing in their own com-munities. Many of them are National leaders as well. Our main thrust is strengthening tribal governments so The constitutional governments that we now govern ourselves in are fifty years old, they were forced on us in the thirties, and they're not institutional instruments that were made to take care of the contemporary problems. They are not accommodating the contem-porary economic development of education; so we're having to re-examine them and make them more applicable to what our needs are. That's one thrust which accounts for half our Unfortunately our educational institutions have not done a good job and tur historians have not made us as part the mistorians have not american history of American history. American history of Europeans coming to the Americas. You don't start off knowing about the indigenous people and Constitution. So there is a total lack of understanding. We are unlike any other thnic group. We are political entities [sovernments). How we deal with the sovernments). How we deal with the swernments (federal and state) they for't know because it has not been a lart of their learning experience. So be other half of our time is spent wheating the non-Indian people, which an be boring and tedious. Our main leave to the same the same that the same t be boring and tedious. Our main be is how do we strengthen our internal structure so that we can cope with the larger picture. Our basic contribution is the generations of new and ion is the generations of new ap-roaches which combine traditional and contemporary views. I think we and contemporary views. I think we aith other governments by being an example of autonomy within the system.

Q. Could you describe the structure of the tribal governments and what ex-terly their relationship is with the federal government. How much ertonomy do you have?

A. Well our sovereignty actually recedes the Constitution. Then we made treaties with the Colonial governments and finally, when the United Slates government was established, those treaties were nurtured because there was a great need for us. Those treaties were broken over the years for different economic reasons. But the interesting thing is that there is still enough of them (treaties) there that have enough legal strength to allow the tribal governments to exist as political units of government under the federal government, but outside the state. It is a very complicated social and political structure and because it is not a part of our educational experience you have to take a course in Anthropology to know that Indians even exist

Director of Americans for Indian Opports

Q. How many people are actually under the jurisdiction of American Indian governments?

A. In the country as a whole, we say there are 2.5 million. The government says there are not quite 2 million. About half of our population are in ur-About nair of our population are in un-ban areas. Los Angeles has the highest population of Indians outside of the nominal reservation, but those people are still citizens of their tribe. They don't lose their identity. There is strength in that and also problems, as you can imagine.

Q. How does the question of autonomy relate to your choice to run as the Vice Presidential candidate on a third party ticket (Citizen's Party) in

A. What I became convinced of as I observed both political parties from having been married to a United States Senator, run for Vice President and as chairman of the Democratic Party, was that we had to look at things a dif-terent way. In the dark, you really have that sense of security that I can't tell the two major parties apart. I belong to something bigger than believe that the people are looking for myself; which gives you a sense of leader-ship that will provide something identity and allows you to be stronger different so as to provide the social, environmental and economic changes. The third party is a different way of ownership, such that cities and towns can own things; labor can own things. There ought to be other ways of looking at things; a way of organizing society so as to become more productive and balanced. And that's what I hoped a third party could do.

Do you have any plans to run again? A. No. I'm always actively involved with other people who are running for office and I hope to continue to do that. office and I nope to continue to do that. I plan to work mostly in the Women's peace movement and in my work in the Indian community, and to raise the consciousness of the people running for identity and allows you to be stronger than you can as an individual. In-terracial marriage is one of the con-tributing factors to the assimilation of the native Americans.

Q. As a woman and as an Indian, what are the most effective ways you've found to handle discriminatory

A. Mostly covert. Many times people aren't aware that they're doing it. A close friend of mine, a black psychologist, could prescribe how peo-ple would react. He described it as an art; the subtleness of discrimination is so much a part of our culture that we're not even aware of it. I have to be very wise and figure out ways of helping that person see how they are without put-

"Unfortunately our educational institutions have not done a good job and our historians have not made us as part of American history."

Q. Do you think that minorities in merica have a better chance at political representation through third parties? A. No, because people take us for granted. The third party would open up more options and then the people would have to re-examine their own. Q. What do you feel the political responsibility of a writer is in American society today?

A. Coming from an oral tradition I have not utilized the writer's as an avenue of communicating what I feel needs to be communicated. Any form of communication, be it television, journalism, or even novels as a form of communicating cultural values, is exciting. The problem is that there is a literary vacuum of these forms of cultural communication. There are some good pieces but there are so few that you could count them on your hand. You don't have to get political, you could just depict the culture. I think there is a great role to play in helping people understand that we exist in any form you want to take.

Q. How much have native Americans similated in American society?

I see a more nationalist move A. I see a more nationalist move-ment, a Renaissance. It is a constant struggle, but we have withstood it. We have lost tribes to this, however. Either choice you make can be painful. The tribal community is usually very generous, I always have the feeling that I could go absolutely crazy and ting them down. Every situation is dif-ferent, so you take it kind of one-on-one. It takes a lot of skill and energy to help people see that what they are saying is urtful to me or other people.

Q. If you could give one piece of advice to a young woman who's planning on starting a career, or thinking about starting a career, about how to be successful, what would you say?

A. Well I'd have to ask her first what is successful in her mind. I would suggest being what this college is all about — being a generalist or a Remaissance person. You should have a little bit of knowledge about a lot of things that knowledge about a lot of things that narrow in your profession and categorized, you become less aware and you miss so much. You might be successful in that narrow sense but you're missing out on a whole lot of wonderful and glorious experiences. gest being what this college is all about Our society, however, in many ways demands that from you, so success should be measured in how one reaches one's goals rather than that they reached their goals.

Q. What would be some things that you recommend students do to improve minority representation in the faculty or in the student body?

A. You should have an outreach program if you want to recruit. You have to think of the economics, could the minorities afford the program and is the program prestigious enough to attract minorities?

AIDS Education Goal Of Program

to kill the AIDS virus. High risk groups pediate and the bornosexuals and their sharper pointed out to work the bornosexuals and their sharper pointed out to work the bornosexuals and their sharper pointed out the work of the bornosexuals and their sharper pointed out the bornosexuals and their partners, benophiliacs and sexual intercourse with the indeeded forts of this awareness program, their partners, Haltians who have person in the past seven years, and students will be deducated and green of the U.S. and their partners, that the only definite known ways to disease, as well as become more and any persons with positive HTUV- contract the disease is through un-responsible in their examile behavior.

III antibody and their partners

protected sexual intercourse or blood

Walberts Make College A Family Affair

by Andrea Kehoe

Many students get that family feeling at college from frat brothers or sorori the tie is by blood, not by Greek letter. Last fall, four of the siblings - Tim, 23; Beth, 21; and 18-year old twins Andy and Valerie (Pixie) joined 20-year-old Holly at Washington College.

Surprisingly, each decided in-dividually to enroll and were unaware of the others' plans until a weekend last spring when all were at home. Explained Beth, a business major who transferred from the University of Maryland at College Park, "I said something at dinner and they were like, Yeah, we're going, too.

Washington College was known to the Walberts, whose home is known to the Walberts, whose home is only 45 minutes away in Queenstown. Their father, Donald, a veterinarian, studied here for two years before transferring to the University of Maryland. Peggy Walbert, their mother, works as an administrative assistant in the Development Office and is taking classes towards here. and is taking classes towards her Bachelor's degree. Her position as a college employee enables two of her children to receive free tuition.

But it was the enthusiasm of Holly, a junior who was unavailable for interview, that drew her brothers an brothers and sisters to Washington College.

"The more she talked about it, the more I wanted to come here, ' said Beth, a first semester senior who had tired of the huge numbers of students at College Park said Tim, a sophomore, who previously attended Chesapeake College part time and worked as co-manager of Draper's Liquors in Centreville. Hoping to someday write fiction professionally, he chose WC because of the reputation of the English department, particularly the creative writing program

"I thought it might be a good time," aid Andy, a freshman. "How many said Andy, a freshman. "How many other people can go to college with all their brothers and sisters?

Initially, Pixie thought the situation might be difficult but has not encountered any problems. "You really don't have to see them unless you want to. If I really wanted to I could find a way to avoid them."

Another concern of Pixie's was that Holly would be bothered by the arrival of the rest of her family. "In a way it was her school first, it was her way to get away from us. Then we're all here with her. I don't know how she personally feels, but I hope she hasn't taken it too hard."

Unable to cite any disadvantages to going to school together, the siblings enjoy the benefits of having other family members around

"In my case, it's almost moral support," said Andy, a freshman. "If you need help there's always someone to lend a hand.'

"It's great when I need somebody to yell at," joked Tim.

The older Walberts do not feel they have to play a parental role, but enjoy

"You really don't have to see them unless you want to. If I really wanted to

I could find a way to avoid them,"

Agreed Pixie, "All I heard from her (Holly) were compliments about it." A tour convinced the freshman to enroll.

observing their younger brother and sister adjust to college life. Said Beth, "It's funny watching them do some

The Walbert Bunch: Five siblings from Queenstown make college a fa Andy, Beth, Tim, Holly, and Pixie.

freshman. I can see what's going to now and then.
happen before they do."

Not only do the Walberts not mind the presence of their siblings on campus. pool in the Coffeehouse, watching "Usually their jaw drops and the television, playing ultimate frisbee or say, "This is nuts. You must hate it stupid thing I did when I was a all in one place. I can see them every Most people react with disbelie when they discover that the entire Walbert clan attends Washington Col-Usually their jaw drops and they

February 20, 1987

"How many other people can go to college with all their brothers and sisters?"

just hanging out in front of a fire in Dor-chester, where Andy lives. Occasional-reaction is 'no way,'" said Pixie. Iy a few of them will eat meals together. "It's hard not to have two or families understand and would like it" more together in the Dining Hall at the same time," explained Tim.

"I didn't think I'd end up hanging around them as much as I do. It's pretty neat," said Beth.

Another place the Walberts run into each other is the classroom: Andy, Pixie, Beth and Holly are all enrolled in In-tro to Film. Last semester Andy and Tim took the same psychology and history courses, which enabled them to work and study together.

"We're unique in that we get along really well. It's kind of nice echoing the sentiments of the others.

This closeness has not prevented them from meeting other people. Outside activities require time away from the family - Beth and Tim work in the Coffeehouse, Andy rows for the eight-man crew, and Pixie serves as coxswain for the women's crew. Two sibl-ings are involved in the Greek system: Holly is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha and Tim as a Phi Sigma pledge.

Having all her children at one school eases communication, said Peggy Walbert. "It's nice that they're

"People who come from large said Tim. "But a lot of people don't know what it's like growing up with three sisters and a brother that close in age in the same household

Despite the camaraderie characterizes the Walberts' relationship at college, the siblings have enperienced the normal tensions of fami ly life.

"At one time or another we all tried to establish or another we all the to establish independence from ead other, and that actually brought a closer together," said Tim, explaining that they argued frequently when they were growing up, but that their relationships improved as he, Beth as Holly left for college.

Said Beth, "People are always ask ing, 'How can you stand being around your brothers and sisters all the time' but they don't know we used to fight like cats and dogs at home."

Perhaps, though, much of the quar-relling of childhood is over, something that Pixie speculates must please their parents. "They're proud that we can all go to the same school without killing each other "

Tuesday-Saturday Convenient Parkin 8:00 AM-6:00 PM

A Shear Design

MANICURES AT 1/2 PRICE COMPLETE HAIR CARE SCULPTURED NAILS RETAIL ITEMS

505 Washington Ave. Chestertown, Md. 2160

Janie Thomps: (301) 778-0898

CAMP COUNSELORS NEEDED

NOW HIRING Echo Hill Camp on the Chesapeake. (301) 348-5800

Don't Take Off Your RayBans Yet

by Andrea Kehoe

with the SGA Task Force to report its findings from fairs Office at the Board of isitors and Governors peting tomorrow, our In-uisitors, those fearless pro-ketors of students' rights, sald find themselves out of a b. But don't take off your yBans yet, guys. Rest rampant at Washington Colge and should provide work innumerable task forces to

off the cuff

Let's start in Central

ervices, where abuse of ak. As one sophomore points it, you have to wonder what n those days when the box is mpty. Surely the problem ds haven't written to you, hends haven't written to you, imply because you never rite to them. And if you're key enough that Central trvices doesn't seize your correspondence and prevent it was reaching you, you know by read your postcards. Iven worse, the Central services mail mistreaters are krvices mail mistreaters are b doubt responsible for the ime those cookies from Grandma arrived broken. Patkage abuse is a federal of-

Conspiracy also lurks in the Fashington College Dining strice. You don't think it's an wident that they sometimes out of clean forks, do you? h, their plan is to force starvstudents to eat quiche with heir fingers, then photograph employers unless they sign over their trust fund. What about the rumor that locals who test positive for social diseases at the health clinic are paid to come in and spit in the yogurt? Don't be naive — violations of students' rights don't stop at threats to their

And those surveys-are they really anonymous? Actually the Washington College Dining Service (or WCDS - those organizations whose names are abbreviated by letter are them and threaten to send the price of the p after she warned you about the

> The most dangerous plot by the WCDS is the bugging 'a la Nixon. Microscopic tape recorders hidden in tables in recorders hidden in tables in the dark corners of the cafeteria take down the con-versations of students who work for libelous slander sheets or who are members of secret factions.

Spying, however, is the primary responsibility of the Housekeeping Department. Did you ever notice your dorm's maid rummaging always the most insidious) Did you ever notice your hires people to trace your dorm's maid rummaging handwriting so they read the through your trash can or lurk-confidential information you ing around the telephones, sation? Their efforts to find incriminating evidence about your personal life are directed by the Business Office, where they will stoop to blackmail to convince you to donate your deposit money to the College after graduation.

Another hangout of those who exist only for the sheer pleasure of violating students' rights is the Miller Library. These evil-doers tell seniors that their thesis materials could not be obtained from could not be obtained from inter-library loan. Some gulli-ble students might fall for that one, but anyone aware of the sadistic nature of Washington College employees realizes this is yet another attempt to give students grief.

Underclassmen as well as seniors find frustration in the Miller Library. Quests for ob-jective journalism, something desperately needed in the Washington College community, are fruitless when students are unable to find the current copy of the local newspaper.
The library staff thwarts the dissemination of information by using the newspapers for their intended purpose gerbil cage liner.

Security, of course, is one of Washington College students. The men in brown polyester are such sticklers about all those silly parking rules and hand out riduculous fines. When your fines get too high they even threaten to tow your car. But why bother to pay if you're

A danger to the physical well eing of WC students comes being of Deing of WC students comes from the Dean's Office, which pretends that its push to get students to use the MacIntosh is a drive for computer literacy. In reality, the Academic Computing program was developed by the Health Service when they found that some students were not taking advantage of the "Three for Free" giveaway. It's true use of the MacIntosh can make you infertile. A small college has to have some way to keep its numbers down

Of course, given the remote possibility that the SGA's Task Force is not utterly objective and unbiased (a goal to which libelous slander sheets never aspire), our Maxwell Smart-inspired investigators could find themselves the target of an inquiry into their "questionable practices." Who would take charge of the Task Force On The Task Force? The Student Conduct Council, of

The President and Visitors and Governors of Washington College cordially invite you to

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY CONVOCATION

Honored guest will be RIGHT REVEREND JOHN T. WALKER Bishop, Episcopal Diocese of Washington Dean of Washington Cathedral

> Saturday, February 21, 1987 at 2:00 p.m. Daniel Z. Gibson Fine Arts Center

Convocation will be followed by a groundbreaking ceremony for the Science Laboratory Center as well as an open house for the renovated Bunting Hall

ATTENTION SENIORS

THE ADMISSIONS OFFICE SEEKS CANDIDATES TO FILL THREE OPENINGS FOR THE POSITION OF ADMISSIONS REPRESENTATIVE

THE POSITION INCLUDES:

TWELVE WEEK TERM OF EMPLOYMENT SEPTEMBER 14 - DECEMBER 4

TERM SALARY - $3,000 + EXPENSES

FOR ADDITIONAL INFORMATION CONTACT:

KEVIN COVENEY DIRECTOR OF ADMISSIONS SECOND FLOOR, BUNTING HALL

Stam Drug Co. 215 High Street Chestertown, Maryland 778-3030

·Hudson's Vitamins •Cosmetics

Washington suffers a disappointing 61-57 defeat at the hands of Widener, Wednesday, Feb. 18.

Shoremen Sink To Ursinus In Second Half

by John Bodnar

The Washington College The Washington College basketball team squared off against Ursinus College on Saturday, February 14. But for the red hot Shoremen, Ursinus proved to be the big chill that snapped W.C.'s ten game winn-

Ursinus' come from behind 82-80 victory places the Shoremen and Ursinus in a second place tie in the Mid-Atlantic Conference with both teams boasting a 6-2 record. Widener University, 8-0 in the conference, is currently in first

"It was a tough loss," said Coach Finnegan. "We felt like we let it get away. With 11 minutes remaining in the game we had a ten point lead."

Ursinus College's Tom Shivers (23 points in the game) hit two important three point shots late in the second half.

Ursinus scorer Rodney Joyner led the scoring with 26 points in the game.

For the Shoremen, Andy Bauer netted 22 points and Tom McVan had 13 points.

Earlier in the week W.C. sunk Haverford College 76-59. 'We played a solid game of-

we played a solid gaine of-fensively and steadily pulled ahead," Finnegan said. The Shoremen stretched their five point half-time lead (42-37) to 55-38 with 10 minutes remaining and then to 70-49 with just under four minutes to two games. The Shoremen who are currently tied for s cond in the conference witht sinus at 6-2, will host of ference leader Widen University (8-0) on Wedn day, February 18. W.C. end their regular season

Friday, February 20 when t

Sho'men '87

host arch-rival John's Hopki University. To be eligible in post season play in the M.A. Sophomore Andy Bauer led the Shoremen must finish the Shoremen must finish the Shoremen must finish points. Class Jamke picked points. Class Jamke picked points are second place. It is second to be season ends with a tie for second shots. Scott Jones had 10 points the Shoremen will play the Shoremen will play and six assists while Steve Brody added 10 points.
For the Shoremen, post court for the preliminar season play will rely heavily on playoff game will be decide the outcome of their remaining by the flip of a coin.

Swimming lightning speed, the Shorewomen left Notre D arting line in an overwhelming victory on Tuesday.

Swim Team Breaks Records

Notre Dame on Tuesday, Elizabeth Rexon in the Brebruary 17.
Friday's meet saw Jenny siroke and Martha Mumber Corten win the 59 back stroke, in girast. Stephanie Milité breaking the team record, the 500 free. Even though while Karen Hinson tooks e-competing in their conditions of the competing in their conditions of the competing in their conditions of the condition of the condi

by Christine Wlant
The Sho'women are at it Despite injuries sustained again. This past week saw Karen Hinson and Sherti D them place two consecutive field, the team still manage victories under their caps. Fri put Notre Dame out of the day. February 13, Washington in Tuesday's meet. Dub meet against Mary Mount and back stroke, captured if an overwhelming victory over Holly Walbert in 3 M div Notre Dame on Tuesday, Elizabeth Rexon in the stroke and Martha Municipal Control of the Co

With Fee Option checking our $5 monthly fee is as flat and predictable as this ad.

In addition to a flat, predictable, almost boring monthly fee, this account also offers unlimited check-over, and so on and so on azzzzzzzzzz Just call us writing, free checks, free use of our 24-hour banking machines, and no minimum balance requirement. 783-6051 or in Maryland dial 1-800-472-1616.

All for just a flat $5 a month, every month, over and

UnionTrust Bank A Signet® Bank

Washington College Chestertown: Kent Plaza Shopping Center, 778-2900

Athletes Should Train Year Round

by Christine Wiant

You can't be a weekend says Coach Penny Athletes need to be aware to get the maximum perance in their chosen sport owed year round, pre-son, in-season, out of son, 12 months of the year. h little time between pracand games, it is clear that detes must report in the best igh just to be ready to play of course, the thought of ir round, day in, day out sical activity must seem housting. When your season er, you're looking forward hat nice long relaxing break the last thing on your mind being in shape for next son. Take a week or two off, ax, but then you should ing activity. If not for the te of next season, then for sake of keeping the body your own mind and very much into the moment, but disuse is

Exercise Options

Lifting weights, riding a bike, jogging are all great, but do you know exactly what it's doing for you? Different work-outs bring different results and it is senseless to keep working on your arms if it's your legs that need it, or your calves, when your thighs are jiggling.

Swimming 20 to 30 minutes every other day, builds the whole body, especially the trunk and arms, strengthens the heart, and increases en-durance and can burn up to 36 calories per hour.

Running hard enough to sweat — 20 to 30 minutes three times a week — builds muscles, especially below the knees, and improves the heart. Running can burn 100 calories

"At your age you're immortal in your own mind...but disuse is abuse."

those hard workouts has you. Athletic ability also a nasty way of getting a litusty, and when the next big on rolls around and you're narolis around and you re against someone who be did a little more out of then sit back and re-man then sit back and re-

Bicycling 30 minutes every other day builds thighs and hips. Vigorous pedaling can burn 200 to 300 calories per half of their glories, you'll you swing them while walking.

ofer where your form went. At a brisk pace almost 100 stated by Penny Fall, "at calories can be burned per age you're immortal in mile

NOW

ACCEPTING APPLICATIONS

for seasonal dock master/dock crew at local marina. Power & Sailing vachts.

DEWEY BEACH/ REHOBETH

GROUP HOUSE NEEDS MEMBERS

348-5896 or 778-6344

301-648-5709 9:00 A.M.-5:00 P.M.

Sports Calendar

Friday 20

Basketball Hopkins - 7:30 p.m.

Saturday 21

Swimming Women's 2:00 p.m.

Thursday 26

Basketball MAC play-off

Anthony's Flowers and Landscaping

Full line of Corsages for The Birthday Ball

10% discount to all

Washington College Students on orders placed by February 20

778-2525

located on Rt. 213 - 2/10 South of bridge

CONGRATULATIONS....

Paula Kathy Carrie Marti Cynthia Nicole Amv Sheri Chrissy Tracey Vicky Laurie and Chervl

LOVE, YOUR NEW ZETA SISTERS!

Our Fee Option checking account requires you keep a minimum balance.

The rules around here are strict. But if you keep one red cent in your account, you get unlimited check- $5 a month. There. We've put our 24 in. So call today writing as well as free use of our 24-hour banking about a Fee Option account. In Baltimore call us at machines. And if you qualify, you can also get a Master- 783-6051 or in Maryland call 1-800-472-1616.

Card® with no fee for the first year. All for just a flat

HnionTrust Bank

Member FDIC Equal Opportunity Lender

Washington College Chestertown: Kent Plaza Sho ping Center, 778-2900

Lydie Breeze Blows Onto Stage

by David Healey
There's a fresh breeze blowing into Tawes Theatre next week — Lyde Breeze, the Drama Department's latest production. The play is by John Guarre, a contemporary American playwright whose latest work, House of Blue Vork City, Professor Rick
Davis, director of Lydie Breeze, says of Guarre, "He emerged in the Sixties; he's mainstream avant garde.

moderately experimental but not excessive." Davis explains that Lydie

Davis explains that Lydie Breezeis et in 1895 Nantucket. The plot centers around the members of a failed experiment in communal living. They to live out the Henry David to have it dissolve, on the control of the community of the light of the community of the light of the light mune, has died. However, her daughter Lydie, since she was only a baby at the time of the experiment, is told the story of life at the commune.

"..violence, infidelity, and anger.

There is a great deal of intrigue when one member of the commune visits Boston and returns with syphillis. Who gets it and who doesn't reflects the loose life lived by the Utopians and leads to a lot of speculation. "There's a very prominent disease metaphor," says Davis. "It becomes the metaphor for a certain kind of corruption in the community."

Although Davis hesitates to any other theatric genre, he does note that its realistic intone, and that the play is very lyrical. This is a four act play, but its hour and a half length make it seem short. "He's created very compressed scenes that focus on the action in the play," adds Davis.

Since the play is set in 1895, one of its central themes is the promise and challenge of the new century, labeled the "American century, labeled the points of view that fast is points of view that century and what they think they're going to do in it. The trony is that the utopia fails rivory is that the utopia fails of the new century."

The cast includes Emily Lott as Lydie, Cindy Curley as Beaty, Gina Braden as Gussie, John MacDanolds as Joshua, Ryder Daniels as Jude, Chas. Foster as Jeremiah, and Rock. Rick Davis is the director and set designer, Charlie Wilcox is the lighting designer, and the technical directing is done by a conglomeration of the production staff.

Performances of Lydie Breeze will be held Thursday, Saturday, and Sunday evenings at 8:00 p.m. in Tawes Theatre. The unconventional seating arrangement is very limited, and reservations should be made by calling 778-2800, extension 269.

Entertainment Calendar

Friday 20

Beaux Arts Trio
Works by Beethoven
Ravel, Hayden
Coolidge Auditorium
Library of Congress, 8:0
p.m.
(202) 287-5000

University of Maryland Dance Ensemble Modern dance per formance Cambridge So. Dorcheste High School, Rt. 16

7:30 p.m. $5.

Palm Court Cameos

"Jump for Joy"

"Jump for Joy"
Theatre songs of Duke Ellington, sung by Debra Tidred, Joseph Holt, piano, Fri. 20, noon; Sun. 22, 3:00 p.m.

p.m. National Museum History, D.C.

Monday 23

John Ashbery and David Bothan read from their works. Coolidge Auditorium, Library of Congress, 8:00 p.m. Free. (202) 287-5000

Wednesday 25

Auditions Academy Readers Theatre production of "Olde Time Radio" Feb. 25, 8:00 p.m.; Feb. 28, 10:00 a.m.
Academy of the Arts,
Easton
822-0455

Those Troublesome Neighbors

Experts in the fields of Mexican political, cultural and economic structures will join with Washington Colege faculty for a day-long symposium on Mexico: Our Mexico: Our Wednerday, February 25, on the Chestromanpus. The symposium, spoused by the College's PACE program, will be provided the property of the property of the property of Miller Library in the morning, and Mynon Lounge after lunch.

Hymson Lounge after lunch.
Guest speakers include Elirabell
Benson, former curator of the Fer Columbian Collection at the Disa barton Oaks Museum in Washaw Latin American and Carubeale grams at the Roosevel Center for American Policy Studies; pf
Richard Feinberg, vice presidently the Overseas Development element with the State Department; and at Hon. Jorge Plont Mazal, Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Mazal,
Minton Minton Minton Minton Minton Minton Minton
Minton Minton
Minton Minton
Minton Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
Minton
M

the Mexican Embassy.

Washington College faculty participating in the symposium are Davy H. McCall, lecturer in the department of economics, and Daniel L. Premo, a professor in the departments of history and political control of the college of the departments of history and political control of the departments of history and political control of the college of the ## PERFUSIVY Campus Paperback Bestsellers 1. The Marrimoth Hurriers, by Jean M. Auol. (Bentem, $4.95.) Sequal to The Valley of the Horses.

- The Far Side Gattery 2, by Gary Larson. (Andrews, McMeel & Parker, $9.95.) Collection of Far Side carbons.
   Secrets, by Daniele Steel. (Del. $4.95.) Behind the scenes of a television production.
- television production.

  4. Bloom County Babyton, by Berke Breathed (Little, Brown, $12.95.) Bloom County comic strips.
- Boom County Babyton, by Berke Breathed. (Little, Brow $12.95.) Bloom County comic strips.
   Dark Angel, by V.C. Andrews. (Pocket, $4.50.)
   The sage of the Casteel termity continues.
- Women who Love too Much, by Robin Norwood. (Por $4.50.) How to avoid the pittalls of unhealthy relationship
- Lie Down With Lions, by Ken Foliet. (NAL/Signet, $4.95.)
   Romantic adventure and hvisting suspense in Alghanistan.
   West With the Niight, by Beryl Markham. (North Point, $12.5
- H Came From the Far Side, by Gary Larson. (Andrews, McMee & Parker, $5.95.) The talest carbons from the Far Side.

New & Recommended

I'll tale Manhattan, by Judin Krinzt, (Barran, $4.95). A dustriet, of love and being all nie high-stake word of magazine publish. Fit for Life, by Hanvy and Markyn Damond, (Warner, $4.95). The prefet calciden his fricate while want to look and sell nie in best No Laughting Matther, by Joseph Helder and Speak Vogel, explored with the basis hend Vogel, explored baller and claimants on the properties with the basis hend Vogel, explored baller and claimants on the properties with the basis hend Vogel, explored baller and claimants were of the manyout belief.

ASSOCIATION OF AMERICAN PUBLISHERS NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF COLLEGE STOR

Campus Calendar

FRIDAY 20

Film Series: Colonel Redl forman James Theatre,

SATURDAY 21

Parents Council mni House, 10:00 p.m.

washington's Birthday sishop John T. Walker, Tawes Theatre, 2:00 p.m.

Groundbreaking Science Lab Center, 3:30 p.m.

Rededication and Open Bunting Hall, 3:45 p.m.

The Annual Washington's Birthday Ball Cain Athletic Center, 9:00

SUNDAY 22

Film Series: Colonel Redl Norman James Theatre, 7:30 p.m.

MONDAY 23

Film Series: Colonel Redl forman James Theatre. 7:30 p.m.

WEDNESDAY 25

Mexico: Our Troubled Neighbor to the South Sophie Kerr Room, 9:00

THURSDAY 26

Productions of Student O'Neill Literary House, 4:30 p.m.

rama Department Production Lydie Breeze Tawes Theatre, 8:00 p.m.

**ATTENTION** Typing Done at Reasonable Rates Call Kathleen: 778-1039

Amity Bakery and Coffee Shop

Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies, Pecial Occasion Cakes On Order.

Breaklast 5 A.M.-11 A.M. Lanch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

Mon.-Sat. 5 A.M.-5 P.M. Sunday 5 A.M.-2 P.M.

Writers' Theatre Bakes Up Second Loaf

Sometimes I get these anxie-ty attacks: not in Burger King when I have to eat a Whopper with cheese; and not even the night before a big test. Just sometimes a wave of nausea passes over me and I'm sick my hands are shaking and my vocal chords seem severed. I'm usually a pretty loud and obnoxious person, except sometimes when I have to read my creative writing in front of an audience. It's not that I don't want to try it out, it's just that those people are looking at me, and me is too self-conscious about how many laughs the third scene is going happy to find I was happy to find a Writers' Theatre when I arrived on the Liteary House scene in September. It was brand new, an idea conjured up in Professor Bob Day's head, and it sounded like the perfect way to escape my fears. I could sit out in the audience and watch my work being performed on stage. Even if I hadn't written any performance material, I could act out someone else's work. I think Todd Karr, a work. I think food karr, a fellow actor, agrees with me, "It's casual and it's great because it's not related to the Drama Department at all. The emphasis is on writing, not ac-

Our first gig last semester was great. It was a warm October day, the deck had just and includes: Ralph, a typical right wing Reaganite, his conservative, lawyer-type daughter Lucy, her low-life

...the second loaf is served and the play ends in a nuclear explosion."

been finished, and there was a full house. We had a few pracnothing strenuous drank some wine, and went up in smoke with Dionysus and all the rest of those Gods. The au dience was very reassuring (i must have been the wine), and the show whistled by like a breeze, no complications what-

This semester we've been working on a piece called The Second Loal. It's all about the internal strife of a mediocre family, Reagan politics, and nuclear proliferation. The family splits down the center like a loaf of Sunbeam bread, democratic-mortician brother George, and the scatter-brained wife and mother, Nanna. The play centers around the decision of whether or not

Nanna should bake a second loaf of bread. Of course, no one will eat the second loaf, but one is made just in case. As the tenis made just in case. As the ten-sion rises to an eight fisted brawl, the second loaf if served and the play ends in a nuclear explosion. The effects are explosion. wonderful!

if it sounds like a great com-bination, you're right. Freshman Michele Volansky, the author, is a bit apprehen-sive about the whole thing: "I am anxious to see how my play will come out. I'm not acting or will come out. I'm not acting or directing, so it will be a dif-ferent outlook on my work." She doesn't have anything to worry about. Jo. Maggio (Ralph), Michele Baize (Nan-na), Todd Karr (George), and I (Lucy) will have everything memorized for the per-formance this Thursday at 4:30 memorized for the per-formance this Thursday at 4:30 in the O'Neill Literary House.

Complete Facturear Service and Supplies

P.O. BOX 654 - 227 HIGH STREET CHESTERTOWN, MARYLAND 21620 PHONE 778-2860

Hynson Discusses Miscegenation

by Jenny Eisberg

The O'Neill Literary House will be continuing its Teas and Talks Monday Series next week with a presentation entitled Kinship: Miscegenation in Kent County. The talk is to be given by Vincent Hynson of Chestertown. Hynson, a stu-dent at Washington College, dent at washington conege, will graduate this spring with a degree in History. He is also a minister at various United Methodist churches connected with the Pondtown/Millington Miscegenation, the "mar-riage or cohabitation between a man and woman of different races," is a controversial topic, especially in small towns where minority groups are few and conservative traditions tend to reign. This interesting topic proves to offer new insights and basic understanding to everyone.

Sue Kolls organized Hynson's talk, and said, "We wanted students to talk; students who have done something interesting and have something to add." Hynson's talk will be preceded by refreshments at 4 p.m. and will begin at 4:30. Kolls added that everyone is encouraged to come to the Literacy. House for come to the Literary House to this "incredibly articulate and interesting man."

I said yes too. No. Yes, No. Please ask. Don't go.

OLD WHARF INN ON THE CHESTER RIVER

FOOT OF CANNON ST CHESTERTOWN, MD. 21620

301-778-3566

THE REVIEW

WASHINGTON COLLEGE

is now accepting poetry, fiction, essays, and art work for its spring issue.

> DEADLINE: MARCH 23 (Six Days After St. Patrick's Day)

KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA SUN SYSTEM

at

FMILY HAIRDRESSER

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

ENTERTAINMENT

Beastie Boys Disgust With License To Ill

Asprin's greatest advertise-ment gimmick. "Licenced to Ill" isn't a classic, however, it may someday be considered an important record. It is offensive, obnoxious and decadent, but I still think it's funny. That's the way the record

It's tough to tell whether the Beasties will be around for a while or not. They're not as good as Cameo or Run-DMC but that really doesn't matter.

"Licenced to Ill" is a remarkable debut and is selling very well. If the Beasty Boys burn out, there's plenty of noise and laughs to go around from this record for a long advertisement gimmick"

"Disgusting Rubbish!" "Ir-"Offenresponsible refuse!" "Offer sive and chauvinistic! "Vomit from Hell!!" Thes These are just a few comments I hear when I bring up the Beastie Boy's new album in conversa-Boy's new album in conversa-tion. In fact, they're pretty much true. Licenced to III is the loudest, dirtiest, most auditorily offensive album released in the past few months. But that doesn't mean it's not fun to listen to. The Beasties have stolen from all genres of pop music, rehashed Run-DMC's cliches and thrown in the Mr. Ed theme to create their first record. Packed full of hardcore guitar, pounding drum machines, obligatory record scratching and three very headache induced voices, Licenced to III spreads the nanicured suburbia Beasties rap and rhyme over pirated drums taken from Zep-pelin's "When the Levee breaks." Yes, it's true that Jon Bonham lives on the computer chip, enabling any record producer to employ him. Next we have "The New Style," a tune backgrounds for basemen nave "the New Style," a tune backgrounds for basement about the various sexual parties. The album ends with both the various sexual parties. The album ends with sounds like the Art of Noise mix of the Mr. Ed therne and crossed with a blender. "She's Creedence Clearwater Crafty" has the band rapping Revival's "Down on the Corabout a girl they all want to ner."

"This record could be

about a girl they all want to ner."
(well you know what I mean).
The gultar riff is stolen from Eeppelin's "The Ocean" and 1 really doubt that Jimmy Page should be throbbing a little, got paid a session fee for his This record could be Bayer work. "Posse in Effect" is a song I don't understand, but it's just like the one before it The latinesque "Slow Ride" has the Beasties rap-"bein' bad is what we're all about." There's also drug references, but the atmosphere is so unserious that you know the song is a joke. Next we have "Girls," a song of the kind which makes ERA ac-tivists very touchy. "Girls" is about the joys of having your room cleaned and your laundry done by, you guessed it, girls Side one ends with the new par-ty anthem "Fight for Your Right." It's funny, danceable and butt-kicking. "Living at and butt-kicking. "Living at home is such a drag Yeah you're mom threw away your best porno mag!" Fess up people, we've all gone through Side one begins with Sleep Til Brooklyn." It's "Rhymin' and Stealin." That's Aerosmith and Run-DMC computs what goes on to the usual uninterpretable rap. "Paul Revere" sounds like a cat drying off in a microwave. "Hold it Now Hit it," "Brass Monkey" and "Slow and Low" are all the same, quite forgettable but still good should be taken. As a joke

Bayer Aspirin's greatest

The Beastle Boys are animals, and with their License to III they make a sickening howl.

Hours: Fri.-Sun. 7 & 9 p.m. Mon.-Thurs. 7:45 p.m.

Chestertown Movie Theater

Jumping Jack Flash Feb. 20-Feb. 26 778-1575

FROM THE ACADEMY AWARD WINNING "MEDHISTO" TEAM OFFICIAL ENTRY FOR BEST FORFIGNEIL M ACADEMY AWARE

"...FASCINATING...this movie is also richer and more satisfying than "Nephisto" —IT'S THE MOST CONVINCING AND DETAILED MOVIE ABOUT POWER THAT I'VE SEEN IN A LONG TIME:"

"EXCELLENT BEYOND CRITICISM. It has won countless prizes, all deserved.

"... A BURST OF BRAVURA ACTING BY KLAUS MARIA

BRANDAUER, AT HIS VERY BEST ... VISUALLY BRILLIANT.

"MORE AMBITIOUS, MORE COMPLEX THAN MEPHISTO

Spying On Colonel Redl

Alfred Redl. Colonel Redlis the story of this man's career as a super spy in the Austro-Hungarian empire.

Redl (Klaus Maria Brandauer) was born an Austrian farmer's son. Despite these humble beginnings, his powerful talent and ambition win him a place in the Austrian military academy. A social chameleon, Redl adapts well to his new artistocratic surroundings at the school. From here he rises to ecome one of the most powerful agents in the empire. Redl is a homosexual, and he strug-gles to hide his sexuality so

Istvan Szabo directed this that it does not interefere with West-German film on the life of his ambitions. However, when the Russians threaten to reveal his rather active sex life, Redl becomes a well-paid agent for

> The film is also a study of the depravity and oppression of this society, and of the factors which apparently lead to Redl's suicide in Vienna on May 25, 1913. The corrupt Austro-Hungarian empire is on the verge of collapse, and Redi wheels and deals through the maze of complications. He even conspires with Crown Prince Archduke Franz Ferdinand (Armin Mueller-Stahl) whose assassination in Sara

The screenplay, by Szabo and Peter Dobai, may have shortcomings as the study of the last days of an empire and one of its nearly perfect sons. Vincent Canby writes in the New York Times, "Redl is such a pathetically uncomplicated, transparent character that it's impossible to view his rise and fall with naticular interest." particular interest."

Part of the Washington Col-lege Film Series, Colonel Redl may be seen Friday, Sunday, and Monday evenings at 7:30 p.m. in Norman James Theatre. The film is in German with English subtitles

NORMAN JAMES THEATRE Friday * Sunday * Monday

7:30 - $1 Admission WASHINGTON COLLEGE FILM SERIES

Open For The Birthday Ball

Ye Olde Towne Barber & Stylists

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

open Monday - Saturday

778-4771

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 19

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, February 27, 1987

Surgeon General Reports On

The Elm will run portions of the latest Surgeon General's report on AIDS in an effort to awareness of sease throughout the College Community.

AIDS

The letters A-I-D-S stand for Acquired Immune Defficiency Syndrome. When a person is sick with AIDS, he/she is in the final stages of a series of health problems caused by a virus (germ) that can be pass ed from one person to another chiefly during sexual contact or through the sharing of in travenous drug needles and syringes used for "shooting" drugs ... Throughout this rirus the "AIDS virus." The AIDS virus attacks a person's immune system and damages his/her ability to fight other diseases. Without a function-ing immune system to ward off he/she now germs, becomes vulnerable to becoming infected by bacteria, prooa, fungi, and other viruses and malignancies, which may cause life-threatening illness, such as pneumonia, men-ingitis, and cancer.

No Known Cure There is presently no cure for AIDS. There is presently no Virus Invades Blood Stream

Scientists have named the These abbreviations stand for information denoting a virus that attacks white blood cells (T-Lymphocytes) in the human blood. When the AIDS virus enters the blood tream, it begins to attack cer-Substances called antibodies can be detected in the blood by nple test, usually tw seeks to three months after infection. Even before the an thody test is positive, the vic-tim can pass the virus to others by methods that will be ex-

Time's up... but there's no place to go. Monday's storm caught the Eastern shore largely by surprise as the skies racked up eight inches of snowfall overnight.

Once an individual is infected, there are several possibilities. Some people may remain well but even so they are able to infect others. Others may develop a disease that is less serious than AIDS referred to as AIDS Related Complex (ARC). In some people that protective immune system may be destroyed by the virus and then other germs ... and cancers that ordinarily would never get a foothold cause "oppportunistic diseases diseases..." using the opportunity of lowered resistence to infect and destroy. Some of the most common are Pneumocystis carinii pneumonia and tuber culosis. Individuals infected with the AIDS virus may also develop certain types of cancers such as Kaposi's sarcoma. These infected people have classic AIDS. Evidence shows that the AIDS virus may also attack the nervous system, causing damage to the

SIGNS AND SYMPTOMS ARC

AIDS-Related Complex (ARC) is a condition caused by the AIDS virus in which the patient test positive for AIDS infection and has a specific set of clinical symptoms. However, ARC patients' symptoms are often less severe than those with the disease we call classic AIDS. Signs and symptoms of ARC may include loss of appetite, weight loss, fever, night sweats, skin rashes, diarrhea, tiredness, lack of resistence to infection, or swollen lymph nodes. These are also signs and symptoms of many other diseases and a physician should be consulted.

AIDS Only a qualified health pro-fessional can diagnose AIDS, which is the result of a natural process of infection by the AIDS virus. AIDS destroys the body's immune (defense) system and allows otherwise controllable infections to invade the body and cause addi-tional diseases. These op-portunistic diseases would not otherwise gain a foothold in the These opportunistic diseases may eventually cause death

ome symptoms and signs of AIDS and the "opportunistic infections" may include a persistent cough and fever associated with shortness of breath or difficulty breathing breath or difficulty preating and may be the symptoms of Pneumocyustis carinii pneumonia. Multiple purplish blotches and bumps on the skin may be a sign of Kaposi's sarcoma. The AIDS virus in all infected people is essentially the the reactions of individuals may differ. Long Term

The AIDS virus may also attack the nervous system and cause delayed damage to the brain. This damage may take years to develop and the symptoms may show up as memory loss, indifference, loss of coor dination, partial paralysis, or mental disorder. These symp-toms may occur alone, or with symptoms mentioned earlier.

No Signs Some people remain ap-parently well after infection with the AIDS virus. They may have no physically apparent symptoms of illness. However, proper precautions are not

continued on page 4

Cat Burglar Nabbed

by Tony Caligiuri

Hundreds of Washington College students were awakened from a sound sleep at 1:30 a.m. Thursday, February 19, by the deafening sound of the College Bookstore's burglar alarm. According to Security Of-ficers Thompson and Hanes, who responded to the call, the suspect found on the scene was identified as George the Cat, the well-known, unoffical WC mascot. Apparently George, after being locked inside the bookstore that afternoon, set off the laser-tracked alarm when climbed onto a windowsill during the night. At the time of his apprehension, no merchandise had been found missing from the establishment.

It's that damn cat- the one they call George," said one security officer, according to a passing observer. At this time, passing observer. At this time, the bookstore management does not intend to press charges, considering this is George's first offense and no merchandise was stolen.

According to one member of the Student Judicial Board, no case has yet been filed concer ning the incident. Chris Fascet-ta, chairman of the SJB, declined to comment on any possible proceedings, taking into account George's right to privacy protected by the ackley Amendment. For the past week, George has been maintaining a low profile, possibly under the direction of security officer Thompson, and has been unavailable for comment. Acunavailable for comment. Ac-cording to one of the Dean's aides, George was last spotted watering flowers in the library. So where was George during the majority of the incident? Sitting in the bookstore winwondering what all the commotion was outside.

RA Positions Open

railable in the Student Affairs ding students," said Dean Ed Maxcy, "students that have a in becoming Resident in becoming Resident Assistants for the 1987-88 school year. Approximately wenty RA positions need to be

The student Deans will be ac-topting applications through the next week; the selection rocess will begin immediately following Spring Break.

"We're looking for outstan-ding students," said Dean Ed Maxcy, "students that have a good academic standing and a good social standing. We hope all students who don't have the 3.0 average that the faculty recommends have good study habits to serve as role models."

A sense of ethics and good interpersonal skills are two other qualities the Deans are looking for in potential RAs. Maxcy suggested that a wide variety interests athletic, social, cultural, and intellectual - enables students to relate better to their RAs.
"We need students who can balance responsibility from the administration with caring for their fellow students," explained the Dean.

INSIDE:

| Letters To The Editor p.2 |
|---------------------------|
| 1986-'87 Student Fees p.4 |
| Long Distance Romance p.5 |
| Lacrosse Wins p.6         |
| Basketball p. 6           |
| Album Reviews p.7         |

OPINION

Editorial

$84 A Year

Extra fees accompanying tuition bills are familiar to Extra rees accompanying tuition only are familiar to anyone who has ever tangled with a college or university business office. Glanced over and paid for, they are perhaps the most ignored and surely one of the most misunderstood of all educational expenses. Perhaps this is because the $84.00 a full-time student at Washington College pays in student fees each year is rather miniscule compared to the overall $10,820 current yearly cost Nonetheless, this money is used to fund activities and organizations that arguably have as much impact upon the lives of students as their classes do.

This is one reason why information about student feeshow much they are, who receives them, and how they are spent-has been published in this issue (see page 4). The other reason is to motivate students, through a greater understanding of how their money is being spent, to become more interested in overseeing these expenditures and to be more appreciative of the services that they fund.

How many students, for instance, realize that the leaders of the student-run organizations are paid salaries, or that the money the S.G.A. allocates to student clubs is student money, or that The Elm they read each Friday at student money, or that The Elm they read each Friday at lunch cost them roughly £69? How many students realize that they have paid $18 for the copy of the Pegasus that they will pick-up in April? Apparently quite a few don't considering that about 350 students neglected to pick-up their copies of last year's yearbook.

Considering that the S.G.A. controls a budget of over

$25,000 of student money, it is suprising that more students don't attend the bi-weekly Senate meetings to find out how their money is being spent. Perhaps the S.G.A. could have prevented some of the losses it incurred this year if more students had talked to their Senators and came to these meetings to express interest and concern about how this money is distributed

It is because the students of Washington College foot the bill for the three major student-run organizations—the S.G.A., The Elm and the Pegasus—that we have printed in formation on the financial aspects of these organizations in this issue. It is the responsibility of the students to examine it and inquire about it

Managing Editor
National Advertising Manager
Local Advertising Manager

Circulation Manager

Washington College Elm

|                          | Editors  |                  |
|--------------------------|----------|------------------|
| ditor-in-chief           |          | Thomas M. Schust |
| Vews Editor              |          | Audre M Philipp  |
| eatures Editor           |          | Andrea Keh       |
| Arts/Entertainment Edite |          | David Heal       |
| ports Editor             |          | Christine Wia    |
| hotography Editor        |          | J.M. Fragome     |
| and a series title       |          |                  |
|                          |          |                  |
|                          | Managers |                  |

The Em is the official student newspaper of Washington College. The Em is published every Friday during the action (year with the except College of the Coll

tion in that weak's issue.

The Eim's business and editorial office is located in the Queen Anne loungs, found on the first floor of the Queen Anne's House dormlory Business hours are 7.90 p.m. to 9.50 p.m. Tuesdays and 7.00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. wednesdays. The office phone number is (301) 778-2800, extension

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Subtle Racism

To The Editor: I am writing in resonse to the aritcle, "Dorm Intruder Ap-prehended" (February 13). I am disturbed by the identification of the intruder as being a "black man." I feel this identification was irrelevant and highly unnecessary. It is when racial remarks are used and serve no purpose to an issue serve no purpose to an issue that they become discriminatory. A recent edi-tion of The Washington College Elm devoted the OP/ED section to the question of existing racism at WC. The intruder article is a prime example of racism at going unnoticed. I feel by stating the intruder's race the News Editor, Audra Philippon, has promoted further acceptance of racial discrimination. I hope in future articles the editors of

The WC Elm won't let such comments go unnoticed. Sincerely, Jennifer Korten

Editor's Note: No offense or discrimination was intended in the article. I was merely following the security depart-ment's report which identified the suspect as black, as all police reports do. A.M.P.

Don't Be Stupid

There are three points that I would like to make, and the best thing is that none are about the S.G.A. Number one, the busing of trays in the Dining Hall. For those who are always complaining about never having any utensils, APPLICATIONS ARE CURRENTLY BEING ACCEPTED FOR THE POSITION OF ELM EDITOR For the 1987-'88 academic year.

To apply, contact Tom Schuster, Ext. 321, or see Dr. Colin Dickson,

Chairman of the Board of Publications

Application Deadline Is March 23

don't scream at the employe scream at the people who too lazy to take their trays them when they leave staff can't put any utensils if they're not coming thru the dishroom. So the next to you want a spoon and can't one, look at the tables an you and you'll know why.

Number two, Monday at people were drunk at dim
As a result, food and utem

As a result, food and utes were thrown around a almost hit a student ad supervisor. Now look, ag or raisin once in a white okay, but now you people acting stupid. Sait and per shakers and utensitis dangerous to others a yourself. No one wants by hurt, but when do we shrowing things? When we someone with a plate? The bing Hall will take action. We ing Hall will take action, by and others I know won't ke stop there. So don't be stupid And now number three of Tuesday afternoon some Nicks just seemed to walk of the library. Now the polady who used to own them a good idea of who took be So to save any trouble of campus police, you have of week to copy them and rethem to where you took and nothing will happen. If that, your life on this cam will be h-l for the rest of semester. a good idea of who took the semester. Let me leave you with a last statement; a group of ple are looking into the income the library a kind of the library as kind of the libra at the library, a kind of

Your Porter, Phil-Tom

Amity Bakery and Coffee Shop Donuts, French Loaves

& Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies, ial Occasion Cakes On Orde Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M. Lunch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

Mon.-Sat. 5 A.M.-5 P.M. Sunday 5 A.M.-2 P.M.

CAMP COUNSELORS NEEDED NOW HIRING

Echo Hill Camp on the Chesapeake. (301) 348-5800

DEWEY BEACH REHOBETH

GROUP HOUSE NEEDS MEMBERS

348-5896 or 778-6344

Reach Out And Teach Someone

The your apprentice watches his and the blackenith. For years he stated and does the small tasks ared of him. Occasionally, in the afternoons, his master will talk the afternoons, his master will talk the afternoons, his master will talk to for a tew minutes before they both and the state of the state o

According to the principle of the "bell curve" two thirds of a given population will be "average." Is submit that the average Washington College is content being "average," but that it content being "average," but Hat it does not have to be this way. He does most of his reading, goes to most of his classes and is bored most of the time. He sits in Bill Smith and listens. He sits in Bill Smith and takes notes. He turns his paper in on time. He gets mostly "B's" and "C's." He shows Mom and Dad, and they say, "You can do bet-

Tom Hopkins

Once in a while something exciting happens. A report turns into an obsestion. A professor grabs his enthusiasm. A class actually becomes fun. Suddenly

A class actuany becomes run, suddenly a light has been turned on.

Who is going to lift the darkness? Students today just want to get by and get a job. Professors today just want to get back to their private work. Society today deep the professors to the private work.

today doesn't care about learning.
There can only be one answer. Those who are paid to teach must learn to be most effective. The lecture method
be most effective. The lecture method ways to motivate students to master a given challenge. Group work, debate, simulation, gaming, independent study, oral reports and forced discustions are provided to the lecture.

To those professors who might read this and feel a little guilty. I must add that I understand. You have been taught to write and not to teach the tracted was a support of the teach that t their hands.

Tom Hopkins, class of '86 (Humanities), is now pursuing teacher certification in English.

Do Professors At Washington College Rely Too Heavily Upon

Lecturing In The Courses They Teach?

ISSUE:

Barrisburg, Pennsylvania Sophomore

"Yes, most of them do. Dose are the classes I use to catch up on sleep or write letters to friends."

Peter Maller Johannesburg, South Africa Freshman

"I believe that the professors definitely do rely too heavily upon lecturing. Most of the tests are based on class notes taken during these lectures. That time could be spent reviewing important textbook notes that are necessary for the course."

William Shaw Columbia, South Carolina

Sophomore

"In some courses I think it is appropriate to a professor to lecture the entire class, but in some classes a more open class discussion would be more beneficial for the entire class."

Dawn Dams Pasadena, Maryland Sohomore

"Yes, however, I think that is good, because it makes you go to class, so you know the material that is going to be on the exams."

David K. Morris Hollywood, California Senior "I don't know, I'm usually asleep!"

Campus Voices

by Sarah Letaw

Discussion, Not Regurgitation

abough I have only studied under professors at Washington College, professors at Washington College, and the studies of the studies of the studies of the studies of the students of the stude blies, classes meet only two or the control of the technique during my first semester at Washington College. At the beginning of each class period the professor ask-college college. The beginning of each class period the professor ask-college college colleg

This was not the case in one of my classes. We were assigned outside reading, but each class consisted of the professor repeating the information on the text verbatim. The majority of the because they went to class they managed to get A's or B's. Not only was our learning limited by the lack of information to which we were exposed, but our was merely by regurgitating lecture Of course there are negative aspects to the class discussion method. Its success depends entirely on the preparation and participation of students. It students come into class without having read the material, a class discussion is not possible. Similarly, if the students do not voice their opinions, the

Erin Murphy

professors have a lost cause. Ideally college students are so eager to enhance their knowledge that they read each assignment enthusiastically. As we know, however, this is not always the case. Two of my professors last semester found effective solutions to these problems. A "pop-quiz" (or "quizzie-poo) could be expected after each reading assignment. The quizzes which would prove the the reading was done. Then the professor asked the questions during class. This solved both problems: students were forced to do the reading and also forced to give thought to what would be discussed in class.

From my experience 1 believe that the majority of Washington College professors do reach a balance between professors in the control of the control polity, however, is not enough. At a large school in which classes have hunreds of students, it is understandable ended to the control of the control of the discussions. From in those clathes, however, small discussion groups are formed. At a school the size of washington College, it is inexcusable emphasis on class discussion. It is time to examine the deucation with which students at Washington College are greatestage, and the place to start is in

Erin Murphy is a Freshman

$19.A $25.A

$1200.00 $1000.00 $500.00 $400.00 $200.00

Mom's Cookie Jan What You Pay For:

Although Convocation and the Birthday Ball are now double portions or two entrees bistory on behalf of the entire w.C.D.S. management staff, I who try to keep up with the would like to express our thanks to all the waiters, waitresses, attendants, run-ners, and bartenders who performed the various functions last Saturday. We applaud you for your efforts and hard work. To the W.C.D.S. staff, we ex-tend our special thanks. All of you did an excellant job, as

Because I have heard it said that managers are quick to criticize, but slow to praise, I would like to take this opportunity to praise in print the fine efforts of the W.C.D.S. student employees. Most people do not realize the importance of their positions in the overall tion of the W.C.D.S. Primarily you find them working the week-end and dinner serving line taking abuse who try to keep up with the demands for more silverware and glasses during peak times in the Main Dining Room. They are the ones working in the dishroom, cleaning up the trays and dishes. They are also the ones who, at the end of the meal, have to clean up after students who find it unecessary to bus their trays

To these employees, I would like to say a great big "THANK YOU!" The W.C.D.S. respects and appreciates your efforts. Tuesday's dinner is Pancake night. For those of you not interested in pancakes, e will also be serving Eastern Shore Chicken 'n' Dumplings.

I would like to wish all of you a relaxing and fun-filled Spring break. Remember, the last meal before break will be lunch on Friday, March 6. Un-til next week...MOM

AIDS Report

continued from page 1

with sexual contacts may now contain the AIDS and/or intravenous drug use, these infected individuals can spread the virus to others. Anyone who thinks he or she is infected or involved in high risk behaviors should not donate his/her blood, organs, tissues, or sperm because they

Please continue to follow the report next week when the pre-sent situation of AIDS in the United States and certain highrisk activities and segments of the population will be discuss-

FOR SALE:

Lap top computer, complete with disk drive (320K) and printer, CP/M, Basic, Portable Wordstar, Portable Scheduler, and Portable Calc included. Competible with MacIntosh. $1,300. J. Sherbondy, Ferguson 26, ext. 273 or 778-5210

APPLICATIONS ARE CURRENTLY BEING ACCEPTED FOR THE POSITION OF

PEGASUS EDITOR For the 1987-'88 academic year

To apply, contact Arian Ravanbakhsh Ext. 320, or see Dr. Colin Dickson, Chairman of the Board of Publications

Application Deadline Is March 23

DO you want to be active in community service?

DO you want to help the Chestertown community and the Washington College com-

DO you want to do these things plus have fun and be a part of a student service organization?

If the answer is "yes," then you are just the one for

DELTA PI OMEGA

Come and get to know us at the COFFEE HOUSE Monday, March 2, 1987 at 8:00 P.M.

SEE YOU THERE!!

Student Fee Expenditures 1986-'87 (to date)

STUDENT FEE BREAKDOWN PER SEMESTER/YEAR FULL-TIME STUDENTS

ELM = $9.00 PER SEMESTER/$18.00 PER YEAR $16.25 PER SEMESTER/$32.50 PER YEAR PEGASUS = $9.00 PER SEMESTER/$18.00 PER VEAR BOARD OF PUBLICATIONS = $0.26 PER SEMES-

TER/$0.52PER YEAR FILM SERIES = $3.99 PER SEMESTER/$7.96 PER YEAR CONCERT SERIES = $3.50 PER SEMESTER/$7.00 PER

> TOTAL STUDENT FEE ALLOCATIONS
> TO ABOVE ORGANIZATIONS FOR 1986-87 ACADEMIC YEAR

|                | SEMESTER    | SEMESTER   |
|----------------|-------------|------------|
| ELM            | $7213.50   | $6810.7   |
| S.G.A.         | $13,024.37 | $12,297.2 |
| PEGASUS        | $7213.50   | $6810.7   |
| BOARD OF PUBL. | $208.40    | $196.6    |
| FILMSERIES     | $3197.96   | $3000.5   |
| CONCERT SERIES | $2849.00   | $2648.7   |
| TOTAL          | ALLOCATION  |            |
|                | CADEMICATO  |            |

| FOR THE ACADEM     | IIC YEAR  |
|--------------------|-----------|
| (FALL + SPRING ALI | LOTMENTS) |
| ELM                | $14,024  |
| S.G.A.             | $25,321  |
| PEGASUS            | $14,024  |
| BOARD OF PUB.      | $405     |
| FILMSERIES         | $6198    |
| CONCERT SERIES     | $5497    |
| STUDENT GOVER      | RNMENT    |

ASSOCIATION EXPENDITURES STUDENT CLUB FUNDING, FALL 1986/$4640.00 TOTAL FUNDING CLUB REQUESTED RECEIVED

| Amensty Int.          | $250.00       | $250.00  |
|-----------------------|----------------|-----------|
| Arts Union (Twenty)   | $500.00       | $300.00  |
| Campus Christian      |                |           |
| Fellowship            | $80.00        | $80.00   |
| Campus Christians     | $100.00       | $100.00  |
| College Republicans   | $500.00       | $250.00  |
| Debating Club         | $75.00        | $75,00   |
| Delta Pi Omega (DPO)  | $500.00       | $100.00  |
| French Club           | $250.00       | $250.00  |
| Int. Relations Club   | $300.00       | $300.00  |
| Language Floor        | $250.00       | $100.00  |
| Outdoor Club          | $500.00       | $200.00  |
| Pegasus               | $1000.00      | none      |
| Philosophy Club       | $35.00        | $35.00   |
| Sho'men Radio more in | formation requ | ested     |
| Spanish Club          | $400.00       | $400.00  |
| Swimming Club         | $500.00       | $200.00  |
| Tennis Club           | $500.00       | none      |
| William James Forum   | $2000.00      | $1500.00 |
| Writer's Union        | $750.00       | $750.00  |
| Sailing Club          | $800.00       | $250.00  |
| CLUBALLO              | PROTECTA       |           |

SPRING, 1987 Amnesty Internati $400.00 $400.00 Arts Union (Twenty) Bridge Club Cabaret Club $250.00 $250.00 $100.00 $25.00 $150.00 $150.00 Campus Christian Fellowship Catholic Students $100.00 $100,00 $100.00 Delta Phi Omega (DPO) French Club $250.00 $250.00 German Club $250.00 $250.00 Int. Relations Club $300.00 Philosophy Club $50.00 $50.00 Running club $300.00 $300.00 Washington College Lax Club

$750 00 OTHER FINANCIAL SUPPORT dvertising, Wild Goose Classic Tournament

$750.00

$100.00

$15.00

$20,00

$82.00

$165.00

$2000.00

WC Film Series Free Round Drinks to S.G.A. Senate K.A. Midnight Madness Team One Keg To Zetas-Blood Drive Two Kegs-Fall Back To School Party ailing Club Debts Assumed

Central Services Phone

BILLS HELD OVER FROM 1985-'86 ACADEMIC YEAR Sailing Club Promisary Note IBM Charges SALARIES-EXECUTIVE

BOARD MEMBERS President (Chris Doherty) Vice President (Mona Brinkley) Treasurer (Pam Loughman) Secretary (Christopher Foley) Social Co-Chairman (Chris S Social Co-Chairman (Bob Polk)

SOCIAL EVENTS, YEAR TO DATE At Door Costs The Feds $1111.00 $1013.M $1651.M Bobby & The Believers Hege V/Nick Flick The Deal $1759.00 $1545.00 $1533 n $730.0 $1100.0 Other Bright Colors $1580.00 Velvet Paws $1300.00 $900 n Post Birthday Ball Party $325.00

LOANS, YEAR TO DATE $400.00 (repaid)

Senior Class Alpha Omicron Pi Junior Class $1200.00 ($700.00 repaid $60.0 Sophomore Class $1000.00 ($500.00 repair
Total Losses on Loans $1000.00
(Treasurer has recommended that no more loans be given this year)

OPERATING EXPENSES

$91.00 $50.00 $405.00 302.00 $336.00 Food Service/Social Events Liquor/Social Events tral Services IBM Charges PEGASUS EXPENDITURES Printing Costs, 1987 (112 pages) $10,750.N $1200.N $500.N 32 Page Supplement Payroll $500.11 Photographic Supplies Postage Bookstore $500.00

$400.00 $300.00 $400.00 Xerox Charges Phone Charges Miscellaneous Expenses Ad Manager's Percentage 0.0032 From Ad Sales (20%) INCOME Advertising $3000.00 $14,004.35 Student Fees EDITOR'S SALARIES $400.00

Editor (Arian Rayanbakhsh) Assistant Editor (Carolyn Naff) THE WASHINGTON COLLEGE ELM EXPENDITURES, 1986-'87

$13,520.00 $4,800.00 $3,120.00 $1,630.00 $450.00 $600.00 $340.00 $710.00 Printing Wages Advertising Management Fees (15%) Circulation Management Fees (15%) Circulation Postage Transportation Photography $226.65 (year to dak) Office Supplies $1,300.00 Collegian / Miscellaneous Expenses INCOME $11,180.N $3,000.H $14,034.5 Advertising

Circulation Student Fees EDITOR'S SALARIES Editor-In-Chief (Thomas M. Schuster) News Editor (Audra M. Philippon) Features Editor (Andrea Kehoe)

Arts/Entertainment Editor (David Healey) Sports Editor (Christine Wiant) Photography Editor (J.M. Fragomeni) Managing Editor (Alison Shorter) National Advertising Manager (Michelle Royal)

Local Advertising Manager (Mariella Ruiz) 15% on each ad sol

Loneliness, Expense and Emotional Strain

Romance At A Distance

by Jennifer Harrison

Pictures in prominent places, stamps of stationery lying around, the ner-spacing between telephone and or, a mail box stuffed with scented melopes: these are tell-tale signs of a ng distance relationship.

Mixed in with the loneliness, the exse and the emotional strain of a love ationship between people separated is the lingering promise of union. Although it is the general con-essus of young people that long stance relationships don't work out, Washington College students

The men and women who are able to tain a love relationship while arated are those who have managed make it work when they are we been dating exclusively for a year more. However, few are engaged, ling that it is too early in life to make than important decision. But they utinue to have eyes only for each or (at least each other's pictures) the belief that it is worth it.

Erin Murphy, a freshman, considers reself lucky. Her boyfriend, who at-nds George Mason University in Irgina, is only an hour and a half any, and she sees him almost every

You could say I met him through a nd... he was in love with this friend mine, a real sex kitten," she said bey became friends when she tried to ad about which friend he liked bet-

Murphy thinks their separation is for best at the moment, although she ulbox in fear of the monthly phone Il. "I could have gone to school where e did, but I thought it would limit me making friends and getting involved th school activities.

The biggest disadvantage that she an see is the phone bill since they talk the phone daily, "It's not quite as too as being there, but it helps," she

Otherwise, there is the advantage of Utherwise, there is the advantage of ocentrating on work during the sek, and on him on the weekends. Set now they don't see other people, at Murphy sees it in the future. Someday we will because neither of the reoble." other people.'

Charles Johnson, also a freshman, ess no future in dating anyone except is girlfriend, Laura. They met almost three years ago at a friend's party, and spent the majority of the evening spent the majority of the evening together talking. Since then their rela-tionship has been going strong, even though the bay separates them while attends Loyola College in Baltimore.

Despite phone bills and loneliness, Johnson feels it has worked out well. "We don't have any problems. We trust each other," he said. They write to each other about four times a week and talk on the other days. Separated, they buy special presents for one another and plan evenings out for when they are together, but "it's not like you have to keep it (the relationship) alive, because it's always there."

Junior Lillie Turgut, on the other hand, is not as lucky as the others. Her boyfriend, Sebastian, graduated from Washington College last year and enrolled in a management training pro-

They have an open relationship, since they knew when he left for Germany, he would be gone for over a year. It is an advantage to having someone always there while she looks around a little, but she said, "It's a true test; if we make it through this time, then it's meant to be.

Sometimes Turgut worries about a breakup because "small problems can be magnified because there isn't a casual contact that clarifies feelings." Sometimes when she's particularly missing him, she'll pull on one of his hand-me-down sweaters "to feel like Christian Engle, a senior, dates someone a little closer to Chestertown. His girlfriend, Laura, attends the University of Maryland, only an hour and a half away.

Although the couple is not engaged, they don't see other people. Engle feels it is often an advantage to be separated because both can concentrate on studybecause both can concentrate on study-ing and friendships while avoiding the rumors that tend to fly around at a small school. It is "the best of both worlds" since they can see each other whenever they want. In addition, the relationship gives Engle a chance to "break away from W.C." and see what college is like in a big school setting. Richard Shipley, a freshman, also has a girlfriend who attends the University of Maryland. He met Cameron almost four years ago at a dance, and they have been together for over three years. They chose to see other people while they attend college because "we think they attend college because "we think long distantly." If we don't see other people now, it may not work out if we marry because the curiosity to know what other people are like would still be in our minds."

An open relationship seems to work well for them because they trust each other, and there is a minimum of jealousy. To keep their relationship alive, they talk on the phone and write unique letters to each other - on leaves, in the Greek alphabet, or on homemade stationary.

Though Shipley supports the cliche that "absence makes the heart grow fonder," he adds that it also gives them breathing room and makes them appreciate one another more.

Leho Poldmae, freshman, has been

Leho Poldmae, freshman, has been seeing his girlfriend, who attends Western High school, for a little over a year. He sees her almost every year. He sees her almost every switch the sees her almost every short her was the seed of the sees of the have her here on campus where he could "keep an eye on her all the time."

Another freshman, who prefers to remain anonymous in order to maintain his good health, perpetuates three long distance relationships. One is his high school sweetheart, the second he met through a friend, and the third he met through the second girl (they are presently roommates).

This young man feels it is an ad-antage to having them all at a distance because he can "mess around with other people" and they don't find out about one another. However, it is difficult to keep them all in the dark about his extracurricular activities. He says "this weekend one left two hours before the other, and I had to hide my tux (for the Birthday Ball. in somebody else's room

His formula for maintaining three relationships? One has to be "very sneaky, involving lying, insincerity, second guessing and quick decision mak-

KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA SUN SYSTEM

at

EMILY HAIRDRESSER

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

Stam Drug Co. 215 High Street

Chestertown, Maryland 778-3030

- Hudson's Vitamins
- Cosmetics
- Russell
- Stover Candy
- Soda Fountain

BUFFET EVERY SUNDAY 12-5 HAPPY HOUR - DAILY 4:30-6

AIR TAXI SERVICE AVAILABLE SCHEFLER FIELD

778-1222

CHESTERTOWN, MD. Rt. 213 & 291

RESTAURANT

Coley Charlie Open For The Birthday Ball

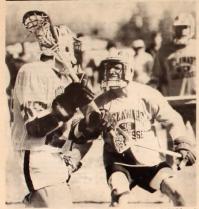

Ye Olde Towne Barber & Stylists

A & P Parking Lot Chestertown, Maryland 21620

open Monday - Saturday

778-4771

SPORTS

Don't try to make friends with me says Mike Greig as he defends himself from a Wild Blue Hen. In Saturday's scrimmage the Sho'men provailed over University of Delaware, 13-5.

Laxers Stick It To Delaware In Pre-Season Match

by Christine Wiant

Think spring and think sports, and chances are at Washington College you'll think of lacrosse. Ready to live up to its fame, the W.C. lacrosse team launches its spring season attack star-ting with Division One Champ North Carolina, on Sunday March 1. The game promises to be a challenge, but with six weeks of practice behind them. the Shoremen are ready to meet it. Outdoor practices, which North Carolina hasn't had much of due to bad weather, and the advantage of practicing on astro turf at University of Pennsylvania this Friday and Saturday are in Washington's favor.

A young team of thirty-eight players, with only three seniors, W.C. faces an ambitious schedule this spring with all ambitious schedule this spring with all of their March games against Division One schools. "It is considered one of the toughest schedules in the country," stated Coach Corcoran.

Up and coming new players include freshmen midfielders, Bob Martino, Tim Hormes, and Mark Poppa, a sophomore transfer from Kobleshill College. Combined with All-American players Donny Giblin and Day Hilliard, the seasoned veterans and talented new players should put up a formidable front. Junior Mike Wood folk stated, "We are a young team with potential and depth in every po-tion which in past years hasn't held true. Consequently I believe we should have a spectacular year.'

Scrimmages have helped the team scrimmages nave neiped the team improve greatly. Although they lost to University of Maryland and Loyel College, the 13-5 victory over Delaware University, Saturday Feb. 21, with nine different players scoring, showed the true depth and strength of the team. This is a quick physical team," Coach Corcoran said. "They are good athletes who are working hard. The key to the season will be how we mature and how we react to tough opponents."

Hoopsters Enter M.A. C. Playoffs

by John Bodnar
The Washington College
basketball team took its first step towards the Mid-Atlantic Step towards the Mid-Atlantic Conference championships by beating Ursinus College 83-66 on Tuesday, February 24. The victory gave the Shoremen a berth in the M.A.C. play-off round. W.C. will play at Franklin and Marshall College on Thursday, February 26 in the semi-final round. The winner of the W.C./Franklin and Marshall game will play the winner of the Widener/Gettysburg game for the championship on Saturday, February 28.

Against Ursinus, W.C. took control early despite having several players in foul trouble With two seconds remaining in the half, Scott Jones' three point shot gave the Shoremen a 33-21 half-time lead.

"The team came out ready to ay," said Coach Finnegan. We did what we had to do to

The Shoremen, who lost to Ursinus last week in a regular season game 82-80, played tenacious defense as they held their opponent to only points.

Ursinus' big scorers, Tom-Shivers and John Maddox, were held to a combined total of 16 points compared to the 49 points they scored the last time the teams faced each other. In the second half, Ursinus closed the lead to one point, but W.C.'s Andy Bauer (24 points) finished off the opponent and won by a comfortable margin 83-66. several clutch free throws and played solid defense." Also for the Shoremen

"We had several good per- freshman Tim Keehan netted "We had several good per-formances from our bench," 20 points while Chris James Finnegan said: "George Small did a good job on the boards, and Steve Brody (11 points and four blocked shots) hit some 'Earlier this week, the sold backets down the stretch. bosted conference rival Wideer bosted conference rival Wideer game from Soci Jonese more the game from Soci Jonese with the stretch his best performances of the bike to the stretch of the stretch of the stretch of the saam from Soci Jonese with the stretch of the stretch of the saam four sonits and seems because the stretch of the stretch between the stretch of the stretch of the stretch of the stretch of the block of the stretch of the biter to Widener 61-75, but bounced back to beat Hopkins his best performances of the season (six points and seven bound assists). Also Matt Wilson hit 87-65.

Swimmers Stroke To Victory

by Carter Bootner
"Swimmin' Women' took a dominating 69 points, which, tend and show their support. Swimming 60 points, which tend and show their support. Swimming 60 points, which tend and show their support. Swimming 60 points, which support 60 points, which tend and show their support. Swimming 60 points, which support 60 points, which support 60 points, which support 60 points, which support 60 points, which suppor

SCUBA CLASS BEGINS APRIL 8th Learn from the experts

With our professional instructors, you can expect the highest quality instruction. In addition to our entry level scubs classes, our experts teach a wide range of advance and specialty courses. For More Information Stop By or Call: Brian Bishop at the Casey Swim Center, Ext. 438. Mears Pt. Marina

Grasonville, Md.

CALYPSO DIVE SHOP 827-7000

Steve Brody eludes Ursinus and keeps W.C. in cont horemen play their way into the MAC championship playoff.

Skylarking Wings Its Way To XTC

by Ken Haltom

Since 1977, the British band XTC has been creating some of the most interesting and well-crafted albums and singles released in the rock era. They main an obsure group, owever, only having a modest hit single in 1982 with "Senses Working Overtime." XTC's latest offering. Skylarking, wil hopefully open many eyes and ears to their rich sounds and beautiful lyrics. Skylarking takes the listener on a trip through childhood memories, broken hearts, and incredible imagery. The album is a treat for the ears and the mind's eye.

Side one begins with "Summer Cauldron," a glistening gem of a song. Any Partridge sings about the overpowering beauty of nature in the heat of an August day. "Gross" is a playful memory of two lovers "pouncing" on one another i tells of a man waiting for his factory worker girlfriend to meet him: "Meet you in the secret place/Scuffing the dirt I wait/Whistle will blow, whistle will blow." "That's Really will blow." That's Really Super, Supergirl" has singer Partridge lament about his superhuman girlfriend who can fly but can't mend his broken heart: "That's really super, Supergirl/ How you stopped the universe from dying/ But you're never going to stop me from crying." "1,000 Umbrellas" is about how hard it is for one to get over someone else. It evokes the pain felt when one thinks he's recovered, but a single memory can bring all the sor-row back: "And just when I thought that my vista was golden in hue/ One thousand umbrelle's normed to well the umbrella's opened to spoil the view." Side One closes with "Season Cycle", a song about the wonder and sense of rebirth spring brings each year, which provokes Partridge to ask, "Who's pushing the pedals on the season cycle

"Earn Enough For Us," begins the second side of Skylarking. The worries of the can take the humiliation/And hurtful comments from the boss/I'm just praying by the weekend/I can earn enough for us." "Big Day" is a searing comment on marriage, asking one can make it last for a lifetime. "Mermaid Smiled" a boyhood memory, looking back to a time of carefree days and innocence. "The Man Who Sailed Around His Soul" is Salled Around His Soult" is abelinagary, a soult may be about a man looking into his own heart, staring at his sins and misdeeds; when he finishes, "he sits all alone." "Plying" is about the finishe "Plying" is about the finishe "Plying" is about the finishe were respect when they ode to purification and the end Skylarking is full of sounds and visions. Each song flows into the next, making for an exceptional listening experience. The album was produced by Todd Rundgren and available on Geffen records.

Skylarking through childhood memories, broken hearts, and incredible imagery, XTC wings its way to great music.

by David Healey

"The season's ill./We've lost our summer millionaire/Who seemed to step from an L.L. Bean catalog." Why, here's something that might even ap-peal to Washington College preppies, a reading at the prepries, a reading at the O'Neill Literary House this Saturday night. Robert Lowell (b.3/1/17) will be one of the 23 poets and novelists whose work will be presented. The writers have been chosen as the most important who were orn between February 21 and

March 7, AD. Students will choose a writer, and read a passage or poem from his work. The list includes Edna St. Vincent Millay (b.2/22/1892), Anthony Millay (b.2/22/1892), Anthony Burges (b.2/25/17), John Steinbeck (b.2/27/02), Ring Lardner (b.3/6/1885) and Gabriel Garcia Marquez

(b.3/6/28). If possible, students should inform the coordinator, John Richards, of their plans to read

Richards said, "We found all the novelists, poets, and literary essay writers who had been born between February 21 and March 6, along with four notables who had died during that time. It's a celebration of the arrival of spring with a

He stresses that the reading informal. "Everybody's is informal. "Everybody's welcome to just show up on Saturday with their book in tow, or else we have several anthologies here that can be used." He adds that the idea is to get together and have a lot of fun. "It's just an excuse to get together and have a reading." Students should come with plans to eat, drink, and be merry. The reading will begin at 9:00 p.m.

Cash In At The Bank

The Center for Career given. Paul Richs '64, Director Development and the Department of Business Management are sponsoring a talk for stuare sponsoring a talk for stu-dent job seekers. On Tuesday, March 3, the talk Careers in Banking Opportunities for Liberal Arts Graduates will be of Marketing for Equitable Bank (Baltimore), and Jim Pierne '73, Manager for Equitable Bank, will be speakers. The program will begin at 7 p.m. in Hynson Lounge.

campus calendar

FRIDAY, 27 Drama Production Lydie Breeze Towes Theatre, 8:00 p.m.

Film Series: Salvador Norman James Theatre, 7:30 p.m.

SATURDAY 28 Drama Production Lydie Breeze Tawes Theatre, 8:00 p.m.

Reading O'Neill Literary House, 9:00 n m

Drama Production Lydie Breeze Tawes Theatre, 8:00 p.m.

Film Series: Salvador Norman James Theatre.

Teas & Talks Series O'Neill Literary House, Tea at 4:00 p.m., Talk at

Film Series: Salvador Norman James Theatre, 7:30 p.m.

entertainment

FRIDAY 27 Orchestra on Stage Hosted by Mark Hart. Franck: Symphony in D Berlioz: "Te minor, Berlioz: WGTS-FM 91.9, 3:30 p.m.

Miles Davis

Warner Theatre, D.C. 1-800-233-4050. Starring Richard Thomas. Kennedy Cen Eisenhower Theater.

Info: 254-3776. McCoy Tynes & Freddie Hubbard thru March 1. Georgetown. 337-4141. Shakespeare Theater at the Folger The Winter's Tale, by William Shakespeare. Michael Kahn, director, Thru April 11. 1-202-546-4000.

Loren Kitt, clarinet works by Beethoven, Brahms, Schubert Coolidge Auditorium, Library of Congress, 8:00

SATTIRDAY 28 National Symphony Mozart program conducted by Christopher Hogwood. Also March 3
Kennedy Center Concert Hall, D.C.

SUNDAY 1 The Greg Allman Band The Greg Allman Band and Steve Earle & The Road Ducks Warner Theatre, D.C. 1-800-233-4050.

ENTERTAINMENT

B.A.D. Moves Into No. 10, Upping Street

by Paul Henderson Big Audio Dynamites second album, No. 10 Upping St., is yet another album with something to say. This seems to be the to say. This seems to be the trend in rock and roll and, con-sidering this band's lineage, it is to be expected. Made up of half of the Clash they seem real upset about some things, like America, England, crime, street violence, immigrants, the welfare system, Capitalism in general, and (alternately) police oppression and leniency. What is surprising is the lack of the musical crunch that has always typified the Clash's

Part of the problem is that while the Clash was able to successfully wed their music and their lyrics, B.A.D. has not. Big Audio Dynamite can offer up only the lyrics and some ex-tra musical effects. While they are powerful and vitriolic, we need a bit more on the musical end than telephone convers tions and news reports mixed over a drum machine and a keyboard

I would hate to think that it is just the 80's and an excess of technology that seems to sap technology that seems to sap the musical will from a band. In the listing for the band members on the liner notes we have Don Lett-F.X./voc. F.X.? This band has a member who is responsible solely for special effects? And then there is Sam Sever, who is responsible for the remix and additional beats Aren't there enough beats? Did he go out and buy a new drum machine? This seems to be a long way from the angry young punks in the garages who needed only their anger, a few guitars, and a drum kit. You don't need to be a technician to have passion. Looking at these five men posing on the album cover, you can not help but see them as technicians, clothed in all-white jump suits, and the

their faces seems to be more pose than anything else

No. 10 Upping St. is an album that badly wants to be pas-sionate. The lyrics certainly are passionate, sadly the instrumentation isn't.

The album starts off promising enough with "C'mon Every Beatbox." A song dominated by its big dance beat and its lyrical message: rock and roll is a force for change, for public outcry, and finally — enjoy-ment. Beyond the lines of

"Gonna get wild make like rock and roll"

"C'mon every beat box let's part right now," there are the more political lines. "Gandhi got a shock & he took a vacation/Check the wild life it's a real fascination/Hope they stay in line/Raiders Posse British born but still they're Jamaican/Dialing 999/Salt n' pepper people stirred not shaken." Big sarcasm here. Maybe it would come off better if the album was mixed with more of an ear for the vocals which typically are lost. Fortunately, the lyrics were intunately, the lyrics were in-cluded on the liner notes, other-wise, they almost certainly would have been lost in the overwhelming abundance of news bulletins, telephone calls, and T.V. announcements that clutter up the album.

Maybe this is their point. Maybe Big Audio Dynamite refers not so much to the music they make but to the music that is just there, music that pours unrestrained into the violence is not necessarilly the streets from all sources. They immigrants, but that the police certainly are not afraid of aren't making arrests because making great use of these ef- the prisons are to full and the fects and they make no effort violence is all causes by the to avoid using obscure English violence of the American and Jamaican colloquialisms, movie industry. Their hearts, and allusions to politicians and at least, are in the right place.

Big Audio Dynamite moves plenty of electronic equipment into No. 10.

"Beyond the Pale" is a song about immigration, a subject near and dear to the band's heart. London is a great interracial city, and Strummer and Jones, Clash members and the chief writers for B.A.D., make this very obvious. "I want everybody to know this/I want everybody to hear/Immigration built this country." Apparently it is also the cause for work of the violence that is much of the violence that is racking the country.

"Limbo the Law" suggests that the cause of the street

"Since they ain't got no room in the county hole/Gonna get wild make like rock and roll. The production of the album leaves much to be desired. This is surprising because it is produced by Strummer and Jones. who worked in the production veteran producer Johns. Their affection for use of the media in their is obvious, what is harde the absence fathom is guitars and the burying of vocals under the smother blanket of percusal keyboards and synthesis Jones' voice is not perfect, he is not singing the Que English, but you should be to get the gist of it. Big Audio Dynamite ca em to summon up the en to flesh out their songs wit energy they call for. seldom do they "get wild make like rock and roll" pardon the pun, that's toob

> Miscegenation Talk

> Rescheduled

Last week's Literary H talk Kinship: Miscegenate Kent County, by Vincent son, was cancelled because Monday's snowstorm. It been rescheduled for Mondarch 2. Tea will be serve 4:00 p.m., talk at 4:30

Chestertown Movie Theater

Little Shop Of Horrors

Feb. 27-March 5

778-15

Romping In Pig Heaven

ture and social commentary, Salvador, journalist Richard Boyle (James Wood) romps his way through the war-torn country of El Salvador. His sidekick in his adventures is Doctor Rock, "Doc" (Jim Belushi)-an unemployed disc jockey. Director Oliver Stone filmed most of Salvador on location in Mexico, and a few scenes in the United States.

Boyle heads out for El Salvador after his wife leaves him. Along the way he is stopped for speeding, then arrested for his revoked license and collection of parking tickets. He money, and convinces him to go to "Pig Heaven," a paradise where drugs are cheap, the surf is up, and virgins are seven dollars, or two for twelve

They cruise down in Boyle's red convertible. What they find red convertible. What they find at the Salvadoran border is a roadblock, and while there they watch a man burn to death. The two are captured by soldiers and witness the shooting of a student who does not have proper identification papers. The film goes on like this with one emergency and this, with one emergency and horror following another, and

OLD WHARF INN ON THE CHESTER RIVER

FOOT OF CANNON ST CHESTERTOWN, MD. 21620

301-778-3566

Boyle coming through it all in his uniform of Hawaiian shirt and sunglasses. The New Yorker says, "It's chaos, and Boyle's own scurviness and corruption-his craziness-en-able him to function in it."

Part of the Washington College Film Series, Salvador can be seen Friday, Sunday, and Monday evenings at 7:30 p.m. in Norman James Theatre.

HIRING TODAY! TOP PAY! WORK AT HOME

No Experience Needed

Write Cottage Industries 14071/2 Jenkins, Norman, Oklahoma 73069

Friday, Sunday, Monday

7:30 p.m.

Norman James Theatre

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 20

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, March 6, 1987

tet Hopkins lays down the line for five other shy partiers in the emierperformance of Shy at Parties last Saturday night. With Hopkins bass, drummer Jim Doran backs up Noel Breger on guitar, Draw urn on vocals and Todd Karr on keyboards.

Tougher Requirements Adopted

night the faculty voted to stiffen graduation re quirements. No student may now submit more than six "D's" out of 32 courses for graduation. No more than two of those may be in his or her major. Currently, the limit is ten "D"s, no more than two from courses in the major.

At the same meeting, the faculty voted not to start using a minimum grade point average as a graduation re-quirement, which was also pro-posed by the Admissions and Academic Standing Commit-

A third vote disallowed grades transferred in from other institutions to be calculated into a student's GPA. Courses will be counted, but the grades received in them will not be. The rationale was to avoid giving advantage or disadvantage to students who may have taken courses at other institutions with different grading standards over students at WC who must carry all of their "mistakes" with them in their GPA

The motions, all carried by divided votes, were grand-fathered so that they will not affect any student presently enrolled at the College.

Although the Committee has hattough the Committee has been considering changing the way in which students are evaluated for graduation for over a year, the vote Monday night involved surprisingly lit-tle discussion. Gary Clarke, Chairman of the Admissions and Academic Standing Com-mittee, said: "Just thinking about the change, one suspects it would have far-reaching ef-fects on students. At this point, I don't think the impact of this six "D" limit is known . .

'I think many have recognized for a long time that our standards for graduation needed to be raised," said Registrar be raised," said Registrar David Butters. "We're not talking about our academic standards, we're talking about our graduation standards," he explained. "I think our academic standards are much higher than other schools, course by course, but the transcript doesn't show that."

For example, under the cur-rent system a student could take 35 courses and present 32 of them for graduation.
Twenty-two of them consist of a few A's and B's, and a preponderance of C's; 10 of them are D's — two of which are in his or her major. The other three that the student are F's. Under the previous regulations, the student would be eligible for graduation, but hypothetically his cum-mulative GPA may be below a

The Committee initially proposed to the faculty that no more than eight "D"s be submitted for graduation and that the student's GPA must be above 1.8. "I don't understand why you'd need both (grades and a GPA requirement)," said Dr. Nate Smith, Chairman of the History Department

"It (the proposal) wasn't logical, and it wasn't sim-ple...Either grades or Several faculty members, like Smith, who proposed the new six-D limit, preferred to new six-D limit, preferred to use grades to evaluate a stu-dent's eligibility for gradua-tion. "The GPA is only necessary for translating grades for other purposes," said Dr. Martin Kabat, Finan-cial Officer and lecturer. "It's useless because it can men useless because it can mean whatever we want it to — the (numerical) value of a C-(1.67) could be changed." For example, the College could stop using pluses and minuses and redefine a C to be equal to a 2.00, as most schools do.

continued on page 4

Judiciary Code Revisions Amended By Faculty

by Thomas Schuster

ciary Code were approved he faculty Monday night er amendments concerning eligibility of students to positions on the newly ed Student Conduct Coun-(SCC) and press coverage bearings were added. The replaces what was ial Board.

s drafted by the Student Af-Committee chaired by luan Lin, the revisions had lired all members of the to be "junior or senior a minimum GPA of 2.5 at time he/she takes office. student Senate, which ewed the revisions prior to faculty, affirmed the refaculty, affirmed the re-faculty, affirmed the re-rement that SCC officers to a junior or a senior with a GPA, but voted to allow all positions to be open to regardless of their GPA. The faculty reinstated the 2.5

requirement for all SCC members. Edward Maxcy, Associate Dean of Students and member of the Student Affairs memoer of the students are the faculty members who pushed for a GPA requirement. "A student judicial body should have the best students the institution can offer - one way to recognize the best is by GPA.

SCC Chairman Chris Fascetta believes that the 2.5 GPA requirement will prevent equal student representation on the Council. "That's my only concern." he stated.

SGA review of the revisions also resulted in a 15-8-3 vote by the Senate that denied The Elm access to the results of judicial precedings. Fascetta told the Senate that the Judicial Board was of the opinion that disclosing such information to the press was a violation of the Buckley Amendment, a 1974 piece of federal legislation piece of federal legislation designed to protect the privacy of students and their parents. Later in the evening the faculty voted overwhelmingly to overturn the recommendations of the Senate and the Student Affairs Committee and allow press coverage of all judicial proceedings except for deliberation.

During discussion of th amendment, Lin told the faculty that he believed that having a reporter present during hear-ings would be "inhibiting" to witnesses. "The press," he said, "should serve the needs of the community better by doing its own investigations."

Dr. Martin Kabat, who raised the issue of including The pressure against witnesses giv-ing testimony "is one of the burdens we have to bear as citizens." He later stated that on the one hand, we demand ed that The Elm be there to cover the necessary details for publicity, and on the other hand, to prevent the abuse of power.

Fascetta reacted to the inclusion of the press at SCC proceedings by saying "that the on-ly negative thing that might come out is that students might be inclined not to say something. The deterrent facsomething. The deterrent fac-tor I agree with-I've always agreed with that." He went on to say that the administration and the faculty made the

"legal decision-or the poten-tial legal decision" regarding the public names of students charged and whether or not this involves a violation of the Buckley amendment.

According to Lin, the members of the Student Af-fairs Committee "all agreed that The Elm should have ac-cess to the decision and the names--and most of the evidence." The main concern of the committee, he said, was whether or not "it was more comfortable for the students to have a closed hearing.

Parliamentarian Charged

inal charges this week deliberately pulling a false deliberately pulling a false e alarm on Friday, bruary 27 at approximately 15 a.m. Post, who serves as dy State Fire Marshall Parliamentarian for the SGA, 1rd Powell pressed had a preliminary hearing all charges this week to fund the properties of the propert years in prison or both, ac-cording to Powell.

to do to tell people that that to do to tell people that that alarm is there to save their lives," said Gerry Roderick, Director of Security. "Other false alarms are being in-vestigated," added Powell, "and charges are pending."

INSIDE: Letters To The Editor.....p.2 SCC Hearings.....p.4 Spring Break.....p.5 Swimming/B-ball.....p.6 Book Review.....p.8

OPINION

Editorial

Strengthening The System

When the faculty overwhelmingly voted to amend the proposed SJB revisions and allow the presence of an Elm reporter at student judicial proceedings Monday night, it was a great victory for the student press at Washington Cultivation of the student press at Washington Cultivation in the College community who, from now on, will be fully informed of what the newly designated Student Conduct Council is doing. The student of ticlais of the judicial system disagree with the The student of ticlais of the judicial system disagree with the the student of the stude fects and ultimately strengthen the system.

The two hearings covered in this issue will provide the readers of The Elm with an indication of how SCC proceedings will be covered from now on. These detailed descriptions of campus judicial proceedings should not only result in a greater awareness by students of the judicial system, but should also result in greater respect for an daherence to the rules of the institution which the SCC seeks to enforce. At a fum when a few acts of vandalism have recently jeopardized the privileges of the entire student body both on campus and off, a greater awareness is exactly what is needed. We are fortunate that students will now have the opportunity to develop this awareness of judicial process on their campus by reading The Elm.

The issue of publishing the names of students charged, which

The issue of publishing the names of students charged, which has come up again and again with regard to the Buckley Amendment, was temporarily resolved as well with the decision to allow names to be printed. There is no judicial precedent regarding publishing the names of students who are tried by campus judiciaries at present. Until a ruling is handed down in federal court on this subject, students involved in campus judicial proceedings at Washington College will continue to see their names printed in The Elm. This practice is integrat to judicial process in a democratic society— the same process to which our campus judicial system aspires.

The ultimate result of the publicity given judicial proceedings and the increased student awareness accompanying it will be one of crime deterrence on campus. Fines, community service, and probation are reasonably effective deterrents by themselves, but when coupled with newspaper coverage and accountability to the community of one's peers, the possible results of committing crimes on campus become much more formidable. The real value of press coverage of judicial proceedings will be fewer incidents of unacceptable student behavior and, consequently, more pleasant lives for all of us.

Washington College Elm

Thomas M. Schuster
... Audra M. Philippon
... Andrea Kehoe
... David Healey
... Christine Wiant
J.M. Fragomeni Editor-in-chief
News Editor
Features Editor
Arts/Entertainment Editor
Sports Editor
Photography Editor

Managing Editor
National Advertising Manager
Local Advertising Manager
Circulation Manager Alison Shorter Michelle Royal Mariella Ruiz William Faust

The film in the official student menospaper of Weahington Cellege. The film is he official student menospaper of Weahington Cellege. The film is published werey Friday during the excelent year with the occupant of vaccious and exam week.

Editorials are the responsibility of the Editoria-cicket Signed columns. Editorials are the responsibility of the Cellectric Cellectric Signed Cellectric Cel

The Erro's business and editorial office is located in the Queen Anne lounge, found on the first floor of the Queen Anne's House dormitory. Business hours are 7.00 p.m. to 9.00 p.m. Tuesdays and 7.00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. Wednesdays. The office phone number is (301) 778-2800, extension 321.

Food Fights

To The Editor: Picture the scene: It's six o'clock on Friday night. My sister, who was on her first visit to Washington College, had already eaten dinner at Burger King. I was late from crew practice and had not eaten when she arrived. I asked her to come to the Dining Hall with me so we could talk while I ate. When we arrived at the dining hall, I explained th situation to the numbers lady and she seemed to have no problem letting my sister in. While I was getting my tray and food; the numbers lady quietly sneaked off to tell on me to the call the manager Sharon. She accosted me, arms folded and with an accusing look on her face as if I had just beaten up a crippled child. She then rudely proceded to tell me what I could or could not do about the situation of my sister being "illegally" in the dining hall. I had two choices, pay $5.75 (for a plate of fries and a cold cut sub?) or have my sister wait outside. It's Dining Hall policy,

Well I did not know, and I think it is ludicrous for us to to pay for guests who don't want food. I proposed this suggestion to Sharon, and her reply was that the Dining Hall staff can't trust students to oversee their own guests. I think that if a college can have an Honor Code, then maybe a Dining Hall Code can be set up. This way, we the students, can be entrusted to not let our un-paid guests eat, and the

CAMP COUNSELORS NEEDED

NOW HIRING Echo Hill Camp on the Chesapeake. (301) 348-5800

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR 'cafeteria managers''

not have to watch over us like hawks anymore I have a friend, Geoff Girard, who has had a "cafeteria manager" take his food away from him because a certain female manager did not think he had run his card through the computer. It turns out that she was wrong. Another friend, Gerry Peden, was refused admittance by a male "cafeteria manager" because his I.D. picsupposedly did not quite look like him anymore. I per-sonally can't see a difference in his face from his I.D. card picture. As for the incredibly rude treatment we all get by some of the cafeteria staff, have two suggestions: in the future they should please try to remember who pays their salaries, and if they don't like working in the Dining Hall, then find other employment where their attitude will go unnoticed and accepted. I am not saying that all of the cafeteria staff are bad, bitter workers, just a few of them.

By the way, my sister en joyed her $5.75 glass of juice. Stefan Strein

Judgemental Professor

I am writing in reference to a comment made by Bob Day in an interview with the March publication of the Collegian. He states of the few respectable campus novelists inter-viewed in the article entitled "A Novel Approach" that 'They don't wear their agonie: on their sleeves...they're not playing the role of the writer." In the least, this statement

> Few Spare Hours? Receive/forward mail from home! Uncle Sam works hard - you pocket hundreds honestly! Details, send selfaddressed, stamped envelope seems to imply that there a some writers on this camp about whom Mr. Day thinks can make judgemental reco mendations on a person level. At worst it is a statem at which any other writer campus could take offense. any case, it is an immature a empty accusation which w thrown at the writers' community in general.

BEDUYA. Box 17145 Tucson, AZ 85731

I would like to be made familiar with the criteria by which Mr. Day judges whether or not somebody is "wearing their agonies on their sleen or "playing the role of t writer." And I would certain like to know by which author Mr. Day feels he is qualified make this judgement

Sincerely Patrick Roy

Cheers!

Three cheers for Melis Filling, Shelly Jarvis and Mat Riner for their views on B drinking/violence proble (Campus Voices, Feb. 20). Let's send Kevin Quinta Robert D. F. Krumme a their likes back home to lea some manners.

W. A. Buckingham
Class of '41

STORE CLERK

See Bill Lum Georgetown Yacht Basin, Inc. Georgetown, MD 301-648-5112

Amity Bakery and Coffee Shop

Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies, cial Occasion Cakes On Orde Breaklast 5 A.M.-11 A.H

Lunch - Soups & Sandwich Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

Mon.-Sat. 5 A.M.-5 P.M. Sunday 5 A.M.-2 P.M.

Does Publishing The Names Of Students Charged With Crimes ISSUE: On Campus Serve As A Crime Deterrent?

Brian Parsons Freshman Virginia Beach, Virginia

Sure. I think so. If I was in a similar situation, I wouldn't want my name printed and I would think twice about what I was doing or what might hap-

Campus Voices

Kim Coulbourne Senior Federalsburg, Maryland

"If they are willing to commit the crime I think that they should be willing to have their name printed Yes, it will be a deterrent because they don't want to see their name in print where everyone can see

Emily Lott Freshman Stanton, Virginia

"I don't think it deters the crime because same people commit see people get their names printed and all they do is laugh about it."

Tom Johnson Sophomore Alexandria, Virginia

"I think it probably could, but having their names in the paper is embarrassing and the disciplinary action should be handled behind closed doors.

Cathy Beck Baltimore, Maryland

"I think that there is something to be said for 'the public's right to know,' but you run the risk, at a school this size, of turning sensational."

by Michele Balze

The Show They Didn't Want You To See

by Dr. Susan L. M. Huck Here we go, ten years into the occupation. Amerika is governed by a pair of KGB of-ficers described by creator Donald Wyre as "intelligent, witty, and strongly humanistic." In short, your basic Lib fantasy of the sen-stive, caring Soviet state security nolice. security police.

Yet life is dreary, people are dispirited. Out of the gulag blinks Kris Kristofferson, understandably hammered down. Every character assures us that this former presidential candidate has enormous charisma.

You think you see it coming.
The humanists of the KGB will somehow join forces with Kris to save us. Wrong. Kris is a loser. He is passive, always needing to be rescued and cared for. He has no plan, no organization, and never touches a weapon. During the climactic action, he is lying on his face in a prison stockade in-to which he has led half his force. He inspired the populace by being allowed to shout "America!" or by reciting the Pledge of Allegiance over facilities provided by the occupation authorities. In the grand finale, after the other half of the townsfolk have been magically armed and have easily defeated an armored orce of professionals, he is about to sing the national an-them "a couple of times," on TV. This ought to rouse the nation, right'

Wrong again. A puppet-force American National Guard general shoots him, dashing the nation's hopes. Kris is buried with a saddened KGB general in attendance. We are still defeated, occupied, divided and demoralized after having learned what every con-queror tries to teach — "resistance is futile."

When I asked ABC why they had an American general save us from resurgence, I was told that Donald Wrye "thought that's what would happen."

Amerika's real effectiveness lay in depicting ordinary Americans receiving a sample of what the Communists have dished out to billions of people 1917. American collaborators running puppet governments, gulags, schools, and "psychiatric hospitals." Our real-life collaborators were enraged. They don't like this kind of attention kind of attention.

So this basically dull, defeatist program became "controversial." There were amusing shrieks of outrage from the United Nations. The Soviets came on as wounded innocents who wouldn't dream of conquering and oppressing anyone. Within my lifetime, Communists have killed more people than any other gang in the history of the human race. Anti-Communism would seem the only prudent attitude, but both Communists and Liberals disagree.

Most of the killing comes after effective resistance has ended. The well-known "consolidation phase" involves the liquidation of known, liquidation of known, suspected, or potential opposition, and the broad-scale terrorizing of the population.

In terms of sheer numbers, the general population takes the bulk of the casualties. Probably ninety percent of those murdered by Communists in my lifetime have died sniveling, truthfully, that they had never done anything against the Communists. Which is why the Communists were in a position to murder them

Survivors and their children are enslaved. The Communists hope it lasts forever. Liberals cheerfully accept and fiercely defend that rule.

critic of bath Amerika, protested the lack of any mention of the bloody consolidation phase. Robert Halperin, of the grotesquely misnamed Committee for Na-tional Security' responded. This Committee does not want Americans to have anti-Communist thoughts, nor to have a defense against Soviet missiles. Mr. Halperin's retort began with the priceless phrase, "Aside from the blood-program in progress. It is: a) external encirclement, b) internal demoralization, and c) nuclear blackmail - intended to nail the coffin shut. To be deprived of nuclear blackmail would inconvenience the Soviet government, so of course it ob-jects to SDI. So do such Jects to SDL So do such American liberal groups as the Committee for National Security, whose other goal is to counter, or even prohibit, "fear-mongering" about Communist activities and objec-tives. One has the distinct impression that some Americans believe themselves exempt from the bloodbath by having made themselves invaluable.

With Fee Option checking you can get at your money 24 hours a day. Nights, too.

MoneyStation UnionTrust Bank

0101010 0101010 0101010 0101010

IOHN O CUSTOMER

MOST

In addition to featuring unlimited check-writing, noon, or the middle of the night. Even after hours. Just free checks, no minimum balance requirements, and all at 55 a month charge, you can also have free use of all #88-d051 or fall #80-d051 cities in Maryland. our 24-hour banking machines Anytime, morning. Monday through Friday, 9 am to 4-30 pm.

UnionTrust Bank A Signet®Bank

Washington College Chestertown: Kent Plaza Shopping Center, 778-2900

Faculty Stiffens Graduation Requirements

Others would have preferred using just a minimum GPA requirement. The registrar said don't use the GPA." GPA's are already used internally to determine class rank, Dean's departmental awards, etc. Students also need GPAs for external purposes to apply to graduate schools, summer jobs, transfer course, and the Still others, like the members of the Committee, would have preferred to use both minimum GPA and a limit on the number of un-limit on the number of un-satisfactory grades.

Regardless, the new ruling for graduation will go into ef-fect for the Class of 1991, next year's freshmen. "With the change in requirements from ten to six D's," said the Registrar, "as much as 10 per-cent of the students from the previous five years would not have graduated when they did had the six-D rule been in ef-

Kabat and others, however do not believe the six-D limit too strict. "We're not preventing people from graduating we're just making sure that when they graduate that they have a learned a minimum amount," he said. "Just smellthe textbook would enough to give you a "D"

The new rulings regarding the changes in graduation re quirements and transfer grades have raised several unresolved issues that the Admissions and Academic Stan ding Committee will have to consider. First, the in-consistency between the grade requirement for graduation and the GPA system used for internal reasons still exists.

The hypothetical incident above where a student may have a GPA below the equivalent of a "D" is still eligible for graduation. "How does that look to oth schools?" the Registrar asks

George Spilich, man of the Psychology Depart ment, raised a related point during the faculty meeting. don't like the idea of submit-ting your best 32 courses for graduation," students graduation," students should be accountable for all of their work. Incidentally, "F"s which cannot be submitted for graduation and "D"s that may or may not be submitted have been permanently ed on a student's recorded transcript. They are calculated into his or her cummulative

This raises the second issu should "F"s be included into a student's GPA if he or she retakes the same course and passes it the second time? Clarke asks the third ques-"Is this change in

of the stairs, discovered the

During testimony, a second witness, David M. Sammataro the Coffee House. According to Sammataro, neither he nor plex five minutes later. Acnot see any paint or broken glass while in Reid Hall. Gray, who matched the

The vote not to accept th

Students from Chesapeake Community College, Prince George's Community College, Wesley College, and Ann Arundel Community College

may apply to WC under this program, and if accepted, up to 64 credits, regardless of

"My interpretation of this is that we must accept everything," explained But-ters. "We must accept the course if it has a passing grade is a passing

course content and a "D" ist be allowed to transfer in prove the work being done at Washington College?" agreements, which requires; year's notice, or the Colleg would have to renegotiate th would have to renegouste us agreements, changing the clause to read that only those with grades "C-" or grades for courses transferred into WC may violate legal agreements, called Direct Transfer Agreements, the Col-lege maintains with four above may be accepted. Cur rently the College does accept

"D''s from transfers,
However, few students apply
under the Direct Transfer rently the College does acce Maryland community colleges. Students from Chesapeake Agreement in the first place Or possibly this is a moot point now if students transfer in "D"s since the College will only be including grades eamed at Washington College in a student' GPA. No one is sure.

I think we may have done this (the votes) too suddenly and without enough considera-tion," said Kabat moments after the six-D vote was counted during the faculty meeting. Kabat in fact moved to reconsider the vote; the faculty denied it, on a 24-21 count not to reconsider

Either the College would have to dissolve the transfer quirements really going to im-Students Found Guilty In First SCC Hearings

by Tom Schuster

The newly designated Student Conduct Council found two students guilty as charged Tuesday during the first he ings held after revisions in the student judicial system were approved by the faculty earlier In the first hearing.

Washington College v. Carter Boatner, the defendant who appeared before the Council for the second time in three weeks. was charged with reckless driving and destruction of College property. Boatner pleaded no contest during proceedings, was found guilty and received a $25 fine, Disciplinary Proba-tion, and 20 hours community

According to court records Boatner's car was found stuck Boatner's car was found stuck in the mud on the practice lacrosse field the morning of Tuesday, February 10 by Associate Director of Athletics Dennis Berry. The car, which left wheel ruts in the field before becoming immobilized, was identified as Boatner's after the defendant arrived on the scene with a tow truck to retrieve it. Berry questioned Boatner at this time, learned that it was his vehicle, and fil-

Washington College v. Robert H. Gray, the defendant was charged with vandalism and the destruction of College property. After a lengthy deliberation, the council found Gray guilty and required him, under the supervision of the Maintenance Department, to re-paint a stairwell in Reid Hall, pay for the paint, and have the job completed by March 23. Gray stated that he will appeal the decision

The defendant, who was ac cused of throwing paint on the stairwell wall and smashing a bottle inside of Reid Hall dur ing the early morning hours of Sunday, February 1, contested the charges brought against him. The defendant was positively identified as the in dividual leaving the scene of the incident by R.A. Callie Jo Sessions, who testified at the hearing

According to Session's testimony, she was awakened that night by noises outside her second floor room. While in-vestigating the noise, she heard someone descending the stairs and the sound glass object being smashed. Sessions walked to the bottom paint on the wall and saw a Gray, leaving the building. She called to the individual and asked him to return to the building and identify himself. Sessions stated that the individual responded by giving a "fake" name and hurrying from the scene. The R.A. returned to her room and notified Security.

told the council that he had entered Reid Hall with Gray that evening after they had left wearing a blue jacket, was ap-Gray had any glass containers prehended by a security officer in their possession and that they split up in the building to visit separate acquaintances. Sammataro stated that he in Caroline shortly afterward The defendant was then positively identified by Ses-sions as the person seen leavfound no one home, left ing Reid. message, and exited the building without Gray, who joined him in the main lobby of Gray told the council that he the Queen Ann/Caroline com-

had found no one home at the room he visited and then pro ceeded to leave the building The defendant stated that the description given Security could fit many male students and denied any involvement in

description given by Sessions Surgeon General On AIDS travenous drug use. Of these,

AIDS: The Present Situation The number of people estimated to be infected with the AIDS virus in the United ates is about 1.5 million. All of these individuals are assumed to be capable of spreading virus sexually (heterosexually or homosexually) or by sharing needles and syringes available at the dinner meal to have your daily food choices

an estimated 100,000 to 200,000 will come down with AIDS-Related Complex (ARC). It is difficult to predict the number who will develop ARC or AIDS because symptoms sometimes take as long as nine years to show up. With our present knowledge, scientists predict that 20 to 30 percent of those infected with the AIDS virus will develop an illness that fits an accepted definition of AIDS within five years. The number of persons known to have AIDS in the United States to date is over 25,000; of these, about half have died of the disease. Since there is no cure, the others are expected to also eventually die from their disease. continued on page 5

APPLICATIONS ARE CURRENTLY BEING ACCEPTED FOR THE POSITION OF

PEGASUS EDITOR

For the 1987-'88 academic year. To apply, contact Arian Ravanbakhsh Ext. 320, or see Dr. Colin Dickson, Chairman of the Board of Publications

Application Deadline Is March 23

APPLICATIONS ARE CURRENTLY BEING ACCEPTED FOR THE POSITION OF

ELM EDITOR

For the 1987-'88 academic year. To apply, contact Tom Schuster, Ext. 321, or see Dr. Colin Dickson, Chairman of the Board of Publications Application Deadline Is March 23

Mom's Cookie Jar

March is National Nutrition with National Nutrition Month . ners, the meal is free to boar Month. Upon your return from are: Citrus Day, March 23; Spring Break, the W.C.D.S. will have nutritional informa-Grape Day, March 25; and Cheese Day, March 27. guests. tion displayed throughout the Main Dining Room. On Thursday, March 19, "The Eat Smart" computerized nutrition program from Pillsbury will be

On Tuesday, March 17, the W.C.D.S. will sponsor a St. Patrick's Day Dinner. The menu will feature: Grilled Deli Reuben's corn beef sand wiches, French Fries, Steamed Mixed Vegetables, Hot Rolls, and Hot Apple Pie. As with other "special events" dinanalyzed. Other special event days scheduled in conjunction ding students and $5.75 for While reading through the March, 1987 publication of the University of California Berkeley — Wellness Letter, I came across an interesting like to share with you. A 1.5 ounce chicken or turkey frank has an average of 40% less fat than one made from beef or pork. Nevertheless, it still con-tains about 8 grams of fat (providing almost 70% of its 105 calories). All franks are high in sodium - 450 to 650 millgrams per hot dog.

I hope everyone has an enjoyable and relaxing Spring Break. As for me, it's work as usual. Hopefully there will be time to try out a few new cookie recipes, including one I molasses crinkles. See you in two weeks -

Newborn calves, tattoos, art museums:

Spring Breaks Out For Students

by Jenniter M. Harrison Spring Break/spring brak/- according to college students, a period of time too short to hold a job, but long enough to get a tan, drink a lot, party, and relax. For Washington College and relax. For Washington College students, this time will be spent in a multitude of ways. Some students will migrate to the Spring Break capital Florida – while others choose diferent destinations, or just stay here at

Many students going away next week are headed for the South and the sun. Freshmen Chris Brower and Dean Turkalj are headed for Florida. Both have relatives who live near the beach to avoid the typical rat-trap that only a student can appreciate. Brower plans to take it easy on the beach while Turkalj intends to "cook meals for my it's one less thing for her to do Another student migrating south is Mona Brinkley. Brinkley calls Chilhowie, Virginia "going down

'good country cooking" and hopefully have the chance to name some newborn calves. This sophomore will be glad for the chance to "get back to her roots.

Gras. Along the way they plan to drink at the best bars listed by Robert Day from Greensborough, North Carolina to the city itself. In addition to acquir-ing new tattoos in Nashville, they will stop at graduate schools to drop off copies of the Washington College

"I'll go to Santa Cruz, get a tan, and make you all jealous."

Paul Henderson, a senior anticipating his comprehensives looks at his break as a chance to "stay as far away from Florida as possible." He is travelling to New Orleans with juniors Mike Rudin and Tom Schuster. They want to experience the city known as "The New Bohemia," and see what happens there four days after Mardi Reviewand look for a place for Henderson to go to school next year.

Freshmen Mariella Ruiz and Kristen Johnson, are flying west for their breaks. Ruiz, who is visiting her mother in California, sums up her intentions for the week by saying, "I'll go to Santa Cruz, get a tan, and make you hand, will visit family in New Mexico. She's hoping to ski in Taos, and travel west from her uncle's log cabin to the

Some students plan to brave the winter in the northern states. Freshman Pat Devine hopes to ski at Hunter Mountain, although he doesn't "know where it is" and will probably "know where it is and was probable end up "in a cheap motel where all the whores hang out." Bill Good, also a freshman, has no definite plans during his stay in Boston, but intends "to be spontaneous." Junior Jeremiah Foster, on the other hand, has a schedule booked with painting and visiting art museums in Philadelphia.

As the rest of us take a break from Washington College, and scatter across the country, Mary Riner will be staying behind. She is looking forward to living in Professor Robert Day's house while he is away "to take care of Amos," the Literary House dog.

continued from page 4

AIDS

The majority of infected antibody positive individuals who carry the AIDS virus show no disease symptoms and many may not come down with the disease for many years, if

No Risk From Casual Contact There is no risk of non-sexual infection in most of the situalives. We know that family members living with individuals who have the AIDS virus do not become infected except through sexual contact There is no evidence transmission (spread) of AIDS virus by everyday contact even though these family members shared food, towels, cups, razors, even toothbrushes and kissed each other.

Knowing the facts about AIDS can prevent the spread of the disease. Education of those who risk infecting themselves or infecting other people is the only way we can stop the spread of AIDS. People must be responsible about their sexual behavior and must avoid the use of illicit intravenous drugs and needle sharing. We will describe the types of behavior that lead to infection

Risks

Although the initial discovery was in the homosexual community, AIDS is not a disease only of homosexuals. AIDS is found in heterosexual people as well. AIDS is not a black or white disease. AIDS is not just a male disease. AIDS is found in women; it is found in children. In the future AIDS will probably increase and spread among people who are not homosexual or intravenous drug abusers in the same manas other sexually transmitted diseases like syphilis and Sex Between Men Men who have sexual rela-ons with other men are especially at risk. About 70 per-cent of AIDS victims throughout the country are homosexuals and bisexuals. This percentage probably will decline as heterosexual transmission increases.

Infection results from a sexual relationship with an infected

Multiple Partners The risk of infection increases according to the number of sexual partners one has, male or female. The more partners you have, the greater the risk of becoming infected with the AIDS virus.

How Exposed

Although the AIDS virus is found in several body fluids, a person acquires the virus during sexual contact with an in-fected person's blood or semen and possibly vaginal secre-tions. The virus then enters a person's blood stream through their rectum, vagina or peni

Small (unseen by the naked ye) tears in the surface lining of the vagina or rectum may occur during insertion of the penis, fingers or other objects, thus opening an avenue for entrance of the virus directly into the blood stream; therefore, the AIDS virus can be passed from penis to rectum and vagina and vice versa without a visible tear in the tissue or the presence of blood.

Couples who maintain mutually faithful monogamous relationships (only one continuing sexual partner) are pro-tected from AIDS through sexual transmission. If you have been faithful for at least five years and your partner has been faithful too, neither of you is at risk. If you have not been faithful, then you and your partner is at risk which also puts you at risk. This is true for both heterosexual and homosexual couples. Unless it is possible to know with absolute certainty that neither you nor your partner is not car-carrying the virus of AIDS, you must use protective behavior. Absolute certainty means not only that you and your partner have maintained a mutually monogamous sex-ual relationship, but it means that neither you nor your partner has used illegal in-travenous drugs.

Editor's Note:
Please follow the Surgeon General's report on AIDS in next issue where he outlines how to protect yourself from the AIDS virus

Coffee House Lives Up To Name

by Tony Caliguiri

Under the direction of the Alcohol Task Force Committee, the Coffee House will implement a number of new policies regarding the availability of alcoholic availability of alcoholic beverages, effective after Spr-ing Break.

The meeting of the Task Force, which took place in Hynson Lounge on February 26, consisted of a number of ad ministrators, faculty, and students. As a result of the meeting, three specific instructions were given to the Coffee House/Student Center Management. Employees were made aware of the changes through a memo from Jeff through a memo from DeMoss, Student Center Direc-

First, "no six packs of beer or wine will be sold to go, (they will) still sell bottled beer by the glass from behind the bar The second instruction was to designate two week nights when no alcoholic beverages would be served. According to the memo, "Fancy coffees and herbal tea nite will be established on Monday and serval tea nite will be established on Monday and Wednesday of every week after Spring Break; no alcoholic beverages will be served at this time." Finally, students will be limited to one guest from outside the College at major social functions in the student center. The guest must be signed in and the student host must take full responsibility for his/her first established five years ago for the purpose of evaluating campus social life, has been reactivated and plans to meet on the second Thursday of each

The Student Affairs Office applauds this effort...the original idea of the Coffee House was not to be a package store, but a social center," said Associate Dean Maxcy of the Student Affairs Office. Maxcy pointed out that the actions taken by the Center are to the advantage of all students since "the recent actions by a few gives the Board (of Visitors and Governors) reason to ques-tion the rationale for paying high insurance premiums to maintain a liquor license for about 120 students who are of age."

Maxcy further pointed out that a loss of the College's liquor license would result in dry Greek organizations, faculty functions, and campus social events.

IDEAL OPTICAL Still Pond, Md.

348-5586

SOFT

CONTACTS

DAILY WEAR

$97.00

EXTENDED &

TINTED WEAR

$12900

CONTACT

LENSE EXAM

$35

COMPLETE EYE EXAM Regularly $35.00

$1900

With Purchase of Frames or Lens Valid with Coupon

ALL FRAMES LENSES 15%

OFF

Edwin R. Trinks, Optician

One Full Year Guarantee On Glasses & Frames Evening Appointments Available

1 Day Service On Glasses and Contacts Show Your College ID Save Add't. 5%

ington went up against Division I defending champion North Carolina on Sunday, March 1 in their first game of the season. Washington played hard, but as Coach Corcoran put it, "Nort Carolina played like Division I defending champs, putting pressure on us at both ends of the field, d themselves a 21-7 victory. Their first confrontation with a Division I team will be Satur-

Swimmers 12th in M.A.C.

by Carter Boatner Washington College The Washington College Women's Swim team concluded their 1986-87, season with a 12th place finish in the Middle Atlantic Coast Championship (M.A.C.'s) last weekend. The competition was, as coach Berry put it, "...exactly what we wanted it to be. We attained which were to goals qualify and score points." Last season the newly formed team Sports

Calendar

Tuesday 17

Baseball, Delaware State

-3:00 p.m.

Softball, Widener (A)

Lacrosse (men's).

Hopkin's (A)

Lacrosse (women's

Notre Dame-4:00 p.m.

Wednesday 18

Tennis (women's), Anne

Arundel - 3:00 p.m.

Thursday 19

Baseball, Tufts-3:00 p.m

Tennis (men's)

Westchester (A)

Tennis (women's).

Widener(A)

six attempts at the beginning of the season, the future did not look too bright for the young team. Berry felt that the turn-ing point was the Maryland State Championships held several weeks prior to the M.A.C.'s. At the state meet W.C. beat Goucher by 50 points after being defeated by them earlier in a meet which came down to the last event.

During the grueling three day meet - in which the swimmers had to swim in the morning to qualify for the evening finals – there were a number of outstanding performances. Many of the swimmers placed highly in the finals and three records were broken. It was at this point that Berry felt the women were ready to buckle down, get on the track, and win some meets

The team not only wanted to qualify for the M.A.C.'s, they wanted to score points and place in front of other teams. which, for a young program, is not an easy task. Berry realized that the strong showing at the Maryland meet was the turning point of the season. He proved his point when the women went on to win the next four meets by an average of 60

After failing to win a meet in made it clear that there was a statempts at the beginning still a long way to go, and that Gettysburg, the conference winner, was out of their league. Berry is quick to note that the team has progressed rapidly. He gives most of the credit to the gives most of the credit to the administration for supply-ing funds to expand and enhance the program's facilities: a set of bleachers facinities: a set of meachers has been purchased, along with a complete electronic timing system. "Most second year teams don't have what we have," he said. "We are very fortunate and have come a long According to Berry, the experiences of this season will help the team by giving the swimmers returning next year something to look back upon. There is an optimistic feeling about the next season. They have been recruiting and the sure that the team received this season will help draw swimmers for the program in swimmers for the program in the future. Berry feels that the team will move up several places in next year's conference championships, since this year they were only 50 points out of 6th place We have turned the corner on whether or not we will make it as a team," he said. "This is a big question with young

Shoremen Had 'Rewarding' Season

by John Bodnar

"Rewarding" was the word Head Coach Tom Finnegan us-ed to describe the 1986-87 basketball season. The Shoremen's successful season came to a close last Thursday when they lost the semi-final game of the M.A.C. playoffs to Franklin and Mar-playoffs to Franklin and Mar-shall College 85-73.

"Except for a couple of let downs we played a decent game overall," Finnegan said. game overall," Finnegan said.

In the closing minutes of the first half, Franklin and Marshall's Art Mascola hit two three-pointers, giving F & M a six point half time lead 35-29

In the opening minutes of the second half, Franklin and Mar shall increased their lead to 14 points 49-35 with 14:30 remain-ing in the game. The Shoremen fought hard but couldn't catch F&M as they went on to lose 85-"In the second half we made several decent runs," said Finnegan, "but Franklin and Mar-shall shot 20/23 (87%) from the foul line and were 4/10 (40%) from the three point range

On the brighter note, W.C.'s Andy Bauer scored 24 points. Steve Brody totaled 17 points and Freshman Tim Keehan added 13 points Shore Notes:

The Shoremen finished the 1986-87 season with an overall record of 18-6 and were ranked sixth in the Mid-Atlantic Region behind such teams as Widener University (third in the nation for Division III) and Franklin and Marshall College (tenth in the nation for Division III). The Shoremen are 72-29 over the past four seasons.

Said Finnegan, "It was a tremendous accomplishment for such a young team. We accomplished the two goals we set out for in the beginning of the season. We had a winning season, 18-6, and made the M.A.C. playoffs for the seventh onsecutive season

Another highlight in the Shoremen's season was their ten game winning streak—the longest at W.C. since the 1938-

39 season. The Shoremen at 14 out of 17 games. Their to losses were: a three point on time loss to Gettysburg ( lege, a two point loss to Ursi College, and a tough loss third ranked Widener Union

Also, sophomore Andy Bay was selected to first team Middle Atlantic.

Coach Finnegan stressed importance of having a wi ing staff in order to nave aw ning program. "Assista Coaches Mike Hart and B Bessoir played a major rost the development of the tea he said. "Don Chatallier a trainer Tony Dugal devoted lot of their time. Tony kept is team injury free during the team injury free during the tire season. Also our manage and statisticians were a tremely loyal and efficient Erika DelPriore, Laur Brown, Lauri Cassidy and statisticians Lauri Manning did a great jet Added Finnegan, "It takes lot of people to make a tear successful. I'm thankful for it support the team receive from the students and

Stam Drug Co.

215 High Street Chestertown, Maryland 778-3030

- ·Hudson's
- Vitamins Cosmetics
- Russell Stover
- Candy •Soda

W.C. easily advanced to the team SCUBA CLASS BEGINS APRIL 8th

With our professional instructors, you can expect the highest quality instruction. In addition to our entry level scuba classes, our experts teach a wide range of advance and specialty courses. For More Information Stop By or Call: Brian Bishop at the Casey Swim Center, Ext. 438

Mears Pt. Marina Grasonville, Md.

CALYPSO DIVE SHOP

KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA SUN SYSTEM

at

EMILY HAIRDRESSER

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

Hail Mary Insults Christians

by Jenny Eisberg Joon return from a mind-sening, relaxing Spring eak, students will have the portunity to re-lubricate ir analytical thought-boxes, ter seeing French director gan-Luc Godard's controver-Hail Mary is about the Imaculate Conception and rgin Birth, as revealed in the spels of Luke and Matthew: Joseph and Mary story. odard seems to remain ithful in keeping with the blical story. No problem ere. So where does the con-versy lie? odard has chosen to depict story in a 20th century Euroan city; he places the class. Mary (Myriam Roussel) pumps gas at her father's gas station, and plays on a women's basketball team. Joseph (Thierry Rode) is a taxi driver. Gabriel arrives via jet plane to tell Mary of her spiritual blessing

According to the review in The Christian CENTURY, The Christian CENTURY, many European Catholics have protested the film, insisting that Godard "is exploiting Mary, the mother of Jesus" (June 5-12, 1985). Even Pope John Paul II has prested Hail Mary, condemning it as "an insult and affront to Christian faith" (Saturday Review: Sept./Oct. 1985)

According to Richard and Tuesday et Schlokel in his Time review, 16 & 17, at 7:30 the 1985 New York Film James Theatre.

more positively as "a medita-tion on the divine enigma of womanhood as perceived by any man who is both drawn to and excluded from (woman's) secrets" (Oct. 21, 1985).

secrets (UCC. 21, 1905).

My suggestion to the students and community is to see Hail Mary. This film appears to warrant a crowd—whether the crowd be picketers outside the theatre, or in-terested viewers inside the theatre. It will be interesting to see the response that Hail

Mary receives on campus.

Hail Mary is part of the Washington College Film
Series and can be seen Monday and Tuesday evenings, March 16 & 17, at 7:30 p.m. in Norman

Arts Updates

Singing Of Knights And Roses

The rise and fall of the ic of Everythings Coming Roses . This session of the resented by Dr. Ed Political Science

Weissman will discuss the lopment of American coular songs and how music eatre between 1917 and 1987 will give reasons why sicals began and flourished, od why their popularity has od librettists of the Twentieth ntury will be studied, as well as the interrelationship between music, theatre, and society. Weissman added that the talk will include, stuff, sad stuff, and old stuff...

The title of the talk comes from a song in the talk comes from a song in the musical Gypsy. It is ironic for both the musical and the talk because "Everything's Coming Up Roses" is a cheerful, upbeat song in the midst of a gloomy show and a bleak future for the American musical. American musical

The talk will be held at the O'Neill Literary House on Mon-day, March 16. Tea is at 4:00 p.m., Talk at 4:30.

King Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table will be resurrected on stage this weekend when Camelot is per-formed at Kent County High School. Sixty students - about one tenth of the school's enroll-- have rehearsed nine weeks for the performance. An orchestra comprised of both student and community musi-cians will perform the music for this Learner and Lowe

Several Washington College production of the production o

On Tuesday, March 3, the French Club had their first event of

On I useasy, warch 3, the French Libb has their liftst event or the semester in Carolline's third floor lounge. Prospective language floor residents, as well as those interested in French culture, enjoyed a dinner of quiche, saled, and oppted. More events are planned for March and April, including a trip to the Phillip's Art Gallery in Weshington D.C. and receptions for the Film Saries Features: "Vagabond," "Hall Mary," and "Three Men.

designer, and Sylvia Maloney, it as the most lavish high director. Creegan is a student school set that they've ever at the college while the others

57611R04B W Chas Foster] 6 GODZOLBA The DRUNKEN COLLEGE

With a Fee Option checking account your first 17 million checks are free.

After that, there's no charge. There's also no charge so a month. So open your account today You'll run for the first year of your MasterCard* (once you out of money long before you run out of checks, Jusquality). And no charge for using our 24-hour bank-call us about a Fee Option account. In Baltimor ing machines. The only charge is the service fee-a flat call 783-6051 or in Maryland, 1-800-472-1616.

Member FDK . Equal Opportunity Lender

UnionTrust Bank

A Signet® Bank

Washington College Chestertown: Kent Plaza Shopping Center, 778-2900

ENTERTAINMENT

Bright Lights, Short Stories

by David Healey

Jay McInerney, bard of the yuppies, is being upwardly mobile once again as the mobile once again as the mobile once again as the years in the March issues of Esquire and Atlantic Monthly magazines. McInerney has written two novels Bright Lights, Big City, and Samon most recent short stories are as different from each other as they are from McInerney's previous bestseller. Bright Lights, Big City, and the stories and ideas with the book, only "Smoke," the Allantic

"Smoke," the Atlantic Monthly story, resembles this Monthly story, resembles this hedonist lifestyle of a young cocaine-fueled magazine researcher who suddenly finds has life and career reduced to the marriage of Corrine and Russell Callahan and the gradual deterioration of their relationship one summer when the company of the story of the s

The Callahans are no strangers to the yuppie lifestyle of Bright Lights. Corrine is a brokerage house analyst hookerage house analyst house "Certain adjectives became severely dog-eared in the process. The words comfortable, elegant, and the brokers have been been grown as the control of the corrine has become the chief provider, and as the tension between them grows, abe inventionally and the control of the the Callahans have lavish dimner parties, recalling seenes from The Beautiful-and Dammed Late on night, atter Dammed Late on night, atter decide to quit smoking, Says Corrine, "Let's pretend... that something really bad will hapagain." Cigarettes become symbols of passion, for just as they smuff out their last smokes, the problems between flame, however, and Corrine and Russell find themselves breaking their promise to each other and lighting cigarettes to unification of their possible of the tally their dishonesty flares into infidelity on both their parts.

In the tradition of Fitzgerald.

"Reunion" is a far more subtle story, and differs from both Bright Lights and "Smoke." It is is the classic tale of a family reunion, but the reunion of a thoroughly modern middle class family. There is Ginny, the mother whose husband has run away with another woman, Carrotte former heliwoman with the former helibecome a born-again religious freak; her awkward husband Jim; Bunny, the graduating coed who is dating one of her married, middle-aged professors; Mary, the sixteen-year-old who discusses only "horsepower, engine displacement, biceps, and pectorals"; and Tory. Michael finds himself desiring all four of the sisters. Somehow the story seems a twisted version of Woody Allen's Hannah and Her Sisters.

A sentencione, death from a spirite to the most of the format is a first of the first

Jay McInerney, author of the contemporary classic Bright Lights, Big City, gets upwardly mobile this month with his first published fiction

There is tension all around and the story is often ironically humorous. The most powerful conflict, and the most subtle, is between Michael and Tory. At the beginning of the story they are in a graveyard making rubbings of the tombstome, and come across a stone mark-

"THE CHILDREN OF CHARLES AND SARAH.
The surname is unreadable.
EMILY. TWO YEARS,
CHARLES, SEVEN MONTHS.
THE GRANT SEVEN MONTHS.
THE SEVEN

In these two stories and in Bright Lights, sexual relations are openly discussed or pondered by the characters. In Bright Lights, Big City, there is a touching scene in which the lead character comes home to sit with his dying mother. A teetotaler all her life, she has been drugged with cocaine and morphine to ease the pain of her terminal cancer. She asks: "Haye you slept with a lot of girls?"

"Mom, really," you said.
"Come on. What's to hide? I wish I'd known a long time ago that I was going to die. We could've gotten to know each other a lot better. There's so much we don't know."

"Okay, there have been some girls."
"Really?" She lifted her head up from the pillow.

"Mother, I'm not going into details."

"Why not?"
"It's, well, embarrassing."
"I wish people wouldn't waste their time being embarrassed. I wish I hadn't. So tell me what it's like."

In "Reunion," Ginny is waiting for Mary to return from a date when she suddenly asks the gathered family, "Do you think she's still a virgin," "Of course she's a virgin," Tory says. But Michael silently thinks otherwise.

Jay Molnerney is a witty writer whose fast-paced and self-serutinizing prose has enabled him to produce commended by the produce confliction of the produce confliction of the produce confliction of the produce of the produce of the second person narrator of the nevel, since "Smoke" is written in the hird tirst person. Even so, the present intriguing pictures of 1980s middle class America.

MONDAY 16 Classes Resume

WEDNESDAY 18 Exhibition Preview Talk

7:30 p.m

Arthur Schnitzler and Fantasy Fin de Siecle Vienna Dr. Brenda Keiser, Professor of German, Speaker. O'Neill Literary House,

THURSDAY 19 Last Day To Withdraw From Classes

TUESDAY 17 An Exhibit On the Life and Work of Arthur Schnitzler O'Neill Literary House, 9:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m., thru March 21.

OLD WHARF IN

FOOT OF CANNON ST. CHESTERTOWN, MD. 21620

301-778-3566

"SEX, DRUGS & AIDS"

Sponsored by the Health Center

March 18 6:00 P.M.

Movie will be shown in the Coffee House Discussion To Follow

SOPHIE KERR PRIZE

The Sophie Kerr Prize is awarded at Commencements the senior deemed by the Sophie Kerr Committee to have the best ability and promise for future fulfillment in the field of, literary endeavor." Students wishing to submit samples of their writing are invited to do so. All submissions must be in the hands of the committee by the field day of classes and may be brought to the office of it chairman of the English department for convenience and arter. Commencement, All graduating seniors are eligible recipients of the award.

Chestertown Movie Theater

Critical Condition

Hours: Fri. Sun. 7 69 p.m.
Mon. Thurs. 7 46 p.m.
March 6-March 12

778-157

SHOWING AFTER BREAK:

HAIL MARY

Monday, March 16 Tuesday, March 17 7:30 PM - Admission $1

NORMAN JAMES THEATRE

WASHINGTON COLLEGE FILM SERIES

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 21

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, March 20, 1987

Up Goes Tuition For 1987-'88

by Audra M. Philippon The Board of Visitors and overnors voted unanimously t its last meeting to adopt the College's budget for next year cluding increases in tuition nd room and board costs. Tuiand fees will increase 1.050, and room and board charges will increase $380.
For 1987-88 then, tuition will be $3,540, making the total cost to attend Washington College 12,250

A letter in the mail to went into working out these students and their parents decisions," said President from President Cater indicates

Cater. He does not believe that that only two out every three dollars a student pays goes to the College's current expen-ditures. Gifts from alumni, friends, parents, endowment earnings, corporate and foun-dation grants, and some funds from the State of Maryland cover the remaining third of the costs.

and agony

the increases will disable any student presently enrolled at the College from returning. Anticipating the price in-crease, Cater launched a campaign at Christmas to raise money for financial aid. Since December, WC has raised $2.1 million dollars growing demands for aid. The president expects the student aid budget to top $2 million in this will serve to strengthen the the 1987-88 year. College's academic stan-

The College is also encouraging families of students who are ineligible for any other type of financial aid to apply for a Revolving Loan from the College. The fund, started last year, extends tuition payments up to eight years instead of four, while the interest rates are tied to U.S. Treasury Bill

This (tuition hike) con-"This (tutton nike) con-ceivably can affect a student who thinks he can get great amounts of aid and then bot-tom out academically," said

College's academic stan-

Part of the tuition increases will fund an 8.11% increase in faculty salaries and benefits next year. Cater himself wrote in a response to an editorial written by the Secretary of Education that "Despite our best efforts, our average facul-ty salary is below the national average for independent col-leges — less than $32,000.00 a

Cater also noted in the arti-cle that "Not one cent (of tui-tion or room and board) goes

"A lot of time and agony went into working out these decisions..."

Cater. The president explains in the letter: "Even as we raise additional funds we are being forced to impose tighter restrictions on our scholar-ships because the demand for financial aid has increased so dramatically."

He continues: "Because our funding has limits, we are obliged to add criteria to the program — those needy students who demonstrate greater academic accomplishment will receive more benefit than those who don't. Awards will be based on a combination of need and merit. We believe for large capital expenses as we renovate old buildings and construct a new science laboratory."

Still a Best Buy in College Education, Washington Col-lege remains 82nd in its cost comparison of 88 private col-leges around the country at $12,250, as the president points out in his letter to students and parents.
"I don't think there's a college that offers a better economic package to parents and students than Washington College, both in terms of tuition and support..." said Cater.

and college kids still play guitars on warm spring days . . . Ryder Daniels, John Gonells, and Dan Forzano okt their music outdoors into the warm sunshine Wednesday while others played football, hackeyed, or just dêbek in the grass.

Phi Beta Kappa Explains Reasons For WC Rejection

by Tony Caligiuri fall, Washington Colgapplied for and was denied Phi Beta Kappa chapter. At the faculty's request, the floor Society recently exed why it rejected the Col-te's application.

The letter of explanation, ed February 17, praised tain aspects of the applicayet deemed other aspects quite the outstanding category that would have set it of Phi Beta Kappa faculty at apart from the majority of the College. other applying institutions

In particular, problems outlined included: immaturing of the newly inaugurated pro-jects at the College, concerns over the caliber of incoming freshmen, the lack of foreign language requirement, the limited size of certain depart-

In general, the letter praised the College's Honors Program and President Cater's Capital Campaign, but Phi Beta Kappa pointed out that neither of these has had a chance to establish a "track record."

Phi Beta Kappa secretary Kenneth M. Greene noted that of Phi Beta Kappa institutions. With respect to distribution requirements, the committee evaluating the College's ap-plication found that course of-ferings within each division give students too much leeway.

One specific example is in the Division of Formal Studies, coming freshmen to

Washington College were significantly lower than those which prevents the mandatory enrollment in a foreign language.

"It was further noted that "It was further noted that some majors appear to be thin-ly covered by faculty," ac-cording to the letter. In par-ticular, the letter related the fact that there is only one permanent physics professor due to the lack of physics majors continued on page 5

Students Learn About AIDS

Remember: When you

e sex with someone, you re sleeping with every person or she has slept with in the st seven years. The Health Service sponsored and discussion entitled ex, Drugs, and AIDS" in the fee House on Wednesday pamphlets and an instributed to the many cording to Tracey Weir who works for the Health Service. works for the Health Service, two incorrect answers demonstrates a lack of understanding of AIDS. The average score of the students who completed the question-naire was 14 right out of 18.

Students lack a complete knowledge of the complexity of the virus-how it is transmit-ted, tested, etc,." explained students who attended. Ac- Nancy Dick, nurse who led the discussion. She fielded questions before and after the film about AIDS: What is it? How can I get it? What are the symptoms? Is it dangerous? Is it common? Is there a cure?

The popular Rae Dong Chong narrated the film, appealing to the young college crowd. With her casual appearance and the

continued on page 5

INSIDE:

SCC Hearings .....p.4 SHO'MEN ..... p. 4 Robert Pennington.....p. 6 Chip Shots . . . . . . . . . . . . p. 8 Toni Morrison .....p.10

PINION

Editorial

AIDS Alert

AIDS is a topic that the readers of The Elm have been bom barded with for a number of weeks now. The barrage continues i

AIDS is topic that the reserce of "The Elm here been hom-harded with for a number of weaks now 'The harrage continues in this issue. Such in-depth and consistent coverage is justifiable at a time when Americans are finally beginning to confront the reality of a growing AIDS epidemic. No longer an isolated plague that the property of the property of it. Prior to seeing the film, the students were given a quiz which tested their knowledge of the disease. The nurses supervising the esset neer anoweness of the disease. The nurses supervising the session reported that the average student answered four questions incorrectly, indicating that many students remain uninformed about the threat AIDS poses to them. This alone justifies the publicity that the AIDS problem has received and will con-

Washington College Elm

|   | Editors                 |
|---|-------------------------|
|   | Thomas M. Schuster      |
| Arts/Entertainment Editor Sports Editor                   |                         |
| Photography Editor  | J.M. Fragomeni          |
| Managing Editor   | Managers Alison Shorter |
| National Advertising ManagerLocal Advertising Manager | Mariella Ruja           |
| Circulation Manager                                       | William Faust           |

The Elm is the official student newspaper of Weshington College. The Elm is published every Fridey during the excelent year with the accept new vice time and ocan weak.

Elm is published every Fridey during the excelent year with the accept new vice time and ocan weak.

The elm is published every Fridey during the excelent year with the acceptance of the acceptance of the extension of the electronic proposed to the expension of the acceptance of the electronic proposed to the

Mom's Cookie Jar

Welcome back! I hope you all had a very enjoyable and relaxing Spring Break. At the W.C.D.S., it was work as usual. There were sports teams to feed, catered functions to run and lots of cleaning to do. The break in routine was nice, but I for one any side week. for one, am glad you're all

For those of you who attended the St. Patrick's Day Dinner, I hope you enjoyed the Reuben Sandwiches, instead of the usual Corned Beef and Cab-

Thursday night's Nutrition wareness Computer Pro-ram, "Eat Smart," was Awareness gram, "Eat Smart," was something new for the W.C.D.S. to do to acquaint students with nutrition. I hope those of you who participated had a good time and learned something in the proce

Stam

Friday, March 27, the W.C.D.S. will be sponsoring a contest. A crate filled with a variety of citrus fruits will be located in the entry line area. Students are encouraged to submit guesses as to the correct number of oranges in the crate Entry blanks can be obtained from the number's lady at each meal. The winner will be announced Saturday at brunch Beginning next Monday, In case of a tie, a drawing will March 23, and running through determine the winner. The win-

Amity Bakery and Coffee Shop

Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M. Lunch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

Mon.-Sat. 5 A.M.-5 P.M. Sunday 5 A.M.-2 P.M.

A Few Spare Hours? Receive/forward mail from home! Uncle Sam works hard - you pocket hundreds honestly! Details, send self

Donuts French Loaves Drug Co. & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies, cial Occasion Cakes On Order

215 High Street Chestertown. Maryland 778-3030

- ·Hudson's Vitamins
- Cosmetics Russell Stover
- Candy •Soda Fountain

addressed, stamped BEDUYA, Box 17145. Tucson, AZ 85731

envelope

ner will receive an oversion blue and white striped bea

Here is a reminder of na week's "special days:" Ma day is "Citrus Day," Wedne day is "Yogurt Day" and Fi day is "Cheese Day." Specia entrees will be featured at ad meal on these designated day and nutritional information will be available in the Mai Dining Room

Thanks Ted for your English Shortbread recipe. Besides ing easy to make, they we delicious. I'm always terested in new cookie recips
I would like to take this #

portunity to express my thank and appreciation to Kis and appreciation Coulbourne for taking over a quality spotlight and nutrib awareness boards. You're ding an excellent job!!

For any of you students to ing to lose weight, I have assigestion: clean your room you'll burn up 100 extra calories by cleaning for half

With those words of wisdon week...MOM

CAMP COUNSELORS NEEDED NOW HIRING

Echo Hill Camp on the Chesapeake. (301) 348-5800

Founding Fathers Would Be Shocked

In 1986 the Surgeon General expressms and recommended television netncements urging those persons who gage in sexual acts involving more one partner to use condoms. After srecommendation was made by the regon General, many people have some skeptical about the moral axis in our country today. And they have a point. This proposal by the generaling sexual promiscuity. In our society today we have lost a sense of moral standards. Urging sexual promiscuity of the proposal systems of moral standards. Urging sexual promoduse of condoms provides the is recommendation was made by the broad use of condoms provides the nerican people with an incentive to participate in immoral sexual acts. It neglects certain moral and ethical principles under which our country was d. Implementing this suggestion would tear the country away from its original beliefs. Our Founding Fathers would be shocked to find out what the

BILL KERBIN

Surgeon General has proposed. In addition to erasing moral stan dards, this proposal provides teenagers sexually active. It reaffirms the well-understood American saving "If it understood American saying "If it feels good, do it." To some, like conservative activist Phylis Schaffly, The Surgeon General's message tells young people: "If you can't practice abstinance, you can use a condom." She says his statements "are being usshe says his statements are being us-ed by some schools as group authority for teaching school children about heterosexual and homosexual ac-tivities, and how to perform them using Condoms.

Giving teenagers this message is a go ahead gesture for participation in sexual affairs. A message of this kind is a statement to teenagers that sexual promiscuity is acceptable" (Baltimore Sun: Saturday, March 14). How can a country of our moral stature recommend such a thing? The United States is considered one of the United States is considered one of the most advanced nations in the world. This plan would lower the opinion of many people who thought our country had high moral values. The U.S. would be telling overpopulated countries its okay to be sexually active for no par-ticular reason. This country is supposed to set a moral example to follow.

The Surgeon General should be more concerned with teaching our nation's teenagers that its okay to say "No" instead of saying it's okay to be immoral. Our sexual habits are deplorable enough without the Surgeon General's

> Bill Kerbin is a Freshman from Pocomoke, Maryland

ISSUE:

The Use And Distribution Of Condoms To Prevent Diseases Such As AIDS Has Recently Been Encouraged By Public Health Officials And T.V. Advertising. Do Those Policies And Practices, As Some Critics Allege, Encourage Sexual Promiscuity?

'No. I don't feel they enrage sexual promiscui-, rather they emphasize ons and safety

Kathy Pendergast Freshman New Vernon, New Jersey

"No, because AIDS awareness will make the average person more fear-ful of having sex, condoms or no condoms.'

Chris Parmelee Roswell, Georgia

"Whether or not these policies encourage sexual promiscuity is irrelevant to the fact that they most likely do much to prevent the spread of AIDS."

Anne Reilly Freshman Baltimore, Maryland

'No, I think it's a good idea. It's better to be safe that sorry. You don't know what's safe anymore."

Stefan Strein Bel Air, Maryland

"It may promote sex to a certain degree, but it will help to prevent disease and that is the best effect possi-

Campus Voices

by Sarah Letaw

Using Condoms Is Common Sense

We all know that before the we all know that before the sashington College Health Service ean distributing condoms in the Three for Free" program, sex was conexistent on this campus! Again we le faced with the old "Which came list" discovering and unfortunately. be AIDS virus will have spread to an emic proportion before the critics step off their untarnished pedestals and agree that protection is necessary on become devastating in terms of res and costs to all of us

What was once a stranger's problem, IDS is now a problem that each one of must face with the knowledge that it ald strike a best friend, a loved one perhaps even ourselves. For the byllis Schlaflys of the world, AIDS is obably considered a blessing with pes it will put a damper on "free tee". Fedure teen regnancy one re," reduce teen pregnancy, one ght stands and force husbands to turn to their own beds. She apparentdoesn't consider that with the reading of AIDS there will likely be increase in dead young adults, an inrase in infants born with AIDS and inty of husbands bringing the virus me to the wife. Unfortunately, until something affects us personally, we turn our backs and say couldn't happen to me

Condoms have never been that dif-ficult to get. Drug stores have supplied them since the back seat of the automobile became large enough to ac-commodate our parents and grandparents. The wise young college man of the 20's and 30's probably always had one available "just in case." Then it one available just in case. Then it was to prevent pregnancy, now it is to save lives. Hopefully young people will take this precaution so that they can live long enough to have the opportunito make parening choices.

I doubt that making condoms readily available will encourage young adults to become sexually promiscuous. Most to become sexually promiscuous. Most males and females feel that condoms are a bother, reduce sensation and squelch spontaneity. Young adults have sex for a wide range of reasons and handing them a condom isn't like handing them a ticket to sexual freedom. Rather it may make them treasond explored the sexual freedom. stop and evaluate their sexuality more closely and choose their encounters less casually and perhaps even begin to cherish the intimate moments spent with long term partners with whom they can feel comfortable discussing methods of birth control and STD (Sex-ually Transmitted Diseases) protec-

It is difficult enough to ask the Big Question let alone suggest the use of a condom to a casual sex partner.

Novelist Erica Jong (Fear of Flying) stated the problem quite clearly: "It's Novelist Erica Jong (Fear of Flying) stated the problem quite clearly: "It's hard enough to find attractive single men without having to quiz them on their history of bisexuality and drug use, demand blood test results and thrust a condom into their hand. Wouldn't it be easier to give up sex altogether and join some religious

CYNTHIA SEIFFERT

It is clear that sex education is now It is clear that sex education is now the most important knowledge we can impart starting as early as that angelic three year old looks up with those trusting eyes and asks "Where did I come from?" It is far better to begin honest, loving discussions early than to wait until age twelve when your darling cherub has grown into a mass of raging hormones, speaks a different language and listens to his or her peers. It is unfortunate that such a monster had to surface before the subject could be openly talked about as it should. It is time we step back and re-evaluate our sexual practices. Change begins with the enlightened college-age population It is this age group that can begin to make a difference. Arm yourself with as much information as you can. Act in a responsible way when you engage in sexual relationship. Your life and those sexual relationship. Four me and unose of your friends depend on the choices you make now. If you don't feel com-fortable asking your partner to use pro-tection (a condorn) then perhaps it's best to say "No, I am not ready" (for sex or AIDS).

The Health Service promotes preventative medicine. We immunize, ward off pneumonia, bandage your wounds, etc. As long as there are STD's and AIDS it will be our concern to educate and provide protection against a fate worse than casual sex.

Cynthia Seiffert is a Registered Nurse who works in the College Infirmary.

Weissman Takes Advisor Role

The S.G.A. has finally found a replacement for Dr. Teri Renner as S.G.A. advisor. Renner, who served as advisor for four years, has been replaced by Dr. Ed Weissman, the new political science professor here at W.C. Dr. Weissman is here temporarily until next semester, at which time he will become a candidate for acceptance as a permanent pro-

As S.G.A. advisor, Weissman will sit in on S.G.A. meetings and give input representing the faculty viewpoint on the issues being discussed, acting as a liason between the students and faculty. "It's ultimately and faculty. "It's ultimately the faculty that approves the S.G.A. and Student Judicial Board," S.G.A. President

Chris Doherty explained.
According to Doherty, the according to Donerty, the replacement was delayed because many of the pro-fessors approached did not have the time needed to be a good, active advisor. The S.G.A. Senate also had difficul-ty reaching an agreement before anyone could be ac-

Chris Doherty, who knows Weissman through his political science internship, said that he mentioned the need for a new advisor, and Weissman was very interested. Weissman was then approved by the Senate, after having met with the executive committee three times

Having been active in student politics himself, Weissman is glad to have the opportunity and hopes "to help the students clarify their own goals and improve their own processes."

Dr. Ed Weissman, the new SGA advisor, replaces Tari Renner. Weissman is here this semester Political Science Department

Three Students Found Guilty

by Tony Caligiuri The Student Council Tuesday found three students guilty as charged on single counts of vandalism and conduct unbecoming of Washington Washington College students in an incident which occurred at 2:30 a.m. February 20 in Tawes theater parking lot.

The case of Washington College versus Christopher Brower, Daniel Traber, and Mathew Weir, was attended by the three defendants; no witnesses for the prosecution were present. Wendy Clarke, SCC Board member, was acting chairperson while chairman Chris Facetta stepped down temporarily because of his association with the defendants through the Kappa Alpha fraternity.

students guilty for destroying the anten-na of senior Schaeffer Reese's car. The charge of scratching his car's paint was dropped due to insufficient evidence.

In response to questions, the defendants stated that the incident was accidental, and that alcohol was involved.

The issued punishment was The issued punishment was financial compensation for the damage, a written apology, and five hours of community service. No appeal to the decision or the punishment will be made.

"Students Helping Others" Is Here To Serve

by Charlotte Post

Students Helping Others give children priviledges that donation to the Muscular (SHO'MEN) is a brand new student-run organization designed primarily to aid underpriviledged children and other needy members of the Chestertown community. SHO'MEN will both initiate new service programs, but also channel interested students into already existing programs in the community

One goal is to give such children opportunities for play and learning that might not be available to them: teach them soccer, sailing, and golf, pro-vide a day care service when needed, host pool or ping-pong tournaments, and basically

students take for granted

Another objective SHO'MEN is to become involv-ed with the elderly and the homeless and to eventually adapt an organization where we can help fulfill some of their needs One of SHO'MEN's immediate projects, to which the entire College can contribute is collecting can tabs. Yes, the little tab openers on the top of cans which we can often break off and flick around can be vital to those more needy than ourselves. For every so many tabs we return to Coke, Coca Cola will give a monetary pystrophy Association. So the next time you open a cold drink, please don't just tost that tab away. Located at all soda machines on campus will be a place to deposit that tab which represents hope for those less fortunate that ourselves. Thank you.

If you are interested in working with people and want to become involved, please come to the first SHO'MEN meeting on Tuesday, March 24 at 6:30 p.m., in the Coffee house Please remember, the rewards from giving a part of yourself are beyond monetary value.

KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA SUN SYSTEM

at

EMILY HAIRDRESSER

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

Faculty Contracts Renewed

by Audra M. Philippon faculty The following five faculty members just had their one ear contracts renewed: Mr. Kevin Brien (philosophy), Dr. Kevin Brien (philosophy), Dr. Jeanette Sherbondy (sociology), Dr. Brenda Keiser (German), Dr. Glenn Cooper (physics), Dr. Ralph Erber (psychology), and Dr. Rosemary Ford (biology).

According to Dr. Nate Smith, member of the Appointments and Tenure Committee, professors seeking tenure HIRING TODAY!

TOP PAY!

WORK AT HOME No Experience

Needed

= NEWS BRIEFS = Washington College are eligible in either of two ways according to their previous ex-perience. If they have at least three years of fulltime, comparable teaching experience, they can become tenured their year here. If the professor does not have at much experience, he or she may be tenured after six years of probation. Smith said in general, "If you're not given adverse notice at the end of the third of fifth year, you can an-

A Summer In France

Students interested in working in France this summer may contact Dr. Colin Dickson regarding Friends of Vieilles Maisons Francaises, Inc. (FVMF). The program is open to students between 18 and 25 years of age

Participants live with a house of castle for the month of August. Under the guidance of the host, the student will work for three hours each weekday on the restoration of the property or some related project. Students have weekends free. Applicants must complete a four-page application form and supply two letters of recom-mendation by April 1, and must

with a committee member it with a committee member !!

Washington, D.C.
Philadelphia, or New York.

Room and board are free for participants. Transportation and all other expenses are paid by the student. Arrival time and place are to be arranged directly with the best continued.

apply for a personal interview directly with the host family by the student The aim of FVMF is to pro the history and preservation

vide American students with the opportunity to learn about the French architectura heritage and to establish friendships

APPLICATIONS ARE CURRENTLY BEING ACCEPTED FOR THE POSITION OF

PEGASUS EDITOR For the 1987-'88 academic year

To apply, contact Arian Ravanbakhsh Ext. 320, or see Dr. Colin Dickson, Chairman of the Board of Publications

Application Deadline Is March 23

APPLICATIONS ARE CURRENTLY BEING ACCEPTED FOR THE POSITION OF

ELM EDITOR

For the 1987-'88 academic year. To apply, contact Tom Schuster. Ext. 321, or see Dr. Colin Dickson. Chairman of the Board of Publications Application Deadline Is March 23

Write Cottage Industries 14071/2 Jenkins, Norman, Oklahoma 73069

AIR TAXI SERVICE AVAILABLE SCHEELER FIELD

CHESTERTOWN, MD. Rt. 213 & 291

The Report On Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome

gditor's Note: What follows 's be third installment of the U.S. Surgeon General's Report to Acquired Immune Deficien-

AIDS: You Can Protect

Yourself From Infection some personal measures are dequate to safely protect ourself and others from infec-ion by the AIDS virus and its

my of the high risk sexual acvilles described earlier or have injected illicit in-ravenous drugs into your body, you should have a blood at to see if you have been in-lected with the AIDS virus.

If you test is positive or if you agage in high risk activities and choose not to have a test, ou should tell your sexual artner. If you jointly decide to ave sex, you must protect our partner by always using a bber (condom) during (start finish) sexual intercourse agina or rectum) If your partner has a positive lood test showing that he/she as been infected with the AIDS virus or you suspect that heterosexual osexual behavior or use of stravenous drugs with shared edles and syringes, a rubber endom) should always be usduring (start to finish) sexal intercourse (vagina or rec-

you or your partner is at gh risk, avoid mouth contact with the penis, vagina or rec-

Avoid all sexual activities n the linings of the rectum, vagina or penis ingle teenage girls have been warmed that pregnancy and contracting sexually transmited diseases can be the result of only one act of sexual interrse. They have been taught bear taught to say NO to drugs! By saying NO to sex and drugs, they can avoid and drugs, they can avoid AIDS which can kill them. The ame is true for teenage boys It may result in AIDS.

Do not have sex with prostitutes. stitutes. Infected male and female prostitutes are frequently also intravenous drug ibusers; therefore, they may affect clients by sexual interurse and other intravenous and other intravellous travenous drug equipment.

their veins are another popula-tion group at high risk and with rates of infection by the high rates of infection by the AIDS virus. Users of intravenous drugs make up 25 percent of the cases of AIDS throughout the country. The AIDS virus is carried in contaminated blood left in the needle, syringe, or other drug related implements and the virus is injected into the new virus is injected into the new virus is injected into the new virtin him evening districts. victim by reusing dirty syr-inges and needles. Even the inges and needles. Even the smallest amount of infected blood can contain live AIDS virus to be passed on to the next user of those dirty im-

No one should shoot up drugs because of addiction, poor health, family disruption, emotional disturbances and death that follow. However, many drug users are addicted to drugs and for one reason or other have not changed their behavior. For these people, the only way not to get AIDS is to use a clean, previously unused needle, syringe or any other implement necessary for the injection of the drug solution.

Blood Transfusion Currently all blood donors are initially screened and blood is not accepted from high risk individuals. Blood that has been collected for use is tested for the presence of antibody to the AIDS virus. However, some people may have had a blood transfusion prior to March 1985 before we knew how to screen blood for safe transfusion and may have become infected with the AIDS virus. Fortunately there are not now a large number of these cases. With routine these cases. With routine testing of blood products, the blood supply for transfusion is now safer than it has ever been with regard to AIDS.

Persons who have engaged in homosexual activities or have shot street drugs within the last 10 years should never donate blood.

Mother Can

Infect Newborn
If a woman is infected with the AIDS virus and becomes pregnant, she is more likely to develop ARC or classic AIDS, and she can pass the AIDS and see can pass the AIDS virus to her unborn child. Approximately one third of the babies born to AIDS-infected with the AIDS virus. Most of the infected babies will even-tually develop the disease and Several of these babies have been born to wives of hemophiliac men infected with

Drug Users Drug abusers who inject into the AIDS virus by way of con-taminated blood products. Some babies have also been born to women who became in-fected with the AIDS virus by bisexual partners who had the virus. Almost all babies with AIDS have been born to women were intravenous drug users or their sexual partners of intravenous drug users who were infected with the AIDS virus. More such babies can be

Think carefully if you plan on becoming pregnant. If there is any chance that you may be in had sexual contact with other homosexual or bisexual males as well as those who "shoot" any high risk group or that you have had sex with someone in a high risk group, such as homosexual and bisexual males, drug abusers and their sexual partners, see your doc-

AIDS affects certain groups of the population. Homosexual and bisexual males who have as well as inose who snoot street drugs are at greatest risk of exposure, infection and eventual death. Sexual partners of these high risk individuals are at risk, as well as any oblighes here. dividuals are at risk, as well as any children born to women who carry the virus. Heterosexual persons are in-creasingly at risk.

Phi Beta Kappa Rejection

continued from page 1

Finally, the committee noted ne existence of only five tenured Phi Beta Kappa facul-ty professors at the College. The letter named ten as the committee's "minimum ex-pectation" for the number of tenured faculty to shelter a Phi Beta Kappa charter.

Despite the basic criticisms, the evaluating committee did "welcome any application the College may wish to submit in

Dean Baer could not be reached for comment.

In a memo to President Cater and Professor Taylor, however, Baer stated, "Overall, it seems to me that the points raised are rather

You just don't make a quick "You just don't make a quick fix to please Phi Beta Kappa," said Taylor. "You have to take a look at what is good for the College." Taylor, chairman of the application committee as well as a Phi Beta Kappa member, said that no decisions would be made in the near future in response to the letter.

A decision to reapply would not be made until the Spring of 1988, said Taylor.

Washington College submitted an application nine years ago, but it was rejected on grounds of financial instabilithought the College's recent capital expansion would in-dicate otherwise in the most recent application.

Phi Beta Kappa was the first letter fraternity, founded in 1776. Today it is strictly an honor society open to men and women, based on scholarship.

AIDS Film Shown to Students

AIDS. "Sex, Drugs, and AIDS" conveyed two main points: the AIDS virus is nearly impossible to contract through casual contact, and that the disease is primarily transmitted through blood and semen by sexual relations and/or intravenous

Chong advised that concerned people either avoid drug usage or at least use clean needles. Nancy Dick later told her audience that one New York clinic is even handing out free needles to drug users. Chong also encouraged safe her abstain or use condoms for all types of intercourse. Dick reminded students of the "Three for with the proved quite successful as an Health Service; and for those eyecatching introduction to students who want to add life to students who want to add life to their condoms, Tahitian colors will be arriving soon...

The film concluded by identi-fying the five different categories of people who are at high risk for getting AIDS: gay or bisexual men, IV drug users, recipients of AIDS-infected blood transfusions, sexual partners of any of the above, and babies born to in-fected mothers.

GOLD & SILVER JEWELRY DIAMONDS WATCHES, CAMERAS & FILM ENGRAVINGS & REPAIRS
"RAYBANS"

FORNEY'S JEWELERS 778-1966 106 Cross St., Chestertown

IDEAL OPTICAL Still Pond, Md.

348-5586

SOFT CONTACTS DAILY WEAR $97.00 EXTENDED & TINTED WEAR

$12900 CONTACT LENSE EXAM

*35

COMPLETE EYE EXAM Regularly $35.00

$19<sup>00</sup>

With Purchase of Frames or Lens Valid with Coupon

ALL FRAMES LENSES

Edwin R. Trinks, Optician

15%

One Full Year Guarantee On Glasses & Frames Evening Appointments Available

1 Day Service On Glasses and Contacts Show Your College ID Save Add't. 5%

SOPHIE KERR PRIZE

The Sophie Kerr Prize is awarded at Commencement to the senior deemed by the Sophie Kerr Committee to have the best ability and promise for future fulfillment in field of literary endeavor." Students wishing to submit supplies of their writing are invited to do so. All submissions of the writing are invited to do so. All submissions of the submission o

FEATURES

The Kindest Cut Of All

Local Hair Stylist Offers Creative Looks

"It's intense. He's got so much room, power and energy and he focuses it all on your hair to make it look good on yourface," says freshman Mary Riner of local hairstylist Robert Pennington. who gave her a new look over Spring Break

Such enthusiasm seems typical of the Such enthusiasm seems typical of the Queen Anne's County native's college customers, who describe his work as Spacious and well-lit, its winder whip" and "contemporary." Pennlington averages between 15 and 20 while fans hang from the cut, set at $20 for men and $25 for women, includes a "clarifying treat-ment" (deep oil conditioning to wash away excessive shampoo, sebum and skin buildup), a shampoo, consultation and the actual styling. Permanent waving prices start at $65.

Pennington's second floor studio seems reminiscent of an artist's loft. Spacious and well-lit, its windows near-ly cover the length of the high walls

Sweeping locks of hair from his last atron from the wooden floor, he calls patron from the wooden floor, he cause his next customer, a retired woman from Chestertown, to the chair. As he combs through her wet hair, they discuss the style she wants. "You shouldn't be restricted to just one idea or another," he tells her, encouraging her to consider subtle layers to control her full, curly hair.

When the cut is finished, he uses an air diffuser and round brush while drying and then sprays her brown hair at the roots with a gel. "It turned out nice and soft. It should be easy for you," he says, giving it a final touch up with a curling iron patronized by going in for frequentrims.

"The owner saw me and said, "If yo can take care of your hair like that, yo can cut hair." They enrolled me a school and I've been doing this eye since," he recalls.

The variety of his work has kept in in the business for fourteen years; is corporation's web of stones has affiliate dhim a job wherever an affiliate located and he has worked for twen different salons. Internationally trated, he is a haircolor specialist and he also done platform work, styling he for models.

His clientele ranges in age

from a one-year-old

to a married couple in their eighties.

As he begins with another customer, a young woman home from college on spring break, he advises her to keep spring break, ne advises her to keep her bangs combed up and back to deac-centuate a short forehead and warns her that long hair could visually lengthen her face. After finishing her cut and spraying a color fixitive on her hair to add shine, he asks about her usual methods of drying and styling, to insure that she will be able to take care of the new style "That's my rule: 'Whatever works',"

he says

Finding the style that flatters the customer's face and works with their lifestyle is a priority of Pennington.

"It's nice when a client comes in and knows what looks good on them. That's my job, to help them understand what works for them," he says, explaining that he welcomes specific styling re-

"It's different every day," he say "Each client is an individual and wan something different. I'm never restricted to one finish."

Pennington explains that he has worked "with everything from romes the clearing from romes."

worked with everything from romes tic classicism to modern conten-porary." Among the styles he fite popular are the "long, curly, slighty Renaissance look" of romant classicism and hairdos reminiscent d those of the 1890's and 1940's.

Sophomore Thea Bournazian, when to Pennington earlier this semester when she was unable to se her regular hairdresser at home, is satisfied customer.

"His prices are a little higher that what you might pay else where it Chestertown, but he's right in line with what you'd pay in New York," sh

Bournazian explains that the bar dresser helped her find "an easy style"

"That's my business card walking out the door. If I think the look's not right ... they're definitely going to hear about it."

If he disagrees with the customer's preference, reference, however, he does not esitate to convince them otherwise. "That's my business card walking out the door. If I think the look's not right, because of ease of styling or that it's just not going to look good, they're definitely going to hear about it."

Pennington not only takes pride in his work, he claims that there is nothing he dislikes about the hairdressing field.

"I'm really happy to have a job where I wake up and want to go to it in the morning," he says, explaining that his work is "a terrific creative outlet."

Pennington's career choice was almost accidental. At one time he had long hair, but his "best friend who had a best friend who was a hairdresser" urged him to cut it. Even-tually he obtained a job where he had to keep his hair carefully maintained, and urprised the operators at the salon he that requires a minimum of time !

"He's very contemporary and betterested in keeping up with the fashis magazines. That's good. Chestertow tends to be set back — stylists get used to doing the same people's hair even week," she says.

Similarly, Pennington concedes the the atmosphere of his salon differ from that of most in the area. "It's or vious when you walk in the door the uns store is a little different from most stores in the area. There are some ceptional operators in this area. The can do the same type of work as I do they don't have the opportunity as ofte as I do, because of my working environment," he says.

Agreeing that Pennington offers distinct variation on the other hairst who requested anonymity, declare "If you have to get your hair cut is Chestertown, go to Robert."

Hair today, gone tomorrow: Local hairdresser Robert Pennington, who offers "contemporary looks at his Cross Street salon, says he changes his own colffure from day to day.

patrons each Tuesday, when he is Customers can await their appoint-available from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the ment seated on white wicker furniture Chestertown salon he has operated for the last six years. His clientele ranges in age from a one year old to a married in age from a one year, out to a married couple in their eighties, and many are Washington College students. The rest of his working week is spent in Rockville, where he is a stylist at "Pizarz," a salon operated by the Rainbow corporation.

Located at 113 South Cross Street, the unisex establishment offers complete skin and haircare. The cost of a hair-and watch the television, which plays a videotape of a haircutting program.

In the styling area, barber's chairs face mirrors that sit on easels lined with plastic bottles of Aveda haircare products, which are distilled from essential flowers and herbs. Penn-isates expenses as a product of the second ington serves as a network educator for the Aveda Corporation and uses their line — which includes even a perma-nent wave of flowers and herbs — exclusively.

Students Come And Go, Talking Of T.S. Eliot

by Jennifer M. Harrison

Maybe it didn't begin because three professors of-fered courses that included T. S. Eliot, but that was how the revival was noticed. T. S. Eliot. poet innovator, modernist, is the greatest poet of the twenthe greatest tieth century according to many scholars. His presence is in and out of the classroom at Washington Col-

Dr. Thomas Cousineau, who teaches the course Eliot and Joyce, says he was delighted to discover how much his students enjoy the poet and how their generation is changing the usual conception of professor's poet, but students helped him realize that he is a student's poet, one whose authority they do not have to accept or reject. He found his students relating to Eliot's view of contemporary life, enveloped in the look and texture his words create and was amazed at their response to Eliot as he inspired great discussions in the class.

Cousineau does not feel that the Broadway show "Cats" has created the revival of Eliot, though it originates from Eliot's "An Old Possum's Tale of Practical Cats." He says these poems are "written with his left hand;" they have little to do with Eliot's major works, "The Wasteland" and "The Four Quartets.

Cousineau calls Eliot "the at his influence on her peer's great poet of the English writing, and says "when you language" because he takes start influencing the way peo-

Mona Brinkley, one of Dr. Cousineau's students, recalls a quote from class: "Eliot is a giant standing on the shoulders of the giants." In him she sees all the writing of the past manifested and the writing of the future influenced. She looks so much to say about modern society, and he dispersed with the traditional notions of what poetry made use of." Although Brickley believes his work is a challenge, she feels that "only the weak at heart" are deterred by this

Barclay Green, a student enrolled in both Cousineau's

the last fifteen years. It is necessary to pay great attention to Eliot who is "at the root of modernism" and the fact that "every genre reflects his influence." In addition, Eliot "word for word payers as "word for word payers as ""." influence." In addition, Eliot
"word for word packs so much more meaning than other poets," and in content "you can put him up there with Dante, Milton, and

Dr. Bennett Lamond, teacher of The Edwardians, believes Eliot has always been a major presence in Washington College courses. Eliot is "about what we're about at this college" — he is concerned with "the liberal arts."

Creative Writing professor Robert Day sees Eliot in his ROBERT DAY SEES E.HOL IN HIS students' work. "In previous years it was (Eliot's) in-fluence, now it's outright thievery. Students are gleeful-ly stealing lines from Eliot as Eliot stole from those before him." Day says his students nim." Day says his students are mature and astute in their use of Eliot, and have a "great deal of fun with him." After all it was Eliot who said "Immature artists imitate, mature artists steal.

(301) 778-6090

"In previous years it was (Eliot's) influence.

now it's outright thievery. Students are gleefully stealing lines from Eliot as Eliot stole from those before him."

boredom and anxiety and "deepens our awareness of these leading us to spiritual awareness." ple write, you are getting inside their minds . Another student, senior Mag- nism.

class and Dr DeProspo's course on Modernism, feels that an Eliot revival is only natural, due to gie Brickley, feels his study is revival is only natural, due to being revived "because he had the revamping of criticism in

Shifty glances at the dessert table

Insecurities Revealed Over Pie and Cake

by Michael Cannon

Since this is an article for the newspaper, many of you will be consuming as you read this, as opposed to staring aimlessly about. Therefore my opinions may not seem as relevant as I think they are. Nevertheless, it appears that Washington Colege students are very insecure en they are eating

For example, when people are waiting in line or when they are browsing at the dessert table, they always sneak a shifty glance at the person next to

off

the dessert." More likely, though, they think, "Wow, look at that dude. He must be a real wierdo since he's just calmly getting a piece of pie and not looking at me."

I just thought of something even better. If you're really an unfortunate any number of lighthearted idiotic attempts at humor, like, "probably my weight after this pie, huh?," but they all sound so trite you might as well just say, "What do you care?" What the hell is supposed to be up anyway, unless you are plot-ting an heinous deed against that particular person, in Lighten up, it's only life!

dessert getter, then you'll probably meet someone you know up there and be graced by the catchy greeting: "Hey, what's up." You could respond with which case it would be wise to cover up with some idiotic at-tempt at humor or a hearty "how ya doin?" Lighten up, it's only life!

PHIL'S FARM MKT. LIQUOR . WINE . BEER

> Subs, Deli, Groceries COLD CARRY OUT

Md. State Lottery LOTTO/NUMBERS GAME

OPEN 20 HOURS DAILY 7 DAYS A WEEK

HAVING A PARTY? CALL NOW 778-1893

FLATLAND RD., CHESTERTOWN WELCOME BACK!

Ironstone Cafe 236 Cannon Street Chestertown, Maryland 21620 301-778-0188

335 HIGH STREET CHESTERTOWN, MD 21620

Brambles"

TRADITIONAL CLOTHING

FOR MEN & WOMEN

Tuesday-Saturday Lunch: 11:30-2:00 Dinner: 5:30-9:00 Sunday Brunch: 11:00-3:00 Closed Mondays

them. What the hell difference dees it make who it is; you're does it make who it is; you're last getting some cake! Do you think that by looking at them you can predict what kind or

the

You can predict what kind or what size piece of pie they will thoose? Maybe it's an inner ego booter, like trying to Quest he word on Wheel of Fortune. Or maybe humans are just naturally mean. They go up there and say to themselves, "Oowee, look at the it on that dude's nose. I sheep he don't leak any pus on hope he don't leak any pus on

SPORTS

Defensemen Brian Kelleher moves to cut-off a Lynchburg opponent. The Shoremen capt 5-1 victory in last Saturday's match.

Lacrosse Shelled By Division I Powerhouses

by Carter Boatner

It's still early in the season, but so far the W.C. Lacrosse team has competed against some of the best lacrosse teams against some of the best facrosse teams in the nation. The Shoremen opened against the NCAA defending national champion University of North Carolina/Chapel Hill three weeks ago, losing 21-7. The Shormen then faced Navy, losing in a close match 9-6, followed by Johns Hopkins and a 23-7 loss.

The Carolina "Tarheels" and the Hopkins "Blue Jays" are currently ranked first and fourth in the nation respectively. Coach Terry Corcoron explained the tough schedule: "This school has a long tradition of playing top NCAA teams. It improves our ability and gives us some idea of what skills we must develoo to be commettive." we must develop to be competitive.' been the two wins over Division III opponent, Ithaca 20-10, and Lynchburg, 1. Corcoran reacted to the team's performance so far this season by says that he and the members of the teamer somewhat disappointed Regardless of the fact that the objects of the says that he and the members of the says that the s losses this season have come again top ranked teams in the nation, Co coran said the team is "floundering and not playing up to its full ability. It is quick to point out that it is not uncon men for a team to have a slow start, by they must become more aggressive of the field. "It would not be hard to be beaten by a tough Division III team," he said. W.C. is a young team with he said. W.C. is a young team with great number of new players who muse fill up the large gaps by last year outstanding seniors, including Al-Americans Bruce Yancey and Joh Nostrant. W.C. has come back from e must develop to be competitive." slow starts before, and with the light spots so far this season have numbers and quality new players comen the two wins over Division III opcoran has to work, he is optimistic.

W.C. Women Take Notre Dame

by Christine Wiant
Irish eyes were definitely smiling on the W.C. Women's Lacrosse team Tuesday, March 17, as they faced off against Notre Dame. But it wasn't just the luck of the Irish that brought them their 15-12
underer Wesse stress attack victory. It was a strong attack and skillful saves that earned them the win.
Notre Dame opened with two

Notre Dame opened with two goals, but the Shorewomen came back with four of their own. Both teams held up a strong front for the rest of the first half, with each alternating

The second half started with the score of 6-5 Washington, with control of the ball continuing to swing from one team to the other. W.C. managed to the other.

score five goals in close succes sion toward the end of the se-cond half, sealing their victory. Goalie Kathy Kilroy had a total of fourteen saves, while at the other end of the field Freshman Mary Beth Enright put in three goals, Carole Reece one, and Captains Holly Dinning and Beth Matthews scored six and five respective-

Reflecting on the game and anticipating future ones, Coach Diane Guinan said, "We have a Diane Guinan said, "We nave a team of individuals who are working hard. We still have a way to go, but I believe the group will come together and play a good season."

Captain Holly Dinning looks forward to a strong season with the combination of returning lacrosse letter winners and the new talent. "The team is a young team," she said, "but we work together well. That's going to be the key to success."

Notre Dame can't intimidate team captain Holly Dinning as <sup>(M)</sup> Shorewomen work toward a 15-12 win.

GASLON'S

BUSINESS MACHINES

30 Years Experience

With Fee Option checking our $5 monthly fee is as flat and predictable as this ad.

In addition to a flat, predictable, almost boring monthly fee, this account also offers unlimited check- over, and so on and so on, zzzzzzzzzzz lust call us writing, free checks, free use of our 24-hour banking machines, and no minimum balance requirement. 783-6051 or in Maryland dial 1-800-472-1616.

All for just a flat $5 a month, every month, over and

UnionTrust Bank

Chestertown: Kent Plaza Shopping Center, 778-2900

SALES & SERVICE Most makes of typewriters & calculators & other business machines

837 High St. Ext.

778-5611

It's Time to Play Ball But Where Are The Players?

Peer into your magical Elm and you shall drift off into a world of bikinis and sunshine and . . . baseball.

"Crack," go the bats. "Pop," go the gloves, And your ace Elm sportswriter (ha!) brings you into another adven-tureland, this one called Florida, care d misappropriated newspaper funds (the rest, of course, go to the contras, but don't tell lest there be another S.G.A. task force on the loose) and editors who have no constructive ideas.

Welcome to Spring Training 1987. When we last saw the baseball world. early one morning in late October, the New York Mets were being handed the world Series crown by the Boston Red Sox. Scuffed balls were big news, as were chokers called Mauch and Boston, and a hero named Ray Knight.

How things change. Now, the top stories are free agents collusion, and a novel idea called "fiscal responsibility." The plot goes superwealthy owners, tired of creating lazy, superwealthy baseball players with long term contracts, are colluding, or having secret meetings in dark ements and "acting in concert" not to spend money on free agents, all in the name of "fiscal responsibility." the name of And what that has done is left a group of eight all-stars, Tim Raines, Andre Dawson, Lance Parrish, Rich Gedman, Doyle Alexander, Bob Boone, and Ron Guidry, in limbo, unsigned and without a team. It has also increased tension between the owners and set the stage for a Player's Union lawsuit, while cheating the fans

There is plenty of evidence, or shall we call it bizarre conicidences, which support the players cry of collusion. For example, free agents were not offered contracts by other teams until the deadline for their old team to re-sign them had passed. Once this deadline passed, only one team has approached a free agent at a time, hardly the meaning of "free agent," and each with a dollar and date limit to sign, after which the next interested team approaches, and so on.

To top it off, even when a dollar agreement has been made, such as in the case of Lance Parrish and the Phillies, baseball has stepped in to pre-vent progress. In the Phillies-Parrish case, a clause had to be inserted in Par-

changes from last year's disaster, most notably dumping Rick Dempsey, trading Storm Davis, and acquiring Terry Kennedy, Ray Knight, and Rick Burleson, not to mention their new manager, Cal Ripkin, Sr., Considering that their team wasn't as bad as their record last year, they should be in good shape this year, right?

Wrong. Personally, I like both Davis and Dempsey and think that the new acquisitions are just part of the breed of aged veterans which made the O's losers last year. If the Orioles want to

"...superwealthy baseball owners, tired of creating lazy, superwealthy baseball players with long term contracts, are colluding, or having secret meetings in dark basements and "acting in concert" not to spend money on free agents...

rish's contract preventing Parrish from filing any litigation alleging collusion against major-league baseball. Needless to say, that killed the con-

And all of this fuss has occurred over a simple sentence on free agency in the owners-players labor agreement, which reads, "Players shall not act in concert with other players, and clubs shall not act in concert with other

But this isn't baseball: it's busin Baseball is what we people in Florida are preparing for, what real Americans will settle into come April. And here's what to expect:
The Orioles have made several regain that championship form, they'll regain that championship form, they'll have to build it up through their farm system, a la N.Y. Mets. I'll give the O's fifth place, behind Toronto, New York, Cleveland, and Boston, in that order. If Detroit somehow retains Parrish, push Baltimore into sixth.

But don't listen to me, because I'm a Phillies fan.

As far as the other divisions go, I don't see any of last years winners repeating. That includes the Mets. My repeating. That includes the Mets. My favorites include Philadelphia (remember, I'm blased), Cincinnati, and Texas. I also expect good years, but not good enough, from L.A., K.C., but not good enough, from L.A., K.C., Houston, St. Louis, and the Mets. I'm a poor predictor, though, so now you Anyway, my reasoning goes like this.

The Phils have a strong core team (Schmidt, Hayes, Wilson, Samuel,
Easler, and maybe Parrish) and a pit-Easter, and maybe Parrish) and a pit-ching staff which is solid but still untested. Meanwhile, the Mets are coming off of a year where everyone overachieved, and off an off-season full of turmoil. They'll win a lot of games, but I doubt that the Ojedas and the Fendandezes can match the sort of years that they had last season. As for the Cards, if the real team shows up, instead of the one that did last year, this could be an interesting three-way race.

The Reds will beat out the Dodgers The Reas will near out the Dougers and last year's champs, the Astros, mostly on pitching, provided Mario Soto returns. If not, the Dodgers will win, as they have done in every oddnumbered year in the 80's. The Astros, numbered year in the 80 s. The ASSTOS, meanwhile, are destined, after a year of over-overachieving, to where every division winner (except K.C.) has gone the next year, which is anywhere ex-cept first place. Where have the dynasties gone?

In the American League West, where mediocrity is king, Texas, with its impressive group of sophomore arms, will edge, the Royals with about 85 wins. Last year's winners, the Angels, loaded with age, will go the way of last year's Orioles, but not quite as drastically.

And who, among this illustrious group of Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Toronto, and Texas (that's ever crazier than New York, Houston, Boston, and California) will win the Series? We'll save that for an article next October when we find out who really wins in the division races. If you asked me now I'd say something stupid like the Phillies.

Sports Calendar

Friday 20

Lacrosse (women's), Hopkin's (A)

Saturday 21 Baseball, Widener (A) Softball, Lebanon Valley, 1:00 p.m. Tennis (men's),

Widener (A) Tennis (women's), Hood (A)

Sunday 22 Lacrosse (men's), Duke (A) Tennis (men's), Navy (A)

Monday 23 Catonsville, 3:00 p.m

Tuesday 24 ennis (men's Mary Washington (A) Softhal

Wesley, 4:00 p.m. Wednesday 25

Wesley (A) Thursday 26

Tennis (men's), M.I.T., 1:00 p.m. Softball,

Gettysburg, 2:30 p.m. Baseball, Wesley, 3:00 p.m.

W.C. Netters Enjoy Victories in "Deep South"

by Fred Wyman

Despite having three mat-ches rained out, the Wasington College men's tennis team completed their annual swing into the "Deep South" by winning three matches and losing one. The Shoremen upset Emory University 7-2, ham-mered Wofford College 9-0 and trimmed UNC-Charlotte 6-3 Davidson College handed Washington their only defeat a 7-2 los

For the second straight year the Shore netters have made the long trek to Atlanta to do battle with nationally ranked Emory University and for the second consecutive year the Shoremen have left the Eagles spellbound

While the cast of players differed, the result was identical. In '86 Tim Gray, Enrique Leal, Claudio Gonzalez, and Ross Coleman led the Shoremen to the "biggest win" in Wasington College's tennis history. The unranked Shoremen took four singles matches and swept the doubles to hang a 7-2 upset loss on the 7th ranked

This year it was Alejandro lernandez, Larry Gewer, Rich Phoebus, David Marshall, and Gonzalez that spearheaded an equally important triumph. Capturing five of six singles matches and two of three Capturing five of six singles-matches and two of three doubles, the seventh ranked Shore netters toppled fifth ranked Emory 7-2. Emory had attained their ranking on the strength of a-5 win over WC at the National Championships in California last May. Although Hernandez, Gewer, Gonzalez and Marshall were Gonzares soring "big wins" at $\s^2$ $1,2,0 \text{ Getextures soring "big wins" at $\s^2$ $1,2,0 \text{ Getextures soring "big wins" at $\s^2$ $1,2,0 \text{ Getextures soring big wins" at $\s^2$ singles respectively, it was $\s^2$ singles, and a $26,64,00 \text{ wins soring ed the triumph for Washington. Despite being shut out 6-0 in the first set, Phoebus maintained his composure and captured the second set 6-1. In the decisive third set the junior transfer won two three all oints in games 9 and 10 to in the match 6-4. Alejandro Hernandez and David Marshall avenged losses to their opponents as Hernandez tactically outplayed the nation's #11 ranked player, Jim Strauss 6-4,6-2. Marshall ripped Emory's senior captain Haig Kazazian 6-2,6-1. Both Strauss and Kazazian had defeated Hernandez and Mar-

Freshmen Larry Gewer was superb in routing Andy Fine 6-1,6-3. Gewer's cross court pass-ing shots were devastating as he jumped out to a 5-0 lead in the opening set. Gewer broke Fine twice in the second set to secure his fifth win of the Down 2-5 in the second set Claudio Gonzalez fought off two set points in the 10th game to rally for a 6-1,7-5 victory over Brian Harris, the 43rd ranked player in Division III.

Despite the fact that Friday the 13th is considered unlucky, it was David Marshall's lucky day. The Junior from Milford Dela. led the Shore netmen to a

6-3 victory over Division I foe UNC-Charlotte. The win was WC's sixth against only one defeat. Marshall's triumph at while Coleman, Maler and fifth Marshall notched wins. Rich 4,6-4

Phoebus and Maller scored an impressive 6-1,6-3 victory at #3 doubles that gave WC the lead 4-3 but it was Gonzalez and Marshall's 6-2,7-5 victory at #2 doubles that clinched the team win. With the match in hand, the team of Gewer and Hernandez rallied to chalk up their fifth win without a loss, 5-7.6-

High Street, Chestertown

SPRING TUNE-UP SPECIAL

$18.00 1987 PEUGEOT PIPELINE

$179.95 Plus Tax

SPECIAL 1986 ROSS 17® HOOD TOP OF THE LINE MODEL

REGULAR $454.00 NOW $379.95

Toni Morrison Strives for Liberation

"I think about us, black women, a lot. How many of us are battered and how many are champions . . . I think about the sisters no longer with us, who, in rage or contentment, left us to finish what should left us to finish what should never have begun: a gender/racial war in which everybody would lose, if we lost, and in which everybody would win. if we won," so pro-nounces Toni Morrison in an essay for Essence magazine.

Clearly, Morrison is deter-mined to win, and through her work as a single mother, an accomplished editor, teacher, lecturer and writer she struggles to reach this goal. In a society which diminishes the important and, in many ways, isolated fight for the liberation black women, Morrison strives to overcome hurdles of oppression and propels the movement forward not only by writing about, lecturing on, and working for black liberation, but also by using her successes as an example Both black and white critics applaud her professional applaud her professional endeavors, particularly her writing. "She paints pictures with words, and reading or hearing those words is like listening to music," praised close friend and opera singer Leontyne Price. With her writing Morrison strives writing Morrison strives "deliberately to make you stand up and make you feel something profoundly in the same way that a Black preacher requires his congregation to speak, to join him in the sermon . . . to expand on the sermon that is being delivered. In the same way that a musician's music enhanced when there response from the audience.

Morrison's writing, however, never, preaches in the literal sense of the word. She has written four novels, one play, mpus this week. Her books in-ade Sula, Tar Baby, and The Song of Solomon numerous essays, and also to satisfy herself. countiess tectures, but no easy one is working on a bo-message underlies her work, whatever one does, wheth Far from being didactic, her you'refeeling good vyou'ge writing provokes emotional feel so good, your writing and intellectual response. "I something going on don't want to give my readers side... I would write if the something to swallow," she were no publishers at all!"

said, I want to give them Publishers, literary critis something to feel and think and readers alike find value

Just as her writing delves and say, 'Well, you know, my life is so hard . .' They don't want to hear that! They were boiling sheets and shooting pheasant and stuff, then they got mar-ried to people and had children tell somebody where to get and fights . . It's a very per-sonal thing — if their blood is in Toni Morrison comes is my veins, maybe I can do this little part right here."

She writes not only to rights, black heritage, and the generate external results but craft of writing.

is working on a boo

Toni Morrisons work, and he commercial success he deeply into her readers, the resulted in widespread a motivation to produce springs posure. As one reports from deep within her. "I know observed in the cover state I can't go to those I can't go to those women the March 30, 1981, issue [mothers and grandmothers] and Newsweek, "She mov through this complicated his with regal grace and extra dinary self-possession. Yet so wears her dignity lightly always ready to laugh, or

> Washington College next wee with her insights into women

Bodley's Librarian Catalogs Experiences

ty's world-famous Bodleian Library will give three public lectures at Washington College during a visit to Chestertown from March 23-25. The talks by David G. Vaisey — "Bodley's Librarian" as he is officially known — are open to all without charge.

The Bodleian Library, en-dowed in the 16th century by Sir Thomas Bodley, is the main library of Oxford, the world's oldest English-speaking house not only of priceless books and manuscripts, but also of paintings, ancient scien tific instruments, rare coins, and notable oriental collec-

Vaisey's first talk, entitled "The Bodleian Library at Ox-ford: World Treasure House," is at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, March 23, in the Hynson Lounge. This talk will be illustrated by slides of Bodleian "The Pleasures and Perils of Being Bodley's Librarian," is at 4:00 p.m. on Tuesday, March 24, in the Sophie Kerr Room of Miller Library. A reception will follow the talk.

Vaisey's concluding talk, "The Paper Chase: Unex-pected Treasures in Scrap Paper," is also on Tuesday, at 8:00 p.m. in the O'Neill Literary House.

David Vaisey's broad and varied career includes service in the King's African Rifles, where he did intelligence work in the Mau Mau emergency in ford, the University of Michigan, and the Clark and 1959 from Exeter College, Ox-ford, where he specialized in Huntington Libraries in California. Vaisey is married nodern history, he began his and has two daughters. Bodleian work in the Depart-ment of Western Manuscripts and rose to the headship of the Library. In 1975 he became a member of the Modern History Faculty at Oxford.

America he has spoken at

The visit of Bodley's Librarian to Washington Col-lege is jointly sponsored by the Clifton M. Miller Library, the Lecture Committee, the Sophis Kerr Committee, and the William James Forum. The author of seven books and numerous articles, Vaisey has lectured widely abroad. In

entertainment

FRIDAY 20 Between Art & Craft: The Fine Line. Lecture by Stephen Day, glass artist Academy of the Arts, Easton, 4:00 p.m.

Recreation Showcase
Demonstration by QAC
Dept. of Rec. & Parks on activities in County crafts, ballet, storytelling, mime. Spanish, etc. All ages. Sudlersville Mic School, 7-9 p.m., Free. Middle

778-4430 PACE Sumi Painting Gibson Fine Arts Room 100, 1:30-3:30 p.m., 8

WEDNESDAY 25 PACE Wonderful Watercolor

H. Clinton Greene, Artist Gibson Fine Arts Center room 100, 1:30-3:30 p.m., 6 Wednesdays

THURSDAY 26 Historical Society of Talbot County Lecture by Rick Lewall
dowski from Morris Ar boretum, Philadelphia. Historical Society Auditorium, Easton. 822

Presents two hours of singing and dancing and

"Beat of the Future"

Friday, March 27 7:30 P.M. Kent County

High School Call 778-2011 For Ticket Info.

A Leap of Imagination

The acclaimed New York Theatre Ballet will perform in Tawes Theatre on Saturday.

One of the best small com-panies in the country, the New York Theatre Ballet, will per-form at Tawes Theatre on Saturday. The company will present a repertory of classical, romantic temporary ballets. "The New York Ballet is a triumph of imagina-tion and vision for its in-novative staging and colorful Theatre costumes in productions of ballets by the great choreographers such as Fokine, Tudo and Dolin," says Columbia Artists Manage-

This performance concludes the Washington College Con-cert Series season, and is ex-pected to draw a capacity crowd. Single admission tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for children. Students may use their Concert Series tickets. The performance will begin at 8:00 p.m.

8:00 p.m.

The Artistic Director of the New York Theatre Ballet, Diana Byer, will give a ballet master class at 3:00 p.m. on Saturday. Contact Karen Saturday. Contact Karen Smith at 778-2800, ext. 225, for more information.

The performance is made possible by a grant from the Mid Atlantic States Arts Consortium in partnership with the Maryland State Arts Council. This project is supported by the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency

Students Praise Hail Marv

by Jenny Eisberg There were no protesters olding picket signs while chanting 100 Hail Marys out side Bill Smith Sunday night as I made my way into Norman James Theatre. I was eager to see what Hail Mary was all about; to see whether or not this film was worthy of being heralded blasphemous. As I had expected, the theatre was crowded with interested viewers. During the next two days, I listened to the reactions of students. There were no vague comments such as "I like it" or "I thought it sucked." What I was hearing appeared to be well thought out, powerful statements; they went beyond the surface leve of plot and film technique, into the question of Godard's inten-

and the expression of ligion as an art form When I began to ask students what they thought of Godard's act of putting the Virgin Birth into a twentieth century set-ting, the majority answered by considering Hail Mary as a ork of art Senior Ed Conrad saw thing wrong with the use of a ntemporary setting. He addontemporary setting. He added that "religion has inspired many artists in different ways." Conrad said that when he was always was younger, he was always was younger, he was always the the image of Mary "lives her whole life in a dream world," that she lived as a lint. He pointed out the fact that, in the film, Mary is shown as a real person, showing her feelings. He feels that it is "appealing to see these religious figures in human form," with man emotions.

Similar to Conrad, freshman Greg Boone stated that "the movie shows the realistic aspect of the pain which Mary

"War, apartheid are an insult to Christian faith. Let's be insulted by these things."

went through." Through depicting Mary's pain, he believes that the movie is bringing the actual event of the past closer to viewers. When I suggested that Godard is an artist, and as such, creates art in the form of film, Boone remarked "the film is just another way of expressing religion.

Concentrating on Hail Mary concentrating on Hall Mary solely as art, Senior Eric Lorberer believes "a work of art is always allowed to be heretical." He stressed that art causes us to be "questioning beings" because we are curious as to its purpose, its in-tentions. Feeling that art is ex-empted from blasphemous judgments, Lorberer went on to explain that Hail Mary does not attack the Christian faith: War, apartheid are an insult to Christian faith. Let's be insulted by these things.

Hail Mary is a film which shows that religion is able to be freely expressed. It was not created to offend Christians or mock the Virgin Birth. As an art form, Hail Mary, like a and sensitivity of Mary as a human being. This has been done for centuries: there is nothing blasphemous about

OLD WHARF INN

ON THE CHESTER RIVER

FOOT OF CANNON ST CHESTERTOWN, MD. 21620

301-778-3566

Campus Calendar

FRIDAY 20 Film Series: The Life of Oharu Norman James Theatre,

7:30 p.m. SATURDAY 21 WC Dance Program and Kent County Arts Council Ballet Master Class

Diana Byer, Artistic Direc-tor of the NY Theatre Ballet Co. Cain Athletic Center Dance Studio, 3:00

New York Theatre Ballet Tawes Theatre, 8:00 p.m. SUNDAY 22

The Concert Series

Film Series: The Life of Oharu Norman James Theatre, 7:30 p.m.

Literary House Talks
American Poets Set to Music Dierdre Derbis, Singer

Norman James Theatre, Tea, 4:00 p.m., Songs, 4:30

William James Forum and the Lecture Committee The Bodleian Library at Oxford: World Treasure

David G. Vaisey, Bodley's Librarian, Bodleian Librarian, Bodleian Library, Oxford Hynson Lounge, 7:30 p.m.

Film Series: The Life of Oharu Norman James Theatre, 7:30 n m

TUESDAY 24 Clifton Miller Library The Pleasures and Perils of Being Bodley's Librarian David G. Vaisey, Bodley's

Hours: Fri.-Sun. 7 & 9 p.m. Mon.-Thurs. 7:45 p.m.

Sophie Kerr Room, 4:00 p.m.

The Chesapeake Bay - The Land and the Water Changing Agricultural

Practices Ralph A. Timmons, Jr., Speaker Sophie Kerr Room, 7:30 p.m., $8, students free

Sophie Kerr Committee The Paper Chase; Unex-pected Treasures in Scrap David G. Vaisey, Bodley's

Librarian O'Neill Literary House,

WEDNESDAY 25 International Relations Club The African National Congress: An Official View Mr. Heyn Van Royen, Em-bassy of South Africa, Hynson Lounge, 7:30 p.m. Washington College Dance Company in Concert Tawes Theatre, 8:00 p.m.

THURSDAY 26 Advising Day-No Classes

Washington College Dance Company in Concert Tawes Theatre, 1:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m.

The Sophie Kerr Committee Colloquium: Black Women

in America Ms. Toni Morrison, Dr. Gloria Hull, Dr. Carol Watson, and Mrs. Dale Adams, participants.

Sophie Kerr Room, 4:00 p.m. The Mind of Frederick

Visions and Revisions
Houston Baker, Speaker.
Reception following lecture. Sophie Kerr Room, 8:30 p.m

Chestertown Movie Theater

Black Widow

March 20-March 26

778-1575

THE LIFE OF OHARU

SHOWING: FRIDAY/SUNDAY/MONDAY 7:30 P.M

Admission $1 NORMAN JAMES THEATRE

WASHINGTON COLLEGE FILM SERIES

Crowded House Packed With Good Music

by Ken Haltom The past few weeks have been filled with a lot of excitement because of the release the new U2 album, and rightly so. They are the best band in the world — period. This kind of excitement, however, often causes other music to be overlooked. Hopefully, this will not be the fate of Crowded House, whose first album is a apop gem. Crowded House is full of good music, both happy and reflective. In the spirit of Sixties' bands like the Hollies and the Byrds, Crowded House fills their songs with excep-tional harmonies and clanging

Side One begins with the catchy "World Where You Live," in which singer Nick Finn asks his love where she travels in her mind "Now We're Getting Somewhere" employs accor-dian and a Rubber Soul-like guitar break to create a questioning, pleading statement for Nick Finn to yell over. "Don't Dream It's Over," the current single, does not need to be discussed, it's just great as it is. "Mean to Me" has lots of

> It's pretty bothersome for the neighbors to listen to.

horns, loud drums and raving vocals from Finn. It's pretty bothersome for the neighbors to listen to. "Love You 'Til the Day I Die" is another obnoxious pleading from Finn to his Crank up Crowded House to move out the neighbors.

lover. Play it as loud as possible.

starts with Strong," an ex-Side Two omething So Strong, cellent tune about the affects of love on two people. "Hole in the River" is a somber, reflective song about distant memories song about distant memoria, It is sentimental yet power. It is sentimental yet power. Whereaven of a relationship builds into a rocking description of the last encounter were nestranged lover; "Tombstone" and "Thut, What I Call Love" are both carcellent songs which ead Crowded House on memorable notes

Crowded House is simply a great pop album, easily en-joyed and listened to. The record was produced by Mit. chell Froom and is available to the Capitol/EMI label.

WC Dancers Give It a Whirl

by Maggie Brickley

After a conspicuously long absence, the Washington College Dancers have leaped out of the basement of Cain Athletic Center in tutus and pancake this week to revive the annual Spring Dance Concert.

On Wednesday, March 25

director Karen Smith.

the theatre will open its doors 'Said Smith: "They've workat 8 p.m. to the W.C. communited hard and dedicated ty for two nights of dance—themselves to long hours of ward of the works by student gram offers other students a chreegraphers Mary Beth great opportunity to ex-Anderson, Neal Boulton, Magperience a wide variety of gie Brickley, April Dean and, dance forms.—classical ballet, Bob Haralambakis as well as 'traditional Hungarian dances, traditional pieces created by modern and Jazz."

shows great promise for a healthy future as the group welcomes the new talents of Wendy Snow, Pete Mandivil and Page Seiffert. Also appear-ing will be Cindia Tongsinoon and Cindi and Bill Sieffert.

Come one, come all to

and the end of the W.C.
Dancers' basement days, performances begin at 8 pm
Wednesday, March 25 am Thursday, March 26. A special show for children from the local area schools will be hel Thursday afternoon at 1 p.m.

Our Fee Option checking account requires you keep a minimum balance.

The rules around here are strict But if you keep. Card* with no lee for the first year. All for just a flat one red cent in your account, you get unlimited cheek- $5 a month. There, We've put our 2¢ in. So call today writing as well as free use of our 24-hour banking about a Fee Option account. In Baltimore call us at machines. And if you qualify, you can also get a Master- 783-6051 or in Maryland call 1-800-472-1616

UnionTrust Bank

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 22

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, March 27, 1987

Requirements Must Be Complete To March

students who have completed all their graduation re-quirements be allowed to parquirements be allowed to par-ticipate in commencement ceremonies. The Admissions and Academic Standing Com-mittee had been asked by President Cater to study this issue in the Fall

A few students petitioned the Dean and the President last Spring asking to be allowed to graduate even though they had not completed all of their requirements in light of ex-tenuating circumstances.

tenuating circumstances.
Cater wrote to the faculty in February: "A significant number of Faculty and Students are concerned that to allow students to march without receiving the diploma and hood will debase the ef-forts of those Seniors who work diligently to complete their requirements on time

He continued in his memo: "Others share my perception that exceptions could be made for those who show sufficient promise to be allowed to march with their own class while not receiving the degree or the hood at that time."

The President added, "It's

by Audra M. Philippon
At its March meeting, the like a wedding that's been callfaculty recommended that oned off...It doesn't involve a lot ed off...It doesn't involve a lot of students, but to me, every student deserves attention.

The administration accepted the faculty vote, recognizing that the President still maintains the authority to invite whomever he wishes to whomever he wishes to Commencement-all the way from honorary speakers to students and their relatives. The president did request, however, that the Admissions and Academic Standing Com-mittee investigate ways in which the College can build loyalty among its alumni who do not graduate on time.

"I urge that we not neglect the strengthening both of the College and its future Alumni that can come from ceremony," said Cater. "But Washington College has been less successful than some of its peers in attracting the loyalty of many alums." March 20 the Admissions and Academic Standing Committee submitted its suggestions on how to build up alumni support to the Dean and the President for their consideration. Ac-cording to Professor Gary Clarke, Chairman of the committee, they are as follows:

Coppertone stock rose sharply Tuesday afternoon . . . These girls behind Queen An the first tanning opportunity of the season

1) The administration should and social events surrounding should be able to choose which iscuss the possibility of indiscuss the possibility of in-cluding a graduation ceremony of sorts into Washington's Bir-thday Convocation for those who don't fulfill their re-quirements by May with their class;

ticipate in all the ceremonies following year, he or cluding a graduation eremony of sorts into Washington's Bir-dent's work-work not com-thday Convecation for those who don't fulfill their re-quirements by May with their class;

2) Students not able to official-by graduate with their class in shelper of requirements, by graduate with their class in shelper of requirements, by graduate with their class in shelper of requirements, or full graduate with their class in shelper of the student of the stu class he or she would like to belong to for alumni purposes (either his or her original class (either his or her original class or the one following it).

"I think these are administrative matters," said Clarke. "The faculty has already recommended that only those students who have completed all their requirements be allowed to march."

Award-Winning Black Author Visits Campus

by Tony Caligiuri

A series of discussions and readings this week featuring black author Toni Morrison prompted College organizers to reach out to a larger black audience for the two-day event. Morrison's visit features two colloquia, a reading, and the dedication of the Frederick

Gloria T. Hall, author and pro-fessor of English at University of Deliaware; Dr. Carole Wat-of Deliaware; Dr. Carole Wat-ecutive Director of the Box author and deliam of decication of the Director of the Division of decication of the Priday at State Programs at the National Endowment for the Humanities; Dale Adams, one of Washington College's first black graduates and a member of the College's Board of Trustees; and Houston Baker, author and Professor of Bouglass Room in the Literary Trustees; and Houston Baker, House. Joining Morrison are author and Professor of Several other authors: Dr. Human Relation at University

Douglass Room on Friday at 2:30 p.m.

To publicize the two-day series, over 2000 brochures were distributed outside the College community. According to senior Margaret Virkus, an assistant in this week's plann-ing, a great number of the brochures were specially used to attract black participants.

"The College is trying to "The College is trying to draw in more blacks, but in a subtle manner," said Virkus. Efforts were being made to create a more "comfortable situation," in view of the small situation," in view of the small numbers of blacks and other minorities enrolled at the Col-lege. "Trying to ignore the situation is not what (the Col-lege) should do," said Virkus. She added, however, "Miss Morrison is a great writer who is able to communicate effec-tively to any person."

Baer and Virkus, brochures were sent to area English departments, past patrons of College lectures, black studies groups, and Chestertown groups, organizations, including several predominantly black churches in the area. Washington College

"Washington College definitely lacks emphasis on black literature." said English professor Dr. Richard DeProspo, who added. "This is only the second modest effort to reach out to the black community." He pointed out the importance of stressing more black cultue, especially for a college with deep roots in the Eastern Shore. DeProspo is a member of the Sophie Kerr Committee, which chose to invite Morrison for this week.

"Anyone who has ever had the opportunity to hear Miss Morrison knows what a sense of presence she possesses and what a truly splendid person able to communicate effec-she is," said Baer. Baer is also a member of the Sophie Kerr According to Dean Elizabeth Committee.

Morrison authored such fam-ed novels as The Bluest Eye, Sula, Song of Solomon, and Tar Baby. Song of Solomon receiv-ed the National Book Critics' Circle award as the Best Work Circle award as the Best Work of Fiction in 1977. Morrison also edited the biographies of Muhamed Ali and Angela Davis, as well as The Black Book, a collection of memoribilia of the black experience in America.

Presently, Morrison is senior editor at Random House and the Schweitzer Professor in the College of The Humanities and Fine Arts at the University of

ed a colloqium on black women in America on Thursday, in America on Thursday, March 26, in the Sophie Kerr room, a colloquy on Frederick Douglass in the Literary House at 10:30 a.m. on Friday, March 27, followed by a personal reading from her work in the Norman James Theatre at 4:30 p.m. All events are open to the

INSIDE:

| Letters to the Editor | . p. 2    |
|-----------------------|-----------|
| South African lecture | . p. 4    |
| Shy at Parties        | . p. 6    |
| Tennis                |           |
| Print Workshop        |           |
| Frederick Douglass    |           |
|                       | 0.73, 700 |

Editorial

Get It In Gear

Washington College has got to do something about its parking facilities. Since my last editorial about this serious inadequacy on the WC campus, many things have happened to compound the on the we campiar. The fact this campe in a local country of the problem trick. The fact that campin parking is a meas inst news to anybody. In the superior counting, or perhaps anybody. In a superior counting, or perhaps even listening, any more. We listening, any more when the problem is a counting, or perhaps any more with a superior counting, or perhaps any more with a superior counting, or perhaps any more with a superior country of the superior country that student motorists are tired of being screwed for having a car on campus.

There are approximately 250 registered cars belonging to resident students, according to the Security Department. There are approximately 222 legal parking, spaces set aside for those student cars on campus. That includes the Minta Martin, Reid, Caroline and New Dorns 10st. The actual number of legal spaces, however, is less this year considering that Minta Martin has to accommodate construction personnel working on the renovation project. The situation with the legal spaces for resident students. And take how the safe and legal spaces waitable to them. There are approximately 40 of those. Many students have noticed the new Athletic Department signs posted in the New Dorms and Fine Arts lots informing motorist that by parking their cars in demanded to the same of the property of the same statement or the College, isn't going to pay for it. Cross the New Dorms and Fine Arts lots off the "safe" list until someone has enough sense

Fine Arts iols oft the "sate" list and is omeone has enough sense to construct backstops with pienty of overhang.

Cross the Minta Martin lot — what spaces are left — off the "safe" list as well. This to has a reputation, perpetuated this year by several incidents, for being the site of vandalism to student and staff cars. Parito's by Security and town police have been increased in this area for what that is worth. Cars left in this nation of the staff of pick-up a new car stereo or set of wheels. Even WC's ticket-writer has seldom ventured there, considering that unregisterd vehicles have been parked there for the better part of the year without receiving any citations.

A plan submitted to the town by Security Director Roderick is under review now that would make student parking available on the far side of Gibson Avenue. If approved, this would relieve the far side of Gibson Avenue. If approved, this would relieve some of the congestion, but when this street is closed in the next two to three years, the new parking will be lost. While the College may have a good thing going with the revenue it brings in from is-suing cliations to students who have to put their cars somewhere, somebody, somewhere (who probably has a reserved space far away from flying baseballs) needs to recognize that perhaps the campus is overelue for another parking for. Increasting availables parking space and improving the safety of existing lots with in-creased lighting and backstops would alleviate a serious source of student dissatisfaction.

Washington College Elm

|                     | E        | ditors         |                                    |
|---------------------|----------|----------------|------------------------------------|
| Editor-in-chief     |          |                | Thomas M. Schuster                 |
| News Editor         |          |                | Audra M. PhilipponAndrea Kehoe |
| Features Editor     |          |                | Addres W. Frillippon               |
| Arts/Entertainment  | t Editor |                | David Healey                       |
| Smorte Editor       | Leanton  | freeze mereren | Christine Wiant                    |
| Photography Editor  |          |                | J.M. Fragomeni                     |
| · metegraphy Luttor |          |                | J.M. Fragomeni                     |
|                     |          |                |                                    |
|                     |          |                |                                    |

Managing Editor National Advertising Manager Local Advertising Manager Circulation Manager

The Ein is the official student newspaper of Washington College. The Ein is published every Friday during the academic year with the academic year with the academic year with the academic School and the School and School

tion in maxweex issue.

The Elm's business and editorial office is located in the Queen Anne lounge, found on the first floor of the Queen Anne's House dormitory. Business hours are 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Tuesdays and 7:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. Wadnesdays. The office phone number is (301) 778-2800, extension

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR plaining the violation and the # Appalled

And Shocked

To The Editor:
As a student, I am appalled at two organizations at Washington College. First I am shocked that the Parliamentarian of our student government has not been expelled from school or at least removed from her position on removed from her position on the S.G.A. This person seriously endangered the lives of students living in the Cullen dorms by pulling a fire alarm. If the S.G.A. sanctions deadly, drunken pranks like this, I want no part. I declare myself a non-member of the S.G.A. and I am willing to forego all S.G.A. activities and benefits.

trivial. Clearly she has no con cept of the problems as they exist on this campus. Sometimes I beleve she wants mediocre incoming freshmen, mediocre incoming freshmen, body cooperation in any way and that she wants mediocre with the upcoming Alcohol students. Weak departments Awareness Week. and low SAT scores are never Thank you, trivial matters. I also find it Skip Middleton amazing how she fails to respond to the students through The Elm I have noticed she is notoriously unavailable for

Frankly, these two institutions are disappointing and misled Jeremiah Foster

R.A.

Alison Shorter Michelle Royal ... Mariella Ruiz

Apologizes .

To The Editor On Tuesday, March 17, I was On Thesay, March II, I was drinking a beer in the cafeteria, during dinner, breaking the school alcohol policy of drinking in a public place. My action was brought to the attention of the Dining Service who, in turn, sent word to the office of Student Affairs On Thursday, March 19, Ttalk-ed to the Student Deans of my ed to the Student Deans of my wrongdoing. The Deans, at that time, asked for my resignation from my job as Resident Assistant of East Hall. I strongly refused to resign. Finally, after much discussion the Deans came up with the following punishment:

1) this letter to The Elm ex-outcome, 2) a letter of explanation and apology to the other Resident Assistants and the Dining Hall, 3) my absence in the interviews and hiring pro-cedure for next year's Resident Assistants, and 4) my ap-pointment as the chairman of Alcohol Awareness Committee (i.e. arranging a variety of alcohol awareness pro-ty or alcohol awareness pro-grams for the upcoming cam-pus wide Alcohol Awareness Week coming in April). I wish to apologize to everyone, students and administration alike for my ac-tions. As a Resident Assistant and a Senior, my conduct was unbecoming of a Washington College student. I did not, ver, think my resignation or firing, was called for in response to my actions and I did everything within my capabilities to come up with a our academic Dean calls the reasonable punishment. Again, Phi Beta Kappa findings I wish to applicable the resonable punishment. tions that have brought a

Not A

Sanctuary

To The Editor:

This communication comes This communication comes as an unpleasant reminder when springtime comes to Washington College. I have had expressions of concern from those who love the College about the use of "chemical substances" (i.e. drugs) by some of our students. This warning comes at the same time ning comes at the same time that I have received word that one of our students just com-pleted a six-month term in

The Washington College

Karen Lynn Smith Director RESEARCH

·CAMP COUNSELORS NEEDED

prison as a result of such use.

NOW HIRING Echo Hill Camp on the Chesapeake. (301) 348-5800

Few Spare Hours? Receive/forward mail from home! Uncle Sam works hard - you pocket hundreds honestly! Details, send selfaddressed, stamped envelope sanctuary from the enforcement agents. Sincerely yours, Douglass Cater

BEDUYA, Box 17145 Tucson, AZ 85731

Thanks

(Four students have been convicted and served terms during the past three years.) These are hard facts of life. The College cannot and will not in-tercede when the laws are violated. Nor is the campus a

A Lot

To The Editor: The Washington College

Dance Company wishes to thank the persons who stole two bottles of champagne from the front of Tawes Theater during the Ballet performance on Saturday night. Refreshment sales have been our fund-raising activity throughout the year. We work long hours to Resident Assistant program as a whole. I also wish student body cooperation in any way rehearse and volunteer our time at concerts to raise funds for costumes. Your theft has not only cost us the price of the champagne; it also cost us lost sales during the ballet since the champagne was not available to sell. Your im-mature behavior is criminal mature behavior is criminal and does no credit to the student body at Washington College. We will gladly accept a "contribution" for you as payment for your crime. You may send the money c/o the Physical Education DepartThe Mission Of The Elm

A More Independent Voice

When someone suggested to me that I write an editorial about what a campus coff? reactions were rather predictable given this year's track record better when The Elm and the S.G.A. in the course of writing and rewriting this, though, my views toward our campus newspaper were east in a different light.

A campus newspaper should be the main source of information for the students as well as the rest of the college community. For the most part, this is true of The Elm, but we would be this is true of The Elm, but we would be better served if the campus paper was not the "official college paper" (Student Handbook, pg. 3) The paper should be more of an independent voice.

Campus papers should follow professional journalistic guidelines to ensure that their integrity is beyond scrutiny.

Most importantly, campus newspapers should be given the freedom to probe more deeply into college affairs, so that we can know more about what rose on it has described. about what goes on in the administraministration ultimately affect student

Of course, a campus paper is much more. Not many students realize the time and effort it takes to gather information, check sources, sell adver-tisements, and meet demands to pro-duce the final product we see on FriWhen you think about it, a campus paper is a striking parallel as to what a student government is. The Elm really does strive for the ideals I've listed above, and the S.G.A. strives for its own, similar set of ideals.

What, then, is the difference between
The Elm and the S.G.A.? We are both funded by student fees, yet we have dif-ferent missions. The task of The Elm is to serve as a voice to provide students with what is campus news. The task of the S.G.A. is to serve as a voice as well, conveying and representing the opi-nions and interests of the student body the faculty and administration. ten, these opinions and interests of e student body are formulated based the student body are formulated based on what gets reported in The Elm It is a process in which The Elm and the a process in which The Elm and the S.G.A. interact in the larger decision-making cycle of the campus on behalf of the student body. Our interests (The other students) and the S.G.A.'s) are competing, and the S.G.A.'s) are consistent with the students of the S.G.A.'s and the S.G.A.'s are consistent with the S.G.A.'s and the S.G.A.'s are consistent with the S.G.A.'s are consistent w office in Queen Anne's and the S.G.A office in West Hall

I heard a comment once that the SGA Executive Committee meetings were remarkably similar in tone to Elm staff meetings. Both The Elm and the S.G.A. are in the public eye, both have their own genuine perceptions of the student interests at heart, and we both have learned that it is a unique system (to say the least) that comprises "the power that be" on our campus. Our purpose that be on the common grown of the common of

"We would be better served if the campus paper was not the "official college paper ..."

Chris Doherty

between the SGA and The Elm. Perhaps by comparing notes on the system around which our campus revolves, we can get to the bottom of many issues (like why it took until March 19 to let students know that on February 20 it was decided that tuition would be going up).

The S.G.A. and The Elm have differing opinions on many issues — that's healthy, but we should always keep in mind our common sense of missis would end a lot of confusion.

Chris Doherty is a Senior and President of the Student Government Association

The Mission Of The S.G.A.

Concentrate On Higher Student Concerns

Having an S.G.A.-sponsored band on Friday nights and having plenty of cheap, S.G.A-sponsored beer to bathe your brain in while you're there is great. That's a legitimate part of the college experience. But if that's all that you expect of your S.G.A., and you have never really wondered about the greater role of that organization in your life and the life of the institution, then read no further. If you think the aso.A. is here solely to entertain you, reading this EDITORIAL is going to do absolutely nothing to alleviate the pro-blem of defining the mission of the S.G.A. at Washington College. If that is students. Maybe you are even willing to try to change these things that disturb

No matter what your concern is - be academic stagnation, it academic stagnation, student priorities, administrative stumbling or another issue — the chances are that anomer issue — the chances are that you, a conscient a student seeking a better solution to mething, are not going to attempt — seek S.G.A. help. Alas the problem. Too many of the S.G.A's constituents expect nothing more of their representatives than to sign the bands and cough up free kegs. It's disconcerting as hell to see administrative policies virtually ignored

The Elm wasn't controversial, we could be doing the College a disservice. Conversely, the S.G.A. exists to represent student interests in all areas and to be the vehicle used to act upon and realize those interests. The S.G.A. is capable of representing student interests, but without student encouragement and support, not much gets done. The S.G.A. leadership has concerns of its own that seem to have escaped student awareness, as do we at The Elm. As student organization heads we wonder where the students are when Senate meetings go virtually unattend-ed and much of The Elm remains unread, or misread. This is only one of our concerns. Contrary to what many of m editorials have implied, I do believ that the executive board is made up of conscientious students. I don't think they enjoy wasting time cleaning up the social and administrative messes that occur when herd creatures pumped full of beer destroy bathrooms, start fights or pull fire alarms. I do think, however, that these represen-tatives have an obligation to the students and to themselves to give the larger, more relevant and more important issues of our lives at Washington College priority This year I have come to strongly believe that student organizatins such as The Elm and the S.G.A. cannot ander to the needs of mediocre minds. I make no apology for taking an elitist viewpoint. The S.G.A. can no more afford to spend the time explaining away needless vandalism or arguing about how many decks of cards to allocate to a student club than those of us at The Elm can afford to do away with our Opinion pages because some "readers" acuse us of writing "biased editorials." Doing so would amount to organizational suicide. By letting such trivialities overwhelm us, we would subvert not only ourselves, but more importantly, we would subvert those members of the College community ervices we spend so much of our outof-class time trying to provide.

The S.G.A. president speaks of stu-dent apathy. I prefer to call it is norance. We speak of the same phenomenon. We share the frustration it engenders. Ultimately it is much easier for The Elm to remove itself from this affliction than it is for the S.G.A., which is in many ways more obligated to attend to all student interests. If the main student interest is a lack of interest then the only possible result is an S.G.A., which by carrying out its representative mission, arily reflects that apathy. This is not indicative of the S.G.A. leadership. which must rely upon student support Their higher concerns about the institu-tion and the students, strikingly similar to ours in many ways, continue to go without the widespread student con-cern and interest they deserve.

To attain this interest the S.G.A. must become an aggressive embodiment of higher student concerns that continuously prods the institution to better serve students in all areas. Inherent in this is the idea that by better serving the students, the institution better serves itself. Perhaps then more students will focus their attention upon the problems that we, as leaders of stu dent organizations, see everyday as a part of our jobs. Perhaps then we can begin to close the gap.

I have no illusions about editorials changing anything. I do have faith in a new strategy that would have the S.G.A. and The Elm, working within their separate realms at questioning the administrative, academic, and social realities of our lives here and striving to enact changes. Our ultimate common goal is to benefit not only the students here today, but the institution as well, which must continue on after we are gone. That is the essense of the responsibility we have accepted. Tom Schuster is a Junior and is the Editor-in-Chief of The Washington Col-

"... The Elm and the S.G.A. cannot pander to the needs of mediocre minds."

Tom Schuster

your position, you are an active component of the problem.

If you are with me so far, con-ceivably you are one of those students ceivably you are one of those students who is interested in a little more than aleeping, going to class, feeding your search of the control o the actions you observe both at the in-stitutional level and among your fellow by students until one of them puts the Coffee House keg out of commission. The rest of us step aside to avoid the stampede and wonder if we will ever get around to the real agenda.

I have come to realize that the excutive board is aware of the real ager da. They see the same disturbing adda. They see the same disturbing administrative, academic, and social phenomenon on this campus that I and my fellow Elm editors do. Our approaches to those prolems, however, are inherently different. The Elm exstitution each other and a multitude of

ISSUE:

Are You Satisfied With The Services Provided To You This Year By The Campus Organizations That You Pay For With Your Student Activities Fee?

Erika Swartzkopf Sophomore Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

"I'm basically satisfied. although there could be a greater variety of events sponsored here, especially the movies sponsored by the Films Series, and 'cultural events'

Campus Voices

Jonathan Sarris Bethesda, Maryland

"I feel that the organizations in question do a basically solid job with the limited resources that are available to them."

Bill Beekman Sophomore Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Basically. I feel that there are some quality pus, but I do wish we had a better way of keeping them accountable for our

Christian Engle Gaithersburg, Maryland

"I believe that the money is well spent on such events and activities. However, the actual per-formance of at least one organization is at best questionable."

Katherine McGuire Sophomore Charlottesville, Virginia

"The Elm does a good job but the yearbook is really sad, and I never see the SGA do anything. I wish that there weren't so many foreign films because of the film class. I'd rather see films like "Casablanca."

by Michele Balze

"The ANC: An Official View"

by Jenny Eisberg Heyn Van Royen, third secretary of the Embassy of South Africa, gave a lecture Wednesday entitled "The African National Congress: An Official View." Van Royen discussed the aspects of the ANC which raise questions. Van Royen explained that

With a little over six weeks until the end of this school year, many students are beginning to feel the strains of end-of-the-semester stress. There is plenty of work to be done and finals are just around the cor-new constitution between all the people: "black people and white people should come together and work out a con-stitution." The government, he

according to Royen, is a threat to the South African govern said, is sincere in its talk about changes, and that many have already taken place. The ANC the government of South Africa ment's attempt to create an

Mom's Cookie Jar thday cake will be the featured dessert Tuesday night in honor

A reminder: in spite of the arrival of Spring, the increase

The stress response is the body's way of reacting to pressure. Typical stress symptoms include appetite changes, altered sleep habits, depression, a sense of inability to cope, loss of coordination and stant fatigue. Stress often worsens people's eating habits. Many may tend to catch a quick snack while others rely on sweets - in lieu of more nutritious foods.

When you are under ressure, take care to eat wellbalanced meals, starting with a good breakfast. Having a well-balanced diet is crucial to physical and emotional health.

Exercise is essential during stressful times. It can help you release tension and clear your head. If you find yourself unable to concentrate on studies or you are feeling studies or you are feeling especially tense, a relaxing jog or a swim in the pool might be just what you need to get back into the studying mindset.

Next week's W.C.D.S. special features are Fish Night, Tuesday, and April

all students with birthdays in March.

350/2/2

in sports activities and relax-ing afternoons in the sun, it is still your responsibility to bring your ID card to meals. Remember, no ID card, no admittance to meals.

In honor of Maryland Day I made up a batch of "Brown-Eyed Susans" for dessert at a family dinner. This weekend I thought I might try a new recipe for Coffee Cornucopias to munch on while motoring to Florida.

Speaking of Florida, there won't be a Mom's Cookie Jar article next week. Mom's taking a vacation. So, until I return... MOM.

White people.

Van Royen pointed out several problems which exist in the ANC. Originally created as a nationalist organization of the liberation of devoted to the liberation of black South Africans, the Communist Party said that "par-ticular attention should be paid to the ANC" and, documented since 1928, that their aim must be to transport the ANC into a "fighting Nationalist revolu-tionary organization." The leaders of the ANC, many of whom are members of the Communist Party, have also said that they want to take an 'ideological leap forward by using militance in South

The problem with the ANC today, said Van Royen, is that its leaders want to "gain

Task Force

The SGA Task Force,

established January 19, 1987, has collected its members, but has not yet started its in-vestigation. Chairman of the of an arms struggle. They want to take political power by means of a violent overthrow of the government." Van Royen pointed out that the South Africa through their terrorist operations than they have White people while claim-ing to "want to liberate the ing to "want Black Society.

Van Royen stressed that the ANC has the same training that the PLO terrorists have within Libya. "They have Soviet, Cuban, East German, and Libyan trainers" in their camps - they are in the same camps with the "international terrorists" who bomb airports in Rome. Yet when the ANC bombs shopping malls in South Africa, "they are called freedom fighters."

The ANC is seen as a group
"claiming to be nationalists" but controlled by Communists and it is with this fact that Van Royen explains why the ANC can't be taken seriously: they are not "true nationalists." Many of the true nationalists in the ANC have left because Communists have become proninent in the organization. Questions asked by the students and faculty members touched on the values that White people share and do not share with the Black tribes of South Africa, what democracy means for both White people and Black people, and the in-terracial conflicts which South Africa faces today, such as segregation, a so-called "separate but equal policy."

NEWS BRIEFS

Task Force, Secretary Chris Foley said that the question-naire has not been written at SGA Elections Elections for SGA executive The Task Force was design. board members will be Tues day, April 14. Petitions are now ed by the Senate to investigate available in Student Affairs for the practices of the student Deans in the Student Affairs anyone interested in running for the following offices; President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, Social Chairman, and Student Conduct Council Chairman. the duties and responsibilities of each office. The completed petitions are due late next week. All candidates are expected to speak at an all-campus meting scheduled for Monday, April 18 to explain their views. anyone interested in running Deans in the Student Affairs Office, housing decisions, the contents of student 'files' kept by the student Deans, RA selection, and the Dean's role in the student judiciary, among other topics. The committee was hoping to present its fin-dings to the Board of Visitors and Governors at their meeting February 21.

New Sidewalk

The stakes in front of Caroline and the O'Neill Literary House that are now orange holes in the ground delineate the path of a sidewalk to be built from the crosswalk to the Literary House the Lit House to the College; it will bring us closer together," explained Professor Bob Day.

"It's going to be a beautiful sidewalk. I want Greta Garbo to be able to come to the Mon-day Literary House tea in her high heels."

Construction of the while funds are being pursued by Christian Havemeyer, member of the Board of Visitors and Governors. "It is not at the moment within the ollege's budget," Havemeyer.

Finances allowing, Day and Havemeyer hope to make the path in brick and to extend the holly hedge along the side of the Lit House facing Caroline.

Mary Hamilton, grounds architect, is handling the landscaping details with cooperation from the Maintenance Department.

dewalk to be built from the "It was an obvious idea," osswalk to the Literary said Day. "The sidewalk will ouse. "The sidewalks will connect people to get here."

unborn children.

We cannot yet know the full impact of AIDS on our society.

there may be new manifesta-tions of AIDS - for example, From a clinical point of view, mental disturbances due to the infection of the brain by the AIDS virus in carriers of the virus. From a social point of riew, it may bring to an end the

which has been called the sex-ual revolution. Economically, the care of AIDS patients will put a tremendous strain on our already overburdened and costly health-care system. The most certain way to is for individuals to avoid promiscuous sexual practices, to maintain mutually faithful monogamous sexual relationships and to avoid injecting il-

wheeling sexual life-style

Surgeon General Outlines Safe Behavior

AIDS: WHAT IS SAFE Most Behavior is Safe

Most Behavior is Safe Everyday living does not present any risk of infection.
You cannot get AIDS from casual social contact. Casual social contact should not be confused with casual sexual contact which is a major cause of the spread of AIDS virus. Casual social contact such as shaking hands, hugging, social kissing, crying, coughing or sneezing will not transmit the AIDS virus. Nor has AIDS beer contracted from swimming in pools or hot tubs or from eating in restaurants (even if a restaurant worker has AIDS or carries the AIDS virus). AIDS is not contracted from sharing bed linens, towels, cups, straws, dishes or any other eating utensils. You cannot get AIDS from toiletseats, doorknobs, telephones, office niture. You cannot get AIDS from body massages, mastur-bation or any non-sexual body

Donating Blood
Donating blood is not risky at all. You cannot get AIDS by donating blood

Receiving Blood In the U.S. every blood donor is screened to exclude high risk persons and every blood dona-tion is now tested for the presence of antibodies to the AIDS virus. Blood that shows exposure to the AIDS virus by presence of antibodies is not used either for the transmission or for the manufacture of blood products. Blood banks are as safe current technology can make them. Because an-tibodies do not form immediately after exposure to the virus, a newly infected person may unknowingly donate blood after becoming infected but before his/her antibody test becomes positive. It is estimated that this might occur less than once in 100,000 transfusions

There is no danger of AIDS virus infection from visiting a doctor, dentist, hospital, hair-dresser or beautician. AIDS cannot be transmitted nonsexually from an infected per-son through a health or service provider to another person. Ordinary methods of disinfection ween children and persons in-for urine, stool and vomitus fected with the AIDS virus is and ways to prevent and treat which are used for non-infected not dangerous. people are adequate for people who have AIDS or are carrying the AIDS virus. You may h wondered why your dentist wears gloves and perhaps a mask when treating you. This does not mean that he has AIDS or that he thinks you do. He is protecting you and himself from hepatitis, common colds or flu. There is no danger in visiting a patient with AIDS or caring for him or her. Normal hygenic for him or her. Normal hygenic practices, like wiping of body fluid spills with a solution of water and household bleach (one part household bleach to 10 parts water), will provide

Children in School None of the identified cases of AIDS in the United States are known or are suspected to have been transmitted from one child to another in school, day-care, or foster care set-tings. Transmission would necessitate exposure of open uts to the blood or body fluids of the infected child, a highly unlikely occurence. Even the routine safety procedures for handling blood or other body fluids (which should be standard for all children in the school or day care setting) would be effective in preven-ting transmission from children with AIDS to other children in school. Children with AIDS are highly susceptible to infec-tions, such as chicken pox, from other children. Each child with AIDS should be examined by a doctor before attending school or before returning to school, day care, or foster care settings after an iliness. No blanket rules can be made for all school boards to cover all possible cases of children with AIDS and each should be considered separately and individualized to the child and the setting, as ould be done with any child with a special problem, such as cerebral palsy or asthma. A good team to make such decisions with the school board would be the child's parents, a physician and a public health official.

Casual social contact bet-

Insects
There are no known cases of AIDS transmission by insects, such as mosquitoes.

Dogs, cats and domestic animals are not a source of in-fection from the AIDS virus.

Although the AIDS virus has been found in tears and saliva, no instance of transmission from these body fluids has been reported.

AIDS comes from sexual contacts with infected persons and from the sharing of syr-inges and needles. There is no danger of infection with AIDS by casual social contact.

Testing of Military Personnel
You may wonder why the Department of Defense is currently testing its uniformed services personnel for presence of the AIDS virus an-tibody. The military feel this procedure is necessary because the uniformed ser-vices act as their own blood bank in a time of national emergency. They also need to protect new recruits (who protect new recruits (who unknowingly may be AIDS rirus carriers) from receiving live virus vaccines. These vac-cines could activate disease and be potentially lifeand be potentially threatening to the recruits.

ATDS: WHAT IS CURRENTLY UNDERSTOOD Although AIDS is still a mysterious disease in many ways, our scientists have learned a great deal about it. In five years we know more about AIDS than many for even longer periods. While there is no vaccine or cure, the results from the health and behavioral research communi-ty can only add to our knowledge and increase our

CONTACTS

DAILY WEAR

$97.00

EXTENDED &

TINTED WEAR

$12900

CONTACT

LENSE EXAM

$35

In spite of all that is kn about transmission of the AIDS virus, scientists will learn more. One possibility is the potential discovery of factors that may better explain the mechanism of AIDS infection.

SUMMARY

AIDS is no longer the con-cern of any one segment of society; it is the concern of us all. No American's life is in danger if he/she or their sexual partners do not engage in high isk sexual behavior or use shared needles or syringes to inject illicit drugs into the avoid getting the AIDS virus and to control the AIDS epidemic in the United States People who engage in high risk sexual behavior or who shoot drugs are risking infec-tion with the AIDS virus and are risking their lives and the lives of others, including their licit drugs.

NEWS BRIEF journals and the Chronicle of Higher Education. Athey's

Replacement

The College has appointed a search committee to find a replacement for retiring Athletic Director Ed Athey, Athey announced his retirement recently after 38 years of service to the College. Dr. Charles B. Clark, alum-nus, member of the Board of Visitors and Governors, former chairman of the history and political science department, and former varsity lacrosse coach, has agreed to chair the committee to replace Athey. Dean Elizabeth Baer is also serving along with several Applicants are being sought via advertisements in athletic

Correction

Letter to the Elm: Because of a typographical garble, the Elm's good story on tuition last week incorrectly translated my statement to students and parents. The correct statement is as follows: With room and board added. student charges pay only two dollars out of every three dollars for the College's current expenditures. Annual Giving from alumni and friends, including parents, as well as endowment earnings pay the remaining third. Douglass Cater,

READ The Elm

ST. GEORGE'S UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

GRENADA ST. VINCE

I nited Kingdom

- purpose of conducting a chinical eleikship program in Sex Nork teaching hospitals. St. George's received, a similar approad in 1985 from the New Jersey Board of Medical Examiners, this establishes St. George's as the only foreign medical school with instruction in English that has state-approach campioses in both New York.
- They find faculty positions in 20 U.S. medical schools 25% have been Chief Residents in 119 U.S. hospitals faccording to a 1986 survey.
- - St. George's University School of Medicine / 2/49 c. of The Foreign Medical School Services Corporation One Leaf Main Street * Bay Shore, New York 11706 (516) 665-8500

IDEAL OPTICAL COMPLETE SOFT

Edwin R. Trinks, Optician

Still Pond, Md.

ALL FRAMES

LENSES

With Purchase of Frames or Lens Valid with

One Full Year Guarantee On Glasses & Frames Evening Appointments Available

1 Day Service On Glasses and Contacts Show Your College ID Save Add't. 5%

EYE

EXAM

Regularly $35.00

$19<sup>00</sup>

Student Rockers: Shy at Parties

by Andrea Kehoe

"We're not really the big, loud types at parties. We're the people who are always in the corner," said freshman Noel Breger, explaining the name of the student band for which he plays guitar, Shy at Parties.

The four-man combination of Breger, bass player Brent Hopkins, drummer Jim Doran, and vocalist Drew Elburn ed before Spring Break at a party in Cullen. Recently added to the group of four freshmen was sophomore Todd Karr on keyboards. Chuck Arnold, a freshman, serves as soundman

Ironically this group of self-declared shy musicians got their start at a party when Doran and Breger met during when Doran and Breger met during orientation week. The two discussed their common interest in punk music and decided to get together for a jamming session. Formation of å band was postponed as Breger was then rhythm guitarist for Nick Flick and the Projectors, the Theta Chi-sponsored group that disbanded last semester.

"We looked for other musicians and ended up with these guys," Doran ex-

With plans to play together until all graduate, the band hopes to get jobs at the Newtowne Pub, Chesapeake College, and in Dover or Newark.

"We want to go as far as we can, get as many gigs as we can," Breger said, adding that next summer they hope to ork as a band and live together at the Eventually Doran would like to see Shy at Parties evolve into performers of only their own work. "We're still getting to know each other as musicians. We haven't been together long enough to have our own style collectively.

preparations for their first show last month allowed them to practice only eight times. Sound equipment was bor-rowed from senior Charlie Joiner, who trained Arnold, and the show was spon sored by the first and second floors of . Though they encountered a few problems with monitors malfunc-tioning and Hopkins' guitar breaking, the band members relaxed as they started playing and the crowd began to Washington College's own student rock band, Shy at Parties, make decisions democratically: "Whoever breaks the most stuff wins." Guitarist Noel Breger, drummer Jim Doran, bass player Brent Hopkins, keyboadist Todd Karr, and vocalist Drew Elburn will bring their brand of parry

"It's just a hell of a good time.

You get a nice feeling of satisfaction after you're done."

The band usually holds two "seripractices a week but often spends time switching instruments and making up songs. They now have two songs of original material — a punk remake of "In the Jungle" and a collaborative effort entitled "Love You Dead," which Doran describes as a satire of people at this school and of society in general. "It makes fun of punk itself," he said.

Their own material, however, has not yet found its way into their sets. In-stead, they play what they term "party " any type with the exception of country and western. "We're a crowd pleasing band; basically we try to cover everybody's interest," said

These shy partiers find no disad-vantages to playing in a band. "It's a way of expressing yourself creatively. Your input in a song, when you really put yourself into it, makes it comes out a little differently," said Hopkins.

Explaining that the physical energy e puts into drumming allows him to vent frustrations, Doran said, "It's just a hell of a good time. You get a nice feeling of satisfaction after you're

'They weren't expecting what we gave therm," Breger recalled, adding that many who heard the performance have requested a tape. "They knew it was live but they thought it would be slow and real soft. Everybody was sur-

Shy at Parties no doubt surprises those who hold the typical music video stereotypes of rock bands. As Breger pointed out, he and Doran have hair that is longer than average and share an interest in heavy metal music, but they are quick to discount assumptions sometimes made about them. "We're playing music because we love to play music," the drummer said. "This is our sport."

Said Hopkins, "I can't see us ever getting a stereotype. We're all so com-pletely different and our musical tastes are so different that any stereotype would have to be something really weird."

Despite their personality differences the band members are friends outside of practice, and Doran and Karr are roommates. Because there is no designated leader, decisions are made democratically. "Whoever breaks the most stuff gets it," Doran joked.

Conflicts with homework are kept to a minimum, Elburn said, and he finds practices a break from studying. "We're just having fun."

Though they differ from stereotypical rockers, the dream of performing pro-fessionally is not alien to them. Breger uld like to see them play together for a while after graduation and Doran. who plans a career in some aspect of the music business, hopes to gain con-nections through members of his himself how to play the guitar two and a half years ago, had not previously played the bass. Said Breger, "Brent picked up really quickly. He'd never played the bass before and we just said, 'Here's 40 songs.' Now Todd has to do that."

Karr, who returned to the keyboards last year after a lapse during high school, already anticipates his premiere performance with the group.
"I'll be a wreck for about a week beforehand," he predicted.

"Brent picked up really quickly. He'd never played the bass before and we just said, 'here's 40 songs.'

Now Todd has to do that."

rmer band who are now living in California

Not all of the band members were Not an of the band hiembers were familiar with the role they now play. Though Doran and Breger had both participated in bands in high school, Elburn had never before sung for an audience and Hopkins, who taught

Parties plays again April 10 at another party in Cullen. This time they plan to advertise the show to draw more students

One stipulation for attendance, however, does exist. As Hopkins joked, "It's for shy people."

The Coffee House Is Now Taking

APPLICATIONS

For The 1987-88 School Year:

Arcade Workers Needed: Under 21 years of age Bar Workers Needed: Over 21 years of age. Responsibility and ability to take peer pressure essential for the job!

APPLY TODAY!

Amity Bakery

and Coffee Shop

Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookles, ecial Occasion Cakes On Order

Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M. unch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

Mon.-Sat. 5 A.M.-5 P.M. Sunday 5 A.M.-2 P.M.

GASLON'S BUSINESS MACHINES

Most makes of typewriters & calculators & other business machines

30 Years Experience

837 High St. Ext.

778-5611

So. You Want To Be An R.A.

by Andrea Kehoe

so, you want to be an R.A. For those to understand that these letters are the abbreviation of "Rastafarians ymous," a position as a Resident symbols, stant at Washington College is the ect way to take home a hefty heck, add to your resume and get single room even if you're not a however, you first must pass the fuls experienced this week

Candidates are grilled in interviews this year's R.A.'s, the guys who've at the front all year and want to somebody else suffer. Only those get through the background ever make it this far. If you fered penny candy as a second of or instigated food fights in or high, forget it. You're not R.A.

off the cuff

Although finding the clean-cut, all-perican types who do constitute R.A. terial is not easy at Washington, the mpetition is stiff enough that certain induals are automatically ruled One of these is the type who has One of these is the type who has non a quest for power ever since he rejected by the Nazi Youth of trica as a youngster. Proudly uring his "Facism Is Love" t-shirt, dreams of handing out fines to those o give him sideways glances or who tray a tendency for independent ray a tendency los sking. While the interviewers are wary of choosing anyone who suggests that R.A.'s have their own bloodhounds and be allowed to torture, this student's flawless memorization of every regula-tion in the handbook is impressive.

suitable is the guy who shows up for his interview wearing boxers that hang below his shorts - no doubt the look for the yuppies of the nineties — and gripp-ing his application that he dutifully filled out in crayon. He proclaims that he wants to be an R.A. so he can have the building. First of all, interviews should be conducted not during the day but at night. Sudden awakenings are a fact of life for R.A.'s, and they have to be lucid to stumble out into the hall and determine who to attack with a water gun.

Dining Hall menu in his room and return to school a week early for Orien-tation — an ideal time to drink every night without enduring a hangover in an 8:30 class. The interviewers find this type a little too dedicated when he swears he will put out any fires in his building with his own body.

In addition to the ability to do without sleep, R.A.'s need courage to threaten

"...the perfect way to add to your resume and get a single..."

Of course, female residence halls require female R.A.'s, and there's no shortage of applicants for these jobs. One probable competitor, whose ap-plication is neatly written out in pastelcolored felt-tip pens with little circles dotting the i's, promises that she will be dotting the i.s. promises that sne will be able to guide her girls in proper nailcare and hair conditioning. Fairly dripping with enthusiasm, she further vows to make "real cute" nametags for her residents' doors and to fine anyone whose clothes are out of style.

Somewhere out there, however, realistic candidates for Resident Assistant positions do exist, they just need to toughen up a little, to go through "basic training." Those who have held summer jobs with animal control squads or as aides in daycare centers are best suited to the challenging assignment of one specific campus dorm, which shall remain nameless, though it has a very distinctive smell.

Other R.A. hopefuls, on the other hand, do not share this advantage and need to be initiated before they can learn to control the inhabitants of their the fitness center or who have the dilated pupils indicative of three weeks spent listening to the White Album

Another aspect of R.A. preparation is tolerance training. Seniors, particular-ly ones who purchase a radar equipped to detect the whereabouts of their thesis advisor, must learn to bite their tongue when freshmen complain that they are overworked by four introduc-

Those who make it through the R.A. selection process have more to look forward to than just the opportunity to cause their enemies monetary pain in the form of fines. Their first week of school can be spent helping freshmen carry air conditioners and refrigerators up three flights of steps and appeasing parents who thought junior was going to be living in the

So, you don't want to be an R.A.? There's always "Rastafarians Anonymous."

Bring your own snorkel:

ive In With New Scuba Class

you ever dreamed kut diving for treasure or ex-ling the ruins of sunken los? Well, says Bart Riordan the Calypso Scuba Club, nd this is the place to do it. is referring to the scuba ring class that he will teach the Casey Swim Center from ril 8 to April 23.

Riordan, a licensed scuba ng instructor and member Scuba Schools International an diving in the Navy. He is experienced diver who has the diving all over the world. The looks at his class as an optunity to share his ex-tence with others. "My the interest really lies in ching...(and) getting others erested in the sport."

The class will instruct

CHESTERTOWN, MD. 21620

says Riordan. Scuba is an acronym for "self contained acronym for "self contained under water breathing ap-paratus;" it allows normal breathing under water. Rior-dan teaches how to dive and what the underwater environ-ment is like; how to make swimming and reacting in an emergency a sense; how to clear a water-filled mask and regulator and how to maintain neutral buoyancy in the

At the end of the course Riordan takes his students to a quarry in Pennsylvania for their final exam. He claims the sport is easier than most peo-ple think, but if one fails the course one can come back for the next session free of charge.

In addition to this beginners class, Riordan teaches advanced classes in night and limited boat, and deep sea diving. He takes students with him to dive off the coast of Ocean City and

301-778-3566

The course actually begins on April 8, but on the night of Friday, April 6, Riordan will be holding an informational meeting about the curriculum and needed equipment. The cost is $285.00, which includes full certification as a scuba diver after completion of the two parts of the course classroom and pool training. Students will need to provide their own mask, fins and Even tho the scuba div- be a dive master, an instruc-g course i, not related to the tor, a member of a search and College curriculum, Riordan rescue team, a commercial points out that there is a future diver, or even a treasure and it. The student can go on to salvage diver.

With our professional instructors, you can expect the highest quality in-struction. In addition to our entry level scube classes, our experts teach a wide range of advance and specialty courses. For More Information Stop By or Call: Brian Bishop at the Casey Swim Center, Ext. 438.

CALYPSO DIVE SHOP Grasonville, Md.

Women's Tennis Expect Good Returns

Laxers Lose To Duke, 9-6

by Carter Boatner

The W.C. Lacrosse team was defeated 9-6 last Saturday by the Division I Bluedevils of Duke University. Last weekend was the fourth time this season the Shoremen have faced a Division I school. The teams record now stands at 2-4.

The team did not manage to put together a balanced team effort. The offensive per-formance by the Shoremen formance by the shortunes was highlighted by Chris This season the defense has been the strongest part of the day, was credited with three day, was credited with three day, when W.C. struggled games, when W.C. struggled

Regardless of Dollar's bright performance there were several key opportunities in which the offense could have tied up the game but failed to get points on the board. In the held Duke Duke game, as well as in tenpoints.

several earlier games this season, the offense did not demonstrate the ability to score points when behind in the

Coach Terry Corcoran stated that the offense has improved but still has a long way to go before reaching the point where it can compete con-sistently with top Division III schools such as Hobart.

offensively, the defense played aggressively and was effective in keeping the game within reach. The defense, led by third year goalie Mark Mickum, executed well and held Duke's scoring to under

Unfortunately, the defense suffered a big setback with the loss of All-American Dave Hillard. Hillard reinjured his shoulder and the amount of playing time he will receive in the future remains uncertain at this point

sion III competition this weekend in up-state New York against Nazareth and Alfred The team is confident because they have not lost to a Division III team this season. Competing against an opponent of a lower caliber will provide the team with a good opportunity to prepare both offensively and defensively for the April 4 home game against the Divi-sion III defending National sion III defending Nation Champion Hobart Statesmen

The Sho'men resume Divi

junior outfielder Chris Bailey Strong freshman candidates are pitchers Chris Long and Brian Henry, and outfielder Mike Almony

Shorenotes: The Shoremen play three home games next week when they host Haverford College for a doubleheader at 1:00 p.m for a doubleheader at 1:00 p.m. on Saturday, March 28, Washington Bible College, 3:00 p.m. on Tuesday, March 31, and a U.M.E.S., 1:00 p.m. doubleheader on Wednesday, will be really competitive and no team will have a lock on the championship. W.C. should be one of the teams fighting for Working with the minimum six players needed to complete (three of which are returning varsity members) the women's tennis team, having seen an excellent showing by the new players, is expecting a good season. Lindsay Tanton and Meg Wheatley, singles players numbers five and six and the third doubles team, remain undefeated with 8-0 records each. "It's already obvious that the strength of the team will come from the lower lad-der positions," said Coach Hol-ly Bramble. "The continuing quality of play by Meg and Lindsay will almost surely result in three matches won at every team match (out of a possible nine). They have been a very pleasant surprise." The first four matches have left the team with a 3-1 record.

A Wednesday, March 18, match against Anne Arundel was forfeited by the opponent, who did not have enough girls. The team used the extra day to practice for Thursday's home match against Widener, the season opener in past years season opener in past years.

Winning Thursday singles matches were: Pam Loughman at first singles (6-1, 6-0); Lindsay Tanton at fifth singles, who turned things around after losing the first set (1-6, 6-4, 6-3); and Meg Wheatley at sixth singles (6-

> "With the exception of first singles, no spot on the ladder is reserved."

Widener and W.C. were tied 3-3 entering the doubles competition with victories in two of the three doubles matches needed to win. Teaming up in second doubles were Erin Patterson and Suzanne Siegel, who won easily (6-1, 6-4) strong net play from Patterson and solid groundstrokes from Siegel. Meg Wheatley and Lindsay took the second doubles win and the match for W.C., finishing 6-4, 6-2. At first singles Pam

Loughman and Cathy Engle lost a tough match which went to a third set tiebreaker played almost complete darkness (4-6, 6-4, 7-6, 8-6)

(4-6, 6-4, 7-6, 8-6).
Saturday the team travelled to Hood College in Frederick, to Hood College in Frederick, was played with different results — 4-5 loss. Fam Loughman won with case again at first singles (6-6, 6-1), abbutle at second singles (6-4, 6-2). At third, Erin Fatterson lost (6-1, 6-3), as did Suzaman Siegel at Lourch (6-2, 6-4). Lindsay Tanton Struggled through reversing a bad start (24, 17-5). At sixth, Meg Wheat played a similar match (34)

Again W.C. doubles at a 3-3 tie. This time was the opponent who secutwo of the doubles wins. At doubles Cathy Engle and P. Loughman lost moments losing 6-3, 6-3 to Hood. B. Patterson and Suzanne Sis were also unsuccessful (63)

Wheatley, showing exemple endurance, played their sec set match of the day. Whea was impressive at the ne Tanton's consistency backcourt culminated in a fi score of 6-1, 4-6, 7-5.

Catonsville was crushed this past Monday after redistribution of players on ladder — a successful ex ment by Coaches Tom negan and Holly Bram Suzanne Siegel played to number two spot, Cathy Etc the number three spot, as Erin Patterson was at numbe four. All came up winnen These changes are not perm nent "With the exception a first singles," said Cose Bramble, "no spot on the lader is reserved for any on player. Throughout the sease we may be trying different; we may be trying different; proaches to the singles its proaches to the singles its proaches. the number three spot, a proaches to the singles lin

Two shut-outs occurred Two Shut-outs occurred a the singles matches. Erin Paterson and Lindsay Tatte didn't drop a game, winning 0, 6-0. Cathy Engle aced a dicult opponent at three, ber hard, flat shots defeat Cheryl Paliki, 6-3, 6-4.

Under the direction of twi new coaches, the women team is shaping into wh could be a very successful team. While the actual number of players is low, the girls appear to have the stamina guidance to overcome. Freshmen Suzanne and Meg Wheatley, and Ju Lindsay Tanton are new tool legiate competition but is shown no signs of im-perience. Cathy Engle a Erin Patterson, in their the season, are recouping e losses and returning to accomplished level of play

Stam Drug Co. 215 High Street

Chestertown, Maryland 778-3030

Hudson's Vitamins Cosmetics

• Russell Stover Candy

·Soda Fountain

Baseball Faces Two Doubleheaders

by John Bodnar

Spring not only brings warm temperatures, but also the start of the baseball season. The Washington College baseball team, under Head Coach Edward Athey is currently 2-2

The Shoremen opened up the season with a 9-6 victory over season with a 9-6 victory over Delaware State and recently split a double-header with Widener University, losing the first game 6-3, but winning the second game 8-6

Preceding the regular season, The W.C. baseball team ventured to Florida for Spring Break. Coach Athey, pleased with the success of the team, said, "We played seven games in Florida against topnotch competition, primarily NCAA Division II and top NAIA schools, and we ended up winning three while losing

Returning seniors for the horemen are third baseman Mike Amey, pitcher Larry Brandt, and shortstop Dave Repko (All-Conference selec-tion). Pitcher Larry Brandt, who won six, lost three and had a 2.96 ERA last season is presently 4-0.

Other players to watch for are sophomore pitchers Eric Becker and Scott Jones, sophomore outfielders Dave Puskar and Alan Lerch, junior catcher Chris Rosfelder and

Coach Athey commented on this season, saying "The MAC the league leadership

phamore Adrienne Cupke pitches the spin that wins in the Sho'women's first home victory pitst Wosley that almost ended in a shutout.

In There!

by Jenni Pollard
Softball season opened in full swing with a game against Widener Tuesday March 17. Although the girls lost 11-7, Coach Penny Fall was pleased with their performance. Jackie Langdon had two triples, knocking in four of the six runs

six runs.

The shorewomen met Lebanon Valley in a second game at home for a double header. Lebanon Valley won both games, the first 12-2 and the second 22-16, after the game was called on account of darkness.

The team had their first victory at header where 14 against Wesley. The home March 24 against Wesley. The game was a shut-out until Wesley scored in the sixth inning. Coach Fall felt they hit well, and was particularly pleased with the fielding. The norewomen allowed only two errors in the entire game the entire game.

This year's team is young, with only four returning players. Coach Fall commented that "the girls are still trying to gel as a team. They have to come together as a group. Without a fast pit-cher the offense and defense has to be relied upon more. They have to learn to concentrate on every pitch and be ready for proper decis ready for proper decisions."

The Shorewomen's two pitchers are sophomore Adrienne Cupka and restmant Tracy Coleman. Coath Faul restmant Tracy Coleman. Coath Faul developed as pitchers. Adrienne Cupka pitched in high school but han't pitched in a year, and Tracy Coleman has never pitched bed ore. potential," said "We have a lot one Coret." We have a lot one control of the coath of have a young team but as the season progresses we'll start working as a team."

Sports Calendar

Friday 27 ennis (women's) Mt. Vernon (A)

Saturday 28 Alfred U. (A) Lacrosse (women's) Dickinson (A) Rasehall Haverford, 1:00 p.m. Softball Dickinson (A)

> LaSalle, 11:00 a.m. Sunday 29 Tennis (women's)

Navy, 1:00 p.m. Nazareth (A)

Tuesday 31 Baseball Washington Bible 3:00 p.m. Lacrosse (women's) Essex, 4:00 p.m. Softball Essex (A) Marymount, 3:30 p.m.

Wednesday 1 Baseball U.M.E.S., 1:00 p.m. Tennis (men's) Ursinus, 3:00 p.m.

> Thursday 2 St. Mary's (A)

Tennis Sinks To Navy, Trounces West Chester

by Fred Wyman shington College was a at numbers 3, m determined to win." nandez shocke

Seven of the nine matches at numbers 3, 4 and 6. Her-nandez shocked Navy Hall of tiebreaker to send the match to a third set, in which W.C.'s All-American broke the two time All-East selection twice to win 6-2 in the final set

Both Gewer and Phoebus lost their opening sets 6-4, 7-6 respectively, but rallied to win in three sets. Gewer edged Jamie Moore 4-6, 7-6 (11-9), 6-4 and Phoebus nipped Pat

Walker 6-7, 6-3, 6-2. Coleman and Marshall both won first sets only to lose in three. Attempting to preserve his undefeated record, Marhis undefeated record, Mar- another game losing his third shall was serving for the match match of the season.

HAVE

FRIEND

ARRESTED

Fame candidate Mike Spanos at 5-3 in the second set. Despite 6-4, 6-7, 6-2. Spanos saved two having three match points, the match points in the second set W.C. stalwart was unable to clinch the victory and fell 2-6, 7-5, 6-3 to John Chandler. Both Coleman and Gonzalez held leads in their third sets.

Coleman was head of John Wagner 4-1 and suddenly had his serve desert him. As the Navy plebe won the next six of seven games to take the

After dropping the first set 6-3, Gonzalez fought back to pull even at one set a piece. Serving with a 3-1 advantage in the final set, Gonzalez never won

CALL

AND OLUNTEER

TO BE

Earlier in the week the Shore netmen secured their seventh and eighth wins of the season. Washington rolled over Divi-sion II foe West Chester University 8-1 at home Friday, and trounced Division III Widener 9-0 at Chester, Penn-sylvania Saturday.

In their home opener the Shoremen swept all the singles contests as Hernandez, Gewer, Coleman, Gonzalez, Phoebus Marshall captured and straight set triumphs. The doubles team of Vince Maximo and Bill Shaw fell 6-2, 6-2 for Washington's only loss of the match. Hernandez and Gewer kept their doubles record perfect by defeating Scott Stanton and Seph Quaglin 6-1, 6-0. Ross Coleman teamed with Peter Maller for the other doubles win. Former W.C. standout Tim Gray had his Widener forces "ready to play" but his Pioneers were no match for the Shore netters. Gray's former teammates spoiled his MAC coaching debut, thrashing the Pioneers 9-0.

BIKEWORK |||||

778-6940

High Street, Chestertown

SPECIAL 1986 ROSS 17® HOOD TOP OF THE LINE MODEL REGULAR $454.00 NOW $379.95

FRIDAY, APRIL 17, FRIDAY APRIL 24, FRIDAY, MAY 1ST & FRIDAY, MAY 8TH CALL 778-1984 ANOTHER COMMUNITY RELATED PROJECT OF THE NEWTOWNE PUB

HELP TO PUT

BEHIND BARS

SUPPORT

CALL COLLECT 301-461-1792

(After April 1) ANSWER OUR PRAYERS

ARTS/

Of Devils, Journeymen, & The Printer's A

by David Healey
Students of the Literary House press workshop gathered Tuesday night to celebrate the promotion of three members to the position of journeyman. The new journeymen began their training in September, and after long hours of working in the press. after long hours of working in the press room, are the first group to earn the pagne and uncover their personal key to the Ackerman letterpress. Professor Robert Day marked the occasion with a toast from Ecclesiastes: "Printers - To the making of books there is no end."

Mary Riner, Jenny Eisberg, and Michele Balze began as Printers Devils last semester. Under Master Printer Michael Kaylor, the three devils learn ed the history and mechanics of letterpress printing while meeting Tuesday and Thursday evenings for two hour sessions. After completing a semester of this training, students become ap-prentices. They are assigned a job to prentices. They are assigned a job to complete, such as printing a chapbook, to fulfill their apprenticeship. Once finished, apprentices become Journeymen Printers. Journeymen Hour they they be apprentice of the Literary House press, including a key to the press, Journeymen help with current press room projects, and may use the press. for their own endeavors. These journeymen also help the Master Printer to train the Apprentices. Journeymen are paid modest wages for doing this work.

Other students who are working to be rneymen are Steve Kogler, Jennifer Harrison, Chas. Foster, Dan Forzano, Michael Rudin, Paul Henderson, and Elisa Teeple.

For their apprenticeships, Jenny Eisberg and Michele Balze completed a keepsake for Toni Morrison's visit to campus. They typeset excerpts from the works of both Morrison and Frederick Douglass, in whose name a fellowship room will be dedicated at the Literary House. The prose was then printed in gray ink on hand cut paper, with the names of the writers printed in large red letters. The finished pieces are truly beautiful. But a lot of grimy work went into completing them. Balze explained, "We spent hours typesetting it and we got down to where two sentences were left, and we ran out of g's and h's. So we had to reset the whole thing in a new type and size." That translated to hours of wasted time. Mary Riner helped prepare the chap-book, Exile, which will be printed within the next few weeks.

This system of training printers at Mashington College comes directly from the ancient Printers Guild. Master Printer Kaylor, owner of Inkl-ings Press, explains, "Printers Devils did everything - swept the floor, sorted type, that kind of thing." Apprentices Apprentices were a step above, but still committed to serve their master. More advanced Journeymen were paid a daily wage for their work. "Journeymen were known their work. "Journeymen were known as a pretty rough bunch," says Kajjou as a pretty rough bunch," says Kajjou linotype printing so that this image. They usually wandered from one shop could be used for the offset printing to another, working a few days at each. Today, typesetting for offset is done For instance, the Duke in Huckbeherry directly on a computer screen.

Finn was a journeyman printer. In a day when "literacy was not the rule," journeymen were one of the few tradesmen who could read. Printing shops were owned by a master printer, who had often worked his way to the top through the same system that the Freshman Jenny Eisberg and sophomore Michele Belze work together towards their journeyman standing in the letterpress workshop as master printer Mike Kaylor observes their work. Freshman Mary Rine thcoming magazine, Exile. ot shown) was also made a journeyman for her work on the for Both this lifestyle and letterpress printing have all but disappeared. For years, though, this was how all books and newspapers were printed. With a letterpress, each character is a single piece of lead type. these characters must be strung together to form words, which form lines of words, which form pages. It is a tedious and time-consuming task, and the demands of modern printing have made the letterpress obsolete. However, the quality of letterpress printing cannot be matched by "Macprinting," and today the ar-tistic uses of the letterpress are stress-

Until the turn of the century, all printed material was done by the letterpress. At that time, linotype became available. While still metal type, linotype was much faster, since a machine formed the type together line by line. On the letterpress a man could handset about 600 words an hour, using linotype, he could set 6,000. Kaylor explained, "Up until the early 1960's, ninety precent of all the printing that was done in this country was donby linotype. Then photocomposition revolutionized typesetting." The new process involved setting linotype, pro-trained. So it boils down to a generation of people who don't have this skill (of setting lead type)."

And skill it is. To print something such as the Toni Morrison keepsake is a complex process. First, an excerpt must be chosen and edited. Since the keepsake is printed in two colors, the names Toni Morrison and Frederick Douglass had to be typeset and printed in red ink. To do this, the typesetting was put into a form and printed on a was put into a form and printed on a small galleypress for proofreading. The corrected form was locked into a chase, then placed in the bed of the printing press. Red ink is applied to the ink disk, and rollers both spread the ink and ink the form which is in the press Any color may be used on the ink disk which is simply cleaned and re-inked to change colors. The two names were then printed on the paper in red ink. The name form was taken from the press and replaced with the form with the prose excerpts, the ink disk cleaned and re-inked with gray ink, the papers already printed with the red type aligned and fed into the press for the impression of the prose excerpts. Although the press has an electric motor, the paper must be hand-fed into it. All told, printing with the letterpress is a bit more complicated than turning on the laster writer. But the results are impressive.

Of course, this is all to print one sheet of paper. To print an entire chapbook of Union to join the work

"There was a gap where people learned how to do this in the late for-ties. It was the end of the era (of metal almost countless hours of work type) and they didn't train anybody because now they were training people for offset. So you have people who are lithograph carved from linoleum lithograph carved from linoleum. In comparison, the New York, publishers can print 1,000 news, in ten seconds. Colored the Colored Research Co ncreased printing technology mass produces has resulted in de mass produces has resulted in deep ed quality of printed material. In claims that the New York in printed with loose ink on cheap a pulp paper, is designed to has premium life of thirty minute. Paper preferred by quality printed high in cotton fiber, is neutral in and can leaf for 200 years. and can last for 300 years.

"Printing is the only art which not improved with time," says kn "The Guttenburg bible is probable best example of printing." He exp best example of printing." He exp that the bible was printed on the printing press in 1456. It has 1250 pg and the 200 copy edition took fives to produce. Today, some 40-50 its still exist. Recently a single leaf one of these bibles sold at auction $6,000. But both quality and durab have decreased in printing since the For instance, by 1492. "0,000 titles been printed, translating to some million volumes." million volumes.

Kaylor believes tha such mass duction has cheapened language people had a closer sacoidator language, they would ome to be better understanding a lit, and if art of words. "Type ling by be you can see all the ue, depth, meaning that words an have mechanical exercise works very when you have to set lines character. If that doesn't make you better poet, I don't know what can't continues. continues. "If we do best, then what will "If we do + strive for how do you ever rise bove mains

Literary House press will be gived day between 11:30 and 2:00 p.m. Kaj and student printers will be pur copies of the keepsale of Tonia rison's visit to show how the works

Students who are in prested in the land how to operate the Literary Ha ing how to operate the Literary press should see Kathy Wagner tor of the Washington of the Washington her office in the House. Interested st. o. is do

College Honors Frederick Douglass Today

Dy David Healey
The memory of abolitionist
Frederick Douglass will be ment of Colored People.
honored today at 2:30 when a fellowship room is dedicated in his name at the O'Nei. Literary House. Severa dignitaries will attend th dedication, including Dr. Beat the O'Neill House. Several director of the National tor of the O'Neill Literary House, said, "The plan is to dedicate literary study room to dignitaries will attend the writers who were prominent in dedication, including Dr. Bendaryland. That is certainly jamin L. Hooks, executive Frederick Douglass."

Frederick Douglass (1818- Douglass 1895) was born into slavery on an Eastern Shore plantation in Talbot county. He barely knew his mother, who died by the time he was eight years old. His father is unknown, but is rumoured to have been his

Baltimore home of Hugh Auld. where he was taught to read and write by Mrs. Sophia Auld. Auld disapproved of teaching a black slave, and the lessons were soon stopped. However, Douglass had discovered the white master, Colonel Edward key to power and freedom — Lloyd. While still a boy, education. He continued his

In 1838 Douglass e In 1838 Douglass ester.
North. Three years later, was lecturing for Massachusetts Anti-Slave Society, proclaiming has as "a thief and robbe because "this head, the limbs, this be v," as pul con ued on page

Sexual Perversity In Chicago To Open

By David Healey

e set seems to say it all. es — a living room, an of-and a bedroom. That's all the Drama Department s for next weeks produc-of Sexual Perversity in go. Although the title of id Mamet's play is sug-tive, director Charlie ox believes that the work take on true meaning for audience as it explores the onship between men and he plot of the play is essenhe search for meaning in life and relationships. For nce, two of the characters velop a relationship, and the both make efto try and understand other and to make a relahe the efforts at the same or make really good ef-. They're not willing to let of their personal and sexual onceptions and think of . . The men and women . basically ends up where it s, with the separation of leand female icox cautions that Mamet s an ironic viewpoint to express this relationship. "Some bedroom. But these scenes are people would perhaps describe it as vulgar, but it all depends on your definition of vulgar. His aims — and my aims — are certainly not vulgar. I think what this play says about the way we look at people is something that needs to be heard, particularly on this campus and in this country."

While the language of the play may be strong, Wilcox thinks that it is also poetic in its imitation of everyday conversation. He describes it as the language of the Coffeehouse. Mamet's achievement is in paring down this colloquial language to produce a mean-ingful work of art. 'There's a definite lyrical quality to his writing which I admire," says

A few lines of dialog from the play sound like this:

play sound like this:
Danny. "Your friend Joan is a better f—than you are.
Deborah. "I'm sure she is."
Danny. "And she's a lousy f—Pause Aren't you going to tell me I'm a lousy f—?"

Deborah. "You are a lousy f-

There is no nudity in the play, although some intimate scenes do take place in the no embarrassment to the ac-tors. "They're actors," says Wilcox. "They deal."

Wilcox. "They deal."
Wilcox is particularly proud of the setting for the play. "I am staging a more realistic production than the original concept set used." he says. The Washington College production will use more props, and the three stage areas will provide a more natural setting than the a more natural setting than the original production had. The bedroom, office, and living room are not connected, but represent three different places in Chicago. Areas around these stages are used to portray still other places in the Wilcox decided to do the play the play. After watching the movie, he thought that the story could be better handled on stage in its original version. 'So the next day I went out and got a copy of the script and read it, and probably read it three or four times in the first four or five days that I had it. I had really made up my mind that I wanted to do the show right then and there."

The Spring semester has

Tom Steele, Jennifer Morgan, and Matt Weir rehearse for Sexual Per sity in Chicago. Not shown is Michele Volansky.

after seeing the film About Ionesco with Exit the King and Volansky as Joan, Last Night, which is based on John Guarre, whose play Lydie Morgan as Deborah, the play After watching the Breeze was performed here Steele as Danny while his latest play was on Broadway. David Mamet's play Glengarry Glenross ap-peared in a local theatre just a few month's ago. The next tew month's ago. The next Drama Department produc-tion will feature ultra-contemporary playwrights as it produces the works-in-progress of Washington Colege writers.

The cast for Sexual Perversifeatured many modern by in Chicago features Matt playwrights, including Eugene Weir as Bernard, Michele continue with today's dedica-

Morgan as Deborah, and Tom Steele as Danny. Stage manager is Rebecca Jewsbury, lighting designer is Cindy Curley, set designer is Steve Brody, costume designer is Esther Diamondstone, and Gina Braden is dramaturg. Junior Charlie Wilcox is direc

The play will be performed Tuesday and Wednesday even-ings at 8:00 p.m. in Tawes Theatre. Reservations can be made in advance by calling 778-2800, ext. 269.

Douglass Honored

ued from page 10

"stolen from my gifted speaker, Douglass ed his audiences with cries justice. His convictions are dent in a Fourth of July ch delivered at Rochester, Vork, in 1852: "What to American slave is your with of July? I answer, a day eveals to him, more than other days in the year, the ith he is the constant vica sham, your celebration a sham, your boasted liberand unholy license; ional greatness, swelling are empty and heartless;

MICHELE-

FOUR

DAYS

brass-fronted impudence; your shout of liberty and equality hollow mockery; your prayers and hymns, your sermons and thanksgivings, with all your religious parade and solemni-ty, are to him mere bombast and fraud, deception, impiety and hypocrisy - a thin veil to cover up crimes which would disgrace a nation of savages.' By 1847, Douglass ha published the first issue of his abolitionist weekly, the North in Rochester. writer, Douglass' first book was Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass: An American Slave Bruce Catton describes the work, "No book more vividly explains the emotional impetus behind the antislavery movement than Frederick Douglass' Narrative . . Later by Douglass included My Bon-dage and My Freedom, and The Life and Times of Frederick Douglass.

Douglass went on to become the United States. In 1891 he was appointed by President Harrison as Minister-Resident and Consul-General to the D'Affaires for Santo Domingo. He died of a heart attack at

The Douglass legacy will the outstanding black citizen of Republic of Haiti, and Charge Washington, D.C. on February 25 1805

THOMAS PAINE AND THE RISE OF ATHEISM

Featured in the Jan.-Feb. issue is free with $6.00 year last. Sample copy $1.00

American Rationalist P.O. Box 994 St. Louis, MO 63188

tion, as the fellowship room has been endowed in his name. and funds from the endowment will provide for student education. The goal of the Literary house is to endow and dedicate all of its fellowship rooms to att of its fellowship rooms to support Literary house pro-grams. Day explained, "The future is just as important as the present." Eventually, students awarded a fellowship will receive a small stipend from the interest of the endowment fund.

George Dean, owner of the Imperial Hotel, was chairman of the very successful drive to raise the Frederick Douglass endowment funds. Said Robert Day, "He has been very generous with his time and reception will follow the dedication this afternoon.

: at

EMILY HAIRDRESSER

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

while still a boy, caucation. He continued his

Coming

Joshua Tree Survives Pop Desert

by Jeremiah Foster

"I'll show you a place/high on the desert plain." Here resides The Joshua Tree, the new album from U2 released two weeks ago. Amidst the vacuous pop music desert sur-vives The Joshua Tree, an icon of spirituality.

U2's spiritual message has been criticized in the past for being pretentious or preachy, but this album should convince non-believers of their sinceri-

U2 works with Eno again on this album and his presence is strongly felt. Eno diffuses the songs, allows them to build and songs, allows them to bound and invests them with a certain unity. But despite synthesizer programming and endless guitar over-dubs, this album moves closer to American blues and country forms.

The acoustic slide guitar on "Running to Stand Still" is like something out of Ledbelly. The song is about America and the use of slide guitar gives the song integrity.

U2 is the incredible build-up of feedback on "Bullet the Blue Sky" and "Exit." U2 has used feedback effectively before, particularly on their EP Wide Awake in America, but the build-up here is Hendrixesque. One can imagine the Edge just slapping the strings and letting the infinite howl of the amplifier take over. There is an immense vitality to this music that goes beyond the music itself, despite Eno's moody tempering.

The themes that run through U2's past music occur again here. Political dissatisfaction. heroin addiction, and America are all powerfully depicted without the jaded boredom of without the jaded boredom of Springsteen or recent Dylan. American topics such as racism are invested with American music on this album. Bono plays decent harmonics,

The lyrics are, as usual, precise and moving. There is specific reference to God but it is tempered to represent ong integrity. something more universal than Another new guitar sound for any Christian usage. "One

Tree Hill" is a eulogy to Greg who died in July. Here Bono prefers the secular image of spirituality rather than the traditional religious image. "And in our world a heart of darkness, a firezone/where poets speak their hearts, then bleed for it.' The desire for a rebirth of spirituality, more closely connected to art than religion, shows in Bono's attitude towards pretentious pop stars who make overtures to social issues. "I don't believe in painted roses or bleeding hearts/while bullets rape the night of the merciful."

As this band works with Eno As this band works with cano and Daniel Lanoic, they keep creating work of astonishing evocative power. For all the right reasons, this band will rise above the barren, desen-sitized world of contemporary music to be viewed as the strongest band of the Eighties This album will prove to be one of the top albums of the decade.

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Sophie Kerr Committee Colloquy on Frederick Douglass Toni Morrison, Huston Baker,

Richard DeProspo O'Neill Literary House, 10:30 a.m.

Dedication of the Frederick Douglass Room O'Neill Literary House, 12:00 noon Sophie Kerr Committee

Toni Morrison Reading From Her Work Sophie Kerr Literary Award to Toni Morrison Norman James Theatre, 4:30 p.m.

Concert Marlon Saunders, singer and saxaphone player, with Dennis Montgomery, pianist Norman James Theatre.

8:30 p.m. Open Mike Night

9 p.m.-1 a.m. Coffeehouse $1.00 donation

Film Series:
Elisa, Vida Mia
Norman James Theatre, 7:30 p.m.

SUNDAY'31

Film Series: Elisa, Vida Mia Norman James The 7:30 p.m.

MONDAY 30

Literary House Talks
"Why Stand On Your Head Kevin Brien Professor of Philosophy, Speaker O'Neill Literary House Tea, 4:00 p.m., Talk, 4:30n

Film Series: Elisa Vida M Norman James Theatr 7:30 p.m.

TUESDAY 31

PACE Series 'Neighborly Perception and Approaches (Pennsylvania and Virginia)" William Eichbaum George Wolff, and Joseph Gartlan, Jr., Speakers Sophie Kerr Room, 7:30 p.m. $8.00, students free

Drama Department Student Production Sexual Perversity in Chicago Tawes Theatre, 8:00 p.m. Also April I

Chestertown Movie Theater

Hours: Fri.-Sun. 7 & $ p.m. Mon.-Thurs. 7:45 p.m.

Manneguin March 27-April 2

778-157

Why Stand On Your Head?

by Jenny Eisberg What does one make of a lec-ture entitled "Why Stand on Your Head?" Of course, the first reaction of many students is to assume that there is some symbolic meaning involved. This time, though, the title must be taken literally. On Monday, March 30, the O'Neill Literary House Teas and Talks Series is hosting this intriguing talk, given by Professor Kevin Brien of the Philosophy Department

After being introduced by professor Tapke at a faculty dinner in September as someone who practices standing on his head, Brien said that he was asked one day if he would be willing to give a talk on the subject

Standing on one's head, a standard practice in most forms of yoga, seems to "generate an interconnection of all the different psychic dimensions," the dimensions dimensions," the dimensions of consciousness. Brien ex-plained that standing on his head helps him to keep a "mode of consciousness" where he can feel that interconnection of the dimensions of consciousness. He views all types of yoga practice as types of yoga practice as "fostering" that kind of mode

Brien will be discussing the actual practice of standing on one's head and the effect it has sheat and the effect it has physiologically, emotionally and spiritually on people. Then he will tell a story which he created, based on a Japanese haiku: Oh skinny little frog, don't give up the fight; Esa is right here to help. The theme of this story is the interconnection around these frogs; it stays closely with the interconnection of all things with all

The skinny little frog is a symbol of "human shortcomsymbol of numan shortcomerings, fears, apprehensions," while Esa, the poet, is a symbol of the "Buddha nature within — the source of courage within." Brien believes that all people have a source courage inside themselves they can find their way back to it. But people also have the skinny little frogs inside and, "we have to overcome those apprehensions."

For this talk, Brien is concentrating solely on the prac-tice of standing on one's head as opposed to other forms of yoga. He anticipates that the talk "will be fun for people" who are not familiar with yoga. Tea and refreshments will be served at 4:00 p.m., Brien's lecture at 4:30.

ELISA VIDA MIA

ELISA VIDA MIA

A film by CARLOS SAURA

STARRING GERALDINE CHAPLIN AND FERNANDO REY SPAIN, 1977, 120 MIN., COLOR, 16MM, ENGLISH SUBTITLES

MISS CHAPLIN REVEALS QUALITIES OF FEELING, CONTROL, AND BEAUTY THAT NO OTHER DIRECTOR HAVE EVER FOUND. THE NEW YORK THE

CARLOS SAURA HAS PUT TOGETHER THE RAW MATERIAL OF HIS LIFE AND COME UP WITH AN EXTRAORDINARY FILM. EY IS EXCELLENT

AND THOUGHTFUL ARCHER WINSTE

FRIDAY/SUNDAY/MONDAY $1 ADMISSION 7:30 P.M NORMAN JAMES THEATRE WASHINGTON COLLEGE FILM SERIES

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 23

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, April 3, 1987

Seniors Find Speakers Elusive

by Tony Caligiuri President Cater and the med a key note speaker for Commencement ceremonies. The president cited "substan-tial progress" in his efforts, tespite the numerous invitaions of his that have been teclined in the past few mon-

Micolaidis, Senior class presi-dent, Cater has failed speatedly, in trying to find a neaker for graduation. To her nowledge, no invitations have been accepted. Presently, Fulbright (ARK) and national y recognized philosopher and ducator Mortimer Adler have eccepted Cater's invitations to receive honorary degrees dur-ing the Commencement ceremonies

In a meeting with Cater last October, Senior class represenatives presented the president atives presented the president with a list of 10-20 female can-didates for speakers. Nicolaidis said the list was forminated by women since it as been nearly thirty years ince a women delivered the toy note address. The only weman Cater sent an invitation to was former First Lady Betty

In January, Cater extended an invitation to Sissela Bok, wife of President Bok of Harwhe of President Box of Har-rard University. Bok was not on the orginal list submitted to the president by the Senior class. Since Box could not atcass. Since Bok could not av-and, Cater asked four-star ad-airal Hopper, the highest naked female naval officer, to en's Varsity Eight crew carry their shell from the Chester Saturday after losing a three-way race to opponent LaSalle L Women's Varsity, however, fored better. Details on page 9.

Power Shower

College Budget Crunch:

$400,000 Overrun

by Audra M. Philippon In October, the Business Of-fice realized that the College had overrun its student aid budget by approximately $400,000. Two major factors contributed to the shortfall, and the budgetary implications for student aid in the future are numerous. "Nothing of this magnitude has ever occurred know what was happening in the accounts." Hessey said, "As the accounts." Hessey said, "As the computer system was be-ing developed last year, there was a problem getting ac-curate reports generated. However, that's a matter of hard copy; there were other records...so I can't place total fault on the computer."

scholarships (i.e., Beneficial-Hodson and Presidential scholarships (i.e., Beneficial-Hodson and Presidential scholarships) are offered by the Admissions Office, while need-based awards are granted by the Financial Aid Office. According to Vansant, the merit program has no bear-ing on the demonstration of financial need.

Both programs experienced

'Nothing of this magnitude has ever

occurred' at Washington College...

at Washington College, said Vice President for Finance, "I would like to hope that Gene Hessey.

Cater) has not given up yet,"

One factor leading to the er-

Twold like to hope that the result of the erical (Gater) has not given up yet," One factor leading to the erial Nicolaids, who expects ror was poor record-keeping. But he will extend Fulbright's "We couldn't get our reports attached to include the out of the computer," explained and Bonnie Vansant, Director of primary problem leading to the overrun was an unexpected increase in the number of students who aclege. "Like hotels and airlines, we overcommitted, and we were faked out," said Director of Admissions, Kevin Coveney.

"The number of acceptances was higher than we had

You normally make more offers than you have funding for based on previous accep-tance rates," explained Hessey. Overexposure like Hessey. Overexposure like Washington College had, however, is not an uncommon however, is not an uncommon experience, said Hessey. Dave Wheelan, Vice President for Development agreed: "They even wrassle with this at Student aid awards come from two sources. Merit-based Honkins !

a dramatic increase in the number of students who ac-cepted offers from the College. For example, about two-thirds of the merit-based awards offered by Admissions are usually declined. "Last year, 52% of the offers were accepted," ex-plained Coveney. "We had figured that only about 40% would accept." Similarly, the Financial Aid office faced at least a 7-8% increase in its acceptance rate from the year before, ac-cording to Hessey. "I probably overaward about 30-40%," said Vansant. "Needless to say, I was surprised at the students who turned down the awards...Obviously there are more students who want to come to Washington College than I, or Kevin, had an-ticipated.

continued on page 4 Dean.

Berru Leaving For Louisiana

by Jennie Smith After three years of dedica-tion and hard work, Associate Dean Alice Berry is leaving the College. The position of Associate Dean was new at the time of her appointment, and according to Dean Elizabeth Baer, Berry has done an outstanding job of making the office a vital part of administration.

Although she will miss the friendships that she has developed here with both faculty and students, Berry explained, "I think I belong in classroom." In July, Berry will take the position or associate professor of French a Centenary College. Like W.C. Centenary is a small liberal arts college in Shreveport, enrollment of 800.

My major field of interest is with the French Renaissance and, as a professor, I will be able to do research and further studies which are not available here in an administrative position," said Berry,

Dean Baer explained her feeling, "She longs to return to the classroom," said the Dean, "although I am sorry for us, I'm happy for her." Berry has brought together many jobs that were previously distributed among other came jobs that were previously distributed among other campus administrators. In addi-tion, she has formed academic probation conferences and probation conferences and other services to assist students. "She has done an outstanding job," said Dean Baer. "She has created a meaningful position of Associate Dean."

Because the office of Associate Dean because the office of the other has grown in

Associate Dean has grown in importance, the College now faces the question of a replacement for Berry. Adver-tisements have already been placed in The Chronicle of Higher Education Baer feels this will insure a nationwide search for the best candidate tion expects 100-120 applicants

Once all of the applications have been accepted, the administration will screen them and after inviting the best candidates to speak on campus, it will select the new Associate

|                    | 25 1000 |
|--------------------|---------|
| INSIDE:            |         |
| Alcohol Task Force | p.4     |
| Morrison Interview | p.6     |
| off the cuff       | p.7     |
| lennis.            | p.8     |
| Crew               | p.9     |
| Photography Shows  | p.11    |
|                    |         |
|                    |         |

OPINION

NONE OF THE ABOVE

One of the many S.G.A. election petitions being circulated this week is asking students not for their support of a candidate for office, but for their support of the right to be able to vote for no candidates at all. Signatures have been, and are being collected demanding that the category of NONE OF THE ABOVE (NOTA) be added as a voting option under each of the five S.G.A. offices up for vote on April 14.

The NONE OF THE ABOVE option is based on a simple

The NONE OF THE ABOVE option is based on a simple premise. The purpose of any demoratic electoral process is to give the voter as choice. What is forgotten, however, is that unless the voter has the option of not making a choice at all, he or as has no "choice." The NONE OF THE ABOVE category on a ballot makes an election truly free. Its inclusion allows the voter of so many evils" or being accused to "civit i truego of the consisting often as a conscientious protest, not to vote at all.

The objections to the NONE OF THE ABOVE option come, as one would expect, from politicians who would rather have the indifferent or disenchanted voter placing an X by their name instead of being able to meaningfully reject the entire ticket. Other thanks are considered to the control of the

the offices being decided.
These objections miss the point, however. People shouldn't have to run for office to be able to make a favorable choice and have to run for office to be able to make a favorable choice and sanyary. INOTA actually took the majority in any race it would simply mean that the voters were not satisfied with any of the candidates offered and would the S.G. A. please try again, that you. The potential results of a NOTA cetegory on a ballot are not of the voters — a rather unlikely occurrence — would be the problem of the S.G.A. which is asking the students to make the S.G.A. because it is inconvenient to the S.G.A. The S.G.A. exists the summary of the s democratic manner, it will allow the NOTA option on their ballot April 14.

The category of OTHER, traditionally included on S.G.A. ballots for write-in candidates is valuable to the voter (as seen last year with victory of two write-in candidates running as Social Co-Chairmen), but it is not a suitable replacement for NONE OF THE ABOVE, which allows the voter to reject any NOME OF THE ABOVE, which allows the voter to reject any candidate or even the position itself. A voter could write-in NOME OF THE ABOVE under the category of OTHER, but unless remain unaware of it and will follow brough wroters will remain unaware of it and will follow brough violing office assistance of a candidate in the name of "free choice."

This is not to say that supporters of the NOTA voting option will not cast votes for candidates of which they do approve. The voter not cast votes for candidates of which they do approve. The voter had been carried to the control of the voter to the NOTA voter of the NOTA vo elected, will best represent his or her interests. It is when none of the candidates seem capable of this to the individual voter that NONE OF THE ABOVE is cast

Students are urged not only to vote, but to recognize that, if they are unhappy with the candidates offered, they have the potential opportunity to reject those candidates. The S.G.A. is potential opportunity to reject those candidates. The S.G.A. is urged to honor the petitions demanding the inclusion of the NOTA option in all voting categories and thereby give students a true choice.

Washington College Elm

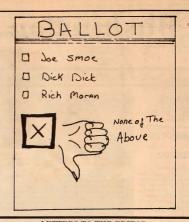

| Justne,                        |       | Free | uded PK | 10 |    |                 |
|--------------------------------|-------|------|---------|----|----|-----------------|
| -                              | -     |      |         |    |    |                 |
|                                |       | E    | ditors  |    |    |                 |
| Editor-in-chief                |       |      |         |    | Th | omas M. Schuste |
| News EditorFeatures Editor |       |      |         |    |    |                 |
| Arts/Entertainment             | Edito |      |         |    |    | David Heale     |
|                                |       |      |         |    |    |                 |
| Photography Editor             |       |      |         |    |    | J.M. Fragomer   |
|                                |       |      |         |    |    |                 |

The Em is the official student neverance of Washington College. The Em is published every friday during the academic year out for the academic year out of vacations and axam weeks. Editorials are the responsibility of the Editorin-chief. Signed columns, or the property of the College of the

Managing Editor
National Advertising Manager
Local Advertising Manager
Circulation Manager

members of the addicate sets of the second process of the set of t

The Elm's business and editorial office is located in the Queen Anno unge, found on the first floor of the Queen Anno's House dormitory, usiness hours are 7:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. Tuesdays and 7:00 p.m. to 1:00 m. Wednesdays. The office phone number is (301) 778-2800, extension

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Look Out. Greta

To The Editor:

Speaking of sidewalks, it is delightful that the Literary House will receive a much needed connecting pathway soon; however, if one looks around they will notice there around they will notice there are many places on campus that seriously need repairing. For example, when spring rains come we find a strange phenomenon, what was once a sidewalk is now "Reid Lake;" near the Cullen Complex once existant sidewalks have vir-tually disappeared beneath grass and mud, and there are many other problem areas. It is almost impossible to walk from a dorm to anywhere on campus without stepping in a

Stam Drug Co. 215 High Street

Chestertown, Maryland 778-3030

·Hudson's Vitamins

 Cosmetics Russell

Stover Candy ·Soda Fountain

Michelle Royal
... Mariella Ruiz

a sidewalk used to be. While Greta may be able to walk to the Lit House in high heels, I hope she doesn't plan on coming from anywhere on campus she'd sink and melt away is about time that this school looks into the situation of the disrepair of the sidewalks all over campus for both aesthetic and safety reasons

Sincerely, Melanie Wade

Positively Thankful

To The Editor:

In response to the recently printed list of what Washington printed list of what Washington College lacks, this list ap-plauds the improvements I have seen in the last three years. Perhaps focusing on the positive aspects will thank those who have vision and energy for Washington Collake; mud hole or river where lege. 1. Landscaping; trees and 2. Macintoshes; expanded access and facilities

3. Free washer/dryers in all dormitories 4. Business major; response to student needs

5. Peer advising 6. Career Development 7. Health Center "Three for Free" and related health 8. Dining Hall renovation

9. Norman James Theatre movie equipment 10. Spanish House refurbish-men 11. Literary House printing annex, deck and garden 12. Cullen complex renova-

13. Chester River boathouse

14. Casey Swim Center 15. Fitness ce Hydrofitness equipment

16. Brick walkways nea Dunning and Bunting 17. Miller Library's con puterized data searches

> Sincerely. Jackie Loughman Senior

> Editors

Appointed

Sophomore Andrea Rea was appointed Editor-in-Guile of The Washington College Elm for the 1987-88 academ' year Monday by the Board's Publications. Sophomor Arian Ravanbakhsh, the or rent editor of the Pegasus, wi reappointed and will confus on in his present position. on in his present position. The gratulate both editors on the

Positions Available

The following Elm staff passons are now open for the 1917 88 academic ye News editor

Features editor Arts/Entertainment editor Sports editor Photography editor

Managing editor
Advertising manager Circulation manager 1987-8 Applications are available in The Elm offi from Andrea Kehoe in chester 125 (extension Completed applications due April 17. The position of editor of Collegian, The Elm's monitor of Collegian, The Elm's monitor supplement, is open for 1987-88 academic year. plications are now availations are now availation and the collegiant of the collegia chester 125 (ext. 212). Co pleted applications are due

Reports Of Student Dissatisfaction With The Practices Of The Office Of Student Affairs Are Currently Being Investigated By An S.G.A. Task Force. Has This Administrative Office, In Your Opinion, Been Fair In Its Dealings With Students?

Jen Groton Vancouver British Columbia

Besides being extremely rude to students, they tell you who you can't live with, where you can't live and what you can't do with your life once you're living with who you don't want to live with."

Campus Voices

Rob Albers Sophomore Shorthills, New Jersey

"Yes. They've been friendly and helpful to me. For example, they gave us a huge box of toilet paper that will last us until next

n Murphy Snow Hill, Maryland

"On the whole, I think the office has done a good job. As an S.G.A. senator I opposed this task force, but a major problem I noticed was with housing. Reform in this area is badly need

Mary Lee Barry Freshman Towson, Maryland

"I think the office of Student Affairs genuinely has the students' best interests at heart. The S.G.A. seems to think that Student Affairs is getting in the way of their political interests but they really aren't. In my dealings with the office haven't seen any unfairness.

Tom McDonald Canadaigua, New York

"I think some students expect too much from peo-ple and this leads to stupid investigations."

by Michele Balze

Student Affairs Has Improved

January that there was to be a task force to investigate the Student Affairs Office, I have been trying to figure out why such a committee was formed. Now it is April, and I still haven't been able to figure out why the S.G.A. wants to investigate the Deans of students. Come to think of it, I don't think the S.G.A. has figured out why it is investigating Student Affairs, which probably explains the delay in reporting the results of the investigation

I think the "task force" believes that be Student Affairs has not been fair when dealing with students. But, if they were to look at the Student Affairs' position in three areas, the R.A. program, housing, and disciplinary action, I think the S.G.A. might come up with some different conclusions

Having been an R.A. for the past two dent Affairs has made great progress with the R.A. program as a whole, Starting this year the R.A.'s have been meeting on a regular basis -once a week for the head R.A.'s and every other week for all the other R.A.'s and every other week for all the other R.A.'s. As a result, the R.A.'s have been communicating much better than in previous years. One direct result of these meetings is a better way of selection. these meetings is a better way of selec-ting the new R.A.'s. For instance, we now interview an applicant twice rather than once. This gives the R.A.'s more of a chance to learn about the applicants. Also now we conduct all of the interviews within a four day period, which significantly cuts down in the selection time. In the long run, these two changes make the selection process more equal. Another area of controversy is the year's housing situation. Under the cir-cumstances of having to scurry to find housing for 200 students during the housing for 200 students during the middle of summer, I feel that Student and the summer is the summer, I feel that Student Affairs handled the problem to the best of its ability. I just can't see why some people think that the Deans are out to 'get' some students by putting them in worse housing than others. The resources that the College has to work with are limited, which inevitably means that out every student is course. means that not every student is going to get the same type of housing. When it comes to disciplinary action, generally Student Affairs has been very lenient. When Student Affairs does take disciplinary action, it is usually very mild, giving the students the benefit of the doubt. This one area is potentially unfair, perhaps, because other students who want to see justice done may feel cheated. The reason that small size. I don't think that larger universities run into this problem. The universities run into this problem. The rules at other schools, such as Towson State and Loyola College, are much more strictly enforced. WC students should feel lucky that the administration gives us as much freedom as it

I am not suggesting that our system is perfect and that improvements can't be made. It is the way that the S.G.A. has gone about trying to change the system, however, that is wrong. My biggest piece of advice to the S.G.A. is to learn how to work with the system rather than working against it if progress is to be made.

> Chris DiPietro is a Senior majoring in Business Management

Interested In Languages? Foreign Cultures?

Sign Up To Live On The Language Floor.

If you are interested or have questions, please contact:

ALLYSON TUNNEY 778-9870 or STUDENT AFFAIRS

FREE

Come To Washington College's First

SYMPOSIUM ON PHOTOGRAPHY

The best people in the art and the industry today, including National Geographic photographer John Amos and Modernage president Harry Admur. ALL FOR LESS THAN A PENNY

SATURDAY, APRIL 11

GIBSON FINE ARTS CENTER

FREE FOR WASHINGTON COLLEGE STUDENTS

Aid Overrun Causes Budget Constriction

of the merit-based program allows a better understanding of the exposure problem. A cording to Coveney, five years ago, merit scholarships offered by the College were only $1000 Four years ago the amount was raised to $1500. "As the ap plicant pool has increased, and the size of the freshman class has increased, it became ob-vious that $1500 wasn't enough to encourage studens to come Washington College, and there wasn't enough money to go around," said Coveney.

Awards were then bumped to $2000-$3500. "The endowment earnings supporting the merit based programs were actually declining because of lower in-- the pool of resources was declining while ring of awards had caused the the need and size were grow-

"he explained ing," he explained.

Presidential scholarships, funded by the College's financial aid budget, were added to the Beneficial-Hodson scholarships already offered wo years ago, the Presiden tial scholarships were phased out, and the number of Hodson awards increased. "That meant that financial aid money was being mixed with the en-dowment funds," Coveney

"The first year (1985-86) there was a shortfall in the mixing of funding, but it was offset by another area of the budget," said Coveney. According to him. "It wasn't readily apparent that the blur problem - it was basically a problem in tracking the number of awards offered

We had two separate aid programs going, and then we had an unusually high acceptance rate, which in itself creates an overrum in aid," said Hessey. Wheelan explain-"It's a matter of proje tions. You make offers of ad-mission, and you just don't know how many people are go-ing to accept."

Vansant and Coveney simply maintain there were a lot of qualified applicants last year, and the College's historical trends of acceptance did not hold true. "It's been Washington College's tradition that if you're qualified and you meet our deadlines, we'll fund "said Vansant.

you..." said Vansant.

To balance this year's budget while short $400,000, several actions were taken. We imposed restriction on other administrative budgets. . ., and we launched a campaign before Christmas to increase the amount of funding available for student aid," said Initiated by Trustee Betty Casey, the Christmas Campaign raised $2.1 million for student aid. President Cater stated in a letter inviting friends of the College to join the fund-raiser: "We believe that the private liberal arts col lege should attract a diver-sified student body and not simply 'cater' to the wealthy.'

In addition to launching the campaign, Hessey recognized that some recoveries were possible. Often students who receive work/study grants do not work all of the hours the Colege expects them to, so money is left over at the end of the door the year. Also, state and federal grants made to students arrive after the school year has started, so the College is reimbursed for some of its expenditures.

We could see the potential of recovering $50,000-$60,000," said Hessey. "As it turned out, we recovered about $100,000.

Several steps have also been taken by the various departments involved to lessen if not avoid such a massive overrun in the future. A new computer system, Colleague, has been adopted by the Business Office. and Vansant expects the pro-gram to be on line by July. "The new computer system will enable me to instantly know what's going on in all the ac-counts," said Vansant.

The new monitoring system will allow both the Financial Aid office and Admissions to know how many commitments have been made at any given moment, so they will know when they are approaching total exposure of resources earlier than previously possi-ble. Hessey also stressed that increased coordination and communication between the two offices was necessary.

Vansant added "We're revising the way we're going to han-dle financial aid," with stricter academic guidelines and fewer incoming students needing aid 'We have a commitment to those students who are already here . . . We're going to try to reduce the number of students on financial aid coming in from 55% to 50%," she said.

Admissions also tends to reduce the number of awards given out, but not the amounts of the awards. Coveney does not believe that this will "close students," however. Last the Admissions Office award offers, usual 25-30 acceptances make about 60 offers. we're planning on imately 30 students

The $400,000 overrun has been entirely destructive the College. In fact, Co finds the situation encouning. "I think the Board Visitors and Governors realized that if we want very best students to com Washington College, we'w to put enough money asis be competitive," he said had a budget designed for freshmen applicants of awards."

'This year we've easily the best applicant pool in past four years," Coveneys ed, and there are 1100 of th "Our acceptance (and ear ment) rate is improving a that's positive," said Hess Wheelan stated that the "to run has made us acutely as of how to guard ourselves h this again, and it's a wonder indication that Washing College is improving."
"Cater's creativity, Hess

hard work, and the gener of alumni and friends of College this year have allo us to afford the very b students," Coveney said. Wheelan, and Coveney, stud aid is a number one priority the College's budget because is the single greatest pres for the College, especially at this year's extensive over "To be competitive, to gr and to get the best kids, simply going to cost us n money that we had planted said Coveney.

Commencement Speaker

continued from page 1 presentation of the Commencement address

We were hoping that we could find a speaker with could find a speaker with somewhat wider appeal to the Senior class," said Chris DiPietro, vice president of the Senior class. DiPietro added that although there was some disappointment regarding Betty Ford, the Commencement still includes two appealing According to Cater, the speaker is traditionally withheld until shortly before the event, at which time the students and faculty. Sherry Magill, executive assistant to the president, added that the present situation is not uncommon, especially because of the popularity of some of the invited guests.

The Senior class met Wednesday night to discuss any other possible suggestions Nicolaidis expects to offer President Cater at least two more names late this week

Any proposed invitations by the president must be approved by the Honorary Degrees Committee, which is not scheduled to meet again until the end of April.

Alcohol Task Force

The Alcohol Task Force, reconvened nearly five years after its formation, has met several times this semester to address the use of alcohol on campus. In the wake of repeated vandalism and disorderly conduct in the around the Coffee House, the Task Force has taken the following measures no beer or wine will be sold by the student center for 'off premises" consumption. effective last week; two nights during the week, only non-alcoholic beverages will be available in the Student Center teas and coffees will be of-

3) administrators of any College facility reserves the right to restrict the use of the facility only to those who handle only to those who handle themselves appropriately. Anyone who does not use the facility properly may be removed immediately and will be brought up before the stu-

4) the Student Conduct Coun-cil has been encouraged to punish more severely for alcohol-related cases 5 a campus-wide awareness week is planned for April; 6 consideration is being given to establishing a chapter of BACCHUS on campus; 7) student organizations and those coordinating activities in music, drama, and other arts are encouraged to schedule more events in the student

Quest For Peace Program

On Wednesday, March 25 and Sunday, March 29 a video dealing with the Quest for Peace Program was shown campus in observance of Central America Week

The Quest for Peace is a nation-wide program to raise $100 million in humanitarian aid for the people of Nicaragua. That amount equals the United States government's appropriation of aid to the Contras in that coun-

Amity Bakery

and Coffee Shop Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies, Special Occasion Cakes On Order

Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M. Lunch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

Only a few students attended these showings of the video, however, those who did attend expressed interest in making further efforts to support the program on campus, first, by attempting to raise the level of awareness in our community of what is happening in Nicaragua, and secondly, by making it possible for those who are interested in doing so to contribute directly to the 'Quest'' campaign

In pursuit of the first of these goals, we will sponsor another showing of the video on Wednesday, April 8 at 9:30 p.m. in the Norman James Theater. With regard to the se-In pursuit of the first of these cond goal, we expect to place collection boxes at several places on campus during the final weeks of the semester. We are suggesting that people place contributions of educational or medical sup-plies in these boxes. (Suggestions: pencils, pens, crayor paper clips, paper, notebook aspirin, bandaids and to aspirin, bandaids and tages, etc.) These contribions will be sent to the exting firm in Herndon, which is shipping supplied Nicaragua. Monetary tributlime baser and Gudltudirt cover shipping costs. I way may send checks dire to the Quixote Center, P.0 5206, Hyattsville, Md. M Checks should be payable the Quixote Center and lab

301-778-3566

On Saturday, April 25 the will be a march and rally Washington, D.C., the "Mobilization for Justice st Peace in Central America Southern Africa. We hope a group from Washington lege will participate in event. Those who are terested may sign up by tacting Professor Shivers

ALCOHOL AWARENESS WEEK APRIL 20-25

ALCOHOL AWARENESS COMMITTEE SKIP MIDDLETON

Chairman

Pat Youngs Charlotte Post Shaeffer Reese John Flavin Chris Schanno Ken Wantling Brian Kelleher

John Bodnar Walter Cox Matt Wilson Kristen Kosak Dean McIntire Dean Maxcy Dean Baer

Jerry Roderick

ON THE CHESTER RIVER

FOOT OF CANNON ST CHESTERTOWN, MD, 21620 COUNSELORS NEEDED NOW HIRING Echo Hill Camp

on the Chesapeake. (301) 348-5800

CAMP

54,000 AIDS Deaths In 1991

Information and Education On-ly Weapons Against AIDS It is estimated that in 1991 people will die from AIDS. At this moment, many of them are not infected with the AIDS virus. With proper information and education, as many as 12,000 to 14,000 people could be saved in 1991 from death by AIDS.

AIDS Will Impact All The changes in our society and will affect our social institutions, our educational practices, and our health care. Although AIDS may never touch you personally, the societal impact certainly will.

Be Educated - Be Prepared Be prepared. Learn as much about AIDS as you can. Learn tion from rumor and myth. The Public Health Service, your local public health officials and family physicians will be able to help you.

Concern About Spread of AIDS While the concentration of AIDS cases is in the larger urban areas today, it has been found in every state and with the mobility of our society, it is likely that cases of AIDS will appear far and wide

High Risk Get Blood Test The greatest public health problem lies in the large history of high risk behavior who have been infected with may be spreading the AIDS virus. Those with high risk behavior must be en-couraged to protect others by adopting safe sexual practices and by the use of clean equip-ment for intravenous drug use. If a blood test for antibodies to the AIDS virus to get these individuals to use safe sexual practices, they should get a blood test. Call your local health department for information on where to get the

Anger and Guilt
Some people afflicted with AIDS will feel a sense of anger and guilt. In spite of these understandable reactions, everyone must join the effort to control the epidemic, to pro-vide for the care of those with In-house video programs pro-inform and educate others about AIDS, and how to pre-

Confidentiality

Because of the stigma that has been associated with AIDS, many afflicted with disease or who are infected with the AIDS virus are reluctant to be iden-tified with AIDS. For this reason current public health practice is to protect the privacy of the individual in-fected with the AIDS virus and to maintain the strictest confidentiality concerning his/her health records.

Sex Education Education concerning AIDS must start at the lowest grade possible as part of any health and hygiene program. The ap-pearance of AIDS could bring together diverse groups of parents and educators with opposing views on inclusion of sex education in the curricula. There is now no doubt that we need sex education in schools and that it include information on heterosexual and homosex ual relationships. The threat of AIDS should be sufficient to permit a sex education curriculum with a heavy emphasis on prevention of AIDS and other sexually transmitted diseases.

Handicapped and Special Education

Children with AIDS or ARC will be attending school along with others who carry the AIDS virus. Some children will develop brain disease which will produce changes in mental behavior. Because of the right to special education of the handicapped and the mentally retarded, schoolboards and higher authorities will have to provide guidelines for the management of such children on a case-by-case basis.

AIDS Education at the Work Site

Offices, factories, and other work sites should have a plan in operation for education of the work force and accomoda-tion of AIDS or ARC patients before the first such case ap-pears at the work site. Employees with AIDS or ARC should be dealt with as are any

vide an excellent source of quire the best efforts of mental education and can be individualized to the needs of a specific work group

Strain on the Health Care Delivery System The health care system in many places will be overmany places will be over-burdened as it is now in urban areas with large numbers of AIDS patients. It is predicted that during 1991 there will be 145,000 patients requiring hospitalization at least once and 54,000 patients who will die of AIDS. Mental disease (dementia) will occur in some patients who have the AIDS virus before they have any other manifestation such as ARC or classic AIDS

Mental Health Our society will also face an additional burden as we better understand the mental health implications of infection by the AIDS virus. Upon being informed of infection with the AIDS virus, a young, active, vigorous person faces anxiety and depression brought on by associated with social isolation, illness and dying. Dealing with these individual and family concerns will re-

Controversial Issues

A number of controversial AIDS issues have arisen and will continue to be debated largely because of the lack of knowledge about AIDS, how it is spread, and how it can be prevented. Among these are the issues of compulsory blood testing, quarantine, and iden-tification of AIDS carriers by some visible sign.

Compulsory Blood Testing

Compulsory blood testing of individuals is not necessary. The procedure could be unmanageable and cost pro-hibitive. It can be expected that many who test negatively might actually be positive due to recent exposure to the AIDS virus and give a false sense of security to the individual and his/her sexual partners con-cerning necessary protective behavior. The prevention behavior described in this report, if adopted, will protect the American public and contain the AIDS epidemic. Volun-tary testing will be available to se who have been involved in high risk behavior.

Quarantine has no role in the gement of AIDS because AIDS is not spread by casual contact. The only time that some form of quarantine might be indicated is in a situation where an individual carrying the AIDS virus knowingly and willingly continues to expose others through sexual contact or sharing drug equipment. Such circumstances should be managed on a case-by-case basis by local authorities.

Identification of AIDS Carriers by Some Visible Sign

Those who suggest the mark-ing of carriers of the AIDS virus by some visible sign have not thought the matter through throughly. It would require not thought the matter through throughly. It would require testing of the entire population which is unecessary, un-manageable and costly. It would miss those recently in-fected individuals who would test negatively, but be in-fected. The entire procedure would give a false sense of security. AIDS must and will be treated as a disease that can infect anyone. AIDS should not be used as an excuse to discriminate against any goup or individual.

Physics Lecture:

Nobel Prizewinner To Speak

The Physics Department, in with the conjunction Washington College Lecture Series, will host a visit by Nobel Prizewinning scientist Dr. Ivar Giaever, April 7 and 8. While on campus Giaever will speak to students and the public about his work in the field of biophysics.

Giaever was born and educated in Norway, and emigrated to Canada in 1954 as a mechanical engineer. In 1956 he came to the U.S. for an advanced training program in engineering, working for six months at the General Electric Research Laboratory in New Giaever's work has now led York. While he was there him into the field of biophysics,

Giaever became interested in solid-state physics, and soon decided to switch fields and become a physicist become a physicist.

He began doing research work with superconductors, finding that it was possible for electric currents to pass through an insulator placed between two superconductors -- a phenomenon roughly equivalent to throwing a baseball against a wall and having it pass through to the other side without leaving a hole in the wall. This discovery won him the Nobel Prize in Physics in 1973, at the age of 31.

tures pertaining to that subject while he is at Washington Col-

The first entitled "A New Theory of Cancer," will be held Tuesday evening, April 7, at 8:00 p.m. in Hynson Lounge. Wednesday, April 8 at 8:30 a.m., Giaever will hold a seminar for science majors on careers in industrial research, and will end his visit with a lecture at 11:30 a.m. in Dunning 109 on "Mammalian Cells in Electric Fields," a discussion of cell growth and attachment. Everyone is invited to attend

CALL 778-1984 ANOTHER COMMUNITY RELATED PROJECT OF THE NEWTOWNE PUB

IDEAL OPTICAL

EYE

EXAM

348-5586

Still Pond, Md. Edwin R. Trinks, Optician COMPLETE

SOFT CONTACTS DAILY WEAR $97.00 EXTENDED & TINTED WEAR $12900 CONTACT

*35

Regularly $35.00 $1900 With Purchase of LENSE EXAM

Frames or Lens Valid with Coupon

ALL FRAMES 8 LENSES 15%

One Full Year Guarantee On Glasses & Frames Evening Appointments Available

1 Day Service On Glasses and Contacts

Show Your College ID Save Add't. 5%

FEATURES

ELM interview:

Morrison Discusses Books, Black Experience

The following is an interview conducted with novelist Toni Morrison, who visited Washington College last week to give a reading of her work and contribute to the two-day celebration of black literature

A senior editor at Random House and A senior editor at Kandom House and the Schweitzer Professor in the College of Humanities and Fine Arts at the University of Albany (SUNY), Mor-rison is the author of four novels: The Bluest Eye, Sula, Song of Solomon, and Tar Baby. She has also written a play entitled Dreaming Emmet and her fifth Beloved, will be published in book, September.

The winner of the 1978 National Book Critics Circle Award of Fiction, Mor-rison has been described by New York Magazine as "the D.H. Lawrence of the black psyche." She was the first reci-pient of the Washington College pient of the Washington College Literary Award. A scholarship, to be presented to a black student exhibiting promise in literary endeavor, has been endowed in her name

I don't think I have any choice with that. I don't like not writing. I feel com-

Who do you write for? I never think of those things. I write for the people I've invented in the book, to do them justice. I don't think of an external readership when I write.

How did you make the transition from

I'm not a playwright . . . this is not a major shift. I think I'm good at theatrical dialogue anyway in my . . Playwrighting for me writing less and putting more weight on the dialogue and simply having the pace a little more rapid. Something has to happen all the time in the theater, it

How do you feel about having your work made into a movie?

I go back and forth on this Sometimes I'm interested in a certain group of people I think I can trust ite make a movie) . . . A book can stand on its own, it doesn't need another life as a movie to validate it. Students used to ask me when my books will be made into movies, as though a novel is what you do before the movie and it isn't

Some I would prefer never be made into movies because I want people to have the experience of reading. Fewer people will read than will see a movie, but I prefer them to read.

What do you think of the controversy over Alice Walker's novel The Color Purple, particularly of the allegations that she presents a negative portrayal of black men'

"At least half of writing (occurs) not near paper. The rest is understanding

a situation well enough to represent it in language and carve out sentences."

How do you go about the process of writing? Do you have a set routine? because a routine makes it too

No, because a routine makes it too predictable and formulaic . . I don't plan to create. Once I'm familiar enough with the people I have invented and have a situation I want to explore and put in place, [I write]. When I'm arranged at that point I begin to write. It's irrelevant to me whether I write every day, whether I sit down or use a pencil. That's a funny way to talk about writing. The part that's important to me is the subliminal part

At least half of writing [occurs] not near paper. The rest is understanding a situation well enough to represent it in situation well enough to represent it in language and carve out sentences. There are those people who go to the typewriter and think on the typewriter — I don't do that. ... It's not like a homework assignment, it's more complex and eccentric than that

On the one hand, I think such con troversy is beneficial in the financial sense for moviemakers and talk show people. It also may be beneficial in the people. It also may be beneficial in the sense that it's an airing of ideas. . . The necessity of producing positive images is a nonargument, really, ultimately. Artists should do whatever they like. The audience has a choice to dislike it, hate it, not read it or look at it.

The pernicious aspect of the positive images argument is that it seems to suggest the race is in need of a certain portrayal for the benefit of white people is the people of the people ple; it's as though you're saying, don't show negative images of black men, they will think all black men are like We can't have art [limited] by these considerations.

There has been a lot of press coverage given to a "crisis in black America."

The black family is said to be on the decline. Do you think such a crisis real-

I'm not even sure what it is. This poses an interesting distortion of history. The purpose of slavery was to break up families. Women [were made] to have children like puppies. Blacks to have children like pupples. Blacks were not allowed to marry . . no other civilzation in the world was ever required not to have a family; [slave] family members were sold off. Given those circumstances, it's amazing there ever was a black family.

A decline makes sense to me since A decline makes sense to me since the concept of the family in the whole country is changing. White women are working. Most people don't live where they were born. The pressures on families are quite different.

Black families are not different, but they may be more resilient than others because they had to be... Black women have been in the labor force from the beginning. I don't know any black women who don't work and never did, neverdid...

Reagan talks quite a deal about the Reagan talks quite a deal about the family, but I've never seen him with his children, even in an official portrait. That was not true of the others — you saw Jimmy Carter with Amy, the Kennedy children, even Richard Nixon had his two. [Reagan] I've never seen in the company of his children. . . What family, where is it?

Your novel The Bluest Eye deals with the pressure on blacks to meet white standards of beauty. How is this a pro-blem for black women?

The pressure is one of skin privilege Light skinned Negroes were treated better and had more access to education; the white people liked them bet ter. Almost everybody wanted to be light skinned to escape bad treat-ment. . This had a psychological effect over the generations on children

In the white world the pressure to be "pretty" is just as strong as with blacks. To be blonde is considered better than to be dark haired. UITB we through all sorts of pain to be pretty—we call that "bullmia," "anorexia. The pressure to be "pretty" is not limited to black people. It's a problem for young people, who are genuinely depressed and suicidal if they don't look a certain way. ter than to be dark haired. Girls go look a certain way.

Read The Elm

BEWARE PEEPING SIGS! LOVEYA THE HONEY "MOONERS" Loving, Financially Secure Childless Couple Wishes To

ADOPT A Healthy White Infant

CALL COLLECT 301-461-1792 (After April 1) ANSWER OUR PRAYERS

The Coffee House Is Now Taking

APPLICATIONS For The 1987-88 School Year:

Arcade Workers Needed: Under 21 years of age. Bar Workers Needed: Over 21 years of age. Responsibility and ability to take peer pressure essential for the job!

APPLY TODAY!

C-Town liquors 8 Deli

> FEATURING: HOMEMADE HOT SOUPS

511 WASHINGTON AVE. CHESTERTOWN, MD 21620

> 778-2988 Sandy D. Eason

Professor To The Rescue

While watching Emergency reruns, did you ever wonder what life is like for the people who really work on a rescue Chestertown's squad seists of people who are committed to community service. Jim Siemen, a psychology pro-fessor at Washington College, one of them Siemen, a resident of Chestertown for ten years, has worked with the squad for nine years. He feels it is important to do something for the community, whether it is voluntering in Little League, the PTA, committing himself to this ser vice is, as he says, "I thought I'd be good at it.' Siemen was trained by the mergency Medical System out of the University of Maryland. It was an eightyfour hour course, equivalent to two college courses, including both classroom and practical In addition, training takes place all the time. He states, "Almost every week there is some form of training the field changes all the

Siemen feels the Chester-

tion, being in a state small enough to have helicopter serenough to have neucopter ser-vice all throughout the state. In addition, it is a "totally volun-tary company, which makes us Working one night a week, plus answering about two hundred of the 650 calls made last year, the rescue squad takes up a lot of Siemen's time. He has a family with two small children, and "it never fails, you get a call when you have plans with your family or you're about to sit down to dinner. Of course you have to balance .. the family comes

The squad receives about two calls a day. Each takes approximately forty-five minutes to an hour to be resolved. is no minimum amount of calls that a squad member has to answer, but if someone does not respond to enough calls to be contributing to the squad, they become an inactive member. For insurance reasons the squad can only have 25 active members at one

Siemen's most memorable town squad is in a special situa- call involved "A child who was face down in a frog pond...and had been there for about 20 minutes. That was near the house I lived in, instead of going to the rescue squad, I got in my car and drove down there We revived him on the way to the hospital . . his breathing had shut down, internal temperature was down to 80 degrees." He received a citation for heroism from the governor. Siemen says this "almost never happens... It was just a matter of being in the right place at the right time... it could have happened to anyone on the squad.

Another case was memorable because of its rareness. Two people who needed CPR were rushed down to the emergency room of Kent and Queen Anne's hospital, each victim with a CPR team working on him. Siemen says this type of case is really rare because by the time they get to the victims who have stopped breathing, they are usually beyond help.

Siemen's hardest call was an airplane crash. The police officer called the squad thinking he felt a pulse. However, the victims were dead and there was no way to help.

Ordinarily, though, the squad takes sick and injured people and those in pain to Kent and Queen Anne's hospital and sometimes to Shock Trauma. Only five or six calls are made for College students, so the squad is main-ly concerned with the comlege. Siemen says that working on a rescue squad is not a form of volunteering that everyone would want to do, but he feels that all should be involved in the community in some way.

Dining Hall Posters Cause Fitness Paranoja

by Andrea Kehoe

Along with sunbathing and ultimate frisbee, Springtime at Washington College heralds a fitness craze that is excepthe street in a health conscious nation. While weight gain in the form of the freshman ten' is legendary, these who have cons beyond those who have gone beyond that limit four or five times often become preoccupied with their added pounds as swim season approaches.

off the cuff

Much of the paranola begins in the Dining Hall. This year students returning from Spring break were greeted at attaining with sheets of nutri-tica the and signs warning, Don't reward yourself with dod." The next step, in the blaing strice's quest to ter-orize those of larger than werage body mass, will no rerage body mass, will no could be posters along the desert table: "Don't do it! You're already fat. Everybody bows it. Just look at those

Those who live to eat, rather tan eat to live, must learn to change their consumption babits. Instead of rewarding themselves to the change their consumption babits. Instead of rewarding themselves to the change of the change of

za for each page of Polyseit hey read, they can switch to a lifetime has consisted of one of classitime — the advised por chapter basis for motive andless and of procrastination, amount of preparation with all found in commercial the factor and the factor of the procrastination and the found in commercial the factor of the factor of the factor of the factor of the factor one of only a dozen pee- attempting to keep up with library for a few weeks. plein the world who can legally coursework — has a cademic Josepser need special attire, benefit. Simply vowing to and those more accustomed to burning up energy on the tile floors of a shopping mall than on the concrete pathways of a track can spend many happy hours seeing that they are properly outfitted in matching sweatclothes and Reeboks. Other "necessities" that take time to purchase include a Walkman and dozens of new tapes to prevent the fledgling runners from hearing their own labored breathing.

Those who prefer floor exercises to running can scour magazines for an exercise program guaranteed to shape up anyone in five minute sessions every few months. Such theories of fitness also offer supposed pain-free variations on the sit-up to a generation that fervently believes that pushing the buttons on television channel selectors burns off cases of twinkies.

Others looking to squeeze back into the clothes they bought in September can ven-ture into the swim center and motivate themselves into doing motivate themselves into doing fast-paced laps by recalling the more vivid scenes from "Jaws." Another alternative is trying to figure out how the equipment in the fitness center works. This option is usually safer than attempting vigorous aerobics in the crowded space of a dorm room, where ossibility of a concussion is a weight can gain more than mere muscle tone: they can look forward to a beach vaca-tion where no one kicks sand in their face.

SPORTS

College Takes Wheel For Volvo Tennis Tourney

Washington College will be hosting its Volvo Tennis/Campus Mixed Doubles Championships on April 11 - 12.

The Volvo Tennis/Campus Mixed Doubles is a unique pilot program sponsored by Volvo Tennis and administered by the ITCA on over 40 Eastern college campuses this Spring. All participants will receive a complimentary Volvo Tennis T-Shirt and a deluxe box lunch.

Volvo Tennis/Campus Mixed Doubles Championships is open to all currently enrolled students, plus faculty, staff, alumni and immediate relatives. Any player who has been on the varsity or junior varsity relatives. Any player who has been on a varsity or junior varsity college tennis team or has played or taught professionally within the last 10 years, however, is ineligible for the tournament

All tennis enthusiasts who are interested in participating tact Fred Wyman the Men's Varsity Tennis Coach at 778-4088; for sign-up information.

The winning mixed doubles team of the Washington Col-lege Volvo Tennis/Campus Mixed Doubles Tournament will not only receive a special trophy from Volvo Tennis, but will also advance to one of three Volvo Tennis/Campus Mixed Doubles Regional Mixed Doubles Regional Championships to be held at Yale, M.I.T., and Princeton.

The winners and finalists of each regional playoff will be awarded prize money, and Yolvo Tennis will make scholarship donations to the varsity tennis programs at their respective oblewer. their respective colleges.

The winners and finalists at each of the three regional sites will then compete in the Volve Tennis/Campus Mixed Mixed Doubles Eastern Champion-ships on May 9-10th at Princeton University. At the Eastern Championships, prize money will be awarded to the top four teams participating, and Volvo Tennis will make contributions to the varsity tennis programs at the colleges of the top four finishers

The Volvo Tennis/Campus Mixed Doubles Championships si open to all currently enrolled students, plus faculty, staff, alumni and immediate relatives. Any player who has been on the varsity or junior varsity college tennis team or has played or taught profes-sionally within the last 10 years, however, is ineligible for the tournament.

Shoremen Send Yankees Doodling Home

Solidifying their position among the nation's top ten Division III tennis teams, Washington College rolled to three consecutive conquests this week, the most important of which was a 9-0 pounding of 23rd ranked Massachusetts Institute of Technology

M.I.T. came to Chestertown with high hopes of upsetting the Shoremen but W.C. assured the visiting "Yankees" that there was no such chance

While Rich Phoebus's 6-0 6-4 win over George Lysen gave the Shore netters the first match of the intersectional clash, it was Ross Coleman's 6-4 7-5 triumph over Jore Gonthat clinched Washington's eleventh win of the season. The victory was Washington's third of the year over a nationally ranked team. W.C. whipped Wheaton College (12th) 7-2 February 26 and walloped Emory University (5th) 7-2 March 11.

Straight set victories Claudio Gonzales, David Mar-shall and Larry Gewer built the Shore leads 4-0. Ten minutes later Coleman came off the courts with the fifth and deciding victory in hand.

Alejandro Hernandez com pleted the singles sweep by edging Ben Spehlman 6-4, 7-6. Spehlman was ranked 25th in Division III of the NCAA.

In doubles two of the three matches went three sets but W.C. prevailed in all. After dropping the first set 6-4, the veteran twosome of Claudio Gonzales and David Marshall rallied to nip KaiLee Ho and Jose Gonzales 6-3, 6-3. In the other three-set match Peter Maller and Rich Phoebus topped Alex Arencibia and Matt Solomon 6-2, 6-7, 6-4. Hernandez and Gewer capped the

Shortstop

Washington College

baseball team boosted their record to 11-6 after winning five games this week ter beating Wesley College

17-6 on Thursday, March 26 the Shoremen swept a double header from Haverford College, winning the first game 17-13, and the second game 24-4. Alan Lerch hit a grand slam in the bottoms of the eighth inning in the first game, while Larry Brandt knocked in four runs in the second game

On Wednesday, April 1, Dave uskar and Chris Rosfelder each hammered to give the Shoremen a 7-3 victory over U.M.E.S. in the first game of the double header. In the se-cond game, pitcher, Scott cond game, pitcher, Scott Jones picked up his first vic-tory of the season as the Shoremen crushed U.M.E.S.

team triumph defeating Brian

Washington's 9-0 victory over M.I.T. was not the only shutout of the week recorded by the Shoremen. South Atlan-tic foe Mary Washington Colege and independent Wesley College fell by the same count.

Brown and Spehlman in straight sets 6-2, 6-2.

In both matches coach Fred Wyman juggled his line-up, allowing all nine members of his squad to get valuable play-ing time. W.C.'s senior All-American Alejandro Her-nandez sat out both matches, enabling freshman Larry Gewer to step into the top singles spot. Hernandez's heir singles spot. Hernandez's heir apparently responded by "bagling" Mary Washington's Sean Timmons and blanking Julius DeCosta of Wesley. Gewer's fellow countryman Gewer's fellow countryman Peter Maller, who played #6 at Fredericksburg at #2 against Wesley remains undefeated with a 9-0 record. Maller allowed only three games in both matches, defeating Kevin Peterman 6-1, 6-1 and Mike Ermer 6-1, 6-0.

Playing in the "top six" the first time this spring, Bill Shaw and Vice Maximo registered straight wins against Wesley. Shaw downed Ken Klein 6-2, 6-2 while Maximo trimmed John Kraus 6-2, 6-

Marshall and Gonzales added two victories to their impressive records, 11-1 and 10-3 respectively. The Milford junior ripped Pat Wendling of Mary Washington and Wesley's Bob Rudolph by iden-tical 6-1, 6-1 scores. "Playing up" at #2 against Mary Washington Coversion worded Washington, Gonzales upended Barry deNicola 6-1, 6-3 and blanked the Wolverines Mar-

Sports Calendar

FRIDAY 3 Tennis (men's) Millersville University (A) Tennis (women's) Catholic University 3:00 p.m Softball Wilmington (A)

Lacrosse (men's) Hobart 1:30 p.m. Lacrosse (women's) Muhlenburg 1:30 p.m Baseball Delaware State (A) Tennis (men's)

SATURDAY 4

Rutgers/East Stroudsburg (A) Tennis (women's) King's College 12:00 noon Crew (men/women's) Occoquan Invitational

> MONDAY 6 Tennis (men's) UMBC 3:00 p.m Lacrosse (women's) Western Maryland 4:00 p.m Softball Cecil (A)

THESDAY 7 Tennis (men's) Gallaudet 3:00 p.m. Tennis (women's) Goucher (A)

WEDNESDAY 8 Lacrosse (men's) Franklin & Marshall 3:00 p.m. Tennis (men's) Swarthmore (A)

> THURSDAY 9 Baseball Wesley (A) Softball Delaware Tech 4:00 p.m

CAMPUS ALCOHOL POLICY
STUDENTS ARE REMINDED T ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES ARE NOT PERMITTED AT ATHLETIC EVENTS.

$40 Reward

Missing Gold Necklace and Cross from Men's Locker Room.

CONTACT: TOM McVAN 778-5622

> SUNDAY MASS

Alumni House 5:30 P.M.

Crew Weighs Anchor For Spring Season

by Carter Boatner Washington College Men's and Women's crew opened its Spring season last Saturday afternoon against LaSalle University and New Jersey's Stockton State. LaSalle came away winning three of the four men's races, and two of the three women's races.

Despite the fact that LaSalle walked away with the majority of the victories, last weekend's idea of what they must work on. "We thought we rowed well " commented captain well," commented captain Tom Merrill, "but we found out what we had to work on to be competitive in the Dad-Vail championships."

The first men's race was the won in the time of 6:50, 21 seconds over second place finisher W.C. Inexperience at the start caused the W.C. crew to row a "catch-up race", in which more "power ten" — or required for a strong finish. The starts are something novices must develop. Although you cannot win the race on the start, you certainly can lose it at the start. When a boat is behind at the start, it is very difficult for the crew to apply the marginal power required to pull even eight, stroked year oarsman a hole". Also competing in the Sean Kennedy, was defeated varsity-eight race was the Jy-by a close two seconds on the eight, stroked by veteran

Women's Varsity Four coxswain Ayn Hoyt and stroke Becky Brown congretulate each other on a race well run following their upset victory over LeSalle University last Saturday on the Chester River.

"Sprint". The "Sprint" is the final 500 or so meters of the race in which the cadence and power of the strokes increases to increase the pace of the Stroke Sean Kennedy also The second men's race turn- commented that the start adout to be a more competitive the race was not up to par with match-up. The men's Varsity- the other crews, and "put us in rower Henry Brownell. The started again.

JV-eight finished several stroke Dave Jol boatlengths behind the W.C. was a real disap boat to end up third overall.

The novice-four race saw bad steering by two LaSalle coxswains. After the start of the race, the two LaSalle boats rowing on either side of the onboat suddenly and unexpectedly swerved outside their lanes, running into W.C. This caused the race to be stroke Dave Johnson put it was a real disappointment that the mishap occured . . . we were in the lead and I feel that was unfair to allow the two LaSalle boats to compete in the second race". Regardless of the controversial decision to allow the two crews to compete in the second run, W.C. prevailed again to win the only race

In the men's final race of the day, the W.C. varsity-four competed in a field of four boats and finished second, just three seconds behind the leading LaSalle boat. This race caused. the most optimism among the men. The crew con-sisted of several rowers who had already twice in one day, rowed very well. 'It is a good indicator that we may have a very good season," said Mer-

The women's only victory of the day came in the varsity-four race in which the women completed 2,000 meters of funcompleted 2,000 meters of fun-damentally correct rowing to edge LaSalle by two seconds. The LaSalle defeat was the first at the hands of W.C. in five years. The two women's defeats came in the Varsity and Novice-eight races.

The women's coach, John Wagner said the women's vic-tory was "a good season opener. LaSalle is always good opener. LaSalle is always good competition, [and] and the vic-tory forshadows what may happen in the futre".

This weekend's competition spread a great deal of op-timism throughout the pro-gram. W.C. prepared all week or tomorrow's competition to be held in Northern Virginia, at the Occoquan reservoir. At Oc-coquan the weather should not be a factor when the crews compete against George Washington University, George Mason University, George Mason University, Loyola, Franklin & Marshall,

Lacrosse Gets Tough

by Carter Boatner

The men's lacrosse team went on the road last weekend, winning back-to-back games against Alfred University and Nazareth College in upstate New York. The team's record tow stands at 4-4 after victories that demonstrated rapid maturity over the previous performances. Coach Terry Corcoran stated that it was a

On Friday afternoon the Shoremen traveled six hours to Syracuse, New York where they spent the night before facing Alfred University. With the sorreboard showing a final sowe of 22-7, all rumors that Alfred was going to play a tight game and hold the score to within several points proved false. Mark Cavallaro led all scorers with three goals.

After the Alfred victory, the squad boarded the team bus for the hour-and-a-half ride to Rochester, to face Nazareth to face Nazareth College. Alfred was fired up to Play the Shoremen and Mazeth was no different. Wareth was no different. Wazeth was no different. Wazeth and of victory. The had score read 15-7, with Cavallaro once again the leading score. Cavallary has Cavallaro once again the leading scorer. Cavallaro has ome on very strong this leason after sitting out all of list Spring season with torn mee ligaments.

Last weekend was tough for team. Coach Terry Corand for a team to play two same weekend. Making matters worse was playing on the road against highly motivated opponents. Corcoran seemed very pleased with the team's performance in the last two tough, physical games.

The recent outburst in the team's offensive play can be attributed to the new "1-4" of-fense that Coach Corcoran has adopted. The "1-4" offense is designed to allow one player to go directly to the cage and score. This new offense is simply more aggressive and creates more scoring opportunities.

Currently W.C. ranks third in the Division III standings behind Washington & Lee, and No. 1 Ohio-Wesleyan. Tomor-row the Shoremen face the defending Division III national c h a m p i o n H o b a r t "Statesmen" who are current ly ranked fourth behind W.C. Hobart's record now stands at 0-2. One of the losses came against third-ranked Division I University of Virginia, and the other from surprisingly tough Division III Ohio-Wesleyan.

W.C. will play Washington W.C. will play Washington and Lee this season, and the chances of W.C. facing Ohio Wesleyan in the playoffs are high. The practice the team had this past week will be the biggest determinant of the team's performance. The players feel confident going in the Hohart same tomorrow. to the Hobart game tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. on Kibler field and expect to draw a big crowd of supporters

Women's Lax To Match Muhlenburg

by Christine Wiant

Women's Lacrosse ran up against a strong Hopkins team Friday, March 20, leaving them with a 20-4 loss, Captains Beth Matthews and Holly Dinning put in all the goals for the game. "Positioning wise," said Coach Diane Guinan, "the team played well. We're just not at the same level of development as Hopkins. We are a young, inexperienced team and we have to keep the season in perspective.

Next, W.C. faced off against Salisbury on Wednesday, March 26, playing a much Wednesday, stronger game, paricularly during the first eight minutes, four of the total five Washington goals were made resulting in a final score of 12-

Coming off of two disappointing defeats, the Shorewomen suffered yet another loss (6-1) at the hands of Dickinson on Saturday, March 28. Goalie Kathy Kilroy had a good game with 16 saves as did Lillie Turgut, who made the only W.C. goal. Left defensive wing Jen Fritsch has also been a strong asset to the team, according to Coach Guinan.

The team is optimistic as they prepare to face Muhlen-burg on Saturday April 4, for what should prove to be a fast paced, competitive match.

Left attack wing Jill Bland played a tough offense when it came to get-ting control of the ball against Essex Wadnesday, March 31.

Drug Testing Is A Failure

Led by the pounding fists of Bob Knight and the sweet three-point touch of Steve Alford, the Indiana Hoosiers stormed the NCAA'a playoff carnival to emerge as College Basketball Champs. Now ain't that nice Champs. Now ain't that nice.

As always the tournament featured memorable games and memorable plays. And surprises. Lots of surprises.
Now let's see, which was the biggest one? Austin Peay (huh?) beating Missouri in the first-round? Nah. Oh, I know, how about Providence making it all the way to the Final Four? That was a real shocker. Maybe, but it's still not the biggest. Give up?

How about this: of the four hundred or so drug tests performed at this year's Tourney, not one player tested positive. Now ain't that nice?

While last year's college athletics controversy was about tests in the classroom (and the lack of passing them), this year the NCAA has shifted its headlines. Hoping to free the college athletic world of drugs, the NCAA intituted a policy of ordering various players from winning tournament teams to take drug tests. But is testing the answer, and is it even legal?

The format is to test the seven most used players and one reserve chosen at random immediately after victory with players being required to report to a drug testing room within an hour and provide a urine sample. Drug testers remain with the players until the sample is obtained, even watching the tampering with specimens

The basis for the testing is to remove drugs from college sports. It is a hetty goal. Any players who are tested positive for any illegal drugs are banned from participating in future playoff

With drug abuses rampant, especi ly on college campuses, the NCAA's new drug testing policy may appear to be a step in the right direction. But appearances can be deceiving.

While the time for action against drug abuse is overdue, the NCAA's drug testing policy is a step away from the problem. Instead of action, it is show business, at the expense of peronal freedoms

Drug testing gives the NCAA the im-pression that it is taking a hard line on drugs. By testing players, the NCAA can say that their tournament is drugcan say that their tournament is drug-free, and by banning players who test positive, the NCAA can portray a get tough against drugs image. This, though, only protects the NCAA's im-age, while leaving drug addicted players in the cold.

Statistics show that twelve percent of student athletes use cocaine twenty-seven percent, marijuana regularly. The statistics are even higher for basketball players. With no positive results, is this crop of kids clean? It would be naive to think so Since players know that for the tour nament drug testing is coming, though, the smart money is on the players to go straight for the playoffs. This means that the player who actually is addicted to drugs will still be addicted to drugs after the tournament and his two week abstinance. No problem solved here, just avoided. And if the player does take drugs despite knowing he will be tested he threatens destroying his reputation and future sporting career.

And what of the player whose career and reputation is destroyed, and who actually was not using drugs. At best, drug tests are 97% accurate. At best. Such things as poppy seed and over the counter drugs such as Advil can produce false positive results of drug use. Other problems include contamination of urine specimens and sloppy lab procedures or positive results due to passive marijuana smoke. Florida oach Norm Sloan switched his team's hotel because of that fear

Additionally, drug testing cannot accurately pinpoint the time of use, especially when the drug is marijuana. Long time users who no longer smoke marijuana can produce false results; urine samples can test positive as much as one month from the last use, steroids for months, even years. For these athletes, or for any individual, the scars that a positive reading on drugs can create is far too high to rely on a process which, on average, at best will be wrong three out of 100 times. But beyond these problems is the legal question of whether mandatory drug testing violates an individual's constitutional rights. The Fourth Amendment gives the people the right to be secure against unreasonable searches and seizures, stating that "no warrants shall be issued but upon probable ause, on oath or affirmation, describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized." The NCAA hardly has "probable cause" to test each of the players which it does.

The courts in California have already struck down the NCAA drug testing policy. Simone LeVant, captain of Stan-ford's diving team, refused to submit to urine testing, apparently ending her season as she was disallowed from ompetition. But the American Civil Liberties Union came to her aid, and won her case. She was allowed to comete without being tested, although all other participants were tested.

The LeVant decision was based on California constitution, however, which gives broader privacy rights than the Federal Constitution, so until drug testing is challenged in the Federal courts, its legality remains in question, and the NCAA can continue to administrate it. Expect a case to develop soon, however, as more and more people grow disgruntled at the new policy.

And while legal questions linger, so do many basketball players, dehydrated after playing and unable to produce a urine sample for three hours

we must remember that it will not solve drug abuse. Drug abuse is a social problem which demands education, individual attention, and a re-rooting of values. Drug testing is a halfway-reliable laboratory procedur-which highlights a few of those who have a problem.

Those who support drug testing claim that it enables those who have problem to be cured. This would be great. But rehabilitation does not won that simply. Those who have the dru problem can only be cured if they ge nuinely want to be cured, not if meone else wants them to. Drug testing is not going to control drug abuse. I takes a bit more than urinating into a takes a society against drugs. And the will take some work.

... At Washington

College...

College basketball coaches have been mostly opposed to the concept of drug testing, primarily on the gro of being an invasion of privacy. And being ineffective. And being poorly in plemented by the NCAA. And so on

"You are really not putting the fing on the problem as I see it," said Ter ple coach John Chaney, who believes that the players are being thrust into the spotlight of a problem within socie ty. Others agree.

And at Washington College, the sectiments are much the same. Say Shoremen basketball coach Tom Fin negan, "Drug testing is admitting that there is a major problem in collegathletics." Finnegan question whether drug testing is "legally on stitutional" and say "I hope that drug testing is "legally on stitutional" and say "I hope that drug testing is the say of the say testing is not something to concer ourselves with at W.C." Adds Finnegan, "Drugs are a pro-blem of society...whose elimination is not the NCAA's responsibility.

GASLON'S BUSINESS MACHINES SALES & SERVICE

Most makes of typewriters & calculators

30 Years Experience

837 High St. Ext.

778-5611

A Few Spare Hours? Receive/forward mail from home! Uncle Sam works hard - you pocket hundreds honestly! Details, send selfaddressed, stamped

BEDUYA. Box 17145. Tucson, AZ 85731

And In This Corner

and Scholastic Chess Tourna-ment will be held in the Talbot County Community Center on April 11, starting at 9 a.m. Both tournaments are sponsored by the Maryland Chess Association. The scholastic section is open to anyone in the 12th grade or below, and the open section is open to all. For more information contact Colla information contact Colin McRae at 859-6654 days or 76 2618 evenings and weekends or Bob Erkes at 655-3180.

LOST LOST LOST LOST LOST LOST An Emerald Ring LARGE REWARD OFFERED CALL 778-6790

KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA

EMILY HAIRDRESSER

SUN SYSTEM

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

Learn from the experts

With our professional instructors, you can expect the highest quality instruction. In addition to our entry level scuba classes, our experts teach a wide range of advance and specialty courses. For More Information Stop By or Call: Brian Bishop at the Casey Swim Center, Ext. 438.

Grasonville, Md.

CALYPSO DIVE SHOP

Photographic Art Developing At College

by David Healey
Snapping photos may be a musehold art reserved for the mily photo alburn, but the rue showcase for otographic art will be at ashington College during the rt week. A Symposium or notography will be held April an exhibit of student and umni photography will run hroughout the week, and an whibit of works by A. Aubrey will be presented in libson gallery.

Washington College Symposium on Photography is held at the College Photography exhibits have ebration on the Che 1982, and again this fall with Constance Stuart Lar rabee/Alan Paton exhibit, Go Well, My Child. However, this s the first large public hotography symposium hich has been held at Washington College. The chairoan of the event is Constance Suart Larrabee, whom the College recognized this fall with an honorary degree for photography. Vice-chairman is Edward E. Maxcy, and the symposium is sponsored by the ashington College Friends of the Arts with support from the Kent County Arts Council, the ecture Series, and the bidents Government Associa-ton. Larrabee promises, "This Lecture the beginning of more to time on photography."

The program will be held tween 9:30 a.m. and 5:00 am. on Saturday, April 11. buglass Cater will welcome articipants, then the morning tester will be the same of the ssion will begin. The series of tenty minute talks will in-Photography as a Fine Art, Why Collect Photographs, The Future of Photography-A lew World, Environmental fortraits, and A Profile of traines. After lunch, the iterpoon session will feature: hastomy of a National feegraphic Assignment: The bregon Trail, The Indelible mage/Behind the Scenes, The Mair. Making of Fine Prints, and A.

Mubrey Bodine, Pictorial

Moto Journalist. A reception meet the speakers will conide the symposium. Many leading photographers

d archivists will be speak-g James Amos is a staff hotographer for National ographic magazine, and has blished two books, Hawaii dd America's Inland lerway. Harry Amdur is sident and co-owner of he graphy company, Moder-Helen Marcus is a conouting photographer to m and Country, Gourmet, Forbes. Judith Luskey is the National eum of African Art gistration for participants 20. However, the symstudents. Questions he event should be ed to Ms. Pat Trams, 778At the O'Neill Literary House is an exhibit of student House is an exhibit of student and alumni works. The show opened Wednesday evening with a reception for the photographers: J.M. photographers: J.M.

Fragomeni, Michele Balze,
David Kelly, Will Hayes, Sarah Letaw, and Tyler Campbell.
Junior J.M. Fragomeni is a philosophy major and the Photography editor for both The Elm and the Collegian. Some twenty-six examples of his work are on display, most of which have been published in these two publications or in the WCR. His work is especially interesting since it gives a double vision of both the campus and the local community. There are photographs of field hockey players with gritted teeth, portraits of thoughtful professors, and even firefighters dousing a burning Michele Balze is a junior who transferred from the College of Notre Dame last year. She studied photography at Notre Dame and in high school. Balze is now a staff photographer for The Elm. Most of her works come from a portfolio that she did at her former college. From a series called "self portraits" come two pictures of herself. "Those were hard," she said. "You can't look she said. "You can't look through the camera to see what you're focused on. It's all guess work." Instead, she had to position herself in front of the camera and snap the photo with a remote bulb. Her other photos also include a series of dollar bills. To make these, Balze replaced the photographic negative with the bill and ran it through the developer. She claims she wasn't cheating, but only made a photogram, since she used the actual material in place of the actual material in place of the negative. "All photography is," she said, "is making im-ages with light." Since both sides of the bill show up, the photos become intricate pat-terns which seem to interact with and confuse each other.

"It's a habit." said sen It's a habit," said senior chology/education major Will Hayes of his photography. Like Fragomeni, his photos include many local scenes, including a photograph of the sun setting over Kibler Field, and a quiet pool of water at Rem-ington Farms. Hayes explain-ed that he likes landscapes, and indeed landscapes are the major theme of his work. His theory toward photography is, 'It's all a matter of the right place, right time, and the right thing." Hayes has studied photography since high school and his photographs are for sale at Gallery Five in Chester

Junior David Kelly joked about his color photograph, "Reservoir," "I would have sold it to Hallmark but there wasn't a young couple in it walking toward the sunset. "I'm more into creative things," he said. For instance, three of Kelly's photographs are of the Swan Point

Cemetery in Providence, Rhode Island, Rather than be-color has always been one of the strongpoints of photography," she said. Two of her photographs, "South American Woman at Loom" and "A Birthday" give a sense one of former boof this love of color with their Swish Nicholson. sensuous red and yellow tones.

Letaw has been a shutterbug with black and white develop daily for a long time. "I started tak-their own film. "Black and house

ing pictures when I was about

Cemetery in Providence, lng pictures when I was about Rhode Island. Rather than be- eleven years old with a little ing morbid, the photographs Kodak box cameral, "she said thoughtfulness of ence and She is currently a staff thoughtfulness of the company of the statuary.

Typer Campbell is a 1976 Sarah Letaw presents five of graduate of Washington Colher color photographs." (think lege. Campbell lives in color has always been one of Chestertown, and is a prothe strong points of fessional free-lance her photographer. His work has been provided that the color has been said. Two of photographer. His work has been provided that the color has always been one of photographer. His work has been photographer. photographer. His work features a series of portraits of Kent County natives, including one of former baseball player

Wish victorison.

The photographers who work through April 12. It can be seen ith black and white develop daily 9-5 in the O'Neill Literary

When you develop it yourself you can really get the emphasis you want." Kelly, emphasis you want." Kelly, Hayes, and Letaw are color photographers, but have their color photographs developed by a reputable company. Kelly explained, "Color takes 15-20 minutes a shot to develop; it's white is a lot of fun," noted Kela very complicated process. It's a lot easier to send them

Bodine's Vintage Vantage Opens

by David Healey

Traveling Exhibition of Vintage Photographs by A. Aubrey Bodine opened yester-day in Gibson Gallery. The exhibit features 38 photographs from Bodine's fifty year career as a photographer for the Baltimore Sunday Sun.
At fourteen Bodine dropped out of school to become an errand boy for the Baltimore Sun. He worked his way up to the position of commercial photographer, and by 1927, at 21, became a photographer for the Sunday Sun.

Bodine specialized as a pictorial photographer. He altered his photographs to make them similar to pain-tings. He experimented with many techniques to do this, including altering the lighting, printing the photographs backwards, and even retouching photos by painting out unwanted objects. Pictorialism was a style of photography which was especially popular during the turn of the century and practic-ed by photographers like Ed-ward Stiken. In the 1920's, many camera clubs specialized in this style of photography. Photographers borrowed techniques from painters composition, lighting — to make their photos seem like paintings. Working as a pictorial photo-journalist, Aubrey enjoyed regional fame, with work appearing almost weekly in that he really had no photo assignments, but was basically given a free hand to search out photographs. photographs were not only to tell a story for the newspaper noted Ewing, "but also to stand as works of art." Despite his feature's bent, Bodine was one of the fourteen founders of the National Press Photographers Association. His work frequently a eared in exhibi-tions, and gained a national and international reputation although he was better known regional photographer. More recently, Ewing's book is helping to spread interest in

Bodine on a national level

'We felt it is a sort of a time-

nthe Sunday Sun.

Nandy Grundberg wrote of photographer Constance im in The New York Times: Stuart Larrabee. "It shows the
'They don't make Eastern Shore and Baltimer botographers like A. Aubrey — Bodine was a true Maryland od in e a ny m or e. A photographer."

photographers like A Abbrey — bonne was a true marymous bed of me an ym or e. A photographer.'

photographer for the And Indeed most of the Bullimore Sunday Sun from photographs are of local style of Pictorialism with consumnate grace and skill.'

The exhibit was prepared by the Sunday occurred the Sunday The exhibit swing, owner of the are nostage with a state of the state

As part of the Washington College Symposium Photography on April 11, a talk entitled A. Aubrey Bodine, Pic-torial Photo-Journalist, 1906-70 will be given about Bodine. Speaking will be Steve Szabo, Assistant Professor of Photography, The Corcoran School of Art, Washington, D.C. The exhibit will be open through April 19, then it will go on to the Baltimore Museum Art. The Baltimore Sun, the Lecture series, and the Friends of the Arts have all worked to bring this exhibit to the Col-lege. Bodine's works extend to the second floor of Gibson gallery, so visitors should be sure not to miss the second

ENTERTAINMENT

Duran Duran Earns New Notoriety

by Ken Haltom

I know what you're thinking. Duran Duran-teen rubbish, image-conscious technopop stars who can't play their struments. OK fine, bear with me. Duran Duran was, just a few years back, the most popular band in the world. Their farts made news. They minated the top 40 and made MTV famous. But since millions of 13 year-old girls swooned over them, the rest of us wrote them off. Looking back, many of their hits seem silly and unremarkable, but there is also a lot of good music their albums, especially RIO, a post-new wave classic MO, a post-new wave classic.
Two years ago the group temporarily split and the Power Station and Arcadia formed, both meeting with success. Last year, minus two of the original members. Duran Duran formed again. Their product, Notorious, is (sorry

Duran's Notorious: Not Just For Teeny Boppers

gang) a damm good record. clean, sparkling sound...
It's sophisticated but also plays guitar on most danceable; it rocks at times record... and goes slow at others. Another change for the Notorious has been out for almost six months and is selling sluggishly. That's too bad, because the world is really missing out on some good

Notorious is a new beginning for Duran Duran. Simon LeBon, Nick Rhodes and John Taylor have done a lot of growing up. Their playing has immg up. Their playing has improved and so has their songwriting. Notorious isn't a record with two good singles and a lot of filler; every song has a good hook and a distinct sound. Horns have been used extensively and the band finally has a great drum sound thanks to the hard-hitting Steve Ferrone. Producer Mike Rogers has given the band a but also plays guitar on most of the Another change for the band is the inclusion of slow, moody material on the album. Matter of Feeling" rec recalls "Save a Prayer." In it, Nick Rhodes creates a moody and reflective ambiance with his keyboards. "Winter Marches teyboards. "Winter Marches on" is also slow, soft and almost dirge-like. There's almost plenty of upbeat, stuff, though.

"Vertigo," "Hold Me," and the title track, "Skin Trade," are all pure fun light, vet danceable.

Notorious deserves a chance Duran Duran are real musi-cians. Their brand of pop is well-crafted and enjoyable. Wynton Marsalis calls pop music, "...candy, fun to have once in a while." Notorious is good candy. Give it a taste

Campus Calendar

FRIDAY 3

Shore Stick Supporters Recep-Spanish Club Student Center, Hodson Hall, 6:00 p.m. Film Series: Vagabond Norman James Theatre, 7:30 p.m. Lambda Open Party Cullen, 9:30-1:30 a.m. SATURDAY 4

Alumni Association Spring Weekend Picnic Lunch Special guest: L. Kenly Jenkine Behind Cain Athletic Center. 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. After-the-Games-Party

Alumni House, 4:00 p.m. SGA & Theta Chi Open Air Dance: AR-15 Behind Tawes Theatre, 9:00

SUNDAY 5 The Music Department enior Recita Sue DePasquale, Flute Norman James Theatre, 4:0

Film Series: Vagabond Norman James Theatre, 7:30 p.m MONDAY 6

Faculty Meeting Film Series: Vagabond Norman James Theatre, 7:30 n m TUESDAY 7

Kent County Arts Council Los Morenos: Worksho Flamenco Dance Cain Athletic Center, 4:30 p.m.

Her character is hard to either understand or like. Writes James: "Tough and belligerent, with stringy hair

Dance and Guitar lecture performance Moreno Norman James Theatre, 8

> The Physics Department a Lecture Series A New Theory of Cancer Dr. Ivar Giaever, Physic Nobel Prize winner Hynson Lounge, 8:00 p.m.

THURSDAY 9

WC Chapter Amnest International Human Rights in Guatemale Rita Claverie, Counselor 5 Human Rights, Embassy Sophie Kerr Room, 7:30 p.m

> exhilarating experience... transcends all formulas. conventions and preconceptions For the moment. it is clearly THE PICTURE OF THE YEAR."
>
> —Andrew Sarris, Village Voice

"An emotionally

"A TRIUMPH."

—New York Times

First Prize VENICE FILM FESTIVA HERITAGE EXTERTAINMEN

FRIDAY SUNDAY/MONDAY 7:30 P.M $1 ADMISSION NORMAN JAMES THEATRE WASHINGTON COLLEGE

FILM SERIES

Vagabond: Wandering With Mona

The camera pans through a frozen vineyard. Suddenly stops and focuses on the lifeless body of a woman lying among the withered vines. Vagabond has begun

Director/screenwriter Agnes Varda is well-known for her film. One Sings, the Other Doesn't, a Film Series feature last semester. Her latest film, Vagabond, has also brought her acclaim, winning first prize in the 1985 Venice Film "Vagabond.. is so e fective, it can be grueling to sit through," writes Carvn James in the New York Times.

she wanders through rural and roads creates imagery as vagabond

Her character is hard to either understand or like.

The film follows the life of woman. Not much else is Mona (Sandrine Bonnaire), as known about Mona, only that she is a former secretary who Southern France. It is winter, hates bosses, and has given up and the scenery of brown fields her former life to become a

Using a quasi-documentary style, the film follows Mona along the wintry roads, recording her adventures. She meets an ex-hippie who now raises goats. He gives her a plot of ground and a trailer to live in, and Mona falls into a brief affair with a local brief affair with a local door laborer. A maid along the way Pa

wanders along, living The film is in wherever and however she English subtitles

Part of the Washington Col-lege Film Series, Vagabond can be seen Friday, Sunday, or laborer. A maid aiong tue way rart or the wasmington collects her sleep in an unused lege Film Series, Vagabond house, and later a richy-can be seen Friday, Sunday, or dressed lady gives her a richy-can be seen Friday, Sunday, or white she is hitch-hiking. Mona James Theatre at 7:30 p.m. and are a long, living The Ilim is in French with

Chestertown Movie Theater

Hours: Fri.-Sun. 7 & 9 p.m Mon.-Thurs. 7:45 p.m.

Outrageous Fortune

778-1575

WC DEBATING CLUB

- Presents-A Debate On

THE LEGALIZATION OF MARIJUANA

Friday, April 10th 7:00 P.M. COFFEE HOUSE

BLOW YOURSELF UP TO POSTER SIZE Send In Any Black & White or

Color Picture up to 8"x10"(No Negatives) and Have it Enlarged into a Giant Black & White or Full Color Poster Comes in Mailing Tube - No Creasing. Put Your Name and Address on Back of Original for Safe Return

16"x20" $14.99 20"x30" $17.99 2'x3' $19.99

add .75 Pos KRYSTAL KLEER PHOTO CO P.O. Box 25488, Fort Lauderdale, FL 33320

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 24

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, April 10, 1987

Student Aid Program Changes Made

President Cater issued the following statement regarding changes in the Student Aid program for next year

"The Board of Visitors and Gover-nors, upon the recommendation of its Finance Committee, has agreed to raise our Student Aid budget for next year from $1,815,000 to $2,125,000, an year from $1,01,000 to $2,122,000, and increase of over $300,000.

We have also devoted our efforts to redefining Student Aid policy to put more emphasis on merit than in the past. This means that academic performance, or a student's GPA, will play a part in determining the amount of a student's scholarship or grant. Students whose GPA falls below 2.0, under new policy, can lose their finan-cial aid. In cases of special hardship a student may appeal to the Financial Aid Committee for review.

Our goal is to make the best possible use of College Student Aid funds under the ceiling imposed by the budget adopted by the Board. The new financial aid policy, which stresses academic performance, along with a higher financial aid ceiling and a variety of loan programs and work study op-portunities, should bring us closer to that goal."

Try as they might, the Shoremen couldn't hold on to that ball against Hobart last Saturday on Kibler Field. Here Mike McGuane is checked Statesman defender. (See story on page 12.)

Cater said, "Below 2.0, you fall off dent is unwilling to release exact Committee.

Cater said, "Below 2.0, you fall off dent is unwilling to release exact Committee.

Be bottom of the financial aid ladder," graduations of GPA that will affect the

Raisingle for aid is a result of the presi what was responded creatively to what

Students' with increasingly higher

because the standards have not yet dent's successful. Continuation and the presi what the wave responded creatively to what

Students' with increasingly higher

because the standards have not yet dent's successful. Continuation and the presi what the wave responded creatively to what

Students' with increasingly higher

because the standards have not yet dent's successful. The students are the standards have been a real financial

GPA will be awarded more. The presi because the standards have not yet dent's successful. The standard was represented to the presi continuation of the standard for the standard fo

Deans To Discuss Housing Opportunities

Many questions arise an-nually about housing pro-cedures and roommates. The student Deans have sent out memos to students describing the process, but all students are encouraged to attend a meeting Monday at 4:00 p.m.

in the Coffee House to discuss it At the informal meeting, the April 23. student Deans will handle questions regarding room lottery, special interest housing, dicate their choices of rooms, and the room assignments in In addition, students are general

April 21, rising seniors will draw their lottery housing numbers in the Student Affairs office between 2:00-4:30 p.m.
The juniors will then draw their numbers the following day and finally, the rising sophomores on the third day,

While drawing lottery numbers, students will in-strongly encouraged to have a roommate in mind at the time of the room draw.

After seeing floor charts,
"Seniors will choose their specific room," Dean Maxcy explained, Placement will then proceed by the room lottery Rising seniors will be notified of their room assignment before leaving for the summer.
Juniors and sophomores will also preference three rooms, and sopho However, they will notified until the summer.

notified until the summer.

Placement of women is to be beginning of the summer. "We be handled by Dean McIntre while w do arise, Maxcy explained that wait.
students will be phoned at home.
According to Maxcy, juniors not be formed of their rooms in the beginning of the summer.

In addition, Maxcy feels continued on page 9

INSIDE:

Election Supplement.....p.5 Luau Plans Set......p.9 Physicist Speaks.....p.10

Taylor Reads Today.....p.14

In an effort to improve rela-tions between the College and tions between the Conege and the surrounding community, the Kappa Alpha Order of Washington College has im-plemented a community ser-vice program involving over two hundred hours of service to the College and surrounding community groups.
"The brothers of Kappa

by Tony Caligiuri

Alpha thought that it was time

Brothers Reach Out to bridge the gap between the college students and the per-manent residents of Chester-town, and we thought that this presented the perfect op-portunity," said Steve DiEugenio, chairman of the K.A. Community Service Committee.

DiEugenio said the efforts are aimed toward any service organization that needs assistance. Groups that have accepted the K.A.'s assistance include the Chestertown Historical Society, the Washington College Women's League, and Kent and Queen Anne's Hospital. Services offered range from yard work and general maintenance, to assisting the Handicapped Olympics, to acting as guides in the Candlelight Tour of Historical

continued on page 9

PINION

Editorial

A Letter To Our Printer

DEAR SIRS:

DEAR SIRIS:

It has been said by those in a position to know that the freedom of the press belongs to those who own one. This unfortunate fruism of the publishing trade has become clear to the editors and writers of this publication after finding our freedom of expression curtailed not by your rements or the church, but by the printer we have to publish our material. Censorahip, we're afraid, is allve and we'll in the land of the First Amendment thanks to the pressure well in the land of the First Amendment thanks to the pressure with the properties of the propert tices you engage in tices you engage in.

This year you have repeatedly run roughshod over our editorial domain by altering language in many of our stories, often domain by altering language in many of our stories, often hark job done to the piece of fiction entitled reample is the hark job done to the piece of fiction entitled reample and the Collegian name over rough copy to typesetters and a publisher who have no objection substituting a blur of exclamation points, edited the control of the position of the readers shall or shall not see in print.

You claim your policy is not to print "obscenities." Is it a written policy? Are all customers supposed to receive a copy? We have received no written statement regarding your ceasorship policies, only mutilated copy that emerges from your typesetting department arthritaryl edited to meet someone's mysterious standards of "decency." We think that you would demonstrate true decency by establishing writting guidelines outlining your true decency by establishing writting guidelines outlining your control of the property of the pro clearly it is your perspative to set guidelines about what you will or will not print. Fortunately, oursi as country that allows private ownership of basiness operations however, is the responsibility not to turn it against others by being a purveyor of your morality as well as a purveyor of printing services. In our your morality as well as a purveyor of printing services. In our the arbitrary ensorable you engage in soundly contradicts the arbitrary ensorable your dispersions of the printing that the property of the printing that allows you to held your present nosition. to hold your present positi

RESPECTFULLY

T.M.S

D.H.

S.M.D. A.M.P. J.M.F

Washington College Elm

| Editor-in-chief . |     |      |    |    |      |   |     |     |   |  |  |  | TH  | 10 |     | . 1 | IA. | c   | ch    |    |    |      |
|-------------------|-----|------|----|----|------|---|-----|-----|---|--|--|--|-----|----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-------|----|----|------|
| News Editor       |     |      |    |    |      |   |     |     |   |  |  |  |     | ۸. |     |     | m   | DI  | . 211 |    |    | -    |
|                   |     |      |    |    |      |   |     |     |   |  |  |  |     |    |     |     |     |     |       |    |    |      |
| Arts/Entertainm   | ent | Edie |    |    |      | * | • • | • • | • |  |  |  |     |    |     | 10  | a   | 91  | L     | 0  | 10 | 0    |
| Sports Editor     | one | Lui  | UI |  |  |   | ٠.  |     |   |  |  |  | * * |    |     | D   | a١  | IId | н     | 01 | 10 | γ    |
| Photography Ed    |     |      |    |    | * *  |   |     |     |   |  |  |  |     |    | CI  | ri  | st  | ne  | 9 V   | ٧ì | an | ıt   |
| Photography Ed    | 101 |      |    |    |      |   |     |     |   |  |  |  |     |    | 3.1 | Μ.  | F   | ra  | go    | m  | 0T | ni . |
|                   |     |      |    |    |      |   |     |     |   |  |  |  |     |    |     |     |     |     |       |    |    |      |
|                   |     |      |    |    |      |   |     |     |   |  |  |  |     |    |     |     |     |     |       |    |    |      |

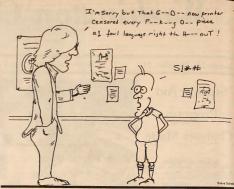

Alison Shorter Michelle Royal . Marielle Ruiz

The Ein is the official student newspaper of Washington College. The Ein is guidance were private during the academic year with the scape in Viscalina and exam weak.

The private is a scape of the control of the cont

tion in that week's issue.

The Elm's business and editorial office is located in the Queen Anno lounge, found on the first floor of the Queen Anne's House dormitory, Business hours are 7:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. Tuesdays and 7:00, no. to 11:00 p.m. Wednesdays. The office phone number is (301) 778-2800, extension 321.

Mom's Cookie Jar

I hope everyone 'Greek Night'' buffet last Wednesday. Next Wednesday the W.C.D.S. will feature a "Spring Buffet" dinner. The menu will include Steamship Round of Beef, Fried Clam Strips, Baked Potato, Fresh Vegetable Medley, Eight Grain Bread and Pecan Pie

At the beginning of the 1986-87 school year, I started a cookie contest, mentioning a different kind of cookie in each of the "Mom's Cookie Jar ticles. Readers were to keep track of all the cookies men tioned, then turn in their lists at a given time. The one who submits the most complete list of cookies mentioned will win a cookies are filled with gourmet cookies. Well, the time has arrived! All entries must be turned in no later than Friday, April 17th. Send your entry to the W.C.D.S. in care of Sharon Crew or give your entry to Mrs. Crew at the dinner meals. In case of a tie, a random drawing will determine the winner. The winner of the contest will be announced in this article on

Stam Drug Co.

215 High Street Chestertown. Maryland 778-3030

·Hudson's Vitamins

 Cosmetics Russell Stover Candy

•Soda Fountain one last addition to your list: layered fig bars

For those of you interested in working catered functions, the sign-up sheets are posted on the Job Opportunity board in the Main Dining Room. Sign-up sheets for exam weeks shifts on the serving line or in the dishroom will be posted on the Job Opportunity board next week. For those of you in-terested in working on the ser-ving line or in the dishroom, sign-up sheets wilf also be available next week.

348/3/

Since I missed last week's edition of The Elm. I would like to take this opportunity to ex-

> Amity Bakery and Coffee Shop Donuts, French Loaves

& Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies, ial Occasion Cakes On Order Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M Lunch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

Mon.-Sat. 5 A.M.-5 P.M. Sunday 5 A.M.-2 P.M.

tend Happy Birthday Wishes to all those celebrating April bir-thdays. Birthday Night this month is scheduled for Tues-day, April 28.

Food For Thought: Did you know that dieters save no calories by switching from butter to margarine? Both have approximately 45 calories per

Well, that's about it for this week. See you next week, same time, same space...MOM.

The Elm

will not be published

next week

SUNDAY MASS

Alumni House 5:30 P.M.

Accountability Starts With The Individual

policies that will benefit the student body as a whole, each of us, as members of the S.G.A., must assume responsibility for our fellow students, Washington College as an institution, and for our own educational ex

We have heard that the bells toll for us and that we are our brother's keeper. Now is the time to respond. Though each of us may identify with a particular organization or interest group, we all see problems that affect student body at large. As individuals, we cannot ignore the caused by violence, vandalism, and chemical abuse. We must take responsibility for one another. Ultimately, we

The task of next year's Student will be held accountable for every Government Association will be to destructive act, either by a loss in challenge individuals. To promote privileges, a loss in security deposits, policies that will benefit the student or a loss in the College's reputation. By or a loss in the College's reputation. By changing our attitudes toward campus life, we can change our attitude toward community life. The motivation used to help a neighbor on the hall is the same

Mona Brinkley

motivation needed to help a neighbor in Kent County. We must respond individually not only to other students, but also to our college as an academic institution.
Washington College is one of the few institutions for higher learning that allows students to sit and vote on faculty committees. Individual students are encouraged to communicate with their representatives and to suggest pro-posals for change. Input fosters im-provement. The Student Government eds student support so that when we act, our actions may have long term as well as short term benefits.

The integrity of our academic institution is our responsibility. We ought to discuss admissions and graduation requirements. We ought to examine enrollment increases. We ought to be interested in any proposal that changes the character of our small liberal arts college. In the future, we will in-evitably feel the affects of current academic policies when we apply for jobs, internships, and graduate schools and realize that the reputation of our alma mater is of the utmost im-

In addition to being accountable for our fellow students and for our responsibility for our own education. If we are concerned about tuition increases, we ought to lobby the General Assembly for increased student aid. If ve are interested in special issues, we ought to support the various lecture series on campus. And, if we are convinced that our college needs expanded programs and better facilities, we ight to work with administrators and faculty members to obtain these im-provements for the benefit of all.

We cannot hope that "someone else will fulfill the responsibilities that we are unwilling to assume ourselves. Each of us is a vital part of the Student Government Association. Accountability starts with the individual.

Mona Brinkley is a Sophomore major-ing in English and Vice President of the Student Government Association.

What, In Your Opinion, Are The Most Important Issues ISSUE: Facing Student Government Next Year?

Dover, Delaware

"I think that the SGA will need to focus more on the ideas and currents of thought among the whole student body. Also, I think that the alcohol issue will remain hot.

Campus Voices

Cyndy Brenton Sophomore Towson, Maryland

"The results of the Student Affairs Task Force will have to be handled diplomatically. The alcohol policy will also be an issue. With the opening of Minta Martin, more students will be drinking on campus. This may amplify the already ex-isting alcohol problem."

Russell Loock Senior Millersville, Maryland

"I think the SGA is going to have to make a strong stand on the alcohol policy on campus or this college will also go 'dry

Dean Hebert Centreville, Maryland Whether or not to have a llama for a mascot.'

Sarah Letaw Senior Greenbelt, Maryland

"A better relationship between SGA and the ad-ministration. From what I've read, the student government will have to work to further define its role on campus."

by Michele Balze

Increased Student Input Is Valuable

What is the most pressing issue fac-ing SGA next year? Not a very difficult question to answer, for the answers are limitless; housing, vandalism, and "How to Make Money at a Dance" are Problems which face every incoming tudent administration. There are, bowever, some issues which will require the immediate attention of next year's SGA: the student judicial crisis and increasing student participation in the administration of the College.

This year's Student Judicial Board has simply not peformed well. This may be due, in part, to excessive interence from the Office of Student Affairs, or perhaps the extraordinary Casaland caseload encountered this year. In any case, the present judicial system has shown the weaknesses inherent in the system's present form. The present judicial charter simply concentrates ludicial charter simply concentration to much responsibility in the hands of too few people. It stands to reason that the process of investigation, hearings, and prosecution moves too slowly when only two or three people are involved. The SJB must be enlarged, and, I believe, must-reintroduce the position of student lawyer, as well as in-corporate a student jury.

The recent rise in tuition and the embarrasing (and frankly inexcusable) $400,000 cost overrun in the business office should, in themselves, be reason enough for students to become more actively involved in the real ad-ministration of the College. Students are paying customers — stockholders, in a sense — and have both the right in a sense — and have both the right and responsibility to voice their opinion in administrative matters. Do you think that if your father just "jost" nearly half a million dollars that he'd still have his job? Students should be mad as hell about this, especially when one considers that we only recently found out about a tuition increase that was approved by the Board of Visitors and Governors in February. What in the Hell is going on down there? In mat-ters such as this, the SGA next year must seek to increase its role as a forum for student opinion.

In direct relation to the unification

Tom Steele

and voicing of student opinion, the SGA and The Elm must put aside their differences. Sure, we all had fun watching these two groups go for each others' throats every Friday, but this feud has done more damage to the credibility of both the paper and student leadership than "Iran-Scam" has done to Reagan. If student input is to be taken seriously the administration, the SGA and The Elm must work together. The two groups cannot work alone; the SGA has no means for publication of a campuswide newsletter, and The Elm cannot claim to be as "representative" as the SGA Senate. Student input is valuable, and we cannot afford to present a divided front to the administration; it simply weakens our position.

Earlier this semester, in a letter to Earlier Inis semester, in a fetter to the editor, one particularly cynical student described the SGA as being nothing more than a group of "glorified dance organizers." Hopefully, this is not the opinion of the majority of students at Washington College, for students at Washington College, those students would be depriving themselves of the power to affect change and to guard those rights for which the SGA has fought in the past.

Tom Steele is a Senior majoring in Political Science.

Now there's more than one way to get through college.

To get ahead in college, it helps if you choose a brilliant roommate. Like a Macintosh personal computer. And now there are two models to choose from.

The Macintosh Plus, which comes with one 800K disk drive and a full megabyte of memory (expandable to four).

And the new Macintosh SE. Which comes with either two built in 800K<sup>70</sup> drives, or one drive and an internal 20-megabyte hard disk. As well as a choice of two new keyboards.

Inside, the SE also has an expansion slot, so you can add a card that lets you share information over a campuswide network. Or another card that lets you run MS-DOS programs.

Whichever Macintosh you choose you can use the latest, most advanced software. And that means you'll be able to work faster, better and smarter.

No two ways about it.

The power to be your best

WASHINGTON COLLEGE BOOKSTORE

HOURS:

9:30-4:30 (Monday-Friday); 9:30-1:00 (Saturday)

■ 1987 Apple Computer Inc. Apple and the Apple lago are registered trademarks of Apple Computer Inc. Macautab is a trademark of Apple Computer Inc. NS: DX is a registered trademark of Microsoft Corp.

ELECTION '87

photos by J.M. Fragomeni

Christopher Fascetta The Student Government Association

ly. This had created a negative feeling A year ago, when I was elected Secretary of the SGA, there were exciting changes occuring in Student Government at Washington College. There was a new alcohol policy to con-There was a new aiconol policy to con-tend with, challenges to the right of stu-dent representation on College commit-tees, and a rapidly expanding SGA role in the academic and social lives of Washington College students. In ad-dressing these and other issues on this campus over the past year has been mocked and ridiculed continuous-dressing these and other issues arrowed to the control to foster a spirit of cooperation which the campus community. We will be compared to the communication between the control to the control to the control to the control to the control turnous at SGA-sponsored vests, we've sent practical recommendations to the faculty regarding distribution of the control turnous and the control turnous at SGA-sponsored vests, we've sent practical recommendations to the faculty regarding will be control to the control turnous control t solicits student input through SGA ex-As SGA President, I will not allow the gains by SGA to slip away in confusion or misplaced priorities. Rather, I pro-pose to take this spirit of cooperation one step further, to a partnership bet-ween SGA and the student body. In-

I think that Student Government

Student Government has no business buying a round of drinks for itself with money that comes from student fees [see The Elm, February 27]. Student has developed over the past few years.

The steps to this would be, first, the development of better relationships among student-run organizations on campus. Specifically a better relationship between The Elmand the SGA. Second, the image of the SGA must be improved. A more unified executive body and Senate which will open its doors to every aspect of college life. This can be done with more diversified involvement of SGA events with all student-run organizations, not just a

And finally a development of an SGAsponsored out-reach program toward the Chestertown community. The SGA must develop a reputation of a service organization. Possibly this can be done through events to sponsor certain charity organizations.

I feel that my past experience in leadership positions at Washington Col-lege makes me more qualified to dividual students, special interest groups, and fraternities and sororities all have a right to the resources, representation and benefits of SGA.

SGA has a responsibility to the student body to fight for academic integrity, quality campus life and a diverse and unceasing social experience. I firmly believe that the individual has an in-alienable right to expect this from SGA, but partnership extends to campus organizations, such as fraternities and sororities. They are a valuable resource which I intend to combine with the resources of SGA. We've all with the resources of SGA. We've all witnessed the administration's view of fraternities and sororities, through housing and disiplinary action; and as SGA President, I am committed to the survival and prosperity of Greeks at Washington College.

One of my chief concerns for the upcoming year is the student judicial system. A number of revisions are in the works, but precious few of them deal with the rights of the accused. I have become personally involved in several cases this year in order to ensure that inadequate procedures or inept judicial board officials did not lead to injustices

n campus toward the SGA and its ofachieve these goals. If the students really want the SGA to represent Washington College then they have to put someone in position to get that job done. That someone I believe is Chris Fascetta, the only candidate with true leadership experience. Christopher Fascetta

SGA Presidential Candidate

Leadership Experience/ Washington College
1. Member SGA Executive Board, '86-

2. Chairman Student Conduct Council 3. President Kappa Alpha Order, '87-'88

4. Student Ombudsman SCC, '85-'86
5. Member of Screening Board SCC. Treasurer Kappa Alpha Order, '85-

7. Treasurer William James Forum,

8. Vice-Chairman International Rela-tions Club, '84-'85, '85-'86, '86-'87 Student Lawyer Student Judiciary.

10. Staff Reporter WC Elm, '84-'85 11. Delegate for WC to 1987 Naval Academy's Foreign Affairs Conference had to do this. Clearly, the student judicial system should be first on next year's SGA agenda.

Experience promises to be a theme in this SGA election. Perhaps some candidates have more campus ex-perience than myself; I know most have far less. In addition to being SGA Secretary, I am chairman of the SGA Publicity Committee and the Task Force on Student Affairs, and serve on the SGA Constitutional Review Com-mittee. I am a member of Phi Sigma Kappa, Delta Pi Omega, and the Sail-ing Club. I have also been active in athletics and state and federal govern-ment, as well as being a US Navy

Some issues facing us this year are Some issues facing us this year are new. Others are continuing issues, but all require sound judgement, swift action, and experienced decisions. I will meet all these challenges head-on, just as I have in past, fighting for the rights of each student, each club and each fraternity and nsorrity. As SGA President, with the cooperation we have now sent the promise of a partnership for and the promise of a partnership for the future, I will succeed. Christopher Foley

For President

THE PRESIDENT SHALL:

serve as a non-voting representative to the Board of Visitors and Gover-nors, at faculty meetings, and to the give greetings from the student body

-oversee cooperation Senate, SAB, and SCC.

Christopher Foley

should be less of a farce than it is now and that it shouldn't be verbose, so I'll keep this short.

to accused students. I shouldn't have Government has no business appointing meaningless committees to investigate more ways of seeing their names in The Elm. Student Govern-ment has no business taking itself too

I can explain my qualifications and experience simply: I have absolutely seriously

The Elm's 1987 Election Guide is designed to give students a chance to get acquainted with the candidates for Student Government office for the coming academic year. All candidates were asked to write a short essay explaining their qualifications and platforms. They appear here in alphabetical order (last name) under each Position up for election next Tuesday, April 14.

The Elm staff urges all students to take advantage of this guide and carefully consider the candidates and their respective positions on the issues facing Student Government. We hope to see all of you at the polls on no qualifications or experience, except common sense, which seems to be lacking in people who have experience and have been elected in the past.

My platform is simple, too: I'd like to ee the Student Government serving the purpose for which it was intended: representing student interest, not reating false issues or spending your tuition on beer. Then I'd like to see the campus declare autonomy from the U.S. and an Elm writer on the WhiteHouse Press Corps. Bill Smith should be renamed Castle Greyskull. And we should get a mascot — maybe a llama or a chimp. We can vote on it. It can live in my room, unless someone else really wants it to live with them.

So when the time comes to vote, remember my slogan, "Don't vote for me; vote for somebody else — they'll do a much better job."

Dean Hebert

Hebert

Richard A. MacKnight, Jr.

It is election time again and many of ou are asking yourselves "Who in the you are asking yourselves "Who in the-should I vote for?" Well, that is — should I vote for?" Well, that is becoming an old question at this school; just as old as the question: "Why should I vote?" This problem concerning students seems to express their dissatisfaction with present and past student leaders and their pro-blems in the S.G.A. If the students do not have faith in the student leaders then how can the student leaders adeuately communicate the needs and attitudes of the students to the College Administration? So, by running for S.G.A. president, I am offering the student body not only a sympathetic ear, but action to which the administration will be obliged to react

I have past experience with the SJB, on which I served as the Student's Rights Advocate. This position allowed me a neutral view of the attitudes of the students, student leaders, administration and even The Elm.

Now, the Student Government is comprised of all full time undergraduate students as stated in the Student Handbook. Also, in the pream-ble of the Student Government Constitution, it states that we the students "must ever realize the importance of our active participation in promoting student welfare." And with the proper communication medium of student leaders, of which I would love to be a part, the concerned active participa-tion of students shall create results comparable to other institutions, not of the same size, but of the same tuition

What I, Richard A. MacKnight, Jr. hope to contribute to the students is the actualization of their ideas and at-

Richard Armistead MacKnight, Jr.

For

President

Vice

tect students' rights to be heard You deserve to know what's going on at your school. You not only deserve to know, but you need to be involved Observing students' rights to be informed about College policies, faculty, and administrative actions is the presi-dent's primary obligation to the student body. This very week revisions are being made regarding students' eligibility for financial aid — has anyone asked you what you think? The decision to raise tuition was made in mid-February; why weren't students told until late March? Alcohol is another major issue facing the SGA. Students have been asked by the administratin to deal with the van dalism and violence caused by ir-responsible drinking. I don't think weening students off alcohol in the Coffee House with herbal tea is the answer. Well-organized, timely social events, increased awareness, and peer pressure are. Bolstering the Greek position on campus is another issue to be address-ed. Under the present college ad-ministration, the sororities and frater-nities hold a rather precarious ex-istence. I would like to see a permanent committee established with representatives of each Greek organization, the SGA, and other clubs that sponsor social activities to ease scheduling conflicts and to foster a consistent, but varied social calendar. This committee could also serve as a forum to discuss any social issues facing the entire campus, like the recent crackdown on alcohol Two specific goals I maintain for next year's presidency include regular communication between the SGA and the student body and a re-evaluation of the Constitution. A biweekly report to students outlining issues facing the Senate, the SAB, and the newly redesigned Student Conduct Council would improve awareness and involvement on campus. I also recommend that a standing committee, headed by the Parliamentarian, be formed to evaluate the Constitution, policy changes, and procedures every year.

Audra M. Philippon

I presently serve the Senate as chair of the ad hoc committee revising the Student Government Constitution, News Editor of The Elm, and leader of a local brownie troop. In addition, I am a local brownie troop. In addition, I an heading the Peer Advising programfor next year and serve as a studen representative to the Committee on the Status of Women at the college. Last year, I was Parliamentarian for the Executive Board of the SGA and learn ed how effective student government can be when we successfully protested the college alcohol policy. The year before that I was a dorm senator.

This is your student government; the president is your access to the College You deserve to have your concerns voiced to the administration, to the Board of Visitors and Governors, and board or visitors and governors, and to the faculty. You deserve a president that protects students' rights and a partner that is willing to listen to you ideas and concerns. I feel my et perience enables me to be that kind partner with you. I would be proud in be your SGA president.

Audra M. Philippon

Perry Finney

If elected Vice-President my primary concern would be with the academic integrity and continued maturation of W.C. Academics has fallen slightly to the wayside recently. This needs to be reversed if we are to have a higher learning institution we are proud of and which will be beneficial to us in the long run. As students, our first concern should be with the academic atmosphere at W.C. which stimulates our growth.

The purpose of a liberal arts institution is to broaden the horizons of the in-dividual and make him or her more open-minded. Courses, seminars and open-minded. Courses, seminars and instructors must be chosen and offered which allow this opportunity. The avenues of opportunity, if available, must not in any way be limited.

To accomplish things on this campus we need a strong and cohesive ex-ecutive committee. I feel as though my congeniality and objectivity would of-fer brilliant prospects for working with anyone elected to SGA offices.

Steps must be taken to maintain and Steps must be taken to maintain and achieve high academic standards at the College. Being a students' rights proponent I do not believe that these steps call for social restrictions, nor need it be that they adversely affect student enrollment. A new attitude must be fostered to attain this goal. Cultivation with a work hard/play hard mentality is what it takes to fully appreciate an education. Steps must be taken by the administration and students to attain excellence.

students to attain excellence.

While I do not entirely agree with Solzhenitzhen when he says "don't let your schooling interfere with your education," I do agree in the sense that the school should not interfere with your education," I do not agree in the sense that the should not interfere with your education by avoidably offering a substandard product. substandard product.

The W.C. campus is now somewhat fragmented. I have often heard professors and friends of mine speak of the "two W.C.'s" and the different cliques which pervade this campus. There is no room for this attitude at W.C. People on this campus need to communicate hopes, ideas and wishes to each other. This promotes understanding or people and their problems. Furthermore, it is certainly a mutually beneficial endeavor. Student government needs to be the organizing force which can serve as a vehicle of approach to the school for all students. The SGA needs to concentrate on the constructive, not destructive at the student of the constructive, not destructive at the student of the properties. This promotes understanding of people destructive attitude, and on the unifica-tion of the W.C. campus. The SGA and administration needs to realize what is good for the students is good for the hool and vice-versa

Now for the part of the essay where I am supposed to sell myself to the voter and tell you what makes me more qualified for the Vice-President's job than any opponent. I hate this quesiton because answering it always makes one seem egotistical and it also invites one to attack his opponent. Well I shall try and be honest and humble. I do not consider myself that special: I just believe that I have the experience, dedication, leadership and heart to do what is best for the institution and the students who are the institution. My years in the Senate and my involve-ment with various campus clubs, com-

As a candidate for Vice-President, I have carefully considered the many ideas for the platform I propose, and I believe they are necessary for the suc-cess of the 1987-88 Student Government Association. These suggestions offer support to the academic life and social life at Washington College.

In order to increase the potential for academic success, numerous pro-grams must be strengthened, while others must be established. Currently, the graduation requirements are being reviewed by the Student Academic Board (SAB). If elected I would sup-Board (SAB). If elected I would sup-port the upgrading of these graduation requirements. This would cause a strengthening of the College's credibil-ty and help to establish our own "try league on the Bastern Shore." Unfortunately, the concerns of students are centered around the cons-students are centered around the con-students are centered around the con-stance of the control of the con-trol of the c

continued on page 7

mittees and offices has allowed meat excellent perspective of the campus shall leave it suffice to say that I an the more experienced candidate in a election which calls for an experience

Finally, this is a job that should be taken seriously be a responsible person. If elected I hope to do and be just that.

Perry Finney

Mike Jenkens

continued from page 6 prevalent. We must investigate the administration and unrent misconceptions

A notable service for WC students is the "Major Series" that was offered by the Lamda Pi Delta Fraternity. These lectures enabled students to learn more about different majors offered here. I would like the SAB to help provide up-dated information about the major re-quirements for these lectures. Also, the SAB will help coordinate stronger communications to allow incoming freshman and new students the opportunity to attend the lectures of in-terest.

Campus-wide issues are prominent in the discussion of improvement of student activities at Washington College. For one, the alcohol policy is in need of further reform. More suggestions must be made to establish a respectful social situation on campus. The excess consumption of alcohol is increasingly evident as the number of Student Judicial Board (SJB) cases indicate a situation growing worse. Some, but not all of these cases further recognize the offense to be vandalism. We, the responsible students, need to take action immediately in order to effectively control this situation. SGA, with campus cooperation, must devise stronger defenses against destruction on campus grounds. destruction on campus grounds. Without reform in this area, we face the threat of our rights being taken away. In effect, students are the victims in cases of vandalism, because we pay for its damages. In addition, we must conclude that alcohol consump-tion is a privilege, not a right. If the majority cannot overcome the effects of a few individuals, then everyone will suffer the consequences.

Finally, the effectiveness of the SGA must be considered as we strive for improvements in campus tion. One way to improve the SGA is the much-needed revision of the Constitution. This would instill a more effective body, while making the students aware of its goals for success. The major reform proposed for the SGA is the increased cooperation among each of the three branches. By following the future revisions of the Constitution, these bodies have the potential for better relations. Other revisions would result in increased student awareness of pressing issues by creating a pressing issues by creatin strengthened reliability and acc tability of dorm senators. My experiences in government validate my candidacy for office. As a eshman in high school I served as the class Vice-President, requiring me to write the class Constitution. In my sophomore and junior years, I ser as Student Representative to the SGA. My senior year's experience included the position of Class Historian. Recentat Washington College, I was cted as the Class President ('90). This year was successful as we organized the Birthday Ball. We were able to raise approximately $7,000 for Freshman Scholarship Fund Finally, I served this term on the Student Judicial Board (SJB) as an In-vestigator and Clerk of the Court. In elaboration of my qualifications, I furnish my experiences in leadership. 1 represented Westminster Senior High represented Westminster Senior High School at the Hugh O'Brien Youth Leadership Foundation Seminar (HOBY), held in Washington. This foundation is a national program of leadership for youth. Also, in my junior and senior years, I was a member of and senior years, I was a member of the Governor's Youth Advisory Council (GYAC). This statewide committee, appointed by the Governor of Maryland, was established to lobby for significant issues in support of Ultimately, the Student Government Association should be representative of the student body. I cannot imagine a of more importance than the establishment of an effective voice of the students. My purpose in running for SGA Vice-President is specifically to support student rights. I am committed and am accessible to listen to your concerns for improvements. I also am interested in promoting a strengthened cooperation in the relations with the administration. Above all, my commit-ment is to the students of Washington College.

Mike Jenkens

For

Treasurer

-handle all monetary business of the SGA and report the state of finances at each regular Senate meeting. He shall also chair the Organizations

THE TREASURER SHALL:

Committee

Steve Leary

During the past school year I have seen the student body become disen-chanted with itself and the administration. This school is too small not to be unified. We need to come together and trust one another if we are to improve the school and it's social aspects.

Next year's executive board must commit itself to bringing the school together as a whole. This unity must include the Student Affairs Office. Their responsibility is to help the students in their years at W.C.; we must allow them to do so. We have to stop fighting with them and begin working wit

The purpose of Student Government is to provide a mediating factor bet-ween the students and the faculty and administration. It is to represent the best interests of all students and to promote a general understanding and compromise between these interests body of Student Government should be sympathetic to the needs and interests of all students, not just a select few.

With regard to the SGA Task Force, which involves an investigation into the Office of Student Affaris, I feel that although the motive and intent are most likely walls, a task force is the wrong course of action to take. There are problems within this office which need to be solved, but they will not be solved by picking at people and name-calling. These problems regarding the actions, or inactions as the case may be, of the Office of Student Affairs need to be discussed openly as to possible and those of the school officials.

them. The Senate must pass this feeling on to the students that elected them.

The Greeks must also begin working together. Everyone is tired of the bickering between them. They are a strong force on campus and need to work together. The inter-fraternity council, which has been almost nonexistent, must be made stronger

Academics at the school have also ipped. Students must be made to realize that academics is the primary reason they are here. We should have a good time at college but should also concentrate more on our academic standing

If elected I would bring the ideas of unity and academics to next year's ex-ecutive board. The whole is only as good as its parts and the executive committee must put the parts back together.

Steve Leary

For Secretary

THE SECRETARY SHALL:

call the roll and take minutes of all Senate meetings, prepare a current agenda for each meeting, and read the minutes for Senate approval at the start of each meeting. He shall also handle all SGA correspondence, maintain and make accessible the aintain and make accessible es, and chair the Publicity Com

Kimberly Cavolo

Student Government is an organization which discusses student's needs and problems and solves these problems to the best of its ability. accomplish this task, input of the stu-dent body is essential. As secretary, I would like to distribute the minutes of the SGA meetings promptly to the student body through the mail. In the past, the minutes were only available to the SGA officers. Distributing the minutes to everyone will encourage interaction between the student body and the SGA. If the students are informed of SGA transactions, they can ask questions and express concerns. Furthermore, in the minutes I will include the date of the next SGA meeting and encourage anyone who is interested to attend. The student Government includes all of the student body; thus, anyone should be able to attend meetings and feel

Another responsibility of the secretary is the promotion of student functions. I feel students should be in-solutions so that hopefully one can be agreed upon.

Every day students complain about problems regarding the hassles they receive when they try to deal with the offices in the basement of Bunting Hall. When students go to the Registrar, Business or Financial Aid Office with a question or problem, they are often met with rudeness or they are pushed aside and ignored completely. Many times, if they receive any answer at all, it is "I'm sorry, we can't help you." or "There's nothing we can do" when in fact they could help or do something if they were so inclined. These problems also need to be dealt with to bring about a more helpful attitude and make it a less strenuous ordeal for a student to receive assistance er area which needs attention is the policies for evaluating temporary professors for permanent positions. Even though student evaluations are formed of upcoming events well in advance. This gives students a chance to plan ahead. Also, if anyone is inpian anead. Also, it anyther is treested in serving on a committee for a particular event, this gives him or her the opportunity to do so. Students should be given the chance to serve on committees for events which interest them. In the past the student body was not given this opportunity; only SGA of-ficers were assigned to committees. I feel student participation will greatly enhance our events.

I believe my organizational skills qualify me for the position of secretary Currently, I serve not only as the secretary for my pledge class but also as secretary of Career Development for Dr. Linda Cades. By holding both these jobs, I believe that I have gained the experience needed to be an effec-tive secretary of the SGA. Furthermore, I am committed to greater SGA/student body interaction.

Kimberly Cavolo

Mary Jo Alison

made, the administration, in my opinion, has already made up their minds and a student's opinion is irrelevant. Since it is not the administration that will suffer from a poor professor, they should not have total decision making power. Students should have a much arger say in the matter than they already do.

These issues are but a few of those which need to be dealt with. If elected to the office of SGA Secretary, I will do my best to solve these problems and bring about a more cohesive atmosphere on this campus. I will attempt to make SGA more open to all matters of student concern, not just a certain few. My

continued on page 8

For Social Chairman

THE SOCIAL CHAIRMAN SHALL: be responsible for all social activities sored by the Senate and shall take the necessary steps to coordinate these activities on campus. He shall also chair the Social Committee.

Lisa Buckey

As we all probably know, the SGA ex-ecutive board works for the student body as a whole. Unfortunately, the two most criticized seats on the board are that of the social chairmen. This is one of the forces that motivated us into run-ning for the positions of Social Chairmen. We firmly believe and know that if elected there will be changes in the social functions on campus. Including the opinion of the students (as a whole) is critical. Therefore, well in ad-vance before major social functions (i.e. Homecoming, the Christmas Par-ty, Spring Concert and the Luau), we will supply questionnaires to the entire student body asking you what exactly you want out of a party and what music you want out or a party and what music will be most fitting. In between these already notable functions we will plan to have fresh ideas for other social functions. This will include a welcome back party at the Pavilion, Pig Roast, Oyster feast, Crab feast, and fun-draisers to help the community.

If elected, we would like to entertain the thoughts of special interest groups so that people may learn more about these groups. We would like to work with the leaders of such groups to receive their input. We are more than willing to aid those groups that need help organizing parties, if asked. This

For Secretary...

continued from page 7
experiences in student government and leadership positions qualify me to serve in this office. I served as SGA representative to the Student Council for three years and as an officer during my senior year. I held positions of Vice President of our chapter of the Na tional Honor Society and Secretary of the Girls Athletic Association, I am obligation comes as no burden to us. By working with all students we can make our small campus society a tight-knit one. As a result of a the problem with violence and destruction around cam-pus we feel as social chairmen that stressing and discouraging such activity will enhance these functions Our experience and qualifications are the following:

Lisa: I have been involved in the Washington College social scene extensively since my sophomore year. I was instrumental in organizing the Christmas party in 1985 and the Luau in the spring of 1986 as an interest student only. Upon election to the Senate my junior year I was appointed, by the executive committee, co-chairman of the 1987 Luau. As co-chairman it has been my responsibility to sign the band order t-shirts, organize the menu and the activities. I feel the experience I have gained is invaluable and will be invaluable in this position.

Walter: As a sophomore transfer I have been exposed to many different social scenes and have incorporated many fresh ideas that are essential for this position. I have also been involved in various social functions such as the Heineken party and t-shirts sales that were a big success. An avid lover of all music fields, I have been exposed to presently an officer of my pledge class of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority. These experiences have educated me in parliamentary procedure and in the means of dealing with other people. It enjoy this type of work and will do my best to serve the students Washington College. Thank you.

Walter Spence

Mary Jo Alison

many different bands that range from Delaware to North Carolina. Having Delaware to North Carolina. Having access to this information will make it easier to find different and original bands prescribed by you, the student. We decided to run together, knowing that such a responsibility cannot effec-tively be run by a single person. Such organization for a successful social year can be manipulated better by two people that can reach out to more people that can reach out to more students and get their opinions a students and get their opinions as a elected for this position we will assure a year to remember by all. Your support is vital; vote Buckey and Spence! Lisa Buckey

Walter Spence

Major Issues
My platform is simple and to the point. I see three major issues that must be addressed by the Social Chair man and the SGA as a team. First of all, the number of fights and destruction of College property has just gone to the point where someone needs to take the responsibilty to answer then act on the matter in a mature way. Second, with the cost of attending W.C. next fall, someone is needed to oversee that the expense of big budget dances is kept at a safe level with minimum loss to the SGA budget. It is possible to have April 10, 1987 a "blowout" and still stay within a good a "blowout" and still stay within a good size budget. Third, to have a balancing of life on campus. By this I mean that the social life should have enough variety to please most students. The academic life is in balance this way why not the social aspect of college?

What student government should be I see the job of student government s a representative body of the students, that will listen and act on sty dent concerns and problems. To be the staff and administration. And to see to a good relationship between the College and the community.

My contribution
My contribution to this ideal is to try and balance out the academic life on campus with the social life. The social life is good as it stands, but it could become better if there were more to do.
With an equal balance of life on campus, the faculty, staff, and administration may take student concerns a little more to heart. With a variety of activities to relieve tensions that come out at dances, the threat of a dry cam My experience

Chairman and Co-Chairman of the Junior and Senior Proms Two years of experience in radio: Announcer, Music Director, Summer Programming Manager

Member of Frostburg State's Social Council

Assisted in Summer Conferences at

Tom Jackson

Student voters wishing to vote for NONE OF THE ABOVE (NOTA) in any or all of the categories being decided Tuesday should utilize the "WRITE IN" category for this pur-"WRITE IN" category for this pur-pose. By writing in the words
"NONE OF THE ABOVE" under this category, a student may demonstrate disapproval of all the candidates listed. According to S.G.A. election procedure, all
"WRITE IN" votes must be individually acknowledged, counted, and compared to all other votes. and compared to all other votes

Students are encouraged to remember that they have NOTA option available to them. In order for ANY election to be truly democratic, the voters must not on-ly be able to choose among candidates, but the voter must also have the option to MAKE NO CHOICE AT ALL. NONE OF THE ABOVE allows the conscientious voter to demonstrate disapproval voter to definistrate disapprovided fall the candidates in any given category in a meaningful way besides not voting at all.

PLEASE REMEMBER

TO VOTE ON TUESDAY, APRIL 14!

Still Pond, Md. Edwin R. Trinks, Optician

KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA SUN SYSTEM

EMILY HAIRDRESSER

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

IDEAL OPTICAL

348-5586

SOFT

CONTACTS

DAILY WEAR

$97.00

EXTENDED &

TINTED WEAR

$129°°

CONTACT

LENSE EXAM

$35

COMPLETE EYE EXAM Regularly $35.00

$1000

With Purchase of Frames or Lens Valid with Coupon

ALL FRAMES LENSES 15%

OFF

One Full Year Guarantee On Glasses & Frames Evening Appointments Available

1 Day Service On Glasses and Contacts Show Your College ID Save Add't. 5%

GA President Explains Himself

As SGA elections gear up and attention focuses on the issues nd candidates for next year SGA President Chris Doherty took time to reflect upon the ccomplishments and shortomings of the year past. presidency as a generally productive and positive ex-perience for both the SGA and himself. He felt that the SGA had made progress in attaining its primary goal — strengthenstudent interest mowledge of campus issues.

"Interest seems to have in-SGA participants is im-pressive . . . (but) there are still many students who don't know what's going on . dent apathy is still a problem'

He pointed out the diversity fices as an example of increased interest. "There are people from the Literary House, Greeks, Elm Staff, Drama majors, "GDI's" . . . not like it was in the past with only two ple from the background." Doherty cited other accomplishments on the academic and social fronts, the have no regrets about forming alcohol problem in the Coffee the task force...except for

What has Doherty gained for his experience personally?
"I've learned patience, humility, and the ability to blend into a crowd," he answered jokingly. Speaking seriously, Doherty said he has found the past year to be a great learning experience. "I've found that it puts everything into a new persepctive. When you don't necessarily agree with campus opinion, you find the property of the prop yourself having to consciously remind yourself that you are a campus representative campus representative—responsible for representing the opinions of a wide variety of people."

Campus unity was one of the biggest SGA goals that did not seem to take place, according seem to take place, according their sometiming else happens to Doherty. He had hoped to the next weekend, you have to see more unity between different groups on campus, but takes you seriously." he said that most of the divisions and rivalries still exist.

Possibly the most controversial act of the SGA this year was the formation of the SGA "task force" to investigate the Student Affairs Office. Looking back, Doherty stated, "I really the task force . . . except for naming it the 'task force'." He "Some interesting questions are being raised by the responses to our question naire, and if the administration will listen constructively to the issues, it will be worth all the public and private criticism." Personally, he said the year had a few negative aspects.

"People don't always stand by the SGA when things aren't go-ing perfectly," he said. ing perfectly," he said.

Alcohol-related vandalism was one problem. "It seemed like every time something happened in the Coffee House, the SGA would have to put its credibility on the line, and ap-peal to the administration. When you assure the Deans personally that it is only a few people causing the trouble and then something else happens Doherty also said that a great many problems were negative aspect, he said that it created by rumors. "One thing would be important for next created by rumors. One thing would be important for next that bothers me is that when year's president to take into people hear rumors about the account the entire campus SGA, they take it as fact... no when making decisions.

Overall, Doherty rated the dominating next year's SGA year favorably. 'I hope that agenda. 'The biggest problem even more after this year, I see upcoming for next year is students realize that the SGA is an organization to serve students . . . and it is here to listen to any problem," he said.

Besides learning a great deal from his presidency, Doherty also realized some of the personal characteristics necessary to hold the office.

You have to know how cam politics pus politics work...and understand the administra-tion's viewpoint," he said.

The president should be someone who can accept other opinions, but still has strong convictions (of his/her own)."

Doherty refused to endorse r comment on any of the SGA Presidential candidates, said of them, "on the whole, they seem like a strong group of people . . . and it is en-couraging to see so many varied candidates." When asked if the distinct backgrounds of the candidates could be a one ever seems to come to me and ask, 'what's really going on'.''

Although Doherty felt the SGA accomplished a great deal, he sees several issues

the alcohol policy. Students don't take seriously the threats by the administration and the Coffee House management about the alcohol problems. It is a privilege to be able to drink on campus, not a right, and if they don't (realize this), they will lose that privilege."

Doherty also sees upcoming problems with financial aid and said that students should take more of an interest in the long range planning of the Col-lege. The hardest and most time-consuming aspect of holding his office is staying on top of campus news. I spend more time answering phone calls and questions than anything else," said Doherty. "I constantly have to Doherty. "I constantly have to know what is going on without waiting for the news to come to me . . . If I don't find out about something until I've read it in The Elm, then I'm not doing my job."

Was it all worth it?

"No, because I get a lot of blame, but yes, because I think we've accomplished something important." Would you do it all again?

Spring Luau Set For April 25

by Lisa Buckey As the weather gets nicer and the year comes to a close to move the parties itdoors and take advantage of ur new Pavillion. As in the ast, students and parents will get together on April 25 for the Months and months of plann ing and and preparations have into this year's Luau. The Steel Band will strike the first which was a great success was note at 4:00 p.m. and will play until 9:00 p.m. During this time our guests will enjoy the same activities as last year as well as several new ones. Some of the activities we plan to organize include volleyball, a limbo contest, and a pick-up game of softball. We are hoping that campus organizations will help organize these events.

A tradition revived last year

nautical equipment. The first raft to reach the opposite side of the river and complete a return trip will be awarded a multiquart container. ultiquart container.

The S.G.A. and W.C.D.S. from Student Affairs or at the

the annual raft race. This welcome all students and event calls for students to build parents to the abundant buffet their own rafts without using that will be served at 5:30. Hot dogs, hamburgers, chicken, fruit and other culinary delights are free of charge to all students. Parents and Luau. For those 21 years and older we will be serving Pina Coladas and draft beer on a cash and carry basis. Noncash and carry basis. alcoholic beverages will also

We hope this event will be the highlight of Parents' Weekend.

Housing Plans

hat, "we can do a much better job when we can lay ererything out," which is only possible when there are no todents around

In addition to regular housg, special interest groups are even the opportunity to re-quest their own housing. Cur-rent groups include Fine Arts/Creative Writing, the Language Floor, and Quiet Area. Anyone interested in foring a new special interest oup must fill out an applica-in for Student Afairs, also by April 14. Examples of such oups include Computers and mmunity Volunteerism, the een requested. Maxcy said applicants for special housing will be notified of their acceptance by April 20 or, "if the application doesn't seem valid, they'll go through the regular room draw with their class.

Finally, sororities and fraternities are also given special housing. The sororities, which are currently living in the suites will be living in Minta Martin. The renovation of the dorm is expected to be complete by May. According to Diane Larrimore, Ad-ministrative Assistant, the sororities and fraternities are given floor plans and then "determine by their own system where their members will live within their given

KA Service

tinued from page 1 Chestertown.

Chastertown.

This Spring, the brothers of LA. donated 76 man hours to raking leaves on "the Hill," and numerous hours painting the interior and exterior of Middle Hall.

Recently, the brothers have Recently, the brothers have een concentrating on the set phreak down of the Kent and Queen Anne's Hospital's traveling Health Fair. The Fair moves from town to town providing free medical evaluations across the Eastern Shore.

Kappa Alpha was establish-ed at Washington College as a national order in 1936. All services are offered at no charge. Any individual or group interested in the fraternity's services is encouraged to contact Stephen DiEugenio at Washington College by mail or

For all your formal needs, select from our unsurpass

Specialists in men's formal, women's evening and designer bridge

1328 G Street, N.W. Univ. Blvd. at Viers Mill Tysons Corner Center Landmark Center

FEATURES

Physics For Nobel Prize Winners

"When I was growing up, I didn't know there was such a thing as a scientist," said Dr. Ivar Giaever. Giaever has certainly come a long way since his childhood in Norway — he has degrees in mechanical engineering and physics, and has recently became ac-tive in biology and biophysics.

In 1973 he was awarded the Nobel Prize for his research in the field of superconductivity. He is presently employed by the General Electric Company as a research scientist, and teaches a course in medical physics at Polytechnic Institute New York. He came to Washington Col-lege this week as a guest of the Physics Department, and spoke to students and the public about his work.

Giaever was born and educated in Norway, and a slight accent still flavors his speech. As a child, he remembers "going to school only two times a week because the teacher had to teach at three different schools." Despite this fact, he earned a degree in mechanical engineering there, but had to leave the country in 1954 becau was unable to find an apartment for his wife and one year-old child. "Sounds unbelievable now, but it's true," he

Giaever was allowed to take only $200 when he left, and he and his family went to stay with friends in Toronto. He wasn't very fluent in English and found it difficult to get a job, so he worked for a while designing heating and ventilation systems. General Electric eventually hired him, despite the fact that he wasn't a Canadian citizen, for a grand salary of $300 a month

Giaever soon realized, as he puts it. that there was another country on the other side of Lake Ontario, and that he could make 30% more money there doing the same job. He arranged for a transfer and began work at the GE laboratory in Schenectady, New York,

Dr. Ivar Glaever , a 1973 Nobel Prize winner for research in the field of superconductivity, spoke to students this week about He wishes that a science or engineering degree were necessary in order to be a United States Senator or Congressman because so much money is pent or literally thrown away on scientific projects that many people do not understand. He also thinks that more emphasis should be placed on science and math courses at the high school level, and that all college students should be required to take courses.

most famous person you know," he said. "It complicates your life - people tend to believe what you say

"Nobel laureates are no smarter than anybody else," he stated. "The Nobel carries a great reputation, the game is played. "I believe the san thing is true in science, and we kn most of the rules. With the rules whave we can do almost anything want," he states.

He hedges on this statement what comes to biology, however, where rules aren't so clear-cut. The field tracted him for this reason and because he likes to do individual, rather th

His latest research has invent mammalian cells, most notable can cells. He delivered a lecture to public Tuesday evening on this top theory which has been proposed to plain the cause of cancer. It has be suggested, he told the audience, there are approximately 20 genes, ed oncogenes, which, when active by ultraviolet radiation or che cause cells to grow uncontrollably Giaever has 29 patents in ti culture, electronics, and immuno including a technique he develop detecting antibodies, which is in Organization in their campaigna against schistosomiasis, a pari disease affecting 300 million p worldwide.

"When I was growing up, I didn't know

there was such a thing as a scientist."

where he soon became interested in the field of physics. Then he transferred again, this time to a group active in physics research, and took advanced physics courses at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

His work at this time was with superconductors, substances whose resistance to electric currents vanishes completely at extremely low temperatures. For this research he received, in 1973, the Nobel Prize in the field of physics.

"It clearly changed my life morning you wake up and you're the is that it focuses on science and makes people aware of science."

Public awareness of science is something that Giaever considers to be important. "I am trying to deal with it," he said. "What I hate more than anything else is that people read astrology, and Eastern airlines doesn't have a 13th row in their planes." He does not understand how a modern society such as ours can be "hung up" on these things, and says that "we have to get rid of these beliefs from the Mid-

"A lot of parents don't push their kids," he pointed out, "and a lot of kids drift into a never-never land." He compared our educational system to that of other countries. In Norway, he said, high school is a privilege, not a given, and because only about 30% of the students who apply get in, much more is expected of them. In Japan, also, there are many more math requirements in the educational system, and that is partly the reason why the Japanese are so much better at developing products. Giaever still believes, however, that 'the United States is better at basic Giaever compared science to the game of chess, which, he said, has about 16 basic rules. Once one knows these rules, one can understand how

AGNOSTIC OR ATHEIST?

American Rationalist St. Louis, MO 63188

GASCON'S BUSINESS MACHINES SALES & SERVICE

Most makes of typewriters & calculators & other business machines

30 Years Experience

837 High St. Ext.

778-5611

The Coffee House Is Now Taking

APPLICATIONS For The 1987-88 School Year:

Arcade Workers Needed: Under 21 years of age. Bar Workers Needed: Over 21 years of age. Responsibility and ability to take peer pressure essential for the job!

APPLY TODAY!

One of 24 Americans in theater program;

Drama Major Gets Into English Act

by Andrea Kehoe

All the world's a stage, but the London stage is no doubt among the most prestigious. Curley will get to learn about ne of the world's center s for theater when she studies under the Marymount Drama Pro-

Staffed by professors from the Royal Academy of Dramatic Marymount's program Arts. consists of eight courses semester including acting, movement and action, voice, stage combat, Shakespeare and contemporary playwrights of Europe. Thirty two comours a week preclude students from participation in actual Carley, who will be one of ongam, said she cried when her tather gave her the news of her ceptance over the telephone.

"I was bouncing up and she recalled. Everyone was here (in the Green Room of Tawes eater) because it was before Lydie Breeze. I just came in here and hugged everyone and

When looking for schools in tain last fall, she was struck by the fact that Marymount is exclusively a drama school and by its association with the

"I was like, 'wow, this is what I want to do. I can't envihomore Cindy Curley recalled her reaction to the news of her ac ceptance to the Marymount Drama Program in London, England next year: "I was bouncing up and down. I just hugged everyone and cried sion anything better in Britain than the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts," she said.

at how easily she was accepted

she completed an application, wrote an essay and ob-tained recommendations from professors. background in drama includes lighting design and stage management as well as acting.

At Washington, she has run the lights for three shows and performed in both community and departmental productions (most recently, in Breeze and Henry IV).

"It's a great natural high." Curley explained her interest in the theater. "You get to feel what the audience feels and use the energy; you know when you do well and the audience responds. You can't get that feeling anywhere else. It's just

The Drama major caught the acting bug at age nine, when she performed in her first play. classes in the field, attended an acting camp, and participated in as many plays as possible, even worked as a stagehand.

"I love it. I just love it," she said, explaining that she hopes to have a career in acting, but acquired skills in lighting design as a backup. She took over the lights when Roderick Hickey, formerly the depart-ment's lighting technician, left for the Yale School of Drama.

Curley's interest in theater has taught her skills that reach eyond putting on a show. You have to be able to work with people. You have to know how to work with different types of people and deal with

She added that in a "close community" such as that of the Drama department, where work on shows can take as many as eight hours a day. mutual support is especially

"If anything goes wrong, everyone feels it," she said. "If one person goes down, everybody goes down. If something exciting happens, everybody's excited."

But Curley has already begun to anticipate a year without the niche she has found in the acting community at Washington. "I won't know anybody there. I'm going to have to fend for myself," she

Though she is also somewhat apprehensive about adjusting to living with a London family in a homestay program, she said she looks forward to experiencing another

While abroad, she plans to visit family relatives who live in England and to travel.

"I want to try to get as much out of it as I possibly can," Curley said. "I can't wait."

Speak Softly But Carry A Big Pen

by Jennifer Harrison

Washington College - a college known for its liberal arts and location, not to mention its history. Along with the many factions of fraternities, prorities and athletic groups WC has produced one clique that is easily recognized by all who are familiar with the student body - the writers.

Usually the group to have the ast word about any issue, the ime has come to point out a few of their idiosyncrasies. Quick to point out the oddities of others, they are also humble lough to laugh at themselves. First of all is the Literary

Bouse. Affectionately referred to as the Lit House (which is inlitely better better to work in th a dark house), this is the refuge of many writers

Any intruder is quieted with long looks and silence. Don't halt them, for it is at the literary. literary House that writers haw their strength. From this use there springs forth an bundant amount of literary tadings, discussions and, of urse, the coffee that often Provides instant inspiration. Of wise, all they eat is wine and beese, and yes, they enjoy eading lines of words without anctuation (they call

Substitution (they call it every).

Energing from their refuge writers assume their position the cafeteria is the perfect stories they are always be corner of the campus, in another corner. The back of place to gain material for the writing.

Writing a pefect view of the student body before them it's no wonder they don't see the smoking' sign ahove their heads. Perhaps they like the absence of ashtrays as they pass around the lighter. A lit cigarette makes a pleasant sound as it drops into a glass of tensity with a ball point pen, the writer wears most in-teresting clothes. L.L. Bean has never been seen in their part of the world. Tie dyed tshirts are great - any ink streaks on them will not be

Writers have even started a fad of their own, their jeans have holes in the knees. This is probably due to the fact that cowboy boots aren't quite that high, and hats shade the top leaving the knees exposed. A writer may not say much, but you can hear him or her clomping up behind you in boots or clogs. Or maybe you'll smel the leather of his or her

Writers at Washington seem writers at wasnington seem to follow a form of Teddy Roosevelt's philosophy: speak softly but carry a big pen. One can never guess what they will do next. Just remember, they see you from their corner of the world, and you may be in their next Fincton. next Elm story

SPORTS

Statesmen Tax Shoremen

by Carter Boatner Washington College's Shoremen were defeated last Saturday afternoon on a windswept Kibler field by the defending Division III national champion Hobart Statesmen in front of a full capacity crowd. All week the weather forecast was predicting cold rain mix ed with snow, and it looked like it was going to be a lot like the day W.C. last beat Hobart two years ago, at home in the rain

Saturday, however, turned out to be nothing like the last victory over Hobart. There was no rain, and Ricky Sowell was coaching on the sidelines in stead of being a five time scorer as he had been two years ago. W.C. was not to win over Hobart on this day.

Several minutes after opening face off it was apparent that Hobart was a formidable opponent despite ranking behind W.C. in Division standings. Only seconds into the game Hobart was able to jump ahead 1-0. The Statesmen never looked back and went on to win

The Hobart game raised concern about the Shoremen's offense after it had commanded the field the previous week. The loss lowered WC's Division record to 4-1 and knocked the team down one notch in the standings. The next game against Franklin and Mar-shall turned into a 'must win' situation for the squad. Prior to last Wednesday's game, F&M was ranked in Divi-sion III standings. In preparation for the game coach Corcoran made several changes, the most noticeable being switching third year player Mike

Terry Corcoran gives the benediction before the start of yet another round in the celebrated Shoremen/Statesmen rivalry.

Woodfolk from midfield to 'longstick defensive middle' in an effort to make the offense more aggressive The Franklin and Marshall game on Kibler field Wednesday began as tight match. Although the Shoremen scored first, the squad had difficulty advanc-ing the ball into the opponent's territory. The score remained close and the lead changed hands several times before W.C. went up 4-3 just before the

After the opening of the third fensively, scoring seven goals in the 12 quarter, however, the Shoremen got going offensively and took control of the game. The defensive unit remained solid as it has done all season and near ly shut out F&M for the entire second half. Only in the final few minutes of the final period was F&M able to put points on the scoreboard in two short offensive spurts when it was clear the game was won by the home team. The final score, 11-6, saw WC victorious.

The Shoremen won by opening up of-final two periods. The leading score were Tim Hormes, Chris Dollar, a co-captains Mike McGuane and D Giblin. All four players had two goals

Coach Corcoran stated that the Fall game was a "good win," in which the team recovered from the Hobart defer to come back and win against anothe Division opponent. The schedule aher is tougher for the team. The next gam is away at Roanoke on Sunday, Apr

Shore Netters Find A Mixed Catch

Despite striving toward a higher goal, the Washington College men's tennis team fell just short of upsetting Division I Rutgers University and Divion II Millersville University in Lancaster over the weekend The Shore Netters notched in victory No. 13 against Division II East Stroudsburg University on Friday, but were unable to win the big games against Millersville on Saturday.

The Shoremen opened their weekend trip to PA by tromp-ing East Stroudsburg, 9-0. It was WC's fifth shut out in succession and eighth of the year. Alejandro Hernandez, Larry Gewer, Claudio Gonzalez, Rich Phoebus, Peter Maller and David Marshall scored singles

Playing indoors and with an altered format, Washington fell to Rutgers University 6-3 and Millersville University 5-4. Contesting the doubles mat-ches first the Shoremen held a 2-1 advantage over Rutgers as doubles teams of Alejan-dro Hernendez/Larry Gewer, and Ross Coleman/Rich Phoebus railied from one set to win in three sets. Gewer/Her-nandez knocked off Mickey Cook and Mare Weingard 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, while Col-eman/Phocbus upended Barry Ponticello an Craig Nigrelli 4

the match around in the singles. Ma.t Gingerman started the momentum shift by stopping Claudio Gonzalez 6-2, 6-4. WC regained the lead at 3-2 as Gewer trimmed Weingard 7 6, 6-3. Peter Maller's crucial three set setback (5-7, 6-2, 6-4) to Jay Kaneikar pulled the Atlantic 10 power even at three matches each. Mickey Cook, Rutgers' No. 1 player, put his team in front by edging Her-nandez 7-6, 6-2. Victories by Nigrelli and Ponticello sealed Washington's fate. Nigrelli tripped Ross Coleman 6-3, 6-3 Ponticello fought back from 3-5 down in the third set to

In their second match of the day the Shore Netmen fell behind host Millersville University 2-1, after the completion of the doubles competition. Ross Coleman and Rich Phoebus chalked up their se-cond come-from-behind triumph of the day defeating Avery Fraser and Dan Barber 5-7, 6-1, 6-4.

Division II's top singles layer Young Min Kwon player Young Min Kwon droped Alejandro Hernandez 6-1, 6-1 to give Millersville the lead at 3-1. Larry Gewer's third victory of the weekend brought the Shoremen close at Onticello an Craig Nigrelli 44,6-3,6-4.

The Scarlet Knights turned: sylvania Conference contenders. Gewer has now won and David Marshall's victories nationally third ranked Swar tenders. Gewer has now won ine straight singles matches mad sports a 14-2 record.

Avenging a Fall loss, Kennedy stopped Claudio Gonzalez Straight Set victory over Dan it me in history. They clieved Fa, 6-3. "Haying in the trees," needy stropped a faitgued Rich Phochus S.1, 6-4. Peter Maller

W Chext went on to rally the terrast of defeated Linsey Williams 18. Avery Fraser, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3. "Giving the Shore W

A Fine Nine For Women's Tennis

The women's tennis team is currently 5-4 overall. The season start has been plagued by bad weather and forfeits by opposing teams, which have cancelled three matches. Despite this, the team was able to play last Friday against Catholic University, and on Tuesday against Goucher Col-

The match against Catholic University ended unsuccessful-ly (3-5) with one match, second doubles, called before completion due to darkeness and light

In singles, Meg Wheatley continued her six match winning streak. She easily won, 6-1, at sixth singles. Lindsay ly won her second set (6-2). At also lost at second singles (4-6, 3-6). At first singles, Pam Loughman won (6-2, 6-2).

The second doubles team of Patterson-Siegel was winning (6-3, 5-5) at first doubles. The third doubles team of Tanton-Wheatley suffered their first

This week the team travelled to Towson to play against Goucher College. Playing under cloudy skies, it was another close match which slipped away 4-5. The Goucher team outplayed WC at the net, which allowed them to take two of the doubles matches when the score from singles was tied Pam Loughman lost her fourth singles Erin Patterson match counting for the Middle lost to her opponent (6-0, 6-3). Atlantic Conference. The score Engle played a was a disappointing (4-6, 0-6).

plagued by bad line calls. She Siegel lost to a strong left lost (6-7, 3-7, 7-5, 6-4) in a two handed player (4-6, 1-6). Cabb hour battle. Suzanne Siegel Engle, playing at third singlest

Engle, playing at third single lost (3-6, 3-6). The bottom half of the ladde carried through with every winning their matches. Patterson at fourth singles # (64, 6-3). Lindsay Tanton fifth singles won (64, 7-despite being hit by a soo ball while in the middle of pl Meg Wheatley won once aga

The first doubles team Engle-Loughman were fered from a lack of gressiveness at the net, C ing them the match (2-6, 1-6

Patterson-Siegel also lost despite being up 5-2 in the hree set ma Tanton-Wheatley pul through to in (64, 3-6, The third | bles team is

Baseball Rides Winning Streak

am is riding on a hot streak.

As the baseball season nears over Gallaudet College on the mid-way point, the Tuesday April 7, the Shoremen Washington College baseball have boosted their overall record to 12-6 and are currently

With a doubleheader sweep on an eight game winning for Gallaudet College on streak. But despite the Shoremen's success, Chris Rosfelder broke his hand sliding into first base in the first game against Gallaudet. He will be forced to miss the remainder of the season.

'He will be sorely missed since he was one of the RBI leaders on the team and had improved tremendously catcher last year," Athey said.

With their ace pitcher, Larry Brandt, on the mound, the Shoremen mauled Gallaudet 15-3 in the opener of the doubleheader. The victory improved Brandt's record to 7-0. First baseman Tom Auvil was two for two at the plate (double and single) and was accounted for three RBI's. Senior shortstop Dave Repko went two for two while second baseman Joe McAleer went three for three.

In the second game, ophomore pitcher Eric Becker picked up the win (2-2) as the Shoremen again crushed Gallaudet with a score of 10-2. Freshman Chris Long and junior Frank Davis pitched in relief.

After an away game against Wesley College on Thursday April 9, the Shoremen will host conference rival Johns Hopkins in a doubleheader starting at 1:00 p.m.

Coach Athey referred to the doubleheader against Johns Hopkins as "one of the most important doubleheaders of the season."

"We are presently in first place in the MAC South East league with a record of 3-1,"

SPORTS CALENDAR

Friday 10 Tennis (women's) Trinity, 3:00p.m.

Saturday 11

Baseball Hopkins, 1:00 p.m. Tennis (men's) Averett, 1:30 p.m. Gettysburg, 1:00 p.m. Crew (men's and women's Villanova, Drexel, Marist

> Sunday 12 Lacrosse (men's) Roanoke (A)

Monday 13 Tennis (women's) Salisbury, 3:00 p.m.

Tuesday 14 Tennis (men's) Catholic U., 3:00 p.m.

Wednesday 15 Lacrosse (men's) Western Maryland, 3:00 p.m.

Softball Catholic U., 4:00 p.m.

Thursday 16 Western Maryland (A) Tennis (women's) Hopkins, 3:00 p.m. Lacrosse (women's)

Friday 17 Trinity, 3:00 p.m. Western Maryland (A) Hopkins, 3:00 p.m.

Saturday 18 Lacrosse Salisbury (A) Baseball Swarthmore (A)

Crew (men's and Lafayette, F & M, 11:00

> Sunday 19 Tennis (men's) Rochester (A)

Tuesday 21 Salisbury, 3:00 p.m. Softball Gallaudet (A) Tennis (men's) Salisbury (A) Tennis (women's) Western Maryland, 3:30

Wednesday 22 Lacrosse (men's) Gettysburg, 3:00 p.m. Lacrosse (women's) Goucher (A)

Thursday 23 Delaware Valley (A) Softball Wesley (A) Tennis (men's) St. Mary's, 3:00 p.m. Essex (A)

Crew Has Successful Weekend

by Carter Boatner The Irist race of the day me the case with all of the short of the course, and and junior varsity eights rac-the crews racing that day. The case with all of th for organization by race of ing against George Mason trials, the Washington College University (GMU). Because of pen's and women's crew proclas, the Washington consessed a poor job by the officials, the best and women's crew pro-pans enjoyed a successful three crews were on the water the consess of the conse asin Invitational College and were forced to row in a kegatta in Northern Virginia. Small area, by the time the be women's varsity four re-sained undefeated.

and kept up even with G.M.U This was something they had failed to do at the start of the previous week's race. crew did not lose ground with G.M.U. until "Maniac 20" the middle of the race. Thi was a controversial decision to increase the cadence and pressure to a higher rate in an effort to take the lead. This failed and G.M.U. went on to win by little more than one boatlength. Since the course was 500 meters short of the standard 2000 meter length, the crew was not able to make up

The next race looked like it was going to be much like the previous race, but the Shorewomen had other things in mind. This was the Women's Varsity Four race, and while the rowers were waiting on the water, rain mixed with sleet fell for an hour before the race started. All the women could do to warm up was row back and forth in a small confined a rower's nightmare.

Despite these harsh condi-Despite these harsh conditions, coxswain Ayn Hoyt said the women "Took it well." The crew held together and won a close victory over several of the areas too crew programs. The two biggest programs were G. M. U., George Washington University, who can be a constant of the condition of the condit other two schools.

The women took the lead from the start and were never threatened until midway. Whenever any of the other boats threatened W.C. they were they unable to take the lead and were held off until the finish. The Women's Varsity Four is the only boat in the Men's and Women's program to remain undefeated this season.

The Women's Novice Eight race was a tight race to the end. Although W.C. finished third the performance showed that over the past week there had been marked improve-ment. They had a good start and were in second or third place until the sprint at the end of the race. The body of the race was rowed at a more even rate than the week before. The four boats in the race stayed close to one another and the sprint determined the winner. W.C. held off Johns Hopkins to

The final race of the day was the Men's Varsity Four race which did not go well for W.C. This was the second race for the Varsity eight boat. The rowers, exhausted, did not row well and ended the day by losing to all boats and finishing last.

crews prepared this The crews prepared this week for coming tough competition in Philadelphia against Drexel, Villanova, and Marist.

778-6940

High Street, Chestertown

SPRING TUNE-UP SPECIAL $18.00 1987 PEUGEOT PIPELINE

SPECIAL 1986 ROSS 17® HOOD TOP OF THE LINE MODEL

REGULAR $454.00 NOW $379.95

CAMPUS

CALENDAR FRIDAY 10

Open Party

Cullen, 9:00 p.m.

SATTIRDAY 11

Henry Taylor Reads At Dedication Today

by David Healey

Surprise is the word of the day as the Reader's Room is dedicated this afternoon at the O'Neill Literary House, No. it's no surprise that the room is being dedicated, or that it looks so good, or that Washington College alumna Mary Wood made it all possible. No. the made it all possible. No, the surprise is for Mary Wood and the dedication of the Literary House room she helped to

This afternoon Pulitzer prize-winning poet Henry Taylor — Mary Wood's favorite — will be on hand for the dedication of the room, and will give a reading afterwards in her honor. But Mary Wood has no idea that he'll be here. That's the surprise, and it hasn't been at all easy to keep secret

Hiding Taylor's visit from Wood has evolved into a complex conspiracy of students, friends, and legal companies. She knows that there will be a dedication, but not on the scale which is planned, and not with the title, A Literary House Celebration of Mary Wood. The program includes: Welcome Introductions: Kathy Wagner; Student Poetry Reading: Eric Lorberer, Paul Henderson Sue Kolls; Gift from Research Publishing: Walton Beacham; Tribute to Mary Wood (by Elizabeth Baer): J.R. Salamanca; A Poem from a Room: Henry Taylor; and Dedication of the Reader's Room: Robert Day.

Just look ground

www.

FLOWERS ON W

Health office bolletin board + NO MORE

OR ACT NOW, and &

Vote NONE

OF THE ABOVE

Spelled & BB

SUICIDE

Even here at Wash

ington's Collège there stenty to lauth about

Hedon

is vapor

DRINK BEER

The dumb Hobart

T-shirts

FOR INSTANCE

students at 3:00 p.m., but isn't Visitors and Governors. supposed to know, so she thinks she's going to act surprised to

She has been told that there Literary House Fellow and a vill be a small gathering of member of the Board of gift to the Literary House has been to paint and furnish this play along, but she'll be really room, which is the main room surprised with this big dedica at the front of the house. She tion. To put her off guard will also buy sets of books to everyone who is part of the establish a literary reference dedication has told her they library, which will provide to can't make it; her friends tell formation on both English and her they can't make it; and foreign literature.

"Hiding Taylor's visit from Wood has evolved into a conspiracy of students.

friends, and legal companies."

publicity for both the event and the reading only went public this morning. Her husband's law office is keeping her busy until it's time to come to the Literary House for the event

In a recent letter to Literary House director Robert Day, Wood enclosed a press clipping of a local reading by Taylor saying: "I am enclosing this clipping as a gentle nudge regarding Henry Taylor. Ob-viously we can't get him this year, but will you or someone in authority make a pitch for the fall? You won't regret it." We could get him, and we won't regret it, nor will Mary Wood. Wood studied at the College as a non-traditional student and received her B.A. degree in 1968. She is currently a

Virginia native and a Pro-fessor of Literature at the American University. His poems, articles, and reviews have appeared in many jour nals and anthologies. His books of poetry are: The Horse Show at Midnight and Breakings. His er works include a textbook, Poetry: Points of Departure,

The Water of Light: A Miscellany in Honor of Brewster Shiselin, and a translation of Euripides Children of Heracles. He will hold a poetry workshop at 1:00 p.m. for interested students, and his reading after the dedication will begin at 4:00 p.m. in the Sophie Kerr Room. Both the dedication and the reading are open to the public.

Henry Taylor received the Pulitzer Prize in 1986. He is a

Friends of the Arts Symposium graphy aphy Registration, Gibson Fig Arts Gallery, 9:30 a.m Information call 778-200 ambda Open Party Behind Tawes, 9:30 p.m.

SUNDAY 12

2:00 a.m.

Music Department Early Music Consort Directed by Garry Clark and Amzie Parcell Norman James Theatra 4:00 p.m.

Film Series: Allonsanfan Norman James Theatre 7:30 p.m.

MONDAY 13

Film Series: Allonsanfan Norman James Theatre 7:30 p.m.

TUESDAY 14

William James Forum Campus Connections In the Student Athlete John B. Slaughter, Chancellor, U. of MD, Cdlege Park, speaker Hy Lounge, 7:30 p.m.

THURSDAY 16

The Spanish Club Black Hispanic Writers Dr. Sandra Dixon, Assistant Professor of Spanish West Virginia U. Sophie Kerr Room, 8:00

FRIDAY 10

Dedication of the Reader's Literary House O'Neill 3:00 p.m.

Reading Henry Taylor 1986 Pulitzer Prize winter

Sophie Kerr Room, 4:8 n m Film Series: Allonsanfer Norman James Theatre

Arts Updates Of Hispanics and Hippies

Finally the cold weather is breaking up just enough for the sun to push through the clouds and announce that Spring has arrived. With the coming sunny days, warm weather, and flowers, some primal urges force us to box those dreary winter outfits and frolic in bright clothes among the cherry blossoms. On this impulse, the Writer's Union is sponsoring a Ty-dye Poetry Reading on Sunday, April 12 at 12:00 p.m. behind the Literary

The purpose and main intenof this reading is to celebrate the arrival of Spring with readings from the Sixties and the creation of colorful ty-dyes. If you have any old sheets, tshirts, socks or boxers, bring them- the Writer's Union will supply the dye and the beer. Feel uninhibited and free to in-Feet uninhibited and tree to in-troduce any poetry, prose or music that is especially mean-ingful to you. We will decorate the campus with an upheaval of colorful dyes, spreading peace, love, and universal harmony to a larger world

Dr. Sandra Dixon, assistant professor in the department of foreign languages at West Virginia University, will pre-sent a lecture at Washington College on "Negrista sent a lecture at washington. College on "Negrista Literature of Latin America: The Early Years." The lec-ture, in which she will present a general overview of black Hispanic literature, is on Thursday, April 16, at 8:00 p.m. in the Sophie Kerr Room Miller Library on the Chestertown campus.

Dixon, who earned her Ph. D. in Hispanic studies from Brown University last year, was the recipient of the Dorothy Danforth Compton Fellowship there. Her disserta-tion was entitled "Racial Identity and Literary Image: Characterization of Afro-Hispanics and Whites in Selected Novella of Venezuela and Brazil."

The lecture is sponsored by the Spanish Club and will be followed by a reception

STEAKS . SEAFOOD . COCKTAILS BUFFET EVERY SUNDAY 12-5 HAPPY HOUR - DAILY 4:30-6 AIR TAXI SERVICE AVAILABLE SCHEELER FIELD

CHESTERTOWN, MD. Rt. 213 & 291

778-1222

RESTAURANT

OLD WHARF INN ON THE CHESTER RIVER

FOOT OF CANNON ST CHESTERTOWN, MD. 21620

301-778-3566

Few Spare Hours Receive/forward mail from home! Uncle Sam work hard - you pocket hundred honestly! Details, send self addressed, stampel

> BEDUYA, Box 17145,

Tucson, AZ 85731

Review

Louder Than Bombs Makes Some Noise

by Ken Halton Smiths wear their hearts their sleeves, and I am rsonal, so painful and so that it never fails to move Loneliness, hate and inuacy are often the topics eir work, emotions we all in today's confusing world uder Than Bombs is their st offering, a double album ngs recorded and released the past four years. Like predecessors. Louder Than this has leader Paul Morey opening his heart and to us. Each song is a porof a personal experience and melancholy. fans must have this ord. Newcomers may not ted listening, will learn to this music miths guitarist Andy rke creates gorgeous ides for Morrissey's tales. riffs are as sensitive and as the words; when put presence. Louder Bombs contains an enors amount of materials amount of material

The Smiths' Louder Than Bombs makes some noise

my trifling literary observa- Smiths at their best; m tions. I can, however, write of a and thought-provoking. T few songs which have made great impressions on me.
"Half a Person" has Morrissey sing about his feeling of dissatisfaction with himself.
He seems to be after love but falls short of it. "16 and Clumsy, Shy, That's the Story of My Life." I have to admire a grown man in the limelight who can unveil his personal deficits

"Heaven Knows I'm Miserable Now," is simply one of the group's greatest songs. The rhythm section meanders along with guitarist Rourke as Morrissey sings: "I was happy in the haze of a drunken hour, but heaven knows I'm miserable now..." We can all relate to the depression which relate to the depression which inevitably follows a party or together of great songs which get-together at which we were often lost on imported 12 ourselves are the loner, the inch records and the B-sides of outcast. Morrissey tags at our singles. For emotion, depth, emotions, makes us feel what and beautiful melody, this he has felt, because we have all Smiths production is nothing head to the production of the production is nothing. gone through similar situa-

'Louder than Bombs' is the Label.

and thought-provoking. There are rockers in this set, but the slower pieces will more than likely remain in your memory. The Smiths are one of the best bands of the 1980's. Although they do not often comment on national or world issues, their personal observations are relevant to many of us.

I must apologize for the lack of depth in my article: admittedly I was unable to listen to the record more than a few times. Having heard many of these songs in past years, however, "Louder Than however, "Louder 1110... Pombs" comes with my highest recommendation

The songs in it were recorded at various times since mid-1983. It is not a "singles" collection, rather a coming together of great songs which were often lost on imported 12 inch records and the B-sides of short of excellent. Louder Than Bombs is available on the Sire

Preview

Lots Of Tomfoolery And Sex

commentary, edy, social commentary historical tomtoolery and sex." This 1974 Italian film will be shown as part of the Washington College Film Series in Norman James Theatre April 10, 12, and 13 at 7:30 pm.

Fulvio Imbriani (Marcello Mastroianni) is an idealistic revolutionary living in post Napoleonic Italy. After he is released from prison for his anti-government practices, Fulvio believes that he wants r mino believes that he wants to join the revolution again. But now he is an older man, and the youthful restlessness so familiar to him has disap-tion; the state of the state of the state of the state of the and dance with little provoca-tion; the state of the s peared. He decides to abandon the revolution and his comrades—the Brotherhood— in order to re-establish an upper-class status with his aristocratic family.

Believing that Fulvio wishes to rejoin them in their revolutionary ways, the comrades of the Brotherhood seek him out The film is in Italian with at his family estate. As much English subtities.

The Boston Globe says of as Fulvio betrays and tries to Allonsanfan, "an exquisite avoid his comrades, they mixture of grand opera, comavoid his comrades, they refuse to accept the fact that he is through with the revolutionary cause. The comrades take him on an expedition to in-stigate the revolution somewhere in the south. Upon waking from unconsciousness, Fulvio imagines that he is on his way to America, his ultimate solution of escaping from his past and starting a new life. After many other excursions and betrayals, he is finally shot irrogally expenses. finally shot, ironically, as a revolutionary.

Directors Paolo and Vittorio tion; this is blended in with the dominating idio-syncratic style that the Taviani brothers pre-sent. The Village Voice calls sent. To village voice epic-Allonsanfan a "costume epic-Allonsanfan batter opera, half tragic farce...a sardonic essay on the failure of political commitment.

ot Too Late For Early Music Consort

by Jenny Eisberg

enday afternoons are fect for relaxing and drifthrough past memories. Sunday, April 12, offers a cial opportunity to do just as the Washington College ly Music Vocal Consort, cted by Garry E. Clark, Instrumental Consort, cted by Amzie Parcell, rns to 16th century aissance during its Spring formance e performance will feature the canzona and madrigal, both common music forms of the Renaissance period. The canzona, an important instrumental form of the 16th and 17th centuries, is a forerunner to the sonata of the 17th century. The term madrigal came into general use for settings of various types and forms of secular verse during the 16th and 17th centuries. It was the most popular form of secular polyphony at that time.

Listed on the program are works by Adriano Banchieri, Orlando di Lasso, Josquin Des Prez, Thomas Morely, Chipriano da Rore, Daniel Purcell, and Giralamo rescobaldi

Members of the Early Music Vocal Consort are: Kathleen Bennett, Christopher Brower, Laura Brown, Ruth Davidson, Diedre Derbis, Donald Dienfendorf, David Harter, Jennifer Leach, Christopher Martin, Kathleen McGuigan, Katherine Prendergast, Carl Schaller, and Elissa Teeple. Members of the Early Music Instrumental Consort Susan DePasquale, Elizabeth Cooper, Jennifer Eisberg, Molly McMahon, Tim Rohs, Marilee Schumann, Alison Shorter, and Elissa Teeple.

The concert is at 4:00 p.m. in Norman James Theatre. It is free to the public. All are encouraged to come and enjoy.

FRIDAY/SATURDAY/MONDAY $1 ADMISSION NORMAN JAMES THEATRE WASHINGTON COLLEGE FILM SERIES

Ironstone Cafe 236 Cannon Street

Chestertown, Maryland 21620 301-778-0188

Tuesday-Saturday Lunch: 11:30-2:00 Dinner: 5:30-9:00 Sunday Brunch: 11:00-3:00 Closed Mondays Loving, Financially Secure Childless Couple Wishes To ADOPT A Healthy White Infant

CALL COLLECT 301-461-1792 (After April 1) ANSWER OUR PRAYERS

Henry

Taylor

Pulitzer Prize Winning Poet

Reads From His Work

Friday, April 10th 4 p.m.

> Sophie Kerr Room Miller Library

ISS HOUSE

Washington College

Sponsored by the Sophie Kerr Committee

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 58, Number 25

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, April 24, 1987

Muskie To Speak, Adler Will Be Honored

by Audra M. Philippon

The President's Office aninced that retired Senator Muskie, residential candidate, retary of State under Jim Carter, and recent member speaker in May.

President Cater said, "In the year that we celebrate the bicentennial of our Constitustatesmen give the Commencement address this year."

Commencement ceremonies of the Tower Commission will tion, Washington College is will begin 10:30 a.m. Sunday, Fulbright, former sensor be the Commencement honored to have one of May 17 on the campus lawn. In from Arkansas and namesake speaker in May. America's outstanding elder addition to the Sophie Kerr of Fulbright Scholarships, will addition to the Sophie Kerr of Fulbright Scholarships, will Prize, student awards, and receive an Honorary Doctorate Alumni Council citations that of Laws. Philosopher Morwill be given, several other timer Adler will be presented guests will receive awards with an Honorary Doctorate of from the College. J. William Humane Letters.

Dooks arrived Wednesday from Herff Jones Yesrbooks of Gettyeburg, Pennsylvania. "The book is early one in resont memory," said editor Arien Navenbakhen. The Pegesus staff is currently working on 19 supplement to be distributed in the Fall and are taking blds for the 1987-88 book. Seniors who re-that their portraits be returned may pick them up in the Pegesus office, Talbot 223.

Golden Alpha Chi's

by Jennie Smith

founding members are still liv-ing and will be recognized by the current members of the sorority on Friday, April 24.

Chairman, explained that the annual Spring Dinner Dance will also be in celebration of the anniversary this year. The event, beginning at 9:00 p.m. Friday night, includes a cruise in Annapolis where the members and their dates will enjoy hors d'ouvres, an open bar, and entertainment by a D.J.

Prior to the cruise, a cocktail party is planned to begin at 5:00 p.m. There will be a ceremony during this party to honor alumni. At this time, the alumni at the event will each receive a pin signifying their 50 years of membership. President with the control of the control of

This year marks the 50th napolis at 7:30 p.m. to anniversary for the Beta Pi transport the sorority chapter of Alpha Chi Omega members and their dates to the here at W.C. Twelve of the city block. In addition, one founding member, Wilma Dahn will be attending the trip. Anne McLain, a founder and wife of one of W.C.'s ex-Presidents, will also be atten-Marnie Cummins, Activities ding the cocktail party but not

"One Hell

of a celebration"

is very excited since, as two After the cocktail party, a members put it, "it's going to 1s will be leaving for An- be one hell of a celebration."

RA Selections and Assignments Made

dent Assistants have been Bill Faust - Caroline 1 Red for next year and their Rick Gearhardt - Ken ia Auchincloss - Queen Brigman - Reid 3 Caldwell - Wicomicó 1

Cavolo - Queen Anne 1 nne Cupka - Minta Martin hdy Dingus - Minta Martin 2 Tina Smith - Reid 2

Rick Gearhardt - Kent 2 ons on campus will be as David Healey - Wicomico 2
Al Hepting - Kent 1 Cathy Jewell - Caroline 2 Scott Jones - Dorcester Matt Keller - Kent 1 Debbie Kirkpatrick - West Hall Steve Leary - Cecil Mark Mickum - East Hall Sue Odenath - Talbot Chip Schaller - Caroline 3 Rachel Smith - Reid 1

Tracey Smith - Somerset Jim Spencer - Worcester 1 Janet Szabo - Worcester 2 Andy Webb - Middle Hall Liz Whelan - Minta Martin 3 Demetri Zerefos - Somerset

Special Interest Housing has been offered to the following

Quiet Area - Worcester 1 and 2 Writers - Wicomico 2

Exec. Board Elections p.4 Language - Caroline 3 Pegasus Staff - Talbot suite Community Service - Tainot

INSIDE: Alcohol Awareness..... Election Results......p.4 Off The Cuff......p.6 Winning Novice Crew......p.8 Student Playwrights.....p.10 Hank Williams.....p.12

PINION

Editorial

Don't Harsh Our Buzz

Alcohol Awareness Week at Washington College ends today. As most weeks 80, this one wasn't much different than any other. Before I sat down to write this, two of my fellow students, drain and loud at 10:45 on a Treaday night, apparently gave little thought to yelling ortakied my door while they ran up and down the hall bothering people and tripping over themselves. Meanwhile, we are wudering why campus alcohol regulations are getting where the properties of the same was the water water was well as the collection of the same water waters.

the re-want for the companies of the com plumbing in Hodson Hall. We have been reminded recently of the consequences that result when we forget this.

Alcobol on campus was the major theme of last week's SGA election speeches. Everybody agrees that they don't like the new factors are consequences that they don't like the new factors are consequenced by the second of the second that mean!

What it means is, that during the next two weeks, when we have two of the biggest drinking events of the year-the Luau and May Day, we need to let the drunken Neanderthals among us knoweractly what we think of their behavior. Don't laugh or walls away when you are a fight or somebody breaking something. Tell them when you are a fight or somebody breaking something. Tell them that we had the state of them. Then call your friends, or Security, and remove the state of them. Then call your friends, or Security, and the state of the state of the state of the state of the state that's what it takes. Get them out of these the year's and clear: "Don't harsh our buzz." If we don't, next year's schedulender is caule to lavae and it was une over alcohol policy is going to leave all of us hung over.

Kappa Alpha Thank You

To The Editor:

ing to miss you

I would like to thank the KA's and their pledges for the wonderful job they did painting Middle Hall. It looks great, and it means so much to me.

Also, thank you for the respect and consideration respect and consideration shown to me, as well as your building. It's been a great year. To my graduating seniors — Good Luck, I'm go-

Dolly

Judicial Board or Firing Squad?

To The Editor:

I feel strongly obligated to submit this letter regarding the Student Judicial Board and its treatment of fellow students. First, let me say that I do not doubt the usefulness of having a judicial board. However, somewhere along the line my confidence in the judicial board has been lost. The SJB, as I see it, is in existence to protect the rights of the students and to deal fairly the students and to deal fairly with those brought in front of the board for wrongdoings. Lately, however, I have seen more mistreatment of students than protection. The thought of being sent in front of the board does not inspire in me a sense of security that I will be dealt with fairly, but a fear that I'll be put in front of a firing squad. In the name of "making an

Monday - Saturday

Coley Charlie

In the name of "making an example," I have recently seen a friend who had been in no previous trouble and who had unintentionally pulled a possible harmful prank be sentenced harshly by the SJB. At the same time I have seen another student who intentionally harmed another student receive a lighter sentence than deserved. How can this paradox be explained? Some members of the SJB are too ready to condemn others with their self-righteous airs. This is not true of all board members but it is the few that give the but it is the few that give the SJB a bad reputation. Isn't it time something was done about these few? I just hope that if one of the students of the SJB gets into trouble that they receive the same amount compassion and understa they gave my friend.

Sincerely, L.K., a Washington College

Yearbook Horse Sense

To the Editor:

Dear Pegasus staff, A few ideas to "toss arou for next year's yearbook: Perhaps more pictures some of the organization campus such as Greeks, Ca and more of the sports tes might better depict can 2) Along those same in maybe pictures of some of

maybe pictures or some at the time that these pictures would be included. We that these pictures would more interesting than the dirt piles and/or smiling of cups (see pages 86 & 87).

 You might want to a sider either getting came that focus better, or fish better photographers.

4) Also, editorial communities those pertaining to graffiti problem on cammight be more appropriational in The Elm. We don't that graffiti is a fond way remembering the school to ty years from now This year's Pegasus is by would want our families friends to view and then our school by.

Sincerely, Matthew Weir Michael Woodfolk Sean Guinness

GASCON'S BUSINESS MACHINES SALES & SERVICE

Ye Olde Towne Barber & Stylists

A & P Parking Lot Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Most makes of typewriters & calculators & other business machines

30 Years Experience

837 High St. Ext.

778-5611

phone 778-4771

BUTLER NEEDED PARTTIME Nights and Weekends

Clean cut, must have t suit. $5.00 an hour. Call 778-2800

Ext. 321 Between 7-9 P.M

Washington College Elm

Editor

| Manage & Alexander   |      |         | Inomas M. | Schust   |
|--|------|---------|-----------|----------|
| News Editor  |      |         | Audra M.  | Phillipp |
| Features Editor  |      |         | Ande      | as Kah   |
| Arts/Entertainment Editor  |      |         | Dav.      | id Heat  |
| Sports Editor  |      |         | Christ    | ne Wie   |
| Photography Editor   |      |         | J.M. Fr   | ragome   |
|  |      | negers  |           |          |
| Manager of the state of the sta | Men  | iaflers |           |          |
| Managing Editor  |      |         | Alleo     | n Shor   |
| National Advertising Manager   |      |         | Mich      | elle Ro  |
| Local Advertising Manager  |      |         | Mai       | rielle B |
| Circulation Manager  |      |         | MAZINI    | lave En  |
| ananation manager  | * |         |           | am car   |

The Ein is the official student newspaper of Washington College. The Ein is published every Friday during the academic year with the sucception of the College of the Colle

Students Must Practice Self Control

problem. As long as individuals conmit offensive acts, we must concede that we have a problem. Unfortunately, mat we have a problem. Unfortunately, though, the problem is far too complex to be solved by instituting a few new rules and regulations.

to be made. Historically, alcohol has been a part of our culture since records were first kept. Additionally, in our own society, we have seen prohibition fail miserably. I personally feel that

"dryness" for this isolated campus would be a catastrophe. Students travelling to Washington and Baltimore to socialize would reduce the campus-life and possibly only create larger problems than we already face.

The campus alcohol regulations are a Force seems to have outlined some start and the Alcohol Task Force comes valuable steps. In addition some some to some but if Washinare. none to soon, but if Washington College steps we must consider the importance is to avoid becoming "dry," some of educating the student body. Having serious realizations are going to have attended the Alcohol Awareness Din-ner, I was pleased to see that some individuals are genuinely interested in informing the student body about the problems and consequences of alcohol related offenses. Freshmen must be educated during orientation week and the student body as a whole must learn to encourage responsible drinking and discourage the abuse of alcohol.

Bob

Polk

As Social-Chairman I have been exposed to the problem many times. By instituting door control and by having responsible students look out for trouble, many of the potential problems will never arise. Finally, it should be impressed in the minds of all students, impressed in the minds of all students, particularly incoming freshmen and transfers, that violence and vandalism will be dealt with in a swift and harsh

Yes, the new alcohol regulations in-stituted by the Alcohol Task Force will help to prevent further alcohol-related violence and vandalism, but ultimately no rules are effective if self-control and self government doesn't come from the individuals.

Bob Polk is an S.G.A. Social Chairman and a Senior majoring in Psychology

Will The New Campus Alcohol Regulations ISSUE: Initiated By The Alcohol Task Force Help To Prevent Further Alcohol-Related Violence and Vandalism?

tea, I get mad, when I get mad I vandalize." Jeb Stewart Lexington, Virginia Sophomore

"I think the policy pro-vides a basis towards fur-ther controlling alcoholrelated violence on cam-pus; but it alone will by no means prevent disorderly conduct

Anne Urban Pasadena, Maryland Freshman

"I think the regulation might help to prevent fur-ther violence and van-dalism, but I also think there should be more peer pressure, friends saying, 'Hey, you've had

Kris Winschel Killingworth, Connecticut Freshman

"The policy will not help prevent any further violence, since the students who want to drink will merely bring their business to C-town Li-quors."

Stephen C. LeGost Seaside Heights, the Garden State
Freshman

"No. As long as you have alcohol and college students, there will be van-dalism."

John Gonella Chevy Chase, Maryland

by Michele Balze

Campus Voices

Set Minimum Penalties For Offenders

The alcohol-related violence and van- jority of students hardest and it's a dism that has plagued the campus shame that so many must suffer for the dispecially the Coffee House area) this misdeeds of a few students.

Par shows a lock of students with the students are shown as the students. year shows a lack of student responsibility. The recent Alcohol Task Force beasures are meant to alert students to this problem and to reinforce the need for responsible socializing when alcohol is present.

Not serving packaged beer and wine for off-premise consumption and not serving beer and wine during certain aights of the week will indeed reduce the recent rash of violence and vandalism to a certain extent. It is this measure that hits the management of the service that he was the service that the service that he was the service that the service thas the service that the service that the service that the service measure, however, that hits the ma-

Richard MacKnight

President Cater has stated that Washington College does not provide sanctuary from the law. Maybe if students realized that if the College also might want to require that alcoholto take its place, would be handing Chestertown area.

In a more severe manner than a more sever malicious offenders in a more severe manner. Thus it is my suggestion that the SCC possibly set minimum penalties for students found responsi-ble for vandalism or endangering the well-being of other students. I say this well-being of other students. I say this because the measures taken by the Alcohol Task Force seemed to remedy these problems quickly, and possibly the Coffee House can resume their previous method of alcohol sales know-ing that these offenses would bring more severe consequences. The SCC

Maybe if the consequences of ir-responsibility on campus resembled those off-campus, then people would act properly. I realize that these measures do not explain why acting ir-responsibly is wrong, but then again a college student should not need those explanations

> Richard MacKnight is the newly elected resident of the S.G.A. for the 1987-88 school year

SCC Hears Four Cases

by Tony Caligiuri
In an April 16 Student Conduct Council case Washington College v. Rosen Koshy and Luther Short, two students were charged with vandalism and theft in an April 3 incident. Koshby and Short were charged with taking the sign from the front lawn of the Alumni House. In their own defense, the two stated that they picked up the sign off the ground and returned it to the premises later that night. The sign was reported missing the following morning. The two were found responsi-ble only for theft. The van-dalism charge was dropped. The punishment involvement a twenty-dollar Resident Assistant fine for each, according to SCC chairman Chris Fascetta

Washington College v. Anthony Black, Black was charged for an April 6 incident involving endangering the lives of Washington College students, lighting illegal fireworks in a dormitory, and setting off a residential fire alarm

On the night of April 6, Black threw several firecrackers into the hallway of Kent House which subsequently set off the dormitory's fire alarm. Black found responsible on all charges. The punishment in-volved a formal written apology to the residents of Kent House, with copies to be sent to the SCC, the Student Affairs Office, and President Cater: an official College warning, a Resident Assistant fine, and a College fine of fifty

Number of Votes

Percentage of Ballots

entage

Kevin McLaughlin was charged in an April 16 SCC case with endangering the well-being of Washington Col-lege students at the April 11 "Heineken Party" in the College Dining Hall.

McLaughlin allegedly began wrestling with Dudley Fowlkes during the party in the main dining room. After being asked to leave by Jeff DeMoss, Assis-tant Director of Dining Ser-vices, McLaughlin repeatedly re-entered the party, ac-

was worried about the students around them . . . [for which] the two had total disregard," said DeMoss, in response to a question from the McLaughlin admitted to or his jacket. In response, the defense McLaughlin was found not stated that the incident took cept conduct unbecoming of a Wasington College student. The punishment consisted of a written formal apology to DeMoss, President Cater, and the Student Affairs Office.

In the April 4 case David Morris v. Lee Mendelsohn, Matt Kelly, and Schaffer Reese, Morris charged the three defendents with his assault and battery in East Hall on the night of April 11, seeking over two hundred dollars in damages.

According to Morris, he entered what he thought to be an "all-campus" party in the basement of East Hall and asked for a beer. He stated that he was then threatened, shoved, and beaten by Reese, Kelly, and Mendelsohn before being physically thrown out of the building. He sought over two wrestling, but san that a was proposed to the party courant occurance, building. He sought over two McLaughlin further defended hundred dollars in damages to himself by stating that he returned to the party looking ment received the next day. In response, the defense wrestling, but said that it was place in a private "gathering of Phi Sigma fraternih members and alumni. Further members and alumni. Further it was stated that Morris wa intoxicated and violently refu ed to leave when asked. Rees stated that any injuries Morni received may have resulted when several people present tripped and fell, bringing Mor-ris down with them.

Numerous witnesses were brought in, whose testimonies contradicted each other. Reese stated that Security was never called since he did not find it necessary at the time, and the incident was over quickly. The Board found the three defendents responsible only for endangering the well-being of a endangering the well-being of a Washington College studen, and further filled identical charges against Morris ter flighting. The punishment for all four consisted of dividing the responsibility of the medical costs, as well as a written applogy from the disendent to Marris. defendants to Morris.

S.G.A. Election Results

officers of the 1987-88 Student Government Association were decided by dent voters in an election held Tuesday, April 14. Voters had a choice of 18 int candidates running for five Student Government positions. The results

PRESIDENT

| RICHARD A. MACKNIGHT    | 157             | 36%                      |
|-------------------------|-----------------|--------------------------|
| Audra Philippon         | 103             | 23%                      |
| Christopher Foley       | 98              | 22%                      |
| Christopher Fascetta    | 54              | 12%                      |
| Dean Hebert             | 14              | 3%                       |
| Write In/None of        | -               | - ~                      |
| the Above (NOTA)        | - 14            | 3%                       |
| VICE                    | PRESIDENT       |                          |
|                         | Number of Votes | Percentageof Ballots |
| PERRY FINNEY            |                 |                          |
| Mike Jenkens            | 292             | 66%                      |
| Write In/NOTA           | 13315       | 30%                      |
| WINCE IN THO IN         | 10              | 1%                       |
| TRE                     | EASURER         |                          |
|                         | Number of Votes | Percentage               |
| OMINION & W             |                 | of Ballots               |
| STEVE LEARYWrite In | 361             | 82%                      |
| NOTA                    | 17              | 4%                       |
| Absent                  | 28              | 6%                       |
| Ausent                  | 34              | 8%                       |
| SEC                     | RETARY          |                          |
|                         | Number of Votes | Percentageof Ballots |
| KIM CAVOLO              |                 |                          |
| Mary Jo Allison         | 250             | 57%                      |
| Write In/NOTA           | 148             | 34%                      |
|                         |                 |                          |

EDITORS APPOINTED

SOCIAL CHAIRMAN

LISA BUCKLEY/ WALTER SPENCE om Jackson Joe Bucci Write In/NOTA

Number of Votes

Andrea Kehoe, Editor-in-Chief of The Elm for the 1987-88 year, has appointed the following students to editorial and managerial positions for the coming academic year

News editor - Tony Caligiuri Features editor - Jennifer Harrison Sports editor - Bill Beekman Arts/Entertainment editor -Jennifer Eisberg

Photgraphy editor - Michelle Balze Managing editor - Cathy Jewell Advertising manager - Mariella Ruiz Circulation manager - William Faust Collegian editor - Tom Schuster

Break Off These Tabs

You may find it peculiar to see cups stuck to every Coke machine on campus and on garbage cans, but they are there for a good reason. SHO'men — Students Helping Others — a new community service organization, is trying raise money for Muscular Dystrophy. For every allotment of can tabs we submit, Coca-Cola Company offers a monetary donation to fight the numberone disease infecting newborns and the lot is growing every members.

fundraiser. East Hall, housing the Phi Sigma fraternity is in the lead right now, followed by the Alpha Chi's in Cecil. The and young children in the have donated the most thus far United States. So far, we have are Karen Maitland and Fusty collected more than 4,000 tabs, McCann; both are WC staff

The contest continues for An award (yet to be decided) another two weeks so keep cole is offered to the dormitory that lecting. If there is no longer a collects the most can tabs in the remaining two weeks of the collection in your room. When collection in your room. When amount, please let me (Charlotte Post) know, and I will be more than happy to Sigs should be commended for their efforts.

The two individuals who fort to break off those tabs.

For all your formal needs, select from our unsurpasse collection of men's tuxedos and women's designer evening wear Specialists in men's formal, women's evening and designer bridal fashions 328 G Street N.W. Univ. Blvd. at Viers Mill.

verson Mall Annapolis Road, Landover

1515 Rockville Pike The Mall in Columbia Laurel Centre

Annapolis Mali

Students Petition Dean

by Audra M. Philippon Wendy Morrison, visiting ssistant professor of satematics and company athematics and computer ence, completes her stay at dence, completes her stay at washington College this mester. Several of her tudents, however, are isturbed that she is not being sked to return by the ad-ninistration. These students reso disturbed, they are petiing the Dean. We find her to be one of the we find her to be one of the set teachers of computer pro-ramming. She is skillful, alpful, and patient with the ments. For these reasons, as ask you to reconsider the teachers and the set of realizes her. un to replace her," reads the Tongsenoon, ent of Morrison's, initiated e movement, but junior Holpersuaded early 115 students on campus join the effort. "Some people ve come up to me and said 'I ant to sign this. I want to help ler (Morrison),'' said Walbert. "We're just doing that we can to tell the adinistration that we want her stay," she said.

Petitioners overflow Petitioners overflow with aise for Morrison and her aching style: "She makes ings clear; she's a good acher," said Math major acher," said Math major akes time for you, and she

| Ne, the undersigned, petition the administration of          |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|--|
|  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Mashington College to maintain Wendy Morrison as a member of |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| its faculty for the scademic year 1987-1988. We find her to  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| be one of the best teachers of computer programming. She is  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| skillful, helpful, and patient with her students. For these  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| reasons, we ask you to reconsider the plan to replace her.   |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| reasons, we say you to reconstruct the prain to replace net. |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| 1 . Cu aux. 2- 11 E. C. W.                                   |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| I the Wallot Stra Dilyan When I (100)                        |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Marie Back Machel Smith S what Grandy                        |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Guller Brother demon Antre un Press Letter                   |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| and today addresser Cooka Largernah K. Chair                 |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Still field I I have a Stiller Camarithe millered            |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Jan Garen Ville Byre Pro Michon                              |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Man Jame Vignie Whomen attack                                |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Levelin Sharin Love Lakelyna " Ingarey guell                 |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Plane R. Barry Mills French age Ana Reilly                   |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| (De Millies John Wings July Selection                        |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Mulma Cataille Cata Wierthe Many houte                       |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Steed for The matterson at Billet                            |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| in Show down Workson Ford Down                               |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Burg rely Circle Ray day title will                          |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Bon Karmilaker Hacers habithous Silly                        |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Starmholmon Godg Branton Dander ANR                          |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| May & Brand Stated I'm Villey                                |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| allen Morter Marco Que All Musel                             |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Lord & anders Volery Western School and                      |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Don't lefton Clin humber 1.1.                                |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
| Beggy Madisson Tim & Butter Osityte M Eistert                |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |
|  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |  |

ions," continued Weinke, makes the atmosphere so that vice during her four years at "Wendy lets you know what everyone in her class wants to Washington College. She is she's doing in the class...she bether:

Man's Cookie Jar

Turkey Dinner last Wednes-day, Next Tuesday is birthday night and Thursday W.C.D.S. will be feat "The Bull on the Quad.

The meal hours on Saturday
- Parent's Day — will be 8:30
.m. to 9:30 a.m., Continental Breakfast, 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Lunch, and Dinner will be served at the Pavilion from 5:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.

On behalf of the entire staff of the W.C.D.S., I would like to extend special good luck wishes to Kim Coulbourne. Kim has worked at various capacities for the Dining Ser-dent supervisor. Her presence in the Dining Hall will be sorely missed, but we wish her every success the future holds for her

Here's an interesting "Food for Thought" for you. One cup of cubed cantalope contains the equivalent of 5,150 interna-tional units (IU) of Vitamin A, which meets the recommended daily allowance. Honeydew which meets the recommended daily allowance. Honeydew has only 68 IU. As a general rule, yellow or orange food is high in Vitamin A.

If anyone is interested in earning some extra money during Senior Week, the W.C.D.S. is in need of people to move fur-niture. If you are interested, contact Jeff DeMoss or Sharon

There are still a few posi-tions available for anyone in-tersted in working exam week. Contact Sharon Crew if you wish to sign up.

Well, I guess that's all I have time for this week. Until later...MOM.

'Churchill To Speak"

Britain's greatest statesman, aston Churchill, will be the topic of a erformance by noted ac-biographer James C. Humes durthe 1987 Senior Convocation this nes, who has been highly acmed as an author, actor, presiden-speech writer, and political orator, impersonate Churchill during the ant. His portrayal will reflect his per-mance in "Winston Churchill: A One In Show," a 1985 P.B.S. production nes has also served as a presidenspeech writer to former Presidents hower, Nixon and Ford. He later re editorial assistance to Ford in the who authored a Churchill Ography, met Churchill in Britain in mce of Churchill's personality has in him acclaim from the media and

"Senior Convocation is an effort to try to celebrate the idea of graduating and being a senior in a less formal manner, but not to take away from the seriousness of Commencement," said President Cater's executive assistant

> "to celebrate the idea of graduating"

This will be the third annual convocapast two featuring Art Buchwald and Mark Russell. Convocation ceremonies will also include the presentation of the Senior Class gift, which has not yet been announced. The public is welcome to attend and there is no admission charge.

The Senior Class of Washington College invites you to

An Afternoon With Winston Churchill presented by noted actor & biographer James C. Humes

4:00 p.m. Saturday, April 25, 1987

Tawes Theatre

An Afternoon With Winston Churchill

Parking Permitted

by Audra M. Philippon
Over Spring Break, the Colse received approval from c Chestertown Town Council use the far side of Gibson time for parking. Permism for parking came after real months of negotiations

Bill Ingersoll.

According to Gerry Roderick, Director of Security who handled many of the final negotiations, the idea to use the street for overflow parking came from President Cater several years ago when the College was preparing to pur-chase Gibson Avenue from the

Roderick reminds students expection Town Council that parking is not permitted that side of Gibson where the curb is painted the for parking came after "Violators will be subject to read months of negotiations ticketing by the Chestertown the mayor, the Town Police Department," said

Council, and Town Manager, Roderick. At this time, the jurisdiction.

Pay to Putt

having trouble controlling students from Washington Col-lege. Students bypassing the green fees will now be charged with trespassing on private property.

Lit House Theft

A 512K enhanced Macintosh was stolen from the O'Neill Literary House April 16. Literary House April 16. Anyone with information con-cerning the theft may contact the Security Department. The Chester River Yacht and perty and the prosecution of Country Club has recently been thief is offered.

Yearbooks

Have

Arrived

FEATURES

Another Frat: Epsilon Lambda Mu

by Andrea Kehoe

For most fledgling Greeks at Washington College, pledge training is nearly over, but for would-be members silon Lambda Mu (widely known as Elm) this week was just the beginn-ing. Newly appointed editors must prove themselves to their big brothers and sisters before they can be entrusted with a page next year.

Many think that The Elm is simply a weekly student newspaper funded by the College and published by a bunch of people who like to eat in the dark corners of the Dining Hall. Others believe that past and present Elm staffers compose a "faction" that conspires inst part-time students. Insiders realize that the 12-page paper you read every Friday at lunch is actually a front for the most exclusive and secretive Greek organization on campus. Although unusual in the fact that it is coed, The Elm fraternity follows many Greek traditions.

The Editor-in-Chief, for instance, has a task far more important than simply the supervision of the writing and production of the paper. As song leader, he is responsible for starting the staff off in slightly altered versions of well known songs such as "It's a small story after all," "I'm dreaming of a long culline" and "Over the river and through the woods to Elkton for layout we go

New members are ordered to sit in the dark corner of the Dining Hall to serve the brothers and sisters and to wear typical Elmattire such as a black leather jacket. Their pledge pin takes the form of a replica of the Elm tree fashioned from beer can tabs, and when

While some Greek pledges might find themselves in the buff on May Day, Elmies expose conspiracies, not themselves, and are modestly covered cians instead. Likewise, they don't the fire alarm goes off, the baby Elm pledges, however, need not tear Elmies must run down to ask the tree if hazing, although they will be locked in a basement and forced to drink coffee a basement and forced to drink coffee to keep them awake to meet deadlines Elmies don't need to torture animals when they can torture campus politi-with back issues of the paper. Instead of the typical push ups that many frats require of their pledges, ours must show off their typing talents. In the highly competitive newspaper world, it's energival of the factost

Some baby Greeks are asked to smoke strange substances; The Elm has its pledges light up copies of the Associated Press stylebook. A "road trip" is taken to Bunting Hall, where new editors are blindfolded and instructed to make their way to certain administrator's offices.

defecate on their pledges; this, too, is reserved for student politicos.

Some frats ask that their pledges perform community service, and the Elm is no exception. Pledges will help out the campus landscaping effort by plan-ting trees to replace those the staff kills to print copies of gerbil cage liner for campus wide distribution.

Pledge pranks are also not alien to The Elm. The press is said to be arrogant, and new members prove their Elmhood by boldly calling one of the Deans by his or her first name in conversation. The pledge captain should be sufficiently brave to do this to each

EXAMS

Membership in Epsilon Lambda & offers many of the traditional comfor to Greek association, including muta emotional support. Elmies boost ea other around deadline times by leaving inspirational messages on one another inspirational messages on one another doors: "Go for a scoop on that tuito hike story!" or "Get that lacrosse pe ture! You can do it!" Of course, the messages contain liberal numbers exclamation marks to cheer the rec pient Like other Greeks, Epsilon Lambi Mu's share personal secrets. Significant moments in an Elmie's life an celebrated with a candlelight in the darkened office and, of course, as companied by warm feelings and ree giggles

Another benefit for brothers sisters is an improved social life Meeting new people takes a twist whe they invite you to their next Elm burning party. If you don't care to hear them detail their feelings for the publication, you can spend many hapy hours debating the applicability of the Buckley Amendment to private of

Although few people ever wish a depledge from an organization that of fers such prestige and popularity, the is the occasional bad tree. The possible ty, however, that former member might expose the secret password and might expose the secret password and the handshake is simply too serious to be ignored. Those who threaten to "deactivate" are forced to play volleyball at the Lit House until their wrists are so severely bruised the must be hospitalized. Hear that, Elmpledges?

Beat Stress With Sleep, Exercise

by Jennifer M. Harrison "Stress reduction and management are first aid procedures for a crisis time, not a cure (for crisis). Only stress management can prevent crisis," states counselor Bon-Michaelson. After being safe for a semester, crisis time has set in at Washington Col lege. Seniors struggle to finish theses and comps, and everyone strains under the workload that comes with the end of a semester. Stress ounds as the sun shines, all nighters are supplemented with pots of coffee, eating is on with pots of coffee, eating is on the run, and worry pervades everything that is done. Is there any way to prevent cracking under stress? "This time of year we're talking about first aid, you can't expect a bandald to take care of chronic health proand you can't expect stress reduction to take care of chronic problems like pro-

Michaelson. She suggests first aid plan."

First, separate worry time and study time. Plan time to and study time. Plan time to worry — take a study break and make a list of everything that's worrying you. This will prevent distraction during study time. Plan time to sleep and eat Fin time to sleep and eat well. At this time it is impor-tant for the body to be in the best shape possible; without proper care, trying to study is like "trying to start a car on a half dead battery."

Plan a physical activity as a break for studying: after each hour of studying your mind and body are ready for a short break. Give your mind a rest and loosen tense muscles with exercise. Your studying will be more concentrated when you return to it Above all else, Michaelson stresses, watch caffeine intake carefully. Don't try to stay awake all night as disturbance of sleep patterns can cause

Students on the other hand, usually come up with their own miserable I am. Then I forget

ERM

PAPER

m

Don't try to stay til you are sick and then you lots of Milky Way bars and night as disturbance can't think about it any more. sleep on a couch in the Gree patterns can cause Sophomore Todd Karr is a fan Room."

1/ENDO

PARTY

of sharing with others: "I whine to someone about how Others depend on music, lb Dierdre Derbis who sings a walks downtown accompanie

> COFFE HOUSE.

graphic by Geoffrey Harwood

The Coffee House Is Now Taking

APPLICATIONS For The 1997-88 School Year:

Arcade Workers Needed: Under 21 years of age. Bar Workers Needed: Over 21 years of age. Responsibility and ability to take peer pressure essential for the job!

APPLY TODAY

vays to deal with stress. Many turn to food or the sharing of their miseries with others. their miseries with others. Freshman Wendy Kloiber, for example, says, "I cook up something in the hot pot really late at night, and then throw books at my roommate and squirt her with the plant sprayer." Junior Kelly Lamoree thinks the best were to oree thinks the best way to about it and order a pizza. It works." Freshman Bill Good claims, "I call home to Mom and cry."

and cry."
Others depend on all nighters and caffeine. Senior Sue Kolls likes to "stay up all night and never sleep and drink lots and lots of soda." Sophomore Esther Diamondstone survives her final exam weeks with this: "I stay up all night, I eat

by classical music on he walkman, and Sue Kolls who listens to jazz and blues by relax. Andy Chandler plays in saxophone to forget his exami have read the stress pamplish they have in the health service, because she says "I know it's weird, but I do them (paper and work) and then I get sleep."

Now there's more than one way to get through college

To get ahead in college, it helps if ou choose a brilliant roommate. Like a acintosh personal computer. And now here are two models to choose from.

The Macintosh Plus, which comes with one 800K disk drive and a full megayte of memory (expandable to four). And the new Macintosh SE. Which comes with either two built-in 800K drives, or one drive and an internal 20-megabyte hard disk. As well as a choice of two new keyboards.

Inside, the SE also has an expansion slot, so you can add a card that lets you share information over a campuswide network. Or another card that The power to be your best.

lets you run MS-DOS programs.

Whichever Macintosh you choose, you can use the latest, most advanced software. And that means you'll be able to work faster, better and smarter.

No two ways about it.

WASHINGTON COLLEGE BOOKSTORE

HOURS: 9:30-4:30 (Monday-Friday); 9:30-1:00 (Saturday)

SPORTS

Novice Crew Has Its Day In The Sun

by Carter Boatner
The Men's and Women's crews took to the Chester last Saturday in compet tion against visiting Lafayette, and Franklin and Marshall in which only the Men's and Women's novice boats were victorious

The Women's novice eight was by far the most memorable of the afternoon.
The crew, stroked by Sophomore Jenni
Pollard, rowed to a convining victory despite suffering a major setback at the beginning of the race. The women got off the line with a good start, then, what is every oarsman's nightmare occurred.

rower, who wishes to remain anonymous, created an error and "caught a crab." When a rower "catches a crab," he or she is unable to remove the oar blade from the water in time for the next stroke. This can be devastating both to the boat's chances of winning and also to the rower's health as the rower can be wrenched sideways while still tied into the shoes potentially resulting in extensive in-

Because of the "crab," the rowers had to stop rowing while their team-mate regained her composure. The determined novices, however, remained unfazed. Once the crew got going again they were able to overcome a five boatlength deficit to regain the lead and win easily. This was the women's first victory. The next two novice races were no as exciting, but the result was the same. In the words of freshman stroke Dave Johnson, the Men's novice eight phece the There's a victory toest, and then there's a victory splash. Man's Novice Eight coxswain Beth Walbert is about to meet the Chester River for a victory celebration the Shoreman way "Kicked - from the start" and won by two boatlengths. The crew had a good will be greater than that of last week's twice each race day. "This time of the competition.

start, rowed even, consistent strokes, and remained in front of the other crews throughout the entire race. The ease with which the eight won was overshadowed only by the men's Novice Four. Oarsman Pat Devine said the crew "enjoyed a combination of a good day, and flawless rowing" to win by an astounding 46 seconds! The start was good, and, along with strong per was good, and, along with strong per-sonal performances from each oarsman, the crew, as Pat put it, "Just blew 'em away." During next week's competition he expects the level of skill

Other crews that competed were the Women's varsity four, which lost to a tough Lafayette crew. The loss was only the women's second this season. Coxswain Ayn Hoyt realizes that the crew still has undeveloped potential and the rowers themselves are, "Tough and dedicated." Ayn is looking forward to this Sunday's competition in Baltimore against more quality crews.

While the other two men's crews suffered defeat, it is important to note that there are only 16 rowers who make up the four boats. Each rower must row year is very hectic as we move towards the championship races," said Senier Captain Tom Merrill. "We must pull together and stick it out for the remainder of the season."

The Walberts appeared to have the monopoly on the winning boats. Pixie,

Beth, and Andy Walbert were all members of victorious crews. The team has been preparing hard all week for the upcoming competition this weekend in Baltimore against Loyola, Johns Hopkins, the University of Baltimore, the Baltimore Rowing Club, and George Washington Univer-

Shoremen Laxers Take Two, Anticipate Showdown With No. 1 Washington & Lee

by Carter Boatner

Shoremen lacrosse handed Division opponent Salisbury State an 18-7 defeat last Saturday. This game saw the return of a high-powered offense which will be a key in the pursuit of a play-off

The leading performers were Freshman standout Tim Hormes, with five goals, Bob Martino with two assists and two goals, Sophomore Mark Cavallaro and Juniors Mike McGuane and Chris Dollar who scored three and four goals respectively.

The team was down 3-1 at the beginn-The team was down 3-1 at the beginning of the game, but stormed back to take a 10-4 lead at the half. "Junior Mar Mickum had a strong performance backing up the defense, which did a good job containing the Salisbury attack." said assistant coach Steve Beville. "The big difference was the 80 ground balls the squad recovered."

The lack of ground balls recovered has been a big factor in the team's defeats this season, but the squad now appears to have become more aggressive on the field, which should make a big difference.

W.C. charged after and over Gettysburg to capture a 18-4 victory, Wednesday, April 22.

Riding high on the team's last victory, the Shoremen took to Kibler field last Wednesday to face Gettysburg. another Division opponent. This game, which was much like the previous game against Salisbury, saw W.C. come out on top with a score of 184.

In addition to the intense play of ground balls, "the key factor," sail Beville, was the team's "well balanced attack." Tim Hormes scored three goals, Mark Cavallaro had one goal and five assists. Chris Dollar, captain Mike McGuane, Paul Deniken, and Mark Papa each had two goals.

According to Beville, "the number of according to Beville, "the number of injuries have plagued the defense as hurt the unit's cohesiveness, yet now we have nearly everyone back beluding first team All-American jumit Dave Hilliard" Beville and the team are looking forward to tomorrow's 1:30 p.m. home game against No. 1 rankel Division III Washington & Lee.

"A win will give us a spot in the playoffs," said Beville, "and a los could send us home early for the season. It all comes down to this weekend. If we don't win there is still a weekend. If we don't win there is still chance, but we want the winW.C. v. Salisbury, 6-1; W.C. v. Washington Bible, 21-3:

A Mixed Catch For Ball Team

by John Bodnar

The Washington College assball team suffered a tough loss Tuesday to Eastern ore rival Salisbury State Colbremen's record at 13 wins

The game was one of the est played games this year, of neither team making a siding error," said Coach elding error," said Coach they. "Freshman pitcher hris Long pitched six and one aird innings of effective ball.'

Long allowed only one run of five hits, but left in the

FOOT OF CANNON ST

CHESTERTOWN, MD. 21620

seventh with the bases loaded and only one out. "Salisbury's and only the freshman Kevin Perry, held us to only nine hits and pitched well with them on base," Athey explained. The Shoremen stranded 13 runners

Earlier this week the Shoremen routed Washington Bible College 21-3 in a rain-shortened five inning game. Freshmen Chris Warren and Brian Henry shared the pitching duties.

Shorenotes The Western Maryland game scheduled for Friday April 17

301-778-3566

was cancelled due to rain, and the Swarthmore double header will be rescheduled for next

Despite the double header loss to Johns Hopkins Universi-ty, the Shoremen are currently in second place in the Southeast League of the Middle Atlantic Conference, one-half game behind Hopkins.

Said Athey: "The upcoming double-header against Ursinus and Swarthmore looms very important and the locals must sweep both to stay in conten-

Amity Bakery

and Coffee Shop

Lunch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

Mon.-Sat. 5 A.M.-5 P.M. Sunday 5 A.M.-2 P.M.

Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies, cial Occasion Cakes On Order. Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M.

Tennis

David Quinn and Holly Bramble defeated Jim Morgan and Maureen Karns 8-5, thus winning the Volvo/Tennis Campus Mixed Doubles Chamionships held at Washington

They will go on to compete in the regional championship, held at Princeton University, on April 25 and 26. The winners and finalists of each regional championship will then com-pete in the Volvo/Tennis Cam-pus Mixed Doubles Eastern pus Mixed Doubles Eastern Championships on May 9 and 10 at Princeton. Prize money will be awarded to the top four teams, and Volvo/Tennis will make contributions to the varsity tennis programs at the top finishers' respective colleges.

Softball

As the saying goes, it's not if you win or lose, but how you play the game. The score read 5-4 in Gallaudet's favor at the end of Tuesday's softball game, but the victory was not Gallaudet's alone. The Shorewomen made a total of two errors during the entire game. From the mound, pitcher Adrienne Cupka gave up only three hits.

"The main area we need to concentrate on is the walks," concentrate on is the walks," stated Coach Penny Fall. "We gave up eleven in the Gallaudet game, but overall the team played well."

After Saturday's double loss to Franklin and Marshall, 14-2 ad 12-4, the Shorewomen bounced back, ready to play a tough game. "We're just looking to play better each time at "seaf-Eall"

'We have the potential," added Co-captain Debbie Cohn. "What we need now is ex-perience."

SPORTS CALENDAR

FRIDAY 24

Tennis (men's) MAC Team Playoffs (A) Lacrosse (women's) Maryland Tournament (A)

SATURDAY 25

Lacrosse (men's) Washington & Lee — 1:30 p.m. Lacrosse (women's) Maryland Tournament (A) Baseball Ursinus — 1:00 p.m.

Softball Western Maryland — 1:00 p.m.

Tennis (men's) MAC Team Playoffs (A) Tennis (women's) CWAC Tournament (A)

Crew Hopkins, Loyola, Univ. of Baltimore (A)

SUNDAY 26

Tennis (men's) Villanova — 1:30 p.m. Tennis (women's) CWAC Tournament (A) Lacrosse (women's) Maryland Tournament (A)

TUESDAY 28

Tennis (men's) Gallaudet — 3:00 p.m. Softball

WEDNESDAY 29

Lacrosse (men's) St. Mary's - 3:00 p.m. Lacrosse (women's) Haverford (A) Baseball St. Mary's (A) Tennis (women's) Gallaudet (A)

SUNDAY MASS

Alumni House 5:30 P.M.

Stam

215 High Street Chestertown. Maryland

778-3030

Hudson's

Vitamins Cosmetics

Russell

Stover Candy Soda Fountain

at

EMILY HAIRDRESSER

KEEP YOUR SUMMER

TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA

SUN SYSTEM

OLD WHARF INN

ON THE CHESTER RIVER

Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

Drug Co.

CONGRATULATIONS ON INITIATING!!!

Mary Jo Beth Lynn Debby

Kelly Laleh Marnie Jesse

Lots of Love. ALPHA CHI OMEGA

ARTS/

Students Create A Stage in Five Plays

Features Works By Susan M. Kolls, Charlie Wilcox, Matt James, Esther Diamondstone and Gina Braden

by David Healey

The works of student playwrights will be performed tonight and Saturday night as the Drama Department presents A Stage in Five Plays. The stage will indeed Plays. Ine stage will indeed be set for five plays, the works of the student writers in Pro-fessor Tim Maloney's Playwrighting class. The writers are Matt James, writers are Matt James Charlie Wilcox, Gina Braden Esther Diamondstone, and Sue Diamondstone wrote a play called The Loudest Noise in the World, based on a fairy tale about a prince who discovers that the loudest noise in the world is silence. The plot has been recentered around the main character, Jamie, who is on a quest to discover the loudest noise in the world. He is implicated in the murder of one of the king's guards, locked in a tower, and finds that the loudest noise is the silence of his isolated prison.

"It's a binarre experience to have something that you wrote appear on stage, 'said Sue Kolls has written a play planondstone. Explaining the called Sounds of Insects. "It purpose of the production, she centers around Emily, who production than to see what it's after the death of her husband, like to work with a director, It Michael,' said Kolls in summires of the control of the summires of the control of the her class project. "It's about a grandmother and grand-daughter living in the midwest during the 1940's," Braden ex-plained. "The grandmother is a devout Catholic who uses religious threats to stifle her granddaughter's rebellious nature. The action centers on what happens when an out-sider, Jim, enters into the en-vironment." The first act of the play will be performed this

Ghost, by Matt James, is a spook story with a twist. "The spook story with a twist. The main character in a family seems to be a ghost," said James. "But it's actually the family which is ghostly." Charlie Wilcox described his play Portrait of George as, "...a play which is about ar-"...a play which is about ar-tistic identity. It's about a photographer who never had his artistic identity and throughout the course of the play he finds it." Another important theme of the play is the portant theme or the play is the conflict between fathers and sons. Wilcox has finished two scenes of his planned five, which he plans to develop into a two and a half hour play.

of her planned two act play. "Emily's sister and her husthey have to deal with a subtle competition between the sisters over the care of the grandfather. Sarah (her sister) leaves and the grandfather tells a story that helps Emily deal with the loss of her

The staff includes: Tim Maloney, Director; Rebecca Jewsbury, Stage Manager; Michele Balze, Assistant Stage Manager; Charlie Wilcox, Lighting Designer; Sue Kolls, Set Designer; Deirdre Derbis Assistant Properties Manager; Alistair Paget, Board Operator; and the Set/Mike Crew, Dana Loy and Frank Creegan

The cast includes: Wendy Snow, Geoff Harwood, Stephen Kogler, Gina Braden, Wendy Kloiber, Ryder Daniels, Elissa Teeple, Bill Good, Jennifer Harrison, Deirdre Der-bix, Andy Chandler, Michele Balze, Bill Kerbin, Todd Karr, Cindy Curley, Mike Sell, Charlie Wilcox, Molly McMahon, and Sue Kolls.

"These are works in various stages of completion," explain-ed Director Maloney. "The students are learning what a play is, how to write one, and how it is performed; and in that respect they are all suc-cessful." He continued, "It's cessful." He continued, "it's on Studen aware foother properties of the playwrights to work with the actors, and to work with the actors, and with the playwrights. It's been insight and Saturday at 8:50 pm. Only limited onstage properties of the properties of the

CHESTERTOWN, MD. Rt. 213 & 291

STEAKS . SEAFOOD . COCKTAILS BUFFET EVERY SUNDAY 12-5 HAPPY HOUR - DAILY 4:30-6 AIR TAXI SERVICE AVAILABLE

SCHEELER FIELD

Ironstone Cafe

236 Cannon Street Chestertown, Maryland 21620 301-778-0188

Tuesday-Saturday Lunch: 11:30-2:00 Dinner: 5:30-9:00 Sunday Brunch: 11:00-3:00 Closed Mondays

Featuring: Paul Henderson

Senior

Reading:

Caty Coundjeris

Eric Lorberer Susan M. Kolls

Jack Gilden

Dan Forzano

John Richards

Cathy Beck

Sunday, April 26

Phoebe's 8:00 p.m.

NTERTAINMENT

Writers' Theatre

Old Friend Stars In New Play

The Writers' Theatre will the area in order to find present a reading of the play, material for a play. They jrg, on Thursday. The play is discovered the Old Friend a collaboration between Col-Tavern in their studies, and lege board member Mary decided it would be an ideal wood and Professor Ed setting. Odd situations from

Still in progress, 1787 is a farce about the travels of the Constitution as it is carried from the Constitutional Con-vention in Philadelphia to Anthe Old Friend Tavern in Church Hill, Maryland, Tom Carroll is carrying the document and stops to stay at the tavern, and the plot revolves round events there.

ched both the time period and

The Writers' Union Annual Spring Gala and Business Pic-nic happens this Sunday at the O'Neill Literary House. The events at this annual event include the announcement of the winners of the Great Rejection Poets Volleyball Game, Croquet: For Civilized People, and a Fantastically Important Business Meeting. Events will begin et 500 m sections.

At the business meeting, the Writers' Union officers for next year will be chosen. After-wards, the Poets will attempt to recoup their pathetic series of losses to the Prose writers in begin at 5:00 p.m.

Writers' Union Spring Gala

the period help to weave the plot and create characters. For instance, the bachelor tax used to be levied on single men, and to avoid paying it some men would "marry" a woman who vention in Finiage-pina to any sound marry a woman wan apolis, where it was ratified offered her services as a stand The scene of the adventure is in for a certain percentage of the Old Friend Tavern in the tax fee. One of the the tax ree. One of the characters comically takes this role of wife for several gentlemen. The rest of the farce contains the usual batch of mistaken identifies and mix

The first act of 1787 will be

Events Feature Senior Reading

the volleyball game. Anglophiles will practice the art of croquet at this time. Hamburgers, Chicken, Beer and Traditional Pink Wine will quell the appetites and thirsts developed by spiking the ball and wacking the wicket.

The Great Rejection Slip Contest has been going on all semester. The idea has been to submit stories and poems for rejection by magazines. Whoever collects the most rejection slips by Sunday will win fifty bucks. Writers who have been published don't win anything.

presented in the form of a cold reading, in which the readers have not practiced the script but are reading it for the first time. This is a theatrical method for testing the natural smoothness of the lines of the play. "There's nothing like laughing at your own jokes," said Wood.

The readers include: Joe Maggio, Todd Karr, Chas. Foster, Jenny Eisberg, Mary Riner, Kelly Lamoree, Ryder Daniels, Jeremiah Foster, Gina Braden, John Richards, Michael Rich. Gina Braden, John Richards, Michele Balze, Elissa Teeple, and Diane Landskroener. The presentation will be at 7:00 p.m. on the O'Neill Literary House deck. A reception will follow

The Senior Reading will be held at 8:00 p.m. in Phoebe's. Graduating seniors will have Graduating seniors will have the chance to present the best of their poetry and prose in a final presentation of their work to the College. The senior poets are: Caty Coundjeris, Eric are: Caty Coundjeris, Eric are: Caty Coundjeris, Eric are: Caty Coundjeris, Eric are: Caty Best Senior Senior Susan M. Kolls. The prose writers are Cathy Beck, John Richards, Dan Forzano, and Jack Gilden.

A chapbook of their work is being prepared and will be distributed at the reading. A reception for the writers will follow in Phoebe's.

Tawes Theatre, 8:00 p.m.

Saturday 25

Friday 24

Art Department
THE ANNUAL STUDENT

Gibson Fine Arts Gallery, Reception, 4:00 p.m. Presentation of the Lynette Nielson Award,

5:00 p.m.

Exhibition hours to be announced

The Film Series
THREE MEN AND A CRADLE

Norman James Theatre,

Drama Department A STAGE IN FIVE PLAYS

ART EXHIBITION

SENIOR CONVOCATION James Humes, Actor and Biographer of Winston Churchill, speaker Tawes Theatre, 4:00 p.m.

SGA LUAU The Lelia Hynson Pavilion, 6:00 n m

Drama Department A STAGE IN FIVE PLAYS Tawes Theatre, 8 p.m.

Sunday 26

The Film Series THREE MEN AND A

CAMPUS CALENDAR

Norman James Theatre, 8:00 p.m.

MEN'S TENNIS vs. Villanova, 1:30 p.m.

WOMEN'S LACROSSE Maryland Tournament

WOMEN'S TENNIS CWAC Tournament

SENIOR POETRY READING Phoebe's Studio Theatre, Gibson Fine Arts Center,

Monday 27

Film Series
THREE MEN AND A
CRADLE Norman James Theatre, 7:30 p.m.

Tuesday 28

The Music Department A MUSICAL PASTICHE Tawes Theatre, 8:00 p.m.

Thursday 30

Writer's Playhouse

1787
A work in progress by Ed
Weissman and Mary Wood
O'Neill Literary House,
7:00 p.m.

A Few Spare Hours? CAMP Receive/forward mail from home! Uncle Sam works hard - you pocket hundreds honestly! Details, send self-NEEDED addressed, stamped envelope anything

BEDUYA, Box 17145 Tucson, AZ 85731 COUNSELORS NOW HIRING Echo Hill Camp on the Chesapeake.

(301) 348-5800

ROSES! STOP!!!

Come In! For 2 weeks pick your own discount 5-10-15 or 25%. The one who buys the most in 2 weeks gets

50% Off Next Purchase

Rose's Furniture & Antique Shop

314 Park Row, Chestertown, MD 778-1522

Shands & Fleming, Inc. Dressing the discriminating woman of Washington for over 50 years

2120 Florida Ave., N.W. 9:30am-5pm (between Mass. & Conn. Aves.) Mon-Sat ... Free Parking Adjacent ... 667-9202

Review Country King: Hank Williams

Music Released After 35 Years In Studio Vaults

by Paul Henderson

With the recent roots revival in rock and roll and the recent collections be ing issued of Bob Dylan and Bruce Spr-ingsteen, and the anthologies of rhythm and blues and rockabilly being issued by the big record companies Atlantic and CBS, country music has been neglected. This is a great shame. No lover of rock and roll or rhythm and blues should forget this sister genre of American music

The Country Music Foundation of Nashville, Tennessee is out to correct this oversight. They have recently issued two records by Hank Williams, made up of demos and early pre-MGM recordings which should focus attention on this quintessential American ar-

Hank Williams was perhaps the first of the modern day pop hero-tragedys. He became the prototype for a long litanty of later stars who would shine brightly then crash brilliantly to earth. For Hank Williams this occured on New Years Milliams this occurred on New Years Day, 1953, when he died in the back of his robin's-egg-blue Cadillac, the victim of the original American superstar OD. Williams has long been considered one of the great spiritual Godfathers of country music and many country stars have openly taken to emulating both his style of singing and his self-destructive alcoholic lifestyle. What has not often been examined is his influence on rock and roll as it began evolving out of the stew of blues, bluegrass, and rhythm

It is not hard to see the early Elvis, Bob Dylan or Buddy Holly in the music of Williams. He provided rock and roll with more than a lifestyle. He gave the infant genre a glimpse of what guts and intensity could achieve, of what a direct and honest music could achieve of what a direct and honest music could do - and how to have fun.

The two albums are collections demos; songs he recorded by himself for the most part, to show artists in-terested in recording them how they should sound. They are simple, just his guitar and his inimitable voice.

It is Williams' voice that really shines in these recordings. His voice is raw, direct and emotional, yet he manages to sculpt it into a thing of rare beauty, a unique voice, perfectly phrased, one that dips and soars and phrased, one that dips and soars and manages to transcend its ideosyn-cracies. On Just Me and My Guitar, there are several which later became hits, "Jambalaya", "Your Cheatin' Heart", and "Honky Tonk Blues", and a chance to hear them in their earliest incarnations is very rewar-ding. Both "Jambalaya" and "Honky Tonk Blues" show the early blues and country fusion that would later become rock and roll, and on both of them Williams tears through the songs with a verve and enthusiasm that reminds one of the later singing of Chuck Berry. "Your Cheatin' Heart" is painful to listen to. The lyrics sound pained and often come out as a thin wail from an obviously ill Williams.

Most of the songs on this album reveal a man tortured by the knowledge of his own impending doom, fering a vision of a place to go when much the way the best of Robert are through "wandering in this simble bands of the same world".

Johnson's songs do. The same world". early thirties were to claim Williams at the age of twenty nine.

His songs are filled with lines like "Tm lost dear, lost on the river of light," on the equisite "Lost On the River", or the light but still somehow serious "Lord I'm suffering with the honky tonk blues," from "Honky Tonk

The other Williams' album the Coun-try Music Foundation has isued, Hank Williams: The First Recordings also offers the songs of a doomed man. On "Wealth Won't Save Your Soul" he mourns the fate of his "wicked soul". While Williams often sings of death and troubled souls, he often tinges these with a hope of redemption taken from the gospel and folk roots that he sprang

"I'm Goin Home" is a song about death, but with the redemptive belief of knowing that you are bound for a better place. "Don't weep for me, don't cry when I'm gone/Glory to god 'cause I'm goin' home." Other songs also offer this redemptive message: "House of Gold" and "Calling You", are both songs of-

Williams' ability to write songs the ere straightforward and powerful to sing them with a voice that was a tional and beautifully phrased man him one of the anomelies of the day, white man with a soul. Williams of not have the loud, self-aggrandize soul of James Brown but the kind soul Woody Guthrie had; a soul h meant you did not misrepress youself, one that allowed you to si directly without the use of artifice or fects. Like Guthrie, he sang of tra and America, of divorce and lost loy of traveling, fighting and of his fam If this album serves as nothing but pop music curiosity, a chronicle of the birth of modern country, western a rock and roll, it will be a shame.

For Hank Williams was more than important figure in the birth of musical genre, he was a brilliant sing whose influence can still be heard almost every country singer's very style. He was a songwriter who we able to capture the paths that has n become cliche in country music up-tempo songs mixed elements of blues and hillbilly-folk into the st Carl Perkins, Elvis Presley and Edd Cocheran made.

Both Just Me And My Guitar, a The First Recordings are invalua additions to pop music archives. W the latest Madonna or Metallica or 0 way Twitty or Lee Greenwood s makes you wonder just what musich come to, take these records out listen to where it came from. It wil most refreshing.

For information on The Count Music Foundation or to order the albums, write to the Country Mu Foundation, 4 Music Square Nashville, Tennessee 37203.

Cradle Rocks The Funny Bone

Three Men and A Cradle is a French film which avoids all those cliched role-reversal situations yet still manages to be funny. Writer and director coline Serreau has created a film about three men who suddenly take over the role of motherhood for the star of the movie, Baby Marie.

movie, Baby Marie.

The jokes never quite get to the trite level of mishaps in diaper changing, but instead have been described as a kind of effort to explain the jokes that go along with this backward mothering. In the end it never gets too tunny, but instead becomes a sort of investigation of farce.

Colus Servers.

Coline Serreau is known in France as "Ms. Serious." She is a well-known stage actress, a screen writer, and recently directed Sophocles' Dedipus Rex for Italian television. Vincent Canby describes her work as follows: "Miss Serreau is too self consciously serious to embrace her stereotypes, thus to find new fun in them, and too academic to create characters that have comic lives of their own. Her inoffensive sexist feminism is theoretical rather funny (or even provocative).

Despite whatever shortcomings the film may have, even down to its somber use of natural lighting and autumnal natural lighting and autumnal colors, the French certainly like it. In 1985 it won the French equivalent of the Oscar, the Cesars, for best lim, best screen play, and best supporting actor. That year it was also nominated for an American Oscar for best of France's all-time greatest box office hits, outselling even Ramboand E.T. Ramboand E.T

Part of the Washington Col-lege Film Series, Three Men and A Cradle can be seen Fri-day, Sunday and Monday even-ings at 7:30 p.m. in Norman James Theatre

> Loving, Financially Secure Childless Couple Wishes To ADOPT

A Healthy White Infant We can provide the best education CALL COLLECT

301-461-1792 (After April 1) ANSWER OUR PRAYERS

HIRING TODAY! TOP PAY! WORK AT HOME

No experience needed. Write Cottage Industries, 1407½ Jenkins, Norman, Oklahoma 73069.

Chestertown Movie Theater

BURGLAR (BATED R) Hours: Fri.-Sun. 7 8 9 p.m. Man.-Thurs. 7:56 p.m. April 24 - April 30

778-157

WASHINGTON COLLEGE FILM SERIES PRESENTS:

Three Men and A Cradle

SHOWING:

Friday/Sunday/Monday 7:30 P.M. $1 Admission

NORMAN JAMES THEATRE

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

olume 58, Number 26

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, May 1, 1987

U.S.H.! Junior Kathy Winter was found putting a little life into Spring vo.n.t. Junior Kathy Winter was found putting a little life into Spring titled Bill Smith this week. Organized each year by the Junior class, audification Using Student Help allows up-and-coming Seniors to de in their pens for trowels and invest a little effort in the landscaping the Washington College campus.

Violence Plagues Coffee House

Closed Again

by Audra M. Philippon For the second time this emester, the Coffee House has semester, the correct house has forbade the sale of alcohol because of violence and vandalism. The critical incident preceeding the decision, according to Dan Maureen McIntire, was a fight between two non-students that took place after the SGA Luau last Saturday night.

Although the Dean admitted Although the Dean admitted that the fight "was obviously an incident totally independent of the institution," the fact re-mains that students were unable to control the situation. consultation with the SGA Executive Board over the weekend and early this week the Dean and Jeff DeMoss, Student Center Director, decided to prohibit the sale of alcohol for the rest of the school year.

'We decided it would be inappropriate to close the Coffee House completely. Suspending the sale of alcohol sounded like the appropriate thing to do...," said McIntire.

"I was really disappointed in those involved [in the fight]," said Lisa Buckey, chair of the SGA Luau. "Those that got in fights were willing to take the risk for everyone. They blew it for everyone. The campus has got to get together and take a stand against it."
"Are students going to continue to babysit people who don't deserve the privilege of drinking on campus?" asked SGA President Chris Doherty.

to be held liable for the action of those students, or is the SGA going to have to abandon its support of a more leniant alcohol policy next year?" Doherty continued: "I think it's appalling that the student body tolerates a vocal and violent minority to such an extent that it lets that minority's behavior dictate the reac-tionary policies by which this continued on page 4

Non-Students Involved

by Tom Schuster Four visitors to the College arted the fight at the Luau Saturday, April 25, which led to the second C-House closing this semester, according to the only student involved. Sophomore Matt Kelly said he was pushed into a display case outside the doors of the Student outside the doors of the Student Center and broke the glass after he tried to restrain a young man who assaulted Tommy Meyers, a former WC student visiting the campus.

Campus security and town police, responding to com-plaints, arrived at the scene after the participants had left the area. No charges were brought against anyone involved in the incident

Kelly stated that he was on Kelly stated that he was on his way from the C-House to the restroom when he saw Meyers arguing with three men in the lobby. "I didn't think too much about it," he said. Shortly after returning from the restroom, while talking with another student nearby, he saw one of the men slap ground. Kelly grabbed the assailant, who then pushed him into the display case and punched him repeatedly.

According to Meyers, he got up and began fighting with another one of the men briefly until the fight was broken up. Meyers, who fled the campus, someone told me police were coming and I took off." Kelly said he was escorted from the scene by acquaintences. The three men, identified as visiting friends of freshmen Kevin M. Quinn, left the scene as well. Quinn declined to comment on his visitors' behavior or reveal their identity.

Dean of Students Maureen Kelley McIntire said that no administrative action has been taken against any of the iden-tified participants. In incidents such as this, she said, "the College community bears some responsibility." According to McIntire, students living on an open campus have "a moral and ethical responsibility" to oversee the conduct of their

The incident left Kelly with a bruised lip. Meyers suffered a black eye and a cut nose. No one was hospitalized. Meyers, explaining the reasons for the dispute with the men, said "We looked at each other the wrong wav.

Commencement Plans Finalized

Commencement address at is year's Sunday, May 17 remony

Muskie, who will receive an Iran Doctorate of Laws

Noted political leader and Administration following the mer Secretary of State Edum S. Muskie will deliver While serving under President Carter, Muskie worked toward gaining the release of the American Hostages held in

Muskie began his twenty-one uring the ceremony, resigned year service in the Senate in the Senate to serve as 1959, after serving two terms

INSIDE-Letters To The Editor.....p.2 Manchester Selections.....p.4 Sophie Kerr Endorsement....p.6 Crew Victorious.....p.8 Lax Crushes W&L.....p.9 Prince Album Review.....p.10

as the Governor of Maine. Muskie also won the Democratic Vice-Presidential nomination in 1968 and was a Presidential contender in 1972.

The son of an immigrant Polish tailor, he graduated from Bates College in Lewiston, Main and Cornell Law School, He was a Navy officer during World War II and entered politics in 1947 by serv-ing in the Maine House of Representatives

Recently, Muskie served on the Tower Commission in the investigation of the Iran arms scandal

Also invited to receive honors on Sunday are author/philosopher Mortimer author/philosopher Mortimer J. Adler and former U.S.
Senator J. William Fulbright.
Adler, who recently authored
We Hold These Truths:
Understanding the Ideas and Ideals of the Constitution, will receive an Honorary Doctorate of Humane Letters. His book took a philosophical look at American Constitutional government. With the for-thcoming Bicentennial of the Constitution, Adler has been meeting with groups of high school students to discuss the country's founding documents. Adler also directs a Summer school, the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies.

Former Senator Fulbright will receive an Honorary Doctorate of Laws. As a Senator, he served fifteen years as the chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee until his elec-torial defeat in 1974. Since n, Fulbright has remained Washington D.C. lending legal advice, connections and other services to the well-known law firm Hogan and Fullbright spent three years at Oxford University in the 1920's, graduating a Rhodes Scholar. Because of this ex-perience, Fulbright maintains contact with the Fulbright continued on page 4

PASSASTILL It's May Day!

OPINION

Editorial

Thanks, Guys!

Previous editors of The Elm have devoted their final editorials to a wide range of subjects. In their last attempts at written wisdom, past editors have devoted this space to humoring, insulting or even apologizing to their readers. I intend to do none of these things. In this, my last editorial, I would like to devote this space to the people who are the campus newspaper at Washington College

I began as editor in September with many visions about this paper. Thanks to the people working for me, I have seen all of them come true. In the past nine months The Elm has commanded the attention of this campus. There are readers who love it and readers that detest it, but I am convinced that there are no readers who ignore it. It is for this reason that I believe we have succeeded.

A paper that demands attention just doesn't happen. It takes people to put it together, but not ordinary people. A campus newspaper is in many ways the ultimate extracurricular activity. Many staff, who keep their GPA's intact with bubble gum and kite string, don't know what homework is. Instead, they spend 30 hours a week chasing down stories with a pen or a camera knowing full well that perhaps eight people out of ten won't read the piece when it's printed, if they read it at all. That doesn't matter. They're doing it for themselves because, ultimately, that's the only way a person can do it and survive

These are the people that constitute the Elm staff. They do a job that no other 25 students can. In terms of student journalistic talent, they are among Washington College's best and the brightest. Their hard work and perserverance resulted in 26 issues of the 1986-'87 Elm, totalling 296 pages, which were delivered to readers in the form of approx-imately 63,500 newspapers. Unlike many campus organizations, The Elm will end the year with a budget surplus

An editor is no better than the people working under him The dozens of compliments I have received about The Elm are the result of a staff that has earned itself at least the attention of their readers, if not their respect. I would like to congratulate them all for a job well done.

Washington College Elm

|                                  |      |    |    |   |  | п | Ed | ji | te | ) T | 8 |  |   |  |  |   |   |   |   |     |    |     |     |     |    |     |    |
|----------------------------------|------|----|----|---|--|---|----|----|----|-----|---|--|---|--|--|---|---|---|---|-----|----|-----|-----|-----|----|-----|----|
| Editor-in-chief .                |      |    |    |   |  |   |    |    |    |     |   |  |   |  |  |   | 1 | h | 0 | m   | 88 | N   |     | Sc  | hu | 81  | n  |
|                                  |      |    |    |   |  |   |    |    |    |     |   |  |   |  |  |   |   |   |   |     |    |     |     |     |    |     |    |
| Features Editor                  |      | 45 |    |   |  |   |    |    |    | o   |   |  |   |  |  | ٠ |   |   |   |     | A  | ne  | ire | 8   | Ke | h   | 06 |
| Arts/EntertainmSports Editor | ont  | EU | no | r |  |   |    |    | ٠  |     |   |  |   |  |  | ٠ |   |   |   | 4.0 | d  | D۵  | vi  | d ( | He | alı | BY |
| Photography Ed                   | Itor |    |    |   |  |   |    |    |    |     | ٠ |  | ٠ |  |  |   |   |   |   | C   | h  | ris | tir | 10  | w  | à   | ni |
| . metegraphy Lu                  |      |    |    |   |  |   |    |    |    |     |   |  |   |  |  |   |   | × |   | J   | n  | ١.  | Fr  | e g | on | 10  | n  |
|                                  |      |    |    |   |  |   |    |    |    |     |   |  |   |  |  |   |   |   |   |     |    |     |     |     |    |     |    |

Managing Editor National Advertising Manager Local Advertising Manager . Alison Shorter Michelle Royal .. Mariella Ruiz .. William Faust

The Eim is the official student newspaper of Washington College. The Eim is published every Friday during the academic year with the scape. Eim is published every Friday during the academic year with the scape. Elistorials are the responsibility of the Education-left, Eligoned cultums, commanidate, latters, editorials, and editorial carroom represent the amendment of the deficion least. Elistorial staff.

All letters to the editor are read with increase but, due to space limits must be shortened. Unstages letters will be obtained to the control staff.

All letters to the editor are read with increase but, due to space limits must be shortened. Unstages letters will not be considered for solition and the staff of the editor are read with the control of the editor are read with the control of the editor are read with the control of the editor and extending of laryland 21829. Letters bacome tine property of the Edm upon security of must be received on later tine Tuesday to be considered for publication of must be received on later tine Tuesday to be considered for publication. The Edm's business and editorial office is located in the Queen Anne uuge, found on the first floor of the Queen Anne's House dominary outliness hours are 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 p

An Invitation To Join hathab. I would never say that the '87' Pegasus is perfect. I would, however, like to point out a few of its strengths, and a few of the problems the publication has faced this year. To Join

To The Editor:

I am writing in response to the letter entitled "Yearbook Horse Sense." As a member of the Pegasus staff, I think that to the opinions excontrary to the opinions ex-pressed in the letter, it is one we can show to our friends and family. Although I openly admit that the book is not perfect, I do feel that overall it is a good book. In specific response to your criticisms:

1.) The Greek organizations

as well as the uncovered sports teams, will be covered in the supplement to be distributed in the Fall. Doing this allows pledges to be included in the raternity pictures to be published. Neither of these would be possible on February 2 when the final deadline material was shipped.

2.) I feel that there is a place for the lighter side of campus life such as the smiling coffee mug. These pictures represent a part of life which could not if the staff wishes to keep some type of unity on them.

3. Admittedly, some of the pictures are blurred but this is due to the sudden resignation of the photo editor before he printed the pictures for a deadline which fell directly after first semester finals. Due to this situation, staff members were forced to print pictures with minimal training as late as 4:00 a.m. Waiting for better prints would have caused a delay in delivery.

4.) The yearbook is supposed to cover the year on campus. This includes the negative aspects such as graffitti. The staff felt that the "editorial comments" you refer to belonged here.

It is quite frustrating to work as hard as this year's staff (especially editor Arian Ravanbakhsh) have and see complaints about it in the same issue of The Elm that an-nounces its arrival. Although suggestions are welcome, being told that the book is not one we can be proud of us is in-sulting. Students who have serious problems with the book are invited to be on next year's staff. If you do not choose to join us, we will assume you are leaving editorial decisions to the current staff - an assump tion similar to the one we made this year when only one freshman stayed on the staff after the initial meeting.

> Tim Rohs Pegasus Staff Sophomore

Best Book

To The Editor: I would like to respond to the criticism voiced in "Yearbook Horse Sense." as a minor member of the yearbook staff I have witnessed in part the hard work and dedication that has gone into the 1987 Pegasus, particularly on the part of its editor, Arian Ravan-

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

First, some of the strengths of the book:

A well written, thoughtful * A well written, text throughout. * Some really great action shots of WC fall sports. * Good coverage of the Good coverage of the Literary House and its expan-sion. Also, good coverage of the other positive growth of our small college. Those "dirt piles" are evidence of - and necessary to - this growth, you

* More color pages, showing off our beautiful campus and some of the most appealing views of Chestertown at their staff have included difficulty in obtaining senior photos and, primarily an insufficient supp-ly of other photos to choose from due to the inactivity and subsequent resignation of the Yearbook's photo editor. Another problem the yearbook has had to face is apathy toward the publication.

Or worse yet, the criticism of students like Mr. Weir, Mr.
Woodfolk, and Mr. Guinness. I challenge the three of you and anyone else quick to criticize to offer actual help in making the yearbook better. I'd like to see you there the next time the small, dedicated yearbook staff stays up all night trying to develop pictures, lay them out, and get them in the mail before deadline. I doubt that this will happen. However, and I direct this to any concerned, in-terested student, if you con-sider yourself a good photographer, take pictures of an event you'd like to see inan event you'd like to see in-cluded in the yearbook and submit them to Mr. Ravan-bakhsh and his staff. They welcome submissions.

One final word: You can't please everyone. A diverse collection of interest groups populate our campus. The yearbook doesn't include everything that I personally would like to see either. But I feel that the '87 Pegasus' is the least wearhook we've had in re-One final word: You can't best yearbook we've had in re-cent years at WC, and that its editor and staff deserve to be congratulated, not negatively censured. They know better than anyone the strengths and weaknesses of the yearbook and have already begun plann-ing a better yearbook for next spring events will appear in the Yearbook supplement being prepared now for fall distribu-tion.

Sincerely, Joanna Wilson Junior, Drama Major, and Owner of the "Smiling Coffee Mug P.S. Greek organizations ar

Crosswalk Blues

To The Editor:

The cars bark and break like so many King-Cab pit bulls. A timid freshman coed steps into the two-way canyon of headlights. The last few thrus headingnts. The last rew thrus across, the rest squeal a frustration. Washington Avenue is a mess for driven these days, and for pedestrians, it ranges from as pedestrians, it ranges from its noying to dangerous. I sat for five minutes at the end of the fire lane a fer Fridays ago. Pick-ups, staling wagons, and compacts were in the property of the property of the prowagons, and compacts were a line, out of sight, to my left as right. As I watched, the first thing I noticed was that even driver was looking up the last driver was looking up the last as they passed. Indeed they ought to. What disturbed me ought to. ought to. What dissurbed me though, was that so many of them were clearly angri. Maybe it was just the rush hour blues, but it was undeniable. At other times Proceedings of the control o seen students, especially girls who live on the far side of 211 receive nasty looks, leering comments, or obnoxious obscenities. It's a day to day degrading intrusion. It is also forced meeting of mentalities college and county. Mayb that's good, but it is demorali ing for students and local

I don't know what the soletion is: maybe a walking bridge, maybe a tunner, out in needs a turning lane anywa; There has been talk of rerouting 213, as the Cheste River Bridge is rathe decrepit; but let's face it, alou with all the noise and exhaust comes a lot of cash, for gas sta tions, fast food, and mer chants. Further, one might consider Chestertown development overall. An rumors of a new "plaza' across from the current or ment plain true? How long wil South Queen Street last? When will Kent County get some high-tech industry? Some peo ple say the Eastern Shore a back in the 50's. If that is true (we are only 100 miles from Washington and Philadelphia) there is a lot of catching up to

How all this affects 600 yours adults crossing under the eter-nally flashing light is hard by say. It is certain that it will though, if not in accidents, the in the student's experience of Tom Hopkins

Where Were You?

Dear Matthew Weir, Michael Woodfolk, Sean Guinness, as all the others who feel that th Pegasus did not do their j quite right.

As a member of this year yearbook staff I think that may be able to give some sights into your concerns aby this year's yearbook, an needless to say, they are mad every year because it is in possible to please everyone.

You allege that we neglecto include the Greeks, mi clubs, and the sports team the book. Regarding Greeks, it is a well-known across the campus that the but rather in the supplement that their pledges can be cluded in the photograph. for the clubs and sports teal

continued on page

Individuals Determine Its Value

Was the "highly-touted Liberal Arts education" worth it? Good question— one probably more appropriate for those who have been living off their highly-touted" Liberal Arts degrees or the last five years or so.

I must admit that after a week filled with exams and papers, plus the an-ticipation of senior comprehensive exams, my first response was: "NO!"

ad my answer to: "It depends." tated in the course catalog (page 7), is to offer a curriculum designed "to education through intensive study...and by encouraging individual responsibility for learning." In my opi-nion, it is the individual that determines the value of a Liberal Arts or science educati

To some individuals, the worth of a Liberal Arts or science education is the ability to obtain a good job with the possibility of advancement and a

Marcia Waynant

salary large enough to let them live in the manner to which they have become accustomed. To others, a Liberal Arts or science education allows them the opportunity to grow as an individual. The ability to acquire knowledge in several disciplines allows one to choose an area to specialize in graduate school without the presence of the burning question: "Is this really what I want?"

A Liberal Arts or science education, if you budget your time well, also gives individuals the freedom to learn outside the classroom. The out-of-class learning experiences offer "training" in public relations. For example, people who participate in athletics are able to learn effective ways of comto learn effective ways of com-municating with their teammates. This opportunity is invaluable to everyone ecause communication is an important part of job success.

To a few students, however, a Liberal Arts education allows them too much freedom. These individuals spend their "free time" vandalizing the property of College or other students, rather than using that time to expand on their own creativity. I guess their definition of a Liberal Arts education means paying $40,000 to behave in ways they were told not to in kindergarten.

As for myself, the science education I As for myseit, the science education I received was worth the approximately 1120 hours of classroom instruction, 1100 plus hours of laboratory work and innumerable out-of-class learning experiences. My science education has given me the foundation I need to build on in graduate school. Through distribution requirements I have also learned some of the important concepts of other disciplines and even some Marcia Waynant is Senior Chemistry major who will graduate this month.

After Approximately 1120 Hours Of Classroom Instruction And

ISSUE: Innumerable Out-of-Class Learning Experiences, Was The Highly-Touted Liberal Arts Education Worth It?

Ocean City, Maryland Senior

"It depends on how Liberal you like your Arts. So there

Campus Voices

Alison Shorter Clinton, Maryland Senior

"Yes, I think it's worth the Arts education After that many hours I would hope it was worth

Lars Henriksen Bethesda, Maryland

"At this point, it's too early to tell, since I don't have a job. But if I find out it wasn't, do I get my money

Caty Coundjeris Oxford, Maryland Senior

"I love to learn. The Liberal Arts education gave me freedom to dip into what I love. Now I know what I don't know. As far as jobs are concerned I did not come to college for a ready made job when

Irene Nicolaidis Owings Mills, Maryland

"Maybe I should answer this question when I see how long it takes me to get a job! Honestly though, if nothing else, I met some great people, which made it definitely worth it.

by Michele Balze

Opening Up The World

Because I am a graduating senior, I was approached the other day and ask ed to write a short piece on how I felt about the value of a Liberal Arts education and whether it was worth all of the time, effort and expense. This struck the as a good question, for I am a prac ticing member of the five-year undergraduate plan, have given those Pars various levels of effort and have watched the cost of my experience here increase in quantum leaps. Despite the begative feature it took me no time at hegative factors it took me no time at all to realize that a Liberal Arts education has been well worth it, for it has changed my view of life.

When I first entered the realm of igher education my idea of an exciting and stimulating time was to go out, alize and get plastered. I still enjoy socialize and get plastered. I still enjoy doing this, but then it seemed to have been the focus of my being and now it is simply a fun thing to do. When I first came to ashad my being thought proame to school my basic thought pro-My main concerns were my next meal, my next buzz and how to pass my classes with the least amount of effort.

The longer I have been here, and the more I have applied my own thought processes, the more I have realized how much there is to discover about life and this world, and how little I myself know. To take command of life I must reach out and get a firm grip on my own reality in order to better unders own reality in order to better unders-tand myself and gain direction. That direction should be aimed toward becoming a productive member of society. The education I have received here has given me the ability to do this.

Whether my education taught me to memorize facts from an infinite well of knowledge is not important. What is important is what it has done to my reason for being. Gaining a Liberal Arts education has opened a wide world that I had not noticed before. This world is teaming with the incredible energy stimulated by imagination and ideas. A life is what one wants to make of it, and the Liberal wants to make of it, and the Liberal Arts education has taught me a great deal about myself, how I fit in, and where I want to go. It has provided me with invaluable mental tools and methods to take all that life has to offer and mesh this with my own reality, making it so much more exciting, stimulating and, most of all, important. In my view, a Liberal Arts education goes beyond rote memorization. Its primary aim is not necessarily to accumulate specific bits of knowledge, but to teach valuable thought processes that allow one to make that all-important intuitive leap of the mind. This is the ability that has enabled mankind to take all of the separate bits of knowledge within the world, combine them and pull out important ideas and observations that will make this knowledge functional and productive.

Peter Goode

The importance of this is simple. Our world is in a time of great change, and it needs people who have the ability to push these changing forces in the pro-per direction. Many people think they cannot change the world and simply allow it to go on functioning around them as if they are just cogs in the universal wheel. It is we who have been given the ability, through our educa-tion, to take an active part in the continuing evolution of our world. We must not simply be functioning members of society, we must be productive members who will aid in society's improvement. Only in the constant flourishing of new and innovative ideas can mankind forge ahead and prevent its own stagnation or destruction. The Liberal Arts education is a key to the continual progression of man, for it teaches a person how to think and judge for himself. To me, that is an invaluable tool, no matter what the time, effort and expense.

Peter Goode is a Senior International Studies major who will graduate

Taps Turned Off In C-House Once Again

continued from page 1 campus is run. The whole campus is negligent for not taking responsibility for the actions of their friends whether they're guests or not."

McIntire feels the solution to the problem of violence caused by alcohol involves students understanding the alcohol policy better. "We need to policy better. "We need to work in the direction of students enforcing the policies because they understand them (i.e., carding at parties, serving food and non-alcoholic beverages, closing down at specific times)," she said. DeMoss agreed. "I feel the majority of our students are responsible, but there is a percentage who want to ruin what the majority has through

SGA President-Elect Rich MacKnight argued that the closing of the Coffee House was a misdirect response to the problem. "The latest measures the Alcohol Task Force has taken have woken up the sible social activities." MacKnight stresses, however, that students are responsible for their guests, as outlined in the student handbook As for next fall, DeMoss believes beer and wine will be available again in the Coffee House, but there will be changes in the policies regar-ding its consumption. "At this time, this is all we can do. But looking to the fall, there will be some changes that will be unacceptable to some

'The concept of a dry cam-"The concept of a my call-pus is not a threat we're holding over heads, because nobody wants that," said McIntire. "That's the end of one road, but there are plenty of others roads we can take ' 'If the College continues to feel the pressure of not being able to control or provide a realistic social life on campus . . . we have no options," she said. "But I think we can solve these things." Aside from the fight, the Luau and the various fraternity parties on campus proceeded without ma-jor incident. McIntire did say that since the last time the Coffee House closed its doors, "there have been signs of im-

The Alcohol Task Force met of the amount of beer year. Several ideas have come clear to everybody."

Doherty said "It is forth throughout the week Maybe the Coffee House meds to be a student center, not a coffee house," suggested DeMoss. "Maybe beer and wine could be sold elsewhere on campus?" Cutting down the consumption of alcohol at social events and the amount available to consume, stiffening penalties for vandalism and violence, and providing more imaginative entertainment were two more of his suggestions

McIntire agreed with necessary
DeMoss that "Some of our problem is quantity. Things get Doherty, out of control simply because walks away .

resterday for the last time this added, "When we begin the year to discuss what direction new year, we've got to may alcohol policies should go next sure that our goals are ver

clear that the College, through its RA program which is set up to handle just these problem is going to need to actively pu sue a policy of suspensions and expulsions of students whose consistent and irrational behavior . . . has destroyed what was once a harmonice social life on campus All parties involved in the closing agreed that collection action from the student body is necessary to stop the alcohol induced violence. "But,"

Commencement Plans

Scholars Program, available to students studying abroad.

To receive Citations at Commencement are two alumni, Joseph Longbardi of the class of 1952 and Harris Rhodes, the class of 1935. The Benediction presently a student minister with the Methodist church. The student to give the Senior Ad-dress will be announced early

The presentation of student awards will also take place at Commencement, including the George Washington Medal and the Sophie Kerr Prize.

and Invocation will be given by senior Vincent Hynson, Election Results

Class Elections Results Class of 1988 (seniors) Cecilia President -

Kosenkranius Vice President - Paul Deniken Secretary - Rita Brigman Treasurer - Bill Long

Class of 1989 (juniors): President - Susan Stern Vice President - Denise Smith short so that you will have time

Regular meal hours will con-

a.m. and lunch from 11:15-1:30

serving "Midnight Breakfast"

The W.C.D.S. will again be on Sunday, May 3, from 11:30 joyable summer. p.m. to 12:30 a.m. The menu Until next sem-tinue during exam week. On Cent Saturday, May 9, breakfast exan will be served from 7:30-9:30 p.m.

for more important things

p.m

Secretary - Elizabeth Rexon Treasurer - Chad Bentley

Class of 1990 (sophomores): President - Mike Harrington President -Blackburn

Secretary - Jennie Smith Treasurer - Chris Brower

The S.G.A. and the W.C.D.S

will again sponsor a Coffee and Doughnut Break in the Student Center every evening during exam week (May 4-8) at 11:00

I would like, at this time, to wish everyone the best of luck

on their exams and I hope you will all have a relaxing and en

Until next semester...MOM

Students Off To Manchester by Audra M. Philippon According to the College your advisor

all of us are anxiously counting down the days until classes begin again next fall...six sophomores have been selected to study at Manchester College at Oxford next year and won't be coming back to campus for more than a

Mona Brinkely, Ayn Hoyt, David Kelly, Bruce Danner, David Kelly, Bruce Danner, Tom Conaty, and Harvy (Mike) Hammer will spend their junior year at Man-chester. "Each fall Man-chester College officially in-Washington College to send several students over," explained Associate Dean Alice Berry who coordinates the abroad programs. Fourteen sophomores applied for the opportunity

WC has been sending students to Manchester since 1973, according to Dr. Bennett Lamond, who has studied there Mom's Cookie Jar himself

Students apply by writing a letter to the Manchester Committee, composed of the Dean and faculty members representing the history, representing the history, philosophy, English, music, and political science departments, and by submitting three letters of recommendation sup-porting their candidacy. The each candidate.

catalogue mended for the program are those whose maturity and in dependent motivation suggest that they will profit from the educational freedom of the Oxford tutorial system, as well as make a positive contribution to the life of this small, historic, cosmopolitan English college'

(p. 15) Berry points out that while "It's best to have a GPA of 3.0 or above," it is not necessary. She did say that the "tutorial system demands maturity and adaptibility."
"I'm looking forward to a different educational system where you're responsible for your own education — you're not spoon-fed over there," said David Kelly. In addition to the subjects Kelly will be able to study at Manchester that he is unable to study here, he looks forward to the experience as a whole: "How could you not be excited about spending a year England and traveling

While these students opted to study abroad their junior year, they usually are able to graduate on time. Berry warns any interested students to talk to their major advisor before with his or her adviso applying next year. "It's the will be sent in the mid first year of the major," she semester invit said. "You've got to talk to sophomores to apply.

The majority of students who go to Manchester are English or Philosophy majors, but Manchester has requested that WC send students with more varied interests. "You've got to pay attention to the tutorials being offered...for example, you're not going to be able to take any courses in a take any courses in Business Management," said Berry, even though Business majors have participated in the pro-gram in the past. Scheduling with your advisor is crucial.

To ease the potential re entry difficulties these Man chester students may feel com ing back to WC after their year abroad, a foreign correspon dent will be selected to keep the students up-to-date wit happenings on campus while they are away. The correspon dent will mail newspapers a College publications to the stu dent abroad and remind them of important deadlines like housing, registration, and course selection.

"It's a wonderful, wonderful ogram," said Lamond, one of the Manchester Committee members. Anyone intereste in the Manchester progra should discuss the possibilities with his or her advisor. Letters will be sent in the middle of fall

Ironstone Cafe

As this is my last article of will feature scrambled eggs, the semester, I'll try to keep it sausage links, and coffee cake.

236 Cannon Street Chestertown, Maryland 21620 301-778-0188

Tuesday-Saturday Lunch: 11:30-2:00 Dinner: 5:30-9:00 Sunday Brunch: 11:00-3:00 Closed Mondays

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

around the continent?

Could You Have Done Any Better?

not included, the heads of all of them were sent a letter in Oc tober regarding team and club pictures. It was then their responsibility to get back to us with a time to come and photograph them

As for all the pictures that went into the book, you all may want to read our introduction want to read our introduction to the book which we felt clear-ly stated the goals of this year's book — to show the changes in the school. The pictures themselves were taken approximately five dedicated people; one left school after the first semester. one forgot to put film in his camera for a major photo assignment, another could not be reached on a deadline night for dozens of pictures that she took, and I was forced to leave school early in November due to illness. This leaves one per-photo assignment we must jug-gle our hectic schedules around it. We also get people complaining when we cause a bright flash in a darkened par-ty room, or screaming "don't take my picture!" Consequently we are left with the photo hogs who only want their pic-ture in the book a dozen times before it could please them.

As for the editorial comments, they have a direct rela tionship to the lack of photos that we had. We therefore had to be a little creative to fill the

If you all feel that you could have done any part of the book as well, if not better, than we did, where were you at the first meeting? Or for that matter, any of the meetings there-after. Your help would have son, Mr. Tim Rohs, who work- been greatly appreciated at 3 ed very hard. When assigned a a.m. on deadline day. I am of a.m. on deadline day. I am of-fering to you three my position on the staff, your duties would be to take photos, write text, do layout, and design the cover and inside artwork, at a mo-ment's notice, due yesterday. If you feel that you can do this, I am sure that Mr. Rayanbakhsh would be more than happy to allow you all to fill my shoes next fall.

Sincerely, Bonniesue Weiser PS. If any of this stems from not being in the book, Mr. Weir, not being in the book, Mr. Weit-please note the bottom photon page 65 where someone is wearing a shirt with 'no fat-chicks' on the back. It is you!! remember because after flashing the picture, people gol upset with the sudden bright light, and as! recall, you low were one of those people.

If you're working on an advanced degree or graduating with at least a Bachelor's Degree before September 30, 1987, your local Ford Dealers will give you one more credit.

Instant pre-approved credit plus $400 cash assistance from Ford Credit on any of the cars below.* Use it to make your best deal on the car of your choice, or Ford will send you a $400 check after the purchase or lease. The money is yours whether you finance or not.

But hurry, if a vehicle is not in stock your dealer must order it before June 1, 1987. And you must take delivery by August 31, 1987. So take out a #2 pencil and check the right answer.

1, $8,500 pre-approved credit plus $400 cash assistance on Ford Escort

2. $9,000 pre-approved credit plus $400 cash assistance on Escort EXP

3. $10,000 pre-approved credit plus $400 cash assistance on Tempo

4. $10,000 pre-approved credit plus $400 cash assistance on Mustang

5. $14,000 pre-approved credit plus $400 cash assistance on Taurus

6. $14.500 pre-approved credit plus $400 cash assistance on Thunderbird

7. $9,000 pre-approved credit plus $400 cash assistance on Ranger

8. $12,000 pre-approved credit plus $400 cash assistance on Aerostar

9. $13,500 pre-approved credit plus $400 cash assistance on Bronco II

FORD'S COLLEGE G

The Elm Makes Its Sophie's Choice

tain candidate for political office; The Elm choses to support, instead, a candidate for the Sophie Kerr Prize.

We expect controversy over this new editorial policy. It is said that the prize has evolved into nothing more than a horserace, and perhaps that is so. Our team of investigative reporters did note that the Writer's Union was taking bets on the probable winner after the bets on the probable winner after the Senior reading last Sunday.

Others have dubbed the prize "Sophie's Curse," pointing out that previous recipients have been forced to turn to a life of chemical abuse as solace at buying into conventional capitalistic values. A few former winners appear destined to spend their

The Elm's Sophie Kerr candidate asked that we not reveal her identity: "I don't wan others to be intimidated by my talents," she said. "I need friends."

lives at decidedly non-literary writing endeavors, such as making up fillers for the yellow pages. Those interested in translation all too often find themselves translating ads for hem-morroid medications into Spanish for Nonetheless, each year students brave the possibility of the curse for a chance at glory and a minute or two on the five o'clock news.

The all-important part of the Sophie err quest is the portfolio of writing samples, which were due yesterday.

Hopefuls submit everything from poetry to journalism to senior theses for consideration by the selection com-

Legend has it that there is a "magic formula" for the portfolio, a recipe for winning; one poem about sex, two about driving along the highway, three about death, numerous others about the New York subway system poetry, a short story about war, and a partridge in a pear tree. As journalists, we at The Elm believe there should be nothing formulaic about writing, and condemn those who about writing, and condemn those who take this approach to the Sophie Kerr Prize. We wish to applaud, instead, a senior who we believe offers new in sights into the production of literature.

Her experiments with form and structure are highly interesting and suc-

young writer, for she truly is a writer in every sense of the word, is exceeded only by her modesty. She has allowed us to reprint a few of her poems with the agreement that her name be held confidential. The following samples of her work will make you laugh, cry, shout with sheer joy of being alive. Sophie Kerr The Sophie Kerr Prize is. . . Surprizing Ornery Phrustrating Happiness Invigorating Exciting Kompetition Earth shattering Real Rockin'

All these things and more!! A Season of Hair For my favoritest poet, Arthur Rambo Spring

In the time of spring your hair is all prickly on your head like new blades of green, green grass.

Razor sharp! Summer Summertime, and the trimmin's easy. You get a crewcut and your blonde hair is chlorine-green.

Autumn The leaves

Like flakes of dandruff. Winter

Like banks of white, white snow along Route two thirteen, piles of freshly fallen dandruff

Coley

Prize Candidate Inspired By New Jersey Highways And Stormy Knights

by Andrea Kehoe

Editor's Note: The following is an ex"dat" pencil in first grade, but most glocking in the Elm's enber work today is composed at the dorsed Sophie Kerr candidate. When Macintosh. "Sometimes it's as though our reporter me! with her to discuss the computer is telling me what to say.

she had just completed a sound cycle
the Adjust of a north a stan on the Adjust of a north a stan of the Adjust of the A our reporter met with her to discuss her art, life, and sexual preferences, she had just completed a sonnet cycle on the effects of acid rain on picnic tables, going three nights without sleeping or watching David Letterman. Eyes bloodshot, her hand trembled slightly as she stubbed out a cigarette.

She had the look of an artist who is truly committed. Indeed, her critics say she should be committed.

Overcoming innumerable obstacles, including simple lack of motivation, to become the first rate writer she is today, her story is an inspiration to all Few writers are as modest as this

"Sometimes people tell me that a of mine has touched them somewhere, changed their life even. I don't always believe that," said the senior poetess, who expects she'll feel "heart and pocket warmed" if she receives the 19th Sophie Kerr Prize at Commencement.
The New Jersey native said she is frequently inspired by the scenic beau-ty of her home state. "Exit 8-A is truly breathtaking. Highways make my blood tingle, and I try to convey that in Nature is indeed a pervading theme in her verse. In fact, it was an Arbor Day poetry contest in elementary school that began her career in literature. As she recited her winning entry, her eyes filled with tears of I see thee. Tree

You are so pret-tee You and Tree.

DON'T KILL TREES!

Ye Olde Towne Barber & Stylists

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Even today, she tries to write at least one tree poem a month. "Trees are, in a very real sense, the legislators of poetkind," she said.

on campus, however, hinder her from on campus, however, inter ter from being more prolific, and she admits to becoming somewhat aggressive when none of the computers in the library are free. "I've been known to draw blood,"

Occasional violent tendencies aside she is a true pacifist at heart, and aims her work at the promotion of universal brotherhood. "I write...to spread peace and love between men. I want the world and love between then. I want the word to be a better place." Her most recent campaign has been for clean silverware in the Dining Hall. She is well aware of the risks in holding such a position ("They've been sprinkl-ing something strange on my pan-cakes," she said) but feels so strongly about the issue that she must speak out. aided her by staging sit-ins after meal in the back of the cafeteria, albeit unintentionally.

She is, however, somewhat critical of her fellow student writers: "I don't think they take themselves seriousy enough. And more of them should write

The frequency and amount of he writing flows and ebbs with her hor monal level, she explained. She ha been particularly prolific lately, producing several volumes of verse Profound Things That Have Occurred To Me, About Ex-Boyfriends, and Dark and Stormy Knight.

The prize money will enable her to continue writing as she seeks publishers. She plans to venture into a new genre - that of satire - and hopes to entitle a book of essays Tongues Cheeks.

"If I couldn't write, I don't know what I'd do," she declared. As her fans we don't know what we would do

SUNDAY MASS Alumni House

5:30 P.M.

STEAKS . SEAFOOD . COCKTAILS

BUFFET EVERY SUNDAY 12-5 HAPPY HOUR - DAILY 4:30-6 AIR TAXI SERVICE AVAILABLE

SCHEELER FIELD

778-1222 CHESTERTOWN, MD. Rt. 213 & 291

OLD WHARF INN ON THE CHESTER RIVER

FOOT OF CANNON ST CHESTERTOWN, MD. 21620

301-778-3566

APARTMENT For Rent For SUMMER

One bedroom. Water Street

778-2943

Amity Bakery and Coffee Shop

Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies, ecial Occasion Cakes On Order

Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M. Lunch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

RESTAURANT

778.4771

Campus Groups Reveal May Day Plans

friends from high probably don't believe ashington College's way of oming Spring is, after all, ty unique. We just take off clothes and call it May Begun in the 1970's at the ak of the streaking fad, the much event earned the Cole national and international ia attention. It also earned distinction. It also carried would say, will expose opener student a stay in themselves." [Med County Jail for independent of the state e former student a stay in e Kent County Jail for inde-at exposure along Route 213. chend of the fire lane to prethe public roadways, ightening passing motorists of risking arrest for indecent osure. Students are advised ke Though bolder nudists roam igh dorms and other point of the festivities tionally comes the night of 1, when the unclothed few ride motorcycles and just the entertainment of the geristic many. Fraternity mbers compose the majori-of participants, in addition niors unafraid to expose mselves in their last days at ington College. ast year's celebration, med "hugely successful" by enthusiast, was publicized t-shirts sold by the class of and bolstered by the evenwarm weather. This because of the fighting the Luau last weekend prehensive exams norrow, no campus anizations will sponsor s, though the streaking will oubtedly continue, said president Chris Doherty. ill tonight's bacchanalian t? Below, some prominent apus groups tell the naked about their May Day

Elm: "The Elm staff will out in full force with their arches hanging low and wing in the breeze," pro-sed Editor-in-Chief Tom uster. "We're going to run the new editors up and down

Loving, Financially Secure Childless Couple Wishes To ADOPT lealthy White Infant

CALL COLLECT

301-461-1792 (After April 1) ANSWER OUR PRAYERS

Few Spare Hours? ceive/forward mail from me! Uncle Sam works rd - you pocket hundreds nestly! Details, send selfddressed, stamped

BEDUYA Box 17145 ucson, AZ 85731

high the fire lane ten times with believe their identities masked by way of issues of The Elm." Schuster also said the newspaper plans an invitation-only nude an invitation-only nude volleyball tournament. Kappa Alpha: President Chris Fascetta said he expects that some KA's will be among the May Day revelers tonight. "We do have a few who, I guess you would say, will expose

"I bet if somebody puts up a keg, 95 percent of our fraterniwill be buck naked," the Senior predicted.

Phi Kappa: "The members of our fraternity will be out there for sure," promised president Mark Buchier. Phi Sigma: East Hall is the land of exhibitionists, and the Sigs will bare it all today in a

Sigs will bare it all today in a library run. BYOB will replace the traditionally sponsored keg, in keeping with this year's policy. "People are welcome to come and take their pants off," said 1987-88 president John Bodnar.

SGA: As with last year, your elected officials in the student government will show some skin. Outgoing president Doherty plans to participate once again, and said some of the new members of the Ex-

there in a mask, but you'll know it's him because he's know it's him because he's really a redhead." Theta Chi: "We laugh at people who take off their clothes in the fire lane," said a Senior Theta. "We only expose ourselves for a select few. That (May Day) is a Sig thing to

The fire lane isn't the only place you'll see some flesh tonight. One junior said some action is planned for the center

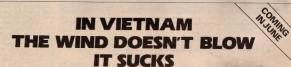

"There'll be a savage tribal poetry reading by George Washington where clothing is Skin. Outgoing president optional. Then afterwards Doberty plans to participate there'll be a massive water once again, and said some of balloon flight, to get everyone the new members of the Ex- in the moud to take their ecutive Board will join him: clothes off. It's to get the ball "Rich (MacKnight) will be rolling, so to speak."

He emphasized that the ac-tivity has not been officially sponsored by the Writers' Union, though he expects many of its members to bare it all.

"The freshmen this year are a sex-crazed lot," he said. "They're just dying for an excuse to take off their clothes, and they've heard all the stories about May Day."

Other literary folk will no Other literary folk will no Hay Day yolley bail game over at the Lit House.

Recalling his own naked adventure in Miss Dee's last year, junior Chas. Foster urg-ed, "Throw off society's restraints along with your

Stanley Kubrick's

FULL METAL JAC

WARNER BROS PRISONS STANLEY KUBRICK'S FULL METAL JACKE

MAFTHEW MODINE ADAM BALDWIN VINCENT D'ONOFRIO. LEE ERMEY DORIAN HAREWOOD. ARLISS HOWARD. KEVYN MAJOR HOWARD. ED O'ROSS SCREENING STANLEY KUBRICK MICHAEL HERR GUSTAV HASFORD BASED ON THE MORE GUSTAV HASFORD OF PROCESS PHILIP HORRS CHOCKEN JAN HARLAN PRODUCED AND STANIEY KHRRICK

SPORTS

to his Gallaudet opponent in Tuesday's match which Washington College added to

Crew Wins Harbor Victories

by Carter Boatner

WC's crews raced under almost all possible adverse conditions, including choppy waters and intoxicated race ofwaters and moxicated race of-ficials last Saturday afternoon in Baltimore. Despite these conditions several crews emerged victorious.

The Women's Varsity Four regained their winning form to capture their third victory this season, making them one of the most victorious crews in recent memory. In the beginning memory. In the beginning however it did not look promis

The women had difficulty lin-ing up at the starting line due to wind. Once at the line the judges who were to start the race neglected to notice that the other two crews were lined up unevenly, putting W.C. at a disadvantage against Trinity College and the Baltimore Rowing Club (B.R.C.). The rowers also could not hear the starting commands

The women approached a bridge 1,000 meters into the race and were cut off by Trinity, forcing the two crews to clash oars. Once out of the way, however, the race took on a different look as W.C. proarters of a boatlength over guarters of a boattength over B.R.C. The situation was dif-ficult to pull out of since the course had been shortened several hundred meters.

Becky Brown attributed the win in part to the 'outstanding' job done by first year coxswain Ayn Hoyt. The coxswain, as you may know, is the equivalent to a quarterback, and in situations such as last weekend when crews do not stay in their lane, the coxs-wain must hold the rowers, as well as herself, together to overcome situations. The race could have easily have been lost had the coxswain not retained her composure

The Men's Varsity Eight also Not surprisingly, W.C. fell won, giving the crew its first behind at the start, forcing the victory this season. It was an crew to row a "catch-up" race. easy win for the crew as they easy win for the crew as they boatlength of open water at the halfway point. The men were hungry and one boatlength would not suffice. Stroke Dean Kennedy then pushed on with two consecutive 'power-tens' to expand the lead to yet another boatlength, increasing the margin of victory to 11

The biggest surprise of the day was the overwhelmingly easy win by the Men's Novice Four and Eight. This marks the second consecutive victory for both crews. Both crews came off the line and establish-ed a lead at the start. In both races the opposing crews could not manage to put W.C. at a disadvantage before the finish. disadvantage before the finsn. The novice crews have not met any substantial competition so far this season. As first year rowers, "our only competition was the weather," said Pat Devine. This will change tomorrow when W.C. travels to Pennsylvania to race Bucknell. nnsylvania to race Bucknell. Colgate, Hobart, Franklin and Marshall, Susquehanna, and the Caliguria Boat Club

Women's Lacrosse

by Christine Wiant ing the best for last, Saving the best for last, women's lacrosse triumphed over Anne Arundel 12-4 in the final game of the Maryland College Tournament held last weekend. Everyone gave 100%. "The score shows we really played up to our potential," said co-captain Beth Matthews. Coach Guinan added, "the team played well and clicked as a unit."

The first four games of the Tournament, against Western Maryland, Frostburg, Goucher and Georgetown had ended in defeat for W.C., 8-3, 6-3, 8-2 and 7-3 respectively.
Against Division

Georgetown, the team proved itself to be a formidable opponent. "It was our best game the Tournament," sa said Guinan. Goalie Kathy Kilroy had 13 saves, while the team as a whole put up strong offensive and defensive fronts. The weekend was highlighted by the selection of Liz Whelan and Holly Dinning to compete in the U.S.W.C.A. South Tournament at Goucher College on May 9 and 10.

Softball

by Christine Wiant Softball season came to a close with an 11-6 victory over Wesley on Thursday, April 23 and a 12-11 conference win against Western Maryland on Monday, April 27. The Shorewomen clenched the conference win coming back from a 17-0 loss in the first game of the double header. The final game of the season on Tues-day, April 28 ended in a 12-2 Co-captain Jackie Langdon reflected on the season stating, 'Overall the season was a success. We came away with our first conference win in at least four years. The team really pulled together at the end of on, showing potential for next year.

SPORTS CALENDAR

Fri. 1

Tennis (men's and women's MAC Championships

Sat. 2

Baseball Drew, 1:00 p.m. Tennis (men's and women's) MAC Championships Crew (men's and women's) Cadle Cup

Wed. 6 NCAA Quarters

Fri. 8

Sat. 9

Crew Dad Vail

Sun. 10 Lacrosse NCAA Semi-Finals

Mon. 11 Tennis (men's) NCAA Tournament

Sat. 16

Lacrosse NCAA Final

Tennis (men's) NCAA Tournament

C-Town liquors 8 Deli

FEATURING: HOMEMADE HOT SOUPS

511 WASHINGTO AVE. CHESTERTOWN, MD 21620

778-2988

ROSES! STOP!!! Come In! For 2 weeks pick your own discount 5-10-15 or 25%. The one who buys the most in 2 weeks gets

50% Off Next Purchase

Rose's Furniture & Antique Shop

314 Park Row, Chestertown, MD 778-1522

KEEP YOUR SUMMER TAN WITH OUR SUNTANA SUN SYSTEM at

EMILY HAIRDRESSER Rt. 213 across from Bowling Lanes

Complete line of REDKEN & PAUL MITCHELL Full Service Salon

Call 778-2686

NHL Makes It Hard To Lose

love ice hockey, especially the playoffs. I have ever see the mid-seventies, when the Broad Street Bullies maped the NHL with concentive Stanely Cups. Those ere the days. Not that my sloved Flyers have fallen on the ground. They're still ough ground. They're still rimed for another Cup match ext month. Rather, the NHI voffs have fallen on the igh ground, and for the usual · money The National Hockey League ays an eighty game season hich, for all intents and pur-ness, is meaningless. Of the enty-one teams, only five do t make the playoffs. To miss u have to be awful. Or ar's Woeful Five - Vanouver, Minnesota, New tersey, Pittsburgh, and Buf-dlo. Their combined record is hefty 146 wins, 210 losses, and ties. Yet they were in the the season. Even getting rid of all those ecords still made the playoffs, ams barely able to stay above the magic 500. And with statem teams eligible for the different. What the sixteen teams eligible for the different with the sixteen team for-Philadelphia and Washington rear so that another third of a season in order to eliminate the six of a season in order to eliminate the six of a season in order to eliminate the six of the six of "The playoffs stretch from early April to late May, playing about another third of a season in order to eliminate the teams that shouldn't be there in the first place."

time when people care about begins. And it allows mediocre labor through their second learns to remain mediocre, as month, featuring lukewarm But then the expanded they are assured a little extra Detroit vs. Toronto match-ups.

But then the expanded they are assured a little extra Detroit vs. Toronfo match-ups. playoffs give everyone a shot income at playoff time by viration of the state of the stat

Division, and the number two and three teams could face off in a best of five series. Then winner, playoffs continue much as they do now. That's the way it was in the Broad Street Bullie days. Or with eight teams, the best or with eight teams, the best team in the league could play the eighth best team, the se-cond could the play the seventh, and so on. This would

by Bill Beekman

eliminate more than two weeks of lopsided contests and keep the playoffs competitive. Maybe even network television would take an interest in them. with series such as the Islanders-Capitals br seven game extravas nza, climaxing with a four period sudden death overtime thriller, becoming more commonplace than exceptional in NHL playoff hockey.

But the NHL would rather make a quick few bucks. So the playoffs leg on with too many teams and too many games. And too little interest. Hopefully the best two teams will sur-vive until the Stanley Cup finals, but with this format, all

Shoremen Roll Over W&L, St. Mary's

in front of a full capacity owd last Saturday, the ashington College lacrosse defeated Washington & e University, one of the mber one ranked teams in ision III, with a score of 12-9. is was the greatest home tory since the Hobart match o years ago. W.C.'s victory inched a playoff spot for the enth consecutive year, the th under current head coach Washington College came in force, jumping ahead in the stquarter by the score of 7-1. first it looked like W & L's berone raking was a hoax. the second quarter, wever, W & L proved this re goal burst, answered only a single W.C. score, and quarter the game seemed to be in a deadlock with both teams only managing one score only managing one score a piece. W.C.'s defensive unit, led by a strong performance from goalie Mark Mickum (21 saves) proved to be the decisive factor with W & L unable to get any open shots on the goal. Both teams managed only one goal in the third period. The pace quickened in the fourth quarter as W & L tried with no avail to pull ahead of the Shoremen. All W & L managed was a pair of goals and several air balls coming nowhere near the edge. The leading scorers were Paul Deniken, captain Mike McGuane, and Tim Hormes, the refusal to quit," said coach Corcoran. He went on to ex-plain that he has never had a season like this one. There were many young, inex-perienced players and injuries to compound the situation. Regardless of early season setbacks the team fought back through a tough schedule, injured players recovered, and the team has "come out on Prior to Saturday's game the squad practiced well and came into the game feeling like they would win. The key difference,

"Victory clinched a playoff spot...

said Corcoran, was the strong faced St. Marys College, en-years. The first round will be support of alumni players who ding regular season play. St. as hard as the finals."

reduced the difference to two, who had four, three, and two leaving a halftime score of 8-4. goals respectively. Squad prepare for what they compared to WC's previous open At the start of the third quarter the game seemed to be ton of a lot of hard work and the game. The schore was the game of the game of the game of the game of the game. The schore was the game of the game o ponents. The Shoremen relentlessly assaulted the St. Mary goal all day long. At the end of the first period W.C. was up by a score of 9-1. In the course of the game W.C. managed 17 more goals answered only by St. Marys' two. The final score read 28-3. Leading scorers were Matt Leading scorers were Matt Kelly, and Paul Deniken who had five, and four goals respec-tively. Mark Cavallaro con-tributed with a team leading

The team is looking forward to the playoffs, which Corcoran On Wednesday the Shoremen said "will be the toughest in avallaro prepares to take possession of the ball from a ton & Lee opponent in last Saturday's game.

One Stop Shopping

Suds 'n Soda Discount Beverages

Rt. 213 & Rt. 297 Chestertown, Md.

778-5077

Open 7 Days a Week

6 a.m. - Mid Beer 'Wine 'Liquor Hunting Licenses 'Ammunition

We Accept Mastercard/Visa * Gift Certificates Available

Prince Crowns Career With New Album

by Kelly Lamoree

Prince's newest effort, a dou ble album entitled, Sign O the Times, his first solo album since 1999, has been long awaited by fans and critics alike. Three albums and two films later, this album has been heralded as the one that could make or break Prince on the pop charts. Prince, though, will always have a cult following no matter what. It is this cult following that will be most pleased by his new work, for it sheds most of the philosophical and abstract material that Prince has been criticized for lately This album was arranged. composed, produced and writ-ten (except for two co-written tracks) by Prince. The result must be said to be a pure Prince product-more so than his work with the Revolution. "Return to innocence," is a phrase that could sum up the album, for it has the naive outlook found in Prince's early work. The term innocence, ap-plied to Prince's work, given his reputation for sexually explicit lyrics, incongruous- but it does fit this work.

The album parallels his early album controversy in that it begins with a title track that misleads the listener into thinking that this will be a socially conscious album full of angst and sugges-tions for the future. Later it evolves into something much more than that. "Sign O the Times" is a catchy tune, and the tone reminds one of his

in a Day (the follow up to Purple Rain) "Pop Life," with its cynical, "What are we coming to?" attitude

This idea of deja vu sets the for the entire album. Rather than wallowing however, Prince takes omewhere and makes it more than merely a collection of 'revised greatest hits." The ti ong is an excellent choice for the first track, assuring us that he will sing about things in this world that we can relate to, unlike his last two albums, which were so overloaded with ephemera that listening to them sometimes gives one the feeling of choking on whipped cream. He is back to what he does best- social commentary and partying. The sex music for which he became famous for, songs like "Do Me, Baby," from Controversy, is back, on-ly more controlled and effec-. The music is much more solid, with more guitars and percussion, and has a more

He does run into a few problems- identity crises -on the album. The first two sides are respectable enough, and he some very interesting things. Some tracks sound as if he has spent too much time with his protegee, Sheila E. Certain tracks, specifically 'Housequake," they belong on E's Romance 1600 album, which Prince had a hand in making. Even for a die hard Prince fan there are just too many "Shut up! Damn's"

asculine sound to it release from Around the World expected Prince to have done a weakest song on that part of the album, but things pick up afterwards. "The Ballad of Dorothy Parker," is a slick, haunting song which can sneak into the crevices of one's mind as the is certainly not pretentious. If anything, he is one of the most personal performers around today. He sings to one person, and that person is you. "You" and that person is you. "You" is a word he uses a lot and this provoking. This theme is a familiar one to Prince fans-is especially evident in songs such as "IT," which, in the tradition of "Darling Nikki," have strong percussion and evocative lyrics like "I Want To Do IT All The Time, All Right/Cuz when we Do IT, Girl, It's So Divine." At first glance these lyrics might seem to be the rayings of a semi-illiterate adolescent, but trust Prince – it's all in the delivery. Another endearing thing about Prince is that there are no false promises - he wants the girl and is up front about it. He is the more honorable for his honest propositions, even if some do consider them to be

The weakest spots appear when Prince works with writer "Starfish and Coffee, and "Slow Love" are rather startling to listen to, as the first us of a chant from Sesame Street and the latter of a Frankie Avalon tune. Prince should remember never to let anyone dabble in what he does he does it best on his own. "Hot Thing" suffers from com-parison to "Wild Thing" - a parison to real kicktune but too reminiscent of the latter for Forever in My Life," it is one of the most powerful tracks

The second half of the album is much much better than the first. He gets down to business reveling in Prince-ness. reminiscent of early works yet mproves upon them, making a definite step to progress. It starts out hard and funky with starts out hard and funky with perhaps the best song on the entire album, "You've Got the Look." Sheena Easton and Sheila E. lend help for this track, which is, again, the epitome of Prince, with good-natured suggestions for illicit activity presented in a week. activity presented in a very alluring manner. It is the kind of song that you will hum at odd moments, both happy and

Prince's compelling emotion that sex is nothing without love sespecially evident in songs and love is nothing without friendship. It has some really effective lines: "Sometimes I just trip on how happy we could be." After delving into a detailed description (also familiar to Prince fans) of what he would like to do to his beloved if things were fine, he simply says "And then we'd imagine what it looked like." This touch of subtlety ties it together better than any of his usual ex-amples of this genre, such as "Do Me, Baby," and "Interna-tional Lover." To some, he might have a dirty mind but he > throughout. Another nice track is "Strange Relationship," which is uplifting and hits home about relationships in many spots.

has good

'It is an album for those who most purists. But along with want a fun, funky eight year "Sign O the Times." and listening experience."

"If I Was Your Man" has to be the strangest song on the entire album, if not on several albums. It is so bouncy and uncharacteristically commercial that it actually sounds as if the members of Wham!, if not merely George Michael, were responsible. The idea of Prince and Wham! is jarring in any context. Taken just as a to it is still greatly entertains the dramatic situation is et The next song, "If I was the thoughts of a guy who laments that his beloved had left him, and wishes that they tively treated and once a gives us the Prince them Love is more important could have been friends. At sex," when he says, "I me be qualified for a one me stand/But I could never be first it takes some doing to straighten out the gender gymnastics, but when it becomes clear just what he is saving.

stand but I could never be the place of your man."

Also unlike what we en of Prince is "It's Going Tog, Beautiful Night," for which Revolution joins him. It sog like the Talking Heads and the song comes together beautifully. Despite being too consciously provocative at Human League took a Prince's body. Weird, but song is still decent, fast message. "Ado times, it is tender and thought rounds up the album nicely apotheosis of Prince: a s really serious love song

Sign O the Times has no the hocus-pocus we've red from Prince in the last years, and by returning t things he does best, usuall the manner he does it bes he makes a strong - dare say - comeback. He beyond what he has before trying new things w work in varying amounts. I an album for those who was fun, funky listening perience, and for Prince who are glad that the R tion now only does guest pearances. It is clear that in charge. Welcome back earth Prince.

Poet To Read

The Writer's Union will spor a reading by poet Camb Chickadel Sunday May 3, 2 p.m. in the O'Neill Liters

A native of Wilming Delaware, Delaware, Chickadei studied with poets Mo Peacock, Sam Hamill, william Stafford, and others. He has recenseveral awards, includity Delaware State Arts Cos Emerging Artist Fellowship reading grant from Poets Writer Inc., and an Ni Fellowship for the study modern poetry. He has been involved in the Artis He has a Educatin program for the Chickadel has publist poetry in many periodicals cluding The Washington lege Review (where his will appear again in the Si issue), Philadelphia Poels most recently, The Review. He is currently Director of Studies at Sp Creek Community School northwestern Montana.

The reading, entil explores relationships in unique Like Stafford's Chickadel's couches tens in simple language and nal settings that g metaphorical sigificance the poems develop.

A brief reception will fell the poetry reading.

Page 11

Metal Gods re Pretty Rusty

by Ken Haltom

e Cult was a group I had in. I believed in their chedelic-tinged rock. Their debut, Love, made me to grow my hair long. Its eguitars and vocals blend-together to create a type of and roll that no one else yed in 1986. But all that's

You see, the Cult wants to be tric, they've just about explished that goal. Poun-drums, boring three chord r ripps and a lot of rted grunts from vocalist Asterbury came together form a lot of half- metal I mean if you want to in produce it and try to it off as the real thing to fans who expect much experience needed. Write Cottage Industries, 1407½ nkins, Norman, Oklahoma 73069.

The songs on Electric just tually rocks where the other plain stink - you can't tell one tunes sink. from another. The Cult, once an original group creating im-

I'm sure The Cult meant well

Revenge Of The Rejects

Rejection. It's one of the few words that writers don't like. but it's one that they better get

To get student writers into the habit, the Writers' Union sponsored a Rejection Slip Contest during the Spring semester. The idea was that writers could send their poems and short stories to magazines, whose editors would review the work, and then either return or print it. Most of the time the self-addressed, stamped envelopes come home to Washington College with the rejected work inside and a lit-tle note inside. Whoever collected the most rejection slips would win. Published writers received nothing but fame. This weekend, at the

This weekend, at the Writers's Union Spring Gala, the winners of this contest announced. Senior Eric Lorber-er won first prize and $50 with stating their Metal Gods. To top stating a lot of leather, if to up or wan lited, prize and 80 with a stating their Metal Gods. To top is boring bunk: -my commate Michael Rudin won second it off, there's a Indeous cover of had to wake me up in the mid- place and $50 with his 1 rejection to be Wild' tossed in die of it. Despite all of its tions. The third prize was $10, with the rest of the murk, but I oudness and feedback, The three winners were: alum-admittedly, a good song. It as.

**Return of the murk with the state of the state na Mary Wood with 10, freshman Mary Riner with 4,

778-1575

Chestertown Movie Theater

POLICE ACADEMY

May 1-May 7

and junior David Healey with

Often the rejections were no ore than xeroxed paper slips. but sometimes editors wrote personal notes or rather strange rejections. Lorberer explains that one of his rejec-tions was a torn bit of paper with one word written on it—
"Sorry." "It was really funny," he says. "I even had to look at the postmark to see where it was from. I had no

Rudin's rejections also included a few odd notes. Many seemed to be personal reprimands for not buying more poetry magazines and books. One editor wrote: "...issues 6 & 7 are still in stock - I can't consider work til they're sold out. Each issue costs $3.50 + 85 postage - if you care." Another wrote: "Think about it. How many publications have you recently queried? Have you ever pur-chased a subscription from them? Have you ever made a donation?" Farming Uncle magazine sent him subscrip tion advertisements with slogans like: "Enjoy the good life... Homestead!" and "New Methods for Marketing Hay!" Still another magazine blacked out the return address on Rudin's SASE to prevent the ems from ever finding their way back to them

CONGRATULATIONS

TO THE CLASS OF '87 BEST WISHES TO THE STUDENTS AND FACULTY FOR A SAFE AND HAPPY SUMMER

THANK YOU FOR YOUR PATRONAGE IN THE PAST YEARS

BRAMBLES

"Traditional Clothes for Men and Women"

778-6090

With Our Tuition Loans, You Can Follow In The Footsteps Of Aristotle, Socrates, and Louie, Louie

College is a very fulfilling experience. You can stud the philosophy of the ancien Greeks. While learning the customs of the modern ones

But before you can continue to pursue these longoals, you'll need something more than eagerness. You'll need cash. And that's when we come in.

Right now, Equitable Bank has a variety of studer loans to help you through college. They're simple to apply for. Easy to afford. And in some cases, they don't have to be paid back until after graduation.

If you'd like more information on our student loans, mail the coupon below or give us a call.

Before you know it, you be wearing your graduation robes. Instead of your sheet

625-8079/1-800-433-

In Rationer-Meteodesa United editor-Rationer Art Please send more information about Equitable's Tration Lost

GIN EQUITABLE BANK Tighten Lean Department PO Box 17228 Boltmage, MIL 21203

Equitable Bank

Member Eli

The

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 59, Number 2

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, September 4, 1987

Student Affairs Faced With

Housing Crunch
By Tony Caligium

Despite the opening of Minta Martin, Student Affairs is finding demselves in the midst of yet andher housing shortage as all rooms or filled to capacity and hall lounges transformed into rooms for rooming freshmen.

The housing shortage is due in large part to the increased number of incoming freshmen and returning uperclassmen.

We can't always predict how any freshmen will choose to at ead when accepted," explained frein Coveney, Director of Admissions. As a rule, a greater numer of students are granted acceptance than choose to enrol. This yar, 799 applicans were accepted with 260 choosing to attend, making this the largest Freshman Class in History. In addition, more uper-deasen choose to return, bringing scal enrollment for 1987 to 849.

"a first priority was to keep all student housing on campus."

Dean Edward Maxcy of Student Affairs explained that a first plority was to keep all student bassing on campus. "Part of College life is having a chance to beome involved, and I think that sportunity is not as easy if students we boused in town," said Maxcy. I addition, it is the policy of Student Affairs not to house new studess off campus.

Because Student Affairs
Because Student Affairs
Wanted to keep all students on campus, several policies had to be implemented. Maxcy said that every residential facility will be

Housing students in lounges left many students waiting for furniture as in this Kent House Lounge where students have yet to receive closets.

Senator To Speak, Be Honored

by Tony Caligiuri
When Washington College offi-

When Washington College officially kicks off the new academic year at the Fall Convocation on Wednesday evening, September 9, it will be paying tribute to the fields of politics, engineering, and education

United States Senator Paul S.
Santanes (D-Md.) will deliver the keynote address, mechanical engineer Nathaniel Wyeth will receive the College's Award for Excellence, and Atlee C. Kepler '42, retired president of Hagerstown Communmity College, will receive the honorary Doctor of Letters

Sarbanes, a visible member of the Senbate Select Committee on Secret Military Assistance to Iran and the Nicarauguan Opposition, which recently questioned the principals involved in the Iran-Contra affair, holds an honorary degree from Washington College. Born in Salisbury, Maryland, he was educated at Princeton University, where he graduted magna cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa, and at Oxford University, where he was a Rhodes scholar. He grdauted cum laude from Harvard Law School in Sarbanes served in the Maryland House of Delegates from 1964 until 1970. During that time he was a member of the Judiciary Committee and the Ways and Means Committee. He served as a member of the House Judiciary Committee, Merchant Marine and Fisher Committee, and the Select Committee on House Recognization during his three terms in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Elected to the U.S. Senate in 1982, Sarabanes serves as chairman of the Joint Economic Committee and is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the Senate Cimmittee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs.

Nathaniel Wyeth, brother of Andrew Wyeth, was a senior engineering fellow at E. I. DuPont de Nemours & Co. until his retirement in 1976. Wyeth holds 23 patents relating to the use of processing of

Kepler began his teaching profession after his service with the Office of Strategic Services during World War II. He completed a master's program in student personnel administration at Teacher's College in Columbia and was later appointed dean of Hagerstown Junior College in 1953. Kepler was named President of Hagerstown Junior College and as the College continued by grow and prosper. Kepler's retirement in June 1986 prompted several citations and awards from several organization, including members of the U.S. Congress, Maryland Governor Harry Haghes, and the Maryland State Senate and House of Representatives. He has been named President Emeritus of Hagerstown Junior College, and the College thearte has been dedicated in his name.

He is an active member of the Washington County Free Library, and was a member of the Board of Trustees of the Washington County Hospital for 12 years. He is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Hagestrawn/Washington County Chamber of Commersce and the Board of Washington County Chamber of Commersce and the Board of Washington Kepler has also been active in several youth and church organizations.

Authorities Respond To Minta Martin, Assault

by Tony Caligiuri
The Chestertown Volunteer Fire Department responded at 10:45 p.m. on Monday, August 30 to reports of smoke on the second floor of Minta Martin,

According to students on the scene, the smoke was attributed to the detination of fireworks in one of the second floor rooms.

In a statement from President Cater's office on Tuesday, Cater announced, "Due to the serious threat posed by the incident [Tues-day] night in a room in Minta Martin Hall, I am invoking the President's authority to suspend summarily the two students most directly involved and in whose room the incident occured."

Cater further requested "that the All Campus Judiciary meet as soon as possible to review these two suspensions," and to reort its findings to his office.

According to page 29 of the stuyour marker by the President may summarily suspend a student from the College for a specified time, if in his best judgment such an action is necessary to protect the health and safety of the entire campus or any other member of the College.

According to the handbook, the All Campus Judiciary (ACJ) must meet within five days of the request. At the time of its report the President may either reaffirm or reverse his decision. It is noted that such a decision is the final voice in any judicial procedure.

In an unrelated incident on the same night, a twenty year old Washington College student was attacked while jogging on Campus Avenue.

According to a Chestertown

Police report, the female victim was attacked by a black male on Campus Avenue on the south end of campus. The identity of the suspected attacker, not a student at the college, was withheld pending investigation. The investigating officer was Sergeant M. C. Beck of the Chessertown Police Department.

New Assistant Dean Joins Administration

by Lynn Burris Included in the mass of unfamil-tar faces on campus this fall is Lucille Sansing, the newest memter of Washington College Administration as Assistant Dean of the College.

Sansing, originally from Massachasetts, received her undergraduace degree from Bates College in Maine. She later receieved a masters in Sociology at the University of Virginia and a Ph.D. at George Washington University in Washregion, D.C.

Sansing taught Sociology at Nonhern Virginia Junior Community College in Alexandria, VirUniversity. After 18 years of teaching, Sansing considered a Dean's position an intriguing and enjoyable change of pace.

Sansing said that WC reminded her of Bates College because of its size and warm atmosphere. "When I first came to the school it seemed deserted, but with the students now returning it has just recently come to life," said Sansing of her first impression of the the College. Sansing found student morale much higher at Washington College, compared to other large institutions ahe has attended.

At this point, Sansing is working to familiarize herself with the different academic programs on the campus. She has taken particular interest in several programs including peer advising and study abroad. Sansing said that in the future

she would like to be involved in the exapasisn of some special interest programs, such as the study abroad program and off-campus internships. Sansing points out the importance of exapnded study opportunities and feels that they will keep Washington College an attractive and competitive institution. "These days BA degrees are common, Students sometimes need more

OPINION

Editorial

SAFETY FIRST

A Washington College female is awakened in her room at night by a male voice. She quickly recognizes the uninvited guest as an acquaintance she has met just a few days before and her anxiety about the situation is soon alleviated through conversation. Eventually, she asks the visitor to leave, and he does

Fortunately, this scenario - one that did indeed occur at Washington College last week - was harmless. But other incidents on campus recently are more menacing, bringing the shadow of crime, something we mentally reserve for urban areas, to idyllic Chestertown. By far the most potentially dangerous incident was a physical attack and theft of female college student as she was jogging along Campus Avenue; the milder forms of this new crime wave were the thefts of a bicycle and a

Perhaps what frightens us most about such incidents is our lack of control, our realization of our powerlessness to prevent such occur rences. Though we cannot bribe the fates to keep us from becoming victims, we can practice common sense tips to increase the odds that we won't be easy targets

Nighttime travel should be curbed; when it is unavoidable, students should try to stay with a companion

- Despite the inconvenience, access to dormitory buildings must be kept limited; residents must resist the temptation to prop doors open to all others to enter

- Students should keep their room doors locked, even when inside. Two years ago the women's dormitories suffered a short term spate of intrusions from non-college students. With the amount of reconstruction and renovation underway here, strangers have ready excuses for their presence on campus

Safety at Washington College isn't an issue limited to the crosswalk or the waterfront. Making ourselves safe, to the extent that we can, simply involves the use of our own common sense

Work for The Elm

Writers Artists Photographers

Ext. 321

Washington College Elm Editors Editor-in-chief Andrea Keho .Tony Caligiori Features Editor Jennifer Harrison Arts/Entertainment Editor Sports Editor Bill Beckn Photography Editor Michele Balze Managers snaging Editor. ...Cathy Jeweli Advertising Manager Circulation Manager William Faus

The Elm is the official student newspaper of Washington College. The Elm i uublished every Friday during the academic year with the exception of vacations and es, letters, editorials and editorial cartoons represent the opinions of their authorises. and not necessarily of the editoorial staff.

All letters to the editor are read with intrest but, due to space ii itati

All letters to the editor are read with interest but, due to space I lettine, the editor cannot always public very letter received about me use the shericed. Usaigned interes will not be considered for publication. Students have lettine the content of the con

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SCC Support

To the Editor, As usual, summer was too short, and we find ourselves facing the Washington College grind. But, admit it, it isn't all that bad. For freshmen, a new world is waiting to be explored, for upperclassmen, old friends and new challenges await. and for members of the faculty and administration, both the college and the classroom provide opportunities for refinement and perfection. Each one of you has your own role to fill, as I have mine, but I must approach you because I need every individual on this on this campus to help me with mine. I'm talking about the Student Judiciary. If you do not know me already. I am Brenda Conner, Chairman of the sible. Student Conduct Council.

This year may prove to be a test year for the Student Conduct Council, considering the great controversics in which it was involved last year. It will be closely observed by nearly everyone, student, faculty, and administrators alike, and rightly so. Over the last several years, changes have been instituted in the system to improve organization, participation, and, most importantly, results; consequently, the progress for which its members have hoped is being achieved. The harder we work, the more we realize what improvements can be made, and input from anyone asso ciated with Washington College is of invaluable assistance

The latter is the reason for this open letter. The system CANNOT work with out you, every one of you. In order for the Student Judiciary to function smoothly and properly, it needs the cooperation and faith of the people of Washington College. I am determined to make it work, but I need you, too. Actions as simple as reading the campus regulations and the SCC procedures in your Student Handbook will help a great deal. Education is the reason you are here, so educate yourself on the Student Judiciary; it will only make your life easier. Attend the get to know the members involved and tell-us what you think. Suggestions and criticisms are welcomed. If you have a question or want to understand something more fully. ask me; I'll be eager to help you. If you have knowledge of an incident, report it and /or cooperate with the Security Officials and the SCC's investigators. If you are a bundle of energy, want to see things first hand, and be a part of the system's growth and improvement, fill out an application and enter the system directly. Even if your only contribution to the system is staying out of trouble, it will be heartily appreciated. My enthusiasm for the Student Conduct Council is unbounding, but it is my sincere hope that we have as little to do as pos-

My vision for the Conduct Council this year is an efficient, open, and respected organization. It will take hard work on everyone's part to achieve that goal. I see my most important role in the process as being an approachable and fair minded chairman with the concerns of both the individual and the campus as a whole in mind. We, as a community, can make it work, and we will all be better individuals for having done so. I look forward to working with you. Sincerely

Brenda Conner SCC Chairman

Hey NCAA: A Little Respect, Please

The 1987 NCAA Division III championship series started out in controversy and ended in one big question. Why did the Sho'men of Washington College have to travel to Ohio to battle for a spot in the second round of the series?

The controversy involved Cortland State being rated over Franklin and Marshall, but that is a horse of a different color. What concerns this writer is why the NCAA, who swears that they are periodic open meetings of the SCC; the toughest schedule in Division III, facing such schools as Nonh Carolina, John Hopkins, Navy, and Hobart. And they knocked off No.1

ranked Washington & Lee during the season

Washington should have had the home field advantage as Sho'men coach Terry Corcoran stated in a number of interviews " think its unfair. What it amounts to is that we, the No. 3 ranked team in the coaches poll, have to travel all the way to Ohio to meet the No. ranked team. We're right in the middle of exams, and its going to take our players away from exams for two days. Its very disappointing. We played the toughest schedule in Division III, and this is what we get as our reward.

That wasn't the only reward the Sho'men received. Ohio Wesleyan handed the Sho'men a 12-3 loss in Ohio and an early exit from the playoffs. Catching some of the Sho'men games, I'm sure they played to the best of their abilities. Still, one has to wonder. If the NCAA had a little more respect for the Sho'men, things may have turned out a lot differently.

> Sincerely. Thomas P. Jackson

House Freshmen in Tents on Kibler Field

Colleges all over the United States, I course, it can, but what sort of life for the dining hall; upperclassmen would eat earlier ments to pick it up. No packages. Coneges an over the Office States, 1 and recently in a newspaper, are experience people there? Living conditions such as those because they are older and get hungrier need received in a new spaper, are experience and atten-already described. To start with, a minor faster. They would also be allowed to stay as ag a rise in student enrollment and attention but still valid—the mailroom is not long as they wished, to make sure that their dence; we know into to be true at washington be college. Current figures place this freshman big enough: W-Z people have to have weird college. Current figures place this freshman big enough: W-Z people have to have weird little boxes in Central Services. It is too early class at 260, "the largest ever." Since I have heard this phrase "the to tell what will happen when people get used largest freshman class ever," every year since to the Dining Hall; one can only think of the arrived in 1984, it would appear that the riots in the streets during the French Revolu-College population is coming to resemble tion. Parking is a nightmare, to say the least.

College populations is coming to Resemble. Most importantly, with this huge any uncorrollable and worst of all, pog. influx of students, we are not getting the good of a terrifying potential to were Washington College described to us in the be taught at night. It would climinate the could be living on boats on the Chester, with catalogue and the one that we are used tohavo The changes wrought by this huge the one that we pay more than $12,000 a year freshman class are evident, more so than any for. In addition to the hideous life-style year so far. Even last year, with Minta Martin forced upon many students, classes are closed, we didn't seem to have the situation larger. That is very important; after all we are that is evident. At this moment I look out the here obstensibly, for an education. Many gindow toward Caroline Dorm, and I see people came here because of the enticing forty-five people needing information or the cars parked in the driveway and on 213. In student-faculty ratio; even with an increase in most dorms there are students living in number of faculty, there are problems.

lounges, in common rooms, some of them three to a room. Sometimes I stop and wonder of them are rather likable so we'll keep them if this is college or something akin to boot around with any luck. How we shall deal with camp. The analogy has always been there, but the problems caused by their presence is the with people all but stacked one on another-question. The answers?

with people at tour state of the state of th We all know of the charter which with A-L may eat in the dining hall on MWF, to help the world." These students should not states that there may be no more than 800 and those who are L-Z may have TTh plus a be in college—they should be with the Salvastudents here; we also know that it was writ- day of their choice. Weekends and turkey tion Army. A screening process for this sort ten centuries ago. The fact remains that this dinner nights should be by reservation only. of thing should be established. college-as it stands today-is not equipped Using this plan, during the week freshman to handle much more than that. Literally, of would eat from 6:00pm to the closing of the piece of mail per week. They make appoint-food digested properly, or that they had had enough before moving on to study for Comps and all of those other horrific things. Classes: all freshman classes would irritation of upperleassmen disturbed by week-night drunken antics, would make the campus quieter while the classes were in session, and the library could be used by freshmen mainly during the day, to eliminate the confusion and noise than can occur with same book at the same time. Courses like Creative Writing would develop a new crite-So we have the class of 1991; many rion for entrance; that particular one would only be open to students who have never been known to write or utter the phrase, "not only do I hope to earn some meager income from my writing, but through my trilogy about

Mailroom: Freshmen are allowed one

Parking: No cars for freshmen. No bicycles. No tricycles or scooters, or airplanes. Freshmen need to build up their bodies and get healthy for the long haul in the coming three years. The best way to do this is exercise and hardy living. (see below)

Housing: During the spring months, and early fall, freshmen will live in tents on adequate protection from the elements, of course. A big dorm could be built and freshmen could be housed in that, but that idea may be a bit extreme for some tastes. Following the example set by the Summer Conference program, the dorm could be a place for parents of seniors to stay during Graduation Weekend

Miscellaneous: Freshmen should have daily room inspection, fashion instruction and an etiquette seminar.

If implemented, these modest proposals could make life a bit easier around here. The trick is controlling "The Blob." It's nice to have around, until it crowds everything out. We like our freshmen-they're part of our past, present and future. Let's keep them, but also let's find a way to make life bearable.

Kelly Lamoree is a senior majoring infart.

ISSUE:

How should the administration handle Washington College's increased enrollment?

Eddie "Cutback" Harris Junio Aukland, New Zealand The administration should rent houses off campus, because I need a place for myself, my board, and my dog Gunner.

Campus Voices

Rob Alexander Senior Bethesda, Maryland "The faculty and administration should decide whether they want to expland, remain, or reduce the rolls of the college. If they decide to expand, them they should make the adequate modifica-

Darby Clarke Freshman Baltimore, Maryland

"I think it would be a good idea if they decreased enrollment by making the admission standard more competitive."

Liz Whelan Senior Summit, New Jersey

"For the facilities they have, they're doing the best they can. But, if this is a continual occurrence, they should consider building a ne dorm."

Leigh Mendelsson Junior Philadelphia, Pennsylvania "I think it would be a good idea if they decreased enrollment by making the admission standard more competitive."

by Susan Stobbart

Enrollment Management Is A High Priority

As the 1987-88 College year begins school graduates have not proven to be an a number of questions related to enrollment growth and enrollment management are being thrust upon udd. In the past year the Strategic Planning Committee has focused its deliberations on the issue of what should be the enrollment objective for Washington College and the Committee concluded that ollment should be held as close to the 1986-87 level as possible until key growth onsiderations could be studied further. It is slear that Washington College in recent years as been "bucking the trend" of declining enrollment being experienced by many col ges across the country. The demographic projections based on a declining pool of high entirely accurate prediction of enrollment outcome at Washington College. It is suggested recently that a major unanticipated variable is that a larger percentage of the Gene declining high school graduate pool is electing to enter College. Also, we enjoy an improved retention of our upperclass student body. This phenomenon requires careful examination in forecasting future student enrollment.

Hessey

Another major question is the impact that our increased enrollment is having on student housing. Although no final housing report for the fall semester is yet available there is concern that students on campus are housed in lounges and other spaces not designed for student occupancy. It is hoped that this situation can be relieved in the next few weeks to some degree. In the longer term the objective must be to avoid using such spaces and return lounges, study areas, and storage facilities to their intended use. Several potential solutions need to be examined. Among these are expansion of off-campus junior year abroad and internships, portable modular housing units, assessment of designed room capacities, off-campus housing availability, examination of academic interest and fraternity housing policies, and the reconciliation of student desire for single room occupancy under the present pressure of increased demand for on-campus residential space. A review of these areas holds some promise of relieving the present occupancy pressure in residence halls.

Management of the enrollment at Washington College will be given the highest priority in the on-going planning process and a key component of the enrollment management effort will be to provide a residential capacity on-campus that is consistent with student demand for housing and the design of the residential facilities available. Hessey is the Vice President for Finance.

On Campus Employment Offers Opportunity

by Ben Jacobs Washington College offers many great employment opportunities for students to earn money without the need to leave campus. Wether on financial aid or not many departments are looking for responible students who have a few hours a week and who need a few extra dollars One of the areas on campus offering the widest variety and num ber of jobs is the Admissions Office. Among the available positions are openings for twenty to thirty guides to give campus tours to prospective students. According to Director of Admissions Kevin Coveny, they are looking for "good campus citizens, both academicly and socially, who are dependable and enthusiastic." In addition to the tour guides there are also openings for overnight hosts for prospective students

Coveny also stated that there is "tremendous need" to help with the mailings that the Office of Admissions sends out in response to the almost 10,000 inquiries that the college receives. In addition to mailings, as many prospectives as possible are also contacted by phone, for which many students are

The Admissions Office also hires 1-3 recent graduates to work as admissions officers, in order to aid in the recruiting The library also offers a variety dent managers in the Coffeehouse.

interested students. The jobs en tails working at the front desk, in the back office, or doing shelving. No experience is necessary but according to William Tubbs, they are looking for "responsible, intelli-gent people." Interested students library as soon as possible since the openings are filling quickly. The Dining Hall is another area Cohen also holds an M.F.A. from of campus ripe with job offerings. Students working in the dining hall pick their own days and shifts to fill openings in the dishroom, serving should speak to Mrs. Slagel at the line and snack shop According to Sharon Crew, Supervisor of the Dining Service, interested students should be available for either breakfast, lunch or dinner. There are around twenty openings and the dining service is willing to train. Service is the catering service. Openings include waitressing and bartending positions. Interested students should speak to the catering manager.

The Coffeehouse is also "looking for a few good people." According to manager Jeff DeMoss "they must be able to handle peer students age 21 and over to work the bar as well as positions for those under 21 to work in the arcade. All interested should speak to the stu-

College Welcomes New Faculty

Not only did Washington College welcome 260 freshmen this week but also seven new faculty members. Two full time and five part time Professors will be joining the college faculty Dr. David Cohen and Jean G. Marlowe will be joining the English department. Cohen, a graduate of Suny College at Osivego studied theatre, English, and writing arts.

American University and a soctoral degree from Suny Buffalo. Jean G. Marilowe will be teaching part time this year. She holds a bachelor's degree in English from the University of, North Caolina at Greensboro, a master's of Business Administration from Bahcock School of Management at Wake Forest University. Marlowe lectured in the College writing program at American University Also connecting with the Dining where she also did some freelance writing and editing in Washington.

D.C Alice E. Reagan and Dr. William Burr are joining the history department on a part time schedule. Reagan, a previous University Historian at North Carolina State is a graduate of SUNY in Albany and holds a Master of Arts from North pressure." There are openings for Carolina University. Reagan was also editor of Maryland Historian. and associate editor of SOUTH-ERN HISTORIAN.

Dr. Burr comes from the Oral History Research Office of Colum-

former U.S. government officials concerning U.S.- Iran relations from 1945-1980. He aquired his bachelor's master's, and doctoral degrees from Northern Illinois University. Burr has published articles. columns, and reviews in In These Times, Notable American Women: Supplement, featured his article on Rose Hum Lee Dr. Karen E. Zak, an assistant Professor of mathematics comes to Chestertown from the U.S. Naval Academy, where she taught since 1979. She attended the University of Massachusetts where she acquired her bachelor of science, Master's, and doctoral degrees.

Joining the business department, George Wendelburg will be teaching part time. Wendelbyurg graduated from University of Delaware, aid earned his M.B.A. at Temple University. He has taught accounting, finance, statistics, and business math at Northeastern Junior College and Delaware State

During the fall semester Ursula Myslinski from Switzeland will be teaching German. Myslinski graduated from University of Maryland, completed the teaching Proficiency Institute at Middlebury College Language School. She earned her Master's degree from Middlebury's German Language School. Myslinski has taught both French and German

In addition to new faculty, to new administration members hired since last spring Karen Perkinson has been nam Campus Special Events Coordin at Washington College in Chess town, with additional responsibility ties in the area of sports informati Perkinson, who graduated from the CDollege in 1984 with a major in economics, was previously enchinese-American Sociologist ployed in Washington, D.C. as a economic analyst with Fannie Mae As campus Special Events Coor dinator, Perkinson's main responsi bility will be to serve the needs of the College community in Bringing speakers and guests to campus. Sh will provide administrative support for campus special events, and in the area of sports information, will assist members of the athletic andcoller relations departments in compiling and reporting game statistics.

Diane Landskroener, of Rock Hass, has been named Assisten Director of College Relations at Washington College in Chester-

Landskroener, formerlu assistan manager of the Washington College Bookstore, is reponsible for overseeing the development and production of all campus publications which are circulated off-campus, nity on a monthly basis Landskroener, a 1976 graduate of the College, earner her master's degree in psychology from WC in 1981. staff in July 1985, she was

PEOPLES BANK

An Independent, Community Bank

Main Office Chestertown High Street - 778-3500

Washington Ave. Chestertown 778-5500

Branch Offices Rock Hall 639-2233

> Galena Branch 648-5681

> > Member F.D.I.C.

New C-House Policies

We're not conducting a hard police action... our first priority is not to make money, but to be a service to bracelet drinking in the Coffee- alcohol is being served and will be house will be carded and if under available to take comments, sug-

"We are sinply trying to be more police action," said Stenger, who age, will be asked to give up their gestions, or answer questions.

by Mike Jenkins this year in the Coffeehouse as Mark Stenger, a 27 year old transfer from Western State College became the new student manager. feehouse. Students wishing to pur- said Stenger. hase alcohol must show some form of I.D. stating their age. When gissors. Once the bracelet is on, the ordent may buy as much beer or wine as desired.

In addition, anyone without a efficient in enforcing past policies,

said Stenger. He said that past poli-

'coffee nights" in the C-House on Several new policies took effect Monday and Wednesday will be

Stenger said he expects no problems with students or employees in enforcing the policies. "I trust the A colored wrist bracelet is the students and I have a real good crew most visible new policy in the Cof-"Students can still come down thown, they will receive a bracelet ing," said Stenger, who expects a which can only be removed with good crowd this weekend. According to Stenger, lately business has been "pretty good."

Coffeehouse almost any night that added, "Our first priority is not to make money, but to be a service to

"We're not conducting a hard

Stenger said that he will be in the

The Washington Collegian Is Coming September 30

INTERESTED WRITERS, PHOTOGRAPHERS AND ARTISTS CONTACT TOM SCHUSTER AT 778-1332

Stam Drug Co.

215 High Street Chestertown, Maryland 778-3030

- · Vitamins Cosmetics
- · Russell Stover
- Candy · Soda Fountain

Used Furniture For Your College Needs

Sofas, Chairs, End and Coffee Tables, Desks, Lamps and Much More.

Crowding's Store Rt 297

Four Miles North of C-Town Worton, Md.

778-0389

Visa/Mastercard Accepted

students.

alcoholic beverage

Welcome

Washington CollegeStudents

Open Daily till 6:00 p.m.

OPEN SATURDAYS 8:30 a.m. - 12 p.m.

SECOND NATIONAL

Federal Savings Bank

5.5% Passbook Savings

Next to campus across from Cullen Dorm

Savings insured to $100,000 by FSLIC. Over $775,000,000.00 In Assets

Sansing fills Dean's position

be there, and listen. I want to bridge

the figurative gap between administration and students," said San-sing. She says these are learning months for her, and she will be cautious about understanding be

Her goal is to foster a "working relationship" among faculty and fore she acts.

continued from page 1 variation than 4 years on the eastern shore. Increased study opportunities also make resumes more appealing for future job prospects," said Sansing Although Sansing has taken a Dean's position, she still maintains an interest in the classroom. Sansing will offer a spring semester course in Sociology on family violence. She would like to instruct a course in public policy "to answer the geustion that so many students ask, 'What do I do with a Sociology students, and to be known as a person, not a title Said Sansing, "I used to be scared of people like me. I would like it to be easier for people to see me as a real person. And this is only major besides a social worker? easier if I'm visible and out of the Sansing hopes to be accesible building

Assistant Dean Lucille Sansing

Students Living In Lounges

continued from page 1 used as designated. Every single, double, and triple is filled to its designated capacity. Although singles take roommates. chapter rooms were transformed which are the smallest on campus, the lounges of Kent House began as triples but have now been designated as double occupancy rooms. Maxcy said that although some rooms are crowded, he has received a high degree of coopera-

According to Maxcy, the most pressing problem facing the Stu#### dent Affairs is finding furniture for avoid the related problems Mom's Cookie Jar paid for by the W.C.

Well, here it is again, the start of another academic year. On behalf able at the W.C.D.S. There are of the W.C.D.S, I welcome each positions available in the dishroom, and everyone of you to campus. The W.C.D.S. is looking forward to serving and assisting you throughout the year. Please fell free to stop by and talk with us, if you have any meal related problems or questions.

The W.C.D.S is again the proud recipiants of two national food catered functions. If you are interservice awards, presented by the National Association of Colleges and Food Services (NACUFS) this past July. The awards presented were FIRST PLACE in Residence Hall Dining Standard Menu and Until then .... MOM SECOND PLACE in Catering the increased number of rooms. He said that although all furniture has been ordered some won't be available until late this week. Maxcy many traditional singles were tran- added that such items as beds and formed into doubles, Maxcy said other living essentials have been that tried to avoid making seniors in first priority and have now been installed in every room. Several In addition, almost every students have complained due to lounge except those used for greek lack of such items as air conditioners, desks, closets, and dressers. into triples. Kent House lounges, especially those students living in

According to Gene Hessey, Vice President for Finance, The Committee for Stategic Planning has taken the growth of the college and subsequent housing problems as one of their highest priorities in order to monitor college growth and

There are numerous jobs availon the serving line, and attendant is needed for George's Snack Shop. If anyone is ionterested, please stop by and talk with Mrs. Sharon Crew. Mr. Jester, Catering Manager is lookign for waiters and waitresses, bartenders and attendants to work ested in working catered functions, event will give you an opportunity to meet the management staff of the Dining Servic. Look for this article each week

Commencement, Sophie Kerr Awards

Sophie Kerr Award Susan De Pasquale

George Washington Medal Susan De Pasquale

The Wall Street Journal Award

Arthur A. Knapp Prize

Stewart Drama Award

Writers Union Award Paul Henderson

Sociology Department Award

Heldi Collier Emil Hildenbrand Medal Susan De Pasquale

Joseph McLain Prize

Congratulations.

1987 graduates.

Grand Marshal Ermon Foster leads the senior class to the ceremonies for the 1987 commencement exercises.

"Brambles"

TRADITIONAL CLOTHING FOR MEN & WOMEN

335 HIGH STREET CHESTERTOWN, MD 21620

PHONE (301) 778-6090

The Deans of Washington College

by Jennifer M. Harrison

Dean Elizabeth Bae

Dean Elizabeth Baer As Dean of the College, Dr izabeth Baer is responsible for the demic progress of the college. Her ces is on the faculty: hiring, tenure, and motions, but she deals with all proc-ses which aid students and faculty Dean Baer's relations with ats are divided into three categories the classroom as an English professor has the opportunity to become familiar it a small group of students and she feels

an Lucille Sansing

"just delighted to get back into the classroom." The Dean also interacts frequently with students of responsibility, like those on the SGA, and committees. She sometimes meets with students on a one to one basis in order to resolve a problem

In the two years Baer has worked for the college she has been impressed by the students: "They take a real responsiblility for their education." In August of 1985, Baer came to Washington College from Sweet Briar College, where she served as Associate Dean. Prior to that she taught English at Dartmouth College. She earned her bachelors, masters and PhD in English from Manhattanville College, New York University, and Indiana University

Baer lives about a mile from the college, uniting her career and social lives. Her husband Clint also works for the college, and her daughter plans to attend this year. Dean Baer finds Chestertown to be a nice environment in which to live and work and raise a family

Baer stresses the importance of staying both academically and physically active. She runs, swims and bikes through out Kent County. She feels it is necessary to work hard and to stay fit, even though some things have to be left out. She says, "I never watch TV ... or cook."

Dean Lucille Sansing

As the new Associate Dean, Dr Sansing has a great deal of work cut out for Her most important area dealing with students is her work with the faculty advisor and peer advisor programs which give students guidance in both course planning and social adjustment. In addi tion, the Associate Dean is known for handling the "other Dean's List" for students on academic probation. She serves as help for students on AP, near it, or recently removed from it to get back on

Sansing hopes to be as available to students as much as is possible, and has an open door policy in her office in Bunting Hall. She plans to be visible on campus by eating in the dining hall and attending athletic and art events. In addition, she looks forward to teaching sociology in the

Dr. Sansing received her PhD from the George Washington University, where she taught sociology as an associate professor. She comes to Washington College from a position as a full time professor at Northern Virginia Community College.

After her first weeks at Washington College, commuting from Kent Island, setting her new office in order, and getting ready for the return of the students, she is ready for the semester to begin. "The real business starts now," she said

Dean Maureen McIntire As Dean of Students, Maureer Kelley McIntire deals with anything related to out of the classroom life. She works closely with a whole group of students: the resident assistants, peer advisors, the fraternities and sororities, and those that wander into her office in Bill Smith. This gives her a sense of each student's individuality. Involved with all students on a casual basis, she keeps an open door policy in the office. According to the McIntire, "We try very hard to get to know as many students as we can as quickly as we can.

Living nearby, McIntire's social life intertwines with her career. She sees her life and job as one entity, almost impossible to separate, and feels this unity has never had a negative impact. In fact she enjoys being aware of young people's tastes and views, and says she sometimes feels she has never left college

When McIntire came to Washington College she had just received a masters degree in psychology at Ohio State. Her undergraduate studies were completed at Southern University of New York in Plattsburg. Though her original position at WC was assistant dean for women, over time the position changed and she became Dean of Students. She finds it interesting that the ages of the students she works with never change, but her age does

Even after her years as an administrator, the Dean is always struck by how important college is, how it changes one's life during the period a person changes from a teen to an adult. "I wish I could get the message across to freshmen... college has to be more than a good time, the whole course of the rest of your life is changed by it. Take my word for it, get involved as soon as you can - don't blow it off."

> Dean Edward Maxcy Associate Dean of Students

Edward Maxcy begins his eleventh year at Washington College this year. He works side by side with Dean McIntire, sharing most responsibilities and trying to be as available to the students as possible

Maxcy, who is also college advisor to International Students, presently lives in Chestertown, transplanted from his original home in New Haven, Connecticut. He studied English and Economics at Rolland College in Winter Park, Florida and continued his education at Southern Connecticut State in New Haven

Maxcy relates with students in a variety of ways. He considers the Student Affairs office a place to come to start working on a problem, a place to provide information to the student. In addition to working with students in the SGA, fraternities, the RAs and students needing counseling or discipline, Maxcy interacts with tudents through the athletics and the arts. He also teaches one class of Forms of Literature and Composition each semester since teaching is his first love he enjoys the opportunity to become familiar with students on a different level.

Edward Maxcy is interested in college and community relations. He 960 titles of magazines Greeting cards & wrapping paper

Newspaper reservation accepted

Dean Maureen McIntire

"college is more than a good time ... the rest of your life is changed by serves or has served on a number of town committees and sings in a local choir. He says, "One of the greatest assets for students and faculty is the town and the people who live here."

Dean Edward Maxcy

one 301-778,19A

FORNEY'S JEWELERS

106 Cross St. Chesterlown, MD 21620

CHESTERTOWN NEWSSTAND 313 High Street Chestertown, Md. 21620

> Open Mon.-Sat. 7:00-5:30 Sun. 6:30-1:30

Amity Bakery and Coffee Shop

Donuts, French Loaves & Italian Breads Rolls, Pies, Cookies, Special Occasion Cakes On Order. Breakfast 5 A.M.-11 A.M. Lunch - Soups & Sandwiches Kent Plaza, Chestertown 778-2228

Chestertown's Quietest Season: Students Continue Working

More frequently in recent years, Washington College students have chosen to forgo a summer away from the campus and have remained to work at the college in various capacities. Among the places of employment in the summer months are the Miller Library, the dining hall, and

In the Dark, which she had drafted in the spring. She found the environment on campus in the summer to be conducive to writing: "It was a lot like living in a mountain hut because it was so isolated, so I suppose the absence of conventional thought forced me to develop my own unconven tional world." Witnessing the growth of the new Literary House worked as a counselor for the high school and junior high school aged students from June 26 until August 8. According to Mike, the duties of a counselor are much like those of a resident assistant, except that the students on the hall are not college age and therefore require greater attention and stricter control. The Apple Conference. which took place on June 11-13.

the Apple Conference.

In years past, students who did summer work at the college lived on campus, usually in Reid Hall. This summer, however, Reid Hall was closed for renovations, so students were relocated off campus to apart ments on High Street and Queen Street, Kelly Lamoree commented that having each student live in a separate aparatment made the ocial life rather "splintered", and Bill Beekman noted that students were more "detached and not so much a community crew as before," In spite of the loss of unity in the social life, it seems that most of these students found the experience of living in Chestertown in the summer months and working on campus be quite interesting in many respects and, in some cases, qui rewarding.

In the future, Jeff DeMoss, assistant director of the Washington College Dining Service and in charge of sum housing, hopes to house student workers in one of the Hill dorne once again creating unification among the students. Former off. campus summer residents, like Lamoree, look forward to being campus once again to avoid the trek to the college in sweltering summer heat. The summer conference program at Washing ton College continues to expand thus giving even more students opportunity to choose Chestertown as an environment in its quietest season.

Junior Rob Simms continues his summer job in the Computing Center

the Computing Center. In some ways life on campus in the summer is much like it is during the class year: the hours can be long, and, of course, the settings are quite familiar. A summer on campus, however, does offer many students a somewhat different way of life than they experience in the academic year, as well as greater opportunity to undertake various projects for themselves of for the college Senior Kelly Lamoree is one student who has found summer work on campus to be quite rewarding. For the past two years, she has spent her summer working in the Miller Library and at the Literary House, performing tasks ranging from typing propos als for the Psychology Department to organizing the Literary House paperback lending library. In her spare time, Lamoree was occupied with revisions of her novel entitled porch was an interesting aspect of the summer for Lamoree who was also present for the building of the Literary House stage the previous summer. She remarks that "every summer I see a new part of the House grow, at the same time my own projects are expanding."

Junior Bill Beekman who has worked in the dining hall for the past two summers, found time to work on his novel The Children's War in spite of a hectic work schedule, often totalling 50-60 hours each week. Beekman also works in the dining hall during the academic year, and he claims that the dining hall in the summer is actually busier and that "the food is much better."

Two of the many summer events that kept Beekman and the rest of the dining hall workders quite occupied were the Gifted and Talented Center and the Apple Conference. Senior Mike Rudin brought a great many college representatives and Apple employees to campus for demonstrati and seminars on the uses of computers at Washington College. Junior Michele Balze was one of a small group of students who returned to campus to prepare for the Conference, conduct tours, and Chestertown to coincide with the answer questions for the visitors Balze said that one of the most interesting aspects of the conference was the Apple network demonstration, which was a tryout for the system that the college plans to use more extensively in remained on campus for the entire summer to work in the Computer Center, primarily on programming projects. Simms also helped-other Washington College students in developing a step by step manual for using the Macintosh, and he took part in the preparations for the future.

Junior Rob Simme

Tour Chestertown

The eighteenth annual "Candlelight Walking Tour of Historic Chestertown" is scheduled for Saturday, September 19, 1987 from 6 to 10 p.m. Sponsored by the Historical Society of Kent County, the tour includes fourteen architecturally significant houses and buildings, most of which date to the eighteenth Chestertown, county seat of Kent County, Maryland since 1706, is a gracious old town facing the Chester River. It was the busiest port on Maryland's Easternshore throughout the eight-eenth century. Prosperous merchants and ship owners built handsome houses along the river's edge and enjoyed an elegant lifestyle. One evening each year, the whole town steps back in time to view life from a colonial perspective

There are a number of other special events scheduled in

Candlelight Tour including a weekend-long display of antique yachts at Kibler's Marina at the foot of Cannon Street, an art sho and sale in the kChestertown Park all day Saturday, and a book sale in front of the Chestertown Library beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday morning. Tickets for the 1987

Candlelight Tour are $15 per person for the general public, $13 per person for members of the Historical Society of Kent Cour and $10 for students. They may be ordered by writing the Histor cal Society of Kent County, P.0 Box 665, Chestertown, MD 21620. For information, call 778 3499. On the day of the tour, tickets will be on sale at two tick booths in downtown Chestertow The tickets will include a descrip tion of each house on the tour at a map. An unlimited number wi be sold

The President and Visitors and Governors of Washington College

cordially invite you to FALL CONVOCATION

Wednesday, September 9, 1987 at 7:30 p.m. Daniel Z. Gibson Fine Arts Center

Speaker: Senator Paul Sarbanes

Coley

Charlie Laura Audra

A & P Parking Lot Chestertown, Maryland 21620 WELCOME BACK

- Salurda

Austin Carpet 778-4656

Rt .213 North Chestertown, MD 21620 Across from Airport

1 Mile North of Chestertown CARPET REMNANTS ALL SIZES  CINDERELLA formal gowns for rental or sale

Located in Scotties Shoe Store

ew Athletic Director Miller Full of Big Ideas

by Bill Beekman

itive and upbeat

new athletic director. Miller, Miller, former associate director and lacrosse coach at od College in North Carolina, replaces ne Sho'men A.D., Ed Athey, who re-

last fall. ler brings with him a variety of new for Washington College, ideas which ain to have a large impact on Sho'men known: he does not plan on rocking the boat. on the stadium areas. And then comes success of his ideas depends on other people A top priority of his is simply to "continue the Miller's favorite. His eyes light up when he and money. traditions and excellence we've had under Ed mentions it: a fieldhouse (Athey)

And then he let's his ideas pour.

bettering facilities. He was an initiator in the development of a million dollar complex at Guilford, and in time he would like to see some renovated and new facilities at his new

Potential changes include a field irrigahe immediately makes one thing room facilities, fencing, and improvements women

"A fieldhouse," says Miller, "would make a big difference. This would be for Miller's self-described strong point is in everyone and would help increase intermural participation and provide an indoor practice area for the teams

Additionally, Miller is considering gutting and redesigning the downstairs of the Cain Gymnasium. The new downstairs, according to Miller, would provide unisex serv-But while he is bubbling with tion system, outdoor bathroom and lockerices with separate shower areas for men and

> Of course, many of these ideas must be billed as long-term goals. They will take time and money. Miller predicts, "Don't expect to see any bricks and mortar for two to four years." As Miller explains, "It takes time to make requests and justifty changes, especially for someone new to an established program."

> If initiated, however, the new facilities would help prevent the problems which occured with the NCAA Division III lacrosse playoffs last year, when a lack of facilities contributed to the NCAA selection committee's decision to send the Sho'men on the road, to Ohio Wesleyan, where they lost.

Additionally, they would assist in recruiting, where one of the biggest things separating Division III programs is strength money. Miller hopes to play into the Campaign for Excellence fund or, if necessary, start up one for his initiatives. The

For the short term, however, Miller will emphasize on "evaluating and analyzing" the present system so that his future goals may be set more concretely. As he explains, "If there are things that we are doing not well, we must evaluate them so that we can improve.'

> "Don't expect to see any bricks and mortar for two to four years"

Miller also hopes to have an irrigation system in place by the end of the year. One of his successful projects over the summer was making the grass of Kibler Field green and thick. Additionally, Miller wants to increase intermural participation this year.

But will Miller be successful? Again, time and money will answer that He's excited to be here and looks forward to his job ahead. "This institution, this department," he says, "has real great potential for growth, fine tuning. Ed's done much to build a strong program. Now someone else has been selected to fine tune it."

Fine tune or out of focus we'll discover The stumbling block for these programs in five years or so. For now, Miller's best advice: be positive and upbeat. And that kind of thinking is something that we all need.

busy at his office in Cain Gymnasium where he tries to change his

by Arian D. Rayanbakhsh

uring the long months of winter, the of baseball fans around the country the question, "Will they win the Stries next year?" Not since the New! While Met to suffer. faskees of 1977 and 1978 has the sport ball seen the same team win consecuimpionships. It appears that the 1987 York Mets, too, will fall short of achievassecutive championships.

Chip Shots

hree things always conspire to make etition quite difficult. First, the playin the defending championship team e overconfident and their perform reflects this. Next, serious injuries to nant players make fulfillment of expecquite difficult. Finally, other teams ad the league become more competitive by try to dethrone the defending world hs. Each of these factors has conto the disappointing season of the at fall, as the Mets were taking the Series from the Boston Red Sox, their ence soared. Each player on the team winning it all next year would surely n. Thinking like this always causes a to not perform to his potential.

Pitcher Jesse Orosco is a good example. In 1986, he won 8 games and saved another 21, pitching to a earned run average of 2.33 As of last week, Orosco had won only 2 games and recorded only 14 saves, doubling his earned run average to 4.88. He is not the Second baseman Wally Backman is another good example. Last season, he was starting at his position, hitting .320 and scoring 67 runs. This year, he has lost his starting job to Tim Teufel and Backman is hitting only .235 with only 36 runs scored.

team's poor start of the season.

Additionally, Bob Ojeda, who led the staff with 18 wins in 1986, suffered a seasonending injury in late April. Also, Rick Aguil era missed several months of the season and has only just returned to last season's form. Finally, a nagging injury to the solid Ron Darling has caused him to suffer through his worst season as a Met.

The loss of these players, essential to last season's success, illustrates some of this of late, his absence was a major reason for the games behind the Mets. This year, due in large part to the return to form of Jack Clark, the Cardinals are maintaining a five game lead over the Mets. Clark, who suffered a debilitating finger injury during the 1986 season, is now among the leaders in many National League offensive categories and is > Also, the Montreal Expos have surprised many experts with their ability to come back and defeat the opposition, especially in the late innings. This reflects the increased talent of all the teams in the Met's

It is not fair to count the Mets out of the post season party just yet. With a little less than one month remaining in the season, the Mets are within striking distance of the Cardinals, despite the many problems that I have pointed out.

The pitching staff has been saved this year by the surprising performance of Terry Leach, who won ten games before losing Kevin McReynolds, Howard Johnson, and Rafael Santanna have each provided clutch hits enabling the Mets to salvage what could have been a disaster of a season.

But even with the bright spots, the Mets will not be able to overcome the Cardinals, and will become yet another team unable to repeat as World Series champions.

"But even with the bright spots. the Mets will not be able to overcome the Cardinals, and will become yet another team unable to repeat as World Champions."

epeat World Championship Not in Mets Future

Pitching was the key to the Mets success year's problems. last year. This year, however, their pitching has been decimated by a variety of injuries and personal problems.

The ace of the staff, Dwight Gooden was not available to pitch until June because he checked himself into a drug rehabilitation program. Although Gooden has pitched well

The struggle that the Mets are having this year, however, is not entirely their fault. Teams who were embarrassed by the Mets last year have rebounded to have better years.

Last season, the St. Louis Cardinals finished an enormous twenty eight and a half

The Week in

Review

Lacrosse: Under protests, the Sho'men lost 12-3 in the first round of the NCAA Division III lacrosse playoffs to eventual runner-up, the Ohio Wesleyan Bishops. The Sho'men, 10-7 overall, came into the game as the thirdranked team in the nation, yet because of the NCAA selection process the were forced to make an overnight trip to Delware, Ohio during exam week to face the higher-ranked Bishops. Scorers in the game for W.C. were Don Giblin, Paul Denekin, and Mike Greig. The eventual Division III winner again was Hobart.

Tennis: After claiming their second consecutive Middle Atlantic Conference championship, the NCAA's third-ranked Sho'men lost to Kalamazoo (Michigan) in the NCAA championships held at Salisbury State College. Only two wins from the national championship, the Sho'men lost 7-2. W.C. winners: Larry Gewer 6-4, 6-2 over Jim Burda and Rich Phoebus 6-4, 6-1 over Rick Ver-

Crew: In a first for W.C. Crew, the Sho'men won a bronze medal at the Dad Vail Regatta in Philadelphia. The bronze-winning race in the novice four finals was the best of the day on the Schullkill, as the top four teams finished within two seconds of each other. Ahead of W.C. was Rollins College, with a time of 7:18.35 and Florida Central at 7:19.73. W.C.'s shell, rowed by Randy Capel, Richard Dirks, Pat Devine, and Greg Terry, finished at 7:19.76.

Lacrosse: In the Maryland State tournement at Goucher College, the Shorewomen dropped four of five games, bealing only Anne Arundel Community College 17-4. On a more positive note, however, Holly Dinning and Liz Whelan were named to the USWLA South tournament team

Named: As new Athletic Director of Washington College, Geoffrey Miller. Miller, former Associate Athletic Director and lacrosse coach at Guilford College in North Carolina, replaces the refired Ed Athey

NOTES

Sofball: There will be an organizationa meeting on Thursday, September 10th in the Cain Gym. Last year's players and any new players interested are encouraged to come.

Next week: Soccer preview Chip Shots Athlete of the Week

General: Need information spread? Everybody reads the Elm. Send all sports announcements, etc. to Elm. Sports Editor. All announcements must be received by Tuesday noon to appear in that Friday's paper.

Casey Swim Center 7-9AM and 12-9PM Gym & Fitness Center 12-9PM

The Field hockey team prepares for ascrimmage at Hood College tomorrow. Their regular season starts next Friday at home against Haverford

Some news about stress: At California's Santa Monics

Hospital Center, Director of Behavioral Sciences Dr. Robert Maurer and his colleagues have discovered negative ... and wait for Dr. that humans have two biological needs that often go unrecognized

Dr. Jock

and unfulfilled. Deal with these two needs, he says, and you deal stress. The two needs are

THE NEED FOR ATTEN-TION: All of us have a strong and urgent need to be appreciated and attented to, Dr. Maurer says, based on his studies of people who deal with their stress in admirable and healthy ways. "Having a partner, someone to attend to your needs, gives you an immunity to all kinds of disorders." It can be a best friend, a social group, or even a pet, he says, but everyone needs someone to help them through tough times. Admitting you're having a tough time - feeling afraid, tense, anxious - is the first step toward helping yourself.

THE NEED FOR COMFORT. Stress causes fear and when we're afraid we automatically look for comfort. Comfort can be a hug, or some kind words, but it's not the same as sympathy. Comfort comes from the person who tells us it's OK to feel scared...and then goes on to help us probelm-solve. Healthy people find ways to comfort themselves, too. They turn to what Maurer calls their "inner parent," a voice we create inside ourselves that's nurturing instead of critical.

For example, Maurer says, during times of stress

The CRITICAL PARENT says The NURTURING PARENT

says "I made a mistake. The CRITICAL PARENT says

"I shouldn't be in pain. I'm weak." The NURTURING PARENT says "This is a crisis for me...it's

The Facts About Stress and Exercise strength to live with pain and system that kicks in when you experience stress

> You get the idea. Accentuate the positive, eliminate the Maurer's book to be published soon. Meanwhile, here are some more of his comfoting thoughts about exercise and stress:

Exercise is the body's natural way of dealing with stress. If you are self-nurturing, you'll seek exercise. If you're crippled by anxiety and depression, you'll find excuses with the fear that's at the root of all not to exercise, or you may exercise to excess and hurt yourself.

> Exercising with a friend can set the scene to seek support and comfort. But choose your execrise partner carefully. Working out with soemone who's critical or overly competitive may increase your

How good an exercise partner are YOU? Do you pay attention to people who need you? Do you actively listen to their upsets, problems, anxieties? Do you go beyond sympathetic words and help friends problem-solve in a creative way? In exercise, as in life, you get what you Want to see a runner under stress? Tell him he can't run anymore. Athletes who hurt themselves and can't resume their usual exercise routine frequently have a terrible time coping. If this happens to you, don't despair. Press your doctor for safe alternatives. (if you can't run, maybe you can swim, etc.) Allow yourself to feel sad, but don't dwell on your misfortune. If you simply can't shake your depression, it's a clue that your exercise routine may not have been as healthy as you thought. It may have been covering up low self-esteem. Self-worth shouldn't depend on daily workouts.

The simplest way to short-circuit stress is to be aware of you breathing. Breathing is the speedometer of the body, Maurer says. Slow down your breathing with a few deep breaths and you automatinatural to hurt. It's a sign of cally slow down the alarm arousal Sports Calenda

Soccer

Catholic University (H) aturday Sept. 12th

Field Hockey

Haverford College (H) Friday Sept. 11th 4 PM

vs. Wesley College Monday Sept. 14th

vs. Elizabethtown Coll (A) Thursday Sept. 17 4 PM

Volleyball Swarthmore/Widener Thursday Sept. 17

Alcoholic bevera are not permitted athletic events.

Robert Maurer's strategy for stressreduction, write him at the Santa Monica Hospital Center, 1225 15th Street, Santa Monica, Calif. 90404.

(Dr. Jock is really David Bachman, M.D., one of America's leading orthopedic surgeons. His column, featuring a variety of health, fitness and nutrition matters will appear weekly in the Elm )

For more information about

Athlete of the Week

This could be you.

Do you play a varsity, non sity, indoor, outdoor, unde funny, strange, stupid, kinky scene, immoral or illegal sp so, then you qualify for the Athlete of the Week, No tions, with room number and fications, should be sent to Sports Editor by Tuesday noon.Good luck and remen you've got to play to win.

The Elm needs writers

call ext. 321

||||BIKEWORK|||||

778-6940 High Street, Chestertown

Bicycle Repair Ross, Peugeot Bridgestone Skateboards. Barracuda Goggles Kriptonite Locks Bicycling Shorts

Addition, At the Lit House

by Kelly Lamore

n't this wonderful?" Proup on to the porch at the Literary House, where raw postruction materials, and reside in profusion. Gesumerates the many virtues west part of the building, as of the wonderful things happen there: readings, difficulties arose in finding the problem to solve. The press room, Lit House. In the winter, glass winmason to pour the supports occurred. After the mason was found, work went right back on track and continues even at this moment. to be around September 13.

odly, he surveys his do- Clark of Kent company men who not immediately visible, it was a are building the porch are working secondary kind of project, as was and unprepossessing house that endlessly in the effort to return somewhere near schedule, arriving in the early morning hours even on ns, courting and musicales Saturdays and Sundays, and staying she said, was "a simple addition to a dows will be added, and in the simple house," and following her philosophy that she had a "responsibility to respect and enhance what center for fresh-air activity. Dis-followed the Late Victorian form of Because of the delay, the the House. Since the Press Room is the deck, which had no need of eveturning design, like the porch

Fritz designed a large octagonal format to lend a focus to the spring, screens will replace the windows, making it a year round light the porch, adding just the right ambiance to any occasion. Remembering the rather shy stood here when I arrived as a freshman three years ago. I feel like the house has grown up with me. One

After Debbie's beachy boyfriend. Bruce (Jay Hackett), dumps her, she tries her luck with Garry (Geoff Rhoe). But Garry's sensitivity causes survival problems for him in this chauvinist group of surfers. Later in the movie, Garry falls prey

The two heroines belong to a Projected date of completion is said exists," she designed a room that creetly recessed circular lights will male dominated social group; they wait on their surfer guys hand and foot, obediently, until they rebel from the oppressors. This is accomplished with an enjoyable sense of

> Students are sure to enjoy this can only imagine what will appear comedy on the trials of growing up. Puberty Blues is sponsored by the Washington College Film Series, and will be shown Friday. Sunday and Monday nights (September 4, 6, 7) in Norman James Theatre. Show time is 7:00 p.m; admission is $1,00.

long. It was done painstakingly. late May, construction The crew is working on a de-tom a local firm, Clark of sign by architect Marica Fritz, the nived to dig huge holes in the same person who designed the press m, where stone supports room and the deck, which were be poured. Once that stage opened last fall. According to her, leted, work halted when the porch was a much more complex day of this porch has been until dusk. People who take a close in all summer, and as traffic look at any part of the porch, from RR213, people look to see the mahoghony stills to the hand cut this progressed by the end floor, will know why this job took so in handy for the many activities to be scheduled there. Also, the view of two young girls. Literary House is possessed of two stories of octagonal bow windows, now repeated in the deck and in the porch. This octagonal design enabled the architect to make the porch

big, a necessity for the needs of the

I've Got those Blues

Puberty Blues gives us adolescence, Australian style. But what we learn is that even across the globe, growing up is no different than it is in the United States. Director Bruce Beresford, who also made Tender Mercies and Breaker Morant, has created a satire of the Australian surfing scene while portraying a story of the difficulties of adolescence, through the point of Debbie (Nell Schofield) and Sue (Jad Capelja) are high school loners who are accepted into the popular surfer clique after they refuse to tell on the gang in school.

Campus Calendar

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 4

Film Series: Puberty Blues Norman James, 7:30 p.m.

Mike Campbell--DJ, sponsored by ZTA Coffee House, 9-1 a.m. $2 admission and student i.D.

ATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 5

Writer's Union Picnic

O'Neill Literary House, 12:00p.m

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 6

Film Series: Puberty Blues Norman James, 7:30 p.m.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 7

Film Series: Puberty Blues Norman James, 7:30 p.m.

VEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 9

Fall Convocation Gibson Fine Arts Center, 7:30pm

Community Reception

Hynson-Ringgold House, 6 p.m.

ARTS UPDATE

Writer's Union

Holds Picnic

prepare for battle. The fall Writers Union picnic is set for it Saturday, everyone September 5 at 12:00 noon, at the O'Neill Literary House.

Appointed to the executive board for this year are David orian Reverie by Amlin Gray will Healey, Michael Rudin, and Gina be held on Thursday, September 10 Braden; Michael McGinniss is from 4-5:30 p.m. and 7-8:30 in the treasurer. A general business meeting is planned; the press workshop, the lending library, independent lit- women are open.

erary magazines and student rooms will be discussed. Also on the Poets and prose writers, get agenda are croquet, volleybus your volleyballs off the shelves and plenty of food for everyone. agenda are croquet, volleyball, and

Dues are $10.00 this year for

ARTS ANNOUNCEMENT: Auditions for The Fantod: A Victi-Green Room of the Fine Arts Center. Roles for four men and three

GASCON'S BUSINESS MACHINES SALES & SERVICE

Most makes of typewriters & calculators & other business machines

· 30 Years Experience

837 High St. Ext.

to man, it's a ago of valle slow than the shine sewant

778-5611

We knew you'd be back.

We knew you couldn't stay away. That you spent all summer thinking about organic chemistry and Kafka. That's why we're stocked up with a full selection of all members of the Apple Macintosh personal computer family.

Because whatever you're going to be doing in school this year, there's a Macintosh that can help you do it better. From the Macintosh Plus to the Macintosh II, students everywhere have learned that working smarter and doing better in school can be as easy as pointing and clicking.

And one of our people will be happy to show you the Macintosh system that's best suited to your

For more information please contact The Washington College Bookstore

© 1996 Apple Computer Inc. Apple and the Apple logo are registered trackmarks of Apple Computer Inc. Macintosh is a trackmark of McIntosh Laboratories and is being used with its express permission.

Washington College Elm

Founded 1930

Volume 59, Number 3

Chestertown, Maryland 21620

Friday, September 11, 1987

Many students are faced with uncomfortable conditions in crowded classrooms

Student Judicial, Screening Boards Begin Year With Changes, New Name prised by an unexpected level of

The student judicial system is included in the many policy changes a Washington College this year. The judiciary bodies affected by these changes are the Conduct Council, (SCC) chaired by Brenda Connor, and the All Campus Judiciary (ACJ), chaired by the Dean of "The main goal of these judicial bodies is to further expedite the process," explained Connor.

Both the Conduct Screening Board (CSB) and the SCC hope to be more visible, providing more from the Judicial Screening Board information for the campus. Mov ing the hearings to the Sophie Kerr Room for increased student aware ness has been proposed to "let people know what's going on, "said Connor

Also, a member of The Elm staff is allowed access to the hearings. Among the amendments in the judicial processes are improved conduct policies. Both councils have similar attitudes which will increase the systems fairness for the party in question. Another change is the addition of council members for the SCC. The membership will be rereased from six to ten council nembers. Also, the position of thef investigater was created to gather all the information for each case, "We believe this investigater will better serve their (the effectiveness," said Dr. Juan Lin, and Student Judicial Board, to the Chairman of the Student Affairs A major change in the judicial tively.

proceedings is a "more relaxed terminology which was developed to get away fromn the legal atmosphere," added Lin. The shift in terms affects mainly the members of each body. The "juniors" are now "council members"; the "Clerk of the Constitution." "clerk of the Conduct Council"; "defendant," "party in question." The bodies themselves have been renamed

Student Conduct Council, respec-

"We're hoping to put last year': controversies behind us," said Ra chel Smith, Chairman of the CSB "We want everyone's point of

"All cases will be reviewed by the CSC, unless they are sensitive in nature resulting in a review by the Student Affairs Office," Smith

Baer Works To Improve Student Housing

by Marie Ensor

Clint Baer, Director of Planning and Special Projects, is working with the Student Affairs Office and consistency of decisions supporting the maintenance department to improve the living conditions at security deposit. If unnecessary Washington College.

Baer stresses that once improvements and renovations are made dorms should be respected been completed and approved, sc and not destructively damaged by the student body.

Beginning this fall, room inspection sheets will be used for each room. Inspection sheets includes information on damages already in that way, but we need everyone's Council's) purposes and overall rooms, and also inventory on the cooperation," said Baer.

tants oversee the inspection process in the fall and also in the spring before students leave for home Students now pay $250 toward:

damages occurred throughout the year, they will be repaired with thi deposit. Until spring inspection has curity deposits will not be returned These inspections will be followed more thoroughly than in the past.

"We have nice facilities a Washington and we aim to keep is

Students Face Crowded Classes

With a past tradition of small class sizes and a low student/faculty ratio, Washington College is now faced with the dilemma of classrooms filled beyond capacity.

Registrar David F. Butters pointed out that the college has experienced increased enrollment for the past three years, beginning with what is presently the junior class. This has increased class sizes and resulted in several problems.

Although some courses continue to have enrollment numbers with single digits, other courses have faced enrollment sizes with over seventy students. Large enrollment sizes are usually found in introductory courses, especially in economics, sociology, psychology, and pre-calculus. Although instructors have the right to limit class sizes before registration, many who chose not to limit classes were surinterest and enrollment.

The most pressing problem on the first day of classes was over crowded class rooms. Room changes were numerous as classes were shuffled around, looking for enough large rooms. In the event that a class room could be found, enough chairs did not always exist. According to Butters, though, most problems with room sizes have been

Although the problems with large classes have been growing. professors do have the right to limit the number of students who are allowed to enroll in their class. This may seem like a logical solution to the class size problem, but Butters pointed out some adverse affects. Some instructors feel that with limited class enrollment, they are better able to give individual attention to each student, but several other problems may arise. Classes limited to small groups may close out many students, including those with related majors or distribution, and problems in other classes. It may limit the opportunities of some students and in some cases, drag out the time it takes to fufill graduation requirements.

Butters also pointed out the effects that crowded classes have upon professors. Many instructors must cut back on the written assignments which the College has so proudly emphasised, due to time factors. He also pointed out that it is obvious that no instuctor could spend as much time with individual students with a class of seventy stu-

"Students end up robbed when profesors have to accomodate class sizes," said Butters, who added,"One of the things that was always nice was the small class sizes...that's why many students are attracted to Washington College." Butters agreed that many incoming freshmen as well as returning upperclassmen were surprised by the size of some of their classes

"The reason I came here was for the close relationship created between the students and instructors by the small class sizes. With the growing class sizes, that appealing characteristic can be lost," said Mike Jenkens, a sophomore enrolled in a large introductory economics course. Jenkens said that in an unfamiliar subject such as economics, he had hoped for a smaller

"For the facilities that we have right now in classroom space as well as housing, its obvious in many ways that the college has reached capacity. We seem to be at a saturation point - not across the board - but in some aspects," said Butters. "Students should let the faculty and administation know how they feel about enrollment size, because ultimately, they're the ones who are most directly af-

Inside:

| Stock Game     | p. 4 |
|----------------|------|
| Off The Cuff   | p.5  |
| Soccer Preview | p.1  |

W. C. Review.....p.11

Editorial

Of College Life And Wristbands

There weren't any armbands to protest the wristbands in the Coffee House last weekend, but that doesn't mean there weren't any gripes about the strict enforcement of the twenty-one year old drinking age. Upperclassmen nostalgically recalled the days and nights when the tap in the Student Center flowed a little more freely

The bottom line of the wristband policy is that there is no other alternative. The College cannot intentionally and knowingly sell alcoholic beverages to students too young to legally purchase them; the administration cannot pick and choose which laws of the state of Maryland it will enforce. Not only does selling beer or wine to those under twenty-one open the possibility of liability claims, it inherently goes against the philosophy of this institution. Founded to educate citizens to participate in a fledging democracy, this College cannot now, some two hundred years later, decide that it need not foster in its students a respect for the law.

Washington College will not turn into a suitcase school simply because minors can no longer buy a draft in the Student Center. Those who must drink can still put the lampshades on their heads at social functions held outside the walls of the Coffee House And the police won't be breaking down doors at the sound of a can being popped open in someone's room. Even those students still able to finagle their way into a movie for the kiddle price can obtain alcohol with little difficulty when they wish.

While most students will continue to drink, albeit more privately, some will drink less. Individuals accustomed to weekend hangovers that used to prevent them from making it to the dining half for brunch, much less the library to study, and that left them emptying the dormitory soda machine, may begin to attend social events sober, or at least semi-sober.

The new wristband policy will no doubt affect how we look back at our college years two or three decades from now - we just might remember them.

> Send Letters to the Editor c/o The Elm, campus mail

Washington College Elm

| Editors                   |                   |  |  |  |
|---------------------------|-------------------|--|--|--|
| Editor-in-chief           | Andrea Kehne      |  |  |  |
| News Editor               |                   |  |  |  |
| Features Editor           | Jennifer Harrison |  |  |  |
| Sports Editor             |                   |  |  |  |
| Arts/Entertainment Editor |                   |  |  |  |
| Photography Editor        | Michele Balze     |  |  |  |
| Managers                  |                   |  |  |  |
| Managing Editor           | Cathy Jewell      |  |  |  |
| Advertising Manager       | Mariella Ruiz     |  |  |  |
| Circulation Manager       | William Faust     |  |  |  |
|                           |                   |  |  |  |

The Elm is the official student newspaper of Washington College. The Elm is published every Friday during the academic year with the exception of vacations and taries, letters, editorials, and editorial cartoons represent the opinions of their authors and are not necessarily the views held by the members of the editorial staff.

All letters to the editor are read with interest but, due to space limitations, the editors cannot always publish every letter received and some must be shortened. Those that are printed are published as received, without editing for spelling, punctuation or nmar. Letters should be signed, except in rare cases where the author's privacy are of his name. Students should include their year and really sorry that we have chosen to major. Faculty and staff members should include their positions and departments. populate the mail room. God forbid Limit letters to 600 words or less and include day and evening phone numbers in the table and rights. As far as mail it that clarification of portions of the letter is needed. Letters may be depo event that clarification of portions of the letter is needed. Letters may be deposited in the marked two set the clienters in few or in the Disang Island, or mailed or 2 m Fam. Socs was sound for want to hear from the marked two set the clienters in few or in the Disang Island, or mailed or 2 m Fam. Socs was couldn't want to hear from Fam. Socs was couldn't want to hear from the property of the Disanguage of the Company of

The Elm gaper reciple and must be received in interthan truesting to be consistered for "Opperclassmen would eat earlier publication in that week's issue.

The Elm's business and editorial effect is leasted in the main bunge of Queen Name, because they are older and get hundrinders, Business bungers 27:09 pm. 11:09 pm. Tureshayan 47:00 pm. 10:00 get faster", we are younger have p.m. Wednesdays. The editor phone number is (301) 778-2800, est. 321.

much more energy to "wreak"

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor's Note: While The havoc" thus equalling we get hun-Elm's editorial policy stipulates that we not print unsigned letters, we are publishing the following unsigned materials this week in the event that our guidelines may not have been clear to readers. When a reporter or editor puts his name on an article, he is held accountable for it; we expect our letter writers to be accountable for their opinions as well. Please refer to our masthead at the lower left corner of this page when submitting letters.

The following letters are in reference to "House Freshmen in Tents on Kibler Field," a satire article by Kelly Lamoree printed in last week's issue of The Elm.

Upperclass Immaturity

To Whom it may concern:

I am a Freshmen and I think I probably speak for them all in saying I did not appreciate the article. Why don't you go sleep in a goddamn TENT!!! You think we are so lowly and immature. I think your article proved who the immature ones are on this campus The Upper-

Thanks For The Welcome

Elm Staff - principally Kelly Lamoree:

"Many of them are rather likeable so we'll keep them around", Thank you so much for this heart felt welcome. The adjustment from home to "DORM LIFE, from high school to college is something everyone must face this adjustment seem to be easy for me but I realized that being here with just the "lonly freshman" helped. We while here that weekend didn't have to deal with predominance that you upperclassmen have. Does being here a year, two or three years give you the right to treat us like subhumans. I'm we take any rights. As far as mail gry just as quickly as you would. Also, we are still growing!!! As far as "irritation of upperclassmen disturbed by week-night drunken antics" I was disturbed the other night by three drunken seniors who chose to roam our halls and wake up the 3rd floor, to just state that it is always freshman drunken antics is to be blind, to exclude those people with an interest in creative writing would be discriminating and taking away the freedom to express ones self. With this gone there would be no art. My wouldn't that hurt you

Let us now get realistic for just a moment. $12,000 a year for the pleasure of living in a tent. Much more a boat yee-ha. Now let me state I became a totally enraged freshmen at the suggestion of fashion instruction. We tend to dress the way we want and not the way everyone does. A daily room inspection would be totally thrilling for me. Maybe you would also tell us how to arrange our rooms. Maybe an etiquette seminar would be helpful then we would know how to treat people they you "upperclassmen" treat people. Once again thank you for the welcome. May I state that it is a pleasure being here

A lonly Freshman!

Give Us A Break

This is our response to the recent editorial concerning the so - called "huge freshmen class" that entered Washington College this year. First of all, 260 students is hardly an astronomical frigure. Perhaps to seasoned veterans of this school, this many students may be frustrating to deal with, but look at it this way ..... you'll graduate soon and realize that this issue is really not that big a deal. As we freshmen read your article we became utterly disgusted by its sardonic tone. Maybe the article was merely intended to push the freshmen into a frenzy of indignation... well, it succeeded. We found your proposals to be hardly "modest" or at all sensible to say the least

We do, however, agree with Ms. Lamoree about the college's description in the catalogue and the financial aspects of this problem.

We can also understand her agen vation with the school and its inglet ity to cope with the new studen housing crunch...but no complains here, we're pretty comfortable Your tuition bill probably has the same figures as ours so who shouldn't we be entitled to the sane amenities as you? No, maybe you right, we should live on the Chesn river and swim to our nightime classes, thus building up our bodie Oh, and how about a mail dronger a week in a lead bag, forcing usp swim to the bottom to retrieve it. guess we could also have a bage come in now and then with professionals who can teach us college fashion tips and give us "etiquete seminars." We don't need adequate protection from the elements; i would only hinder the strengthening of our wills, thus not properly preparing us for the next three years Besides, who needs a strong body when your mind is in good shape Where do you work out?

Maybe if there were numerous letters on this topic it would be deemed "more inportant" but sixe there are not, you should ask youself why you have this innate grip with this year's freshman classor this an annual thing for you? Soil essence, everyone's a freshman a one time or another and that the deprivation of basic living confi tions and standards is all together unjust. Because the import of the article was hardly subtle, it was rather offensive and unwelcoming not to be expected from an upperclassmen

C'mon, give us a break, there's nothing wrong with the way 'we' dress or act. The freshmen girls look great the way they are. Listen, you yourself might want to join us for couple of courses on the freshman barge, say, Hospitality 100? Any way, lighten up and enjoy life G.M.N.

Letters continued on page

Write For The Elm.

Call

No Alcohol Means Social Stagnation

The administration of Washington Colge has decided to enforce the under twenty arinking law in the Coffee House this year carding and distributing bracelets to stus who are of age. Accordingly, those dents who are not of age are not given ossto alcohol. This creates the problem of brage students looking to the fraternities ostertainment. This entertainment is exdhymany to involve the consumption of whol. However, it is important to realize going to be a huge void in Washington Col- alcohol to all guests and members lege social life that wasn't there before

With the Coffee House imposing greater restrictions, students with seemingly incessant appetites for alcohol look to the Greeks as an alternative to the Coffee House This serves to do two things, first of all it places the Greeks in a leadership role. Sec-

week days and registering every party with forces the Greeks into a situation where they alcohol and if the restrictions of alcohol sale in Student Affairs imposed on the frats there is must be more prudent with their distribution of the C-House combine to worsen the percieved

Leigh Mendelsen

If the Greek system is not responsible the restrictions such as no parties on ondly, in accord with this leadership, it with the regulation of the comsumption of business management.

the governing bodies of WC will pass down stricter social restrictions. These restrictions will result in the further stagnation of social life at the college. An undesireable phenomena from anyone's point of view.

Leigh Mendelsen is a junior majoring in

ISSUE:

How will the new alcohol policy in the CoffeeHouse affect the social life at Washington College?

Dan Gerstenfield Graduate Student Pychology

Frank Creegan Sophomore Chestertown, Md.

Dan Feiner Iunior Boston, Mass.

Sophomore Bethesda, Md.

Jamie Belcher Freshman Boston, Mass.

nok will do so in their rooms and enforce the policy will fail college can say they're tough on financially ohol. Everyone's happy feel that the school will change Students are going to drink in their ry little. Those that choose to rooms, and social functions that

The College's biggest concern with drinking should be when it's mixed with driving. The new policy might take more students off campus. More than half the student body is under 21. More than half the stdent body was intoxicated Ithis past weekeknd. the answer is probably

I believe that this new policy is going to change the school. It will cause more parties off campus that might dresult in drunk driving accidents. It will also influence students to have parrties more frequently in the dorms, conflicting with other students privacy.

The general social life on campus will just be centered more around private parties, creating more choices for campus socialities to participate in.

Campus Voices

by Sarah Brock

Let's Throw Madison Avenue A Curve

This Bud's for you! Coors is the one. you've got the time, we've got the beer! ter after beer.....after beer.....after beer. If e are to believe the advertisements, more nd more peple are drinking beer. At football mes, at the beach, after a hard day's work dyes, even at our Coffee House consumers in be found consuming. Not only are the renisers selling more beer, they are selling an image of ourselves as sophisticated, morous, fun loving people, but only with a an of their product in our hand.

Speaking of our local watering hole mor has it that the social scene has been tion, samaged by the new points, same tion, same tion, campus by enforcing OLD policies. Chief among these policies are the laws of the State of Maryland. The Coffee House has no choice but to uphold the law. The colored wrist bands

> Mark Stenger

we are requiring are the most reasonable ously damaged by the "new policy." We method we have of fulfilling our legal obliga-

Back to the night-life on campus. We you've got an 8:30 exam or when you've got offer the College community a relaxed atmos- to drive home at midnight. phere which is ideal for mixing and socializing. Those of legal drinking age may drink beer or wine if they wish to do so.

We also have a large selection of nonalcoholic beverages for those, under legal age, who want them. Do we really buy into that Madison Avenue hype that tells us we can't have fun without drinking beer?

The Coffee House is not in business to make a lot of money. We see our role as protect us. Let's throw Madison Avenue a enhancing the social opportunities on campus. We don't feel that life on campus suffers in the least through our efforts. Quite the reverse, there's no pressure to drink when in the Coffee House.

It may be that some of us feel the need to party in an environment where age is of little or no concern. Opportunities for that kind of activity abound, but when we do so, we really do risk the very real consequences of arrest, or worse. Can we ever be truly relaxed or comfortable in that type of situation? Any damage inflicted on our social life stems from making inappopriate or inebriate choices, and not from policies specifically designed to curve - come on down to the C-House!

Mark Stenger is the Head Student Manager

Stock Market Game

Mason are again sponsoring a ten week stockmarket simulation game. The game begins October 2 and ends December 10. Players, who may be individuals or groups of two or more persons, use $100,000 in computer money to trade NASDAQ stocks and stocks listed on the New York and American Stock Exchanges.

Stocks bought and sold durto normal brokerage fees. Comvalue of each team's portfolio are are eligible; registration is $10.

The Investment Club, the provided weekly. At the end of the Washington College Center for ten week game, winning teams are Economic Education, and Legg awarded cash prizes. First, second and third prizes are $150, $100, and $50 respectively

To play this fall, teams must register by 4:00 p.m., September 15. A workshop will be held later this month to cover the mechanics of the game and to suggest investment strategies appropriate for a ten week time horizon

According to Dr. Malone, campus coordinator of the game, registration forms have been dis ing the ten week period are subject tributed through campus mail Forms are also available in Spanish puter printouts showing the current House. Students, faculty, and staff

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

continued from page 2

Unnecessary Humiliation To The Editor

Recently, when dividing his class into four sections, a professor humiliated students unnecessarily. Understandably, the professor ad ministered a series of placement exams to a large class with students having widely diversified backgrounds in the subject. The results of these tests were returned in the form of a page that listed the names of the students in each of the groups. The groups ranged from I to IV with a final category of "Unknowable." Although the students' last names and first initials were employed, many students in the lower groups were embarrassed to have the entire class know where they had been placed. A few comments similar to "Oh, I see, public humiliation" were heard from students, but I don't think that anyone really believed that he would actually do such a thing. The professor could have used social security numbers as one of my previous professors had to ensure the anonymity of students.

It really distressed me to have seen a few of the student extremely upset by his "tactics." The students in the Group IV were bluntly advised to drop the course immediately and change their major if necessary. Also, the extent of humiliation experienced by those students who were listed as "Unknowable" must have been considerable. I felt that this professor could have just as easily spoken to those students at the conclusion of the class and privately advised them to drop the course. People in these two groups of stu dents felt threatened and were sure that everyone would think they were unintelligent. Insult was added to injury when two students were exalted by comments placed next their names advising them to take an even higher level course. These students also, should habe been advised privately as to their position. I can only assume that these tactics were designed to intimidate students and thereby ensure a smaller class.

Wednesday's Convocation honoring Senator Sarbanes of Maryland

Washington College is sorely lacking in some of its introductory courses. In courses that are presented as introductory, how can students without background in a given subject or a lack of recent preparation be expected to excell in courses that are designed far above their abilities? A Concerned

Pre-Calculus Student

Mom's Cookie Jar

Besides keeping you informed of the W.C.D.S. special dinners and new attractions, this column is intended to help you understand a bit more about good nutrition so that you can make intelligent informed decisions about the foods you eat and the life-style you develop. From time to time I will try continue to be - a great source to address topics that are of particular concern to college students.

That old adage, "You are what you eat", is true. There is no and Steak Dinner. You will have way around it. What and how much you eat directly affects how well you look and feel.

Diet can influence your risk of developing a long list of lifeshortening and typically American diseases such as heart disease, cancer, stroke, diabetes and high blood pressure, not to mention the lessthreatening problems of tooth decay, bone fractures, and America's leading ailment - obesity

Diet can also affect your physical appearance, your emotional and psychological wellbeing, and how well you study and

Yet, despite a growing awareness of nutrition and wellness,

Americans continue to eat tooms fat, too much sugar, and too mu protein. There is no "magic" volved in good nutritional has The key is to practice discretions moderation in your food choice Food has long been - and sho enjoyment.

Next Wednesday W.C.D.S. has scheduled a Lobs choice of either a steak or a stean main Lobster. This was one of more popular dinner last year an know many of you are looking ward to it again.

I would like to take this portunity to apologize for last Mo day night's dinner. As you kno we do not make a habit of servi from paper plates, but due to f shortage of help we were left with choice. If anyone needs someen money and would like to fill i vacant spots we have the dishro and on the serving line, stop by Dining Service Office and talk via Mrc Crew

Well, that's all for now. Un next week....MOM

If you're a guy about to turn 18, you need to know the answers to this puzzle. Don't worry, it's easy. Within a month of your 18th birthday, you must register with Selective Service. Just go to the post office and fill out a card. That's all there is to it.

Register with Selective Service. It's Quick. It's Easy. And it's the Law.

CINDERELLA formal gowns

for rental or sale Located in Scotties Shoe Store

Chestertown Movie Theater

Witches of Eastwick

Fri.-Sun. 7 & 9 p.m. Sept. 10 - Sept. 17 Thurs. 7:45 p.m.

Tuesday-Saturday Convenient Parking

505 Washington Ave Chestertown, Md.

Janie Thomps: (301) 778-0898

778-1575

Authorized Dealer

SALES - SERVICE - RENTALS GASCON'S BUSINESS MACHINES

837 High St. CHESTERTOWN, MD 778-5611

Repair & Service On Most Makes Of Typewriters And Calculators

Swearing With Style: !#$%&@*

by Kelly Lamoree

